One of the latest cures is that of Mrs. H. L. Shaw, of Dakota. She says: "I suffered from scirrhus (stone) cancer for four years. I consulted a number of physicians. For a time they pronounced it 'only a tumor.' Growing worse and worse, on the advice of a gentleman who had been cured by him, I decided to visit Dr. Pond, though strongly against the wishes of relatives and friends. I realized that, advanced as my case was, it was a precarious one. The cancer measured twenty-seven inches in circumference, and (when finally removed) weighed five pounds. Am gaining rapidly, have a good appetite, and have every reason to believe that the disease is entirely eradicated. I regard my cure as remarkable, and urge all afflicted with cancer to consult Dr. Pond without delay."

The Doctor has hundreds of testimonials of similar purport. These, together with circulars and full particulars, will be supplied free on application.

Ohio is called the Buckeye State because a tree of that name flourishes there.—Chicago Ledger.

A Prize in the Lottery of life which is usually unappreciated until it is lost, perhaps never to return, is health. What a priceless boon it is, and how we ought to cherish it, that life may not be a worthless blank to us. Many of the diseases that flesh is heir to, and which make life burdensome, such as consumption (scrofula of the lungs), and other scrofulous and blood diseases, are completely cured by Dr. R. V. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" after all other remedies have failed. Dr. Pierce's treatise on consumption mailed for 10 cents in stamps. Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

If a lady who hesitates is lost, what must it be, then, for a lady who stammers or stutters?—N. Y. Telegram.

"All Men Are Liars," said David of old. He was probably prompted to make the above remark after trying some unreliable catarrh remedy. Had he been permitted to live until the present day, and tried Dr. Sage's Remedy ...

[illegible]

THE MARKETS.

[illegible]

FOR THE BLOOD
BROWN'S IRON BITTERS
Combining IRON with PURE VEGETABLE TONICS, quickly and completely CLEANSES and ENRICHES THE BLOOD. Quickens the action of the Liver and Kidneys. Clears the complexion, makes the skin smooth. It does not injure the teeth, cause headache, or produce constipation—ALL OTHER IRON MEDICINES DO. Physicians and Druggists everywhere recommend it.
[illegible]
Genuine has above Trade Mark and crossed red lines on wrapper. Take no other. Made only by BROWN CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

DR. JOHN BULL'S
Smith's Tonic Syrup
FOR THE CURE OF
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER,
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.
The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion ...
[illegible]
DR. JOHN BULL'S
SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP,
BULL'S SARSAPARILLA,
BULL'S WORM DESTROYER,
Principal Office, 831 Main St., LOUISVILLE, KY.

LIVE STOCK CUTS.

RED STAR COUGH CURE
SAFE. SURE. PROMPT. 25 Cts.

ST. JACOBS OIL
THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY For Pain.

COCKLE'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS.
THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY

Dress Makers
L'ART DE LA MODE.
5 Colored Plates

Peculiar
Hood's Sarsaparilla
100 Doses One Dollar

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3. SHOE

JONES
HE PAYS THE FREIGHT
$60.

I CURE FITS!

WASHBURN GUITAR

CATARRH

HARTSHORN'S Shade Rollers

SOLDIERS

OPIUM HABIT

CANCER

EDUCATIONAL

TELEGRAPHY

LANDS

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established, 1869.

CHARLEVOIX, AUG. 2?, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE, Associate Editor.

State Convention.

A Republican State Convention, to nominate candidates for State Officers, and for the transaction of other business, will be held at Powers' Opera House, in the City of Grand Rapids, commencing at 3 o'clock p. m. Wednesday, the 25th day of August, 1886.

In accordance with a resolution adopted at Grand Rapids, May 10th, 1876, every county will be entitled to one delegate for each 500 of the total vote cast for Governor at the last State election (in 1884), and one additional delegate for every fraction of 300 votes, but each organized county will be entitled to at least one delegate. Under a resolution of 1858, no delegate will be entitled to a seat who does not reside in the county he proposes to represent. In accordance with a resolution adopted at a meeting of the State Convention, at Detroit, June 23d, 1880, the Secretary of each county convention is requested to forward to the Secretary of the State Central Committee, by the earliest mail, after the delegates of the State Convention are chosen, a certified list of such delegates as are entitled to sit in the State Convention.

PHILIP T. VAN ZILE, Chairman.

Charlevoix county is entitled to 4 delegates, Antrim, 4, Emmet, 3.

Vetoes of the Presidents.

The following, prepared with great care from many sources, shows the number of times the veto power has been used by the 22 men who have filled the presidential chair:

Washington, 2; Adams, 0; Jefferson, 0; Madison, 3; Monroe, 1; Adams, 0; Jackson, 11; Van Buren, 0; Harrison, 0; Tyler, 9; Polk, 3; Taylor, 0; Fillmore, 0; Pierce, 10; Buchanan, 4; Lincoln, 1; Johnson, 21; Grant, 25; Hayes, 12; Garfield, 0; Arthur, 4; Cleveland, 111.

Twenty-one presidents vetoed 106 bills in 95 years; President Cleveland vetoed 111 in eight months.

The probabilities of trouble between the United States and Mexico do not appear to lessen. Our government has made a formal demand for the release of Cutting, but the Mexican government does not yet comply.

Those Chicago Anarchists have been asserting that the eight-hour movement was a "hunt for the 85 per cent. of profit which labor is cheated out of by capital." But as the eight-hour movement was avowedly for less work and not for more pay there is something resembling absurdity in the argument.

They have prohibition in some of the counties of Georgia, but the Atlanta Constitution reports an illicit distillery running in the Fulton county jail, which it says "is a rude get-up but furnishes corn whiskey for three prisoners." They make it from the corn bread furnished the prisoners as rations, using a small boiler, a rubber tube and a coffee pot for apparatus.

The full text of Judge Zubia's decision in the Cutting case has been published in the Diaro, the Mexican Government organ. It appears from the document that Cutting was convicted and sentenced wholly for acts done on the Mexican side of the line, his acts in Texas being regarded merely as parts of a continuing aggravation of the original offense for which he was convicted, and as cumulative proof thereof, and not as in themselves an offense over which the Mexican court claimed juridiction.

At the Demo-greenback convention held at Grand Rapids last Wednesday the following ticket was nominated: Geo. L. Yaple, unanimously nominated for governor by both conventions; Solomon S. Curry, of Ishpheming, for lieutenant governor; W. T. Baird, of Bay City, for state treasurer; Col. J. S. Farrar, of Mt. Clemens, for auditor general; Philip B. Wachtel, of Petoskey, for secretary of state; John C. Donnelly, of Detroit, for attorney general; W. D. Fuller, of Newaygo, for commissioner of state land office; David Parsons, of Detroit, for superintendent of public instruction.

In 1880, according to the estimate of the Census Bureau, more than ten million acres of forest area were burned, involving a direct loss of $23,000,000, besides the great damage to the soil. This is nearly a fourth of the annual fire waste of the country. It is believed that the amount of standing timber burned each year by forest fires is almost if not quite equal to that removed by the ax. The recent destructive forest fires in Northern Michigan and Wisconsin, consuming, it is estimated, some $5,000,000 worth of property, call renewed attention to the necessity of more effective legislation to prevent such disastrous conflagrations. Every year property of enormous value is wasted in this way.

The homesteader of Bois Blanc, the well known politician of Ionia, John C. Blanchard, who declared, in a published letter, a few days since, that there could be no fusion of Greenbackers and Democrats unless the latter squarely condemned the financial policy of the Cleveland administration, rather modestly offered such a resolution in the Greenback Convention, and it was promptly tabled, without even a word in its behalf. The Ionia sage was always heroic in windwork, but when he appears upon the battle-field he is gentle as a lamb. When sat down upon by his own party, his pleasant smile was a plain confession that his resolution was intended only as a joke. The once irrepressible Johnny is now easily suppressed.

Northern Michigan News.

Duck and grouse season commences September 1st.

About fourteen hundred bushels of huckleberries have been shipped from Kalkaska.

There were 86 marriages, 189 births and 55 deaths in Antrim county during the year 1885.

Reed's Lake isn't Reed Lake any longer, but Pomona, a committee having changed the name Saturday.

Dan Jerrue, of East Jordan, has sold his hotel, barn and horses. He intends to remain in East Jordan, however.

The iron ore shipments from the upper peninsula for the season have been: Marquette, 485,495 tons; St. Ignace, 36,907 tons; Escanaba, 789,902 tons; Gogebic, 335,556 tons.

H. O. Rose & Co. have generously tendered through Col. I. D. Toll to the Hay Fever Association the use of the social hall in the Arlington annex for their Petoskey meetings this summer.

Maurice Thompson, the chap who is responsible for the archery craze, which has been raging for a few years past throughout the country, is rusticating in Leelanaw county, having his headquarters at the Traverse Bay hotel, Northport.

The Petoskey rink which has been leased by Miss May Montgomery and Mr. James Dart is doing well, being frequented by an excellent class of people. It is opened for skating every evening, and on two evenings a week there is band music.

The annual convention of the Western Hay Fever Association, meets in the Arlington annex, Petoskey, on Tuesday, August 31st. We understand that the venerable Col. Lorenzo James who has been president of the Association since its organization, declines a re-election.

The Chicago Inter Ocean of August 12th contains an illustrated five column article on Petoskey from the pen of its special correspondent, Mr. Clark Alberti. The illustrations comprise views of the village, the Arlington, Cushman and Clifton hotels, the new bank block, and the private residences of Mr. W. W. Rice, and Mrs. Williams.

Sunday evening a heavy thunderstorm passed over Kalkaska, and Mrs. Edgar Watson, who, with her husband and babe, was lying on a feather bed to guard against accident was struck by a bolt and instantly killed. Mr. Watson and the child were not even stunned. The fluid entered the room by way of the chimney.

Black flies anywhere in the region round about Petoskey are of such rare occurence that people here almost forget that they ravage the coasts of Mackinaw straits. Last Saturday however, a party of ladies while gathering mosses and plants on the plains between Round lake and the bay were attacked by a small swarm, and one of them severely bitten. Her eyes were swollen shut and she suffered greatly for a day or two. —Record.

Revenue Collector D. O. Watson, last week, seized the Canadian steamer "Francis Smith" for a violation of the custom laws. The steamer came to Mackinac July 19, Aug. 2 and 9 and departed without clearing. Collector Watson acted on instructions received from the secretary of the treasury at Washington. The penalty of this violation is the forfeiture of the vessel. The revenue cutter, "Andrew Johnson" has been ordered to report there at once.

Petoskey Record: Last week the representative of the banking firm through which the water works bonds were placed, laid before the council a proposition to refund the water works debt at 5½ per cent instead of 6 per cent, the rate of interest now paid. The council wisely declined the offer believing that it may be possible to refund at 5 per cent or 4½. The rate of 5 per cent ought certainly to be got in view of the decreased debt, and the condition of the money market.

The Indian camp meeting at Wah-me-ma, four miles south of Petoskey, closed last week Tuesday at noon. It was by far the most successful meeting ever held among the Indians and was largely attended both by Indians and white people. A number of conversions are reported, and Rev. John Robinson, pastor of the Indian circuit is entitled to great credit for his efficient management. A number of white preachers delivered sermons through an interpreter, but the principal work done was by the Indian preachers, some of whom are really able and eloquent men. The Indian preachers present were Rev. Garret Smith, Lake Superior; Rev. Mr. Clark Manistique; Rev. John P. Williams, Mancelona; Rev. John Jacobs, Northport; Rev. George Naday, Elk Rapids; Rev. Lyman Bennett, Susan Lake; Rev. Peter Meshkaw and Rev. Good John, from Mason county. So successful has been the enterprise, that the Wah-me-me Indian camp meeting may be considered a permanent institution, and a yet greater meeting will be held next year.

Reawakened Memory.

Two years ago a young man living in a Vermont village, having finished his academical education, was ready to enter college. But just before the day appointed for his examination he was taken ill. After several weeks of suffering he slowly recovered his health, but discovered that his mind had lost the knowledge acquired by six years of hard study. Latin, Greek and mathematics, all were gone, and his mind was a blank in respect to his preparatory studies. His doctor prescribed that he should rest his mind and familiarize himself with a few simple details of light work. He obeyed the advice, and found in his old habit of doing things carefully the schoolmaster that brought back his old knowledge. Before his illness the young man, in order to earn a little money, had taken care of the village church, sweeping it out, cleaning the lamps, and doing all the work of a sexton. He now resumed this work, and by the physician's advice tried to keep his mind from puzzling itself about its loss of memory. Several weeks went by without bringing any change in his mental condition.

On Sunday evening a stranger entered the church, and, as the sermon was a dull one, gazed carelessly around until his attention was attracted by the lamps on the wall. He noticed that all the wicks were so carefully trimmed that there was not an irregular flame to be seen. He wondered as to who could be the careful sexton, and, happening to be in the place the following Sunday, he again noticed the same uniform trimming of the wicks.

Passing the church the next day and seeing the door open, he walked quietly in and saw the young sexton sweeping out the central aisle. Looking closely at the young man, the stranger said: "Do you do all the work about the church?"

"Yes, sir."

"Do you trim the lamps?"

"Yes, sir."

"Why do you trim them in such a peculiar way?"

"I don't know what you mean."

"Why, the flames are all alike."

"Oh, but they ought to be. You would not have them uneven, would you?"

"No," answered the stranger with a smile, "but it speaks well for your carefulness. Why, I should think one of the flames would fit all the others exactly if it were superimposed on them."

"Superimposed? Isn't that word used in geometry?"

"Certainly. If polygons, having equal sides and angles—"

Before the stranger could finish his sentence the student threw down his broom, rushed frantically out of the church, ran across the street and into the house, where he astonished his mother by exclaiming, in tones of triumph:

"Mother, I know that the square of the hypothenuse of a right angle triangle is equal to the sum of the squares of the other two sides!"

In a moment his school knowledge had come back to him, flashed into his mind by the mention of the superimposed figures.—Philadelphia Call.

Doctoring Royal Patients.

It was a matter of wonder to many persons in Paris that Dr. Fauvel, the great French specialist in throat diseases, had not been summoned to attend the King of Spain at the commencement of his malady, especially as Dr. Fauvel had always attended Queen Isabella and her children during their residence in Paris for any troubles of that nature. But such a proceeding was forbidden by the strict rules of Spanish etiquette, which prohibits one of the royal family of Spain from being attended by any physician who is not a Spaniard by birth.

At the time of the last illness of the young Queen Mercedes there resided in Madrid a German doctor who was especially famed for his treatment of typhoid fever, the disease from which the Queen was suffering. He had recently saved the life of Mrs. J. R. Lowell when she was suffering from a violent attack of that terrible malady. A few days before Queen Mercedes breathed her last her Spanish doctors sent for their German colleague and requested him to prescribe for their patient without seeing her. This he positively refused to do, saying that he must examine into the physical condition of the Queen before prescribing for her. But that could by no means be permitted.

"Then," he said, "let me merely see her—let me go to the door of her room and look at her without crossing the threshold."

Even that concession was refused.

"Then, gentlemen," he declared, "I can do nothing. I will not attempt to prescribe for a patient that I have not even seen."

He withdrew from the palace, and a few days later the young Queen was dead. But the sacred laws of Spanish regal etiquette had been preserved without infringement. A similar affair, but with a different denouement, took place a good many years ago in Russia. The late Czarina, the mother of the present Emperor of Russia, was, shortly after her marriage, attacked with a serious affection of the stomach. Up to that time no physician could approach the beside of one of his lady patients of the imperial family nearer than ten feet. The Empress grew worse and became alarmingly ill. The Emperor Alexander gave orders that a famous physician called Botkin, of whose skill in such cases he had heard, should at once be sent for. Botkin came, and, to the horror of his colleagues, he walked straight up to the beside of the Empress and took hold of her wrist to feel her pulse. He was instantly hurried from the room and was loudly remonstrated with on the impropriety of his conduct, being told that his Imperial patient was to be looked at from a distance, and that he must not approach her, much less touch her. Botkin listened in silence to all that the other doctors had to say, but when the report of the consultation was drawn up he refused to sign it. The Emperor, who was exceedingly anxious respecting Botkin's opinion, sent at once for the report, and on noticing that the name of the new doctor did not appear in it he caused him to be summoned at once to his presence.

"Your Majesty," quoth Botkin, frankly, "I can not pretend to treat a patient that I am not permitted to examine. The Empress is, I learn, in a very critical situation. I think I can save her, but to do so I must be allowed to go to work in my own way."

The Emperor rose from his chair, took Dr. Botkin by the arm and marched with him into the sick-room of the Empress and straight up to her bedside. "There, Doctor," he said, "examine your patient, and if any one pretends to interfere with you remember you are obeying my commands." The course of treatment prescribed by the great physician proved successful. The Empress was saved, and that particular rule of Imperial etiquette was abrogated forever.—Mrs. Hooper's Paris Letter.

THE PIONEER HOUSE OF CHARLEVOIX CO.

New Fall Goods,
BEING RECEIVED WEEKLY.

We call especial attention to our complete stock of
BOOTS and SHOES.

TEAS of all kinds. We will guarantee you the best Tea for the money, in the county.

ALL GRADES of FRESH ROASTED AND GREEN COFFEES.

A Fine line of Everything in
FURNITURE.

BIG DRIVES IN
Flannels, Yarns, and Blankets.

Please bear in mind that our stock embraces
EVERYTHING
usually found in a General Store.

Remember: Our Goods are the Best. Our Prices the Lowest. Our Record the Oldest.

Resp'y Yours,
Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

A. R. UPRIGHT. OSCAR UPRIGHT

FARMS, VILLAGE PROPERTY,
And TIMBER LAND
FOR SALE BY
UPRIGHT BROS.,

40 Acre Farm, soil clay loam, good well of water at house, 15 acres cleared, 8 more chopped, timber Maple, Beech, Cedar and a few Pine. Frame house, Frame Granery and good Log Barn. Board fence on road, Small Orchard. 1 mile from Ironton on good road. Price $1,100. $400 down, balance in two years. Will take a good team as part payment.

80 Acres on Susan Lake, in Hayes Township, heavily timbered with Maple, Elm, Basswood and Beech, surface gently rolling, soil good, will make a fine farm, timber on the land will pay for the place. Price $1,000.

40 Acre Farm, situated 4 miles south of Charlevoix on county Road, soil the very best, good well of water, about 30 acres cleared, nearly all seeded down, fences in first-class order, 100 fruit trees just beginning to bear, good log house, log barn, good school house adjoining the place, good neighborhood. Price $1,500. Two-thirds down, balance on time if desired.

55 Acres, 1½ miles from village of Charlevoix on shore of Lake Michigan, soil good, being sandy loam and muck. 5 acres cleared, comfortable log house, a good sugar bush of 250 trees, balance of timber Birch, Ash and Cedar. Price $30 per acre, one-half down, balance on time.

100 Acres, on section 30, Township 33, N. R. 8 W., heavily timbered with Maple, Elm and Basswood, surface gently rolling, watered by a spring brook. A most excellent piece of land. Price $1,600, the timber alone is worth the money.

50 Acres in Marion, 2 miles from Boyles & Nash's mill, 12 acres cleared and seeded to grass, 5 acres more chopped. Living water on the place, a good piece of Maple timber, some Cedar, good soil, good improvements in the neighborhood. Price $600, one-half down.

160 Acre Farm 1½ miles from Horton's Bay and same distance from Boat Lake, surface gently rolling, 10 acres cleared, good frame house, timber Maple, Elm, Basswood and Beech. Excellent soil. Price $2,500; will sell in 80 acre lots if desired.

60 Acres of wild land in Township of Wilson, 3½ miles from Boyne City, soil clay loam, surface gently rolling, timber can not be surpassed. Price $600 one-half down.

52 Acres 2 miles from Sweet's mill on South Arm, surface rolling, soil clay and sandy loam; fine trout stream passes on west line of land. 25 acres cleared, the best fence in county around clearing; Log house and large log barn, timber Hemlock, Birch, Cedar, in good neighborhood and adjoining large clearings. Price $800; will take a good team in exchange.

40 Acres 3 miles from Charlevoix, all heavily timbered with Maple, Beech, Hemlock and Cedar; will sell for $400.

80 Acres wild land between Horton's Bay and Bay Springs, Price $500, will trade for live stock.

80 Acres of as good land as can be found in the county, on section 29—33—7, 40 acres chopped, surface smooth. Price $1,000, $300 down, balance in 1 year at 7 per cent. A great bargain.

160 Acres known as the Inwood Farm in Norwood. 80 acres cleared. Frame house [illegible] with wing [illegible] orchard, consisting of Apples, Peaches, Pears and Plums, a fine water power on the place 22 ft fall, a capital place for a carding mill, 80 acres of 1st class timber 1½ miles from saw and grist mill. Price $4,000, one half down, balance on [illegible] security is given, nothing required down.

80 Acres on the State Road, 7 miles south of Charlevoix, 2½ miles from Norwood, 15 acres cleared, frame house 18x26. Living spring near the house, timber maple principally. Soil clay loam. Price $1,000 one-half down balance on time with interest at 7 per cent.

2 Village Lots in Petoskey finely located, have been graded, are as choice resident lots as can be found in town. $300 cash.

A good Lot in Boyne City near the Skating Rink. Price $75.

100 Lots on Upright & Hurlbut's addition to the Village of Charlevoix at prices to suit all. Some of the finest buildings in Charlevoix are on this addition.

Four good houses and lots in Charlevoix. Price from $500 to $1,200.

A Business Lot on Bridge Street, Charlevoix, water front, terms easy.

WE OWN THE ONLY
COMPLETE Set of ABSTRACTS
Of Charlevoix County,
And all work intrusted to our care shall have prompt and careful attention.

We are Agents for some of The
BEST FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES
And will guarantee as low rates as any first class concerns.

CONVEYANCING,
NEATLY AND PROMPTLY DONE.
Non-Residents' interests looked after, Taxes paid Collectionsmade, etc.

THAT HACKING COUGH can be so quickly cured by Shiloh's Cure. We guarantee it.

WILL YOU SUFFER with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint? Shiloh's Vitalizer is guaranteed to cure you. Sold by F. G. Hines & Co.

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS, made miserable by that terrible cough. Shiloh's Cure is the remedy for you.

CATARRH CURED, health and sweet breath secured by Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy. Price 50 cents. Nasal injector free. Sold by F. G. Hines & Co.

Mortgage Sale.

A mortgage dated January 1st A. D. 1885, made and executed by Charlotte Wier of Charlevoix county, Michigan, to Stephen S. Cobb and recorded on the 5th day of January 1885, in liber 9 of mortgages at page 520 of records in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Charlevoix county, state of Michigan and which said mortgage was on the 21st day of January 1885 by said Cobb duly assigned to Edward B. DeJor, which said assignment was duly recorded in the office of Register of Deeds aforesaid on the 16th day of February 1885 in Liber 10 of mortgages at page 123, and which said mortgage was by said Dejor duly assigned to Frances C. VanWyck, and which assignment was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds aforesaid on the 25th day of June, 1886 in liber 13 of mortgages at page 82 and upon which is now due and unpaid the sum of twenty-five dollars and no suit or proceedings having been taken either in law or equity to collect the same, will be foreclosed under the power of sale therein contained by a statutory sale of the premises therein described as lot No. one (1) of section twelve (12) of township thirty-three (33) north of range six (6) west, Charlevoix county, state of Michigan, to the highest bidder at the front door of Lewis' Hall in the village of Boyne City, Charlevoix county, Michigan, that being the place of holding the Circuit court for the said county of Charlevoix, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of the 25th day of October A. D. 1886. Said sale will be made subject to the principal sum of said mortgage of two hundred and fifty dollars yet to become due, and the interest thereon from January 1st, A. D. 1886.

Dated this 31st day of July, A. D. 1886.

FRANCES VANWYCK,
Assignee of the Mortgagee.

A. A. BLEAZBY,
Attorney for the Assignee.

CHARLEVOIX
Savings Bank.
Organized under the General Banking Law of the State of Michigan.
Henry Bennett, Pres.; John Nicholls, Vice Pres.; F. A. Smith, Cashier.
DIRECTORS:
Henry Bennett, O. D. Wood,
John Nicholls, A. Buttars,
A. R. Upright, A. Fox,
F. A. Smith.
CAPITAL, ... $25,000
SURPLUS, ... 2,000
The liabilities of Stockholders in all State banks as provided in Art. 3174, Sec. 40 of the Revised Statutes of the State of Michigan, is double the amount of stock taken, making a guaranteed fund of $50,000 to depositors. Superior facilities for the transaction of every legitimate branch of Banking business extended to our customers on terms as favorable as are consistent with safety.
Drafts drawn direct on the leading commercial cities of the world in large or small amounts. Money to loan on approved paper. Exchange bought and sold. Certificates of deposit issued bearing interest. We respectfully solicit your patronage.
CORRESPONDENTS:
NATIONAL PARK BANK, New York.
COMMERCIAL NAT. BANK, Chicago.
NAT. CITY BANK, Grand Rapids.
DETROIT NAT. BANK, Detroit.

For Sale!
Prof. BICE'S nicely located House and two beautiful lots on Clinton street near the Park in the village of Charlevoix, are now for sale. Enquire of G. M. Bice, Alpena, Mich., or E. D. GREEN, Charlevoix, Mich. May 6, 1886.

The Grand Rapids
"DAILY DEMOCRAT."
Contains the Associated Press Dispatches
Sent by Mail at 50c a month.

Take The Sentinel.

For Sale.
A nice little business for a lady or gentleman. Terms easy, corner opposite the Newman House. Inquire of, J. J. KANAGY.

Farm For Sale.
I will sell my farm in Marion one and one half miles south of Charlevoix, on the county road, 80 acres, 45 acres cleared and stumps out; good frame house and frame barn; two acres of bearing orchard; well watered. Terms two-thirds down, balance to suit purchaser. Price $2,500. For information apply at SENTINEL office or of me.
Address WM. COOPER.
Charlevoix, June 15, 1886.

Sheriff Sale.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the circuit court for the county of Calhoun, in favor of Frank P. Pittman and Theron M. Flower against the goods and chattels and real estate of David Cantrill and Orrin W. Britton in said county to me directed and delivered I did on the 21st of day June last levy upon and take all the right, title and interest of the said Orrin W. Britton in and to the following described real estate, that is to say all that certain piece or parcel of land described as follows: The south half (S ½) of the South-east quarter (S E ¼) of section twenty-four (24) town thirty-three (33) north, of Range six (6) West, all of which I shall expose for sale at public auction or vendue to the highest bidder at the front door of Lewis' hall in the village of Boyne City in said county, (that being the place for holding the circuit court for the said county of Charlevoix,) on the 17th day of September next at one o'clock in the afternoon.

Dated this 5th day of August A. D. 1886.

HARRISON FERDAN, Sheriff.
HOPKINS & CROSBY Attorneys.

Mortgage Sale.

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the money due and secured by a certain mortgage dated the 1th day of March, A. D. 1882, executed by Farris Watson & [illegible], Charlevoix county and State of Michigan, to Martha J. Ayers of Charlevoix, Michigan, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said county of Charlevoix in liber six (6) of mortgages on page five hundred and ten (510) on the 4th day of March, A. D. 1882, and the same is now due and owned by the said Martha J. Ayers, and whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of eight hundred and thirty one dollars and eighty-eight cents ($831.88) of principal and interest, and no suit or proceedings having been instituted at law or in equity to recover the debt now remaining secured by said mortgage or any part thereof. Now therefore notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the said power of sale in said mortgage contained and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided. The said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described in said mortgage to wit: Beginning at a post on the north and south quarter [illegible] line of section sixteen [16], town thirty-three [33] north of range seven [7] west, 8 18-100 chains north, 5° east of the quarter [illegible] post on the south boundary of said section, thence north 5° east on said section line 9 72-100 chains to a post, thence south 85° west 38 99-100 chains to the shore of the south arm of Pine Lake, thence southerly along the meander line of said shore as surveyed in the survey of said section sixteen [16] to a post 8 81-100 chains north 22° west of the meander post on the section line bounding said section sixteen [16] on the south, thence north 89° east 13 85-100 chains to the place of beginning and containing forty [40] acres more or less situated in the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage with costs of this foreclosure and also the stipulated costs therein mentioned in said mortgage, will be sold at public vendue to the highest bidder at the front door of Lewis' Hall in the village of Boyne City, Charlevoix county, Michigan, that being the place of holding the circuit court in and for the county of Charlevoix, on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1886, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day.

Dated at Charlevoix, the 18th day of August, 1886.

MARTHA J. AYERS, Mortgagee.

J. M. CLARK, Attorney for the Mortgagee.

DETROIT & CLEV'LAND
Steam Navigation Co.
Steamers
CITY OF MACKINAW,
CITY OF ALPENA.
For Cheboygan, Rogers City, Alpena, Harrisville, Oscoda, Sand Beach, Port Huron, St. Clair, Marine City, Detroit.
Leave Mackinac Island,
Thursdays, Saturdays, 9-45, P. M.
Mondays, Wednesdays, 11-15, A. M.
Steamers every week day between
Detroit and Cleveland.
Through tickets to all points, North, East, South and West.
J. Reed Emrey, Agent, Charlevoix.
C. D. Whitcomb, Gen. Pass. Agt.

It Pays to Buy the
BEST BOATS!
The large number of boats I have built for resorters, are advertisements of what I have done and can do in boat building. Call and get references.
I will guarantee the best modelled, easiest rowing and best sailing boats in Northern Michigan for the
LEAST MONEY!
All kinds of Oars, and Paddles made.
LEAVE ORDERS
with me for a boat for next summer's use. I am bound to please you.
Special facilities for stocking boat liveries.
J. BEAUVAIS.

1-3 OFF SALE!
At Miss Spaulding's
MILLINERY ROOMS,
I will sell my entire stock of goods, except Yarns and Crewels at greatly reduced prices for cash only.
Any lady purchasing goods to the amount of $3.00 will receive a present of her choice of any untrimmed felt hat in the store.
Come early and secure a Bargain.
MISS L. SPAULDING.

BOAT LIVERIES!
The Best Row Boats Ever put Into a Livery in Northern Michigan.

ALSO FIRST-CLASS SAIL BOATS.
CAN PLEASE EVERYBODY
First lot south of Bridge Street House, also Red Boat House near Charlevoix Summer Resort.
F. W. WILLCOX.

THE Resort Bakery!
A COMPLETE ASSORTMENT
—OF—BAKER'S
GOODS.
Also Fine Confectionery and Ice Cream. Parties supplied and all orders promptly filled.
O. J. SMITH.

McCABE'S
MARKET
Is supplied with
All Kinds Of
MEATS
At Lowest Prices.
CASH PAID FOR FAT CATTLE, Hides, Sheep and Hogs.
Corner of State & Mason sts.,
JOHN McCABE.

HEATH & FRANCIS,
Contractors AND Builders,
Charlevoix, Mich.
PLANS AND ESTIMATES FURNISHED ON APPLICATION
First-class
FURNITURE MADE
To Order.
Repairing promptly and satisfactorily done.
Shop on Antrim street, west of Town Hall

A. D. Bradbeer,
PHOTOGRAPHER,
OFFICE OVER
UPRIGHT & EMREY'S STORE.
I will make Cabinet Photographs,
A SPECIALTY!
At Lowest Prices
Consistent with
GOOD WORK.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.
The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Dr Crouter

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

FRED. W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

CRUICKSHANK & GREEN, Attorneys at Law. Office in Buttars Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

JOSEPH M. CLARK, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

PAILTHORPE & GEORGE, Attorneys and Solicitors, Petoskey Mich.

DART & CALL, Attorneys, Petoskey, Mich.

R. L. CORBETT, Attorney at law, Boyne City, Mich. (Prosecuting Attorney of Charlevoix County.)

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

L. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

WM. M. PRESTON, M. D. Physician and Surgeon, 4 doors west of Ingleside, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. A. ARNSTEIN, M. D., Office at residence, Main st. Charlevoix, Mich.

SOCIETIES.

G. A. R.—Baxter Post No. 119, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC—Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, F. & A. M. Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over Post office.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 299, meets second Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

K. O. T. M.—Resort Tent No. 138, meets second Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows' Hall

L. D. L.—True Blues No. 157 meet Saturday on or before full moon in Odd Fellows' hall.

EMMET CHAPTER No. 104, R. A. M. meets at Petoskey on the first Monday of each month.

IVANHOE COMMANDERY No. 130, K. T., meets at their Asylum in Petoskey on the first Thursday of each month.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY meets every Tuesday evening at the homes of the members, during the fall and winter months.

CHARLEVOIX IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION meets at Charlevoix Village Hall on the second Monday of each month, at 7:30 p. m.
President—Byron See.
First Vice President—W. A. Smith.
Second Vice President—Robert Miller
Recording Secretary—Chas. J. Strang.
Financial Secretary—B. Suffield
Treasurer—Albert E. Mason
Executive Committee—J. Milo Eaton, A. D. Cruickshank and E. F. Parmelee.
Corresponding Committee—H. Lee Iddings, W. A. Brown and C. Y. Cook.
Reception Committee—F. W. Mayne, L. D. Bartholomew, M. J. Stockman, R. Cooper, Geo W. Crouter, A. W. Miller, S. M. See, W. C. Newman, E. M. Clark, G. Berdan.
All persons wishing information regarding Charlevoix, the largest and most thriving town in the whole Pine Lake Region, will do well to address the corresponding committee. Unequalled opportunities for all classes of manufacturing.

HOTELS AND RESTAURANTS.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,
RICHARD COOPER, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - - - Mich.
Every convenience for the travelling public, and headquarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids Stages

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,
R. A. Campbell, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - - - Mich.
The most central location. Good Sample Room. Telephone connections. Only 100 feet to Steamboat Landing.

NEWMAN HOUSE.
W. C Newman, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - - - Mich.
Fitted up with a view to the Comfort of the Traveling Public. Good Stabling furnished. Central location.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,
L. N. Peart, Prop.
East Jordan, - - Mich.
Come and see us. Telephone connections.

BANK.

Bank of Charlevoix.
Drafts on New York, Chicago, Detroit and Grand Rapids. Bank Remittances or Postoffice Order to any person in Europe. Loans and Discounts on first mortgage on Real Estate. Railroad and Steamship Tickets to and from any place in Europe.
BROWN & CO.

PILE DRIVER.

ALLEN'S Steam Pile Driver. Contracts taken and Dock work solicited at any point between Traverse City and Mackinaw. L. E. Allen, Charlevoix, Mich.

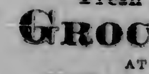
HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

B. SUFFIELD, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Domestic Cases, etc. Charlevoix, Mich.

BARBER.

JAY PRICE, Barber, east side of Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

DENTIST.



N. J. PERRY, Dentist. Office in Weed's Drug Store, Charlevoix, Mich.

Fresh Stock of
GROCERIES
AT THE
NEW GROCERY,
Corner of Antrim and Grant Streets.
It is my aim to keep a full line of choice Groceries at lowest prices.
Your trade is solicited.
Butter and Eggs wanted.
A. J. MUDGE.

MILLINERY
—AND—
FANCY GOODS!
Mrs. ELLA SMITH & Miss ANNIE COOPER
Have opened a store in the Ingleside Building, and invite their friends to call and inspect their fine stock of
FANCY GOODS!
Of all varieties usually kept in a first-class millinery store.

FRANK E. WOOD'S
Bath & Barber
ROOMS.
Hot and cold Baths at any hour of the day or evening. Oddfellows' building.

Offices To Rent.
A number of desirable offices to rent in the See block. Inquire of B. See. 15tf.

He Had Consulted His Directors.

A large proportion of the cotton-mill property in Spindleville is, as everybody knows, in the hands of the Haughton family, who got it through the marriage of one of the daughters of the family to the man who started the mill business there. When he died the property, through a series of perfectly natural steps, passed into the control of the Haughtons. Daniel Haughton, the head of the family, was a man of great natural shrewdness and strength of character. His two brothers, Jacob and Jehiel, were always associated with him; but, while his business proceedings were understood to be with their advice and consent, Daniel always held a sort of veto power over his brothers, and nothing was ever passed over his veto. He is dead now, but the story of the way in which he used to "consult his directors" is still told in Spindleville.

One day a cotton-broker called at the office of the mill of which Haughton was treasurer, and offered him a big lot of cotton at a certain price.

"This is so large a contract," said Haughton, "that I really ought to consult my directors about it. They're inside, and I'll just step in and consult them."

Jacob and Jehiel were in the inner office. Daniel went in and explained the proposition to them and said:

"Well, Brother Jacob, do you think we had better buy that cotton?"

"No, I don't think we had, Brother Daniel; not at that price."

"Well, Brother 'Hiel, what do you think we had better do about it?"

"I shouldn't buy it, Brother Daniel; not by any means."

"Oom!" said Daniel.

Haughton went back to the outer office, where the cotton-broker was waiting.

"Well, sir," said he to the man, "I've consulted my directors, and I'll take that cotton at the price you named!"

There is a story of a similar touch of nature in the case of the senior partner of the cotton-mill at, call it Boothby, Conn. After his death one of the executors found it necessary to consult some of the directors. He accordingly asked Mr. Parks what action the board of directors were accustomed to take under certain circumstances.

"I do not know," said the director.

"Why, yes," said the puzzled lawyer, "you must be able to tell me something. A director for many years, you of course attended the meetings and assisted in the proceedings."

Growing momentarily more embarrassed, the director leaned forward at last and frankly explained:

"All true; I ought to know, but the fact is I usually got notice of a directors' meeting the day after it had taken place!"

A Story of Storrs.

"Yes, the late Emery A. Storrs was a character, sure enough," remarked an attorney who had grown gray in the service. "Many anecdotes have been told of his wonderful talent for word-painting and gift of repartee, but nothing I have ever heard quite equaled the effect on me of a little speech he made the first time I saw him, a full score of years ago. He represented the plaintiff in some commonplace action, and the lawyer for the defendant was a young man just branching out. The suit, I think, was for breach of contract, or something similar. The budding attorney, who shall be nameless here, was well aware of Storrs' ability, and accordingly prepared his case with the greatest care. After the evidence had all been heard he stood before the jury and delivered a memorized speech, which was about 200 degrees higher than the subject. Storrs followed him and said:

"'If the court pleases, gentleman of the jury, I am sure that I voice the common sentiment of us all—Judge, jurors, spectators—when I say that the address of the gentleman who has just spoken has been to us a great delight. I have likened it in my own mind to some great edifice—some magnificent work of architecture. But I am puzzled to determine the particular school to which it belongs. It is not Doric; it is too ornate for that. It is not Corinthian; it is not ornate enough for that. It is not Ionic; it is too strong and massive to be Ionic. At this very moment, gentlemen, a story comes to my memory that solves the problem. You all remember the old gray church—the Second Presbyterian, Dr. Patterson's—which used to stand on the corner of Wabash avenue and Washington street. It was a beautiful edifice, with its masonry of gray, its great decorated windows, its castellated towers. One day an old man and his wife came for the first time from their country home to see this great city; they walked up and down and marveled as they saw the busy streets, the Court-House, the stores, the warehouses on the river, and finally they stood before the old gray church. Arms akimbo they gazed upon it in silent awe; but then the old gentleman, turning one eye on his wife and holding the edifice fast by the other, said: "Nancy, what a splendid specimen of cathartic architecture!"'

"The jury was convulsed, the effect of the other speech utterly destroyed, and Storrs won his case."

A correspondent of the Albany Journal writes: A very bright young lady who has been living in Boston several winters was invited to hear a lecture on "Glaciers" at the Natural History rooms. All the Harvard professors and scientific people were present, and after the "Glaciers" a paper on Paleozoic insects was read by S. H. Scudder of Cambridge. Mr. Scudder is an enthusiastic entomologist, and he rushed through a long list of scientific technicalities, describing the difference between the Paleozoic insects and the insects of the present day, their gradual evolutions from period to period, and ended by stating that cockroaches were the only insects which remained unchanged and as primarily created. In fact, they were the oldest specimens of insects known to man. When Mr. Scudder concluded, a Harvard professor smilingly asked this young lady how she had enjoyed the lecture: "O, very much," was the response. "I don't understand much about bugs, but it is very interesting to know that cockroaches are almost as old as some of our best Boston families."

A student at the University of Texas, whose home is at Brenham, was about to start home to enjoy the Christmas holidays. A friend remarked: "You haven't got your watch on. You ought not to go home without your timepiece." "What do I want a watch for at Brenham? There isn't a pawnbroker shop in the town."—Texas Siftings.

Mme. Nilsson says she never grows tired of hearing herself sing, though to listen to the singing of others is sometimes a bore.

Additional Local News.

R. A. Emrey and wife returned from Manistee Sunday.

Dr. H. A. Reynolds is expected to speak here Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings.

Rev. J. T. Iddings and wife, will accompany the Knights Templar to the "Soo" Saturday.

M. J. Stockman left Thursday for Bad Axe, Huron Co., to dispose of farming lands in that section.

—Mr. and Mrs. H. Gale, Misses Nellie and Georgie Gale and Mrs. Hollingsworth left Thursday for Albion, via Mackinac.

—The State Republican convention is in session at Grand Rapids today and tomorrow we will know the name of our next Governor.

—The temperance address Sunday evening by Mrs. Bailey, of Hastings, sister of Capt. A. G. Aldrich, was full of strong arguments, and was listened to by a large audience.

—Ben Weaver, Pat Flanigan, Bert Carr, and Lew Crumb, of the Chicago Resort, returned last week from a two weeks cruise on the north and west shore of Lake Michigan. They report a fine trip, and lots of sport in hunting and fishing.

The enterprising village of Charlevoix, though no larger than Mancelona, has a steam fire engine to protect her property. The citizens of that town are too public spirited to haggle over a little money for fire protection. But then, Charlevoix is an incorporated village.—Mancelona Herald.

The always-enterprising Mancelona Herald comes to us this week almost full size, Bro. Slussar having taken advantage of the kind offer of the Traverse Herald to do his press work. Mancelona people will do well to pay up their subscriptions and subscribe for their friends abroad for the Herald.

—Lieut. Gov. Buttars doesn't want to be any more than same. In fact, he has so good a heart and business turn in him that further political preferment is not wanted, and he retires from the field with a clean record. That is what the ind. and dem-greeneratic press say about his ambitions, and they never lie.—Kalamazoo Telegraph.

—George H. VanPelt and guide went up the Jordan last week with the Hon. Nick Shores, of Inwood—no, Nick VanPelt with George H. Shores—er, Shores VanPelt went with VanPelt Shores, or rather VanPelt H. Nick went with—well, we are mixed in our information. However, they caught over 100 trout, and the four largest were respectively 14, 14, 15 and 16 inches long.

—The following amendment is to be voted on this fall and if it is carried will do much to remove the stigma put upon Michigan for the niggardly salaries her state officers have been receiving and will result in a better class of "poor but honest" men coming to the front: "The judges of the circuit courts shall receive an annual salary of twenty-five hundred dollars; the Governor, State Treasurer, Secretary of State, the Commissioner of the Land Office; Attorney General, and Superintendent of Public Instruction shall receive such salary as shall be fixed and determined by the Legislature of this State, such salaries to be fixed and determined by the Legislature of this State at its first session after the adoption of this amendment and in each four years thereafter."

—Petoskey Record: Our Charlevoix neighbors have "billed" the sidewalks in Petoskey with posters entitled, "A Mistake Corrected," in which they state that owing to misrepresentations on the part of evil minded persons the impression has gone abroad that accommodations can not be had at Charlevoix since the burning of the Belvedere House at the Kalamazoo resort. They say that on the contrary there are five large hotels and plenty of good boarding houses affording accommodations to all who come. We think our Charlevoix friends are mistaken in the opinion that the burning of the Belvedere or alleged misrepresentations have much to do with any falling off of resorters this season. The currents of summer travel shift hither and thither without apparent cause. Last year and the year before Mackinac Island was about deserted except for excursion parties. This year it has been crowded and though few people have built cottages the hotels and boarding houses have been crowded. Next year the current is liable to be shifted westward, and Charlevoix be overflowing. Petoskey feels these fluctuations in a less degree than other resorts because of the fact that she is a distributing point for all northern Michigan and the further fact that in Bay View camp meeting and Assembly programs they have attractions that are permanent, to a large and reliable summer population. Charlevoix is too beautiful a place, and the investments already made upon her resorts are too heavy for her to fear a permanent reverse. Keep a stiff upper lip brethren and next spring advertise.

Very Remarkable Recovery.

Mr. Geo. V. Willing, of Manchester, Mich., writes: "My wife has been almost helpless for five years, so helpless that she could not turn over in bed alone. She used two Bottles of Electric Bitters, and is so much improved that she is able now to do her own work."

Electric Bitters will do all that is claimed for them. Hundreds of testimonials attest their great curative powers. Only fifty cents a bottle at Dr. G. W. Crouter's

Excitement in Texas.

Great excitement has been caused in the vicinity of Paris, Tex., by the remarkable recovery of Mr. J. E. Corley, who was so helpless he could not turn in bed, or raise his head; everybody said he was dying of Consumption. A trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery was sent him. Finding relief, he bought a large bottle and a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills; by the time he had taken two boxes of Pills and two bottles of the Discovery, he was well and had gained in flesh thirty-six pounds. Trial Bottles of this Great Discovery for Consumption free at Dr. G. W. Crouter's

New Announcement,
NEXT WEEK.
D. Sherwood & Co

JOHN HOGAN,
HOUSE PAINTER
& Interior Decorator.
RESIDENCE first door West of Factory, Charlevoix.

BURNS & SCROGGIE'S
LIVERY STABLE
CHARLEVOIX.
The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.
Drivers furnished if desired. Rates low.
Burns & Scroggie, Charlevoix.

NEW SHOP!
All kinds of
Blacksmithing,
At the
Shop in the Foundry Building.
Horseshoeing a specialty.
ALL WORK GUARANTEED.
M. SCOTT.

New Double Action
FORCE PUMP,
With Siphon Spout.
Adapted to wells from 30 to 100 feet.
Best, Cheapest, Simplest.

SOLD ONLY BY
L. D. Bartholomew & Co.

TIME CARDS OF STEAMERS.
STANDARD TIME

Charlevoix and East Jordan.
Str. GAZELLE .... Capt. John Mason.
Leaving Charlevoix at 6:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. and returning leave East Jordan for Charlevoix at 9:30 am and 4 p. m. touching at intermediate points both ways.

Charlevoix and Boyne City.
Str. CLARA BELLE ..... Capt. Robert O'Neill.
Leave Charlevoix at 6:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m., and Boyne City at 9:30 a. m., and 4 p. m. Touching at intermediate ports.

East Jordan and Charlevoix.
Str. NORTH STAR, ... Capt. F. Cater.
Leave East Jordan at 6:30 a. m. and 2 p. m., and Charlevoix at 9:30 a. m., 4 p. m., touching at way ports.

Harbor Springs, Charlevoix & E. Jordan.
Str. THOS. FRIANT .... Capt. R. Vanderhoef.
Morning: Leave Harbor Springs, 7:30; Petoskey, 7:30; Charlevoix, 9:30, arrive, East Jordan 11:30. Afternoon: Leave East Jordan 1:30; Charlevoix, [illegible]; Petoskey, [illegible]; arrive, Harbor Springs [illegible].

NORTHERN MICHIGAN LINE.
PROP. CHAMPLAIN .... Capt. [illegible]
Going North, Chicago Tuesdays 8 p. m. Charlevoix, Thursdays 11 p. m.; Cheboygan, Fridays 2:30 p. m.
Going South, Cheboygan Fridays 5 p. m.; Charlevoix, Saturdays 2:30 p. m.; Milwaukee, Mondays 5 p. m.; Chicago, Mondays 11 p. m.
PROP. LAWRENCE .... Capt. Geo. Tucker.
Going North, Chicago Fridays [illegible] p. m.; Charlevoix, Sundays [illegible]; Cheboygan, Mondays 9 a. m.
Going South, Cheboygan, Mondays 4 p. m.; Charlevoix, Tuesdays [illegible] a. m.; Milwaukee, Wednesdays 4 p. m.; Chicago, Thursdays 12 m.
Upright & Emrey, agents, Charlevoix.

HANNAH, LAY & CO'S BOATS.
CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS ...... Capt. O. E. Wilber.
Going North Mondays, Wednesdays and [illegible] Leave Traverse City [illegible]; Charlevoix 11 [illegible], Petoskey [illegible] p. m., Harbor Springs 2, Cross Village 5:30, Mackinac Island 7:45 arriving at St. Ignace 8:20.
Going South, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays Leave St. Ignace [illegible], Mackinac Island [illegible] Cross Village 10:15 [illegible], Harbor Springs 12:45 p. m., Petoskey 1:15, Charlevoix 2:45, Northport 5:15 p. m., arriving at Traverse City at 8 p. m.
T. S. FAXTON .... Capt. A. G. Aldrich.
Going North, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, Leave Traverse City 7 a. m., Torch Lake 9:45, Norwood 10:30, Charlevoix 12 noon, Petoskey 1:30 p. m., Harbor Springs 2, Cross Village 4:30, Mackinac Island 7:45, arriving at St. Ignace 8:20.
Going South, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, Leave St. Ignace [illegible], Mackinac Island [illegible], Cross Village 10:15, Harbor Springs 1, [illegible] Petoskey 1:45, Charlevoix 2:45, Norwood [illegible], Torch Lake [illegible], arriving at Traverse City [illegible] p. m.
The City of Traverse leaves Chicago dock [illegible] 12th street every Saturday evening at 7, arriving at Traverse City Monday morning. Leaves Traverse City Wednesday evenings at 7 o'clock.
J. L. Hurd & Co., Agents, Charlevoix.

Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad.
In effect September 27, 1885.
[Trains run on Central Standard Time.]

GOING SOUTH.

Stations.	Mail.	Express.	Freight.
Mackinaw City Lv	7 [illegible]	9 30 p. m.	7 20 a. m.
Petoskey	8 [illegible]	11 25	10 25
Boyne Falls	9 [illegible]	11 [illegible]	11 [illegible]
Mancelona	10 [illegible]	12 [illegible]	[illegible]
Walton Junc.	11 [illegible]	[illegible]	2 [illegible] p. m.
Cadillac	12 [illegible]	2 16 a. m.	4 50
Reed City	1 [illegible]	3 [illegible]	7 [illegible]
Big Rapids	2 [illegible]	4 [illegible]	8 05 a. m.
Howard City	3 [illegible]	4 [illegible]	10 [illegible]
G. R. & M. Cross	4 45	[illegible]	[illegible]
Grand Rapids	5 [illegible]	6 [illegible]	4 15
Kalamazoo	7 25	[illegible]	[illegible]
Sturgis	9 [illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Ft Wayne	11 [illegible]	[illegible]	4 05
Richmond	[illegible]	[illegible]	4 50
Cincinnati	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

GOING NORTH.

Stations.	Mail.	Express.	Freight.
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

J. [illegible], Gen'l Pass. Agent

BATH & BARBER
ROOMS.
Hot and Cold Baths [illegible]
JAY L. PRICE.

THE BEST
Drugs,
Confectionery,
Stationery,
BOOKS & PAPERS,
FISHING TACKLE, Etc,
Soda Water,
Mineral Water,
Cigars,
Are found at PERRY WEED'S.
The only News stand in town.

THE RIFENBURG
MILLING CO.
Charlevoix, Mich.
We would announce that we are prepared to furnish
GROUND FEED,
at wholesale or retail and will pay highest market price for OATS, CORN, RYE, PEAS and BARLEY [illegible]
CASH FOR WHEAT.
Custom work [illegible] Connected by telephone No. 7

C. R. Bellinger,
--THE--
JEWELER,
HAS JUST RECEIVED A FULL LINE OF
JEWELRY,
Clocks, Watches
Etc., Etc.

HELLO

EVERYBODY
Says that Advance
Has The Best
HARNESS MAKER!
In The County.
Call and see him. He is found in the person of
F. J. CUTTER.

J. T. Kirkpatrick,
ARCHITECT
AND CONTRACTOR,
—ON—
Chalevoix Summer Resorts.
I have the [illegible] be seen by parties [illegible]
I employ only first-class workmen, both
Carpenters and Painters.
Work intrusted to my care will have prompt attention
J. T. KIRKPATRICK.

GELLICK & INGALLS
Dealers in
Choice Wines,
Fine Liquors
EXCELLENT CIGARS.
We call Special Attention to our Old Kentucky Sour Mash
WHISKIES.
We also keep constantly on draught
Milwaukee
Export and Lager Beer.
Bridge St., 1st door [illegible]

Washburn & Ackert
FOUNDREYMEN,
MACHINISTS.
[illegible]
Charlevoix Plow.

Fox & Miller
Offer a
Mammoth Stock
OF
BOOTS, SHOES
and other
FOOT WEAR,
--AT--
LOWER PRICES
Than can be found elsewhere in the County.
We have just secured a
FIRST-CLASS
SHOEMAKER,
And will make Repairing a specialty.
We have the Goods and we are bound to sell them.
NOTHING SHODDY.
Fox & Miller.

MONEY TO LOAN,
At current rates of interest, on
Approved Real Estate Security.
School Bonds bought and sold.
MILEY & CHAPIN,
Boyne City.

For Finest
JOB WORK,
Patronize The
Sentinel.

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN
The most popular Weekly newspaper devoted to science, mechanics, engineering, discoveries, inventions and patents ever published. Every number illustrated with splendid engravings. This publication, furnishes a most valuable encyclopedia of information which no person should be without. The popularity of the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN is such that its circulation nearly equals that of all other papers of its class combined. Price, $3.20 a year. Discount to Clubs. Sold by all newsdealers. MUNN & CO., Publishers, No. 361 Broadway, N. Y.

PATENTS. Munn & Co. have also had Thirty-Seven Years' practice before the Patent Office, and have prepared more than One Hundred Thousand applications for patents in the United States and foreign countries. Caveats, Trade-Marks, Copyrights, Assignments, and all other papers for securing to inventors their rights in the United States, Canada, England, France, Germany and other foreign countries, prepared at short notice and on reasonable terms. Information as to obtaining patents cheerfully given without charge. Hand-books of information sent free. Patents obtained through Munn & Co. are noticed in the Scientific American free. The advantage of such notice is well understood by all persons who wish to dispose of their patents.
Address MUNN & CO., Office SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, 361 Broadway, New York.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

SMITH & PARMELEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX, : MICHIGAN.

GEORGIA is now the only State which holds its election in October.

EIGHT members of Congress have died during the present Administration.

THIS is the season of the year when you can get what you do not want real cheap.

A NEGRO colony from the South will soon be on the way to California, the object being to raise cotton.

A MEMBER of Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, is writing a novel, in which Henry Ward Beecher figures as the hero.

JOSEPH WENTWORTH, Prohibition candidate for Governor of New Hampshire, is a brother of Long John Wentworth, of Chicago.

JOSEPH ROOT, of Fairfax Village, Vt. is ninety-nine years old, but he still drives stages over eighteen miles of mail route every day.

MRS. GENERAL GRANT entertains no company at her Long Branch residence —Mr. and Mrs. George W. Childs, her next door neighbors, excepted.

THE clerk who clipped the July coupons from Vanderbilt's $80,000,000 of Government bonds was locked in the vault for a week. It was a lonesome and wearying task.

THE total vote given at the recent elections for members of Parliament in Great Britain and Ireland is thus stated: For home rule, 2,306,521; against it, 2,589,311.

A UNIQUE publication at Sea Girt, N. Y., is a baby newspaper. It is printed every week on a miniature press, and gives the nursery news of the children that frequent that summer resort.

THOMAS A. EDISON says he intends to experiment with earth currents. The small boy has already experimented with green currants and obtained some valuable information.

GIVE Minnie Hauk credit for being a genuine American girl. She has this year rented out her Swiss castle with the distinct proviso that "the stars and stripes are to be kept flying above the dome."

MISS AGNES ST. JOHN, a handsome British girl, and a noted swimmer, has just come to this country to break the record of the late Captain Webb by remaining in the water over eighty hours.

ANOTHER girl killed by her lover and another pleasure-yacht upset, drowning its occupants. It seems to be a drawn game as to whether yachting or love-making shall be adjudged the more dangerous recreation.

EPITOME OF THE WEEK.

Interesting News Compilation.

FROM WASHINGTON.

BUSINESS failures occurring in the United States during the seven days ended on the 13th aggregated 182, against 124 the previous seven days. The total number this year to date is [illegible] against [illegible] last year.

THE United States exported beef and pork products for the month of July, 1886, were $6,115,091; July, 1885, $6,184,647; nine months ended July 31, 1886, $56,385,347; ditto 1885, $67,004,290; dairy products for the month of July, 1886, $1,561,930; ditto 1885, $2,286,845; three months ended July 31, 1886, $3,261,869; ditto, 1885, $3,680,380.

THE United States army officer, sent by General Mackenzie to investigate the army of Mexico reported on the 14th a standing force of forty thousand men, divided between four great military districts. General Sedgwick, of New York, had been requested by Secretary Bayard to visit Mexico in search of the facts in the Cutting case.

THE exchanges at twenty-six leading clearing houses in the United States during the week ended on the 7th aggregated $881,757,654, against $856,824,561, the previous week. As compared with the corresponding week of 1885, the increase amounts to 21.1 per cent.

UPON October 1 the law extending the special delivery system to all post offices in the United States and to all mailable matter goes into effect, after which date every postmaster will be held responsible for the immediate delivery of matter bearing a special delivery stamp received at his office between the hours of seven a. m. and seven p. m., except on Sunday.

THERE were 660,457 silver dollars coined during the week ended on the 14th, against 460,101 during the corresponding period in 1885.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND and wife left Washington on the 16th for the Adirondacks.

TO MEET deficiencies in the postal revenues in the last three years the Treasury Department on the 16th issued a warrant for nearly $1,000,000.

IT was reported on the 16th that the new silver certificates authorized at the last session of Congress would not be ready for issue before November.

SECRETARY LAMAR has drawn upon the treasury warrants for $7,752,430 for the quarterly payment of pensions.

THE EAST.

THREE miles with a turn were rowed by Edward Hanlan on Lake Quinsigamond, near Worcester, Mass., on the 12th, in nineteen minutes and twenty-three seconds, beating all his previous records.

MRS. GEORGE DRAKENHART and her eight-year-old daughter, of Bakerstown, Pa., on the 13th died from eating toadstools which they thought were mushrooms.

THE sum of $46,306.50 had up to the 14th been obtained for the widow of General Hancock.

A CLOUD-BURST at Hamburg, Pa., on the 14th flooded the streets, and hundreds of cellars were filled with water and wagons and agricultural implements were washed from farm yards into the Schuylkill and carried away. The fruit crops were a total loss. Three barns, valued at $12,000, were destroyed.

A LOSS of $100,000 was caused by the burning of the steel works of Park Bros. & Co., at Pittsburgh, Pa., on the 15th.

JOHN T. DOYLE, of New York, has received the appointment of secretary of the Civil-Service Commission.

THE cigar-makers' strike at New York has proved a failure and work was being resumed on the 16th.

R. M. YARDLEY is the Republican nominee for Congressman in the Seventh Pennsylvania district.

BENJAMIN T. BIGGS was nominated for Governor by the Democrats of Delaware [...]

[...] ler-shop of Ressler & Webster at Ashland, Wis., caused the death of five persons on the 16th. Two other persons were wounded.

IT was reported on the 18th that the storm of the previous night caused great damage throughout the Northwest. In Dakota five persons were killed at Newark, and the Presbyterian Church at Larimore was blown down. In Minnesota several lives were lost at Breckenridge and much property was destroyed. In Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan and Indiana buildings were destroyed by lightning, trees and crops were leveled and numerous persons were injured. In Chicago houses were wrecked, trees uprooted and several persons wounded, one lady dying from fright. In other parts of the country the damage done by the wind, rain and lightning showed that the storm was general.

IN the First Indiana district the workingmen have nominated J. G. Nisbeth for Congressman.

THE Wisconsin forest fires were extinguished on the 16th by heavy rains.

THE mercury in the thermometer at St. Louis on the 16th registered 107 degrees in the shade. Nine persons were sun-struck, and four of them died. In Chicago 92 degrees in the shade was recorded.

IN Marion County, W. Va., a terrific storm on the 17th wrecked bridges, fences, barns and houses. At Barracksville several buildings were destroyed.

IN the Eighth Ohio district on the 17th Lieutenant Governor R. P. Kennedy (Rep.) was nominated for Congressman. In the Seventh Iowa district the Democrats and Greenbackers nominated W. L. Carpenter, and in the Eighth Alabama district the Democrats renominated Joseph Wheeler.

A TRAMP was lynched at Huron Station, Ind., on the 17th for killing J. T. Davis, the agent of the Ohio & Mississippi road.

A FLOOD at Mill Run, W. Va., drowned Mrs. Snederly and four children on the 17th.

IT was stated by Lake Shore officials in Chicago on the 14th that three attempts had been made to wreck trains in the Root street yards, and a gas-pipe bomb was found on the tracks near South Chicago.

THE saloons in thirty-two towns in Ohio had, up to the 17th, been closed by the local option of the Dow law.

A REWARD of $1,000 [...] the Methodist ministers [...] arrest of the assassin [...] C. Haddock, of Sioux C[...]

JOHN LYNCH and Joe [...] boys, were both killed in [...] dalena, N. M., on the 17th.

FURTHER advices on the [...] cent storm in Dakota [...] destroyed the town of [...] sons being killed. [...] William Bowman was kil[...] which was blown down.

THE business portion of [...] burned by incendiaries [...] losses aggregating $25,0[...]

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

THE Cutting affair remai[...] 13th. The Government's [...] surrender of the prisoner [...] in the office of Mexico's S[...]

THE funds in charge of [...] Board of Havana, Cuba, [...] on the 13th to be short $1,[...]

A MINE explosion in [...] gland, on the 13th cause[...] forty persons.

THE marriage of Chri[...] Count de Casa Mirando, [...] place on the 13th in Paris [...]

TORNADOES and waterspo[...] ed on the 16th to have [...] struction in Central Russia[...]

LARGE numbers of Natio[...] the Protestant quarter of [...] land, on the 16th, cursing [...] demanding home rule. The[...] ed a desperate fight by sep[...] testants.

[...]

A WORDY BATTLE.

Arguments For and Against the Anarchists.

The State Claims the Defendants Guilty of a Conspiracy Which Led to the Murder, and Therefore Amenable—Reply of the Defense.

ARGUING THE CASE.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Mr. Walker closed his speech for the prosecution in the Anarchists' case yesterday morning. He quoted freely from the evidence, the speeches and admissions of Spies, Fielden, Schwab and Parsons to prove that they were members of the band of conspirators who organized the massacre of the Haymarket square; connected Lingg, Engle and Fischer with the arch-Anarchists; and ridiculed the efforts of the defense to prove alibis.

Mr. Zeisler's speech, following that of Mr. Walker, showed that the defense, as was anticipated, relies on convincing one or more of the jurors that Gilmer's story about Schnaubelt's throwing the bomb is untrue. He characterized the police as a body of cowardly sneaks, and denounced Gilmer as a professional fraud and a constitutional liar. Mr. Zeisler maintained that unless the identity of the principal in the murder of Officer Degan was established the prisoners could not be held as accessories. It should be shown that the person who threw the bomb was a member of the conspiracy to which the prisoners belonged in order to connect the latter with the murders.

Referring to the testimony as to Spies' utterances at Grand Rapids, Mich., and his interview with Reporter Wilkinson respecting the inauguration of the social revolution on May 1, Mr. Zeisler endeavored to show that Spies was jesting about those things, and that he referred to some indefinite revolution which time would bring about. The advice given by Spies, Parsons and Fielden to workingmen to arm themselves meant nothing but that they should organize and stand together, and Fielden's speech in which he urged his hearers to visit several leading business houses and help themselves only meant that the system was unjust which allowed so unequal a distribution of property. Those men were talking [...]

[...] this handful of men were to attempt to overthrow the Government was ridiculous. It reminded him of the three London tailors who centuries ago passed resolutions headed: "We, the people of England." Mr. Foster again denounced the evidence of Seliger, Gilmer and Thompson as unworthy of belief, and said that the attack of the police on the meeting at the Haymarket square was in pursuance of Captain Bonfield's policy, outlined in his remarks to witness Simonson that if he could only get a chance at a body of Socialists without the presence of the women and children he would fix them. He paid the police a high compliment, and said they were not to blame for the unhappy events of that ominous night. The blame and responsibility rested with the man who ordered them to go there and who led them in their onslaught (meaning Bonfield). The jury was asked by counsel for the prosecution not to believe the stories of witnesses for the defense because they were Socialists, Communists and Anarchists. What, then, would the State's lawyers have the jury do with the evidence of Seliger and others of their leading witnesses who were self-avowed believers in the same doctrines? Lingg could not be held guilty of this murder simply because he made bombs. In conclusion Mr. Foster made an eloquent appeal to the jury in behalf of his clients, and when he had finished the court adjourned.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Captain Black began the closing argument in defense of the Anarchists yesterday morning. He prefaced his remarks with an appeal to the jury to guard against being influenced by their passions or prejudice. The explosive known as dynamite was given to the world by science. So far as the origin of its manufacture is concerned, it has no connection whatever with the doctrines of Socialism. He laid down as the rule of law to be followed in this case that the State must show who threw the bomb, and that the defendants were directly connected with the guilty man. With regard to the declaration of attorneys for the prosecution that these men should be hanged because the law of the State of Illinois was strong enough to warrant it, he declared that if the jury voted to strangle his clients because they had the power to do so, and not because they had determined their guilt beyond a reasonable doubt, it would be judicial murder—murder worse than that of the Haymarket or of the midnight assassin. It was the business of the defense to raise a doubt in the minds of the jury that would suffice their purpose. He [...]

SWIFT VENGEANCE.

A Prominent Citizen of Huron, Ind., Murdered by a Thieving Tramp Whom He Attempted to Capture—The Assassin Caught and Lynched.

HURON, Ind., Aug. 18.—This small village of 500 inhabitants is in a fever of excitement over the murder of Railroad Agent John T. Davis of the Ohio & Mississippi railway yesterday morning, and the subsequent lynching of the murderer. Mrs. Davis was awakened at two a. m. by a tramp, who entered the room where she and her husband slept, and, snatching Mr. Davis' vest and trousers off the bedpost, made his escape. Mrs. Davis screamed and aroused her husband. Mr. Davis sprang from the bed, ran after the midnight marauder, shouting for him to halt. After he had run about three hundred yards the pursued burglar turned and hurled a stone, which struck Mr. Davis on the forehead, making an ugly wound. Mr. Davis resolutely pressed on and caught the burglar just at the railroad track. As the two clinched the tramp drew a knife and stabbed Mr. Davis in the neck and each arm. The arteries of the right arm were severed and Mr. Davis bled to death in fifteen minutes.

After he had done his bloody work the murderer fled. The cries of the dying man aroused some of the citizens, who continued the pursuit after the burglar. After half an hour eight or ten of the pursuers overtook the tramp and seized him. He denied that he killed Davis, protesting that he knew nothing of the affair. The left sleeve of his shirt was torn off, his shirt was bloody, and his left thumb was severely gashed. The tramp accounted for the missing sleeve by saying that he had fallen and torn it off. It was soon afterward found, covered with blood. The posse took the man before Mrs. Davis, who positively identified the man as the tramp who entered the house.

The enraged citizens, having satisfied themselves that they had captured the murderer of Mr. Davis, hurried the wretch to a good-sized walnut tree and hanged him to a limb with a half-inch [...] rope. Their victim protested to the last that he was innocent of the murder charged against him, but the crowd refused to believe him. [...]

A RUINOUS STORM.

Great Damage Caused by Wind and Lightning in the Northwest—A Woman Literally Scared to Death—Rumors of a Cyclone in Minnesota.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—At midnight the air was close and stifling. Big banks of somber-hued clouds hung over the city. Then there were rumblings which grew deeper and louder until they grew into crashes of thunder. At two o'clock the storm broke. Rain fell in sheets, and the wind gradually increased in velocity until it became a gale. Blinding flashes of lightning followed with scarcely any intermission between them. Night Signal Clerk Harrod, who had been watching the approach of the storm from the signal office observatory, says the lightning exceeded any electrical display he had ever before witnessed. During the storm Mrs. Annie Culver, of 71 North Green street, was so badly frightened that she died. At the first terrific clap of thunder she sprang from her bed and cowered in a corner. Her husband, John Culver, attempted to calm her. At the same moment a terrific triple crash of thunder came, shaking the house from top to bottom. Mrs. Culver fell with a scream and went into spasms. She died before her husband could render her any assistance. Between the hours of 3:30 and four o'clock there was a lull, following which the wind came to show what it could do. Signs were blown down, buildings rocked, the lake was lashed into foam, and the lightning burst out again fiercer than before. The gale continued for two hours. People who walked through the parks yesterday found thousands of dead sparrows on the walks and in the grass. They had been killed by the wind during the night.

At Madison, Wis., four inches of rain fell. The spire of the Congregational Church was badly damaged by lightning.

Logansport, Ind., reports that the storm did fearful damage to the crops in the Wabash valley, corn being blown flat to the ground on many farms.

A severe storm was reported to be raging in Cincinnati and further East last midnight. The telegraph wires between Chi[...]

[...]

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

SMITH & PARMELEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX, : MICHIGAN.

MOTHER'S GIRL.

She sits securely by my side,
My bonny, little lass!
The world is cold, the world is wide,
I let the cold world pass;
With Mary smiling up at me,
I care not what the world may be.

She looks into my faded face,
My bonny, little lass!
But does not see the wrinkled place
Where time's rough footsteps pass;
She measures me by love's own rule,
And thinks "mamma is beautiful."

She asks me many curious things,
My bonny little lass!
"Do angels shake out their wings?"
She says, when snow showers pass.
I kiss her happy face and say:
"Angels have surely passed this way."

She looks at me with serious eyes,
My bonny, little lass!
Right up to mine the sweet thoughts rise
That through her lashes pass.
She pats my cheek with smile and nod,
And softly asks: "Does you know God?"

And though I can not answer her,
My bonny, little lass!
Queer little questions quaintly stir
The rippling words that pass—
"Is God a Quaker? 'cause, you know,
He thee's and thou's the verses so."

She holds her head against my heart,
My bonny, little lass!
Her eyelids droop, her tired lips part,
Her thoughts to dreamland pass;
While bending down to kiss that curl,
I hear her whisper: "Mother's Girl!"

—Julia H. May, in Good Housekeeping.

THE LOST VOICE.

An Ancient Maiden's Great Agony in Finding It.

It was eleven o'clock a. m., and the village of Slumborough was about to receive its daily shock from the world's great electric battery, after which [...]

[...] like some. Bein' quality, dey wasn't brung up to do fur theirselves like some. All dem oder triflin' black niggers done lef 'em long ago. But dat's nothin'. Day got me to take care of 'em, honey." Bright, active, as full of audacity as resources and impressed with a sense of her own importance, it is not surprising that the child became a power in the house, and indeed out of it, for she could sew, sweep, cook, wash, milk, scrub, drive, and on occasion even plow a little, had a genius for every day matters, and at her sauciest had only the pert familiarity, or rather took only the innocent liberties of a child or savage—liberties to which Southerners are quite accustomed and which have no root of actual disrespect in them.

But this is a digression, our business being not with this original young African but with Miss Roberta as she whirls along at the local rate of speed, which is not that of the "Flying Dutchman" between Liverpool and London, but allows the curious traveler to look about him just as if he were walking without the fatigue of that exercise. All the same it was an exhilarating experience to Miss Roberta, whose life of utter seclusion made any thing in the shape of change or movement delightful. She had not been out of her own county before for twenty years, or out of her own State in all her life, so that to be going to this was a charming state of affairs somewhat clouded by the unnecessary anxieties and fears that haunt people unused to traveling. Long before Milford was reached Miss Roberta had suffered many pangs that would have struck any one accustomed to the rush and whirl of modern life as utterly absurd. A cosmopolitan American would not have felt such in a voyage around the world, and though ridiculous from this standpoint, they were very real. How would they know when the train arrived at Milford, when the stations were announced in Choctaw, to all intents and purposes! Suppose she were to get off at the wrong station, to be carried off into that wide world that loomed with dangers to unprotected spinsters! Every time passengers left the car she started up nervously and tried to find out where she was, or sat still, ashamed to make inquiries and dreading the result. Whenever the conductor entered the car she looked at him appealingly to remind him without further speech the fact that she was there, that she was going to change at Milford, that some dreadful mistake would occur unless he bore in mind her entreaties that he should see her safely into the western train. Then her purse gave her the gravest concern [...]

[...] looked around she was surprised to catch the eye of a peevish-looking old man who was on the other side, lower down, and seemed to be suffering from face-ache, to judge from the amount of handkerchief passed under his chin and knotted on the top of his head. He seemed any thing but pleased to find a strong fresh current of air sweeping past him, and motioned to her imperiously to put the window down. He waved his hand toward it a second time, and seeing that she had no idea giving in to his wishes, bounced violently out of his seat and under her very nose seized the sash and brought it down so emphatically that the pane was cracked in half and that a few pieces of glass fell out on the floor. Such an exhibition of violence and bad temper paralyzed Miss Roberta and subdued her. If he could do this what was he not capable of? so that beyond a "Your conduct amazes me, sir; it is disgraceful! disgraceful!" she made no attempt to assert her rights, and he seemed perfectly indifferent what she thought so long as he got his own way. At least he made no reply to her indignant little speech, but fell to nursing his swollen cheek again, too absorbed in his woes and the application of a liniment apparently to even look toward her again. Miss Roberta noticed with chagrin that the other passengers had maintained a most apathetic attitude in this fracas. Most of them, indeed, paid no attention to it whatever. Those who were reading did not so much as look up from their books, and on her expressing her views very hotly to the lady immediately behind her that person looked studiously out of the window, as though holding herself aloof from a vulgar disturbance not committing herself by so much as a single phrase either of sympathy or condemnation. This annoyed Miss Roberta extremely. "Just as if I were in fault! The idea of their not taking the least notice of such scandalous treatment of a lady. Why, in Virginia he would almost have been put off the train, I'm sure! It is so exactly what I should have expected of the West," thought she, as she stiffened perceptibly and leaned back in her corner.

So little breeze sifted in through the window that Miss Roberta was uncomfortable enough, and seeing that a lady opposite (who looked up from some knitting just then and smiled pleasantly on meeting her gaze), had two palmetto fans lying by her unused, Miss Roberta forgot her wounded dignity and asked for the loan of one.

The lady ignored her request calmly, [...]

THE NUMBER SEVEN

Numerous Combinations in which It Plays an Important Part.

The frequent recurrence of the number seven in the Scriptures seems to indicate that there are associated with it certain events, that it may be termed the prophetic, representative symbolic number consecrated in the Holy Scriptures and the religion of the Jews and other nations, by many mysterious events and circumstances.

The Old Testament informs us that God completed the work of creation in seven days, and set apart the seventh day to be a day of rest for all mankind.

The slayer of Abel was to be punished seven-fold, and the slayer of Lamech seventy and seven fold.

Of every clean beast Noah took into his ark by sevens, and took with him seven souls when he entered the ark. After seven days the waters were upon the face of the earth. The intervals between sending out the dove the second and third times were seven days, and in the seventh month the ark rested on the mountains of Ararat.

In Pharaoh's two dreams he saw seven well-favored and fat kine and seven ill-favored and lean kine, and seven ears of corn on one stalk, rank and good, and seven ears blasted with the east wind, which was followed by seven years of great plenty and seven years of famine.

The children of Israel were commanded to eat unleavened bread seven days, and to observe the feast of unleavened bread: seven days shall there be no leaven found in your houses.

The seventh month was signalized by the feasts of trumpets and the celebration of the Feast of Tabernacles.

Seven weeks was the interval between the Passover and the Pentecost.

The seventh year was observed as the [...]

MISCELLANEOUS.

—It is seventeen years since the first railroad across the continent was completed.

—Cats are the most difficult of all animals to train to perform tricks. A showman who could obtain a trained cat would consider his fortune made.

—Citizens of an Illinois town made a kite seven feet long, and sent it two thousand feet into the air. A windlass was rigged, and it required the power of three men to drag the kite back to the earth again.—Chicago Mail.

—A lady living in Fulton, N. Y., was frightened into hysterics by seeing her own shadow and thinking it was a burglar. She was confined to her bed for several days from the fright.

—One local justice decides that shaving is not a work of necessity and another local justice decides that it is. Justice, instead of being blind, seems to see two ways at once.—Lowell Courier.

—A poor woman went about Walla Walla, W. T., trying to sell her hair for a switch. She had it already cut off, but was unable to effect a sale. She claimed to be on the verge of starvation.

—The Polish Alliance of the United States asserts that there are 1,000,000 Poles in this country, and recently a prominent Wisconsin Bohemian declared that there were 5,000,000 Bohemians here.

—Two ladies who have taught in a certain room in the Ithaca Central School have been married within two years past, and the Journal narrates the fact that there is "somewhat of a strife" to get in the way of a third stroke of the hymeneal lightning.

—Hobson—"Hello, Jobson, old man, how are you? O, by the way, can you change a twenty-dollar bill for me?" [...]

FOR OUR YOUNG FOLKS.

A WOULD-BE SAILOR.

I knew a little youngster
Who would a sailor be;
He did not care for top or ball,
For marbles, kites or trinkets small—
He did not care for these at all,
For he would go to sea.

The things he really cared for
Were queer things such as these:
Odd knots of rope, and bits of string,
A marline-spike, a hammock ring,
Julin oak, or any thing
That might a sailor please.

He liked to read of voyages,
And navigators' lore.
"And I can tell you how," he said,
"To make a splice or a Turk's head,
To hold the reef, or heave the lead,
And—oh! a great deal more."

And if perchance you missed him,
When others were at play,
You'd find him stowed in some odd nook,
Off cruising in his sailor book
With Frobisher or Captain Cook,
In regions far away.

He has not gone from home as yet,
To ship before the mast.
But only wait and you shall see—
Sailors are made from such as he;
I'm very sure that he will be An Admiral at last.

—Wallace E. Mather, in St. Nicholas.

TONY'S CLOTHES.

How He Was Provided for on the Morning of the Picnic.

"I can't mend these any more," said grandmother, holding up a very sorry-looking pair of small trousers. "You'll have to put on your Sunday suit for every day now, Tony."

"Yes'm," answered Tony.

"And don't you slide down any more trees with rough bark."

"No'm," replied Tony.

"And you'd better go down to Sarah Jane Green's and see when she can come and make your new suit." [...]

"Oh, Chippy!" he cried, flinging his arms around her neck with a burst of tears, "the picnic's to-morrow, and my clothes ain't made. I can't go, and grandmother don't seem to care very much. I want to go, oh! oh! and my trousers are all torn. Oh, Chippy! I wish I had nice, soft wool like yours, that Sarah Jane didn't have to make."

He stayed with his fleecy friend until it was dusky enough to hide his tear-stained face, then ate his bowl of bread and milk and went to bed.

"Here, Tony!" "Quick, Tony!" "Hand that, Tony!" "Carry this, Tony!" Such a calling him here and there and everywhere Tony had never heard, as grandmother and Aunt Eleanor filled baskets and packed them in the spring wagon. And no one could have guessed how heavy his heart was as his feet flew nimbly in answer to each demand.

"Now run and dress yourself, dear," said grandmother.

Tony looked at her in amazement, with a tear gathering in each eye.

"Why, grandmother, don't you know my clothes ain't made?"

"Tony!" called Aunt Eleanor. "Wash yourself and come up here. You will be late."

Late for what? It could not be that any one expected him to go in his old clothes!

But Tony always obeyed, and he obeyed now, and ran up-stairs.

What was that which Aunt Eleanor held up before him? Just out of the sunshine which played around the wash bench under the spout, the room seemed almost dark, and it looked as if a boy might be standing there; but the boy had neither head nor feet.

"Quick!" said Aunt Eleanor, unbuttoning his old jacket.

And in ten minutes he stood before her arrayed in a new suit of soft light [...]

[...]

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established, 1869.
CHARLEVOIX, AUG. 25, 1886.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE, Associate Editor.

MURDER MOST FOUL!

The Death of Niles P. Anderson Proves to Have Been a Cold-Blooded Assassination.

At the hour of our going to press last Wednesday, our information concerning the death of Niles P. Anderson, of Marion, was that he had died suddenly of heart disease, while at work in his field.

When Dr. Lewis reached the spot, however, and examined the body, it was found that he had been the ball entering his body just in front of the left shoulder, and passing out below the right shoulder-blade. No blood was visible upon the body, or on the ground, which fact gave rise to the first report of death from heart disease. Just before the shooting, his little girl had taken him a lunch, and had returned to a point near the house, when she heard the report of a gun.

SHOT THROUGH THE HEART,

"Mamma," she said, "I am afraid Mr. Smith has shot papa."

"No, I guess not; perhaps papa is shooting squirrels with his revolver."

But the little girl returned to the field, and found her papa lying with his head bent back under him. She raised his head and saw that her papa was dead. But she was careful in breaking the news to her mother, and when she reached the house she said:

"Mamma, papa is hurt bad, but I guess he is all right."

"Is papa dead?" asked the frightened mother.

"Papa is hurt: go and get Mr. Johnson."

The neighbors came, and the widowed mother knew that her faithful, loving husband, while laboring for her comfort and happiness, had been taken from her.

The body was covered by a blanket until the examination by Dr. Lewis, and a survey of the premises to ascertain the locality from whence the shot came. Tracks were found leading down to a stump about five rods from the edge of the wood, and returning, were traced to Thomas Smith's field, nearly a mile away. Tommy Johnson, half a mile away, saw the smoke and heard the report of the gun.

THE INQUEST.

At eleven o'clock a jury was impaneled by Justice Black, and after hearing the evidence, rendered a verdict that "deceased came to his death by being shot by some person by them unknown."

The letter of the law prescribes this form of verdict where positive evidence is lacking, but the jury knew in their hearts who the assassin was, and had Thomas Smith been found in Marion on that day, Sheriff Berdan would not now have Thomas Smith in his custody.

THE CHAIN OF EVIDENCE

all led in one direction, and all Marion said that Thomas Smith was the murderer. Sheriff Berdan was at Ironton, but came in response to a telegram, and, in the afternoon, armed with a warrant, he went to Smith's place in Marion, but found him gone. This naturally increased suspicion, and the Sheriff at once set about instituting a systematic search for Smith. Under-Sheriff Cooper was dispatched south as far as Elk Rapids, patrols stationed throughout the vicinity of Smith's farm, and officers in adjoining counties notified by telegraph.

At dusk in the evening, Thursday, Sheriff Berdan took a posse from here to reinforce those in Marion, and made arrangements for watching Smith's premises during the night. At 8:30, Mrs. David Hawkins, who resides on the U. & H. addition, was startled by the appearance of Smith at her door, who asked for food. She ran from the house and gave the alarm. Smith seemed in a desperate condition of hunger and fatigue, as he sat down upon the steps. He was seated there some time, in the meantime inquiring the whereabouts of Horace Hull, his brother-in-law, whose life he is said to have threatened.

He was still sitting there when Under-Sheriff Cooper, Lyman Price, Elmore Mudge, and two or three others, came up. The Under-Sheriff approached and took him by the collar of his coat, and told him to come with him.

Smith arose and said, "No, I won't," at the same time drawing a revolver, presenting it at Cooper and retreating backward. Cooper pulled his 32 calibre and cut loose at a distance of about eight feet. If it had not missed fire, Thomas Smith would probably be in Hades to day. Smith did not fire, but turned and ran into the woods, near the east and west road connecting the state with the county road, on the north side of the U. & H. addition. Meantime a large force of men had reached there, mostly armed, and the road was covered and woods surrounded. Smith appeared and crossed the road northward, under a fire from at least six revolvers. At least twenty shots were fired at him at close range. He gained the field unhurt, and turned into the woods to the right. Every street and road about the woods was quickly covered, and the streets leading to water closely guarded.

A REGULAR MAN HUNT.

About nine o'clock Sheriff Berdan had been notified and came in from Marion to direct operations. At 11 o'clock J. G. Reed, of Marion, came on horseback, and at a point about 80 rods south of the cross-road saw a man in the wheat stubble east of the road. He hailed, and commanded him to come out, but instead, he ran. Reed pulled on him; but again it seemed evident that Smith was not born to be shot.

Reed rode rapidly toward town and met Sheriff Berdan and a posse at the top of the hill, who at once deployed in the field and covered every yard of it at a double quick eastward to the street running south across the Mason estate, [illegible] and Winchesters in hand. Let it be remembered, all these movements, and subsequent ones up to the moment of the capture, were under the personal direction of Sheriff Berdan.

THE CAPTURE.

The premises about the Charlevoix Summer Resort, and the beach of Pine Lake were promptly covered. At three o'clock in the morning John Cooper, armed with a gun was patrolling the premises about Eaton's factory, when he saw a man skulking about an old barn. He approached and ordered him to surrender. The man, who proved to be Smith, turned and ran, and Cooper fired at him, but again the lead failed to do its work. He followed him down to the road and found that Smith had run upon several young men in a buggy who had come to bring a lunch to the patrol. They were armed, and Geo. Sherwood, James Linn, Lon See and Montie Lewis got down and covered him. Lon Mudge, Geo. Wakefield, Elmer Mayne and Will Horton came up and did likewise. The muzzles of Winchesters and revolvers surrounded him. Smith, who had his hands in his coat pockets, was ordered by John Cooper to throw up his hands. He refused to do so, and Cooper dropped his rifle and seized both the murderer's arms, Lon Mudge seized him from behind, and when Smith's hand came out of his pocket a revolver came with it. He gripped it in both hands, and it was only by a struggle that Mudge secured it. Supervisor Ward and other Marion men came up, and the prisoner was taken to town and turned over to Sheriff Berdan, who lodged him in the dark cell of the jail, where the writer found him at eight o'clock, somewhat the worse for wear. He devoured a breakfast with the voracity of a famished beast. He denies having committed the murder, but his story is conflicting, and "don't wash." The pistol taken from him explains his failure to return the fire of his pursuers. It is a small 22 calibre, short, containing five cartridges, rusted in, and the chamber refuses to revolve. But it represented in his hands a spirit of murderous resistance as much as would a 44 calibre, or the Spencer rifle with which he shot poor Anderson. His disposition was good.

THE CAUSE OF ALL THIS

dates back more than a year; in fact, more than twelve years. When the Smith farm was the property of Tom Smith's father, now deceased, the Marion highway authorities laid out a road along the section line on the place. The Smiths objected, and for several years the matter was not pressed. A little more than a year ago it was re-opened under the authority of the old process, but Tom Smith, now the owner of the farm, fenced it up, and appealed to the Township Board. They decided against him, but still he obstructed the road. He was arrested, but owing to a legal defect discovered in the original highway process, suit was discontinued, and a new process for opening the road begun.

Niles P. Anderson was Highway Commissioner. He, acting in accordance with the law, ordered the fence taken down, and it was done. Smith then swore vengeance against all concerned in the matter. Some time ago he purchased a Spencer carbine, stating that "he had work for it to do." There seems to be an overpowering weight of circumstantial evidence pointing to him as the murderer, but we shall not refer to it here. Let the jury get it in court.

But in the annals of crime there is not recorded a more dastardly assassination than the killing of NILES P. ANDERSON.

He was backward in the performance of his official duty in his case, because he was a peaceful man. He was a sober, industrious man, with a wife and two little children, in a pleasant and happy home; respected in his township, as well as in Charlevoix, where he was well known. With the sweat of honest labor upon his brow, and the field of prone grain lying about him that his own hands that day had reaped; with his fond wife in the happy home preparing the noonday meal, and the little flaxen-haired girls flitting about in the sunshine, Niles P. Anderson lay as prone and lifeless as the fallen grain about him—laid there by the murderous hand of his neighbor. Of Mr. Anderson's personal history, we learn that he was born near Copenhagen, Denmark, March 29, 1850, and came to this country in 1868. He was married in 1872 to Miss Elinor Bingham, at Columbus, Wis., and thereupon moved to Dearborn, Mich. Five years ago he moved to Marion, this county, where he has continued to reside up to the time of his death. He was an intelligent and well-read man.

"THE CRIME IS RANK, and smells to heaven." The taking of the assassin's life would be be but poor justice, and the law of Michigan fixes the extreme penalty this side of that. Let it be so; but with the thought of that desolate home up in Marion, there are many who say truly that the Law of Michigan does not encompass the full bounds of justice.

THOMAS H. SMITH,

who is charged with this murder, is about 56 years of age, and has been a resident of this region for over thirty years. He was brought face to face with the widow and little daughter of his victim in Justice McLeod's office on Saturday. The look of anguish upon the mother's face we shall long remember. The prisoner refused to make answer to the charge, and he was returned to his cell. His examination occurs to-day.

The big bargain table is at F. W. Craine & Co's.

Go to Scott's shop for a first-class job of horseshoeing.

Remember F. W. Craine & Co's big bargain table, don't forget it.

F. W. Craine & Co are the wide-awake dry goods firm of Northern Michigan.

It will pay you to look over F. W. Craine & Co's big stock of yarns, zephyrs, etc.

For Summer Tourists.—A number of pleasant and nicely furnished rooms to rent. Enquire at this office.

THE NEW STEAMER.

The Silsby Steam Fire Engine, in a Thorough Test Does More Than was Claimed for Her.

The delivery engineer of the Silsby Manufacturing Co. arrived Friday, and on Saturday forenoon, she was tested before the village council, chief McLeod and a large number of citizens. She was placed first on Upright & Emrey's dock, and the fire started. In 3¼ minutes the steam gauge moved; her whistle was blowed in 4½ minutes, 20 pounds of steam was indicated in five minutes, and water came from the nozzle in 7¼ minutes. There were several small hindrances, not the fault of the engine, and it was thought by all present that she could start water in six minutes. In 11 minutes from the starting of the fire, she threw water 100 feet through 50 feet of hose and a ⅞ nozzle; through 200 feet of hose and a one inch nozzle she threw water 192 feet (guarantee 150 feet); through two lines of hose each 200 feet, and ⅞ nozzles, she threw two streams 166 feet (guarantee 125); with three lines of 200 feet of hose, she threw three streams 125 feet; with two lengths of same length of hose combined upon a 1¼ nozzle, she threw 198 feet; the same with a 1½ nozzle, she landed water 215 feet from the nozzle.

She blew off frequently while working the heaviest, proving her steaming power, and in every instance did more than the contract stipulates.

About the same tests were given her, drawing water from the river below the bridge, and with no perceptible decrease of power. With 1,150 feet of hose she threw water 150 feet from her nozzle.

The machine is one of the Silsby "No. 5," is fully equipped, and is a magnificent concern—nickel plated throughout, strongly built, and in every way an engine that Charlevoix may well feel proud of.

There is no doubt of her acceptance by the council.

Eveline Items.

(By Katydid.)

Eveline is still on the boom.

Fine vegetable-growing time.

H. S. Freeman is still very poorly.

E. G. Jarman loaded back on the schooner J. V. Taylor at Bedwin's dock Monday.

Ed Winkler has moved to Ironton, in the Harry Atkinson residence.

The bazaar last Thursday afternoon and evening was very largely attended. The steamer North Star brought a crowd from East Jordan. About $60 was realized, which will be used for the benefit of the new Congregational church.

Don't run to your neighbor to borrow the Sentinel to get the latest news, but subscribe and get the news fresh.

J. D. Parish is enjoying a visit from his sister, Mrs. Maggie McDonald, of Wayne.

John Hammond lost a horse one day last week. John has had bad luck, this being the second horse he has lost this summer. The Iron Co. also lost a horse a week ago.

James Reed is still compelled to use a crutch from the effects of spraining his foot last spring. Mrs. Reed is also very feeble.

The case of John Montie vs. Mrs. Wolcott, has been adjourned until September 11th.

Frankie Cater left the fore part of last week to join his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cater, in Grand Rapids.

Although the attendance at the dance at Schoffen's hall Thursday evening was slim, a very good time is reported.

Died—on Tuesday, August 17th, Ola, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Polson, of Ironton, of croup, aged 9 years.

The camp meeting in the grove at Beers' school house last Sunday was well attended.

The latest arrival in town is that of Mr. Tuttle and family, who came from Mancelona last Thursday. They are stopping with D. N. Gregory until they can build on the 120 acres of land which he purchased last fall, and known as the Lockwood place, but better known to old settlers as the Jim Bartlett place. Mr. Tuttle was one of the losers in the Mancelona fire, in which he lost his house, but saved his household goods.

It was a mistake on the part of the Sentinel last week in stating that A. R. Upright lost a large amount of hay by the fire. He nearly lost a part of his hay, but it was only by willing hands and hard work that the flames were kept back.

Banks.

Sylvester Brown had his house and barn burned last Friday night. His loss is total, including even his summer's crops. The family were away at the time. It is supposed the fire was not an accidental one.

Miss Lula Kanagy, who graduated last June at the Elburn, Ill., high school with the honors of her class, is engaged to teach for the coming year at $40 per month. How is that for a "mossback's" daughter?

The ice-cream social for the benefit of Rev. Howe, was quite a success socially if not financially. Have not heard how much the proceeds were.

Rev. P. F. McClelland exchanged pulpits with Rev. Baxter, of Mancelona, last Sabbath.

Rev. Mr. Frazer and friend, Mr. Childs, from Madison, Ohio, are here with friends.

Mrs. Selman, of Grand Rapids, is visiting her friend, Mrs. Beach.

The suggestion that Mexico would like to have a war with the United States in the hope that the result would be the annexation of some of her northern territory, with its turbulent population, to this country, the Chicago Journal considers not worth a moment's thought. If Mexico wanted to part with any of her territory she proposes to sell it for a good round price, not to give it away at the end of an expensive war.

A fine new yacht for sale or trade for other property. Inquire at this office. t2

A house and 6 lots for sale or rent. Inquire of L. E. Allen, Charlevoix.

F. W. Craine & Co's special sale of embroideries on Saturday was a big success.

F. W. Craine & Co. will soon open the largest stock of fall and winter cloaks ever shown in the county.

Horses for Sale.

One bay team, weight 2,500, sound and good workers, seven and ten years old.

R. W. MILLER.

Mrs. Litney & Carr have just received a fine line of latest and nobbiest styles of millinery and fancy goods. An especially fine line of colored laces, and summer hats and bonnets. All the latest Trimmings kept in stock.

J. R. and J. S. DIXON, Surveyors and Engineers, and Deputy County Surveyors.

Teacher's Examination.

The examination of teachers in Charlevoix county for the ensuing school year, will occur as follows: At Charlevoix, Friday the 10th day of September, 1886; at East Jordan, Friday the 24th day of September, 1886; at Boyne City, Friday, October 29th, 1886. At Boyne City, Friday March 25th, 1887, and at East Jordan on Friday April 29th, 1887. All examinations to commence at 9 o'clock a. m. and candidates to furnish stationery.

Oct29 WILLIAM HARRIS, Secretary.

Mortgage Sale.

A mortgage dated the 12th of September, 1879, executed by Oliver S. Horton and Linetta J. Horton to David Carpenter, recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix county, Michigan, September 29th, 1879 in Liber 4 of mortgages on page 86 upon which the whole amount of principal and interest viz: $145.30 is past due and for the recovery of which no suit or proceedings has been commenced, will be foreclosed under the power of sale therein contained by a statutory sale of the premises therein described as the north-west fractional quarter of the north-east quarter of section six, in town 31 north of Range 6, west, in Charlevoix county, Michigan, to the highest bidder at the front door of Waldron House, in the village of Bay Springs, (that being the place of holding the Circuit court for Charlevoix county, Michigan, at 12 o'clock noon November 12th, 1886.

Dated August 17th 1886.

DAVID CARPENTER, Mortgagee.
HART & CALL, Att'ys for Mortgagee.

THE CIRCUS BEGINS!

NEXT WEEK I AM GOING TO RECEIVE A

LARGE INVOICE OF

CLOTHING!

Bought from one of the leading houses of Rochester, N. Y., Which I will sell at Prices that will draw Trade from all over the County.

I think the best advertisement a merchant can have is to have his goods advertise him in good fits and prices that cannot be beat.

GEO. W. MILLER.

A NEW DEPARTURE!

AT F. W. CRAINE & CO'S

This week we have placed in our store a Bargain Table, and on which may be found at all times,

GENUINE BARGAINS

in everything pertaining to our line.

By coming in and inspecting this department you will readily be convinced of its merit.

We are confident that our many patrons will appreciate this NEW Departure as we do just as we advertise.

Look out for Bargains at

F. W. Craine & Co's.

Dry Goods!

We offer for the next few days

Great Bargains!

--IN ALL--

Summer Dress Goods

SHAWLS,
WHITE GOODS,
PARASOLS,
Silk & Thread Gloves,
Hosiery,
Straw Hats, etc.

New Line of

Broadhead Dress Goods.

JUST RECEIVED,
And marked at very low prices.

JERSEY AND BOUCLE JACKETS
VERY - CHEAP.

Staple and Fancy

GROCERIES,

in great variety and at correct prices.

The finest line of Teas, Coffees, Spices.

PLANTATION JAVA COFFEE, Best in The World.

Farmers will consult their own interest in buying our factory-filled DAIRY SALT.

J. L. HURD & CO.

Special Announcement!

ROSENTHAL & SON

in order to dispose of their immediate stock of Summer Goods will sell all goods in this line way down at Prices that can't be competed with in this Northern country.

Everything will have to be sold cheap, so as to make room for our mammoth stock of Fall and Winter Goods now coming daily,

ROSENTHAL & SON.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL. XVIII. NO.--18 CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1886. WHOLE NO. 875

Patent Medicines
Proprietory
Articles,
Fancy Goods,
Toilet Articles,
Perfumes,
Books,
Stationery,
School Books,
and Supplies,
Confectionery,
Cigars,
Musical Goods,

Prescriptions carefully compounded.

F. G. HINES & CO.
DRUGGISTS
AND STATIONERS,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

UPRIGHT & EMREY,—GENERAL DEALERS.

UPRIGHT & EMREY,

Dealers in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Etc.

CHOICE TEAS,

Best

Coffees

Boots & Shoes!

IN ALL GRADES OF MEN'S, WOMEN'S and CHILDREN'S.

We have given more than our usual care and attention to the selection of our stock, and we Know we can please our patrons in all

KINDS OF FOOTWEAR.

UPRIGHT & EMREY.

We can Supply you with EVERYTHING in our Line.

THE FINEST STOCK OF

FURNITURE

ever offered in Charlevoix,

IS NOW AWAITING YOUR INSPECTION AT

Henry C. Cooper's.

A Choice Line of

FRESH GROCERIES,

OF EVERY VARIETY,

Including Confectionery, Fruits, Canned Goods, and Tobaccos and Cigars in stock

For your inspection in OPERA BLOCK by

R. J. COOPER.

THE 'CHAMPION' HARDWARE STORE OF CHARLEVOIX COUNTY.

THE PLACE TO SPEND YOUR CASH!

If PRICES are any Object

TO YOU,

YOU will Buy

YOUR

Hardware, Iron and Nails, of STOCKMAN & IDDINGS.

WE HAVE THE SOLE AGENCY FOR

The Champion Force Pumps,
Champion Barbed Wire,
Champion Plow,

"King" Tinted Solid Paints,
Heath & Milligan Ready Prepared Paints.

ALL OF WHICH ARE OFFERED AT SPECIALLY LOW PRICES FOR CASH.

STOCKMAN & IDDINGS.

The Best Groceries At The Lowest Prices

ARE FOUND AT THE GROCERY AND PROVISION HOUSE OF

A. E. MASON.

I do a strictly Cash-over-counter business and will guarantee lowest prices.

J. MILO EATON'S

REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE,

AND LOAN OFFICE.

The oldest in the county. Established in 1875.

Money to loan in sums to suit and at lowest rates on improved farms.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE furnished on short notice. Office over Postoffice.

A. J. McLEOD,

having returned to the Charlevoix Meat Market, announces that he will sell at

Wholesale or Retail

All kinds of

FRESH MEATS,
SALT PORK,
SMOKED & SALTED
HAMS,
Dried and Smoked
BACON, DRIED BEEF,
Bologna, Head Cheese,
Sausage.

Highest Prices Paid FOR HIDES and PELTS.

Will kill hogs or cattle for other Markets or persons wishing that class of work at low rates.

A. J. McLEOD.

CHARLEVOIX
Manufacturing Co.
Charlevoix, Mich.,
Manufacturers of
Sash and Doors,
Blinds, Mouldings etc.
NEWELL
Posts, Banisters & Stair Rails
kept in stock.
Window & Door Frames made to order.
All Kinds of
Building Material
Kept constantly on hand.
PLANS & SPECIFICATIONS.
Furnished on application.
Cottages made a specialty also contracting and building.
Correspondence solicited.

Charlevoix Sentinel,
The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
SMITH & PARMELEE,
Charlevoix, - Michigan.
Address all business correspondence to the firm.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One year - $1 50 | Six months - $ .75
Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—Acting Gov. Buttars is expected home this week.

—Charlevoix offers a good opening for a first class tailor.

Dr. H. A. Reynolds left Monday, and speaks in Flint this week.

—An infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Olney died Monday morning.

His Charlevoix friends were glad to greet Mr. Earl Newton of Batavia, Ills., Friday.

—The Chicago Club House had 40 resorters to dinner Sunday and the Belvedere house 105.

—An excursion from Boyne City, Advance and Horton's Bay, came down on the Clara Belle, Saturday.

—Phil L. Lenway of South Arm, is being pushed by his friends for County clerk on the Republican ticket this fall.

—The foundation of the new Amos Fox residence on Main-st is well under way. It will be an ornament to the village.

—Bradley, G. photographer, succeeded in taking a fine view of eight of the schooners that were in the harbor over Sunday.

—All the Michigan appointments of Dr. Reynolds, the temperance lecturer, are made by Mrs. R. A. Campbell of Charlevoix.

—C. R. Bellinger, the jeweller, has just received a complete new line of watches, jewelry and silverware. Call and see his assortment.

—Joseph and Junius S. Dixon are both deputy county surveyors and will attend to anything in their profession. Notice their card elsewhere.

The Charlevoix Sentinel's report of the murder of Niles P. Anderson was a fine piece of newspaper enterprise and work.—Kalamazoo Telegraph.

—Miss Nellie Stewart, of South Haven, and Miss Maud Loveday, of Charlevoix, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Thompson.—Mancelona Herald.

—The Boyne Citizen has changed its head and motto for the better. Boyne City is to be congratulated upon having so talented an editor as Dr. Nicholson.

—Mrs. Frank Wood, accompanied by her son De Forrest, and sister, Miss Moore, leave for Grand Rapids, Friday, to visit relatives and friends. The latter will remain.

—A correspondent of the Bellaire Breeze suggests that it would be a good idea for the correspondents of that paper to have a convention, and sees no reason why it could not be made interesting.

—The Chicago club house, after the most successful season in its history, closes today. There are a number of people on the Chicago resort who have many warm friends in Charlevoix and who will always be welcome to the fat of the land.

—Sir Knights M. J. Stockman and wife, J. Reed Emrey and wife, Capt. John Penfold and wife, W. A. Smith and wife, accompanied by Rev. J. T. Iddings and wife and Byron See and wife, attended the Knights Templar excursion to Sault Ste. Marie, Saturday and Sunday.

—Kalamazoo Telegraph: Miss Lula Kanagy of Banks, Antrim county, graduated at the Elburn, Ill., high school with the honors of her class and has been returned to teach at $40 a month. Northern Michigan girls have the sturdy, get there ideas and characteristics of their fathers and mothers.

Enterprise: Sol. Isaman wants to know why the Charlevoix Journal doesn't copy the news in the Boyne Citizen verbatim.——The mill hands, to whom the Scranton & Watson Lumber Co. are indebted, have forbidden the putting of any more lumber on the vessel now lying at the dock, in consequence of which the men who have been engaged in loading have suspended operations.

The new postal will at once be accepted as an improvement upon that now in use. It consists of one piece of engraving instead of two pieces, as on the present card. A head of Jefferson, a miniature portrait after the original in the state department, occupies a central place on the upper third of the card. Over this head, in light letters, are the words "United States". In panels, supported by scroll work at the left and right, are the words "postal card" in distinct letters. Under the head are the words "one cent," and beneath the border line inclosing the designation of value is the line: "Nothing but the address to be on this side." The design is graceful and light, and its advantage over the old one is that the idea of putting the stamp off at one side and the designation of the article at the other at the opposite side is abandoned to secure an extensive design with the strongest feature of it in the center.

—Nearly all the cottages on the Chicago resort are closed.

—Mr. Chapin, of the Boyne Citizen made us a pleasant call yesterday.

—A three days blow began Sunday and has made Rome howl since then.

—The firm of R. Rosenthal & Son has been changed to S. Rosenthal & Son.

—A. E. Martin, attorney, has been appointed meterological observer at Boyne City.

—The Methodist church will give an entertainment next Friday evening. See hand-bills.

—A. T. Hodge of the Chicago Paper Co., is fishing in the Intermediates with a party of friends.

—F. W. Craine & Co., have a supplement this week calling attention to their remnant sale of next Saturday.

—Mr. Henry Gibson again appears on the East Jordan Enterprise staff and in its own language: "Now look for a better paper."

—The Herald states that with one or two exceptions the insurance companies having risks in Mancelona have settled up with the losers satisfactorily.

—Divine service with holy communion and perhaps confirmation by Bishop G. D. Gillispie, D. D., at Odd Fellows hall next Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 4:30 p. m.

—We are are pleased to state that we have satisfactory proof that Charlevoix did get an appropriation of $10,000. We find the item in the Charlevoix Journal.

—The Charlevoix Sentinel says: "Frank Craine goes to Cadillac to be gone a month." Good for Frank. Perhaps he can help find the lost parasol.—Cadillac Express.

—The Manistee Times and Sentinel have consolidated. The paper will be republican in politics and be managed by Hilton & Madison. App. Smith will start an anti Cutcheon organ.

—Mr. John Ward, supervisor of Marion, remembers the Sentinel force with a basket of magnificent Duchess Oldenburg apples. Northern Michigan leads the country on fruit.

—Grand Haven Tribune: "Capt. Beauvais, of the life saving station, has been presented by his crew with a large plush rocking chair and a gold pen, the occasion being the captain's 47th birthday."

—The party who were here with the tug Duncan Robertson stole a fine speckled trout from the depot spring. People where the tug goes had better lock up their hen houses.—Harbor Springs Independent.

—Bro. Townsend of the Kalamazoo Telegraph, a journalist that northern Michigan editors and people in general delight to honor, is here to remain this month or longer. Mr. Townsend is a loyal friend to Charlevoix.

Why we laugh! The Harbor Springs second nine came over last Wednesday and wrestled with the Charlevoix boys on the diamond. The score stood 20 to 2 in favor of the home team. Only the arrival of the Friant put an end to the carnage.

—In the last legislature 39 fusionists voted against prohibition while only 2 republican votes were recorded against it. A vote for the third party means a vote for the democratic ticket. Prohibitionists where will your vote do the temperance cause the most good?

—The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held on Friday of this week at Mrs. Kirkpatrick's. Matters of importance to be arranged. The Union desire the presence of every member of the society, and earnestly invite and urge every and all ladies of the place to meet with them.

—O. F. Wisner was elected vice president of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Association of Northern Michigan, for the county of Charlevoix, at the encampment held at Gaylord, on the 19th inst. Mr. Wisner reports a good time at the encampment, the number present being estimated at 2,000.

—S. H. Comfort, for the past two seasons the popular clerk of the Fountain City House, left yesterday for Detroit where he will enter the employ of W. F. Lane & Co., wholesale grocers, as book keeper. Mr Comfort has many friends here who will be glad to see him among us every summer with his family.

—Counterfeits of the U. S. silver dollar are being circulated. They have an excellent imitation and have the ring of good coin. They have the date 1882. The figure 8 is a little imperfect and the milling is deeper and sharper than that of the government dollar, as it extends across the full thickness of the piece.

—From the Michigan crop report for August, we glean that corn promises in the southern four tiers of counties 76 per cent, and in the northern counties 82 per cent of an average crop. The corresponding figures one month ago were 91 and 93, and one year ago 88 and 92. Oats are estimated to yield 28 and Barley 23 bushels per acre. The yield per acre of hay is 74 per cent of the average crop. The condition of the meadows and pastures is 61 per cent, and the clover sowed this year 56 per cent, the comparison being with average years. A large number of correspondents give no figures for clover sown this year but state that it is all killed. Potatoes promise two thirds of an average yield on an acreage seven per cent below an average. Apples promise 85 per cent of an average crop.

—Additional local on fifth page.

—Mary A. McCabe has entered a Detroit convent.

—There are 360 children of school age in Charlevoix.

—Mr Ralph Enos spent the sabbath with his parents here.

—Fred Green is assisting at F. W. Craine & Co's for a few weeks.

—Alle Rosenthal goes to New York to purchase goods the latter part of this month.

—The new residence of F. W. Mayne on the north side is nearly completed.

—A. E. Lee is prepared to turn gill-net corks and cant-hook handles in the Stover mill, south of town.

—Mr. A. T. Heron of the Detroit Tribune increased the local subscription list of that sterling daily last Saturday.

Rosenthal & Son have just received a large line of cloaks. Read about them in their new advertisement next week.

Three of the sons of Neptune in the harbor, Monday, indulged in a triple nosed fight to break the monotony of the thing.

Prof. W. H. Payne of the chair of Pedagogics, State University, will be one of the instructors in the approaching teachers' institute.

—Mrs. Martha J. Ayers of Plattsburg N. Y., who is spending the summer at A. R. Upright's is largely interested in Charlevoix county real estate.

—Young men and women of the neighboring towns who wish the best possible High School advantages will do well to patronize Charlevoix henceforth.

Mrs. James Beauvais died of consumption this morning. The funeral is from the house to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The family have the sympathy of many friends.

—The Congregational church was crowded Sunday evening on the occasion of the last of Dr. Reynold's temperance addresses. The Doctor has many personal friends in Charlevoix, who are warmly in sympathy with the temperance part of his efforts.

—Traverse Herald: R. A. Campbell writes from Charlevoix that he has entirely recovered from his recent severe sickness, and that his hotel is doing nicely this season. The total registry list for the two weeks ending Aug. 11 was 348. Mr. Campbell's friends here will be glad to learn of his success.

—The largest excursion of the season will arrive in Petoskey Sept. 8th. Trains will leave Detroit, Saginaw, and Lansing on the 7th. The round trip fare is $5 from Detroit, $4 from Lansing and $4.50 from Saginaw. Tickets good to return until the 16th. This will be a grand opportunity for Charlevoix excursions.

—Mr. D. A. Waterman of Detroit, will speak upon the subject of Christian education next Sunday morning at the Baptist place of worship, over Craine's store. Dr. Olney of Ann Arbor, will conduct the evening service. All who can attend these meetings are assured of a pleasant and profitable Sunday. Pastor Clark expects to spend Sunday at Traverse City.

—It is expected that the Charlevoix public schools will graduate the first class next year. Already our young people are beginning to look forward to the completion of the course as a worthy object of ambition. A thorough system of classification has been adopted throughout the school, designed to secure the greatest economy in the work of teachers, and the best possible advantage to each individual pupil, making it to all intents and purposes a thoroughly graded school.

Charlevoix Summer Resort Items.

The O. M. Allen cottage closes today.

J. L. Sebring and family leave Friday.

C. H. Dickinson and D. DenBleyker arrived Saturday.

Mrs. Eli Rog[illegible] and daughter of Hillsdale arrived Friday.

J. L. Sebring and Geo. Bardeen spent the Sabbath on the resort.

Mrs. J. J. West, who has been quite ill for the past two weeks, is much improved.

The stone foundation for the new club house is nearly completed. Carpenter work will be commenced at once.

J. A. Lawrence, the carpenter who has been appointed resort warden, will work upon the club house this fall and winter. The selection of Mr. Lawrence is a very fortunate one.

The Belvedere dining hall during August has averaged 201 boarders, as against 250 during the same period last year. More cottagers have taken meals in their cottages than formerly.

Traverse Herald: Mrs. Geo. E. Hannahs has the pleasure this week of entertaining her friends, Mrs. Bardeen of Kalamazoo, Mrs. Carder of Chicago, and Miss Baker of South Bend, Ind. Mrs. Bardeen is the wife of Geo. E. Bardeen, secretary of the Kalamazoo Paper Co., who is well known in northern Michigan as an incorrigible practical joker, also as quite a celebrity in a literary way. Several of the productions of his fertile brain and ready pen are really quite marvels in their way. We understand that Mr. Bardeen intends to publish a volume of his writings—a happy combination of prose and poetry—in the near future. We confidently predict for this book a large sale.

PARNELL'S POLICY.

It Is Sustained by the Irish Convention at Chicago—The Resolutions Adopted—John Fitzgerald, of Nebraska, Chosen for President of the League—A Fine Financial Showing—Adjournment.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—The third session of the Irish National League convention did not open yesterday morning at the appointed hour. It was eleven o'clock before Chairman Fitzgerald rose from his seat on the stage and rapped the convention to order.

Father Horner, chairman of the Committee on Permanent Organization, reported that it had been determined to make the temporary organization of the convention permanent. The report was received with cheers and unanimously adopted. The Committee on Resolutions announced that they were ready to report, and Dr. Betts, the chairman, read the resolutions in a loud, clear voice, as follows:

"We, the delegates of the Irish National League of America, in convention assembled, firmly believing in the principles of human freedom and in the right of a people to frame their own laws—a right which lies at the foundation of the prosperity and greatness of this republic, and which has been advantageously extended to the colonial possessions of Great Britain, do hereby "Resolve, 1. That we express our heartiest and most unqualified approval of national self government for Ireland.

"2. That we heartily approve of the course pursued by Charles Stewart Parnell and his parliamentary associates in the English House of Commons, and we renew the expression of our entire confidence in their wisdom and in their ability to achieve home rule in Ireland.

"3. That we extend our heartfelt thanks to Mr. Gladstone for his great efforts on behalf of Irish self government, and we express our gratitude to the English, Scotch and Welsh democracy for the support given to the great Liberal leader and his Irish policy ...

EX-PRESIDENT PATRICK EGAN.

MICHAEL DAVITT.

... since the Boston convention ... Dr. O'Reilly ... the Parliamentary ... had sent $314, ... The receipts during the ... 139.57, of which ... burned except ... handling all the ... twentieth of ... closed with an ... ple in America ... self sacrifice. ... thanks were ... his financial ... Massachusetts, ... to make to the ... check for $1,500 ... applause.

Secretary James ... a sort of retrospect ... ry of the league ... tion. At that time ... At present the ... league through ... Canada has ...

Then came the ... tion of candidates ... the league. The ... ka, placed in nomination ... of Nebraska.

Mr. Barry, of ... Hugh C. McCaffrey ...

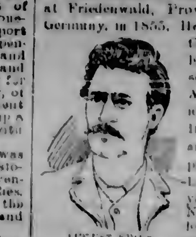
Mr. McCaffrey ... fellow-delegates ... He said he was ... oppose no person ... begged leave to ... nomination was ... of New York. ... tion not to ... sparsely populated ... the Eastern ... the bulk of the ... murs of dissent ... laughter, when ... convention not ... meant that when ... tion was there ...

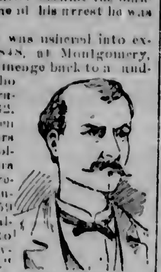
Mr. McCaffrey ...

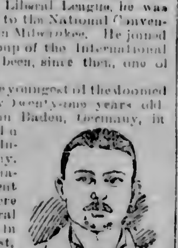
DOOMED ANARCHISTS.

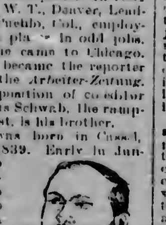
Sketches of the Men Sentenced for Instigating the Haymarket Tragedy in Chicago.

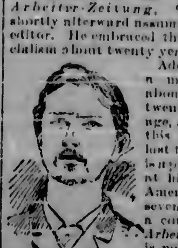
August Theodore Vincent Spies was born at Friedewald, Province Hesse-Nassau, Germany, in 1855. ...











A MASTERLY EFFORT.

The Eloquent Republican Leader Opens the Campaign in the Pine Tree State—His Views on the Tariff, Labor, the Fisheries and Other Broad Issues—The Foreign Policy Trenchantly Arraigned.

Hon. James G. Blaine opened the Maine campaign, at Bar Harbor, on the 24th ...

Northern Michigan

Boiler Works.

Builder and Manufacturer of

Boilers, Heaters,

LARD TANKS, ETC.

OF ALL KINDS

SHEET IRON WORK

A SPECIALTY.

MARINE WORK

Given Special Attention

HENRY BARTH, Proprietor,

Charlevoix, Mich.

THE CHARLEVOIX

Manufacturing Co.,

Manufacturers of

DOORS, SASH, ETC.

Solicit Orders

For All Kinds of Manufactured

LUMBER, CASINGS,

Mouldings, Etc.

ADDRESS

CHARLEVOIX MANUF'NG CO.,

Charlevoix, Mich.

DeLAND & CO'S

CAP SHEAF

SALERATUS SODA

Best in the World.

BY ALL MEANS PURCHASE RIMROD

PLUG TOBACCO

PREMIUM GOODS.

S. W. VENABLE & CO., PETERSBURG, VA.

TUTT'S PILLS

25 YEARS IN USE.

The Greatest Medical Triumph of the Age!

SYMPTOMS OF A

TORPID LIVER.

CONSTIPATION.

TUTT'S HAIR DYE.

Office, 44 Murray St., New York.

THE COMBINED

STEAM FURNITURE

—AND—

Agate Works,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

REPAIRING OR BUILDING

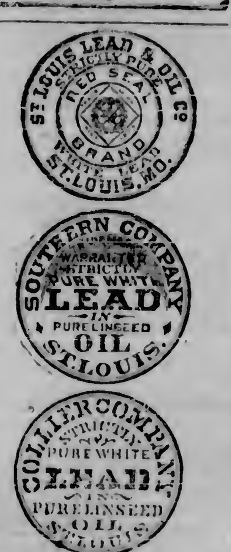
Furniture of all Kinds

ON SHORT NOTICE.

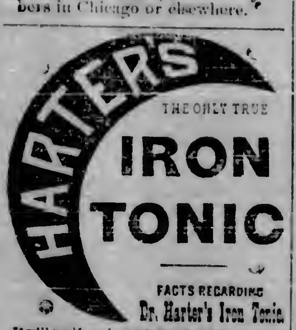
MY LAPIDARY

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

CORNELIUS BUDD.



ST. LOUIS manufactures the largest quantity of White Lead of any city in the World, ...



LADIES

HUMPHREYS'

HOMEOPATHIC

SPECIFICS.

The Old Doctor

Dr. WARD & CO., Louisiana, Mo.

MILWAUKEE, LAKE SHORE & WESTERN RAILWAY.

The Only Line Running

TWO DAILY TRAINS

—BETWEEN—

Wausau and Milwaukee and Chicago

THE AIR LINE TO OSHKOSH.

TIME TABLE.

JOB WORK,

—SUCH AS—

Cards, Bill-Heads, Circulars, Posters, &c.

Executed to Order With Neatness and Dispatch.

AT THIS OFFICE.

MRS. M. LITNEY

FANCY MILLINER

And Dealer in

Ladies' Furnishing Goods,

EMBROIDERING SILK

AND

Felts for Fancy Work, Laces, Velvets,

Etc. Etc.

CHARLEVOIX.

FARMING LAND!

500,000 ACRES

Of Splendid

Michigan Lands

FOR SALE BY THE

G. R. & I. R. R. COMPANY.

50,000 Acres in Charlevoix County.

WATER AND RAIL.

Not a Wilderness, by any Means.

Over 200,000 acres of the lands of this grant have already been sold.

W. R. HOGBART, Commissioner, Grand Rapids, Mich.

WM. J. STEVENSON,

VETERINARY HORSE-SHOER.

FRANK E. WOOD'S

BATH AND BARBER ROOMS.

BLANKETS AND LAP ROBES!

A Fine Stock Cheap.

JOHN LITZAU.

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

A Camp-Meeting Discourse on the Daughter-in-Law.

Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage ...

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

TWO CONVENTIONS.

The Greenbackers and Democrats Meet and Nominate a Fusion Ticket.

THE MARKETS.

Distress After Eating

Hair Suddenly Turning White

WOMEN

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

THE BEST TONIC.

ELY'S CREAM BALM

CATARRH

HAY-FEVER

COCKLE'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS.

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY

The Plumb Steam Tile Ditcher

LIVE STOCK CUTS.

A. N. Kellogg Newspaper Co.

FRAZER AXLE GREASE.

CONSUMPTION

HARTSHORN'S Shade Rollers

30,000 CARPENTERS

Hood's Sarsaparilla

100 Doses One Dollar

DR. JOHN BULL'S

Smith's Tonic Syrup

FOR THE CURE OF

FEVER and AGUE

Or CHILLS and FEVER,

AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

DR. JOHN BULL,

LEGAL ADVICE

RUPTURE

$65 A MONTH

OPIUM

$5

CANCER

EDUCATIONAL.

OPIUM HABIT

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established, 1869.

CHARLEVOIX, SEPT. 1, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE, Associate Editor.

"Deputy Democrats" is the new and not inappropriate name for those Prohibitionists who put up tickets "just to beat the Republican."

Indianapolis Journal: President Cleveland has gone fishing within a mile of Canada. He had better be careful to dig bait on his own side.

The Mexicans appear to be sufficiently awake to what may happen on account of Secretary Bayard's uncertain attitude, to be taking active measures toward fortifying their side of the border.

Here is a bright scintillation from Yaple's convention-al speech: "The policy of the republican party is treason to the republic." The history of the republican party proves that statement to be a colossal lie.

Senator Blackburn of Kentucky, that natural-born Bourbon, told a Pittsburg interviewer recently that he considered civil-service reform "the biggest humbug ever perpetrated upon the American people."

The best game of "seven-up" ever played in this country was the one that the Chicago jury finished the other day. But it will be far more interesting to lookers-on when those seven sentenced anarchists get the "hung of the game."

The Marshall Statesman says: "The Republican party of Michigan, by wise counsels, thorough organization in every locality, untiring and harmonious action, unceasing and fearless vigilance, will carry the State in November by 10,000 majority."

Cutting is released. Medina, who instituted the suit against him for libel, waived his right to personal damages, and the State Court of Chihuahua thereupon decided the proceedings ended and ordered the discharge of the prisoner. What will our valiant Bayard do now?

The Detroit Free Press now openly recognizes the prohibition party as one of the democratic party allies. It says "with an admirable ticket and a cordial union of all the forces opposed to republicanism" democracy ought to make a clean sweep in Michigan. The Free Press is giving its party secrets away evidently.

The following is the Republican state ticket in full: Governor, Cyrus G. Luce; Lieut.-Governor, James H. McDonald; Secretary of State, Gil. R. Osmun; State Treasurer, George L. Maltz; Auditor General, Henry H. Alpin; Attorney General, Moses Taggart; Commissioner State Land Office, Roscoe Dix; Superintendent of Public Instruction, Joseph S. Estabrook; Member of the State Board of Education, Samuel S. Babcock.

Illustrative of the small figure that the queen cuts in the government of Great Britain a story is told which also explains Victoria's dislike of Gladstone. The premier was discussing the Irish disestablishment bill with the queen, and she expressed her aversion to the essential principle of the bill, when he replied: "But, madame, you must sign." The queen flushed, and rejoined with indignation: "Sir, do you know who I am?" "Yes, madame, the queen of England. But does your majesty know who I am? I am the people of England."

Temperance people who have looked in vain for any clause touching temperance in the democratic platform, should read the following plank in the republican platform: "We believe that when any considerable portion of the state desire to express themselves by voting on a change in the organic law they ought to be allowed to do so in a constitutional manner and recognizing the evils of intemperance and desiring to overcome those evils, we believe the temperance question is one on which that expression should be so permitted. We further demand the thorough enforcement of the present tax and police laws as they stand on the statute books."

Postmaster General Vilas is reported as expressing "no doubt that Michigan will be counted in the list of Democratic States after election day;" also as saying, "I do not see any necessity for the maintenance of an independent Greenback party in this or any other state." Undoubtedly Mr. Vilas is correct in his expectation that if Michigan elects the Fusion ticket it will be put in the list of Democratic States. But he is greener than the Michigan Democrats if he can see no reason for the existence, or at least pretended existence, of the Greenback party. The name must be kept up as a trap to catch gudgeons, or a snare to lure well-meaning voters into the Democratic party enclosure.

Northern Michigan News.

Leland hopes also to be blessed with a brass band.

Leelanau county will hold its annual fair at Maple City, Sept. 16 and 17.

What there is left of Mancelona is moving vigorously in the matter of fire protection.

Elk Rapids longs for a new and nice hotel, wherewith to entice the gay summer resorter.

Cadillac is wild over base ball. Nearly every citizen in the place has the fever and has it bad.

The Emmet county pioneer association held its fourth annual picnic at Cross Village recently.

The crop of winter wheat in Northern Michigan is generally very satisfactory to the farmers, both in yield and quality.

Kehl Bros., of Northport, have paid out about a thousand dollars this season for sheep and calves which they have shipped to Petoskey.

The tooth of a large and evidently pre-historic animal, imbedded in solid rock, was the find of J. W. Whidden, of South Frankfort, the other day.

The wire has been ordered and the poles are being set for the telephone line to Williamsburg. They expet to have the instruments in next week.

Says the Marquette Journal, (dem.) "It looks as though Mr. Moffatt will have no opposition in the coming republican congressional convention."

J. A. Badour, of Bear Lake township, while plowing recently, turned up the petrified foot of an Indian, which was covered by a petrified moccasin.

The Acme and Williamsburg base ball clubs played a match game the 14th, at Williamsburg, the result of which was 16 to 8 in favor of Williamsburg club.

"Dr." Clark, a traveling Grand Rapids quack, is charged by the Frankfort Express with killing a young man named Sogga there by dosing him with some vile nostrum.

Mancelona people must have good consciences if sound sleep is any token. Fully fifty families, living right in town, awoke from their slumbers the next morning after the fire very much astonished to hear that Mancelona had been visited by the fire fiend.

The Petoskey electric company have leased the Shaw water power on Bear Creek, and the dam is being repaired and put in good condition. The building now used for the dynamos will be removed thither, and not only the full head of water at the dam utilized, but power transmitted by cable from the Hankey dam when needed.

St. Ignace has improved wonderfully during the past few years. The town must have nearly 4,000 inhabitants now. The lumber business is in a flourishing state. A few days ago the Martel iron works were reopened for business, after lying idle for two years, and give employment to a considerable number of laborers. The owners of the works reside in Erie, Pa., and assure the people that they will give permanent employment to their men.

Harbor Springs Independent: Rev. Louis Kuhn, of Bedford, Ohio, has been expected here for several days, he being the new Presbyterian minister. Yesterday word was sent to F. J. Cox, who is an old schoolmate of Mr. Kuhn, that the gentleman had broken his shoulder by jumping from the cars while in motion, and was lying at Morley unable to be moved. He is in good hands, but it will be some time before he will be able to take charge of the work here.—Miss Helen Vanderhoef and her younger sister, "Babe" Vanderhoef, are both seriously ill with typhoid fever, and Mrs. Vanderhoef is suffering from a fracture of three ribs sustained in the Bay View Collision. "Misfortunes never come single" seems to be as true an adage as any.

Cadillac also has a first-class murder sensation. The mysterious disappearance of Milan Brass on June 19 is at last accounted for by the finding of his body in a root cellar at his home in Norwich. The body was buried under a heap of potatoes which had sprouted, and which mislead the officers making the search in July, when Mrs. Edna Brass and her paramour, James Craft, were arrested. The discovery was made last week by means of intercepted correspondence between Mrs. Brass and Craft, who were incarcerated in different parts of the Lake City jail. Sheriff McBain persuaded a chum of Craft's to make the prisoners frequent visits, and they soon began sending notes to each other, which were copied by the officers. In a letter from Craft to Mrs. Brass he proposed a confession which would clear her and make his punishment light by claiming that the act was done in self-defense. He also added that Brass' body was buried too deep in the root cellar for any one to find him. The officers started at once for Norwich and found the body in the root cellar, as stated. Excitement ran high and the prisoners were taken to Cadillac to escape lynching. How the killing was done is not yet known.

The Indestructibility of Gold.

Gold may be said to be everlasting, indestructible. The pure acids have no effect upon it. Air and water are alike prohibited from working its destruction; while to baser metals they bring decay, to gold they are innocuous. Bury it through long ages, and when the rude tool of the excavator again brings it to light, while everything around it has returned to dust from which it sprung, while the delicate form it adorned has become a powder so impalpable as to be inappreciable; while the strong bone of the mighty warrior crumbles as you gaze upon it; while the trusty sword lies a mass of shale rust, the delicate tracery in gold which adorned it, or the finely-wrought tiara which encircled the lofty brow of the fair damsel, is there in its pristine beauty, perfect as when it left the workman's hands and became the joy of her fleeting moments. Yes, days, years, centuries have rolled by; mighty empires have risen and fallen; dynasties that dreamed their power to be everlasting have passed away; armies have marched, conquered and become nerveless with decrepid old age; cities teeming with population and commerce have become the dwelling-place of the owl and the bat; the very pyramids themselves, raised in the pride of power and destined to be forever, have crumbled and are crumbling, and yet the thin filament of gold has stood unchanged. —Sir Henry Vivian.

WINTER SIGHTS UPON THE NEVA.

Every year, at the beginning of January, a number of Samoied families—tribes inhabiting the shores of the Arctic ocean—make their appearance in St. Petersburg, bringing some thirty or forty reindeers and a dozen roughly constructed sleighs. They erect a tent upon the banks of the frozen Neva, and near it corral their reindeers with a simple rope guard. Their object is to furnish sleighing parties with the rare sport of riding after the winged-footed Siberian deer. Their costume is well adapted to their home in the icy zone. Over a common shirt is worn a suit made of reindeer skins, consisting of a baggy pair of pantaloons and a jacket, the hairy side of the skin being outside. The jacket, which reaches nearly to the knee, is buttoned up behind. The cap of deer skin is well wadded and ornamented with long fur ear-laps. Their high and roughly-constructed boots, also of deerskin, reach to the knee, and have thick soles. The effect of this picturesque garb is destroyed by covering it with a long, common cotton print gown, well wadded and quilted, with sleeves so wide that no movement of the arm is discernible.

Their sleighs consist of a box, about three feet wide and seven long, resting upon pegs about three feet high, fitting into wooden runners, which turn up in front to the height of four or five feet and end in sharp points. A light stick serves as the whiffletree, which is fastened to the runners. Reindeer skins cover the board seats, and reindeer skins cover the patronizing public. During the time not engaged the deer stand upon the ice, warm and panting, with their tongues hanging from their mouths, indicating that even a St. Petersburg winter is tropical to them. Their harness is also composed of the skins of the reindeer, and remind the spectator of a mule harness in old plantation days, with the exception that strips of hide take the place of cornstalks. No traces are used, but a strong strap attached to a ring in the collar and brought between the legs of the deer is fastened to the whiffletree.

A Russian agent is employed as interpreter, and standing at the side of the Arctic vehicle he invites the curious public to take a ride on the Neva, for a small consideration—which is not so small after all. When a number of patrons are secured the sleigh is brought up, a Samoied seats himself on the right side, takes his long line in one hand, a willow rod in the other, and signifies his readiness to start. One such ride generally satisfies the seeker after fun, as the slippery seats covered with the hairy skins are hard to retain under him, and he is in continual fear of sliding off. The speed of these deer is good, but not so great as we have been led to suppose, they being generally beaten by the little horses of Finland. Curiosity seekers are prohibited from approaching too near the corraled deer, as a vicious animal is capable of inflicting great injury upon the visitor with his long horns, the Samoieds being held responsible by the police for any harm done to sightseers.

The tent erected to accommodate their families has much the resemblance of an Indian hut of the American frontier, of the same shape, and covered with deer skins. The interior is made comfortable with felt and fur mats. The fire is always placed in the middle of these tents. From a high pole hangs a chain, attached to a kettle in which provisions are cooked. During heavy storms the opening in the top of the tent for the escape of the smoke must be closed, so that the female and juvenile portion of the colony are not very prepossessing in outward appearance, their gaudy dress, brass chains, brass buttons, brass arm and ear rings notwithstanding.

In the latter part of February they betake themselves back to their Arctic abodes, keeping only enough reindeer to transport thither. The others are slaughtered, and the meat preserved for the homeward journey. As soon as killed, the women and children fall upon the bones, split them, and voraciously suck the marrow from them while the animal is still warm. The brain is also eaten with great gusto. The eyes of the deer are then taken by the women and buried, where it will not happen that a married woman or a full-grown girl walks over them, as such an occurrence might bring great fatality to the whole Samoied tribe. The St. Petersburg curiosity seekers often buy whole new suits of these frigid zoners for purposes of masquerading, while their boots and shoes sell readily on account of their imperviousness to the wet snow. Many of these Samoieds who have thus exhibited themselves, and through their reindeer sleighing on the Neva, have accumulated small fortunes.

WIT AND HUMOR.

She—"I am afraid you are a devotee of Bacchus, Cousin Harry?" He—"Well, I don't know; I used to admire poor Charley very much, but of the two I think Birch was a trifle the funnier."—New York Life.

"Jack" roses cost $1.25 apiece New-Year's Day, loaves of bread five cents; but more roses were given to people who did not need them than loaves of bread to those who did.—The Rev. Hugh O. Pentecost in Hartford Post.

Smythekins is trying to arouse the courage of his better half, who has recently lost her pet parrot and is overcome with grief: "Come come! What the deuce. Be a man, my dear! Suppose you had lost me!"—New York Mail.

THE PIONEER HOUSE OF CHARLEVOIX CO.

New Fall Goods,

BEING RECEIVED WEEKLY.

We call especial attention to our complete stock of

BOOTS and SHOES.

TEAS of all kinds. We will guarantee you the best Tea for the money, in the county.

ALL GRADES of FRESH ROASTED AND GREEN COFFEES.

A Fine line of Everything in

FURNITURE.

BIG DRIVES IN

Flannels, Yarns, and Blankets.

Please bear in mind that our stock embraces

EVERYTHING

usually found in a General Store.

Remember: Our Goods are the Best, Our Prices the Lowest, Our Record the Oldest.

Resp'y Yours,

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

FOR LAME BACK, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Price 25 cents. [illegible]

SHILOH'S COUGH and Consumption Cure is sold by us on a guarantee. It cures Consumption. Sold by F. G. Hines & Co.

SHILOH'S VITALIZER is what you need for Constipation, Loss of Appetite, Dizziness, and all symptoms of Dyspepsia. Price 10 and 75 cents a bottle. [illegible]

CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH and Bronchitis immediately relieved by Shiloh's Cure. Sold by F. G. Hines & Co.

For Sale!

Prof. BICE'S nicely located and beautiful lots on Clinton street, in the village of Charlevoix, are now offered for sale. [illegible] GIBBS, Charlevoix, Mich. May 4, 1886.

Teacher's Examination.

The examination of teachers for the ensuing school year [illegible] Charlevoix, Friday the [illegible], at East Jordan, Friday the [illegible] 1886, at Boyne City, Friday [illegible]. At Boyne City, Friday March [illegible] Jordan on Friday April [illegible] to commence at 9 o'clock a. m. [illegible] furnish stationery.

WILLIAM HARRIS, [illegible]

Mortgage Sale.

A mortgage dated January [illegible] and executed by Charles [illegible] county, Michigan, to Stephen [illegible] on the 5th day of January [illegible] gages at page 520 of records [illegible] ister of Deeds in and for Charlevoix [illegible] Michigan and which said mortgage [illegible] day of January 1886 by said [illegible] Edward R. DeJot, which [illegible] recorded in the office of Register [illegible] on the 16th day of February [illegible] mortgages at page 221, and [illegible] by said Delor duly assigned [illegible] and which assignment was duly [illegible] of the Register of Deeds [illegible] June, 1886 in liber 13 of [illegible] upon which is now due [illegible] twenty-five dollars and no [illegible] been taken either in law or [illegible] same, will be foreclosed [illegible] therein contained by a statute [illegible] therein described as lot No. [illegible] (12) of township thirty-three [illegible] (5) west, Charlevoix county, [illegible] highest bidder at the front door [illegible] village of Boyne City, Charlevoix [illegible] that being the place of holding [illegible] the said county of Charlevoix [illegible] forenoon of the 27th day of October [illegible] sale will be made subject to [illegible] mortgage of two hundred and [illegible] come due, and the interest thereon [illegible] A. D. 1886.

Dated this 31st day of July, [illegible]

A. A. FLEAZBY, Attorney for the Assignee. [illegible]

For Sale.

[illegible]

Farm For Sale.

[illegible]

Sheriff Sale.

[illegible]

Mortgage Sale.

[illegible]

CHARLEVOIX

Savings Bank.

Organized under the General Banking Law of the State of Michigan.

Henry Bennett, Pres.; John Nicholls, Vice Pres.; F. A. Smith, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:

Henry Bennett, John Nicholls, A. R. Upright, F. A. Smith, O. D. Wood, [illegible]

CAPITAL, ... $50,000

SURPLUS, ... 2,000

The liabilities of Stockholders as provided in Art. 3174, Sec. 40 of the Laws of the State of Michigan, [illegible] stock taken, making a guarantee [illegible] to depositors. Superior facilities [illegible] of every legitimate branch of [illegible] tended to our customers on terms consistent with safety.

Drafts drawn direct on the [illegible] cities of the world in large or small sums [illegible] to loan on approved paper. [illegible] Certificates of deposit [illegible] We respectfully solicit your patronage.

CORRESPONDENTS:

National Park Bank [illegible]
Commercial Nat. Bank [illegible]
Nat. City Bank [illegible]
Detroit Nat. Bank [illegible]

DETROIT & CLEVELAND

Steam Navigation Co.

Steamers

CITY OF MACKINAW, CITY OF ALPENA.

[illegible] Port Huron, St. Clair, Marine City, Detroit.

Leave Mackinac Island, [illegible]

Detroit and Cleveland.

[illegible]

J. Reed Emery, Agent, Charlevoix.
C. D. Whitcomb, Gen. Pass. Agt.

A. R. UPRIGHT. OSCAR UPRIGHT.

FARMS, VILLAGE PROPERTY,

And TIMBER LAND

FOR SALE BY

UPRIGHT BROS.,

40 Acre Farm, soil clay loam good well of water at house, 15 acres cleared 6 acres chopped, timber Maple, Beech, Cedar and a few Pine. Frame house, Frame Granary and good Log Barn. Board fence on road, Small Orchard. 1 mile from Ironton on good road. Price $1,100. $100 down, balance in two years. Will take a good team as part payment.

80 Acres on Susan Lake, in Hayes Township, heavily timbered with Maple, Elm, Basswood and Beech surface gently rolling, soil good, will make a fine farm, timber on the land will pay for the place. Price $1,000.

40 Acre Farm, situated 3 miles south of Charlevoix on county Road, soil the very best, good well of water, about 40 acres cleared, nearly all seeded down, fences in first class order, fruit trees just beginning to bear, good log house, log barn, good school house adjoining the place, good neighborhood. Price $1,500. Two thirds down, balance on time if desired.

55 Acres, 1½ miles from Village of Charlevoix on shore of Lake Michigan, soil good, being sandy loam and muck. 6 acres cleared, comfortable log house, a good sugar bush of 200 trees, balance of timber Birch, Ash and Cedar. Price $20 per acre, one-half down, balance on time.

160 Acres, on section 30, Township 33, N. R. 8 W. Heavily timbered with Maple, Elm and Basswood. Surface gently rolling, watered by a spring brook. A most excellent piece of land. Price $1,800, the timber alone is worth the money.

50 Acres in Marion, 2 miles from Guyles & Neal's mill. 17 acres cleared and seeded to grass. 5 acres more chopped. Living water on the place, a good piece of Maple timber, some Cedar, good soil, good improvements in the neighborhood. Price $[illegible], one half down.

100 Acre Farm 1½ miles from Horton's Bay and same distance from Bear Lake, surface gently rolling, 40 acres cleared, good frame house, timber Maple, Elm, Basswood and Beech. Excellent soil. Price $2,500, will sell in 80 acre lots if desired.

60 Acres of wild land in Township of Wilson, [illegible] miles from Boyne City, soil clay loam, surface gently rolling, timber can not be surpassed. Price $[illegible] down.

52 Acres 2 miles from Sweet's mill on South Arm, surface rolling, soil, clay and sandy loam. Fine trout stream passes on west line of land. [illegible] acres cleared, the best fence in county around clearing, log house and large log barn, timber Hemlock, Birch, Cedar, in good neighborhood and adjoining large clearings. Price $500, will take a good team in exchange.

40 Acres 5 miles from Charlevoix, all heavily timbered with Maple, Beech, Hemlock and Cedar, will sell for $400.

80 Acres wild land between Horton's Bay and Bay Springs. Price $500, will trade for live stock.

80 Acres (as good land as can be found in the county), on section 20—33—7, 40 acres chopped, surface smooth. Price $1,000; $300 down, balance in 1 year at 7 per cent. A great bargain.

160 Acres known as the Inwood Farm in Norwood. 80 acres cleared. Frame house 18x33 with wing 16x24, story and a half high, good bearing orchard, consisting of Apples, Peaches, Pears and Plums, a fine water power on the place 22 ft fall, a capital place for a carding mill, 80 acres of first class timber 1½ miles from saw and grist mill. Price $4,000, one half down, balance or if sufficient security is given, nothing required down.

80 Acres on the State Road, 7 miles south of Charlevoix, 2½ miles from Norwood, 15 acres cleared, frame house 18x26. Living spring near the house, timber maple principally. Soil clay loam. Price $1,[illegible] one-half down balance on time with interest at 7 per cent.

2 Village Lots in Petoskey finely located, have been graded, are as choice resident lots as can be found in town. $[illegible] cash.

A good Lot in Boyne City near the Skating Rink. Price $[illegible]

100 Lots on Upright & Hurlbut's addition to the Village of Charlevoix at prices to suit all. Some of the finest buildings in Charlevoix are on this addition.

Four good houses and lots in Charlevoix. Price from $[illegible] to $1,[illegible].

A Business Lot on Bridge Street, Charlevoix, water front, terms easy.

WE OWN THE ONLY

COMPLETE Set of ABSTRACTS Of Charlevoix County,

And all work intrusted to our care shall have prompt and careful attention.

We are Agents for some of The

BEST FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES

And will guarantee as low rates as any first class concerns.

CONVEYANCING,

NEATLY AND PROMPTLY DONE.

Non-Residents' interests looked after, Taxes paid Collectionsmade, etc.

It Pays to Buy the

BEST BOATS!

[illegible]

LEAST MONEY!

All kinds of Oars, and Paddles made.

LEAVE ORDERS

[illegible]

J. BEAUVAIS.

McCABE'S

MARKET

Is supplied with

All Kinds Of

MEATS

At Lowest Prices.

CASH PAID FOR FAT CATTLE, Hides, Sheep and Hogs.

JOHN McCABE.

HEATH & FRANCIS,

Contractors and Builders,

Charlevoix, Mich.

[illegible]

First-class

FURNITURE MADE

To Order.

Repairing promptly and satisfactorily done.

[illegible]

1-3 OFF SALE!

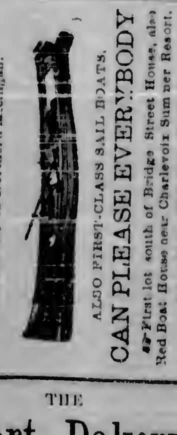
At Miss Spaulding's

MILLINERY ROOMS.

[illegible]

Come early and secure a Bargain.

MISS L. SPAULDING.



BOAT LIVERIES! The Best Row Boats Ever put [illegible]
ALSO FIRST-CLASS SAIL BOATS. CAN PLEASE EVERYBODY [illegible]
F. W. WILLOOK.

A. D. Bradbeer,

PHOTOGRAPHER,

[illegible]

UPRIGHT & EMREY'S STORE.

I will make Cabinet Photographs, A SPECIALTY!

At Lowest Prices

Consistent with

GOOD WORK.

THE Resort Bakery!

A COMPLETE

ASSORTMENT

OF BAKER'S

GOODS.

[illegible]

O. J. SMITH.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

[illegible]

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS

FRED W. MAYNE, [illegible] at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

CRUICKSHANK & GREER, Attorneys at Law. Office in Butters' Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

JOSEPH M. CLARK, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

PAILTHORP & GEORGE, Attorneys and Solicitors, Petoskey, Mich.

DART & CALL, Attorneys, Petoskey, Mich.

R. L. CORBETT, Attorney at law, Boyne City, Mich. (Prosecuting Attorney of Charlevoix County.)

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS

J. LEWIS, M. D. Physician and Surgeon. [illegible] in Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

WM. M. PRESTON, M. D. Physician and Surgeon. [illegible] Charlevoix, Mich.

J. A. CARLSTEIN, M. D. [illegible] Charlevoix, Mich.

SOCIETIES.

G. A. R.—Baxter Post No. 119 [illegible] day of each month, at Odd Fellows hall.

MASONIC.—Charlevoix Lodge No. [illegible] Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall [illegible] office.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. [illegible] Thursday every month at the Odd Fellows hall.

K. O. T. M.—Round Tent No. 138, meets [illegible] Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows Hall.

L. O. L.—True Blues No. 157, meet Saturday [illegible] in Odd Fellows hall.

EMMET CHAPTER No. 104, R. A. M. meets at Petoskey on the first Monday of each month.

IVANHOE COMMANDERY No. 1[illegible], K. T., meets at their Asylum in Petoskey on the first Thursday of each month.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY meets every Tuesday evening at the houses of the members, during the fall and winter months.

CHARLEVOIX IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION meets at Charlevoix Village Hall on the second Monday of each month at 7:30 p. m.

President—Byron See.
First Vice President—W. A. Smith.
Second Vice President—Robert Miller.
Recording Secretary—Chas J. Strang.
Financial Secretary—B. Suffield.
Treasurer—Albert F. Mason.
Executive Committee—J. Milo Eaton, A. D. Cruickshank and E. F. Parmelee.
Corresponding Committee—H. Lee Iddings, W. A. Brown and C. Y. Cook.
Reception Committee—F. W. Mayne, L. D. Bartholomew, M. J. Stockman, R. Cooper, Geo. W. Crouter, R. W. Miller, S. M. See, W. C. Newman, E. M. Clark, R. Reslau.

All those wishing information regarding Charlevoix, the largest and most thriving town in the whole Pine Lake Region, will do well to address the corresponding committee. Unequalled opportunities for all classes of manufacturers.

HOTELS AND RESTAURANTS.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,

RICHARD COOPER, Prop'r.

Charlevoix, - - - Mich.

Every convenience for the travelling public, and headquarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids Stages.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,

R. A. Campbell, Prop'r.

Charlevoix, - - - Mich.

The most central location. Good Sample Room. Telephone connections. Only [illegible] to Steamboat Landing.

NEWMAN HOUSE.

W. C. Newman, Prop'r

Charlevoix, - - - Mich.

Fitted up with a view to the comfort of the Travelling public. Central Location.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,

L. N. Pearl, Prop.

East Jordan, - - - Mich.

Telephone connections.

BANK.

Bank of Charlevoix.

[illegible] Detroit and Grand Rapids [illegible] Postoffice Order [illegible] and Discounts on first [illegible] Railroad and Steamship [illegible] in Europe.

[illegible] BROWN & CO.

PILE DRIVER.

[illegible] Contracts taken and [illegible] between Traverse [illegible] Charlevoix, Mich.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

[illegible] Medicines, books, [illegible] Mich.

BARBER.

JAY PRICE, Barber, [illegible] side of Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

DENTIST.

[illegible] PENCE, Dentist. [illegible] in Wood's Drug Store, [illegible] Mich.

Fresh Stock of

GROCERIES

AT THE

NEW GROCERY,

Corner of Antrim and Grant Streets.

It is my aim to keep a full line of choice groceries at lowest prices.

Your trade is solicited.

Butter and Eggs wanted.

A. J. MUDGE.

MILLINERY

AND

FANCY GOODS!

Mrs. ELLA SMITH &

Miss ANNIE COOPER

[illegible] Ingleside Building. [illegible] call and inspect

FANCY GOODS!

[illegible] kept in a first-class store.

FRANK E. WOOD'S

Bath & Barber

ROOMS.

[illegible] the day or evening [illegible]

Offices To Rent.

[illegible] rent in the [illegible] 1886.

How Women Temper Justice.

"It is a singular fact" said Mayor's Clerk McCheery, "but nevertheless true, that nine out of every ten women who have their husbands arrested, or make information against them for cruelty, either withdraw the charge or pay the fine. Only last week we had a case of a man who was habitually drunk and known as a wife-beater. [illegible] brought the [illegible] and then wanted to withdraw it, but was not allowed to do so, as some of the [illegible] that it would be a blessing [illegible]. The man was sent to the workhouse. [illegible] was fined $10 and costs, or thirty days. Now after that woman and a number of neighbors had testified to the many acts of cruelty the dutiful wife paid the fine. She had not a cent in the world, but said when she paid over the money that she had borrowed it from fourteen of her neighbors, in one case getting only 20 cents. There were tears in her eyes, but I don't know what caused them. They might have been shed on account of parting with the money, and it might be she was sorry her husband was going home with her. There's no telling what a woman will do."

At the Central station a few nights ago a woman had her husband locked up for beating her. She followed the officers, and when the iron doors closed with a bang she changed completely, and begged piteously that he be allowed to go home with her. Her cries were not heeded. At the hearing the next [illegible] to pay a $10 fine [illegible] struck her seemed to please her as much as a new toy does a child. The police officers are always very careful about arresting a man who is complained of by his wife, for the woman will seldom appear against him.

"Never interfere in a family quarrel," said an old officer. "The only time I was ever beaten was through trying to save a woman from being beaten by her husband. It was on the South side. I was passing along the street and heard the shrieks of a woman. In a yard in the rear of a house was a big Irishman beating his wife. I jumped over the fence and dragged the man off and handled him pretty roughly, as he fought me. As soon as the woman realized that her husband was in the clutches of an officer she came at me, and between both man and woman I was badly beaten and my uniform ruined. Never interfere in a family quarrel until it is reasonably certain that one of the parties is too far gone to fight you."

Once in a long while the usual order of things will be changed, as it was on the South side on Monday. A woman named Magee was arrested at the instance of her husband, who said she was continually drunk and that he could do nothing with her. The man begged Ald. Flach to give his wife a long term, so she would get good and sober. At the hearing the man told how his wife got drunk and abused him. So the alderman gave her thirty days in the workhouse. Magee departed perfectly satisfied, but a couple of hours later returned and begged for the release of his wife. It was too late, however, and nothing could be done, for she had been received at Claremont.—Pittsburg Times.

A Merciful Man.

"The merciful man is merciful to his beast." Yet how many farmers, and especially farmers' boys, after beating a team in driving to the village, think nothing of leaving them stand about the streets for hours at a time, perhaps with not even a blanket, while they are gossiping near a warm stove or taking exercise about their ordinary business.

A citizen of Kalamazoo, Mich., got a happy thought and, being a humane man, acted on it. Noticing the exposure of teams coming to the city, especially in cold and stormy weather, he determined to give farmers an opportunity to make their horses comfortable during their stay. He purchased land just off the principal street and proceeded with his undertaking. He was made the subject of many jokes from all quarters for his "foolish enterprise," but he went on and carried out his plan, and to-day there is nothing in Kalamazoo so popular with country people coming to the city on business as the farmers' sheds. They are described as follows:

On the right is a waiting-room, well-furnished and comfortably warmed, supplied with hooks for overcoats and hats and wardrobes, and apartments for ladies' wraps; in another room are tables and a restaurant; as you pass into the yard is a tank of water for horses. You drive up to the platform of the waiting-room, you and your ladies alight by simply stepping on the platform, you hand a dime to an attendant hostler and he takes your horse and buggy to an empty stall to stand until you call, giving him all needed attention. Give two dimes, and your horse is not only attended to but fed. In either case you are entitled to the privileges of the waiting-room, which includes tables where you may partake of your own lunch, free, or for a low rate you have as ample a bill of fare to choose from as you may desire. When you choose you and yours go out on the street, transact your business, do all your errands, and return to the snug waiting-room.

Sundays these sheds are filled. Ladies arrange their toilets, leave their extra wraps, and on their return from church they take a warm soapstone, get thoroughly warm, and find it much pleasanter than formerly, before these sheds were offered. A portion of these sheds have doors and locks, so if a man comes in and desires perfect safety from thieves he can have it. Why should not all principal villages have these humane helps to the comfort of farmers' horses?

The Ever-green Pine.

Oh, a valiant tree is the ever-green pine,
That grows on the bleak mountain side;
Not a leaf does it feel of the wind or the storm,
As it stands like a king in its pride.

The lightnings may flash 'round its tall waving crest,
And the wind 'mid its branches may rave,
But it stands in its strength like a lion at bay,
Or a hero, who'll ne'er be a slave.

Oh, a sorrowful tree is the ever-green pine
That grows in the sweet smiling vale,
It murmurs forever a low, plaintive song
That resembles a lorn lover's wail.

It stretches its strong, shady branches abroad
And it sighs to the flowers below,
And it tells of the sorrow corroding its heart
To the breezes that merrily blow.

Oh, a beautiful tree is the ever-green pine
That grows on the hill's sloping side;
It shelters the woodland, gives shade to the [illegible],
And makes cheerful our house, for and [illegible].

Then honored and loved be the ever-green pine
That fears neither lightning nor gale,
And cherished still more be the sorrowful tree
That sighs in the sweet smiling vale.

—M. J. Riordan.

Bagley (confidentially to pickpocket on the back platform) "My good fellow, I wish you wouldn't try that." Pickpocket (in great trepidation) "I, sir? Why, I——" Bagley (soothingly) —"There, there, don't apologize. You've been trying to pick my pocket, and I think it my duty to tell you that the wallet you are lingering is filled with bills which I've been trying to collect for six months, and I don't believe you can do any better."—Philadelphia Call.

Additional Local News.

—Horace Hurlbut receiver of the Chicago Times, made the SENTINEL a call Wednesday.

—Mrs. F. B. Blount and family of [illegible], Texas, are stopping with Mrs. M. P. Barnes.

—Abe Rosenthal was summoned to Petoskey, Thursday, on account of the death of his young sister.

—We are told that Hiram B. Hipp of South Arm, will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Sheriff.

—Hon. F. J. Meech of Charlevoix, has been again elected to represent one half of the ninth district on the State central committee.

—The annual school meeting occurs next Monday [illegible] at the school house. Show your interest in the school by your presence.

—Frank Crane's visit to Cadillac is to relieve Mr. Gow, who goes to New York to purchase an immense line of goods for the Cadillac and Charlevoix store.

—The East Jordan Enterprise has it on the best of authority that with opening of spring the Intermediate and Arm's Lake railroad will be commenced. It will take about six weeks to grade and lay the iron.

—The council have taken a wise step in regard to improving the Charlevoix park. A force of men has been at work for the past two weeks removing the brush, stumps and rubbish. With a very little expenditure more our park can be made a powerful factor in bringing to and keeping tourists at Charlevoix as well as being made a source of much pleasure and satisfaction to ourselves.

—There will be a competitive examination of candidates for the West Point Cadetship, (which will be made vacant in June, 1887,) to be filled from the Ninth Congressional District of Michigan, at the city of Big Rapids, on Thursday, the 19th day of September next, at 10 o'clock a. m. The applicant must be a permanent resident of the ninth Congressional District, sound physically, of good moral character, between the ages of 17 and 22 years, and able to pass the entrance examination to the Military Academy. All persons desiring to compete should forward application at an early day to Prof. S. W. Baker, Chairman of Board, Big Rapids, Mich. Applications should be accompanied by certificate of teacher under whom applicant has studied, stating mental and moral qualifications.

—The Grand Rapids Herald contains an extended account of the Schubert's trip north from which we clip the following relative to Charlevoix. "Soon a low stony point is rounded and Charlevoix nestled among pines, cedars, and birches, her steeples and stacks towering among them, is presented to view. The long sandy beach, scattered with bits of coral, agate, jaspar and shale terminated in a white promontory on the north and a circular sweep of tiny pebbles and forest trees marks the southern boundary of the bay, while, as if bisecting this arc of land and water, Pine river, with its breakwater on either side and its white light house, invites the mariner to a safe and commodious harbor within. An attack is at once ordered on the Fountain City House, where the club partakes of dinner, after which a rehersal is held in Bartholomew's Opera house. Then comes a time for recreation until evening. Some of the gentlemen walk on the beach and hunt for agates and pretty stones; some engage in a game of base ball; others preferring aquatic amusement, hire a little yacht and sail across Round Lake, up the tortuous and picturesque Pine River into Pine Lake and on bounding over its wavelets visit Oyster Bay, view Ironton with its smoky charcoal pits, the Boyne hills as they stand out clear and blue in the distance, the resorts and the natural land and water beauties of the lake. On the return a brisk race with a rival craft results in success for the Schubert crew and later an approximation to an accident gives spice to the sail. In the evening a goodly audience assembles in the Opera House and the programme is rendered again. * * * From a recreative stand-point the trip of the club was one of unqualified success, and that is what the young gentlemen went for; from a musical standpoint such was not the case. The best selections on the programme, those requiring the most diligent and careful rehearsal, were given cool receptions, while the light froth borrowed from minstrel shows and song at sight without rehearsal did not fail of a warm reception, and vigorous applause. "Land Sighting," one of the grandest conceptions ever rendered by the club, fell flat, while a little minstrel air, took every time. The "Bill of Fare" also made a hit. Prof. Wellenstein's "Tannhauser" was an unqualified success, more probably on account of the agility of the performer than of the grandness of the selection rendered; and Prof. Lawson's sweet little "Spinning Song" found sympathetic vibrations in the heart strings of each audience."

"White wings, they never grow weary,"

A Walking Skeleton.

Mr. E. Springer, of Mechanicsburg, Pa., writes: "I was afflicted with lung fever and abscess on lungs, and reduced to a walking skeleton. Got a free trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which did me so much good that I bought a dollar bottle. After using three bottles, found myself once more a man, completely restored to health, with a hearty appetite, and a gain in flesh of 48 lbs." Call at Dr. G. W. Crouter's and Crouter & Harris' Drug Store and get a free trial bottle of this certain cure for all Lung Diseases. Large bottles $1.

Thousands Say So.

Mr. T. W. Atkins, Girard, Kan., writes: "I never hesitate to recommend your Electric Bitters to my customers, they give entire satisfaction and are rapid sellers. Electric Bitters are the purest and best medicine known and will positively cure Kidney and Liver complaints. Purify the blood and regulate the bowels. No family can afford to be without them. They will save hundreds of dollars in doctor's bills every year. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Dr. G. W. Crouter and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

New Announcement,

NEXT WEEK,

D. Sherwood & Co

JOHN HOGAN,

HOUSE PAINTER

& Interior Decorator.

RESIDENCE, first door West of Factory, Charlevoix.

BURNS & SCROGGIE'S

LIVERY STABLE

CHARLEVOIX.

The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Drivers furnished if desired. [illegible]

Burns & Scroggie, Charlevoix.

NEW SHOP!

All kinds of

Blacksmithing,

At the

Shop in the Foundry Building.

Horseshoeing a specialty.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

M. SCOTT.

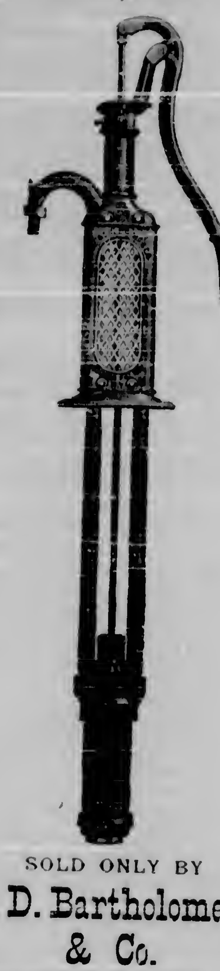
New Double Action

FORCE PUMP,

With Siphon Spout.

Adapted to wells from 30 to 100 feet.

Best, Cheapest, Simplest.



SOLD ONLY BY

L. D. Bartholomew & Co.

TIME CARDS OF STEAMERS.

[illegible]

Charlevoix and East Jordan.

[illegible]

Charlevoix and Boyne City.

[illegible]

Harbor Springs Charlevoix & E. Jordan.

[illegible]

NORTHERN MICHIGAN LINE

[illegible]

HANNAH, LAY & CO'S BOATS.

[illegible]

Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad.

[illegible]

BATH & BARBER ROOMS.

[illegible]

JAY L. PRICE.

THE BEST

Drugs, Confectionery, Stationery,

BOOKS & PAPERS,

FISHING TACKLE, Etc,

Soda Water, Mineral Water, Cigars,

Are found at PERRY WEED'S.

The only News stand in town.

THE RIFENBURG MILLING CO.

Charlevoix, Mich.

[illegible]

GROUND FEED,

[illegible]

CASH FOR WHEAT.

[illegible]

C. R. Bellinger,

—THE—

JEWELER,

HAS JUST RECEIVED A FULL LINE OF

JEWELRY, Clocks, Watches Etc., Etc.

HELLO

EVERYBODY

Says that Advance Has The Best HARNESS MAKER! In The County.

Call and see him [illegible]

F. J. CUTTER.

J. T. Kirkpatrick,

ARCHITECT

AND CONTRACTOR,

—ON—

Charlevoix Summer Resorts.

[illegible]

Carpenters and Painters.

[illegible]

J. T. KIRKPATRICK.

GELLICK & INGALLS

Dealers in

Choice Wines,

Fine Liquors

EXCELLENT CIGARS.

We call Special Attention to our

Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer.

[illegible]

Washburn & Ackert,

FOUNDRYMEN,

MACHINISTS.

[illegible]

Charlevoix Plow.

Fox & Miller

Offer a

Mammoth Stock

OF

BOOTS, SHOES

and other

FOOT WEAR,

—AT—

LOWER PRICES

Than can be found elsewhere in the County.

We have just secured a

FIRST-CLASS SHOEMAKER,

And will make Repairing a specialty.

We have the Goods and are bound to sell them.

NOTHING SHODDY.

Fox & Miller.

MONEY TO LOAN,

At current rates of interest, on

Approved Real Estate Security.

MILEY & CHAPIN, Boyne City.

For Finest

JOB WORK,

Patronize The

Sentinel.

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN

[illegible]

PATENTS.

[illegible]

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

SMITH & PARMELEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX. : MICHIGAN.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., expects to have an electric street railway [illegible] in operation by October 1.

THERE are now 128,473 miles of railroad in this country, 8,131 of which were constructed the past year.

"WILL" CARLETON, the author of "Betsy and I Are Out," is going to lecture and read to English audiences this autumn.

THE railroads of the world are said to carry 6,500,000 passengers a day. It takes all this vast army to down the railway eating-house sandwiches.

IN Oregon squirrels are so numerous that a bounty has been placed upon their tails, and the result is citizens are raising them in place of chickens.

THIS is the season of the year when the manufacturer of furniture polish puts new labels upon his bottles and sells his wares as a "freckle eradicator."

INDIGENT blind persons of New York, to the number of 456, were recently given $39 each from an appropriation annually made by the City Council.

JUDGE DOUGHERTY, of Mount Union, Pa., is at work on a light-draught wooden steamboat on which he proposes to place iron-folding paddles and astonish the world by the speed attained.

WHEN the Texas people get ready to build a town they do it in a hurry. Ballinger, a new town in Runnels County, is less than one month old, but it has two thousand inhabitants and is still growing.

THE Boston Herald having introduced "walls of rampant flames," the familiar quotations "direful conflagration," "fire fiend" and "dreadful holocaust," will probably hereafter be dispensed with by telegraph editors.

PROF. OLMSTEAD, says Golden Rule, lowering his telescope one day from observing the sun, it caught in its range a boy stealing apples eight miles distant. Our contemporary does not state what "the range" did with the boy.

OUT of one hundred heroines of elopements, escapades and more serious offenses, a statistical authority says that seventy-nine are described as young and beautiful, thirteen as beautiful and eight as occupying high social stations.

EPITOME OF THE WEEK.

Interesting News Compilation.

FROM WASHINGTON.

THE Treasury Department has issued a call for $1[illegible] of the three per cent. loan of 1882.

DURING the seven days ended on the 20th there were 161 business failures in the United States against 182 the previous seven days.

OFFICIAL information was received at the War Department on the 20th that Geronimo desired to surrender.

WARRANTS for nearly $8,000,000 for the payment of pensions were issued by the Treasury Department on the 20th.

THE exchanges at twenty-six leading clearing-houses in the United States during the week ended on the 21st aggregated $881,074,323, against $881,767,684, the previous week. As compared with the corresponding week of 1885, the increase amounts to 13.9 per cent.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND has chosen Felix A. Reeve to be Assistant Solicitor of the Treasury, vice Joseph Robinson, resigned.

THERE were 647,727 standard silver dollars issued from the mints during the week ended on the 21st against 513,127 for the corresponding period last year.

FOR the month of July last, the total value of the exports of merchandise from the United States was $52,782,767; imports, $55,330,789, for the twelve months ending July 31, 1886, exports, $686,[illegible],459, imports, $641,[illegible],273.

AT the six principal ports of the United States 31,845 immigrants arrived during July.

THE statement was made on the 24th that the release of Cutting by the Mexicans would have no effect upon the mission of Mr. Sedgwick, who had orders to investigate the affair and return to Washington.

THE EAST.

AT the convention of the American Bar Association at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., on the 20th Thomas J. Semmes, of Louisiana was elected president.

TELEGRAMS received at a New York commercial agency on the 20th indicated a fairly active movement of general merchandise at twenty-eight of the larger cities, and the volumes of sales reported from almost all directions exceed the totals in August in preceding years, the distribution of dry-goods being conspicuous.

WILLIAM J. KENDALL, of Boston, to settle a wager of ten thousand dollars, swam the whirlpool rapids of Niagara on the 22d, protected only by a cork vest. He received one thousand dollars for the feat, and declared that he would not again make the attempt for all the money in the world.

THE death of Prof. C. E. Stowe, husband of the authoress of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," occurred on the 21st at Hartford, Conn., at the age of eighty-four years.

A CONFLAGRATION on the 21st almost totally destroyed the town of Earlville, N. Y.

THE employes on the Broadway street-car line in New York struck on the 23d owing to an order calling for six trips instead of five and increasing the number of hours.

THE New York police were on the 23d moving to secure the indictment of some Socialists who recently held a meeting to sympathize with the condemned Chicago bomb-throwers.

THE State political campaign in Maine was opened at Sebago Lake, on the 24th, in a speech by Hon. James G. Blaine.

[illegible]

WEST AND SOUTH.

[illegible]

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

[illegible]

LATER.

[illegible]

SENTENCED TO DEATH.

The Jury Votes to Hang All the Anarchists but One.

[illegible]

A RULER DEPOSED.

[illegible]

THE ANARCHISTS.

[illegible]

ALEXANDER'S FRIENDS.

[illegible]

CUTTING RELEASED.

[illegible]

KILLED HIMSELF.

[illegible]

A TERRIBLE DISASTER.

[illegible]

SAD ACCIDENT.

[illegible]

THE TABLES TURNED.

[illegible]

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

SMITH & PARMELEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX. : MICHIGAN

A MOTHER'S SONG.

[illegible]

O, sweet-throated poet! sing low, sing low
Of your lady love stately and grand,
For I have a darling lovelier far
Than the fairest in all this broad land.

Her cheek is so dimpled,
Her mouth is so red,
So white is her forehead,
So curl-crowned her head;
So caressing her love, so winsome her play,
My heart is led captive through all the long day.

She charms me with smiles,
She [illegible] me with tears,
She thrills me with hopes,
And chills me with fears;
Then, with artlessness sweet, all sorrow beguiles,
And makes my life rich with her innocent wiles.

I lift her and hold her
My fond arms between;
She lies in my bosom,
Throned there as its queen.
A wee, helpless lassie, but queen by love's right;
To render her homage is dear love's delight.

I watch o'er her slumbers
So soft and serene,
My unconscious darling!
The angels, I ween,
Might leave their sweet Heaven to stand by thy bed,
And breathe benedictions upon thy dear head.

And deep in my spirit,
Calm, rev'rent and low,
Where never a wave of
Dark passion can flow,
A sweet song is pouring itself into rhyme,
With June birds that warble and sweet bells that chime.

To my baby, my birdie,
My rosebud, my star,
Who lifts me to Heaven,
Where all pure things are;
So the sweet-throated poet may sing soft [illegible]

[illegible]

A STRANGE FOX-HUNT.

How Reynard and the Stolen Diamonds Were Found.

[illegible]

at breakfast. Sure enough, I found him at a little before noon eating in a languid manner the remains of a fowl which had done duty before, and drinking small beer. Knowing a little of professional men, however, I recognized the exigencies of the case, and, after the usual civilities, explained the reasons of my call. He was a tall man, rather thin, with weak eyes, but sufficiently gentlemanly to pass muster both in dress and manner. Rather to my surprise he readily agreed to accompany me, and postpone for a few days the private engagements which he had on hand at the time; but in the course of our journey down (for we returned that night) the reason of his compliance came out. He wished to include the robbery in his advertisements, and all that I could say to the contrary would not convince him that my friend would scarcely care for his name to be mixed up in the matter. After considerable discussion we thought it best to inform Mrs. Cargill later in the evening who and what our visitor really was.

The professor explained to us that, as Mrs. Cargill knew the diamond and had worn it so long, she was the one who, with her hand in his, could best communicate to him where to lead her. "If," said he, "the day is clear and bright, I shall lead you to-morrow to the spot, Mrs. Cargill, provided you have sufficient strength of mind to keep your ideas fixed entirely upon the stone. You must keep it vividly before your mind's eye, and I shall lead you to it if it is in the house or grounds."

Nothing had occurred in the household since my departure in the morning, and the robber (whoever he was) must now, we judged, be beginning to feel somewhat easier in mind; so in case of his deeming it necessary to alter the probable hiding-place of the stone, we [illegible]

[illegible]

PITH AND POINT.

[illegible]

A PATIENT WIFE.

[illegible]

WHEN SHE SPOKE.

[illegible]

SLAVERY IN FIJI.

[illegible]

A VALUABLE DISCOVERY.

[illegible]

HOME AND FARM.

[illegible]

RYE FOR PASTURE.

[illegible]

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established, 1869.

CHARLEVOIX, SEPT. 1, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor
ED F. PARMELEE, Associate Editor

Republican County Convention.

A Republican county convention for Charlevoix county ... will be held in the village hall in Charlevoix on Tuesday, September 14th 1886, at one o'clock p. m. ... Bear Lake 1, Boyne Valley 2, Chandler 1, Charlevoix 5, ... Evangeline 4, Hudson 1, Hayes 2, Marion 1, Melrose 1, Norwood 1, Resort 1, South Arm 3, Springvale 1, Wilson 2.

FRED W. MAYNE, Chairman.
H. LEE IDDINGS, Sec'y.
Charlevoix, Aug. 31st, 1886.

THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE

Farmer Luce of Branch, for Governor. Jas. H. McDonald of Escanaba, for Lieutenant Governor.

The Michigan republican state convention met at Grand Rapids Wednesday afternoon in Powers' opera house at three o'clock. Chairman VanZile of the state central committee called the convention to order and Secretary Smith read the call. Prayer was offered by Rev. A. R. Merriman, the delegates rising to their feet. In closing the prayer that the convention might be guided in the right path, Mr. Merriman prayed: "May God's blessing be with them, give them wisdom, and may the men whom they ... [illegible]

[illegible]

Public Schools.

The public schools of Charlevoix will open in all departments, on Monday, September 13th inst.

Increased room and better facilities have been provided ... the Board and ... directed toward ... to the highest ... It is designed that the ... grades shall be ... in what will be ... ne in life, while ... engage in teaching ... institutions of ... course of study ... well adapted to ...

The studies pursued ... versally required ... collegiate course ... ing diligence ... preparation can ... ngeously at home ... tory classes of ... and at far less ... ods of instruction ... received the highest ... the Department of ... and eminent ... Upon these considerations ... levoix schools ... will receive the ... own citizens and ... patronage of the ... surrounding country ... better advantages ... ed in the country ...

It is to be hoped ... and pupils will ...

[illegible]

Marine.

[illegible]

Waived Examination.

[illegible]

Mortgage Sale.

[illegible]

Equalization.

[illegible]

South Arm and East Jordan.

[illegible]

When to Advertise.

[illegible]

How Many Apples did Adam and Eve Eat?

[illegible]

THE CIRCUS BEGINS!

NEXT WEEK I AM GOING TO RECEIVE A

LARGE INVOICE OF

CLOTHING!

Bought from one of the leading houses of Rochester, N. Y., Which I will sell at Prices that will draw Trade from all over the County.

I think the best advertisement a merchant can have is to have his goods advertise him in good fits and prices that cannot be beat.

GEO. W. MILLER.

A NEW DEPARTURE!

AT F. W. CRAINE & CO'S

Last week we placed in our store a Bargain Table, and on which may be found at all times,

GENUINE BARGAINS

in everything pertaining to our line.

By coming in and inspecting this department you will readily be convinced of its merit. We are confident that our many patrons will appreciate this NEW Departure as we do just as we advertise.

Look out for Bargains at

F. W. Craine & Co's.

Dry Goods!

We offer for the next few days

Great Bargains!

--IN ALL--

Summer Dress Goods

SHAWLS, WHITE GOODS, PARASOLS, Silk & Thread Gloves, Hosiery, Straw Hats, etc.

New Line of

Broadhead Dress Goods.

JUST RECEIVED,

And marked at very low prices.

JERSEY AND BOUCLE JACKETS

VERY - CHEAP.

Staple and Fancy

GROCERIES,

in great variety and at correct prices.

The finest line of Teas, Coffees, Spices.

PLANTATION JAVA COFFEE, Best in The World.

Farmers will consult their own interest in buying our factory-filled DAIRY SALT.

J. L. HURD & CO.

Special Announcement!

OF

CLOAKS!

Next Week.

ROSENTHAL & SON

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL. XVIII. NO.--19 | CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1886. | WHOLE NO. 876

School Books!

SCHOOL BOOKS! SCHOOL BOOKS!

---HEADQUARTERS---

For Everything needed in the School Room, at

HINES & CO.'S DRUG AND STATIONERY STORE.

You will find it to your interest to look over our stock before purchasing elsewhere.

Respectfully,

F. G. HINES & CO.

UPRIGHT & EMREY,---GENERAL DEALERS.

UPRIGHT & EMREY,

Dealers in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Etc.

CHOICE TEAS,

Best [STANDARD JAVA] Coffees

Boots & Shoes!

IN ALL GRADES OF MEN'S, WOMEN'S and CHILDREN'S.

We have given more than our usual care and attention to the selection of our stock, and we Know we can please our patrons in all

KINDS OF FOOTWEAR.

UPRIGHT & EMREY.

We can Supply you with EVERYTHING in our Line.

THE FINEST STOCK OF

FURNITURE

ever offered in Charlevoix,

IS NOW AWAITING YOUR INSPECTION AT

Henry C. Cooper's.

A Choice Line of

FRESH GROCERIES,

OF EVERY VARIETY,

Including Confectionery, Fruits, Canned Goods, and Tobaccos and Cigars in stock

For your inspection in OPERA BLOCK by

R. J. COOPER.

THE 'CHAMPION' HARDWARE STORE OF CHARLEVOIX COUNTY.

THE PLACE TO SPEND YOUR CASH!

If PRICES are any Object

TO YOU,

YOU will Buy

YOUR

Hardware, Iron and Nails, of

STOCKMAN & IDDINGS.

WE HAVE THE SOLE AGENCY FOR

The Champion Force Pumps, Champion Barbed Wire, Champion Plow,

"King" Tinted Solid Paints, Heath & Milligan Ready Prepared Paints.

ALL OF WHICH ARE OFFERED AT SPECIALLY LOW PRICES FOR CASH.

STOCKMAN & IDDINGS.

The Best Groceries At The Lowest Prices

ARE FOUND AT THE GROCERY AND PROVISION HOUSE OF

A. E. MASON.

I do a strictly Cash-over-counter business and will guarantee lowest prices.

J. MILO EATON'S

REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE,

AND LOAN OFFICE.

The oldest in the county. Established in 1875.

Money to loan in sums to suit and at lowest rates on improved farms.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE furnished on short notice. Office over Postoffice.

A. J. McLEOD,

having returned to the Charlevoix Meat Market, announces that he will sell at

Wholesale or Retail

All kinds of

FRESH MEATS, SALT PORK,

SMOKED & SALTED

HAMS,

Dried and Smoked BACON, DRIED BEEF, Bologna, Head Cheese, Sausage.

Highest Prices Paid FOR HIDES and PELTS

Will kill hogs or cattle for other Markets or persons wishing that class of work at low rates.

A. J. McLEOD.

CHARLEVOIX

Manufacturing Co.

Charlevoix, Mich.,

Manufacturers of

Sash and Doors,

Blinds, Mouldings etc.

NEWELL Posts, Banisters & Stair Rails kept in stock.

Window & Door Frames made to order.

All Kinds of

Building Material

Kept constantly on hand.

PLANS & SPECIFICATIONS.

Furnished on application.

Cottages made a specialty also contracting and building.

Correspondence solicited.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY

SMITH & PARMELEE,

Charlevoix, - Michigan.

Address all business correspondence to the firm.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One year - $1 50 | Six months - $ .75

Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—Col. O. T. Booth was in town yesterday.

—Will Cooper is clerking at Rosenthal's for a few days.

—Mr. Wilber, the East Jordan ex merchant has removed to Ypsilanti.

—Work on the new Boyne City hall and school building is being rushed.

—The Commercial house, East Jordan, brought $5,000, including furniture.

—H. C. Dolph, Secretary and Treasurer of the Pine Lake Iron Co., called at our office Monday.

—Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Walker of the Chicago resort, are occupying the club house for a few days.

—Owing to the death of Gracie Sine the Sabbath school excursion has been postponed until to-morrow.

—The three Sabbath schools unite in an excursion and basket picnic to Harbor Springs on the steamer Faxton to-morrow.

—Eighteen passengers and fifteen trunks went over the stage line between Boyne City and Boyne Falls last week Tuesday night.

—Found, at the office of the Rifenburg Milling Co., a National bank note. Owner will please call and describe and get the money.

—Mr. George Stillwegen of Detroit, Sheriff of Wayne county, was the guest of his friend Sheriff Berdan, of Charlevoix county yesterday.

—J. S. Smithson, who left for the south last week, was driven back to the cool breezes of Charlevoix by the heat, arriving here yesterday.

—School opens next Monday. In the advertisement of F. G. Hines & Co., you will find something of interest to you if you have to buy school books.

Mr. Ike Webster, a young man of 70 winters and Mrs. Timmons, a young lady of 61 summers, both of East Jordan, were married Sunday by Rev. W. H. McCartney.

Col. Thorpe, of Cadillac was elected Grand Com. of the North western Division of the G. A. R., and E. H. Green, of Charlevoix, was the unanimous choice for vice-com.

The Walter Clifford Post, of Boyne City, was represented by 22 members at the encampment. In numbers they aggregated more than the representatives of all other posts in the county.—Citizen.

M. H. Walker and M. W. Edgar the clerk and steward of the Chicago club house, went fishing in Susan lake Saturday. They caught some fine fish the largest being a 1½ pound pike, the biggest fish ever taken out of the lake.

—At the annual school meeting of Barnard district, in Marion, Monday, that old pioneer, Bernard Burns, was re-elected by a two-thirds' vote to the office of Moderator for the seventh term, which will make 21 years in that office. R. Trimble was elected Assessor to fill vacancy.

—Mrs. Ruth Hawks, who has been living the past two years with her son Andrew Hawks, of South Arm, left to-day for Denver, Colorado, to take up her abode there with her daughter, Mrs. McClanathan. She was accompanied by her daughter, Miss Emma Hawks, of Manchester, N. H.

The opinion is quite unanimous that the exhibition of fancy skating at the Charlevoix rink, Saturday evening by Mr. Geo. M. Goble, the champion of Wisconsin, was the best in all respects ever witnessed in this place. Manager Cooper is bound to make the Charlevoix rink a success.

—Baxter Post, G. A. R., of Charlevoix, is perfecting arrangements for a Camp Fire to be held here, Thursday, Sep. 16th. All the neighboring Posts have been invited and many have already expressed an intention to come. The program will be carried out with the perfection that characterizes all the undertakings of Baxter Post. All citizens of the county and neighboring counties are especially invited.

—J. E. Wood and his brother Frank Wood, have started a tile manufactory just south of the south pier. They have five machines and can manufacture anything in the shape of drain, chimney or sewer tiling or well curbing, from 1½ inches to 21 inches in diameter. They certainly have the best facilities and are turning out the most perfect cement tile this country has ever seen. Call and see samples at Frank Wood's.

The annual school meeting was held in the village hall last Monday evening. Mr. Oscar Upright was elected Director. The annual report showed the total expense of the past year to have been $2,229.23 as follows: total amount paid for teachers' salaries, $1,7[illegible]; other expenses, $[illegible]. Balance on hand, 52 cents. The new Board will consist of Oscar Upright, director; E. Carpenter, moderator; O. S. Washburn, assessor.

—Don't forget the additional local on our fifth page.

—Judge Wilkenson and wife of Detroit, left Saturday.

—Miss Emma Todd visits relatives in Cheboygan this week.

—Lost, a Dickens birthday book. Please leave at this office.

—Fifteen hundred excursionists arrived in Petoskey last night.

—Bernard Burns organized a strong Orange Lodge at Vanderbilt last week.

—The Rifenburg flour still keeps at the top. Notice the new advertisement.

—A. E. Palmer, the Hillsdale chair manufacturer, joined his wife at C. Y. Cook's yesterday.

—For the particulars of the sad accident at Ironton last week, see our Ironton correspondence.

—The death of Gracie Sine, Sunday, is the first instance of drowning in Round lake in over 30 years.

—Rosenthal & Son have just received a mammoth and handsome line of cloaks to which they call your attention.

—Miss Jennie Thompson, of Mancelona, and Miss Nellie Stewart of South Haven, were guests of Miss Maude Loveday, Thursday.

—Stockman & Iddings have a new advertisement next week, calling attention to their new stock of hardware and agricultural implements for fall use.

—East Jordan's Law and Order League is getting in its work in good shape. All saloons close at nine o'clock and street fights are few and far between.

—J. L. Hurd & Co., have a new announcement calling attention to their special sales of next Friday, Saturday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Look over their prices.

—Lost, or accidentally taken from Dave Bradbeer's photograph gallery, a birthday autograph album. Any person finding the same and returning it will receive a liberal reward and confer a great favor on the owner.

—J. Milo Eaton, the retiring director of our public schools, can let the mantle of office fall from his shoulders with the assurance that to his own efforts is due in a large measure the success of the Charlevoix schools.

—School opens next Monday. The High School and "A" grade of the Grammar Department will convene at the hall, other grades at the old building. The transfer of the "B" grammar grade to the hall will depend upon the numbers in attendance at respective places.

—The Kalamazoo Daily Telegraph should have a large list of subscribers in Charlevoix. It is not only the most loyal paper to Charlevoix interests outside the county, but it is one of the very best dailies published in Michigan. Subscriptions received at Ward's drug store.

—Mr. E. D. Hines, and Miss Etta Hines, of Chillicothe, Ohio, father and sister of Mr. Frank Hines, of this place, arrived to-day, and are the guests of the latter. Mr. Hines will be remembered by many of our citizens as having come here several years ago in the employ of the Pine Lake Iron Co. when their works were built. He now occupies the position of Bridge and Road Superintendent of the Scioto Valley R. R.

Boyne Citizen: In a small and modest little work shop about one mile out of Boyne City may be found almost daily an unassuming workman surrounded by clusters of the most perfect machinery, busily and quietly at work. There is nothing about the surroundings that would indicate to a casual observer, the relation this workman bears to the mechanical world. Yet it is a fact that this unpretending workman ranks in the mechanical world as one of its great inventors. We refer to Mr. Shay, the inventor of the Shay locomotive now in use in all parts of the United States where greatest locomotive power is required. The Salt Lake City Tribune says of the power of one of these locomotives now in operation in Utah.—"Railway men will be surprised to learn that such an engine will go around curves of 50 feet radius, and while climbing a grade of 160 feet per mile, which is the maximum grade on this road, and of which there is one full mile. The average grade for five miles is 400 feet while the minimum is 240 feet. That engine, carrying 140 pounds of steam pressure, will take up 15 cars each weighing 1,300 pounds at the rate of six or seven miles per hour. Its usual time is two hours a round trip of ten miles with five trips a day. To do this amount of work with teams it would require 100 horses and 22 wagons.

G. A. R. Order.

HEADQUARTERS
Baxter Post, No. 119, G. A. R.
[Special Order No. 6.]

The following named comrades are hereby detailed as a Committee of Arrangements for the Charlevoix Co. Soldiers' Reunion, to be held at Charlevoix, Sept. 16, 1886, viz: Byron See, Robert Miller, William Kanagy, John Lazan, and S. W. Salter.

By Order of
E. H. GREEN, Commander.
C. B. GLASS, Adjutant.

New York World (dem.): It takes Mr. Sedgwick to restore the entente cordiale between Mexico and the United States. The cordial was supplied from a bottle.

Charlevoix Summer Resort Items.

The new club house is being raised.

Hoyt Parmelee came Saturday to remain this month.

Norris Estabrook who has been spending the past year in Germany and France, came Thursday.

Bert Smiley has withdrawn from the Herald office and will rest up for a time. Bert has rapidly developed as a journalist and is a bright and witty paragraphist and reporter. Kalamazoo Telegraph.

Religious.

M. E. Church.

The pastor will deliver the closing sermon of his pastorate at the morning service next Sabbath, and will lead the young people's meeting at 7 o'clock, after which will follow an address and parting service. The closing service at Black's school house at 3 o'clock.

A farewell supper will be given at the M. E. church Friday evening of this week, in honor of the pastor and his lady, Rev. J. T. and Mrs. Iddings, whose faithful and earnest labors with us during a three years pastorate have much endeared them to the people. As this is the last chance many will have to meet them in a social way, a cordial invitation is extended to everybody in or near Charlevoix. Mrs. Meech and Mrs. L. E. Allen will assist Mr. and Mrs. Iddings in entertaining their friends, while the ladies of the church will serve a bountiful supply of chicken pie and other things. Supper 25 cents. Served from 5 to 9 o'clock.

Episcopal.

Divine service Sunday Sept. 12th by Rev. Mr. Stout, of St. Johns Church, Grand Rapids, at Odd Fellows' Hall, at 10:30 a. m., and at Music Hall on the Resort at 4 p. m. Will preach at Odd Fellows' Hall again in the evening at 7:30 p. m.

The members of Christ Church Mission, Charlevoix, gratefully acknowledge the very able and interesting series of Sunday services during the last two months by the Revs. Bancroft, of Hastings, Morrell, of Elk Rapids, Ripley, of Muskegon, Jones, of Kalamazoo, and DeRosset, of Grand Rapids; also a liberal donation from Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Ladd, of Kansas City. The ladies of the church guild wish to thank Mr. James Withers for valuable gratuitous services rendered.

Ironton.

We're on deck again.

Amos B. Noyes succeeds himself as Assessor of the district.

More about the schools next week.

On Saturday last John Peterson's barn was struck by lightning, knocking the south gable end out. It struck the peak of the roof, and dividing, ran down both sides, shivering the corner posts to atoms.

A "pink social" at the residence of Thomas Bird on Friday night next. This is the first of the kind given by the young ladies of the Helping Hand Society, and as the proceeds go to the Sunday School fund, they expect a hearty response.

Almond Bird has completed his harvest, and the Sheldon boys, who bought John Mitchell's machine, threshed his grain for him on Saturday. The yield is good, particularly that of spring wheat. The boys threshed for Mr. Bird on Monday and Tuesday. Will report yield next week.

The boats now stop at the Company's new dock, which is a great convenience to passengers.

No new diphtheria cases reported. It is hoped it will spread no farther. Four deaths are reported so far—three children of Mr. Suffern's, and one of Mr. Campbell's.

Mrs. L. Allen, who has been visiting friends in Wayne for five weeks, returns this week.

Since our last letter John Hammond lost another valuable horse. This is two for Mr. Hammond this summer; value, $325.

R. A. Miller has been very sick for several days, but we are glad to report that he is again convalescent. Mr. Bird has also been confined to the house for several days, brought on by trying to do as much work in the harvest field as a young man, when the mercury hovered around 90 in the shade.

A sad accident occurred on Friday afternoon just after the men had gone to work. A gang of men, Geo. McMilken foreman, were engaged in unloading ore from the schooner Narragansett. The ore is raised from the vessels in buckets to a tressel work by steam derricks, and emptied into cars which are shoved along the tracks on the tressel-work, which is 20 feet from the ground. One of the tracks had not been used last season, and empty cars were run over it to test it. Frank Robinson started the first loaded car, and had got about half way across when the track gave way, precipitating him, car and all, down to the ground. His arms were both broken, his face broken across the bridge of the nose, the jaws smashed so that the bones of the left jaw, also the bones of the nose, had to be extracted. He was cared for at the Lake View House, but died at 1:15 yesterday (Tuesday.) He leaves a family consisting of a wife and two children, who live on their farm two miles west of town, and who have the sympathy of all.

Alexander has vindicated the Bulgarian [illegible], and Europe is "all torn up" again.

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

A Discourse on the Inevitable Sequences of Good and Evil Deeds.

Circles as the Type of Perfection—All Things Moving in Orbits, a Departure from Which Means Ruin—The Sequences of Sin.

Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, in a recent sermon at "The Hamptons" chose for his subject "The Sequences of Good and Evil Deeds," taking for his text:

It is he that sitteth upon the circle of the earth.—Isaiah xl., 22.

While yet people thought that the world was flat, and thousands of years before they found out that it was round, Isaiah in my text intimated the shape of it, God sitting upon the circle of the earth. The most beautiful figure in all geometry is the circle. God made the universe on the plan of a circle. There are in the natural world straight lines, angles, parallelograms, diagonals, quadrangles; but these evidently are not God's favorites. Almost everywhere where you find him geometrizing you find the circle dominant, and if not the circle then the curve, which is a circle that died young. If it had lived long enough it would have been a full orb, a periphery. An ellipse is a circle pressed only a little too hard at the sides. Giant's Causeway in Ireland shows what God thinks of mathematics. There are over thirty-five thousand columns of rocks—octagonal, hexagonal, pentagonal. These rocks seem to have been made by rule and by compass. Every artist has his molding-room where he may make fifty shapes, but he chooses one shape as preferable to all others. I will not say that the Giant's Causeway was the world's molding-room, but I do say out of ...

... will cry out again for a theocracy, and say:

"Let God come back and conduct the affairs of the world."

Every step—monarchy, limited monarchy, republicanism, anarchy, only different steps between the first theocracy and the last theocracy, or segments of the great circle of the earth on which God sits.

But do not become impatient because you can not see the curve of events, and therefore conclude that God's government is going to break down. History tells us that in the making of the pyramids it took two thousand men two years to drag one great stone from the quarry and put it into the pyramids. Well, now, if men, short-lived, can afford to work so slowly as that, can not God in the building of the eternities afford to wait? What though God should take ten thousand years to draw a circle? Shall we take our little watch, which we have to wind up every night lest it run down, and hold it up beside the clock of eternal ages? If, according to the Bible, 1,000 years are in God's sight as one day, then, according to that calculation, the 6,000 years of the world's existence has been only to God as from Monday to Saturday.

But it is often the case that the rebound is quicker, and the circle is sooner completed. You resolve that you will do what good you can. In one week you put a word of counsel in the heart of a Sabbath-school child. During that same week you give a letter of introduction to a young man struggling in business. During the same week you made an exhortation in a prayer-meeting. It is all gone; you will never hear of it, perhaps, you think. A few years after a man comes up to you and says:

"You don't know me, do you?"

You say: "No; I don't remember ever to have seen you."

"Why," he says, "I was in the Sabbath-school class over which you were the teacher. One Sunday you invited me to ...

[illegible]

OLEOMARGARINE.

[illegible]

AWFUL LOSS OF LIFE.

[illegible]

FUNNY AT FIRST.

[illegible]

Northern Michigan

Boiler Works.

Builder and Manufacturer of

Boilers, Heaters,

LARD TANKS, ETC.

OF ALL KINDS

SHEET IRON WORK

A SPECIALTY.

MARINE WORK

Given Special Attention

HENRY BARTH, Proprietor,

Charlevoix, Mich.

THE CHARLEVOIX

Manufacturing Co.,

Manufacturers of

DOORS, SASH, ETC.

Solicit Orders

For All Kinds of Manufactured

LUMBER, CASINGS,

Mouldings, Etc.

ADDRESS

CHARLEVOIX MANUF'NG CO.,

Charlevoix, Mich.

DeLAND & CO'S CAP SHEAF SALERATUS SODA Best in the World.

BY ALL MEANS PURCHASE NIMROD

PLUG TOBACCO

PREMIUM GOODS.

S. W. VENABLE & CO., PETERSBURG, VA.

TUTT'S PILLS

25 YEARS IN USE.

The Greatest Medical Triumph of the Age!

SYMPTOMS OF A

TORPID LIVER.

CONSTIPATION.

TUTT'S HAIR DYE.

Office, 44 Murray St., New York.

HOLY BIBLE REVISED VERSION

THE COMBINED

STEAM FURNITURE

—AND—

Agate Works,

CHARLEVOIX, - - - MICH.

The undersigned announces that he is prepared to take orders for

REPAIRING OR BUILDING

Furniture of all Kinds

ON SHORT NOTICE.

MY LAPIDARY

Is in first-class shape for working or polishing all choice stones.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

CORNELIUS BUDD.

All Goods not called for within ninety days will be sold for charges.

Charlevoix, Nov. 23, 1885.

1760 Lorillard's 1885 Rose Leaf, Fine Cut, Navy Clippings and Snuffs. Are the best. CLIMAX PLUG. Try them.

ST. LOUIS LEAD & OIL Co. Strictly Pure Red Seal Brand White Lead, St. Louis, Mo.

SOUTHERN COMPANY Strictly Pure White Lead in Pure Linseed Oil, St. Louis.

COLLIER COMPANY Strictly Pure White Lead in Pure Linseed Oil, St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS manufactures the largest quantity of White Lead of any city in the WORLD; and its genuine brands; "St. Louis L. & O. Co., Red Seal," "Southern Company," "Collier Company," are always perfectly pure, and known and used everywhere. Consumers of White Lead should insist upon having the above genuine brands. Dealers can buy direct from factory, or from jobbers in Chicago or elsewhere.

HARTER'S THE ONLY TRUE IRON TONIC

FACTS REGARDING Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic.

LADIES

HUMPHREYS' Manual of all Diseases, Richly bound in CLOTH and GOLD, Mailed Free.

HOMEOPATHIC

SPECIFICS.

The Old Doctor

A Life Experience. Remarkable and quick cures. Trial Packages. Send stamp for sealed particulars. Address Dr. WARD & CO. Louisiana, Mo.

MILWAUKEE, LAKE SHORE & WESTERN RAILWAY.

The Only Line Running

TWO DAILY TRAINS

—BETWEEN—

Wausau and Milwaukee and Chicago

The Only Line Running Sleeping Cars between Wausau and Milwaukee and Chicago.

THE AIR LINE TO OSHKOSH.

TIME TABLE.

Full information regarding rates of fare, time of trains, etc., can be obtained on application to Station Agent, Wausau.

H. B. FLEITH, Agent, Wausau.

H. F. WHITCOMB, General Manager.

CHAS. V. McKINLAY, Gen. Pass. Agent.

JOB WORK,

—SUCH AS—

Cards, Bill-Heads, Circulars, Posters, &c.

Executed to Order With Neatness and Dispatch.

AT THIS OFFICE.

MRS. M. LITNEY

FANCY MILLINER

And Dealer in

Ladies' Furnishing Goods,

EMBROIDERING SILK

AND

Felts for Fancy Work, Laces, Velvets,

Etc. Etc.

CHARLEVOIX.

FARMING LAND!

500,000 ACRES

Of Splendid

Michigan Lands

FOR SALE BY THE

G. R. & I. R. R. COMPANY.

40,000 Acres in Charlevoix County.

WATER AND RAIL.

Not a Wilderness, by any Means.

Over 200,000 acres of the lands of this grant have already been sold.

Send for English or German pamphlet. Address

W. H. HUGHART, Commissioner, Grand Rapids, Mich.

TITLE PERFECT.

WM. J. STEVENSON,

VETERINARY HORSE-SHOER.

Interfering and crippled horses shod satisfactorily or no charge.

Repairing done promptly.

FRANK E. WOOD'S

BATH AND BARBER ROOMS.

Hot and Cold baths at any hour of the day or evening. Oddfellow's building.

BLANKETS AND LAP ROBES!

A Fine Stock Cheap.

JOHN LITZAU.

Harness Shop in Chaloupka Building, north of bridge.

THE CAMPAIGN OPENED.

Mr. Blaine Starts the Ball in the Pine Tree State Which is to Roll on to Victory—The Tariff Policy, the Labor and the Fishery Questions—An Undignified Display of Insolence Toward Mexico—The Third Party.

Hon. James G. Blaine has opened the campaign in Maine with great enthusiasm and effect. His effort at Sebago Lake was eloquent and broad-minded and the earnest of a grand Republican triumph. A synopsis of it, and liberal extracts are given below:

[illegible]

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

The State Ticket Headed by Cyrus G. Luce for Governor—The Platform.

The convention was called to order at Grand Rapids on the 26th, and ex-Governor Austin Blair was chosen permanent chairman. Cyrus G. Luce, of Branch County, was nominated, by acclamation, for Governor; James H. McDonald, of Escanaba, by acclamation, for Lieutenant-Governor; Gilbert R. Osmun, of Austin, for Secretary of State; George L. Maltz, of Alpena, by acclamation, for State Treasurer; Henry H. Aplin, of Bay, for Auditor General; Moses Taggart, by acclamation, for Attorney-General; Major Roscoe D. Dix, of Berrien, by acclamation, for Commissioner of Land Office; James E. Estabrook, by acclamation, for Superintendent of Public Instruction; [illegible], of Washtenaw, by acclamation, for member of the State Board of Education. The Committee on Resolutions made a majority report as follows, which was adopted by an overwhelming vote:

[illegible]

POLITICAL POINTS.

[illegible]

FARM AND HOUSEHOLD.

—Cream cake: Four eggs, one cup each of sugar and flour, three tablespoonfuls of sweet cream, and three teaspoonfuls of baking powder.—The Household.

—Feather cake: Two cups of sugar, half-cup of butter, two-thirds of a cup of milk, three cups of flour, three eggs beaten separately, half teaspoonful soda, one of cream tartar, flavor with rose and vanilla.—Exchange.

—Ham sandwiches: Chop the meat, lean and fat, fine, season with pepper, and, if agreeable, a very little mustard. The yelks of two or three hard-boiled eggs, minced and worked in with the meat, make a pleasant change.—Toledo Blade.

—A Tennessee farmer made an application of one handful of ground sulphur and the same of salt to about a peck of ashes, mixed together thoroughly, then applied it to the collars of apple trees that were badly affected with the borer. He says the remedy killed the worms and saved the trees.

—For a pleasant change a mixture of pineapple and bananas is to be commended. Let a ripe pineapple be cut into small dice, and slice a number of ripe bananas. Let a glass dish be filled with layers of the two fruits and sprinkle each layer with sugar. The mingling of the fruits is an improvement to both.—Baptist Weekly.

—The American Bee Journal says tansy strewn around the hives is recommended by some bee-keepers to keep ants and roaches away. A sponge wet with sweetened water, might be put in a wire cage to destroy them. Borax, salt or gum camphor or powdered cloves scattered where the ants ...

[illegible]

FRENCH NOVELTIES.

[illegible]

LIVE-STOCK BREEDING.

How Many Grain-Growing Farmers Might Improve Their Condition.

With those farmers who have depended mainly upon the growing grain for sale, the past year or two has tried their fortitude pretty thoroughly. It matters not how much skill they bring to bear in growing a crop of wheat or oats, the grain is self-limited as to any power within itself to improve itself. The grain-grower is also powerless, no matter how high a rate of skill he possesses, to bring the quality of his product to a higher standard than that possessed by the grain grown by the most ignorant man who farms similar land. He may flatter himself that his careful study of the subject of grain-growing for market, his special effort to produce good seed, his care in harvesting at the right time, in taking the crop through the sweating process, and in every other way treating it with the most jealous care, will naturally insure at least a crop somewhat superior to the average. He thinks that skill and intelligence entitle him to his reward. But, after he has loaded a car, let him examine half a dozen cars, made ready to go forward by the same train, and he may find carloads, grown by ignorant, plodding men, that are fully the equal to his own.

Grain-growing has always been somewhat of a game of chance, the outcome depending in so large a degree upon the elements. This unavoidable feature so greatly governs success, that all large cities quite regularly, and insignificant cities to quite a degree, have—shall we say legalized?—"boards," who put up stakes, not on ...

[illegible]

Copy of Cablegram Received from H. D. Liebstaedter, Aug. 23, 1886.

London, Eng., Aug. 21, 1886.

In the chancery division of the high court of justice, London, Vice Chancellor Bacon has given his decision in favor of The Charles A. Vogeler Company of Baltimore, Maryland, in the action brought by that house against H. Churchill and Company of Brisbane, Queensland. The case which has been in progress here since September, 1884, grew out of an attempt of Churchill and Company to register a trade mark containing the words St. Patrick Oil in connection with a medicinal preparation. This was promptly opposed by the Vogeler Company, who, while admitting that the term and device which were sought to be registered by the Australian firm were in no respect identical to the well known St. Jacobs Oil trade marks, contended, however, that sufficient similarity existed between the term St. Patricks applied by Churchill and Company and St. Jacobs as used by the Vogeler Company to cause confusion in the minds of the public and lead to purchasers being deceived. In support of this position they submitted an overwhelming amount of evidence from English, American and Australian sources with the result stated. Under the decision of the court Churchill and Company can not register their mark and must pay costs of the case. This is the second trade mark suit won by the Vogeler Company in England within three years.

Continued dry weather near Danville, Ill., led Samuel White to dig a well. He bored twelve feet, and struck water that flowed so freely that the dry bed of a creek near by has been converted into a fine stream. Farmers come from long distances to see what seems to them very much like a miracle—a stream of cold water flowing through lands that are parched and brown with the drought.

[illegible]

Delays Are Dangerous

Hood's Sarsaparilla

100 Doses One Dollar

W. L. DOUGLAS

$3. SHOE

COCKLE'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS.

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY

JONES PAYS THE FREIGHT

A QUESTION ABOUT Brown's Iron Bitters ANSWERED.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

The Genuine has Trade Mark and crossed red lines on wrapper. TAKE NO OTHER.

DR. JOHN BULL'S

Smith's Tonic Syrup

FOR THE CURE OF

FEVER and AGUE

Or CHILLS and FEVER,

AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of KENT'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient. USE no other pill.

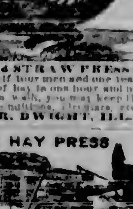
Price, $1.00 per Bottle; Six Bottles for $5.

DR. JOHN BULL'S SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP, BULL'S SARSAPARILLA, BULL'S WORM DESTROYER.

The Popular Remedies of the Day.

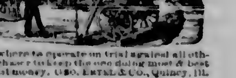
Principal Office, 831 Main St., LOUISVILLE, KY.

LIVE STOCK CUTS.

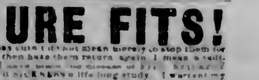


A. N. Kellogg Newspaper Co., 77 & 79 Jackson St., CHICAGO.

SPENCER'S ALLIGATOR PRESS.



ERTEL'S VICTOR HAY PRESS



I CURE FITS!

CATARRH

Nebraska, Iowa, MINNESOTA and Dakota LANDS FREE RIDE

HARTSHORN'S Shade Rollers BEST

SOLDIERS

OPIUM HABIT

ARNOLD'S

OPIUM

$5 TO $8 A DAY

CANCER

A Limb Lost

HAIR

EDUCATIONAL.

HOME STUDY.

TELEGRAPHY

A. N. K.—A

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS, please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established, 1869.

CHARLEVOIX, SEPT. 8, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE, Associate Editor.

Republican County Convention.

A Republican county convention for Charlevoix county, to nominate candidates for the several county offices and transact such other business as may be brought before the convention, will be held in the village hall in Charlevoix on Tuesday, September 14th 1886, at one o'clock p. m. The several townships are entitled to representation as follows: Bear Lake 1, Boyne Valley 2, Chandler 1, Charlevoix 5, Evelina 6, Evangeline 3, Hudson 1, Hayes 2, Marion 1, Melrose 1, Norwood 1, Resort 1, South Arm 5, Springvale 1, Wilson 2.

FRED W. MAYNE, Chairman.
D. LEE IDDINGS, Sec'y.
Charlevoix, Aug. 31st, 1886.

Twisted hemp is the price of Anarchy.

Luce clubs should be organized in every township. Now is the time to begin.

It costs $14,000 a year to light the White House. It would cost vastly more under this administration to enlighten it.

Nothing happening before that date the 12th of November will be to the anarchists the day on which they settle accounts for the murder of the Chicago police.

Yaple's free trade hobby will cost him the votes of many wool growers who have hitherto voted the fusion ticket. His avowal, "I did not vote for the restoration of the duty on wool, and, by the Eternal, I never will!" is not at all relished by the farmers.

The Democratic state ticket is a mass of glaring inconsistencies. It presents a mixture of rabid free traders, pronounced protectionists, violent soft money men and well-known hard money men, all on one ticket. A house divided against itself shall fall.

Fourteen years ago the Hon. Thomas Moonlight of Kansas, says the Chicago News, called the democrats "the scum and dirt of the Missouri river bottoms." Mr. Moonlight is now the democratic nominee for governor of Kansas and the chickens will probably come home to roost.

The present Congress consists of 183 democrats and 140 republicans, a majority of 43 for the former. It will, therefore, require a gain of 22 on the part of the Republicans to give them a majority, and they hope and expect to get it. The gains in Michigan, Ohio and Indiana will almost reach that figure.

Of the nine Fusion nominees on the state ticket six are said to be, and at least five are, lawyers. Of the nine on the republican ticket only two are lawyers, and one is the Attorney General, who necessarily must be a lawyer. The fusion ticket does not contain a single farmer. The republican ticket is headed by a farmer.

The Chicago Inter Ocean says: "George L. Yaple, the Fusion candidate for Governor of Michigan, and Professor Dickie, the Prohibition nominee for the same office, were classmates at the same college. There will be a stronger bond of sympathy between them next fall when the returns are all in and a Republican is elected Governor.

That was a remarkable shaking up given by an earthquake to the South Carolina section of the country. It seems to verify the long-existing impression that not far beneath the earth's crust in that region volcanic fires were smouldering and liable to break out in active eruptions. It will be some time probably before the exact nature and scope of the internal fiery furnace are learned.

The nomination of Cyrus G. Luce for governor is universally conceded to have been the wisest step possible. Mr. Luce was the almost unanimous choice of Northern Michigan republicans both two years ago and at the recent republican convention, and it is safe to say that the honest farmer candidate at whom the democratic press sneer, will sweep this part of the state with a cyclonic majority that will demoralize the hydra-headed opposition.

Replying to an inquiry from Sandusky: The prohibitionist lecturer who stated that the "prohibitory liquor law which was repealed in 1876 was enacted by a democratic legislature" simply demonstrated his ignorance of the facts. That law was enacted in 1855 by the first republican legislature that was ever chosen in Michigan, and was signed by Kingsley S. Bingham, the first republican governor of this state.—Detroit Tribune.

Senator Edmunds declares that in all his twenty years' experience in the Senate there had not previously been such a large number of bad appointments before that body for confirmation as during the past eight months. Meanwhile the National Civil Service Reform League meets in annual session and solemnly resolves that the sacred cause of reform is bowling forward at a rate which is bound to bring the millenium in several hours ahead of schedule time.

Northern Michigan News.

Telephone connection is now complete between Bay Springs and Boyne City.

Morgan Bates of the editorial staff of the Chicago News, is spending his summer vacation at his old home in Traverse City, where his first newspaper work was done on the Herald, sticking type in June, 1862.

A South Frankfort family wondered what made them all sick half the time. Investigation revealed the fact that a number of very dead toads had converted their well water into a veritable witch's broth.

Mrs. N. F. Randall of the Manton has a sunflower which bears on one stalk one hundred buds and blossoms, while Clark White of the same place proudly exhibits a flower of the same species which is four feet in circumference.

A Kalkaska man rushed to a fire in the solemn midnight hour recently, fully clothed and in his right mind with the exception of his pantaloons. His amazement when his attention was called to his unclad lower limbs is said to have been something wonderful to contemplate.

The Soo is on the eve of a boom. Or at least she has her ear to the ground and expects to hear the boom before long. She will not be caught napping for they have prepared for it. They have newspaper presses enough for a population of 20,000, saloons for 40,000 people and everything in proportion. When the boom gets along it will find out that it is expected to hustle to keep up with the procession.

A party of Cheboygan people went to the Soo last Saturday on the Minnie M. along with the Petoskey Commandery, K. T. They had a good time even though the weather was disagreeable. The Soo was not reached until Sunday morning, the boat being tied up about 7 miles from there for the night. The officers of the boat did all in their power to make all as comfortable as possible. The trip will long be remembered by all who went.—Cheboygan Democrat.

Presumably for centuries there has rested in the blue waters of the straits of Mackinaw a pretty little wooded island, lately become famous as a hunting and fishing ground. The island is called by the French Les Cheneaux, and by the Americans the name has been abbreviated to "The Snows." This island is about the size of Peche isle, and is totally unimproved. A few weeks since Capt. Grummond looked over the island and decided to buy it. This he did, and the question that is not yet settled is what he intends to do with it. It is said that he will build a handsome club house on it and form the island into a summer resort. It is also reported that he intends to keep it as a private summer residence. The captain is expected down from the island soon when his plans will probably be made known.

The following recent developments have come to light in the Cadillac murder case: Milo S. Brass was killed under his own roof on the 19th of last June, the principal actor in the tragedy being James W. Craft. So said Mrs. Brass in her confession to Sheriff Dunham Saturday afternoon, the details of which are as follows: Brass came home unexpectedly from the mill at Mayfield, where he was at work, and Craft, who was at the house with Mrs. Brass, had just time to conceal himself under the bed in an adjoining room before Brass entered the house. She got supper for her husband, after which he soon retired, being fatigued from his long walk from Fife Lake, the nearest railroad station. As soon as he was asleep Craft came out from under the bed and told Mrs. Brass that he had decided to put Brass where he would never trouble them again. She made no protest but merely buried her face in her hands and lay while the father of her three children was being deliberately and cruelly murdered by her paramour. The sleeping man was dealt a terrific blow over his right eye, smashing the skull in on his brain and causing instant death. Craft then dug a hole in the root cellar and Mrs. Brass saw him shove her murdered husband into it head and feet together, on account of scanty room. After covering the body he piled potatoes over the spot to prevent detection and destroyed all traces of the crime by burying the bloody clothing. Had they been as cunning after they were in the custody of the law as they were before, the crime might never have been discovered. Her story is believed to be substantially correct, but she probably took a more active part in the crime than her statements admit. Mrs. Brass is a small woman, a brunette, with an ordinary face, and is about 29 years old. Craft is 28 years old and was born in Alaska, Kent county, of German parents. He is a good-sized fellow, of small intelligence, and is popularly denominated a "chump." He has thus far refused to tell the truth about the murder and does not appear to be at all concerned about his crime.

OUR MONETARY SYSTEM.

Coin Laws Enacted by the United States Since Its Foundation.

The act of April 2, 1792, established the mint and regulated the coins of the United States. This act provided that the coin should be of gold, silver, and copper; that the gold coins should be eagles ($10), half eagles ($5), and quarter eagles ($2.50); that the silver coins should be the dollar, half dollar, quarter dollar, dime and half dime, that the dollar or unit should be of the value of the Spanish milled dollar then current; that the proportional value of gold to silver should be as fifteen to one; that all gold coins should be eleven parts fine to one of alloy; that all silver coins should be 1,485 parts fine to 179 parts alloy; that the alloy of the gold coins should be composed of silver and copper, half and half, and the alloy of silver wholly copper; that the eagle should contain 247 4-8 grains pure, or 270 grains of standard gold, and the silver dollar 371 4-16 grains pure, or 416 grains standard silver that the lesser gold and silver coins should contain the same proportions according to value; and that all the gold and silver coins should be legal tender for all payments whatsoever. (1 Statutes, pp. 246-251.)

The act of June 28, 1834 (4 Statutes 699), reduced the gold coins so that thereafter the eagle ($10) contained 232 grains pure and 258 grains of standard gold, and the half and quarter eagles were proportionately reduced, but their legal-tender quality was retained for all payments whatsoever.

The act of Jan. 18, 1837 (5 Statutes pp. 136-142), provided that thereafter the standard for both gold and silver coins should be 900 fine; that is 900 parts pure metal and 100 parts alloy, and reduced the value of silver coins so that thereafter the silver dollar contained 412½ grains of standard silver and the smaller coins their relative proportion of the same according to value, but their legal-tender quality was retained for all payments.

The act of Feb. 21, 1853, debased the subsidiary silver coins, that is, the half and quarter dollars, the dimes and half dimes, so that thereafter the silver half dollars contained 192 grains of standard silver and the quarter dollar, dime, and half dime were debased in like proportion, according to their value, and their legal tender capacity was reduced to payments of $5. This act left the gold coins and silver dollar legal tender for all payments whatsoever.

On the 12th of February, 1873 (17 Statutes, 424-436), an act revising and amending the laws relating to the mint and coinage was passed, which is known and designated by law as the "coinage act of 1873," and all other acts and parts of acts inconsistent therewith are repealed.

This act provides that the standard for both gold and silver coin should be 900 fine; that is that all coins shall be 950 parts pure and 100 parts alloy; that the alloy of the gold shall be silver and copper, the silver in no case to exceed one-tenth of the whole alloy, and the alloy of the silver coins to be wholly copper.

This act provides that gold coins of the United States shall be a $1 piece, which at the standard weight, 25 8-10 grains, shall be the unit of value; a quarter eagle, or $2.50 piece; a half eagle, or $5 piece; an eagle, or $10 piece, and a double eagle, or $20 piece; and these gold coins shall be legal tender in all payments; that the silver coins shall be a trade dollar, a half dollar, or 50 cent piece; a quarter dollar, or 25 cent piece; a dime, or 10 cent piece; that the weight of the trade dollar shall be 420 grains troy, and the weight of the half dollar 12½ grammes, and the quarter dollar and dime respectively, one-half and one-fifth the weight of the half dollar; and that the silver coins shall be legal tender for any amount not exceeding $5 in any one payment; and that the coinage of any other gold or silver coins than those named above is prohibited.

The Revised Statutes of the United States were passed June 22, 1874, and are intended to embrace the statutes of the United States in force on the 1st day of December, 1873, as revised and consolidated by the commissioners appointed for that purpose. The Revised Statutes re-enact the statute of Feb. 12, 1873, without change.

The act of July 22, 1876, provides that the trade dollar shall not thereafter be a legal tender, and the coinage of the trade dollar is limited to the export demand. Any owner of gold bullion can deposit the same at any mint and have it converted into coin for his benefit without charge. The Revised Statutes provide that any owner of silver bullion may have it converted at the mints into bars or trade dollars of 420 grains troy, but for no other coinage, on payment of actual cost of coinage. But as by the act of July 22, 1876, the secretary of the treasury is authorized to limit the coinage of trade dollars to the export demand, it would now seem to be optional with him whether owners of silver bullion could have it converted into trade dollars or not.

The law limits the coinage of the subsidiary silver coins, that is the dime, quarter and half-dollar, so that it shall not exceed at any time $50,000,000.

The act of Feb. 28, 1878, provides that the mints shall coin silver dollars of the weight of 412½ grains troy, as provided by the act of 1837; that the same shall be legal tender for all debts, public and private; that the secretary of the treasury shall purchase not less than $2,000,000 worth of silver bullion at the market price nor more than $4,000,000 worth monthly, and cause the same to be coined into such dollars as fast as purchased, the gain or seigniorage thereon to go to the United States treasury; that holders of such dollars can exchange them for silver certificates, which certificates shall be receivable for customs, taxes, and all public dues. This is the last general coinage act, and is still in force and effect. The foregoing is a complete summary of all the coinage acts.—Indianapolis Journal.

"I am a very timid man," writes a subscriber in Ohio. "I am nervous, constitutionally timid; a very coward, in fact. I am ashamed of it, but I can't help it. Now, what profession or occupation can I adopt in the practice of which I will be most perfectly safe from harm or danger?" Go to France, my son; go to France and be a duelist. Or you might remain in America and be a pugilist."—Brooklyn Eagle.

There'll be a pretty how-de-do among New Jersey lawyers if the courts follow up the precedent established by Vice-Chancellor Bird in his decision that a lawyer who induces a client to give an $8,000 mortgage for $975 and then sells it himself for $4,200 must turn the profit over to the client instead of pocketing it himself. Jersey pettifoggers will fail to see the use of being lawyers if they have to be as honest as other men.—Allentown (Pa.) Register.

THE PIONEER HOUSE OF CHARLEVOIX CO.

New Fall Goods,

BEING RECEIVED WEEKLY.

We call especial attention to our complete stock of

BOOTS and SHOES.

TEAS of all kinds. We will guarantee you the best Tea for the money, in the county.

ALL GRADES of FRESH ROASTED AND GREEN COFFEES.

A Fine line of Everything in

FURNITURE.

BIG DRIVES IN

Flannels, Yarns, and Blankets.

Please bear in mind that our stock embraces

EVERYTHING

usually found in a General Store.

Remember: Our Goods are the Best. Our Prices the Lowest. Our Record the Oldest.

Resp'y Yours,

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

A. R. UPRIGHT. OSCAR UPRIGHT

FARMS, VILLAGE PROPERTY,

And TIMBER LAND

FOR SALE BY

UPRIGHT BROS.,

40 Acre Farm, [illegible] 15 acres cleared [illegible] Price $1,100. [illegible] balance in two years.

80 Acres on Susan Lake, in Hayes Township, heavily timbered with Maple, Elm, Basswood and Beech [illegible] Price $1,000.

40 Acre Farm, situated 4 miles south of Charlevoix on county Road [illegible] Price $1,500. Two-thirds down, balance on time if desired.

55 Acres, [illegible] miles from village of Charlevoix on shore of Lake Michigan [illegible] Ash and Cedar. Price $20 per acre, one-half down, balance on time.

100 Acres, on section 30, Township 34, N. R. 8 W., heavily timbered with Maple, Elm and Basswood. [illegible] A most excellent piece of land. Price $1,800, the timber alone is worth the money.

50 Acres in Marion, 2 miles from Guyles & Nash's mill, 12 acres cleared and seeded to grass. [illegible] Price $800, one half down.

100 Acre Farm [illegible] miles from Horton's Bay [illegible] Excellent soil. Price $2,500; will sell in 80 acre lots if desired.

60 Acres of wild land in Township of Wilson, 3½ miles from Boyne City [illegible] Price $600 one-half down.

52 Acres 2 miles from [illegible] mill on South Arm [illegible] Price $500, will take a good team in exchange.

40 Acres 3 miles from Charlevoix, all heavily timbered with Maple, Beech, Hemlock and Cedar, will sell for $400.

80 Acres wild land between Horton's Bay and Bay Springs; Price $500; will trade for live stock.

80 Acres of as good land as can be found in the county [illegible] Price $1,000; $500 down, balance in 1 year at 7 per cent. A great bargain.

160 Acres known as the Inwood Farm in Norwood. [illegible]

80 Acres on the State Road, 7 miles south of Charlevoix, 2½ miles from Norwood, 15 acres cleared [illegible] Price $1,000 one-half down balance on time with interest at 7 per cent.

2 Village Lots in Petoskey [illegible]

A good Lot in Boyne City near the Skating Rink. Price $75.

100 Lots on Upright & Hurlbut's addition to the Village of Charlevoix, at prices to suit all. [illegible]

Four good houses and lots in Charlevoix. Price from $[illegible] to $1,200.

A Business Lot on Bridge Street, Charlevoix, water front, terms easy.

WE OWN THE ONLY
COMPLETE Set of ABSTRACTS
Of Charlevoix County.

And all work intrusted to our care shall have prompt and careful attention

We are Agents for some of The
BEST FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES
And will guarantee as low rates as any first class concerns.

CONVEYANCING,
NEATLY AND PROMPTLY DONE.
Non-Residents' interests looked after, Taxes paid Collectionsmade, etc.

THAT HACKING COUGH can be so quickly cured by Shiloh's Cure. We guarantee it.

WILL YOU SUFFER with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint? Shiloh's Vitalizer is guaranteed to cure you. Sold by F. G. Hines & Co.

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS, made miserable by that terrible cough. Shiloh's Cure is the remedy for you.

CATARRH CURED, health and sweet breath secured by Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy. Price 50 cents. Nasal injector free. Sold by F. G. Hines & Co.

Sheriff Sale.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the circuit court for the county of Calhoun, in favor of Frank P. Pittman and Theron M. Flower against the goods and chattels and real estate of David Cantwill and [illegible] W. Britton in said county to me directed and delivered I did on the 21st of day June last levy upon and take all the right, title and interest of the said [illegible] in and to the following described real estate, that is to say all that certain piece or parcel of land described as follows: The south half (S ½) of the Southeast quarter (S E ¼) of section twenty-four (24) town thirty three (33) north, of Range six (6) West, all of which I shall expose for sale at public auction or vendue to the highest bidder at the front door of Lewis' hall in the village of Boyne City in said county, that being the place for holding the circuit court for the said county of Charlevoix, on the 17th day of September next at one o'clock in the afternoon.

Dated this 4th day of August A. D. 1886.

HARRISON DERDAN, Sheriff.
HOPKINS & CROSBY, Attorneys.

Mortgage Sale.

A mortgage dated the 12th of September, 1879, executed by Oliver S. Horton and Linetta J. Horton to David Carpenter, recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix county, Michigan, September [illegible] 1879 in Liber 1 of mortgages on page [illegible] upon which the whole amount of principal and interest [illegible] is past due and for the recovery of which no suit or proceedings has been commenced, will be foreclosed under the power of sale therein contained by a statutory sale of the premises therein described as the north-west fractional quarter of the north-east quarter of section six, in town 33 north of Range 6, west, in Charlevoix county, Michigan, to the highest bidder at the front door of Lewis' hall in the village of Boyne City, Mich., (that being the place of holding the Circuit court for Charlevoix county, Michigan,) at 12 o'clock noon November 20th, 1886.

Dated August 31st 1886.

DAVID CARPENTER, Mortgagee.
DART & CALL, Att'ys for Mortgagee.

Mortgage Sale.

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the money due and secured by a certain mortgage dated the 1st day of August A. D. 1881, executed by George B. Thompson and Ada B. Thompson, his wife of Boyne City, Charlevoix county and state of Michigan, to Alden Chamberlin of Charlevoix, Michigan, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Charlevoix in Liber five (5) of Mortgages on page three hundred and ten (310) on the 31 day of August A. D. 1881, and which said mortgage was on the 12th day of January A. D. 1882, assigned by said Alden Chamberlin to Martha J. Ayers and said assignment was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said county of Charlevoix on the 13th day of January A. D. 1882, in Liber five (5) of Mortgages on page five hundred and twenty-four (524) and said mortgage is now due and owned by the said Martha J. Ayers, the said assignee, and whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of three hundred and seventy-seven dollars ($377) of principal and interest and no proceedings having been instituted at law or in equity to recover the debt now remaining unpaid and secured by said mortgage or any part thereof. Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the said power of sale in said mortgage contained and in pursuance of statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described in said mortgage, as all that certain piece or parcel of land lying and situated in the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, and known and described as follows to wit: The west half [½] of the north west quarter [¼] of section thirty-two [32] of town thirty-two [32] north of range five (5) west, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage with costs of this foreclosure and the stipulated costs mentioned in said mortgage, which will be sold at public vendue to the highest bidder at the front door of Lewis hall in the village of Boyne City, Charlevoix Co., state of Michigan, that being the place of holding the circuit court in and for said county of Charlevoix on the 30th day of November, A. D. 1886, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day.

Dated this 1st day of September, A. D. 1886.

MARTHA J. AYERS, Assignee.
J. M. CLARK, Attorney for Assignee.

Mortgage Sale.

A mortgage dated January 1st A. D. 1885, made and executed by Charlotta Wiar of Charlevoix county, Michigan, to Stephen S. Cobb and recorded on the 5th day of January 1885, in liber 9 of mortgages at page 520 of records in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Charlevoix county, state of Michigan and which said mortgage was on the 23rd day of January 1885 by said Cobb duly assigned to Edward B. DeJor, which said assignment was duly recorded in the office of Register of Deeds aforesaid on the 10th day of February 1885 in Liber 10 of mortgages at page 623, and which said mortgage was by said DeJor duly assigned to Frances C. VanWyck, and which assignment was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds aforesaid on the 25th day of June, 1886 in liber 13 of mortgages at page 82 and upon which is now due and unpaid the sum of twenty-five dollars and no suit or proceedings having been taken either in law or equity to collect the same, will be foreclosed under the power of sale therein contained by a statutory sale of the premises therein described as lot No. one (1) of section twelve (12) of township thirty-three (33) north of range six (6) west, Charlevoix county, state of Michigan, to the highest bidder at the front door of Lewis' Hall in the village of Boyne City, Charlevoix county, Michigan, that being the place of holding the Circuit court for the said county of Charlevoix, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of the 25th day of October A. D. 1886. Said sale will be made subject to the principal sum of said mortgage of two hundred and fifty dollars yet to become due, and the interest thereon from January 1st, A. D. 1886.

Dated this 31st day of July, A. D. 1886.

FRANCES C. VANWYCK, Assignee of the Mortgage.
A. N. BLEAZBY, Attorney for the Assignee.

Mortgage Sale.

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the money due and secured by a certain mortgage dated the 4th day of March A. D. 1882, executed by Carris Watson of Ironton, Charlevoix county and State of Michigan, to Martha J. Ayers of Charlevoix, Michigan, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said county of Charlevoix in Liber six (6) of mortgages on page [illegible] on the [illegible] day of March, A. D. 1882, and the same is now due and owned by the said Martha J. Ayers, and whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of eight hundred and thirty one dollars and eighty-eight cents ($831.88) of principal and interest, and no suit or proceedings having been instituted at law or in equity to recover the debt now remaining secured by said mortgage or any part thereof. Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the said power of sale in said mortgage contained and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided. The said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described in said mortgage to wit: Beginning at a post on the north and south quarter [¼] line of section sixteen [16], town thirty-three [33] north of range seven [7] west, 8 18-100 chains north, of east of the quarter [¼] post on the south boundary of said section, thence north 5° east on said section line 9 72-100 chains to a post, thence south 89° east 38 91-100 chains to the shore of the south arm of Pine Lake, thence southerly along the meander line of said shore as surveyed in the survey of said section sixteen [16] to a post 8 81-100 chains north 77° west of the meander post on the section line bounding said section sixteen [16] on the south, thence north 89° west 13 85-100 chains to the place of beginning and containing forty [40] acres more or less situated in the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage with costs of the foreclosure and also the stipulated costs therein mentioned in said mortgage, which will be sold at public vendue to the highest bidder at the front door of Lewis' Hall in the village of Boyne City, Charlevoix county, Michigan, that being the place of holding the circuit court in and for the county of Charlevoix, on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1886, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day.

Dated at Charlevoix, the 18th day of August, 1886.

MARTHA J. AYERS, Mortgagee.
J. M. CLARK, Attorney for the Mortgagee.

DETROIT & CLEVELAND
Steam Navigation Co.

Steamers
CITY OF MACKINAW,
CITY OF ALPENA.

For Cheboygan, Rogers City, Alpena, Harrisville, Oscoda, Sand Beach, Port Huron, St Clair, Marine City, Detroit.

Leave Mackinac Island,
Thursdays, Saturdays, 9.45, P. M.
Mondays, Wednesdays, 11-15, A. M.
Steamer every week day between
Detroit and Cleveland.
Through tickets to all points, North, East, South and West.

J. Reed Emrey, Agent, Charlevoix.
C. D. Whitcomb, Gen. Pass. Agt.

Offices To Rent.

A number of desirable offices to rent in the [illegible] block. Inquire of D. [illegible]

It Pays to Buy the
BEST BOATS!

The large number of boats I have built for resorters are advertisements of what I have done and can do in boat building. Call and get references.

I will guarantee the best modelled, easiest rowing and best sailing boats in Northern Michigan for the

LEAST MONEY!

All kinds of Oars, and Paddles made.

LEAVE ORDERS

with me for a boat for next summer's use. I am bound to please you.

Special facilities for stocking boat liveries.

J. BEAUVAIS.

McCABE'S
MARKET
Is supplied with
All Kinds Of
MEATS
At Lowest Prices
CASH PAID FOR FAT CATTLE, Hides, Sheep and Hogs.
Corner of State & Mason sts.,
JOHN McCABE.

HEATH & FRANCIS,
Contractors and Builders,
Charlevoix, Mich.

PLANS AND ESTIMATES FURNISHED ON APPLICATION

First-class
FURNITURE MADE
To Order.
Repairing promptly and satisfactorily done.
Shop on Antrim street, west of Town Hall.

1-3 OFF SALE!
At Miss Spaulding's
MILLINERY ROOMS,

I will sell my entire stock of goods, except Yarns and Flowers at greatly reduced prices for cash only.

[illegible] will receive a present of her choice of any untrimmed felt hat in the store.

Come early and secure a Bargain.

MISS L. SPAULDING.

BOAT LIVERIES!
The Best Row Boats Ever put Into a Livery in Northern Michigan.
ALSO FIRST-CLASS SAIL BOATS.
CAN PLEASE EVERYBODY
First lot south of Bridge Street House, also Red Boat House near Charlevoix Summer Resort.
F. W. WILLCOX.

A. D. Bradbeer,
PHOTOGRAPHER,
OFFICE OVER
UPRIGHT & EMREY'S STORE.

I will make Cabinet Photographs,
A SPECIALTY!
At Lowest Prices
Consistent with
GOOD WORK.

THE Resort Bakery!
A COMPLETE
ASSORTMENT
OF BAKER'S
GOODS.
Also Fine Confectionery and Ice Cream. Parties supplied and all orders promptly filled.
O. J. SMITH.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price [illegible] cents per box. For sale by [illegible] Crouter

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

CRUICKSHANK & GREER, Attorneys at Law. Office in Buttars' Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

JOSEPH M. CLARK, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

DAILTHORPE & GEORGE, Attorneys and Solicitors, Petoskey Mich.

HART & CALL, Attorneys, Petoskey, Mich.

R. L. CORBETT, Attorney at law, Boyne City, Mich. (Prosecuting Attorney of Charlevoix County.)

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

L. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

WM. M. PRESTON, M. D. Physician and Surgeon, 4 doors west of Ingleside, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. A. CARLSTEIN, M. D., Office and residence, Main st. Charlevoix, Mich.

SOCIETIES.

G. A. R.—Baxter Post No. 113, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, F. & A. M. Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over Post-office.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 253 meets second and Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

K. O. T. M.—Rescue Tent No. 138, meets second Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows' Hall.

L. O. L.—True Blues No. 157 meet Saturday on or before full moon in Odd Fellows' hall.

EMMET CHAPTER No. 104, R. A. M., meets at Petoskey on the first Monday of each month.

IVANHOE COMMANDERY No. 130, K. T., meets at their Asylum in Petoskey on the first Thursday of each month.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY meets every Tuesday evening at the homes of the members, during the fall and winter months.

CHARLEVOIX IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION meets at Charlevoix Village Hall on the second Monday of each month at 7:30 p. m.

President—Byron See.
First Vice President—W. A. Smith.
Second Vice President—Robert Miller.
Recording Secretary—Chas. J. Strang.
Financial Secretary—B. Suffield.
Treasurer—Albert E. Mason.
Executive Committee—J. Milo Eaton, A. D. Cruickshank and E. F. Parmelee.
Corresponding Committee—D. Lee Iddings, W. A. Brown and C. T. Cook.
Reception Committee—F. W. Mayne, L. D. Bartholomew, M. J. Stockman, R. Cooper, Geo. W. Crouter, R. W. Miller, S. M. See, W. C. Newman, E. M. Clark, H. Jordan.

All those wishing information regarding Charlevoix, the [illegible] town in the whole Pine Lake Region, will do well to address the corresponding committee. Unequalled opportunities for all [illegible] manufacturing.

HOTELS AND RESTAURANTS.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE.
RICHARD COOPER, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - - - Mich.
Every convenience for the traveling public, and headquarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids Stages.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE.
R. A. Campbell, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - - - Mich.
The most central location. Good Sample Room. Telephone connections. Only 100 feet to Steamboat Landing.

NEWMAN HOUSE.
W. C. Newman, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - - - Mich.
Fitted up with a view to the comfort of the Traveling Public. Good Stabling furnished. Central location.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,
L. N. Pearl, Prop.
East Jordan, - - - Mich.
[illegible]

BANK.

Bank of Charlevoix.

Drafts on New York, Chicago, Detroit and Grand Rapids. Bank Remittances or Postoffice Order to any person in Europe. Loans and Discounts on first mortgages on Real Estate. Railroad and Steamship Tickets issued from any place in Europe.

BROWN & CO.

PILE DRIVER.

ALLEN'S Steam Pile Driver. Contracts taken and dock work solicited at any point between Traverse City and Mackinaw. L. S. Allen, Charlevoix, Mich.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

B. SUFFIELD, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Domestic Cases, etc. Charlevoix, Mich.

BARBER.

JAY PRICE, Barber, east side of Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. B. and J. S. [illegible], Surveyors and Engineers, Charlevoix, Mich. [illegible]

DENTIST.

N. J. PERRY, Dentist. Office in Wood's Drug Store, Charlevoix, Mich.

Fresh Stock of
GROCERIES
AT THE
NEW GROCERY,
Corner of Antrim and Grant Streets.
It is my aim to keep a full line of choice Groceries at lowest prices.
Your trade is solicited.
Butter and Eggs wanted.
A. J. MUDGE.

MILLINERY
AND
FANCY GOODS!
Mrs. ELLA SMITH & Miss ANNIE COOPER
Have opened a store in the Ingleside Building, and invite their friends to call and inspect their fine stock of
FANCY GOODS!
Of all varieties usually kept in a first class millinery store.

FRANK E. WOOD'S
Bath & Barber
ROOMS.
Hot and cold Baths at any hour of the day or evening. Oddfellow's Building.

Cleveland and Autograph Collectors.

An Indianapolis Journal correspondent at Washington writes: A person outside of Washington has no idea of the immense amount of time the President and his cabinet are compelled to waste almost daily in writing autographs. The senators are comparatively free from this nuisance, when one compares the requests made of the President and his cabinet. It is almost a system the making of autographs at the White House, and the President has been compelled to adopt some method, or otherwise he would have to refuse the requests altogether, or else be interrupted every hour. The doorkeeper at the cabinet-room is made the custodian of all autograph books sent to the White House. He piles these dainty little volumes on a shelf on his big desk and lets them rest there until about five o'clock in the afternoon, when he opens each one at the proper page and then carries the pile to the library for Cleveland's inspection. The President rarely looks over the books, but takes up a pen and dashes off his name in a rapid manner and passes to the next. Then the doorkeeper carries the pile away. The President generally, during this hour, writes off a number of autographs on small cards, with the words "executive mansion" printed on one corner. These are sent away by mail in answer to the hundreds of requests that come through Uncle Sam's carrier. Some one suggested to the President that he let one of his clerks write his autographs, but he replied: "I am still able to use my right hand and arm, and it does not take long to sign my name." So the change was never suggested again.

CELESTIAL HUMOR.

The China Review published a collection of Chinese humorous anecdotes, selected from the "Hsiao Lin Kuang," or "Book of Laughter," some of which are interesting because they are identical with stories familiar to western civilization, while others have a peculiar Celestial accent:

Two persons standing over a stove on a cold day, warming themselves, were overheard indulging in the following dialogue: No. 1, apathetic, and given to verbiage, addressed No. 2, reputedly hot-tempered and decisive, whose clothes he noticed smouldering, as follows: "My dear friend, there is something I would like to speak to you about; I have seen it for some time, and all along have wanted to tell you, but, as people say your temper is fiery, I hesitated; on the other hand, if I do not speak you may be the loser, so I have come to the conclusion at last to ask your permission to do so." "Out with it," said the other. "Well, your clothes are burning," mildly continued No. 1. "Why the deuce," cried No. 2 in a passion, as he observed considerable damage already done, "could you not speak at once?" "It is true then what people say: what a temper he has got," muttered No. 1, as he lazily moved off.

A woodcutter was at work in concert with his son, while his little grandchild played near them. The old man accidentally cut his son's finger, whereupon the irate sufferer called his father a blind old fool. "You son of a dog!" cried the little boy, "how dare you abuse your father?"

The following is told of an incorrigibly idle offspring of a literary father: A youngster, having a great disinclination to study, was shut up in a closet, with strict injunctions to apply himself. Stealing near the parent, the parent, to his delight, heard the boy droning over his book, and was presently still more pleased by hearing the supposed student exclaim, "I understand it." The excited father rushed in crying out, "I am proud, my son, that you have at last mastered that work." "Yes," said the boy, "I always thought books were written, but to-day I have discovered they are printed."

"Come home to dinner," cried a good housewife to her husband at work in a field. "All right," he shouted, "as soon as I have hid my hoe." At dinner his wife remonstrated with him for shouting so loudly about hiding his hoe. "I am certain," said she, "the neighbors have heard you, and someone has already stolen it." Struck with the remark, the man returned to the field, and sure enough the hoe was gone. On returning to his house, and impressed with the wisdom of her previous caution, he whispered into his wife's ear, "The hoe is stolen."

The following impromptu, though consequent on a fall, can not be looked on as the outcome of deficient understanding. A man stumbled and fell. Trying to rise, he again fell. "Hang it," he cried, "if I had known I was to fall again, I would not have tried to get up."

A woman was fanning the corpse of her husband, and being asked by the neighbors why she fanned a dead man in the middle of the winter, she replied: "My husband's last words were, 'Wife, wait till I am cold before you marry again.'"

The feminine propensity for concealing age, and resenting impertinent questions in regard to it, is common to all times and nationalities; but this does not detract from our admiration of the trick by which the truth was got at in the following instance: A man, newly married, thought, when his wife unveiled for the first time, that she looked rather old and wrinkled. Telling her so, he asked her real age, when she replied, "45 or 46." "You wrote in the marriage contract 38 years," said he, "but you look even more than 45 or 46." At last she admitted 54. The husband was still doubtful; so he bethought himself of a stratagem for getting at the truth. Jumping up he said, "I must cover up the salt before going to bed, or else the rats will eat it all before morning." "Well," said his wife, laughing, "I have heard of and seen many strange things in the sixty-eight years of my life; but I never saw or heard of rats eating salt before."

A spirit about to be re-embodied was, at the final interview with the lord of hades, informed that he was to be born into a rich family, and would become very wealthy. "I don't want it," said the spirit; "just give me enough for food and clothes, that is sufficient." "No, no," was the reply; "you must have a few thousand dollars; it would never do to let you have too easy a life."

An electric boy has been on exhibition in Edinburg, and a gentleman who writes to the Electrician says he made such a thorough examination of the case as to satisfy him that there was no deception. He was a colored boy. The writer says: "I had the boy stripped naked. While thus naked he walked in my presence, and also sat on a wooden seat with his feet off the ground. In every position in which I tried him I found electricity proceeded freely from his body when I touched it with one finger. The electricity came with the greatest freedom from the upper half of his body, and especially from his tongue."

Additional Local News.

—Lieut-Gov. Buttars returned home Friday.

Scarlet fever is prevailing to some extent in Harbor Springs.

If we cannot have the electric light, what's the matter with gasoline street lamps?

Mrs. Kessler of Batavia, Ills., spent the Sabbath as the guest of Charlevoix friends.

T. J. Hill is now setting up paint brush handle machinery in his new mill at Boyne City.

The Pine Lake Iron company have contracted with Nicholls & Morgan of Boyne City, for 200,000 brick.

—According to returns to county clerk there have been over 1,500 births in Charlevoix county in the last ten years.

"Prof." Bryant Weed left Thursday for Thompson, where he has been engaged to teach a ten months term of school.

The fusion ticket has five lawyers nominated for office, while the republican ticket has the same number of union soldiers upon it.

If the tugs and steamers do not run under more check while in the harbor and river, there is liable to be a serious collision some day.

Prof. Nicholas has been re-engaged to take charge of the East Jordan schools. The other teachers will be Miss O'Neal and Miss Porter.

—The Agricultural society of Wexford county have fixed the dates for their annual fair for Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, October 5, 6 and 7.

—In the case of Dexter Niver vs. Hiram B. Chapman, before Justice Garbutt of Boyne City, judgment was rendered for $100. Defendant appealed.

—Roscoe Dix of Berrien, the man who will succeed Minor S. Newell as state Land Commissioner, spent Friday in town. Mr. Dix is an old soldier and a loyal republican, and made many friends while here.

—Dave Bradbeer leaves this week for a trip to Mackinac Island, his object being to secure views of the scenery in that locality. A large photographic souvenir containing 24 Northern Michigan views will be on sale next season. The scheme is a good one.

An unusually choice line of views of Charlevoix and the resorts can be found at the drug stores of F. G. Hines & Co. and Perry Weed. They are a powerful factor in advertising Charlevoix and you can do no better act than buy half a dozen for that purpose.

James Dewey, the assignee of Scranton & Watson lumber company of East Jordan, filed his bond yesterday and the list of creditors. The bond is the sum of $225,000, with Carlton H. Mills and William E. Barker as sureties. The list of creditors shows that the claims against the assigning corporation amount to $125,923.05, most of which claims are secured.—Detroit Tribune.

—Ground has been broken on the grade of the Frankfort & Southern railroad, at Frankfort, Benzie county. The road-bed will be for a standard gauge, but the track at first will be laid for a narrow gauge. The road will be an important outlet for forest as well as farm products, with a lake shipping point at Frankfort. It is, however, liable to be absorbed by the Toledo, Ann Arbor & Northern Michigan, now progressing toward Cadillac.

—The merchants of East Jordan are about to organize a protective association, to protect themselves against that class of people who incur indebtedness with not the remotest intention of ever liquidating it. Merchants doing business there have been badly victimized by such transactions, and now they have wisely determined to pass these people around by comparing notes, so that each may have the benefit of the others' experience as a guide for the future.

—East Jordan Enterprise. The Scranton & Watson mill started up Tuesday, and will probably run until the stock of logs on hand are cut.——The finest and most productive orchard in this vicinity, is of about 15 years' growth, near Advance, owned by Mitchell La Croix, an Indian.——J. B. Palmiter, Director, has completed the school census of this district, and informs us that the number of children of school age is 230 against 187 last year.——"Loveday's Hall," in which the Circuit Court convened in the palmy days of "auld lang syne," when East Jordan was the county seat of Charlevoix county, and which was the headquarters for several secret societies, will soon be a thing of the past, so far as its public uses are concerned. Mr. Loveday will remove his family from Charlevoix to East Jordan, and is now, by the construction of partitions, converting it into living rooms. For his water supply, he has placed a force pump in the upper story, connecting with a drive well, 50 feet in depth, beneath his store.

A Captain's Fortunate Discovery.

Capt. Coleman, schr. Weymouth, plying between Atlantic City and N. Y., had been troubled with a cough so that he was unable to sleep, and was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It not only gave him instant relief, but allayed the extreme soreness in his breast. His children were similarly affected and a single dose had the same happy effect. Dr. King's New Discovery is now the standard remedy in the Coleman household and on board the schooner. Free Trial Bottles of this Standard Remedy at Dr. G. W. Crouter's Drug Store.

These Are Solid Facts.

The best blood purifier and system regulator ever placed within the reach of suffering humanity, truly is Electric Bitters. Inactivity of the Liver, Biliousness, Jaundice, Constipation, Weak Kidneys, or any disease of the urinary organs, or whoever requires an appetizer, tonic or mild stimulant, will always find Electric Bitters the best and only certain cure known. They act surely and quickly, every bottle guaranteed to give entire satisfaction or money refunded. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Dr. G. W. Crouter.

For Sale!

Prof. BICE'S [illegible] house and two beautiful lots on Clinton street near the Park in the village of Charlevoix are now for sale. Enquire of M. BICE, Alpena, Mich., or [illegible] GREEN, Charlevoix, Mich.
May 4, 1886.

Teachers' Examination.

The examination of teachers in Charlevoix county for the ensuing school year, will occur as follows: At Charlevoix, Friday the 10th day of September, 1886; at East Jordan, Friday the 24th day of September, 1886; at Boyne City, Friday, October 29th, 1886. At Boyne City, Friday March [illegible] 1887, and at East Jordan, Friday April 29th 1887. All examinations to commence at 9 o'clock a. m. and candidates to furnish stationery.

WILLIAM HARRIS, Secretary.

RIFENBURG MILLING CO.
Charlevoix, Mich.
Manufacturers of and Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
3 EXTRA GRADES OF
FLOUR
Feed, Corn Meal, Graham
CASH FOR WHEAT.
We will do exchange work for farmers on short notice.

CHARLEVOIX
Savings Bank.
Organized under the General Banking Law of the State of Michigan.
Henry Bennett, Pres.; John Nicholls, Vice Pres.; F. A. Smith, Cashier.
DIRECTORS
Henry Bennett, O. D. Wood.
John Nicholls, A. Buttars.
A. R. Upright, A. Fox,
F. A. Smith.
CAPITAL, ... $25,000
SURPLUS, ... 2,000
The liabilities of Stockholders in all State banks as provided in Act. 3174, Sec. 40 of the Revised Statutes of the State of Michigan, is double the amount of stock taken, making a guaranteed fund of $50,000 to depositors. Superior facilities for the transaction of every legitimate branch of Banking business extended to our customers on terms as favorable as are consistent with safety.
Drafts drawn direct on the leading commercial cities of the world in large or small amounts. Money to loan on approved paper. Exchange bought and sold. Certificates of deposit issued bearing interest.
We respectfully solicit your patronage.
CORRESPONDENTS.
NATIONAL PARK BANK . . . NEW YORK.
COMMERCIAL NAT. BANK . . . CHICAGO.
NAT. CITY BANK . . . GRAND RAPIDS.
DETROIT NAT. BANK . . . DETROIT.

New Announcement,
NEXT WEEK.
D. Sherwood & Co

JOHN HOGAN,
HOUSE PAINTER
& Interior Decorator.
RESIDENCE, first door West of Factory, Charlevoix.

NEW SHOP!
All kinds of
Blacksmithing,
At the
Shop in the Foundry Building.
Horseshoeing a specialty.
ALL WORK GUARANTEED.
M. SCOTT.

New Double Action
FORCE PUMP,
With Siphon Spout.
Adapted to wells from 30 to 100 feet.
Best, Cheapest, Simplest.

SOLD ONLY BY
L. D. Bartholomew & Co.

TIME CARDS OF STEAMERS.

Standard Time.

Charlevoix and East Jordan.
STR. GAZELLE . . . . . CAPT. JOHN MASON.
Leaving Charlevoix at [illegible] a. m. and 1:30 p. m. and returning leave East Jordan for Charlevoix at 7:30 a.m. and 4 p. m. touching at intermediate points both ways.

Charlevoix and Boyne City.
STR. CLARA BELLE . . . . . CAPT. ROBERT O'NEILL.
Leave Charlevoix at 6:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. and Boyne City at 9:30 a. m., and 4 p. m. Touching at intermediate ports.

East Jordan and Charlevoix.
STR. NORTH STAR . . . . . CAPT. E. CATER.
Leave East Jordan at 6:30 a. m. and 2 p. m., and Charlevoix at 9:30 a. m. 4 p. m., touching at way ports.

Harbor Springs, Charlevoix & E. Jordan.
STR. THOS. FRIANT . . . . . CAPT. B. VANDERHOEF.
MORNING: Leave Harbor Springs, [illegible] Petoskey, 7:30, Charlevoix, 9:30, arrive East Jordan 11:30.
AFTERNOON: Leave East Jordan 1:30, Charlevoix, 4:00, Petoskey, 5:30, arrive Harbor Springs, 6:00.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN LINE.
PROP. CHAMPLAIN . . . . . Capt. Edw. Carey.
Going North, Chicago Tuesdays 9 p. m. Charlevoix Thursdays 11 p. m., Cheboygan, Fridays [illegible] p. m.
Going South, Cheboygan, Fridays [illegible] p. m., Charlevoix, Saturdays 2:30 p. m. Milwaukee, Mondays 3 p. m., Chicago, Mondays 11 p. m.
PROP. LAWRENCE . . . . . Capt. Geo. Tues.
Going North, Chicago, Fridays 9 p. m., Charlevoix, Sundays 3 p. m., Cheboygan, Mondays 9 a. m.
Going South, Cheboygan, Mondays 4 p. m., Charlevoix, Tuesdays 8 a. m., Milwaukee, Wednesdays 4 p. m., Chicago, Thursdays 12 m.
Upright & Emrey, agents, Charlevoix.

HANNAH, LAY & CO'S BOATS.
CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS, ... Capt. C. E. Wilbur.
Going North, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Leave Traverse City 7 a. m. Northport [illegible] Charlevoix 11:15, Petoskey 1:30 p. m., Harbor Springs 2, Cross Village [illegible], Mackinac Island 4, arriving at St. Ignace 4:30.
Going South, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Leave St. Ignace 8:00 a. m., Mackinac Island [illegible] Cross Village 10:15, Harbor Springs 12:45 p. m., Petoskey 1:15, Charlevoix 2:45, Northport 5:15 p. m., arriving at Traverse City at 7:45 p. m.
T. S. FAXTON . . . . . Capt. A. G. Armstrong.
Going North, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Leave Traverse City 7 a. m., Torch Lake 9:45, Norwood [illegible] Charlevoix 12 noon, Petoskey 1:30 p. m., Harbor Springs 2, Cross Village 4:30, Mackinac Island 7:15, arriving at St. Ignace 8:00.
Going South, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Leave St. Ignace 7 a. m., Mackinac Island 7:30, Cross Village 10:15, Harbor Springs 12:45 p. m., Petoskey 1:15, Charlevoix 2:45, Norwood 4:15, Torch Lake 5, arriving at Traverse City 7:45 p. m.
The City of Traverse leaves Chicago [illegible] above [illegible] every Saturday [illegible], arriving at Traverse City Monday [illegible]. Leave Traverse City Wednesday evenings at 7 o'clock.
J. L. Hurd & Co., Agents, Charlevoix.

Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad.

In effect September 27, 1885.

(Trains run on Central Standard Time.)

GOING SOUTH.

Stations.	Mail	Express	Freight.
Mackinaw City Lv	7 [illegible] a. m.	9 [illegible] p. m.	7 [illegible] a. m.
Petoskey	8 [illegible]	11 25	10 25
Boyne Falls	9 [illegible]	11 50	11 50
Mancelona	10 [illegible]	[illegible]	1 [illegible] p. m.
Walton Junc.	11 24	2 [illegible] a. m.	4 50
Cadillac	12 25 p. m.	3 [illegible]	7 [illegible]
Reed City	1 45	5 20	1 [illegible]
Big Rapids	2 14	5 08	[illegible] a. m.
Howard City	3 [illegible]	6 [illegible]	11 [illegible]
D. G. H. & M Cross	4 15	9 10	12 20
Grand Rapids	5 00	10 20	1 15
Kalamazoo	7 28	1 40 p. m.	4 15
Sturgis	9 00	3 00
Ft. Wayne	11 30 a. m.	5 20	1 35
Richmond	4 05		4 50
Cincinnati Ar	7 25

GOING NORTH.

Stations.	Mail	Express	Freight
Cincinnati, Leave	[illegible]
Richmond	10 [illegible] p. m.
Fort Wayne	2 45 a. m.	8 05	6 25
Sturgis	5 15	9 [illegible]	6 [illegible]
Kalamazoo	7 [illegible]	1 [illegible] p. m.	8 11
Grand Rapids, ar	9 [illegible]	1 [illegible]	11 20
D. G. H. & M cross	11 [illegible]	1 [illegible]	4 [illegible]
Howard City	12 [illegible]	4 [illegible]	8 [illegible]
Big Rapids	1 [illegible] p. m.	6 24	9 17
		7 12	11 45
Reed City	2 15	7 50	1 45 p. m.
Cadillac	3 [illegible]	8 [illegible]	5 10
Walton June	4 [illegible]	9 [illegible]	9 30 a. m.
Mancelona	5 [illegible]	10 [illegible]	[illegible]
Boyne Falls	7 [illegible]	1 [illegible]	[illegible]
Petoskey	8 [illegible]	[illegible]	4 25
Mackinaw City	[illegible]	5 [illegible]	7 [illegible]

C. L. LOCKWOOD, Gen'l Pass Agent.

BATH & BARBER
ROOMS.
Hot and Cold Baths and Sea Water Baths at the Barber Shop, 1st door north of Bridge St. House.
If you want a quiet place to get shaved, [illegible] call and see [illegible]
JAY L. PRICE.

THE BEST
Drugs,
Confectionery,
Stationery,
BOOKS & PAPERS,
FISHING TACKLE, Etc.,
Soda Water,
Mineral Water,
Cigars,
Are found at PERRY WEED'S.
The only News stand in town.

BURNS & SCROGGIE'S
LIVERY STABLE
CHARLEVOIX.
The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.
Drivers furnished if desired. Rates low.
Burns & Scroggie, Charlevoix.

C. R. Bellinger,
--THE--
JEWELER,
HAS JUST RECEIVED A FULL LINE OF JEWELRY,
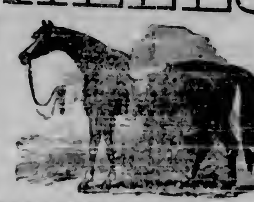
Clocks, Watches
Etc., Etc.

HELLO



EVERYBODY
Says that Advance Has The Best
HARNESS MAKER!
In The County.
Call and see him. He is found in the person of
F. J. CUTTER.

J. T. Kirkpatrick,
ARCHITECT
AND CONTRACTOR,
—ON—
Charlevoix Summer Resorts.
I have [illegible]
I employ only first-class workmen, both
Carpenters and Painters.
Work intrusted to my care will have prompt attention
J. T. KIRKPATRICK.

GELLICK & INGALLS
Dealers in
Choice Wines,
Fine Liquors
EXCELLENT CIGARS.
We call Special Attention to our Old Kentucky Sour Mash
WHISKIES.
We also keep continually on draught
Milwaukee
Export and Lager Beer.
Bridge St., 1st door South of Sentinel

Washburn & Ackert,
FOUNDREYMEN,
MACHINISTS.
[illegible]
Charlevoix Plow.

Fox & Miller
Offer a
Mammoth Stock
OF
BOOTS, SHOES
and other
FOOT WEAR,
--AT--
LOWER PRICES
Than can be found elsewhere in the County.
We have just secured a
FIRST-CLASS
SHOEMAKER,
And will make Repairing a specialty.
We have the Goods and we are bound to sell them.
NOTHING SHODDY.
Fox & Miller.

MONEY TO LOAN,
At current rates of interest, on
Approved Real Estate Security.
School Bonds bought and sold.
MILEY & CHAPIN,
Boyne City.

For Finest
JOB WORK,
Patronize The
Sentinel.

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN
The most popular Weekly newspaper devoted to science, mechanics, engineering discoveries, inventions and patents ever published. Every number illustrated with splendid engravings. This publication furnishes a most valuable encyclopedia of information which no person should be without. The popularity of the Scientific American is such that its circulation nearly equals that of all other papers of its class combined. Price, $3.20 a year. Discount to Clubs. Sold by all newsdealers. MUNN & CO., Publishers, No. 361 Broadway, N. Y.

PATENTS. Munn & Co. have also had Thirty-Eight Years' practice before the Patent Office and have prepared more than One Hundred Thousand applications for patents in the United States and foreign countries. Caveats, Trade-Marks, Copy-rights, Assignments, and all other papers for securing to inventors their rights in the United States, Canada, England, France, Germany and other foreign countries, prepared at short notice and on reasonable terms.
Information as to obtaining patents cheerfully given without charge. Hand-books of information sent free. Patents obtained through Munn & Co. are noticed in the Scientific American free. The advantage of such notice is well understood by all persons who wish to dispose of their patents.
Address MUNN & CO., Office SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, 361 Broadway, New York.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
SMITH & PARMELEE, Editors and Proprietors.
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

EPITOME OF THE WEEK.

Interesting News Compilation.

FROM WASHINGTON.

THE EAST.

WEST AND SOUTH.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

LATER.

A STRICKEN CITY.

Great Destruction from Tuesday Night's Earthquake in Charleston, S. C.

Thirty or Forty Persons Killed—The Wounded Estimated at One Hundred.

Between $3,000,000 and $10,000,000 Worth of Property Laid Waste—The Victims Destitute.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION.

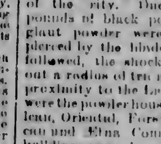
A Powder Magazine at Chicago Struck by Lightning.

One Hundred Thousand Pounds of Powder and Dynamite Explode—Two Persons Killed, and Many Injured—Serious Effect of the Shock.

BLOWN SKYWARD.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—During a terrific rain storm about 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning, lightning struck Laflin & Rand's powder magazine, on the Archer road, one and a quarter miles beyond Brighton Park, and nearly eight miles from the center of the city. One hundred thousand pounds of black powder, dynamite and giant powder were stored in the building pierced by the blade. A terrific explosion followed, the shock being felt throughout a radius of ten miles. Situated in close proximity to the Laflin & Rand magazines were the powder houses of the Austin, American, Oriental, Forsyth, Hazard, American and Ætna Companies. All of these buildings were stored with high explosives and black powder.

Laflin & Rand's magazine was the only one struck by lightning; but the others are partially demolished, the roofs and sides of the buildings being crushed in. The damage will not be less than $100,000. The Hazard magazine contained 70,000 pounds of powder, the Dupont 100,000 pounds, the Ætna 50,000 pounds, the Oriental 100,000 pounds, the Forsyth 50,000 pounds and the Austin 60,000 pounds.



AMERICAN POWDER-HOUSE.

The greatest wonder of all, considering the condition of the other magazines which contain dynamite, is that no other explosions followed. The Oriental, Hazard, Dupont and American magazine buildings are all smashed in, but the black powder, giant powder, dynamite and nitro-glycerine stored in them is intact. The Dupont, the largest of them all, was the worst damaged. The front and one side of the building and the roof are missing.

The list of the dead, dying and injured is as follows:

DEAD—Carrie Farnsworth, aged fourteen; John Kann, aged thirty-five.

FATALLY INJURED—John Gugl, Mrs. John Gugl, Miss Eliza Devine and James Shannon.

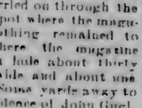
SERIOUSLY INJURED—William Kelly, Daniel Kelly, John Maddon, Philip Bowler, John Larden, Mr. and Mrs. John Jung, Peter Ham and Mrs. Kennedy.

Each hour since the explosion has revealed new damage and fresh injuries. The victims are numerous. Perhaps fifty persons were more or less cut or hurt. The deaths may not exceed three or four, but several others are at present in a dangerous condition.

ROW OF SHEDS IN REAR OF TIERNEY'S.

The instant the stream of fire burst from the cloud and blazed its way through the roof of the magazine the earth for miles around seemed to rock as though riding on a crest of a succession of mighty billows. The air was filled with flying missiles, buildings swayed on their foundations, and trees shivered like a man shaking with ague. A few moments later a half dozen fire engines dashed up the deserted streets and hurried on through the blinding rain to the spot where the magazine had stood. Nothing remained to mark the spot where the magazine had stood except a hole about thirty feet deep, sixty feet wide and about one hundred feet long. Some yards away to the west was the residence of John Gugl, the driver of the Oriental powder wagon. He was out of doors attending to his work when the explosion occurred. He and his wife were fatally injured. Carrie Farnsworth, aged fourteen years, their servant girl, was standing in the kitchen door and was blown into the ditch. When picked up the entrails protruded from her left side and her left arm was hanging from the shoulder merely by the integument. Her curly auburn hair was dabbled in blood, but her peaceful countenance gave evidence that her death was painless. The Gugl house was flattened out upon the ground, a mass of kindling wood. Across the street was the residence of Mrs. Eliza Devine, which was demolished in the same way. Mrs. Devine had her leg broken and her body torn and bruised. She can not survive. She was dragged out from under the heap of splinters and left on the grass until the patrol-wagon arrived to take her to the hospital.

John Kann, a farmer from Black Oak, a little hamlet near Summit, was directly opposite the powder magazine of Laflin & Rand when the lightning struck it. He was hurled into a ditch and the wagon reduced to splinters. One of the horses was killed outright, half its head being blown off, and the other so seriously injured that it will die. When picked up Kann showed little sign of life. His body was torn by brick, mortar and glass, and the shock had made him unconscious. He was taken to the county hospital, where he died on Monday.



ÆTNA POWDER-HOUSE.

Mr. Kann was hurled through the air for a distance of over a hundred feet, his mangled body being found a half hour later. The loss of the unfortunate man's skull was blown off and the brains were oozing out upon the muddy field. Pieces of wood and iron had penetrated his back and caused horrible gashes all over his body, from which the blood was flowing, gathering in pools. All of the clothes of the man, except those covering the lower extremities, were as it cut off from his back, only a few shreds hanging loosely around the lacerated form.

Philip Bowlar and Peter Hamm took refuge from the storm in some empty Grand Trunk freight cars and were struck by flying blocks of stone. Bowler's right arm was broken. He was taken to his home, 617 South Halsted street. Hamm is in the county hospital with a severe wound in his face.

Justice Tierney's capacious residence, about 600 feet southwest of the scene of the explosion, was a complete wreck. The heavy pieces of rock crashed through the roof, carrying the whole upper story with them to the floor below. The rear wall was blown out entirely. There were eight persons in the house at the time, two of them in the upper story. All of them escaped as it by a miracle. A little girl of Justice Tierney received a few slight scratches in the face.

TIERNEY'S HOUSE AFTER THE EXPLOSION.

Two young men, whose names are not known, were in a wagon not far from ... two men, in the same wagon, were badly shocked and slightly bruised. One of the two former had his knee crushed by a flying stone or brick and the other a badly lacerated and fractured arm.

About a thousand feet southwest of the scene of the explosion two Danish families live in a small cottage. They are John Jung and his wife and the former's son, also married. Two large pieces of rock came through the roof, shattering house and furniture. The old couple were buried beneath the ruins and sustained serious injuries on head and arms. The younger couple and their child escaped unhurt.

A dozen members of a picnic party bound to Mount Forest narrowly escaped annihilation. They were passing the ill-fated magazine when the explosion occurred. The wagon was about four hundred feet away from the building when it blew up. Stones from the foundation and bricks from the walls flew with deadly force toward them. Good fortune favored them, however, and but two occupants of the wagon were injured.

The scene of the disaster was visited by not less than 15,000 people yesterday afternoon. Every telegraph and telephone wire for miles around were blown from their fastenings, so that it was some time before the news reached the city, but when it did the people came trooping out, and the narrow sidewalks in that quarter were too small to hold them. All that remained to mark the site of the powder house was a great hole in the clay, in which not a vestige of either building or powder packages remained. The iron of the latter has disappeared completely from the face of the earth; the stones and brick in the building and portions of the roof timbers were scattered far and wide over the prairie. The tall weeds around were blown flat away from the hole, and leaves and twigs stripped from the silver maple trees strewed the ground. A two acre patch of potatoes near Gugl's house will not need digging this fall; the surface of the earth was blown completely away, leaving the potatoes exposed. The barn of the Oriental Powder Company, which had also caught fire, smoldered and smoked and the stench of burning horse flesh filled the air. In the flattened-out hog pen two pigs lay stretched out. The rest were nowhere to be found. On the path to the door of the Gugl house lay the house-dog, killed by the shock.

AFTER THE EXPLOSION.

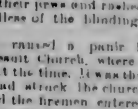
After the explosion lightning set fire to some hay-stacks belonging to Gugl, which were destroyed, and killed his horse.

Houses all over the city, as far north as Jefferson and south to Englewood, were perceptibly rocked by the earth shivering and shaking under the force of the explosion, and the damage done to window glass all over the city is something enormous, extending as it does from the Northwestern Horse Nail Works at Brighton, which has scarcely a whole window pane left in it, through McCormick's Reaper Factory and other immense structures in the southwestern part of the city, clear through the business portion of the West side, the down-town business district and away over into the North division. People upon the streets were blown from their feet or out of vehicles, and those within doors were cut in very many cases by fragments of the bursting glass. People attending services at a number of churches were panic stricken, and many left their pews and rushed into the streets heedless of the blinding rain-storm.

The explosion caused a panic in the Holy Family Jesuit Church, where mass was being said at the time. It was thought that lightning had struck the church and set it on fire, and the firemen entered carrying a hose in their hands, which increased the confusion. A wild scene followed. Men, women and boys mounted the seats and dashed through the windows, and not a whole window was left in that part of the building. Many people were cut and bruised, but nobody sustained fatal injuries.

Large plate glass windows in many business houses in the heart of the city were shattered. The shock put out the gas in the Grand Pacific Hotel and caused a lively scene among the guests. Many of them rushed down stairs minus shoes and stockings, while others clad in scant raiment huddled in the halls and corridors. No serious injury was done to the building. Two windows in the Board of Trade building were demolished. Damage is reported as far north as Evanston.

Father Horgan, the pastor of the little Catholic Church at Cicero, near Brighton Park, had just finished celebrating early mass and was arranging the altar when the explosion occurred. Nearly every window in the edifice was broken, and a pane of splintered glass, urged by some unseen force, was driven into the priest's right leg. The wound was so serious and painful that Father Horgan was compelled to have it dressed by a surgeon. An old lady was the only other person in the church at the time. She was uninjured.



HAZARD POWDER-HOUSE.

There were many miraculous escapes and thrilling incidents. John Kelly, without a mark or a scratch the worse for his adventure, is sure he traveled fifty feet through the air. He was walking down Archer road about a quarter of a mile from the Laflin-Rand magazine when he heard a terrible roar. The sidewalk raised up with him, and then he felt himself sailing through the air. Stones and rocks whistled by him, and the next thing he knew was half an hour after when he came to his senses in a pile of hay. He had been blown into a haystack fully one hundred feet from where he stood. Frank Minshaw, a fireman on the Chicago & Grand Trunk railroad, was in the cab of his engine three hundred yards away when the explosion occurred. He was blown from the cab across an adjoining railroad track, a distance of about fifty feet, but was unhurt.

An Anarchist Attempts Suicide.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Anarchist John Kilyan, under arrest for being the moving spirit in the Kohout incendiary murder in East Sixty-fourth street, for which the Kohout brothers were sent to Sing Sing for life, made an attempt to cheat the hangman yesterday by suiciding. It was frustrated by an officer. The police claim to have information to the effect that the band of Anarchists in training under Herr Most and his lieutenants have for more than a year been firing tenement houses for private profit and loaded their consciences with murder a dozen times over. The Anarchists, however, are sworn to secrecy, and innocent men will be executed rather than disclose secrets of their organization. In the case of the Kohouts one of the brothers was innocent of the crime charged, while the other was guilty, but the innocent Anarchist disdained to appeal for mercy. It is thought that Kilyan attempted suicide rather than run the risk of further disclosures.

Killed a Melon Thief.

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 31.—Thomas Councilman, a farmer residing near Perry, has been annoyed by raids of boys and men upon his three-acre melon patch. Lately he hung a circle of lanterns around the patch and swore he would shoot the first trespasser crossing the dead-line. Saturday night six young men raided the patch, and Councilman came out with his gun and shot and killed ...

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
SMITH & PARMELEE, Editors and Proprietors.
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

HUEING HIS ROW.

PLAYFUL VIVIEN.

She Toyed With Two Hearts and Broke Them Both.

WISE ADVICE.

OUR FASHION LETTER.

The Recent Changes in Styles of Ladies' Garments—Elegant Simplicity of Street Costumes—Fashionable Jackets—The French Polonaise, Leg O' Mutton Sleeves, Etc., Etc.

Tailor Costume of Turtle Colored Cloth.

Walking Costume of Plain and Striped Woolen Goods and Velvet.

Walking Costume of Plain Homespun and Plaid.

EVOLUTION PREFERRED.

PERSONAL AND IMPERSONAL.

"A LITTLE NONSENSE."

READING FOR THE YOUNG.

THE BOYS AND THE APPLE.

JUST FOR FUN.

ABOUT TOADS.

ADULTERATED MOLASSES.

THE CIRCUS BEGINS!

NEXT WEEK I AM GOING TO RECEIVE A

LARGE INVOICE OF

CLOTHING!

Bought from one of the leading houses of Rochester, N. Y., Which I will sell at Prices that will draw Trade from all over the County.

I think the best advertisement a merchant can have is to have his goods advertise him in good fits and prices that cannot be beat.

GEO. W. MILLER.

A NEW DEPARTURE!
AT F. W. CRAINE & CO'S

Last week we placed in our store a Bargain Table, and on which may be found at all times,

GENUINE BARGAINS
in everything pertaining to our line.

By coming in and inspecting this department you will readily be convinced of its merit. We are confident that our many patrons will appreciate this NEW Departure as we do just as we advertise.
Look out for Bargains at

F. W. Craine & Co's.

BARGAINS IN DRY GOODS!

Our Fall stock is arriving, and we still have a quantity of goods that we have not room for, and will not carry over. Your attention is invited to the following

Special - Offerings:

FRIDAY, Sep. 10.

SATURDAY, Sep. 11.

MONDAY, Sep. 13.

TUESDAY, Sep. 14.

WEDNESDAY, Sep. 15.

PLANTATION JAVA COFFEE, BEST IN THE WORLD.

H. O. Roses' Petoskey Lime always on hand.

J. L. HURD & CO.

CLOAKS! CLOAKS!

CLOAKS, CLOAKS!

CLOAKS!

--AT--

Rosenthal & Son's

Having just received the largest and best assortment of Cloaks ever shown in Northern Michigan, we now await your inspection

And we are confident that we can Suit Everybody

IN A STYLISH SHORT WRAP, OR A HANDSOME NEW-MARKET OR A COSY STREET JACKET.

These goods having been purchased at a very low figure, we can sell them at

MOST ASTONISHING LOW PRICES.

Call and examine before going elsewhere,

Respectfully,

ROSENTHAL & SON.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL. XVIII. NO.--20 | CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1886. | WHOLE NO. 877

School Books !

SCHOOL BOOKS! SCHOOL BOOKS!

---HEADQUARTERS---

For Everything needed in the School Room, at

HINES & CO.'S DRUG AND STATIONERY STORE.

You will find it to your interest to look over our stock before purchasing elsewhere.

Respectfully,

F. G. HINES & CO.

UPRIGHT & EMREY, GENERAL DEALERS.

UPRIGHT & EMREY,

Dealers in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Etc.

CHOICE TEAS,

Best STANDARD JAVA Coffees

Boots & Shoes!

IN ALL GRADES OF MEN'S, WOMEN'S and CHILDREN'S.

We have given more than our usual care and attention to the selection of our stock, and we Know we can please our patrons in all

KINDS OF FOOTWEAR.

UPRIGHT & EMREY.

We can Supply you with EVERYTHING in our Line.

THE FINEST STOCK OF

FURNITURE

ever offered in Charlevoix,

IS NOW AWAITING YOUR INSPECTION AT

Henry C. Cooper's.

A Choice Line of

FRESH GROCERIES,

OF EVERY VARIETY,

Including Confectionery, Fruits, Canned Goods, and Tobaccos and Cigars in stock

For your Inspection in OPERA BLOCK by

R. J. COOPER.

Now For A Rush of Business!

ENTERPRISE,

Liberality, Square Dealing

--AND--

HONEST GOODS,

--AT--

HONEST PRICES,

AT STOCKMAN & IDDINGS'

--THE--

Cash Hardware Store.

HARDWARE, IRON AND NAILS.

A Full Line of STEEL WIRE Nails.

PLOWS, HARROWS & FARMING IMPLEMENTS.

STOVES. If you want a first-class Stove of any description now is the time to buy. If you want anything in our line we invite your patronage.

YOURS TRULY,

STOCKMAN & IDDINGS.

Sep. 15, 1886

The Best Groceries

At The Lowest Prices

ARE FOUND AT THE GROCERY AND PROVISION HOUSE OF

A. E. MASON.

I do a strictly Cash-over-counter business and will guarantee lowest prices.

J. MILO EATON'S

REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE,

AND LOAN OFFICE.

The oldest in the county. Established in 1875.

Money to loan in sums to suit and at lowest rates on improved farms.

A. J. McLEOD,

Wholesale or Retail

FRESH MEATS,

SALT PORK,

SMOKED & SALTED

HAMS,

Dried and Smoked BACON, DRIED BEEF, Bologna, Head Cheese, Sausage.

Highest Prices Paid FOR HIDES and PELTS

A. J. McLEOD.

CHARLEVOIX Manufacturing Co.

Charlevoix, Mich.,

Sash and Doors,

Blinds, Mouldings etc.

NEWELL Posts, Banisters & Stair Rails kept in stock.

Window & Door Frames made to order.

Building Material

PLANS & SPECIFICATIONS,

Correspondence solicited.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY

SMITH & PARMELEE,

Charlevoix, Michigan.

Address all business correspondence to the firm

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One year - $1.50 | six months - $.75

Invariably in Advance

Local News.

Mrs. Byron See goes to Detroit, next week.

Mrs. E. S. Hawks is very sick of gastric fever.

—Gen. Cutcheon at the soldiers' reunion to-morrow.

—Call and see Frank Hines & Co.'s new line of blank books.

—Hon. John S. Dixon returned from his Cedar Rapids, Iowa, visit Monday.

—The "old soldier" should go into one of his own sweat boxes and remain there.

—We see the "sanitarium" is given to political literature as well as bringing the dead to life.

—Miss Flora Nelson returned home from her Wisconsin visit, yesterday morning on the Lawrence.

—Mrs. Charles Kelley and family expect to leave to-morrow to join Mr. Kelley on his farm in Eaton county.

—The Detroit Daily Tribune has 50 subscribers in Charlevoix, the Evening News 24, and the Journal 20.

—Gov. Alger has ordered his princely salary as governor for the last 42 days turned over to Acting Governor Buttars.

—Rev. W. H. McCartney closed up his pastoral work at East Jordan on Sunday last, and went home to his Atwood farm Monday.

—Mrs. W. H. Downer and son, who have been spending a part of the summer here, returned to their home in Geneva Lake, Wis., last week.

—L. D. Bartholomew & Co. call attention in their new illustrated advertisement to their line of Round Oak and Square Base heating stoves, etc.

—H. S. Cook has been making improvements in and about his new residence on the north side, which render it one of the most attractive homes in that locality.

—Capt. Atkins of Petoskey, who bought the sloop rigged yacht "Nameless," of Traverse City parties, has sold her to Capt. Lucas of the Petoskey boat livery for $300.

—F. W. Craine & Co., whose buyer is now in New York for the purpose of purchasing their fall stock, call especial attention to their coming line of Cloaks in their advertisement.

Stockman & Iddings present a new advertisement this week calling attention to their stock of hardware, iron and nails, including steel nails, stoves, agricultural implements, etc.

—Charles S. Hampton, of the Harbor Springs Independent, and Miss Alida Russell, a popular young lady of Adrian, were married at the home of the bride's parents, last Wednesday morning. We extend our congratulations to both.

—The "old soldier" of the "sanitarium" says he served from the beginning of the war, and ...

—W. P. Brown has been quite ill the past week.

—Mr. E. D. Hines and daughter return to their Ohio home to-morrow.

—John Sherman is spending the week at Mackinac Island with his family.

—The chicken-pie-supper at the M. E. church Friday evening, netted the ladies $35.

—Judge Jennison, of the Circuit Court for Wayne county, made us a pleasant call Monday.

—Mrs. Frank Wood left Monday for Grand Rapids, for a few weeks' visit with her mother.

—Miss Winnifred Merritt, a teacher in the Jackson city schools, and a niece of Mrs. H. M. Enos, was visiting here last week.

—Now let us have harmony, and let every Republican take off his coat and go to work for a good big majority in Charlevoix county.

Charlie Hampton knows a good thing when he sees it. He has just married a young lady of strongly pronounced Republican proclivities.

—If the Fountain City House gentlemen who fish for bass every day on Nicholls' dock, in full view of our editorial window, don't bring in some of the fish, we'll squeal!

—Mrs. Oscar Upright leaves to-day for Manitowoc to attend the wedding of her cousin, Miss Alice Canwright, who is to be married to Mr. Hall, a former clerk on the Champlain, in the near future.

Homer Trask, foreman of the Petoskey Record, and Miss Jean Hastings of Conway, were married the 25th ult. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Trask all wish them long life and happiness.

—The whole number of deaths in Charlevoix county in 1885 was 50; the whole number of births was 167; the excess of births over deaths was 117, showing the births to have been three and six-tenths times greater in number than the deaths. According to the statistics of five years previous, the births in Charlevoix county exceeded the deaths two and seven-tenths times as a yearly average, while that of 1885 is seen to be three and six-tenths greater, than the number of deaths, showing the excess of births for 1885 in the county to be much greater than usual. Not only is this true but this excess is nearly double the excess of births over deaths in the whole state, the births for five years in the state being only a little over twice as great in number as the deaths. This speaks volumes for the extreme salubrity of our climate. Where there is a low death rate and a high birth rate in a community, it is invariably an indication of prosperity. There were four townships in the county where no deaths were returned. More than one-fifth of the deaths occurred among people over 60 years of age. There were 26 deaths among children under five years of age. The death rate in the county as compared with that of the state is only about one-third as great, or five in 1,000.—Citizen.

Important Real Estate Change.

Last week J. S. Smithson bought of Orvis D. Wood all the lands owned by him on sections 11, 12, and 13, in the Township of Norwood, embracing 833 acres. The consideration was $5,000. Mr Smithson has not bought these lands for the sole pleasure of paying taxes upon them, but proposes to put a force of 100 men at work im-...

Republican County Convention.

The Republican County Convention met pursuant to call yesterday afternoon at Opera Hall.

Dr. Nicholson, of Boyne City, was elected chairman and Jos. R. Dixon, of Charlevoix, secretary.

After the necessary preliminary business, the Convention proceeded to ballot for nominees for county officers, with the following result:

SHERIFF

Harrison Berder	19
Hiram B. Bogg	[illegible]
John Ward	[illegible]

REGISTER OF DEEDS.

	1st	2d	3d	4th
A. R. Upright	17	16	18	18
Fred J. Meech	16	16	15	15
William Harris		1

PROSECUTING ATTORNEY.

	1st	2d	3d
Roscoe L. Corbett	[illegible]	15	17
Fred W. Mayne	11	9	7
Frank E. Fogg	7	9	9

CLERK.

A. W. Chew	[illegible]
Phil H. Lausway	9

Henry Cooper, for County Treasurer, Z. N. Garlutt, for Circuit Court Commissioner, and E. K. Robinson for Surveyor, were nominated by acclamation.

The convention was harmonious.

County Soldiers' Reunion.

Baxter Post, No. 119, G. A. R. have perfected arrangements for a reunion of the ex-soldiers of Charlevoix county, to occur in this village on Thursday, Sept. 16th. Representative Cutcheon has consented to be present and address the old vets, and the soldiers are expecting to have a grand gathering, and a good time.

Teachers' Examination.

At the Teachers' examination held at Charlevoix Friday last, there were 22 applications for certificates, and the following passed:

N. N. Card, O. L. Carel, William J. Pearson, Minnie A. Kane, Stella Kane, Allen C. Madien, Cora Adams, Addie Lewis, George Potts, Lillian Mills, Attie D. Crane, Maggie O'Neill, Mattie O'Neill, Ada Cooper, Delia Porter, May Waterbury, Nellie Partlon, Gladys Jefferies, Mattie Messenger, and Thomas E. Goodrich.

The Republican County Ticket.

It is useless to deny the fact that ...

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

SMITH & PARMELEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

The San Francisco Mint employes at present 300 hands. It is the largest in the world, having a coinage capacity twice that of Philadelphia and thrice that of the English Mint.

Bibles are distributed at Castle Garden printed in English, Welsh, French, Danish, Swedish, Finnish, Italian, Spanish, German, Dutch, Russian, Bulgarian, Hungarian, Bohemian, Polish, Slavic, Arabic, Greek, Armenian, Hebrew and Portuguese.

The officials of the Light-house Board claim to have discovered that there is no authority for a light on the Bartholdi statue in New York harbor, and that until Congress grants the necessary permission, none can be allowed. By some oversight, no mention of a light was made in the bill appropriating money for the Bartholdi statue unveiling.

In an English magazine an attempt is made to give a series of Americanisms; that is to say, words coined or invented in America. Under the word Bonanza the definition is given: "Spanish, a big scheme by which, honestly or otherwise, much money is made." Upon this the critic pounces and says that bonanza means "good fortune or good luck."

The new material for unsinkable ... [illegible]

EPITOME OF THE WEEK.

Interesting News Compilation.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The public debt statement for August is as follows: Total debt, less interest, $1,748,...,106, less cash items available for reduction of debt, and reserve held for redemption of United States notes ($293,067,...), $1,454,704,141; cash in treasury, $76,...; debt, less amount in treasury, $1,378,176,580. Decrease during August $1,910,... [partly illegible]

In the United States during the seven days ended on the 3d there were 165 business failures against 151 the previous seven days.

President Cleveland received on the 3d a dispatch from Queen Victoria expressing sympathy with the sufferers by the recent earthquakes.

The exchanges at twenty-six leading clearing-houses in the United States during the week ended on the 4th aggregated $767,179,414, against $1,0..,... the previous week. As compared with the corresponding week of 1885, the increase amounts to 6.7 per cent.

The death of E. M. Lawton, disbursing officer of the War Department, occurred at Washington on the 5th.

THE EAST.

On the 1st the Commissioners of Immigration at Castle Garden, N. Y., having been sternly criticised for admitting polygamists, decided to recognize no more Mormon ship-loads, but deal only with individual immigrants. One hundred were detained on the 1st to be sent back to Europe as paupers.

Hanlan easily defeated Courtney in the boat-race at Rockaway Beach, N. Y., on the 1st.

William H. Morrow was nominated on the 3d for Congress by the Prohibitionists ... [illegible]

... to be in a starving condition, owing to drought, no rain having fallen in those counties in fourteen months.

A good many Canadian half-breeds have squatted in Dakota Territory, and are demanding the right to make filings upon the Government domain. They all have naturalization papers.

Citizens of Charleston were very much disheartened on the 4th by the recurrence of earthquake shocks in that city. The great dread now was the approach of the equinoctial storm.

On the 5th a ranchman who arrived at Tombstone, A. T., stated that Captain Lawton had captured and was taking Geronimo to Fort Bowie with forty bucks, squaws and papooses.

During the informal reception given to Senator Logan in Chicago on the evening of the 4th it was remarked that he had now visited every State and Territory in the Union.

Great alarm in regard to earthquakes is nightly manifested by the convicts in the State prison at Columbia, S. C. Some of the leaders in the movement ... [illegible]

SHAKEN UP AGAIN.

Charleston Visited by Another Severe Earthquake Shock—A Woman Killed—The People Panic-Stricken—Scientific Facts About Tuesday Night's Quiver.

Charleston, S. C., Sept. 4, 1:30 a. m.—At precisely eleven o'clock last night another shock of earthquake swept under the city, coming with a heavy booming sound, apparently from the southeast, whence all the previous shocks have come. The earth trembled perceptibly, with a short, wavy motion for at first two seconds. Nearly everybody had ... [illegible] in their tents or houses with ... that the worst was over. At the first note, however, of the well-known and dreaded sound everybody was awake and on their feet, and the streets were filled in a twinkling with men, women and children. At the negro camp in the City Hall Park nearly a panic prevailed. Men and women shouted and cried and fell on their knees, uttering long, wailing prayers and singing the queer negro hymns. Wherever any considerable number of ... [illegible]

TOILERS IN LINE.

General Observance Throughout the Country of the National Labor Holiday—Working-men Turn Out in Great Numbers and Parade the Streets of Various Cities.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—The procession of the labor organizations of this city when marching through the streets yesterday, with devices of their trades, mottoes, banners, etc., had in it between 20,000 and 25,000 persons. It was as large and orderly a parade as has ever been witnessed in Chicago.

Four prizes were awarded. To the Bricklayers' union a banner was given for the largest number of men in line—3,000; the Typographical union received a banner for neatest display, best discipline and most complete uniformity of dress; the horseshoers and shoemakers received an ivory gavel each.

This year almost twice the number of men turned out than did so last year and the display of the industrial branches was ... [illegible]

STAGING DAYS.

A Veteran Driver's Interesting Chat About the Days Preceding Railroads.

The men who drove stages in Canada before the days of railways are becoming fewer as the time passes away. There are several who live in or near Toronto, and about the most experienced of them is a man who began driving in 1831 and is now sixty-six years of age. He was born in South Carolina March 22, 1820, and was brought to Upper Canada by his parents when he was ten years of age. He is best known in this city by the somewhat suggestive name of Whisky Bill. It was not on account of his fondness for liquor that he received this title, for sober men were always selected as stage-drivers, but through a little incident which occurred at Post's Hotel, on the Kingston road, twenty-five miles ... [illegible]

FOUND AFLOAT.

Stories Adrift on the Swift Current That Feeds the Sea of History.

A Meriden (Conn.) young man is said to send to the laundry each week twenty-four pairs of cuffs and twenty-five collars.

A physician in Woodstock, N. H., took some virus from the arm of a child whom he had vaccinated, and the child's father sued him for the value of the vaccine matter, and got a verdict for $3.70.

Savannah, Ga., has a policeman who can sleep soundly while walking. The other night he slumbered through a heavy shower, and was much surprised when he awoke and found himself drenched.

A woman recently arrived at Portland, Ore., from Montana, whose entire wealth consisted of ten children, the oldest ten years old. There were one set of triplets, two sets of twins and three "singles."

The Bilton's idea of the geography of the United States continues to be ... [illegible]

THE WIDOW BOWEN.

[illegible]

WEIGHING THE INK.

[illegible]

OVER NIAGARA.

[illegible]

THE MARKETS.

[illegible]

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

SMITH & PARMELEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

GREAT LOVE AND I.

I mocked at Love!
Love seemed a little thing!
"A small, blind girl," I said, "with golden wing,
For these poor poets to adore and sing,
The r stock in trade, which has its price to bring;"
I did not know.

I laughed at Love!
"The merriest jest of all,"
I said; "a gay, light, bounding ball,
Which gathers wit at both its rises and fall,
And never lies our grasp beyond recall;"
I did not know.

"Your Love," I said,
"Through the long summer days
Lie and laugh and listen to his lays;
Court Fool is he," said I. "Crown him with bays
And laurel for the folly of his ways!"
I did not know.

"Court Fool," I cried,
"We'll barter all for you;
You are a toy to mock at ever new,
A jest when false, a better jest when true!
Laughter will always ring at thought of you."
I did not know.

I looked on Love!
Ah me! I mocked no more.
Within his hand a flaming sword he bore!
His eyes were great and sad, and prone before
Him in the dust I lay, lamenting sore.
"Great Love," I cried, "Master forevermore!
I know, I know."

"Master," I cried,
And trembling touched his feet.
His eyes were great and sad and bitter-sweet;
Beneath his gaze my heart, all laboring, beat;
To lift my glance I knew I was not meet.
I knew, I know.

His face was pale,
And most passing fair;
There was no lightsome jest now in his air;
A throbbing wound bled in his bosom bare,
A thorned crown was on his shining hair—
So did I know.

"Great Love!" I cried.
"Great Woman!" said he;
[illegible]

... spiteful little communities. People would hear a great deal of truth-telling from Susan just because she was Susan. Her word was as good as a bond; and she had the kind of manly honor that never breaks a contract or disregards a promise. Milly Grant, the village milliner, with whom she maintained the closest intimacy, had a great admiration for her because she felt that no one but herself had ever sounded the height and depth and fulness of Susan's genuine excellence. She regretted that Susan was not a man, so that she might marry her.

But Susan, with all her mannish virtues, was very womanly. She was strong to sustain and she was tender to comfort and help. Her heart was capacious and balanced her excellent head. The position of mother and daughter had been changed. Susan was the wheel-horse, as she said, and she felt a protecting fondness for her mother's foibles that made up to that poor woman for a great deal she had suffered. They drew together into a united life. Susan knew she could never have a romance and her mother's young career was of the greatest interest to her. They lived it all over again in their leisure hours, retouching the faded colors, that Susan might realize what it is to be young, to win admiration and to have lovers, she who had known no youth and could never enter personally that magic realm. Mrs. Bowen possessed certain remnants of her old vanity, although so much had been beaten out of her by a hard fate. She was a little weak about dress, as so many by-gone beauties are, and she liked to adorn herself with the vague feeling that somebody might still come to admire her, although in fact nobody ever did come, at least not for a long time. Nearly all the small sums that could be spent on clothes were laid out for her benefit, Susan contenting herself with a style of costume in which she always looked the same winter and summer, spring and fall. But she dressed her mother's still unfaded hair and put on the becoming ribbons and bits of lace much as a fond mamma adorns her little girl. She admired her mother more than any one, and wished to keep her young and pretty a long time.

The widow still possessed a few small trinkets which had not yet been parted with to pay the rent or to furnish necessaries. By far the most interesting of these, as a memento of her girlhood, was a gold locket containing two strands of hair, one auburn and the other brown, entwined together, with a curious cipher beneath them engraved on the gold. The auburn lock had belonged to ... [illegible]

... ground among the ferns and let her hat fall back, and with her hands clasped about her knees lost sight of every thing before her eyes in her intense sympathy for her mother. He had come to make a friendly call, of course, but Susan did not believe it. She knew that widowers, when their hearts have healed by the first intention, always have intentions. They are the most ingenious members of the human race. She was thinking of Jane Hinman and the Widow Bowen and the dark ways they had traveled as mother and daughter, when she had borne the laboring oar; and a tide of pity and love seemed to sweep her away, mingled with the excitement of this strange romance which was touching her mother again in the afternoon of her days. Susan never knew how long she sat there on the river bank among the ferns. She found it growing dark when she took her way home. Her mother met her at the door with her eyes full of tears and quivering with suppressed emotion. She put her arm around her daughter and like Ruth and Naomi they clung together for a time.

"I, you can't think what he said. It's all the same as if I hadn't grown old. He wants me to be his wife. He came here on purpose, Susan, to ask me. He says he has money enough and everything, and he don't care if I am ever so poor and don't know how to appear," she went on a little incoherently.

Susan put her mother down in the rocker and smoothed her hair. "You must quiet yourself, or you will have one of your bad headaches. But just tell me if you have promised to be Mrs. Senator Fielding."

"How could I promise," she returned, reproachfully, "without talking with you! It all depends on you, Susan, and the very thought of it makes me dizzy."

"I shan't stand in the way, mother; I shall never trouble him."

"Susan Bowen, what do you mean?"

"He can't be expected to marry the whole family. He has come for his old sweetheart, Jane Hinman, and not for Susan Bowen, clumsy old Susan."

"You want to make me sick," breaking into sobs; "that is just what you want to do."

"No, I don't, mother, but I can't deceive you. We have always been one, you and I, but it can be so no longer. Jane Hinman was born for another fate. And now she is coming into her kingdom. But Susan Bowen was made to endure hardness, to live alone and eat the bread of labor. He would not like my influence over you. He must rule alone, I can see it in the square set of his jaw."

[illegible]

OKLAHOMA BOOMERS.

Army Officers Heartily Tired of Chasing the Plucky and Persisting Settlers.

"It is not half so much fun chasing these boomers out of Indian Territory as some folks may think," an army officer observed when questioned on the subject. "You see, most of them are full of Yankee pluck and independence, and they don't care any more for the United States army than they would for a swarm of mosquitoes. You can't scare an American with the army, because he knows that the soldiers won't shoot, and so we go marching around in military fashion, chasing this man and that man, until the thing gets to be a good deal of a farce.

"What is needed is a force of about two ... with clubs. It I ... I would keep Okl... Government got ... other day I found ... and women, with ... dren, over the li... settle, and I told ... to move on.

"Where to?" as...

"'Anywhere,' ... you get out of ... here.'

"'Why not?' sa...

"'Because,' I ... ernment land and ... have to skip.'

"Well, they pi... and their children ... wagons and started ... them awhile, and I ... were going for ... when we passed ... were again in ... spokesman colored ... saw me, and said, ...

"To tell the ... [illegible]

SCHOOL AND CHURCH.

—An entire town of five hundred inhabitants on the coast of China, near Foo Chow, has adopted Christianity, says an exchange.

—Dr. Pringsheim, recently appointed to a professorship in the University of Munich, is the first Jew ever admitted to a Bavarian faculty.

—Signs of the times, even in the fashionable world, disclose the dawning of a day when a faithfully practical education shall be demanded both for young women and for young men.—The Moravian.

—The estimate by the Philadelphia Board of Education of the expenses for 1887 of the city's schools asks for $2,172,958.45, or about $300,000 more than the appropriation of $1,864,151 for the ... [illegible]

ROBUST WOMEN.

[illegible]

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

[illegible]

FOR OUR YOUNG FOLKS.

WHAT THEY WILL BE.

A Recitation for Boys.

I.

I have made up my mind
That a sailor I shall be,
And in a splendid ship
I shall sail upon the sea.
I shall see the waves dash high,
And hear the wild winds sport;
But bravely our good ship
Will carry us into port.
A sailor I'll be!

II.

I am going to be a doctor,
When I get to be a man,
And I'll make the people well
Just as quickly as I can.
Two horses I shall have,
And a boy to hold the reins,
And I'll drive around the town,
And cure all the aches and pains!

[illegible]

TOM'S DANGER SIGNAL.

[illegible]

... ning of the bridge, and partly on it, lay a tall tree that had been blown over by the gale. Unless the train could be checked in time, it would be derailed and hurled into that terrible gorge.

No wonder the boy felt himself growing faint with terror at the thought of his father's peril, as well as the danger to all the others that were on the train. How could they be warned in time? The twilight shadows were already growing deeper, and it would soon be dark. Tom looked at his bandaged leg with a groan of despair. If he only had the use of it, he could soon have made his way down the mountain side, and built a fire beside the track that would have warned them ... [illegible]

An Interesting Sight.

[illegible]

A Remarkable Picnic.

[illegible]

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established, 1869.

CHARLEVOIX, SEPT. 15, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE, Associate Editor.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS

State Ticket.

For Governor—
CYRUS G. LUCE, of Branch.

For Lieutenant Governor—
JAMES H. McDONALD, of Delta.

For Secretary of State—
GILMAN R. OSMAN, of Wayne.

For Treasurer—
GEORGE L. MALTZ, of Alpena.

For Auditor General—
HENRY H. APLIN, of Bay.

For Attorney General—
MOSES TAGGART, of Kent.

For Commissioner of State Land Office—
ROSCOE D. DIX, of Berrien.

For Superintendent of Public Instruction—
JOSEPH S. ESTABROOK.

For Member State Board of Education—
SAMUEL S. BABCOCK, of Wayne.

Republican Congressional Ticket.

For Representative in Congress, Ninth District—
BYRON M. CUTCHEON, of Manistee.

Hon J. C. Burrows was re-nominated for congress in the Fourth District on the 8th.

App. M Smith has been forced to retire from the Manistee Sentinel, which is consolidated with the Times, Congressman Cutcheon's organ. App is a prohibitionist, and couldn't agree with his partner as to the political course of the Sentinel. He will now stump his district for the prohibition congressional aspirant against Cutcheon.

The fusion candidate for governor, Lawyer Yaple, publishes a statement that "Cyrus G. Luce is a chronic office-seeker, and was for years a standing candidate for governor." Mr. Luce was a candidate for governor but one year, 1884; this year he publicly declined to be a candidate, but was nominated notwithstanding. Mr. Yaple has been up for office every election since he was 27 years old.

The Naval Board appointed by Secretary Whitney to report what vessels of the merchant marine or other steamers are available as auxiliary naval vessels has thus far reported but two, the steamers "Newport" and "Louisiana," both constructed by Roach in 1880. Secretary Whitney is fated to run against John Roach at every turn. The simple fact is that it is owing to Mr Roach's energy, persistency and skill that we have had any of the larger steamers built in this country which will be valuable as a naval auxiliary. Gradually, if he has any but a coal-oil conscience about him, Secretary Whitney will be forced to regret that he wronged John Roach so deeply.

Mrs. J. Ellen Foster of Iowa is the peer of any woman engaged in the temperance cause in this or any other country. She is a lady of rare gifts; a logical thinker, strong and eloquent in debate. That she is one of the most earnest, sincere and effective temperance advocates of the present time no one will deny. She believes in temperance work, not in third partyism. In a recent speech at Lakeside, Ohio, she said: "The third party did nothing to secure prohibition in Georgia. The people down there don't believe in it. The third party did not secure prohibition in Iowa. The people did it. The third party is doing prohibition more harm than the adherents of high license."

Grand Rapids Eagle: A correspondent asks for information as to the condition of the public debt in 1861, when the republican party came into power; in 1865, at the close of the war; and then, when the republican party retired from power. When Lincoln became president the public debt amounted to over $90,000,000, though there had been many years of peace and apparent prosperity. It was mainly in the shape of six per cent. bonds, many of which had been sold at a considerable discount, and it had been accumulated as the result of extravagance and mismanagement. The Government credit was so low that Buchanan borrowed money at a rate that amounted to nine or ten per cent, and spent the money for current expenses. When the last democratic administration ended the Government had neither charter nor credit, but was in a state of dissolution. At the close of the slaveholders' rebellion of 1865 the total interest-bearing debt was over $2,381,000,000, the interest charge was $4.29 per capita of the then population, and the debt per capita, including the outstanding greenbacks, was $78.25. At the close of the last fiscal year under republican rule the interest-bearing debt was $1,226,000,000, the interest charge 86 cents per capita, and the total debt $25.89 per capita. Under the republican administration of Government finances the War debt was reduced more than $1,150,000,000 in twenty years, the rate of interest from 6 to 3 per cent., the per capita debt more by more than two-thirds, and the interest charge from $150,000,000 to $47,000,000 per annum. If "Correspondent's" political opponents tell him again that the Republican party has accomplished nothing since the war which entitles it to the gratitude of the people let him poke these figures under their noses.

Northern Michigan News.

The telephone line from Traverse City to Williamsburg is completed.

Grand Traverse crops are going to be a good average notwithstanding the drought.

Preparations are being made to build a bridge across the river at Spencer Creek.

Cadillac has 4,500 population of whom 1,704 are between the ages of five and twenty.

Jas. M. Wadsworth, Bellaire, has in the neighborhood of forty men employed getting out cedar posts and ties.

Progress: The quality of our wheat this harvest is said to be the finest of fine. That is the rule; poor wheat is the exception.

The collapsed ex-Banker Hixson of Cadillac, is at Duluth, where he proposes to go into business and retrieve his fortunes.

Mr McNair, of Elmira, has shipped about 400,000 elm staves, and he commences this week to cut out about 700,000 more.

Two thousand people came north on the G. R. & I. excursion trains, on Tuesday. Many went to Traverse City and others went further north.

A special term of court for Missaukee county will be held at Lake City, beginning Oct. 14, for the trial of Mrs. Brass and James Craft for the murder of Milo Brass.

—Hon. W. H. Francis of Frankfort, has purchased the Express of that place and has assumed the editorship of the paper. The politics of the paper will remain republican.

There was a Sunday school excursion from Elmira to Mackinac last Friday, given by the courtesy of President Hoaghart, of the G. R. & I. to the Sunday school of Elmira.

Sault St. Marie Democrat: Who says the Sault is not situated in a corn-growing section? Some of our citizens have been feasting several weeks on home-raised green corn.

About $500 is paid out every month by Mr. Chisholm for wood for the charcoal kilns, and not far from $1,000 will be received in Elmira for coal during the month of August.

The Marquette Sun notes the recent killing of a bear in that locality sized up as follows: In height it was 37 inches; in length, 63 inches; girth 49 inches and weighed 485 pounds.

The report of the St. Mary's ship canal for August shows that a larger freight tonnage passed through it than during any previous month. The Suez canal's statement is nothing in comparison with it.

There are only three post offices on the line of the G. R. & I. in Michigan which are distributing points for a larger number of offices than is Harbor Springs. They are Traverse City, Cadillac and Boyne Falls.

Mrs. Susan Foreman, of Bellaire, died under mysterious circumstances, and a post mortem examination was held. The investigators run up a bill of $700 and then failed to determine whether the woman died of poison or a natural death.

A little seven-years old son of Thos Shouts, of Antrim, while playing on the railroad turn table with some other little boys, had one leg broken and the other quite seriously hurt. It was feared at first that his leg would have to be amputated.

Gen. I. D. Toll, Petoskey's new postmaster, is 67 years old, and received his title as a soldier in the war with Mexico.—Detroit Tribune. Thank you! Petoskey people usually call him Colonel, but have not the slightest objection to his promotion to a full brigadier.—Record.

The Detroit, Mackinac & Marquette will make application at the next meeting of the board of control of state swamp lands on Bois Blanc island which it claims is due it as part of its land grant. It also claims 10,000 acres in Chippewa, Schoolcraft and Marquette counties.

J. E. Darrah, of Clarion, has made a contract for taking 2,000,000 feet of pine logs from Clarion to Little Traverse Bay. He will bring them by rail from Clarion to the Harbor and raft them there. Probably our neighbors will cackle, but when their duck pond is covered with logs next summer, we fear they will kick.—Record.

Bliss postoffice is four miles from Canby, which is also in Bliss township. A letter mailed at the former office goes to Harbor Springs, thence to Levering via Petoskey, thence by mail carrier to Canby, making a journey of about sixty miles to get four. At Heil's corners it comes within two miles of its starting point.

Michigan long boasted the largest village in the United States—Kalamazoo. We believe that Marquette is the largest place in the United States where there is only one newspaper. She has a population of 8,000 and only the Mining Journal, but the Journal has a monopoly only because it deserves it as a newspaper, and editors who think there is a chance for opposition there should try it.—Cheboygan Democrat.

His Memory Failed.

"I understand," said Col. Yerger to an old acquaintance whom he happened to meet the last time he was down to Galveston, "that you have a great memory for dates."

"O, yes," said the man, quite flattered by the Colonel's remark, for dates were a hobby with him. "I know the dates of many important events."

"Perhaps you could tell me when Alexander the Great was born?" said the Colonel with a half-quizzical smile.

"Certainly. He was born in the year 356 B. C. and died 323."

"And when did King Arthur of England die?"

"A. D. 501."

"Quite wonderful!" exclaimed the Colonel. "And will you oblige me by giving the year of the massacre of St. Bartholomew in Paris?"

"1572. You bet I'm pat on dates. Do you know that the painters Van Dyke and Velasquez were born in the same year, 1599? Yes, and Cromwell, too, was born that year, one year before Charles I., whose head he cut off."

"What a head for dates you have!" exclaimed the Colonel.

"And John Milton, Corneille, and Rembrandt were all three born in 1606."

"When was Waterloo fought?"

"June 18, 1815. I tell you, Colonel, when you corner me on dates, you will have to get up very early in the morning."

"It certainly looks that way," said the Colonel, "but there is one date that I am a good deal puzzled about; perhaps you can clear it up."

"What is it about, Colonel?"

"It is about two years ago, when I was in Galveston the last time, you borrowed $5 of me and promised to send it to me in 'a letter. I don't remember the exact date when I was to get it, but I think you said 'next week.' Now, can you tell me what date next week will be?"

The Galveston man turned red as a boiled lobster, mumbled some words about his poor memory of recent affairs, and, giving the Colonel another promise to liquidate, he slunk away.—Texas Siftings.

DRIVE-WHIST.

A Game that Is Taking the Place of Progressive Euchre.

Drive-whist is raging in the East as progressive euchre raged in the West last season. It has been introduced in a limited number of Detroit homes by ladies and gentlemen, who practiced it while visiting Boston, New York, and Philadelphia friends. Drive-whist is not very unlike progressive euchre in its general form. Any number of tables may be brought into the game; one hand is played, and then the couple change tables, advancing in rotation, as in progressive euchre; only in drive-whist the same partner is kept throughout the evening. Then, again, it is more social, because each couple must in the course of the evening meet with and play every other couple in the room, unless, of course, there are more couples than there are hands played; but, as it is possible to play from thirty to thirty-five hands between the hours of 8 and 10:30 o'clock, the last contingency is not likely to arise. Players assert that the game is very fascinating.

To play drive-whist, the host or hostess must procure score cards in sufficient number so as to provide each couple with one. These score cards are made like dancing programmes to be fastened by a cord, and give a space at the top for the lady's name and address, and opposite, the gentleman's name whose partner she is. Below the card is ruled in spaces so that there is one column for points won, another for points lost, and a third for the names of your opponents. The manner of choosing partners for the evening is left to the ingenuity of the hostess, and different ways are adopted. One is to write the gentlemen's names on the score cards (one name on each card) and then let the ladies draw one card each. When partners are once selected they are kept throughout the evening. The cards are dealt and one hand is played. At the end one couple at each table has won a number of points and the other couple has lost. The gentlemen then make a record, each on his own card, of the points won or lost, with the names of the other couple. The losing couple at the table then change places, each going to the next table, and the losing couple at the head table going to the vacant place at the foot. Another hand is dealt and played, another record made, another change of positions follows, and the game goes on. At the close of the game, when the number of hands previously decided upon have been played, each couple adds together all the points won and all lost, and this determines the difference. The couple that has won the greatest number of points is entitled to the head prize, and the couple that has lost the greatest number of points gets the foot prize. The prizes are provided by the host or hostess, or if a club meets to play it procures prizes from its club fund for that purpose. The score cards are given to the ladies at the completion of the game. —N. Y. World.

The time-honored story of Goldsmith's arrest by his landlady and Johnson's sale of the "Vicar of Wakefield" seems to be in some danger. It is impossible that this account, received from Johnson himself, should not be substantially true; yet in his introduction to Mr. Stock's new fac-simile of the first edition Austin Dobson shows that it will have to be reconciled with certain inconvenient facts. He proves that the book, as early as Oct. 28, 1762, became the property of three persons, one of whom was Benjamin Collins, the Salisbury printer. This relieves Mrs. Fleming, Goldsmith's Islington landlady, from her traditional reputation for asperity, as Goldsmith at that date had not gone to Islington; and it fixes some time anterior to October, 1762, for the composition of the book—a point hitherto obscure. Mr. Dobson also gives much new information as to the first publication of the "Vicar," and shows that its early popularity and sale were by no means so great as generally supposed.

The Rest Thrown In.

"Darling," said a young department clerk to a pretty Georgetown girl, whose waist his arm encircled, "what do you think your dear papa would say if I were to ask him for your hand?" "I don't think he'd like it, Harry," she lisped. "No?" he said in dismay, for he thought he was very dense with the old gentleman. "No? Why not?" "Because, dear," she smiled, "he wouldn't want his only daughter mutilated in that manner. Ask for all of me, Harry, and I have a vague suspicion you'll get me mighty quick." Harry gave her a squeeze as big as a dime museum anaconda, and saw the father next day in a most successful manner.

THE PIONEER HOUSE OF CHARLEVOIX CO.

New Fall Goods,

BEING RECEIVED WEEKLY.

We call especial attention to our complete stock of

BOOTS and SHOES.

TEAS of all kinds. We will guarantee you the best Tea for the money, in the county.

ALL GRADES of FRESH ROASTED AND GREEN COFFEES.

A Fine line of Everything in

FURNITURE.

BIG DRIVES IN

Flannels, Yarns, and Blankets.

Please bear in mind that our stock embraces

EVERYTHING

usually found in a General Store.

Remember: Our Goods are the Best. Our Prices the Lowest. Our Record the Oldest.

Resp'y Yours,

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

FOR LAME BACK, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Price 25 cents.

SHILOH'S COUGH and Consumption Cure is sold by us on a guarantee. It cures Consumption. Sold by F. G. Hines & Co.

SHILOH'S VITALIZER is what you need for Constipation, Loss of Appetite, Dizziness, and all symptoms of Dyspepsia. Price 10 and 75 cents a bottle.

CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH and Bronchitis immediately relieved by Shiloh's Cure. Sold by F. G. Hines & Co.

Sheriff Sale.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the circuit court for the county of Calhoun, in favor of Frank P. Pitman and Theron M. Flower against the goods and chattels and real estate of David Cantral and Orrin W. Britton in said county to me directed and delivered I did on the 21st of day June last levy upon and take all the right, title and interest of the said Orrin W. Britton in and to the following described real estate, that is to say all that certain piece or parcel of land described as follows: The south half (S ½) of the South-east quarter (S E ¼) of section twenty-four (24) town thirty-three (33) north of Range six (6) West, all of which I shall expose for sale at public auction or vendue to the highest bidder at the front door of Lewis' hall in the village of Boyne City in said county, (that being the place for holding the circuit court for the said county of Charlevoix,) on the 17th day of September next at one o'clock in the afternoon.

Dated this 4th day of August A. D. 1886.

HARRISON BERDAN, Sheriff.

HOPKINS & CROSBY Attorneys.

Mortgage Sale.

A mortgage dated the 14th of September 1877, executed by Oliver S. Horton and Lucetta J. Horton to David Carpenter, recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix county, Michigan, September 29th, 1879 in Liber 4 of mortgages on page 86 upon which the whole amount of principal and interest viz. $115.30 is past due and for the recovery of which no suit or proceedings has been commenced, will be foreclosed under the power of sale therein contained by a statutory sale of the premises therein described as the north west fractional quarter of the north east quarter of section six, in town 33 north of Range 6, west, in Charlevoix county, Michigan, to the highest bidder at the front door of Lewis hall in the village of Boyne City, Mich., (that being the place of holding the Circuit court for Charlevoix county, Michigan, at 12 o'clock noon November 26th, 1886,

Dated August 31st 1886.

DAVID CARPENTER, Mortgagee.

DART & CALL, Att'ys for Mortgagee.

Mortgage Sale.

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the money due and secured by a certain mortgage dated the 1st day of August A. D. 1881, executed by George H. Thompson and Ada H. Thompson, his wife of Boyne City, Charlevoix county and state of Michigan, to Alden Chamberlin of Charlevoix, Michigan, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Charlevoix in Liber five (5) of Mortgages on page three hundred and ten (310) on the 3d day of August A. D. 1881, and which said mortgage was on the 12th day of January A. D. 1882, assigned by said Alden Chamberlin to Martha J. Ayers and said assignment was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said county of Charlevoix on the 14th day of January A. D. 1882, in Liber five (5) of Mortgages on page five hundred and twenty-four (524) and said mortgage is now due and owned by the said Martha J. Ayers, the said assignee, and whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of three hundred and seventy-seven dollars ($377) of principal and interest and no proceedings having been instituted at law or in equity to recover the debt now remaining unpaid and secured by said mortgage or any part thereof. Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the said power of sale in said mortgage contained and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described: to wit: all that certain piece or parcel of land lying and situated in the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, and known as [illegible] the west half [½] of the north west quarter [¼] of section thirty-two [32] of town thirty-two [32] north of range five [5] west, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage with costs of this foreclosure and the stipulated costs mentioned in said mortgage which will be sold at public vendue to the highest bidder at the front door of Lewis hall in the village of Boyne City, Charlevoix Co., state of Michigan, that being the place of holding the circuit court in and for said county of Charlevoix on the 30th day of November, A. D. 1886, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day.

Dated this 1st day of September, A. D. 1886.

MARTHA J. AYERS, Assignee.

J. M. CLARK, Attorney for Assignee.

Offices To Rent.

A number of desirable offices for rent in the Sentinel block. Inquire of [illegible].

Probate Order.

State of Michigan, County of Charlevoix, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix, holden at the Probate office in the Township of South Arm, on the Second day of September in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six. Present, Hon. James A. Keat, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the Estate of Niles P. Anderson, deceased. On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Nellie Anderson praying that administration of said estate may be granted to her, or some other suitable person; Thereupon it is ordered, that Monday, the fourth day of October, 1886, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the Township of Evangeline and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted: And it is Further Ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Charlevoix Sentinel, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county of Charlevoix, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

JAMES A. KEAT, Judge of Probate.

[A true copy.]

Mortgage Sale.

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the money due and secured by a certain mortgage dated the 4th day of March, A. D. 1882, executed by Carrie Watson of Boston, Charlevoix county and State of Michigan, to Martha J. Ayers of Charlevoix, Michigan, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said county of Charlevoix in Liber six (6) of mortgages on page five hundred and ten (510) on the 4th day of March, A. D. 1882, and the same is now due and owned by the said Martha J. Ayers, and whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of eight hundred and thirty one dollars and eighty-eight cents ($831.88) of principal and interest, and no suit or proceedings having been instituted at law or in equity to recover the debt now remaining secured by said mortgage or any part thereof. Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the said power of sale in said mortgage contained and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided. The said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described in said mortgage to wit: Beginning at a post on the north and south quarter [¼] line of section sixteen [16], town thirty-three [33] north of range seven [7] west, [illegible] chains north, 5° east of the quarter [¼] post on the south boundary of said section, thence north 5° east on said section line [illegible] chains to a post, thence south [illegible] chains to the shore of the south arm of Pine Lake, thence southerly along the meander line of said shore as surveyed in the survey of said section sixteen [16] to a post [illegible] chains north [illegible] west of the meander post on the section line bounding said section sixteen [16], on the south, thence north [illegible] east [illegible] chains to the place of beginning and containing forty [40] acres more or less situated in the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage with costs of this foreclosure and also the stipulated costs therein mentioned in said mortgage, will be sold at public vendue to the highest bidder at the front door of Lewis' Hall in the village of Boyne City, Charlevoix county, Michigan, that being the place of holding the circuit court in and for the county of Charlevoix, on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1886, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day.

Dated at Charlevoix, the 18th day of August, 1886.

MARTHA J. AYERS
Mortgagee.

J. M. CLARK, Attorney for the Mortgagee.

Farm For Sale.

I will sell my farm in Marion one and one half miles south of Charlevoix, on the county road, 80 acres, 45 acres cleared and stumps out, good frame house and frame barn; [illegible] of bearing orchard; well watered. Terms, two-thirds down balance to suit purchaser. Price $2,500. For information apply at SENTINEL office or to me.

Address, WM. COOPER.

Charlevoix, June 15, 1886.

DETROIT & CLEVELAND
Steam Navigation Co.

Steamers

CITY OF MACKINAW,
CITY OF ALPENA.

For Cheboygan, Rogers City, Alpena, Harrisville, Oscoda, Sand Beach, Port Huron, St Clair, Marine City, Detroit.

Leave Mackinac Island,
Thursdays, Saturdays, 9-45, P. M.
Mondays, Wednesdays, 11-15, A. M.
Steamers every week day between
Detroit and Cleveland.
Through tickets to all points, North, East, South and West

Reed Emrey, Agent, Charlevoix.
C. D. Whitcomb, Gen. Pass. Agt.

A. R. UPRIGHT. OSCAR UPRIGHT

FARMS, VILLAGE PROPERTY,

And TIMBER LAND

FOR SALE BY

UPRIGHT BROS.,

40 Acre Farm, [illegible] good well of water at house, 15 acres cleared 6 more chopped, timber Maple, Beech, Cedar and a few Pine. Frame house, Frame Granary and good Log Barn. Board fence on road, Small Orchard. 1 mile from Ironton on good road. Price $1,100. $450 down, balance in two years. Will take a good team as part payment.

80 Acres on Susan Lake, in Hayes Township, heavily timbered with Maple, Elm, Basswood and Beech surface gently rolling, soil good, will make a fine farm, timber on the land will pay for the place. Price $1,000.

40 Acre Farm, situated 4 miles south of Charlevoix on county Road, soil the very best, good well of water, about 30 acres cleared, nearly all seeded down, fences in first-class order, 100 fruit trees just beginning to bear, good log house, log barn, good school house adjoining the place, good neighborhood. Price $1,500. [illegible] down, balance on time if desired.

55 Acres, 1½ miles from village of Charlevoix on shore of Lake Michigan, soil good, being sandy loam and muck. 5 acres cleared, good stable, log house, a good sugar bush of 200 trees, balance of timber Birch, Ash and Cedar. Price $20 per acre, one-half down, balance on time.

160 Acres, on section 30, Township 34, N. R. 8 W., heavily timbered with Maple, Elm and Basswood. Surface gently rolling, watered by a spring brook. A most excellent piece of land. Price $1,600, the timber alone is worth the money.

80 Acres in Marion, 2 miles from Guyles & Nash's mill, 12 acres cleared and seeded to grass. 5 acres more chopped. Living water on the place, a good piece of Maple timber, some Cedar, good soil, good improvements in the neighborhood. Price $600, one-half down.

160 Acre Farm 1½ miles from Horton's Bay and same distance from Susan Lake, surface gently rolling, 10 acres cleared, good frame house, timber Maple, Elm, Basswood and Beech. Excellent soil. Price $2,500; will sell in 80 acre lots if desired.

110 Acres of wild land in Township of Wilson, 3½ miles from Boyne City, soil clay loam, surface gently rolling, timber can not be surpassed. Price $600 one-half down.

52 Acres 2 miles from Sweet's mill on South Arm, surface rolling, soil, clay and sandy loam; Fine trout stream passes on west line of land. 25 acres cleared, the best fence in county and [illegible] clearing, Log house and large log barn, timber Hemlock, Birch, Cedar, in good neighborhood and adjoining large clearings. Price $500, will take a good team in exchange.

40 Acres 3 miles from Charlevoix, all heavily timbered with Maple, Beech, Hemlock and Cedar; will sell for $400.

80 Acres wild land between Horton's Bay and Bay Springs. Price $500, will trade for live stock.

80 Acres of as good land as can be found in the county, on section 23—33—7, 10 acres chopped, surface smooth. Price $1,000. $300 down, balance in 1 year at 7 per cent. A great bargain.

160 Acres known as the Inwood Farm in Norwood. 80 acres cleared. Frame house 16x30 with wing 16x24, story and a half high, good bearing orchard, consisting of Apples, Peaches, Pears and Plums, a fine water power on the place 22 ft fall, a capital place for a carding mill, 80 acres of 1st class timber 1½ miles from saw and grist mill. Price $4,000, one half down, balance on sufficient security is given, nothing required down.

30 Acres on the State Road, 7 miles south of Charlevoix, 2½ miles from Norwood. 5 acres cleared, frame house 18x24. Living spring near the house, timber maple principally. Soil clay loam. Price $1,000 one-half down balance on time with interest at 7 per cent.

2 Village Lots in Petoskey finely located, have been graded, are as choice resident lots as can be found in town. $100 cash.

A good Lot in Boyne City near the Skating Rink. Price $75.

100 Lots on Upright & Hurlbut's addition to the Village of Charlevoix at prices to suit all. Some of the best buildings in Charlevoix are on this addition.

Four good houses and lots in Charlevoix. Price from $500 to $1,200.

A Business Lot on Bridge Street, Charlevoix, water front, terms easy.

WE OWN THE ONLY
COMPLETE Set of ABSTRACTS
Of Charlevoix County,

And all work intrusted to our care shall have prompt and careful attention

We are Agents for some of The
BEST FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES
And will guarantee as low rates as any first class concerns.

CONVEYANCING,
NEATLY AND PROMPTLY DONE.
Non-Residents' interests looked after, Taxes paid Collectionsmade, etc.

It Pays to Buy the
BEST BOATS!

The large number of boats I have built for resorters, are advertisements of what I have done and can do in boat building. Call and get references.

I will guarantee the best modelled, easiest towing and best sailing boats in Northern Michigan for the

LEAST MONEY!

All kinds of Oars, and Paddles made.

LEAVE ORDERS

with me for a boat for next summer's use. I am bound to please you.

Special facilities for stocking boat liveries

J. BEAUVAIS.

1-3 OFF SALE!

At Miss Spaulding's
MILLINERY ROOMS,

I will sell my entire stock of goods, except Yarns and Crewels at greatly reduced prices for cash only.

Any lady purchasing goods to the amount of $5.00 will receive a present of her choice of any untrimmed [illegible] in the store.

Come early and secure a Bargain.

MISS L. SPAULDING.

BOAT LIVERIES!
The Best Row Boats Ever put Into a Livery in Northern Michigan.
ALSO FIRST-CLASS SAIL BOATS.
CAN PLEASE EVERYBODY
First lot south of Bridge Street House, also Red Boat House near Charlevoix Summer Resort.
F. W. WILLCOX.

THE Resort Bakery!

A COMPLETE ASSORTMENT
—OF—BAKER'S
GOODS.

Also Fine Confectionery and Ice Cream. Parties supplied and all orders promptly filled.

O. J. SMITH.

McCABE'S
MARKET

Is supplied with
All Kinds Of
MEATS
At Lowest Prices.
CASH PAID FOR FAT CATTLE, Hides, Sheep and Hogs.
Corner of State & Mason sts.,
JOHN McCABE.

HEATH & FRANCIS,

Contractors and Builders,
Charlevoix, Mich.

PLANS AND ESTIMATES FURNISHED ON APPLICATION

First-class
FURNITURE MADE
To Order.

Repairing promptly and satisfactorily done.

Shop on Antrim street, west of Town Hall.

A. D. Bradbeer,

PHOTOGRAPHER,

OFFICE OVER
UPRIGHT & EMREY'S STORE.

I will make Cabinet Photographs,

A SPECIALTY!

At Lowest Prices
Consistent with
GOOD WORK.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Dr. Crouter.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

CRUICKSHANK & ORLER, Attorneys at Law, Office in Butters' Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

JOSEPH M. CLARK, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

DAUGHERTY & GEORGE, Attorneys and Solicitors, Petoskey Mich.

DART & CALL, Attorneys, Petoskey, Mich.

R. L. CORBETT, Attorney at law, Boyne City, Mich. (Prosecuting Attorney of Charlevoix County.)

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

L. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in Lewis' [illegible], Charlevoix, Mich.

WM. M. PRESTON, M. D. Physician and Surgeon, 4 doors west of Ingleside, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. A. CARLSTEIN, M. D. Office at residence, Mason st., Charlevoix, Mich.

SOCIETIES.

G. A. R.—Baxter Post No. 119, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, F. & A. M. Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over Post office.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake lodge No. 341, meets second Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows hall.

K. O. T. M.—Round Tent No. 138, meets second Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows' Hall.

L. O. L. True Blues No. 1-7, meet Saturday on or before full moon in Odd Fellows hall.

EMMET CHAPTER No. 104, R. A. M. meets at Petoskey on the first Monday of each month.

IVANHOE COMMANDERY No. 146, K. T., meets at their Asylum in Petoskey on the first Thursday of each month.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY meets every Tuesday evening at the houses of the members, during the fall and winter months.

CHARLEVOIX IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION meets at Charlevoix Village Hall on the second Monday of each month at 7:30 p. m.

President—Byron Ste[illegible]
First Vice President—W. A. Smith,
Second Vice President—Robert Miller
Recording Secretary—Chas J Strang
Financial Secretary—[illegible]
Treasurer—Albert E. Mason
Executive Committee—J. Milo Eaton, A. D. Cruickshank and E. F. Parmelee.
Corresponding Committee—H Lee Iddings, W. A. Brown and C. Y. Cook.
Reception Committee—F. W. Mayne, L. D. Bartholomew, M. J. Stockman, R. Cooper, Geo W Crouter, R. W. Miller, S. M. Sec, W. C. Newman, E. M. Clara, H. Berdan.

All those wishing information regarding Charlevoix, the largest and most thriving town in the whole Pine Lake Region, will do well to address the corresponding committee. Unequalled opportunities for all classes of manufacturing.

HOTELS AND RESTAURANTS.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,
RICHARD COOPER, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - - - Mich.
Every convenience for the traveling public and headquarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids Stages.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,
R. A. Campbell, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - Mich
The most central location. Good Sample Room. Telephone connection. Only [illegible] to Steamboat Landing.

NEWMAN HOUSE,
W. C. Newman, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - - Mich.
Fitted up with a view to the comfort of the Traveling Public. Good Stabling furnished. Central Location.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,
L. N. Pearl, Prop.
East Jordan, - - Mich.
Come and see us. Telephone connection.

BANK.

Bank of Charlevoix.

Drafts on New York, Chicago, Detroit and Grand Rapids. Bank Remittances or Postoffice Order to any person in Europe. Loans and Discounts on first mortgages on Real Estate. Railroad and Steamship Tickets to and from any place in Europe.

BROWN & CO.

PILE DRIVER.

ALLEN'S Steam Pile Driver. Contracts taken and Dock work solicited at any point between Traverse City and Mackinaw. L. E. Allen, Charlevoix, Mich.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

B. SCOFIELD, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Domestic Cases, etc. Charlevoix, Mich.

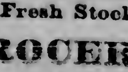
BARBER.

JAY PRICE Barber, east side of Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. E. and J. S. [illegible] Surveyors and Engineers, Charlevoix, Mich. [Deputy County Surveyors Charlevoix county.]

DENTIST.



N. J. PERRY, Dentist
Office in Weed's Drug Store,
Charlevoix, Mich.

Fresh Stock of
GROCERIES
AT THE
NEW GROCERY,
Corner of Antrim and Grant Streets.

It is my aim to keep a full line of choice Groceries at lowest prices.

Your trade is solicited.

Butter and Eggs wanted.

A. J. MUDGE.

MILLINERY
—AND—
FANCY GOODS!

Mrs. ELLA SMITH &
Miss ANNIE COOPER

Have opened a store in the Ingleside Building, and invite their friends to call and inspect their fine stock of

FANCY GOODS!

Of all varieties usually kept in a first-class millinery store.

FRANK E. WOOD'S
Bath & Barber
ROOMS.

Hot and cold Baths at any hour of the day or evening Oddfellows' building.

He Wanted a Canal Dug.

A few days ago an old chap from northern Michigan paid a visit to Boston for the purpose of organizing a company to dig a ship canal from the head of Saginaw Bay to Portwater, straight across the State of Michigan. He came over to New York in deep disgust, and when asked how his project got along, he replied: "I'm going home. You eastern folks are no good any more. That ere canal could be dug for $97,000,000. I'd agree to act as president of the company for $5,000 a year. We could raise $15,000 worth of celery along the banks every season. I've got two sons who'd act as bosses for $3,000 apiece a year. We could cut $50,000 worth of ice every winter, and we could raise $75,000 worth of geese and ducks every summer. But nobody'll take hold. Don't seem to be any backbone down this way."—Wall Street News.

"I am very tired," said the lady at the head of the boarding house table Monday morning to the good-natured minister who sat at the other end. "You should not be," said the parson, "you didn't preach a sermon yesterday." "No," said the lady, almost unconsciously, "but I listened to one." Then followed an oppressive silence, which gave the minister time to reflect that he had come out only second best —Philadelphia Bulletin.

"Yes, I used to be a confirmed beer-drinker, but thanks to the efforts of kind friends, I was able to throw off the awful habit," said the speaker at a Kentucky temperance meeting. "Don't you kind o' hanker after it now?" asked a dyspeptic in the crowd. "No, sir, not a cent's worth." "How did you stop?" "Just took a little whisky now and then, until the taste for beer was wholly eradicated. It was a glorious triumph, gentlemen." —Tid-Bits.

He was standing at the Union Club, corner of Fifth avenue, toying with the five hairs which constituted his right whisker, when a passing cabman hailed him with—

"Hansom, sir?"

"Eh! what?" he demanded, starting.

"Hansom, sir, hansom," repeated the Jarvey.

"Well, what of it?" he said, angrily. "Cawn't a fellah show himself in this blawsted town without having his aw-appearance commented on?"

And he tripped over to Glenham to drown his indignation in a tankard of bitter.—To-Day.

Lou is a wee lassie of 4 summers, with a quaint use of English. The intermittent tooting of a locomotive caused her to clap her chubby hands to her ears with a funny little frown expressive of disgust.

"What's the matter, Lou?" her mother asked.

"O, I'm fastening out that crooked noise."

The other day she was asked whether she would rather go boat-riding to the island or spend the afternoon with grandmamma.

"I want to go both wheres," was the prompt reply.—Harper's Bazar.

A wild specimen of the native Virginian entered Staunton the other day and asked credit for some tobacco and sugar at a grocery, promising to pay in six weeks.

"On what do you base your expectations of being able to pay in that time?" asked the grocer.

"On coon skins," was the prompt reply.

"But you may not catch any coons."

"O, as to that, I've got seventeen of 'em already plugged up in a holler tree, and am only waiting for the fur to git prime."

He got the goods.—Wall Street News.

A noted liar once told a friend that he had at home three precious things—a bullock which could run one thousand li a day; a fowl which crowed at the beginning of each watch, day and night, and a dog that could read books. The friend intimated that he would lose no time in seeing, with his own eyes, these marvels. The man did not expect this, as his house was somewhat distant; so he went home and told his wife that he was caught at last, and that to-morrow the man would arrive and he would be disgraced. "Never mind," said his spouse, "leave that to me. It will be all right only you must keep out of sight." Next morning the visitor arrived, and, being met by the mistress, asked where her husband was. "He has gone to Pekin," she replied. "When will he be back?" "In eight or nine days." "Why, how can he be so quick?" "He has gone off on our fast bullock, and can do it easily." "I hear you have also a wonderful fowl," said the visitor, and, behold, as he was speaking, a small cock crew. "That's it," said the wife. "She crows at the beginning of each watch, and also when a visitor arrives." "I would also like to see your learned dog," he said. "Ah," said she, "I am sorry; but you see we are very poor; so he keeps a school in the city."

A doctor opened a drug store, but for a long time had no customers; at last one customer came. When supplying his wants, the vender observed that the drug was full of weevils. "What is this?" said the buyer. "Kiang tsan" (medicinal larvæ), replied the doctor. "Kiang tsan are always dead." "Yes," said the doctor, "but you see they could not remain dead after eating my medicine."

A doctor, as a punishment for causing his patient's death, had to pay ten burdens of wheat. While carrying the grain he was met by a man who asked him to come and treat a sick member of his family. "All right," said the doctor, "I will be there shortly; but in the meantime you may be getting your barn cleaned out."

A barber shaving a customer's head drew blood, and put one of his fingers on it. Again he made a cut, and put down another finger, and so on till he had no more fingers free. "Ah," said he, as he paused in his work "a barber's is a difficult trade; we ought to have a thousand fingers."

"If I were you and you were I," she sang vigorously at the piano, and, turning to him, said: "What would you do?" "Well, love," he answered, "judging from your disposition and the color of your hair, I'd say you would take a club and knock me off that piano stool if I didn't stop singing."—Merchant Traveler.

A young Harvard man who was traveling in England this summer was asked by a gentleman in Birmingham if Boston was not the "seat of the American Parliament." He replied promptly: "Yes, it was up to the beginning of the Christian era, when it was transferred to St. Paul, Minn., in honor of the apostle who converted the Minnesotans."—Boston Courier.

Two men riding on a railroad train. One of them buys a book, and after reading it awhile throws it down, turns to his chance companion and says:

Additional Local News.

—The Sears steam yacht is rapidly approaching completion.

Come to Charlevoix the 16th and hear Congressman Cutcheon.

The Republican county ticket nominated yesterday will be elected.

Hon. Hampton Rich, of Ionia, is the guest of his daughter, Mrs. J. L. Hurd.

—Miss S. Kane, of Baltimore, an aunt of Robert W. Kane, came on Thursday.

The G. A. R. reunion should be well attended. You will be well repaid if you go.

The frame of Amos Fox's new residence is rapidly assuming architectural proportions.

Mrs. C. F. VanAuken, who has been very ill with typhoid fever, is gradually recovering.

The rejected Amoskeag steam fire engine still lingers in Upright & Emrey's warehouse awaiting shipment.

Mr. H. C. Dolph, of the Pine Lake Iron Co., accompanied by his mother, returned to Chicago Thursday last.

—The County Teachers' Association were photographed by Bradbeer Friday, and the camera stood the strain well.

Richard Cooper, lame as he is, carries home a string of black bass from Nicholls' mill yard every blessed morning except Sunday.

—Lieut. Gov. Buttars went to Detroit Friday to attend the final meeting of the State Board of Equalization, of which he is chairman.

The Sunday school excursion on the Faxton and Grand Rapids Thursday to Harbor Point was a success all around. There were 250 on board.

The families of Judge Clover and Dr. Jules Valle, of St. Louis, returned home last Wednesday. They will be up again next season as usual, stopping at the Fountain City House.

—The Democratic papers are rejoicing greatly over the conversion of Rush J. Shanks. The whole fusion party of Michigan will rush their shanks up salt creek in November next.

L. D. Bartholomew has begun the erection of a large addition to his warehouse, adjoining Odd Fellows' block, and will increase his stock of agricultural implements and heavy hardware proportionately.

—An alarm of fire was rung Saturday afternoon, and the alarming intelligence given that the school building was on fire. Smoke filled the entire building, and for some time it seemed as if the basement was on fire. Investigation showed, however, that a fire had been built in the furnace and the damper turned, hence the smoke. The efficiency of the fire department was demonstrated. The steamer was at the water and had steam in six minutes.

Why should not the "old soldier" correspondent of the Charlevoix Journal sign his name to his political writings? Or else why don't he change the signature from "an old soldier" to "an old fool?" A disclosure of the correspondent's name would identify one of the most veritable idiots that ever aired himself in the Journal, and that is saying a good deal. A person who will make the deliberate statement that "the Republican party is responsible for nearly every death in Andersonville and Libby," is justified in withholding his name from the public. The loyalty of individual democrats who served in the war for the Union cannot be questioned; but we are of the opinion that the Journal's correspondent was a bounty-jumper or a sutler but whatever he was then, he is now a fool, and only fit to run a "sanitarium," or some other fraud on the public. Dr., you should keep well under cover.

Mr. Francis Robinson, of East Saginaw, was in town Friday, having come from his home to attend the funeral of his son, who was the victim of the Ironton tramway accident last week. On his way hither, he was three hours at Cadillac, waiting for train connections, and was the victim of one of the boldest robberies that was ever perpetrated in Northern Michigan. While waiting at the station, he entered into conversation with a stranger of pleasing address, to whom he disclosed the object of his trip north. The stranger, with professions of sympathy, informed him that he had worked with his son at Ironton, and knew him well, and that there was now in town a friend of his who had just returned from Ironton, and could give him full particulars of the accident. He readily accompanied the stranger, who led him by a back street to the outskirts of town, where another man overtook them, and, presenting a revolver at Robinson, told him to hold up his hands. He could do nothing but comply, and the two then relieved him of his watch, $15 in money and a return railroad ticket. When Mr. Robinson realized that he was penniless he also found himself alone. He secured funds by telegraph, and proceeded north.

An End to Bone Scraping.

Edward Shepherd, of Harrisburg, Ill., says: "Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. Have had a running sore on my leg for eight years, my doctors told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well." Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle, and Bucklen's Arnica Salve at 25c per box by Dr. G. W. Crouter and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

Good Results in Every Case.

D. A. Bradford, wholesale paper dealer of Chattanooga, Tenn., writes that he was seriously afflicted with a severe cold that settled on his lungs; had tried many remedies without benefit. Being induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, did so and was entirely cured by use of a few bottles. Since which time he has used it in his family for all Coughs and Colds with best results. This is the experience of thousands whose lives have been saved by this Wonderful Discovery. Trial Bottles free at Dr. G. W. Crouter's and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

For Sale!

Prof. BICE'S nicely located House and two beautiful lots on Clinton street near the Park in the village of Charlevoix, are now for sale. Enquire of G. M. BICE, Alpena, Mich., or L. H. GREEN, Charlevoix, Mich. May 4, 1886.

Teachers' Examination.

The examination of teachers in Charlevoix county for the ensuing school year, will occur as follows: At Charlevoix, Friday the 10th day of September, 1886, at East Jordan, Friday the [illegible] day of September 1886, at Boyne City, Friday, October 29th, 1886. At Boyne City, Friday March 25th 1887, and at East Jordan on Friday April 29th 1887. All examinations to commence at 9 o'clock a. m. and candidates [illegible] furnish stationery.

WILLIAM HARRIS,
Secretary.

RIFENBURG
MILLING CO.
Charlevoix, Mich.

Manufacturers of and Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

3 EXTRA GRADES
OF
FLOUR
Feed, Corn Meal, Graham
CASH FOR WHEAT.

We will do exchange work for farmers on short notice.

CHARLEVOIX
Savings Bank.

Organized under the General Banking Law of the State of Michigan.

Henry Bennett, Pres.; John Nicholls, Vice Pres.; F. A. Smith, Cashier

DIRECTORS.

Henry Bennett,	O. D. Wood.
John Nicholls,	A. Buttars
A. R. Upright,	A. Fox,
F. A. Smith.

CAPITAL,	$25,000
SURPLUS,	2,000

The liabilities of stockholders in all State banks as provided in Act 3174, Sec. 40 of the Revised Statutes of the State of Michigan, is double the amount of stock taken, making a guaranteed fund of $50,000 to depositors. Superior facilities for the transaction of every legitimate branch of Banking business extended to our customers on terms as favorable as are consistent with safety.

Drafts drawn direct on the leading commercial cities of the world in large or small amounts. Money to loan on approved paper. Exchange bought and sold. Certificates of deposit issued bearing interest. We respectfully solicit your patronage.

CORRESPONDENTS

NATIONAL PARK BANK	NEW YORK
COMMERCIAL NAT. BANK	CHICAGO
NAT. CITY BANK	GRAND RAPIDS
DETROIT NAT. BANK	DETROIT

New Announcement,

NEXT WEEK,

D. Sherwood & Co

JOHN HOGAN,
HOUSE PAINTER
& Interior Decorator.

RESIDENCE, first door West of Factory, Charlevoix.

NEW SHOP!

All kinds of
Blacksmithing,
at the
Shop in the Foundry Building.
Horseshoeing a specialty.
ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

M. SCOTT.

TIME CARDS OF STEAMERS.

Charlevoix and East Jordan. [illegible]

Charlevoix and Boyne City. [illegible] CLARA BELLE [illegible]

East Jordan and Charlevoix.
Str. NORTH STAR, Capt. F. [illegible]
Leave East Jordan at [illegible] and Charlevoix at [illegible] touching at way ports.

Harbor Springs, Charlevoix & E Jordan
Str. THOS FRIANT. Capt. R. Vanderburgh
[illegible]

NORTHERN MICHIGAN LINE.

PROP. CHAMPLAIN. Capt. [illegible]
[illegible]

PROP. LAWRENCE. Capt. [illegible]
[illegible]

Upright & Emrey, Agents Charlevoix.

HANNAH, LAY & CO'S BOATS.

CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS. Capt. [illegible]
Going North, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Leave Traverse City 7 a. m. Northport [illegible] Charlevoix [illegible] Petoskey [illegible] Harbor Springs [illegible] Cross Village [illegible] Mackinac Island [illegible].
Going South, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Leave St. Ignace [illegible] Mackinac Island [illegible] Cross Village [illegible] Harbor Springs [illegible] Petoskey [illegible] Charlevoix [illegible] Northport [illegible] arriving at Traverse City at [illegible].

T. S. FAXTON, Capt. A. G. Aldrich
Going North, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Leave Traverse City 7 a. m. Torch Lake [illegible] Norwood [illegible] Charlevoix 12 noon Petoskey [illegible] Harbor Springs [illegible] Cross Village [illegible] Mackinac Island 7:45 arriving at St Ignace [illegible].
Going South, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Leave St. Ignace [illegible] Mackinac Island 7 Cross Village [illegible] Harbor Springs [illegible] Petoskey [illegible] Charlevoix [illegible] Norwood [illegible] Torch Lake [illegible] arriving at Traverse City 7 [illegible] p. m.
The City of Traverse [illegible] Saturday evening at 7 arriving at Traverse City Monday [illegible] Leave Traverse City Wednesday evenings at 7 o'clock.

I. L. Hurd & Co., Agents Charlevoix.

Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad.

IN EFFECT SEPTEMBER 27, 1885.

(Trains run on Central Standard Time)

GOING SOUTH.

Stations.	Mail	Express	Freight.
Mackinaw City Lv	7 [illegible]	[illegible] p m	[illegible] a m
Petoskey	8 [illegible]	11 25	[illegible]
Boyne Falls	9 [illegible]	11 50	[illegible]
Mancelona	10 [illegible]	12 [illegible]	[illegible]
Walton Junc	11 24	2 16 a m	4 [illegible]
Cadillac	12 [illegible] p m	3 15	7 [illegible]
Reed City	1 [illegible]	7 [illegible]	8 [illegible] a m
Big Rapids	2 44	8 [illegible]	10 [illegible]
Howard City	3 [illegible]	9 [illegible]	12 [illegible]
P G R & M Cross	4 45	10 [illegible]	[illegible] p m
Grand Rapids	5 [illegible]	10 30	4 15
Kalamazoo	7 [illegible]	1 40 p m
Sturgis	9 [illegible]	3 [illegible]
Ft Wayne	11 30 a m	5 30	1 [illegible]
Richmond	[illegible]		1 50
Cincinnati Ar	7 25

GOING NORTH

Stations.	Mail		Freight.
Cincinnati, leave	[illegible] p m		8 [illegible] a m
Richmond	2 [illegible] a m	[illegible]	6 25
Fort Wayne	[illegible]	[illegible]	8 11
Sturgis	5 13	10 51	8 11
Grand Rapids, ar	9 [illegible]	4 10 p m	11 20
P G R & M cross	11 50	5 15	[illegible]
Howard City	12 [illegible]	6 [illegible]	9 17
Big Rapids	1 34 p m	7 12	11 15
Reed City	2 [illegible]	7 50	1 [illegible] p m
Cadillac	3 41	9 30	5 10
Walton Junc	4 [illegible]	10 30	9 30 a m
Mancelona	6 [illegible]	12 [illegible]	1 [illegible] p m
Boyne Falls	7 34	1 04 a m	3 [illegible]
Petoskey	8 10	1 46	4 25
Mackinaw City	9 [illegible]	3 15	7 30

C. L. LOCKWOOD, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

Washburn & Ackert.
FOUNDREYMEN,
MACHINISTS,
And Manufacturers of The
Charlevoix Plow.

BATH & BARBER
ROOMS.

Hot and Cold Baths and Sea Water Baths at the Barber Shop, 1st door north of Bridge St. House.

If you want a quiet place to get a shave, hair dress or bath call and see me.

JAY L. PRICE.

GELLICK & INGALLS
Dealers in
Choice Wines,
Fine Liquors
EXCELLENT CIGARS.

We call Special Attention to our
Old Kentucky Sour Mash
WHISKIES.

We also keep continually on draught
Milwaukee
Export and Lager Beer.

Bridge St., 1st door south of Sentinel.

For Finest
JOB WORK,
Patronize The
Sentinel.

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN

The most popular Weekly newspaper devoted to science, mechanics, engineering, discoveries, inventions and patents ever published. Every number illustrated with splendid engravings. This publication furnishes a most valuable encyclopedia of information which no person should be without. The popularity of the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN is such that its circulation nearly equals that of all other papers of its class combined. [illegible] MUNN & CO., Publishers, [illegible]

PATENTS. Munn & Co. have also had Thirty-Eight years' practice before the Patent Office and have prepared more than One Hundred Thousand applications for patents in the United States and foreign countries. Caveats, Trade-Marks, Copy-rights, Assignments, and all other papers for securing to inventors their rights in the United States, Canada, England, France, Germany and other foreign countries, prepared at short notice and on reasonable terms. Information as to obtaining patents cheerfully given without charge. Hand-books of information sent free. Patents obtained through Munn & Co. are noticed in the Scientific American free. The advantage of such notice is well understood by all persons who wish to dispose of their patents. Address MUNN & CO., Office SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, 361 Broadway, New York.

--THE--
Best Show!
---OF---
STOVES.
The ROUND OAK,
And SQUARE BASE
HEATING STOVES.
COMPLETE STOCK OF NEW HARDWARE.
JOB & TIN WORK. VERY BEST PUMPS.
L. D. Bartholomew & Co.

THE BEST
Drugs,
Confectionery,
Stationery,
BOOKS & PAPERS,
FISHING TACKLE, Etc,
Soda Water,
Mineral Water,
Cigars,
Are found at PERRY WEED'S.
The only News stand in town.

BURNS & SCROGGIE'S
LIVERY STABLE
CHARLEVOIX.

The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Drivers furnished if desired. [illegible]

Burns & Scroggie, Charlevoix.

C. R. Bellinger,
--THE--
JEWELER,
HAS JUST RECEIVED A FULL LINE OF JEWELRY,
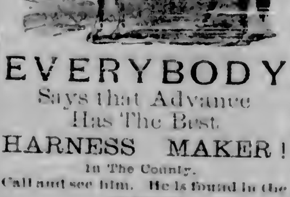
Clocks, Watches
Etc., Etc.

HELLO



EVERYBODY
Says that Advance
Has The Best
HARNESS MAKER!
In The County.
Call and see him. He is found in the person of
F. J. CUTTER.

J. T. Kirkpatrick,
ARCHITECT
AND CONTRACTOR,
—ON—
Chalevoix Summer Resorts.

I have the Plans of the Cottages of [illegible] to [illegible] that can be seen by parties wishing to build cottages.

I employ none but first-class workmen, both
Carpenters and Painters.

Work intrusted to me will have prompt attention

J. T. KIRKPATRICK.

Fox & Miller
Offer a
Mammoth Stock
OF
BOOTS, SHOES
and other
FOOT WEAR,
--AT--
LOWER PRICES
Than can be found elsewhere in the County.

We have just secured a
FIRST-CLASS
SHOEMAKER,
And will make Repairing a specialty.

We have the Goods and we are bound to sell them.

NOTHING SHODDY.

Fox & Miller.

MONEY TO LOAN,
At current rates of interest, on
Approved Real Estate Security.
School Bonds bought and sold.
MILEY & CHAPIN,
Boyne City.

The Kalamazoo
"DAILY TELEGRAPH."
Contains the Associated Press Dispatches
Sent by Mail at 50c a month.

Take The Sentinel.

THE LOVE OF CHRIST.

From a Sermon by Rev. Alexander Maclaren, D. D.

An Intentional But Intelligible Paradox—By Love Knowledge Only Can We Know That Which Passeth Knowledge—An Exhaustless Love.

[Christian Commonwealth.]

"That ye . . . may be able to comprehend with all saints what is the breadth and length and depth and height; and to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge."—Eph. iii, 18-19.

We have, mainly two thoughts here, the one that only the loving heart in which Christ dwells can know the love of Christ; and the other that even that heart can not know the love of Christ. The paradox is intentional, but it is intelligible. Let me deal then, as well as I can, with these two great thoughts.

I. First of all, we have this, only the loving heart with Christ dwelling in it can know of Christ's love.

Now the Bible uses the word know to express two different things; one what we call a mere intellectual perception; or to put it into plainer words, mere head knowledge such as a man may have about any subject of study, and the other a deep and loving experience which is possession before it is knowledge, and knowledge because it is possession.

Now with regard to the former of these two, the knowledge which is merely the work of the understanding, mere head-work. Of course a man may know all about Christ and His love without one spark of love in his heart. And there are thousands of people that, as far as the mere intellectual understanding is concerned, know as much about Jesus Christ and His love as the saint that is close to the throne, and yet have not one trace of Christ in them. That is the kind of people that a widely diffused Christianity and a habit of hearing sermons produce. There are plenty here, in this chapel this morning, who, as far as their heads are concerned, know quite as much of Jesus Christ and His love as any of us do, and could talk about it and argue about it, and draw inferences from it, and have got the whole system of evangelical Christianity at their fingers' ends. Ay! it never gets any nearer them than that.

There is a knowledge with which love has nothing to do, and it is a knowledge [illegible]

Christ's love, and never behold it nor know anything about it.

And the last point that I would notice, in the first part of my subject, is the beginning of this path of knowledge which we have thus traced. There must be, says my text, an indwelling Christ, and so an experience, deep and stable, of His love. Then we shall know the love which we thus experience. But how comes that indwelling? That is the question for us. The knowledge of his love is blessedness, is peace, is love, is everything. That knowledge arises from our fellowship with and our possession of the love of God in Jesus Christ, come? That is the all-important question. What is the beginning of everything? "That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith." There is the gate through which you and I may come, and by which we must come if we are to come at all into the possession and perception of Christ's great love. Here is the path of knowledge. First of all there must be the knowledge which is the mere work of the understanding, bringing to us the facts of Christ's life and death for us. This we have to take with the hand of our simple understanding. And then you must turn these truths from mere notions into life. It is not enough to know the love that God has to us in that lower sense of the word "knowledge." Many of you know that who never got any blessing out of it all your days, and never will, unless you change. Besides the "knowing" there must be the "believing" of the love. You must translate the notion into a living fact in your experience. You must pass from the simple work of understanding the Gospel to the higher act of faith. You must not be contented with knowing; you must trust.

And if you have done that all the rest will follow, and the little narrow low doorway of humble self-distrusting faith, through which a man creeps on his knees, leaving outside all his sin and his burden, opens out into the temple palace: a large place in which Christ's love is imparted to us all.

Brethren, this doctrine of my text ought to be for every one of us a joy and a gospel. There is no royal road into the sweetness and the depth of Christ's love, for the wise or the prudent. The understanding is no more the organ for apprehending the love of Christ than is the ear the organ for perceiving light, or the heart the organ for learning mathematics. Blessed be God! the highest gifts are not bestowed upon the clever people, on the men of genius and the gifted ones; [illegible]

[illegible]

SOLDIERS' DEPARTMENT.

THE GRAND ARMY.

Aims and Objects of This Great Non-Political Organization of Union Veterans.

[illegible]

AT CEDAR MOUNTAIN.

A Veteran's Description of What He Considers the Hottest Fight of the War.

[illegible]

READY RUSSIAN WIT.

[illegible]

Northern Michigan
Boiler Works.
Builder and Manufacturer of
Boilers, Heaters,
LARD TANKS, ETC.
OF ALL KINDS
SHEET IRON WORK
A SPECIALTY.
MARINE WORK
Given Special Attention
HENRY BARTH, Proprietor,
Charlevoix, Mich.

THE CHARLEVOIX
Manufacturing Co.,
Manufacturers of
DOORS, SASH, ETC.
Solicit Orders
For All Kinds of Manufactured
LUMBER, CASINGS,
Mouldings, Etc.
ADDRESS
CHARLEVOIX MANUF'NG CO.,
Charlevoix, Mich.

DeLAND & CO'S
CAP SHEAF
SALERATUS
SODA
Best in the World.
BY ALL MEANS PURCHASE DeLAND'S

PLUG TOBACCO
PREMIUM GOODS.
S. W. VENABLE & CO.,
PETERSBURG, VA.

TUTT'S PILLS
25 YEARS IN USE.
The Greatest Medical Triumph of the Age!
SYMPTOMS OF A TORPID LIVER.
[illegible]
CONSTIPATION.
TUTT'S HAIR DYE.

HOLY BIBLE REVISED VERSION

THE COMBINED
STEAM FURNITURE
—AND—
Agate Works,
CHARLEVOIX, - - - MICH
The undersigned announces that he is prepared to take orders for
REPAIRING OR BUILDING
Furniture of all Kinds
ON SHORT NOTICE.
MY LAPIDARY
Is in first-class shape for working or polishing all choice stones.
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
CORNELIUS BUDD.
All Goods not called for within ninety days will be sold for charges.
Charlevoix, Nov. 23, 1885.

1760 Lorillard's 1885
Rose Leaf, Fine Cut, Navy Clippings and Snuffs
ARE THE BEST
CLIMAX PLUG
RED TIN TAG
TRY THEM.

ST. LOUIS LEAD & OIL CO. STRICTLY PURE RED SEAL BRAND WHITE LEAD ST. LOUIS, MO.
SOUTHERN COMPANY PURE WHITE LEAD & OIL ST. LOUIS.
COLLIER COMPANY PURE WHITE LEAD ST. LOUIS.
ST. LOUIS manufactures the largest quantity of White Lead of any city in the WORLD, but its genuine brands, "St. Louis L. & O. Co. Red Seal," "Southern Company," "Collier Company," are always perfectly pure, and known and used everywhere. [illegible]

HARTER'S IRON TONIC
THE ONLY TRUE
[illegible]
LADIES

HUMPHREYS'
HOMEOPATHIC
SPECIFICS.

The Old Doctor
DR. WARD & CO. Louisiana, Mo.

MILWAUKEE, LAKE SHORE & WESTERN RAILWAY.
The Only Line Running
TWO DAILY TRAINS
—BETWEEN—
Wausau and Milwaukee and Chicago
The Only Line Running Sleeping Cars between Wausau and Milwaukee and Chicago.
THE AIR LINE TO OSHKOSH.
TIME TABLE.
GOING SOUTH.
Wausau, Lve . . . [illegible]
Clintonville, Arr . . . [illegible]
Dearne, [illegible]
New London, [illegible]
Appleton, [illegible]
Oshkosh, [illegible]
Fond du Lac, [illegible]
Milwaukee, [illegible]
Chicago, [illegible]
GOING NORTH.
Wausau, [illegible]
Rhinelander, [illegible]
Bessemer, [illegible]
Hurley, [illegible]
Ashland, [illegible]
Superior City, [illegible]
Duluth, [illegible]
Full information regarding rates of fare, time of trains etc., can be obtained on application to Station Agent, Wausau.
[illegible]
H. F. WHITCOMB, General Manager.
CHAS. V. McKINLAY, Gen. Pass. Agent.

JOB WORK,
—SUCH AS—
Cards, Bill-Heads, Circulars, Posters, &c.
Executed to Order With Neatness and Dispatch.
AT THIS OFFICE.

MRS. M. LITNEY
FANCY MILLINER
And Dealer in
Ladies' Furnishing Goods,
EMBROIDERING SILK
And Felts for Fancy Work, Laces, Velvets,
Etc. Etc.
CHARLEVOIX.

FARMING LAND!
600,000 ACRES
Of Splendid
Michigan Lands
FOR SALE BY THE
G. R. & I. R. R. COMPANY.
50,000 Acres in Charlevoix County.
WATER AND RAIL.
[illegible]
Not a Wilderness, by any Means.
[illegible]
Over 200,000 acres of the lands of this grant have already been sold.
[illegible]
W. B. HUGHART, Commissioner, Grand Rapids, Mich.

WM. J. STEVENSON,
VETERINARY HORSE-SHOER.
[illegible]

FRANK E. WOOD'S
BATH AND BARBER ROOMS.

BLANKETS AND LAP ROBES!
A Fine Stock Cheap.
JOHN LITZAU.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
SMITH & FIRMILLEE, Editors and Proprietors.
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

WHAT GIRLS ARE WANTED.

Girls of brain, and girls of heart,
Who are ready to do their part;
Willing to lend a hand on the way,
These are the girls that are wanted to-day.

Girls of strength and girls of will,
Ready any place to fill;
Willing to work with all their power,
These are the girls that are wanted this hour.

Not the weak willed listless band,
Who sit and dream with idle hand;
But those ready with honest zeal,
To put their shoulders to the wheel.

Not the careless, selfish crowd,
Shallow-hearted, cold and proud;
But the honest, brave and true,
Doing greedily what they do.

Wanted, girls of mind and might,
Wanted, girls of truth and right,
Wanted, girls to help the rest,
Wanted, girls, the highest, best.

—E. S. Brown, in Union Signal.

ALMOST A BURGLAR.

How Mrs. Valletort Saved Her Husband from Crime.

People were always asking each other how the Valletorts kept their heads above water. They were known to be in a state of chronic impecuniosity, and yet, somehow or other, they contrived to show a bold front to the world. Their pretty riverside villa at Twickenham was furnished luxuriously. Captain Valletort, who had retired from the service some years before, drove a dashing mail phaeton and pair; and Mrs. Valletort was one of the best-dressed women in London. How it was done no one knew. Captain Valletort dabbled on the Stock Exchange, and was one of the best ecarte players going, but neither of these sources of income was likely to afford him the means of gratifying his very expensive tastes. Mrs. Valletort had no private fortune; but she, too, spent a good deal of money, although she [illegible] have often heard my mother speak of them."

For a moment the Captain's face fell, but he soon remembered that a fine collection of diamonds represents a very handsome sum of money. His wife's legacy was not, then, to be despised.

"What do you think they are worth?" he asked, suddenly.

"Oh! I don't know; thousands and thousands of pounds, I should imagine," replied his wife vaguely. "Ned, just think how well I shall look in them. I have so few jewels, and ——"

"My dear girl, you don't mean to say that you intend to—to keep them?" he gasped, as the dreadful possibility dawned on his mind that Lilla might elect not to turn her costly legacy into hard cash.

"Of course I mean to keep them," she retorted, coolly. "O, Ned, you don't want me to—to sell them, do you?" she added piteously, as the Captain's brows drew together ominously, and an unpleasant light came into his eyes.

"You will do as you like, of course," he replied, irritably. "They will be yours and not mine. But how any woman can care to deck herself out with diamonds worth several thousand pounds when she knows what it is to want money passes my comprehension."

Mrs. Valletort was usually the most docile of wives, but she resented her husband's angry words and was fully determined to hold her own in this matter. The Captain saw it would be useless to argue with her, so he turned away with a half contemptuous shrug of the shoulders and a muttered anathema on the folly of women in general and of his spouse in particular. It was really too bad of Lilla: a few thousand pounds would have set him on his financial feet again. In due course, after the numerous delays inevitable in all legal matters, Mrs. Valletort came into possession of her legacy. By her husband's advice she had a safe constructed for the diamonds in her dressing-room, and the dingy leather cases containing the jewels were at once consigned to this repository.

On the first available opportunity Mrs. Valletort (who had been burning to display her treasures before the eyes of her friends) donned her diamonds and appeared [illegible]

[illegible]

ALONE ONCE MORE.

The Lonely Home on the Farm Where Resolution Has Gone. [illegible]

The old people had talked it over for a long time. [illegible]

[illegible]

TO AVOID DROWNING.

[illegible]

Nine Spanish Kings and Queens.

[illegible]

INVALIDS' HOTEL AND SURGICAL INSTITUTE
No. 663 Main Street, BUFFALO, N. Y.
Not a Hospital, but a pleasant Remedial Home, organized with A FULL STAFF OF EIGHTEEN PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS,
And exclusively devoted to the treatment of all Chronic Diseases.
[illegible]
A FAIR AND BUSINESS-LIKE OFFER TO INVALIDS.
[illegible] ... all expenses of your trip. [illegible]
NOT ALWAYS NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.
By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases just as successfully without as with a personal consultation. [illegible]
SIGNS OF DISEASE.
MARVELOUS SUCCESS.
[illegible] "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser." By R. V. Pierce, M. D. [illegible]
COMMON SENSE AS APPLIED TO MEDICINE.
[illegible]
OUR FIELD OF SUCCESS.
NASAL, THROAT AND LUNG DISEASES.
DISEASES OF WOMEN.
DISEASES OF DIGESTION.
RADICAL CURE OF RUPTURE.
KIDNEY DISEASES.
DELICATE DISEASES.
CAUTION.
WE OFFER NO APOLOGY.
WONDERFUL SUCCESSES.
CURED AT HOME.
BLADDER DISEASES.
SURGICAL PRACTICE.
STRICTURE.
NERVOUS DISEASES.
ALL CHRONIC DISEASES A SPECIALTY.
WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, 663 Main Street, BUFFALO, N. Y.

Think of This
[illegible]
Hood's Sarsaparilla
100 Doses One Dollar

DR. JOHN BULL'S
Smith's Tonic Syrup
FOR THE CURE OF
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER,
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.
[illegible]
DR. JOHN BULL'S
SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP,
BULL'S SARSAPARILLA,
BULL'S WORM DESTROYER,
The Popular Remedies of the Day.

ELY'S CREAM BALM
CATARRH
HAY-FEVER

COCKLE'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS.
THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY

FRAZER AXLE GREASE.

30,000 CARPENTERS

LEGAL ADVICE

HARTSHORN'S Shade Rollers

RUPTURE

OPIUM HABIT

WANTED A WOMAN

$65 A MONTH

OPIUM

$5 A DAY

CANCER

EDUCATIONAL.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

CHARLEVOIX, SEPT. 15, 1886.

THE CIRCUS BEGINS!

NEXT WEEK I AM GOING TO RECEIVE A

LARGE INVOICE OF

CLOTHING!

Bought from one of the leading houses of Rochester, N. Y., Which I will sell at Prices that will draw Trade from all over the County.

I think the best advertisement a merchant can have is to have his goods advertise him in good fits and prices that cannot be beat.

GEO. W. MILLER.

The Earthquake Did It!

OUR NEW YORK BUYER TOOK ADVANTAGE OF THE GREAT EXCITEMENT JUST IN TIME TO BUY US A MAMMOTH STOCK OF FALL AND WINTER

CLOAKS.

And writes us that he never before secured such Bargains for us or so desirable styles.

LADIES, wait for our stock which will be here in a few days and we will convince you what an earthquake will do for us.

Everything you need is coming in DRY GOODS, NOTIONS and all the leading Fancies.

F. W. CRAINE & CO.

BARGAINS IN DRY GOODS!

Our Fall stock is arriving, and we still have a quantity of goods that we have not room for, and will not carry over. Your attention is invited to the following

Special - Offerings:

FRIDAY, Sep. 17.

SATURDAY, Sep. 18.

MONDAY, Sep. 20.

TUESDAY, Sep. 21.

WEDNESDAY, Sep. 22.

PLANTATION JAVA COFFEE, BEST IN THE WORLD.

H. O. Roses' Petoskey Lime always on hand.

J. L. HURD & CO.

CLOAKS! CLOAKS!

CLOAKS, CLOAKS!

CLOAKS!

--AT--

Rosenthal & Son's

Having just received the largest and best assortment of Cloaks ever shown in Northern Michigan, we now await your inspection

And we are confident that we can Suit Everybody

IN A STYLISH SHORT WRAP, OR A HANDSOME NEW-MARKET OR A COSY STREET JACKET.

These goods having been purchased at a very low figure, we can sell them at

MOST ASTONISHING LOW PRICES.

Call and examine before going elsewhere,

Respectfully,

ROSENTHAL & SON.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL. XVIII. NO.—21 CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1886. WHOLE NO. 878

School Books!

SCHOOL BOOKS! SCHOOL BOOKS!

----HEADQUARTERS----

For Everything needed in the School Room, at

HINES & CO.'S DRUG AND STATIONERY STORE.

You will find it to your interest to look over our stock before purchasing elsewhere.

Respectfully,

F. G. HINES & CO.

UPRIGHT & EMREY,

Dealers in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Etc.

CHOICE TEAS,

Best — STANDARD JAVA — Coffees

Boots & Shoes!

IN ALL GRADES OF MEN'S, WOMEN'S and CHILDREN'S.

We have given more than our usual care and attention to the selection of our stock, and we Know we can please our patrons in all

KINDS OF FOOTWEAR.

UPRIGHT & EMREY.

THE FINEST STOCK OF

FURNITURE

ever offered in Charlevoix,

IS NOW AWAITING YOUR INSPECTION AT

Henry C. Cooper's.

A Choice Line of

FRESH GROCERIES,

OF EVERY VARIETY,

Including Confectionery, Fruits, Canned Goods, and Tobaccos and Cigars in stock

For your inspection in OPERA BLOCK by

R. J. COOPER.

Now For A Rush of Business!

ENTERPRISE,

Liberality, Square Dealing

—AND—

HONEST GOODS,

—AT—

HONEST PRICES,

AT STOCKMAN & IDDINGS',

—THE—

Cash Hardware Store.

HARDWARE, IRON AND NAILS.

A Full Line of STEEL WIRE Nails.

PLOWS, HARROWS & FARMING IMPLEMENTS.

STOVES.

If you want a first-class Stove of any description now is the time to buy. If you want anything in our line we invite your patronage.

YOURS TRULY,

STOCKMAN & IDDINGS.

Sep. 15, 1886

The Best Groceries

At The Lowest Prices

ARE FOUND AT THE GROCERY AND PROVISION HOUSE OF

A. E. MASON.

I do a strictly Cash-over-counter business and will guarantee lowest prices.

J. MILO EATON'S

REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE,

AND LOAN OFFICE.

The oldest in the county. Established in 1875.

Money to loan in sums to suit and at lowest rates on improved farms.

A. J. McLEOD,

FRESH MEATS, SALT PORK, SMOKED & SALTED HAMS,

Dried and Smoked BACON, DRIED BEEF, Bologna, Head Cheese, Sausage.

Highest Prices Paid FOR HIDES and PELTS.

A. J. McLEOD.

CHARLEVOIX Manufacturing Co.

Charlevoix, Mich.,

Sash and Doors, Blinds, Mouldings etc.

NEWELL Posts, Banisters & Stair Rails

Window & Door Frames

Building Material

PLANS & SPECIFICATIONS,

Correspondence solicited.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.

SMITH & PARMELEE,

Local News.

THE SOLDIERS' REUNION.

EAST JORDAN.

THE CROW-CROW TICKET.

The County Fair.

SOLDIERS' DEPARTMENT.

CONFEDERATE TREASURE.

[illegible]

informed me that there was between $500,000 and $600,000 in specie. He did not know the exact amount—the greater part gold. I must, he said, personally superintend its transfer from the cars to the wagons. This was not a very agreeable duty. I represented that if no one knew just what sum of money was there it was rather an unpleasant responsibility to impose on the party who was to take charge of it. I would have no opportunity to count it, nor possible means of ascertaining whether the entire amount was turned over to me. He responded that all that had been considered, and bade me proceed to obey the order. I detailed fifty picked men as guard and put them under command of Colonel Theophilus Steele and four of my best subalterns. I obtained six wagons, and, proceeding to the station, began at once the task of removing the treasure.

It was in charge of some of the former Treasury clerks and was packed in money belts, shot bags, a few small iron chests, and all sorts of boxes, some of them of the frailest description. In this shape I found it loaded in open box cars. I stationed sentries at the doors, and, rummaging through the cars by the faint light of a few tallow candles, gathered up all that was shown me, or all that I could find. Rather more than an hour was consumed in making the transfer from the cars to the wagons, and after the latter had been started off and had gotten half a mile away, Lieutenant John B. Cole, one of the officers of the guard, rode up to me with a pine box, which may have held $2,000 or $3,000 in gold, on the pommel of his saddle. He had remained after the others had left, and, ferreting about in a car which we thought we had thoroughly searched, had discovered this box stuck in a corner and closely covered up with a piece of sacking. On the next day General Breckinridge directed me to increase the guard to two hundred men and take charge of it in person. I suggested that instead of composing it entirely of men from my brigade it should be constituted of details from all five. I thought this the best plan to allay any little feeling of jealousy that might arise, and insure a more perfect vigilance, as I felt persuaded that these details would all carefully watch each other. My suggestion was adopted. Nearly the entire guard was kept constantly on duty, day and night, and a majority of the whole escort was generally about the wagons at every halt, closely inspecting the guard.

At the Savannah river Mr. Davis ordered that the silver coin, amounting to $108,000 or $110,000, be paid to the troops in partial discharge of the arrears of the pay due them. The Quartermasters of the several brigades were engaged during the entire night in counting out the money, and a throng of soldiers surrounded the little cabin where they were dividing "the piles" into their respective quotas until early dawn. The sight of so much money seemed to banish sleep. My brigade received $32 per capita, officers and men sharing alike. General Breckinridge was paid that sum, and, for the purpose, was borne on the roll of the brigade. On the next day at Washington I turned over the residue of the treasure to Mr. M. H. Clarke, Acting Treasurer of the Confederate States, and experienced a feeling of great relief.—Southern Bivouac.

LUCIUS FAIRCHILD.

Sketch of the Life of the Newly-Elected Commander-in-Chief of the G. A. R.

Ex-Governor Fairchild was born in the town of Kent, Portage County, O., December 27, 1831. At the age of seventeen years he removed into the State of Wisconsin, making his residence at Madison, where he remained two years. He then joined the procession of people struck with the gold fever, who were slowly urging their way to California. Arriving in that land of promise he began the life of a prospector, which he continued with little or no success for six years.

In 1855 he returned to Madison, and about the same time began to read law. He was admitted to the bar, and in 1859 elected clerk of the court of Dane County. Mr. Fairchild has never engaged in the steady practice of the law for any considerable length of time.

At the outbreak of the war he organized a company of three months' men and joined the First Regiment of Wisconsin Volunteers. In August, 1861, he was made a Captain in the Sixteenth Regulars. He was soon promoted to be Lieutenant-Colonel of the Second Wisconsin regiment, and when Colonel O'Connor had been killed at Gainesville, August 28, 1862, was given the command of the regiment. As Colonel he was engaged at Gettysburg, where he lost an arm. Notwithstanding this he continued in the service, and was commissioned Brigadier-General. As such he commanded the "Iron Brigade" for a short time, until the end of 1863.

In the State election of that year, General Fairchild was made Secretary of State. He resigned his command in time to get home and enter the office to which he had been elected, and the functions of which he assumed on January 1, 1864. In 1865 he was elected Governor of Wisconsin, and was twice re-elected. He is the only man who has served as Governor of that State more than twice. In 1872 Ex-Governor Fairchild was appointed Consul in Liverpool by President Grant. After having held that position six years he was transferred by President Hayes to Paris, where he was Consul-General, Ex-Governor Packard, of Louisiana, succeeding him as Consul at Liverpool. He remained in Paris about eighteen months, when he was appointed Minister to Spain. Having lived in Madrid two years, he resigned his position, to which Hannibal Hamlin, of Maine, was appointed.

In the year 1882 Mr. Fairchild was elected President of the International Exposition of Railway Appliances. He spent a year or more in furthering the project indicated, which was successfully carried out in Chicago in 1883.

General Fairchild is Commander of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of Wisconsin, and was recently elected Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic by the National Encampment at San Francisco.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

THRILLING MOMENTS.

[illegible] Discussed Flank Attack at Chancellorsville.

Somebody's guns thundered away for a few short minutes, and then came the fatal rattle of musketry; and before I could again [illegible] the saddle there arose the crackling roar of the terrible [illegible].

[illegible] of staff, Colonel [illegible], was the first officer to [illegible] in front of [illegible] is in order on [illegible]. He instantly [illegible] away. I mounted and set off for a prominent place in rear of Schurz's line, so as to change front to the northwest of every brigade southeast of the point of attack, if the attack extended beyond Devens' right flank; for it was divined at once that the enemy was now west of him. I could see numbers of our men—not the few stragglers that always fly like the chaff at the first breeze, but scores of them—rushing into the opening, some with arms and some without, running or falling before they got behind the cover of Devens' reserves, and before General Schurz's waiting masses could deploy or charge. The noise and the smoke filled the air with excitement, and to add to it Dieckmann's guns and caissons, with battery men scattered, rolled and tumbled like runaway wagons and carts in a thronged city. The guns and the masses of the right brigade struck the second line of Devens before McLean's front had given way, and, quicker than it could be told, with all the fury of the wildest hail-storm, every thing, every sort of organization that lay in the path of the mad current of panic-stricken men, had to give way and be broken into fragments.

My own horse seemed to catch the fury; he sprang, he rose high on his hind legs and fell over, throwing me to the ground. My aide-de-camp, Dessaur, was struck by a shot and killed, and for a few moments I was as helpless as any of the men who were speeding without arms to the rear. But faithful orderlies helped me to remount.

I rode quickly to the reserve batteries. A staff-officer of General Hooker, Lieutenant-Colonel Dickinson, joined me there; my own staff gathered around me. I was eager to fill the trenches which Barlow would have held. Buschbeck's second line was ordered to change front there. His men kept their ranks, but at first they appeared slow. "Will they never get there!"

Dickinson said: "Oh, General, see those men coming from that hill way off to the right, and there's the enemy after them. Fire, oh, fire at them; you may stop the flight!"

"No, Colonel," I said, "I will never fire on my own men!"—Gen. O. O. Howard, in Century.

BOXES OF TREASURE.

Most of It Taken from Confederate. Butler's and Twiggs' Swords.

Some time ago Acting Secretary Fairchild instructed the chief of the division of abandon property, to carry into effect the provisions of the act authorizing the delivery to the rightful owners of certain jewelry, etc., captured by the army during the civil war. The articles on deposit consist of silverware, jewelry, portraits, watches, etc. One of the two boxes contained nearly five hundred watches, gold, silver and brass, and a number of jack knives, pocket-books, letters, etc. These were mainly taken from prisoners of war who died in hospitals around Washington, Cape Lookout and Elmira, and were deposited in the Treasury by General Sherman. Some of them belonged to Union soldiers who died during the war. The other box contained a lot of articles captured by General Sherman's troops in Camden, S. C., early in 1865. They consisted of family plate, jewelry, etc., which had been deposited in a bank at Camden by Mr. McRae and other wealthy residents of that section. These two boxes contain all such property now in the treasury, except possibly the presentation swords belonging to General Twiggs and captured by General Butler in New Orleans. It is an unsettled question as yet whether these swords can be restored under the provision of this act.—Washington Critic.

Jackson at Chancellorsville.

When he advanced upon the artillery at Hazel Grove, Jackson had another opportunity to win, if his infantry had been properly handled. The fire of his infantry was so high it did no harm; they should have been ordered to fire so low as to disable the cannoneers at the guns. Had the infantry fire been as effective as that of the artillery, Jackson would have carried the position. The artillery fire was effective because I applied to it that principle of dynamics in which the angle of incidence is equal to the angle of reflection—that is to say, if the muzzle of a gun is three feet from the ground and it is discharged so that shot will strike the ground at a distance of one hundred yards, it will glance from the earth at the same angle at which it struck it, and in another one hundred yards will be three feet from the ground. I knew my first volley must be a crushing one, or Jackson, with his superior numbers, would charge across the short distance which separated us and capture the artillery before the guns could be reloaded.—General Pleasonton, in Century.

Overreaching a Quartermaster.

Jonas H——, of Washington, Ind., towards the close of the late war, was body servant to a Quartermaster and after the close, and when the Quartermaster had been mustered out, as Jonas tells the story, he requested Smith, as a last service before parting, to take a large box on a dray to the freight depot and ship it, asking Smith at the same time "if he could read and write."

Jonas answered that he could not, started off with the box, and on the way to the station removed the shipping tag which bore the name of the Quartermaster and that of the place the box was to be shipped and substituted his own name and address, and by that means obtained a box of new army blankets the Quartermaster intended to capture or steal from Uncle Sam.

Jonas, who is fairly educated, said in extenuation of this commercial transaction:

"Mr. Quartermaster 'captured' the blankets from the Government, and I captured them from him. Every thing is fair in war."—Detroit Free Press.

IDENTIFIED WITH IT.

President Cleveland Has Not Only Failed to Rid Himself of Garland But Is Honoring Pan-Electric Conspirators.

Our able Democratic contemporary, the Sun, continues to focus its rays on every new development of the Pan-Electric scandal, while the Mugwump journals deal tenderly or not at all with the news of to-day, so far as it reflects on this remarkable Administration. The latter were fierce in their condemnations of Republican Administrations for any action that had even the appearance of being in the interest of favorites or jobbers, but they say as little as they can in regard to the admitted facts in relation to the copartnership between Mr. Cleveland's Attorney-General and a gang of speculative conspirators whose main hope of success was based on a large distribution of free stock among Democratic officials of high rank. They tried at first to induce Mr. Cleveland to save the credit of his Administration by throwing Mr. Garland overboard, but the Attorney-General "sticks" with as much of shamelessness as Stanton showed of pluck when he remained in Andrew Johnson's Cabinet against the wishes of his superior.

They knew that the continued retention of Mr. Garland, after the exposures of the "Pan-Electric" speculators, would transfer to the President the responsibility for a scandalous alliance of the judicial department of the executive branch of the Government with the bringers of speculative lawsuits conducted by the Government. They went as far as their subserviency to their adulated President would permit them to go in hints, suggestions, entreaties and even warnings, to this effect.

But Mr. Cleveland continues as pachydermatous as ever. He holds on to Mr. Garland, after the latter has been ostracised by all the best Democratic leaders and has become hateful to them as a disgrace to their party. Not only—as the Democratic Sun points out—does he keep Mr. Garland, but he rewards with high honors the disgraced Attorney-General's Pan-Electric allies, co-conspirators and co-speculators, by making one of them, Upshaw, Assistant Commissioner of Indian Affairs, while he allows Mr. Garland to retain as special counsel of the United States in the telephone cases ex-Solicitor-General Goode, who needed no specific instructions from Garland to carry out the plans of the Pan-Electric people by bringing the suits originally.

Could the President more effectually identify himself and his Administration with the greatest scandal that ever attached to any Administration in this country? Where, in our history, has there been a precedent for such a bold and continued defiance of all the proprieties, of enlightened public opinion and of the elementary principle of official decency? Are these things to be lightly dealt with by the organs of honest public sentiment, whatever may be their party? Is not the Sun, as a sagacious party journal which will survive many Administrations and which has first to satisfy the constituency it has attracted, right in dwelling on these deepening scandals? And in so doing does it not represent the views of the ablest and best Democrats in the country?—N. Y. Mail and Express.

A Sample Pension Case.

In referring to the solid South and the fact that no rebel soldier had been pensioned, I grant you that the man who wore the gray is of our common blood. I grant you that he was equally brave with our people, and the common soldier was as equally honest, but the principles for which he fought through the four long years of cruel war were wrong then, are wrong now, and in God, Almighty's chancery are eternally wrong. [Long, loud applause and cheers.] Failing in this general legislation the people throughout the length and breadth of the country, widows of deceased soldiers, and diseased soldiers of the late war, sent their petitions and prayers and the petitions and prayers of their fellow-citizens to Congress asking for relief. Thank God the right of petition under the lead of good old John Quincy Adams was established, and the humblest man throughout the length and breadth of the country has the right to be heard in the council of the Nation—the greatest legislative body upon the face of the earth. One hundred and two of these claims passed the committees of the two Houses, who carefully examined them. They were passed by the House and Senate and sent to the President for his signature. The 102 bills he returned without his signature. Let me tell you of one of them. A magnificent soldier who served as a private for twenty-five months of the war contracted heart-disease and after his return was placed upon the pension-roll, with a large family, wife and several children, unable to make a living. An unfeeling landlord gave him notice he must find another roof to cover him and shelter his family. He went out in search of shelter for those he loved. He was never heard of alive again. Six months afterwards in a byway a skeleton was found, and the proof showed that it was the skeleton of the soldier. The American House of Representatives and the Senate passed the bill without a division to place the widow on the pension roll at twelve dollars a month, and Grover Cleveland vetoed it. [Hisses.]—Congressman Joseph G. Cannon, of Illinois.

Rewarded for His Trickery.

Daniel Magone, the new Collector of the Port of New York, went to Chicago and worked for Cleveland's nomination. He then came home and accepted the nomination for district attorney of St. Lawrence County from the Prohibitionists—the idea, of course, being to encourage the Prohibition movement, with the intention of drawing away Republican votes from the Republican party, and thus indirectly secure to the Democratic party the benefit of such defection, while he himself voted for the Democratic ticket from Mr. Cleveland down. It was a petty and a contemptible trick, and Mr. Magone has been rewarded for it by one of the best offices in the President's gift. Can not honest Republican Prohibitionists see through the deception that is practiced upon them by the Prohibition leaders who are paid to do just what Magone did?—Troy Times.

The Democratic convention which lately met in Raleigh, N. C., after receiving with enthusiastic cheers a message from Jefferson Davis recalling the fact that North Carolina was the last of the seceding States to lay down her arms, proceeded to declare its unalterable hostility to the Civil-Service act.—Philadelphia Press.

WHEN THEY MAY VOTE.

The Bourbons Will Allow the Colored Race the Privilege of Casting a Ballot as Soon as They Have Become Democrats.

The views of the President respecting the appointment of Recorder Matthews to succeed Fred Douglass in the District of Columbia are significant, because they reveal something of what Mr. Cleveland thinks of the solid South. It is only a few weeks since a successor to General Eaton as Commissioner of Education was appointed from Alabama, which stands near the head of the illiteracy column in the United States, and which leads even the South. The new appointee is not an educator in any sense, has never been identified with educational interests, and has never been known to possess any particular aptness or attainments in that department of public intelligence. He is a lawyer, a politician and a man to whom educators generally can scarcely go in the interest of that great and all-important science.

The race question is discussed by Mr. Cleveland in his recent utterances. He holds opinions on education in the South which, in the light of this recent appointment of a Commissioner of Education, are certainly intended to attract attention. In speaking of the way the colored people of the country are "naturally dividing" themselves up among the political parties, Mr. Cleveland remarks: "Difference of opinion is not only the charm of the Republic, but it is also its safety, and I have no doubt that when education does its effective work the colored race of the South will partly wheel into line with the Republican party and partly in line with the Democratic party."

This must be a revelation to the country generally and to the Democracy particularly. President Cleveland acknowledges more than it was his purpose to confess. If its meaning is that the colored people of the South are to-day Republican, then how comes it that, first, the strong educational movement for the negro comes almost exclusively from the Republicans of this country; and, second, how comes it that the Republican party in North Carolina, and Georgia, and Alabama and all the other shot-gun States of the South are deprived now of the right to vote when they are overwhelmingly in the majority, and that the Republican blacks and whites alike have practically disbanded in many of these States as a party? The Democracy's work for education among the colored people of the South is deplorable. No doubt Mr. Cleveland is of opinion that, when the Republicans have educated a race kept in bondage and ignorance for generations by his party, he and his fellow patriots may then come in and make Democrats of them, and then give them a chance to vote.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

POLITICAL POINTS.

Cleveland and Hill are working in harmony, it is said. Certainly they are. Cleveland wants to be the next President and so does Hill. Their conformity of the object sought is perfect.—Baltimore American.

The Herald says the people will not stand by a party that fears to show its hands. Now there are times when that frankness of exhibition is not profitable. The Democratic party, for instance, is showing its hands and they are dirty enough to make a blot on the escutcheon.—Judge.

There is one party which does advocate the true interest of labor, in this and other matters, and therefore it has the support of a great majority of honest laborers, North and South. That is the Republican party, and there is no real need of another to serve the cause, in this city or anywhere else.—N. Y. Tribune.

Five brave Union soldiers on the Republican State ticket. Only one on the fusion ticket, and he wasn't nominated because he was a soldier. Democracy never had much use for Union soldiers anyway. The big end of Democracy—the great bulk of the Democratic party—prefer the other kind. They like the gray better than the blue. They turn out the blue to make room for the gray.—Detroit Tribune.

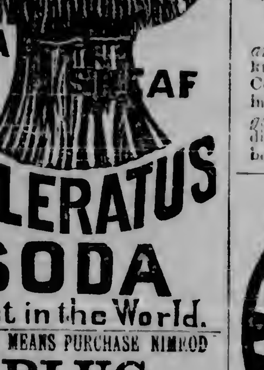
The Democrats of Missouri stand before the country in the doubtful attitude of electing one United States Senator on the strongest kind of an anti-temperance platform, and then turning squarely around and electing another who stands pledged to prohibition as a national issue. This course is, to say the least, confusing and goes back on all the time-honored traditions touching the immutability of the party on great issues.—St. Louis Chronicle.

A Civil Service Violator.

Pension-Commissioner Black will soon be back from the Pacific Coast. He will be back in time to prepare an answer to charges filed at the White House by ex-Civil-Service Commissioner Dorman B. Eaton. Mr. Eaton is at present in Brattleboro, Vt., but his friends in this city have been informed of his purpose when the President's vacation is over to come on to press the charges in person. The case he makes out against General Black for violation of the civil-service rules is said to have been made before the President informally when Mr. Eaton gave up his position as Civil-Service Commissioner. It then would have caused Mr. Cleveland some embarrassment, and the retiring Civil-Service Commissioner was so good a friend of the President that he didn't do it. Probably no more would have been heard of the matter had it not been for Bishop Oberly's three-column defense of the present commission from the responsibility for Black's rough-shod violation of the rules. Oberly claimed that the appointment by Black of seventy-two Democrats out of a total of seventy-six special pension examiners and other irregularities were all done under the commission of which Eaton was chairman. He commented rather sharply on the latter, and also went into an account of Commissioner Dudley's administration of the office. Some sharp personal correspondence is said to be passing between the two reformers and an open letter from Eaton is looked for soon. His friends in Washington, however, hint that he has brought the specific charges against Black which will compel an investigation by the President as the better way to bring out all the facts. So the charges have been filed and their author writes that they shall not be pigeon-holed. General Black has long been looked upon as a shining spoils-mark by the Civil-Service League of the East. They will all be greatly interested in seeing a fearless scrutiny of his doings. Herein lies the embarrassment of President Cleveland.—Washington Cor. Chicago Tribune.

Northern Michigan
Boiler Works.
Builder and Manufacturer of
Boilers, Heaters,
LARD TANKS, ETC.
OF ALL KINDS
SHEET IRON WORK
A SPECIALTY.
MARINE WORK
Given Special Attention
HENRY BARTH, Proprietor,
Charlevoix, Mich.

THE CHARLEVOIX
Manufacturing Co.,
Manufacturers of
DOORS, SASH, ETC.
Solicit Orders
For All Kinds of Manufactured
LUMBER, CASINGS,
Mouldings, Etc.
ADDRESS
CHARLEVOIX MANUF'NG CO.,
Charlevoix, Mich.

DeLAND & CO'S


CAP SHEAF
SALERATUS SODA
Best in the World.

BY ALL MEANS PURCHASE NIMROD
PLUG TOBACCO
PREMIUM GOODS.
Every box has a ticket in it entitling the holder to a share in the distribution of Fine Gold Watches and Chains, Quadruple Silver Plated Ware, Tea Pots, Coffee Pots, Knives, Forks and Spoons. Nimrod is the best chew and gives good satisfaction. It is packed in styles which preserve the Plant, Ripe, Cheesey Condition. It is the Choice of the Chewer and never sticks on the dealer's hands. For Sale by all Jobbers and Retailers.
S. W. VENABLE & CO., PETERSBURG, VA.

TUTT'S PILLS
25 YEARS IN USE.
The Greatest Medical Triumph of the Age!
SYMPTOMS OF A
TORPID LIVER.
Loss of appetite, Bowels costive, Pain in the head, with a dull sensation in the back part, Pain under the shoulder-blade, Fullness after eating, with a disinclination to exertion of body or mind, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, with a feeling of having neglected some duty, Weariness, Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, Headache over the right eye, Restlessness, with fitful dreams, Highly colored Urine, and CONSTIPATION.
TUTT'S PILLS are especially adapted to such cases, one dose effects such a change of feeling as to astonish the sufferer. They Increase the Appetite, and cause the body to Take on Flesh, thus the system is nourished, and by their Tonic Action on the Digestive Organs, Regular Stools are produced. Price 25c. 44 Murray St., N.Y.
TUTT'S HAIR DYE.
GRAY HAIR or WHISKERS changed to a GLOSSY BLACK by a single application of this DYE. It imparts a natural color, acts instantaneously. Sold by Druggists, or sent by express on receipt of $1.
Office, 44 Murray St., New York.

HOLY BIBLE REVISED VERSION
[illegible] The Henry Bill Pub. Co., Norwich, Conn.

THE COMBINED
STEAM FURNITURE
—AND—
Agate Works,
CHARLEVOIX, . . . MICH
The undersigned announces that he is prepared to take orders for
REPAIRING OR BUILDING
Furniture of all Kinds
ON SHORT NOTICE.
MY LAPIDARY
Is in first-class shape for working or polishing all choice stones.
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
CORNELIUS BUDD.
All Goods not called for within ninety days will be sold for charges.
Charlevoix, Nov. 20, 1885.

1760 Lorillard's 1885
Rose Leaf, Fine Cut, Navy Clippings and Snuffs
ARE THE BEST
CLIMAX PLUG
TRY THEM

ST. LOUIS LEAD & OIL CO. STRICTLY PURE RED SEAL BRAND WHITE LEAD ST. LOUIS, MO.
SOUTHERN COMPANY WARRANTED STRICTLY PURE WHITE LEAD IN PURE LINSEED OIL ST. LOUIS.
COLLIER COMPANY STRICTLY PURE WHITE LEAD IN PURE LINSEED OIL ST. LOUIS.
ST. LOUIS manufactures the largest quantity of White Lead of any city in the WORLD; and its genuine brands; "St. Louis L. & O. Co., Red Seal," "Southern Company," "Collier Company," are always perfectly pure, and known and used everywhere. Consumers of White Lead should insist upon having the above genuine brands. Dealers can buy direct from factory, or from jobbers in Chicago or elsewhere.

HARTER'S THE ONLY TRUE
IRON TONIC
FACTS REGARDING
Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic.
It will purify and enrich the BLOOD, regulate the LIVER and KIDNEYS, and RESTORE THE HEALTH and VIGOR of YOUTH! [illegible]
LADIES suffering from all complaints peculiar to their sex will find in DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC a safe and speedy cure. [illegible]
DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC IS FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS EVERYWHERE.

HUMPHREYS'
Manual of all Diseases, By F. HUMPHREYS, M. D. RICHLY BOUND IN CLOTH and GOLD Mailed Free.
[illegible]
HOMEOPATHIC
[illegible]
SPECIFICS.
Sold by Druggists, or sent postpaid on receipt of price.—HUMPHREYS' MEDICINE CO., [illegible]

The Old Doctor
[illegible]
A Life Experience. Remarkable and quick cures. Trial Packages. Send stamp for sealed particulars. Address
Dr. WARD & CO. Louisiana, Mo.

MILWAUKEE, LAKE SHORE and WESTERN RAILWAY.
The Only Line Running
TWO DAILY TRAINS
BETWEEN
Wausau and Milwaukee and Chicago
The Only Line Running Sleeping Cars between Wausau and Milwaukee and Chicago.
THE AIR LINE TO OSHKOSH.
TIME TABLE.
[illegible]
Full information regarding rates of fare, time of trains, etc., can be obtained on application to Station Agent, Wausau.
H. G. FLEITH, Agent, Wausau.
H. F. WHITCOMB, General Manager.
CHAS. V. McKINLAY, Gen. Pass. Agent.

JOB WORK,
—SUCH AS—
Cards, Bill-Heads, Circulars, Posters, &c.
Executed to Order With Neatness and Dispatch,
AT THIS OFFICE.

MRS. M. LITNEY
FANCY MILLINER
And Dealer in
Ladies' Furnishing Goods,
EMBROIDERING SILK
AND
Felts for Fancy Work, Laces, Velvets,
Etc., E'c.
CHARLEVOIX.

FARMING LAND!
500,000 ACRES
Of Splendid
Michigan Lands
FOR SALE BY THE
G. R. & I. R. R. COMPANY.
60,000 Acres in Charlevoix County.
These lands are timbered with beech and maple, elm and other woods, and are accessible to good markets by
WATER AND RAIL.
[illegible]
Not a Wilderness, by any Means.
[illegible]
Over 200,000 acres of the lands of this grant have already been sold.
Send for English or German pamphlet.
Address
W. H. HUGHART, Commissioner,
Grand Rapids, Mich.
TITLE PERFECT.

WM. J. STEVENSON,
VETERINARY HORSE-SHOER.
Interfering and crippled horses shod satisfactorily or no charge.
Repairing done promptly.

FRANK E. WOOD'S
BATH AND BARBER ROOMS.
Hot and Cold Baths at any hour of the day or evening. [illegible] building.

BLANKETS AND LAP ROBES!
A Fine Stock Cheap.
JOHN LITZAU.
Harness Shop in Chaloupka Building, north of bridge.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

SMITH & PARMELEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX, . . MICHIGAN

A WIFE.

How often her touch, soft and trembling,
Has sent a quick thrill to my heart!
How often her brown eyes dissembling
Have caused me in anguish to start!
To forget her I've tried, but in vain;
Since I met her she's haunted my brain;
And I scarce can believe,
Though the rumor's so rife,
That my last year's acquaintance
Is this year a wife.

I've disputed with rivals unnumbered
The honor of holding her fan;
Through the waltzes I've anxiously lumbered
When she danced with some other man.
I've quarreled with my ink-blotted leaf,
I've snarled that her notes were too brief;
But how foolish and vain
Seems that small, silly strife
When I think that she now
Bears the title of "wife!"

I've given her baskets of flowers;
I've carried her books by the score;
Through many a twilight's gray hours
I've read her the poet's sweet lore.
But a truce to such senseless reviews;
To what use do I sit here and muse?
She has taken the veil,
She is dead to that life,
She's a maiden no more,
But a woman—a wife.

I'll never seek pleasure without her,
Earth's light would seem dreary and cold;
Like a shadow I'll hover about her,
Then her form to my arms I'll enfold,
Though seeing her close to my side,
No being shall threaten or chide.
For the woman I sing
Is my treasure for life;
She's my sweetheart, my lover,
My darling, my wife.

—Charles Moreau, in Detroit Free Press.

QUITE SURE OF IT.

One Who Thinks He Has Cornered Perpetual Motion.

An Ohio Man Invents an Electrical Machine Which He Claims Will Run Until It Wears Itself Out—Mystery of Force.

For half a century D. M. Cook has been a familiar figure in Richland County, and has been marked for his singular inventive genius. In 1850, when a young man, he became impressed with the wonders of electrical science, and then became enamored of its study. He began to delve into the unknown of this hidden force, and for thirty-six years in alternately brilliant and adverse circumstances has trodden over this field till there is no nook or corner with which he is unacquainted. He commenced his studies at a time when little was known of electricity, and by a pursuit of knowledge in that direction with unbounded zeal, he has not only kept apace with the wizards of the day, but has so far gotten in advance of them that his assertions are almost accepted as altogether incredulous.

But no matter whether his claims seem wonderful and almost beyond belief, they are worthy of credence, for he must be placed in the list of successful inventors. In 1852 he conceived and constructed a device that revolutionized the manufacture of sorghum sirup. The device was called an evaporator, and was used to make sirup from sorghum. Its principle was to run the juice across a heated surface in zig-zag rows till the juice would run out as a pure sirup ready for the table, the water being evaporated in its passage, and the impurities being thrown to one side. On this he received letters patent in 1858, and in 1859 a company began the manufacture of the same. Thousands and thousands were disposed of, varying in price from $25 to $35, over $1,100,000 being realized, on which the inventor got a handsome royalty. Through this he derived quite a fortune, although a portion of it he spent in improving and introducing the device. Even to this day a firm in Cincinnati is engaged in the manufacture of this same evaporator, from which the members of the firm made themselves rich. Cook, however, several years ago lost his right to a royalty by some means or other, and has not been drawing any thing from that source since.

Save for this slight diversion, Mr. Cook has not experimented in any field outside of electricity since thirty-six years ago to any considerable extent, but in in this direction he can be said to have spent the greater part of his life. For a while he sought to solve the question of cheap power, light, etc., by producing the proper current by means of a battery. He invented a battery of peculiar value for telegraph purposes, which was in use for a long time at Crestline, on the Western Union, and until the discovery of the cheap gravity battery that is now in use. But Mr. Cook long ago concluded in his own mind that in dynamic electricity lay future success. Accordingly he cast aside the battery as a secondary affair, and set about to experiment with dynamos of novel and peculiar construction.

For several years past he would occasionally meet me and speak of his discoveries in the electrical field, but would say that he had not yet secured the results he was after. He would tell me: "When I get my experiments completed I want to show you what will revolutionize the world. I propose to make a perpetual electric generator or motor which will propel itself by its own current, the resistance of the generator proper being only about ten per cent. of the rotary power of the electric engine upon which the current of the generator acts."

This assertion was sufficient to shock an ordinary person's nerves, but I accepted the statement with much allowance. However, I became interested and kept watching results.

Last November Mr. Cook came to me and said: "I have at last met with success. I have found the principle that I have been hunting for so long. I can now start a dynamo to going, and it will never stop except by the wearing away of its own parts. Not only will it run itself by its own current, but also produce power enough, according to the size of the engine, to run any machine in the world."

"Perpetual motion," I suggested.

"More than that," he replied. "It is perpetual motion with only ten per cent. of the force used, leaving ninety per cent. for power, to be utilized as is desired. Not only that, but more; one helix of my dynamo will produce light in proportion to its size while the other is making the current that runs the engine. It will serve to heat your house, so that instead of having stoves and grates, little wires will run through your rooms, and on your parlor table will be a highly burnished apparatus containing wires, etc., which will keep the temperature of the house at whatever point you wish."

"What will be the cost to run it?"

"Nothing. As I said, start it, and it will go. Heat, power, and light produced by one machine, for absolutely nothing."

I looked at him to see if he was there yet, and if so, whether he was mad, in earnest, or joking. He laughed at my astonishment, and said: "I am now making a model, and when far enough along I will show it to you."

The matter was not specially discussed after that, although he would frequently bring up the question, until a day or two ago, and I had my serious doubts whether he would ever show the device to me. I thought of Keely and his motor, and felt that the results Mr. Cook professed himself able to obtain were such that he would keep secret his machine, if he had any, in order to myself, the public. My surprise may be imagined, therefore, when Mr. Cook came to me a few days ago and said: "I believe I will show you my electric engine and generator. I am far enough along now to show you how the results are accomplished."

A time was fixed, and at the appointed hour Mr. Cook called and took me to his farm, about three miles south of Mansfield. As an excuse for a heavy crop of weeds in a fine field, where hundreds of bushels of wheat should have been harvested, he explained: "I have been so busy with my researches that I have been unable to put out any crops. I could get nobody to attend to the farm, and therefore it is nothing but a barren waste. I succeeded in getting a few acres of oats planted, and that, with a small potato patch, will be all I will derive this year from this fine tract."

Here he lives, as he has lived for years, with a wife and fourteen-year-old daughter and his wife's sister. The latter is his enthusiastic assistant, and has helped him in many long years of toil. Distant from the house stands an old shop, wherein is hidden the secrets of his life. No stranger ever enters here, for it is herein that are contained the results of thirty-six years of labor. This exclusive rule has been almost invariable, having been broken but half a dozen times in over a third of a century. Several electricians and two or three others of known integrity have been admitted, but only after signing an iron-clad agreement not to reveal, patent, or cause to be patented or improve without his consent any of the parts shown to them.

The shop is dilapidated, as is the rest of the farm, so much is his mind taken up in the pursuit of his studies. The rear is used as a shelter for his trusty old horse, who has done near thirty years of royal service, while the front part is devoted altogether to his laboratory.

The agreement signed, Mr. Cook led the way to the door, but before unlocking it grasped me by the hand and had me renew the promise made in the written agreement. This done, I was ushered into the mysterious room. I was bewildered by the appearance of the place. The room was large, and everywhere hung bundles of wire. Magnets of all shapes and sizes hung about the walls and were scattered on the floor in confused heaps. In one corner was a huge machine, with large coils and magnets, which Mr. Cook told me was the first machine he attempted to make. But in the center of the room sat the pride of his life. I saw at a glance that this mysterious man had not wasted his time and fortune. He had branched out from the beaten track and had produced a machine that differed in all respects from dynamos of present construction, except in that he also used wire and iron.

"This," said he, "is my perpetual electric generator and engine. I will call my assistant and show you how it works."

The machine was rudely constructed, for Mr. Cook made it all himself with a few old tools that had done too much service already. Parts of it were made of wood, and the whole was not put together in a very artistic manner, but it demonstrated his discoveries, and that was his only purpose in its construction. This model weighs three hundred pounds, and Mr. Cook said by the hand-power of one man could be generated current sufficient to light up from thirty to fifty sixteen candle-power incandescent lamps.

His assistant having arrived, who by the way is a young lady of handsome appearance, the work of demonstration began. I tested the current in several ways and found it very powerful. Having made electricity somewhat of a study, I was surprised at the simplicity of many of the principles. The manner in which he expects to get the results heretofore mentioned is theoretically correct, and there is no mechanical difficulty which he has not already overcome.

After examining the machine carefully in all its parts, I was conducted to an adjoining room, where, on a table, sat a smaller model of more accurate make. It contained a much better arrangement of the parts, and from what he told me I am compelled to believe all that Mr. Cook had told me. I asked him why he had not sought capital to develop his theories more rapidly, when he replied that he had not heretofore been ready. He said:

"I wanted to complete my labors so that I could say my work is all done. I desired to give to the world a machine perfect in every particular, that would settle forevermore the question of cheap power, light and heat. Up to now my work was not finished. I am now almost done. Within a very short time I shall be able to show to all mankind that I have a machine that will revolutionize the world. When I can exhibit a running model, which I can in a few days, then I will be ready to consider the many propositions that I have already received.—Mansfield Cor. Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

Two Good Political Workers.

"O, there's no use of talking to me," said a Dakota man to a political friend from another place, "I know we had an abler man in the last Legislature than you did."

"Don't know about that, now. How much did your man get out of the railroad companies for his vote?"

"Two thousand dollars."

"That's it—just as I told you. Our man struck them for three thousand dollars and got it."

"O, that may all be, but besides the two thousand, ours also made over one thousand five hundred dollars on poker and sneaked around in the hotel and overheard a little private caucus some other members were holding and blackmailed five hundred dollars out of them. I tell you when it comes right down to hard and efficient work in a Territorial Legislature Colonel McBribe, of this district, is hard to beat. We are going to elect him again this fall."—Estelline (D. T.) Bell.

—Educate your girls quite equally with your boys. An education that relates to but one side is not likely to produce strong men.—Christian Recorder.

SCHOOL AND CHURCH.

—Attendance upon religious services by students of Harvard University will not henceforth be compulsory.

—At the Methodist Conference recently closed in Dublin, Sir William McArthur gave $75,000 toward the erection of a new building on the Methodist College grounds at Belfast, where young women may be educated.

—The corner stone of a new chapel has been laid in Welsh Mountain, Pennsylvania, the home of the Buzzard gang. This will be the first religious structure built in that region.—Pittsburgh Post.

—It is encouraging to see that the appreciation of education is increasing in North Carolina, where ten years ago only $13,000 was spent for it by the State, which now expends $800,000.—N. Y. Witness.

—Sneering critics say camp meeting converts do not hold out. If they hold out long enough to go to bed sober once the novel condition will do them good. If they break down after a while have them converted again. No harm is done.—N. O. Picayune.

—In reference to Harvard students, Colonel Higginson declares that "a poor young man who has agreeable manners and is good at athletics has a better chance for popularity than a rich snob." How about a poor young man of agreeable manners who excels at his studies?—Utica Observer.

—Hon. William McMaster, of Toronto, gives the Baptists of Canada another $250,000 for educational purposes. They say up there that years ago he loved money and clung to it, but he was induced to make a large gift and that put a good taste in his mouth, and now he gives like a man putting out fire—profoundly in earnest.—Richmond Religious Herald.

—Rev. E. P. Hammond is holding meetings in Christiania, Norway, in a large hall which is crowded night after night. The desire of the people to hear the truth is so great that they are reluctant to leave at the close of the services. Mr. Hammond considers these the most remarkable meetings he has held in his long career as an evangelist.

—At Port Townsend, Ore., Mark Ten Sui, Chinese missionary, converted and partially educated by the Methodist Episcopal Church, has opened a school among his countrymen. He is unusually intelligent, has renounced all connections with the flowery kingdom and paganism, and has very good command of the English language. He is an earnest Christian young man, and is enthusiastically devoted to the civilization of his race.—Chicago Herald.

—Dr. Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Church in St. Paul, found a gang of men paving the street in front of his church one Sunday morning. He asked them to stop. They did not. Then he said that they must stop, and right off, too. If they did not, he would make a complaint against each individual workman, and see that he was arrested and punished for breaking the Sabbath day. At this the pavers took up their tools and quit work, and the energetic pastor walked into the pulpit and preached with great fervor, saying in the course of his sermon, that he proposed to have Sunday observed in front of his church if not in any other part of St. Paul.—St. Paul Globe.

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

—If no money was spent foolishly half the world would be out of work.—Exchange.

—The young lady who can peel a potato in five seconds is as useful as the young woman who speaks five languages is ornamental.—Prairie Farmer.

—A man in New York advertises to guarantee pupils to play the accordion in two lessons. Crime in that city assumes many phases.—Norristown Herald.

—"Mr. Smith gone abroad, Mrs. Smith?" "Yes, he is visiting Canada for his health." "Ah, what ailed him?" "There was a weakness in the spinal column of his ledger."—N. Y. Witness.

—Spoilt compliments: He—"How do you like Signor Wilkinsono's voice? Beautiful, is it not?" She—"I don't think so. I prefer yours. But then, you know, I am peculiar!"—London Punch.

He—"You are holding that umbrella on the wrong side to protect you from the sun." She—"I know it, but there is that dreadful Miss Briggs, and I intend her to see my new bonnet."—Detroit Free Press.

—"When I have a cold in my head, I am always very dull and stupid," remarked a gentleman in public. "You are to be pitied, then, sir," replied another gentleman, "for I don't remember ever seeing you without a cold in your head."—N. Y. Telegram.

—Physician (to convalescent)—"You feel stronger, do you not?" Convalescent—"O, yes, doctor; very much stronger. I'm strong enough now for almost anything." Physician—"Then I will send in my bill."—Life.

—Mamma: "Do you know the Ten Commandments, my dear?" Little Bess: "Yes, mamma." "Well, repeat them." "I can't, mamma. I don't know them by heart. I only know them when I see them."—Philadelphia Call.

—We do not wish to be understood as finding fault with nature, but we do wish, from the bottom of our hearts, that the luminous end of the firefly had been hitched to the mosquito.—N. Y. Journal.

—When a merchant takes an article of goods worth four dollars and marks it at seven dollars and fifty cents, he wants to be understood as selling out regardless of cost. It is the purchaser who must regard cost in such cases.—N. O. Picayune.

—Omaha man—"No, I have trusted a good many popular signs, and they are all frauds. Once when at my home in Newton, Pa., I found a four-leaf clover, and that night I proposed to a girl, Miss Blank, but she refused me." Eastern stranger—"Well, you see the four-leafed clover brought you good luck." "Good luck?" "Yes. I wish I'd found the clover. I married her."—Omaha World.

Forced to Yield to His Friends.

Jenkins (to Jones)—Why don't you run for the Legislature?

Jones—O, I have never thought any thing about it.

Jenkins—You could be elected.

Jones—You don't think so.

Jenkins—I know it.

Note from Jones in the next morning's paper: "In a desire to yield to many friends I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the Legislature. I have not sought this office, but am compelled to yield to my friends.—Arkansaw Traveler.

FARM AND FIRESIDE.

—If nutmegs are good, when pricked with a pin, oil will instantly ooze out.

—To brighten or clean silver or nickel-plated ware, rub with a woolen cloth and flour.

—The animal must be so fed that it will come to its rations with a sharp appetite at each recurring meal. Over-feeling is worse in its effects than underfeeding.—Maine Farmer.

—Spiced Currants: Five pounds of ripe currants, four pounds of brown sugar, one pint of vinegar, one tablespoonful each of cloves and allspice, a little nutmeg; boil one hour or until quite thick.—The Household.

—Ducklings—the young quacks—that are not allowed to run to ponds where frogs and tadpoles abound, must have meat. Unlike chickens, milk will not suffice. The duck will not thrive on an entire vegetable diet.—Field and Farm.

—Crabapple Jelly: Put the apples in the kettle with enough water to cover; let them boil until very soft, mash them up with a spoon and strain out the juice; take a pint of juice to a pound of sugar; boil it thirty minutes, and strain through a sieve.—The Caterer.

Old orchards are often brought into a state of fruitfulness by generous manuring and cultivation. Save all the bones found upon the premises, and lay in a stock if you can procure them. They are better than any "patent" manures. Break them with a sledge hammer and put them freely in the soil around fruit trees.—Montreal Witness.

—These points as to his method are given by a farmer who knows how to raise four hundred bushels of potatoes to the acre. Rich, light soil; plow deep early in spring; plant fifteen inches apart, cover four inches deep or more, keep down the weeds, but do not work the ground after the potatoes begin to bloom. The main secret, he says, is in selecting the seed. He always cuts off the blossom end. One eye will yield more potatoes than two.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

—Remedies for bee stings are numerous. Almost anybody can name two or three. As a rule it is useless to apply any thing to the affected part; simply withdraw the stinger, which is nearly always left in the flesh, letting the wound entirely alone. Rubbing drives the poison into the circulation, and the effects are much more hurtful. After being stung, resolutely bear the pain with patience, and in a few moments it will have passed away, leaving no very bad effects.—N. Y. Herald.

—A writer in the Ladies' Floral Cabinet suggests the following as a pretty summer decoration of open fireplace: "Fill it with growing ferns, concealing with moss the pots in which they are planted; and if the ferns die replace them from time to time, as may be necessary, with fresh ones from the woods. Place above the ferns, slanting from side to side of the fireplace, a branch covered with gray lichen, and if possible a stuffed squirrel as if it were running, or a gay-plumage stuffed bird. The effect is more pleasing than can be imagined."

MAKING MANURE.

A Few Points on the Application of Alkalies and Muck to the Soil.

Alakalies and muck are within the command of almost every farmer. Lime is not within reach, and, besides, requires no small skill in its management. In the preparation of manure price is every thing. Muck may be called worth 50 cents a cord, and the labor of digging say $1; mix through the cord of muck sixty pounds of soda ash, the cheapest alkali there is at the present time, costing from 1½ to 2 cents a pound according to quantity purchased (two pounds of soda ash are equal in alkaline strength to three pounds of potash), making a cord of muck equal in value to a cord of cow dung at a cost of from $2.40 to $2.70, to which is to be added the cost of labor for mixing. Many have used lime with muck to neutralize the acid contained in it, and have been disappointed in the results of its application when used on the land, consequently condemning it. Lime in excess renders muck insoluble, granting it to have been in a soluble state.

Lime changes vegetable fiber into soluble geine, or vegetable matter, but being applied in excess it forms an insoluble salt. Now, by the supposition, there was no great excess of vegetable matter, and the lime, rendering only a small portion of that soluble, is itself, then, always in excess, and though it converts, it at the same time locks up the vegetable matter which it had converted.

If lime is used on muck, salt should be used with it. In doing this, lime is converted into a perfectly soluble salt. The soda is eliminated caustic, acts on the vegetable matter, renders it soluble.

During the exposure to the volumes of carbonic acid evolved from the muck, the caustic odor becomes carbonated. The carbonate of soda immediately decomposes the soluble salt of lime, and an insoluble salt of lime, with a soluble salt of soda, is the result. The effect of these various actions is, first, the vegetable matter is made soluble, ammonia evolved, which is converted into a nitrate, carbonate of lime produced, which acts as that does in spent ashes, and a soluble salt of soda, or common salt, remains in the mass, producing still farther good effects when its alkali is let loose by the action of growing plants. Here are rounds of changes taking place, which, though the farmer may not readily understand, he may produce with lime and common salt.

By mixing quicklime with common salt its soda is let loose, the acid combines with the lime, forming a soluble salts of lime, and as long as the soda remains caustic it has no effect on the muriate of lime; but as soon as the soda becomes mild or carbonated, decomposition of the muriate of lime is produced, and the common salt is regenerated. Commencing then with the quicklime and salt, we pass on to a soluble salt of lime and caustic soda, and from that to mild soda, and to carbonate of lime and the original common salt, and these in decaying soil are mutually decomposed, and reform carbonate of soda.

This explains the beneficial effect on adding lime to the muck from salt marshes, so different from adding lime to the muck from fresh water swamps.

Salt water muck mixed with lime has been very successfully used. The muck being saturated with salt water from its natural position, is dug out, partially dried and mixed with about one seventh of its bulk of slacked lime. It soon heats, ferments strongly, and when used soon after as manure produces excellent effects. Making manure is a fine art too little studied by farmers.—Boston Post.

FACT AND FICTION.

Good Stories of the Present Day Reported from all Parts of the Country.

Two policemen have been discharged in Cincinnati because they could neither read nor write.

A Philadelphia newspaper man has been arrested for being out after twelve o'clock at night.

William Farnsworth, of Washington, N. H., has a tame hen hawk that lives peaceably with his flock of chickens.

In New York a careless handler of the whip has been made to pay forty dollars for bespattering and ruining a lady's dress.

John Cooley, of Waterbury, Conn., has a horse which becomes so frightened during a thunder-storm that it cries like a child.

A curious animal of the cat species is owned by a Philadelphia family. It has no claws or tail, and the hind legs are considerably longer than the fore ones.

Prof. J. H. Miller, of Cuthbert, Ga., has a salt stand which has been in possession of his family for one hundred and sixteen years.

A Danbury (Conn.) family having all been ill after a fish dinner, it was concluded that the fish were poisoned by dyestuffs in the Still river, where they were caught.

In a skirmish during the war of the rebellion Augustus Penney, a Maine soldier, lost a finger, and afterward wrote a rhyming description of the affair to his wife. In lieu of other evidence, these rhymes have been accepted at the Pension Office as proof of Augustus' right of pension.

Nineteen years ago a man in Du Bois, Pa., lost his voice so that he could speak only in a whisper. A year ago he hurt his arm, and since then has occasionally found relief from the pain by placing it on a large driving belt that generated considerable electricity. Recently while doing so his voice suddenly and completely returned and has since been good.

Mrs. Brokenshire, of Hampton, Va., was recently in a stage coach in California when it was stopped by highwaymen. She wore large solitaire diamond ear-rings. A passenger by her side jerked one out of her ear and put it in his mouth, and she did the same with the other, and thus both were saved from the robbers. Her ears were both cut somewhat.

NOBLE MISS DREW.

How a Roxbury Girl and Her Lover Saved the Life of a Drowning Boy.

[Boston Transcript.]

While two children of a Mr. Hollis, of Boston, were playing the other morning on the rocks not far from the Nanepashemet House, Marblehead, near what is called the Spouting Horn—one of the most dangerous places on the coast—one little fellow, eight years old, slipped on the rocks and fell into the sea. Immediately the other boy gave the alarm: "Boy drowning!" which was heard by two young people playing tennis near the hotel, Mr. Isaac Mills, jr., and Miss Ella Drew. They both started for the rocks, arriving at the same time, when a sight met their eyes which might have appalled the strongest man—the little fellow down in the boiling water of the chasm was struggling hard for life. Prompt action was required. There was not a rope or thing near to assist in saving the boy. Quick as thought young Mills threw off his trousers, having on underclothing. Miss Drew seized the trousers and sprang for the lower rock, and young Mills jumped into the water and caught the child just as it was going down. But no man could live long in this seething water, no matter how good a swimmer. Miss Drew got as close to the edge as possible (with water rolling all around her) and threw one leg of the pantaloons to young Mills, holding on to the other leg with a vise-like grasp till help could be obtained, which, as soon as possible, arrived from the hotel. Too much credit can not be given Mills and Miss Drew. The latter has shown her quick wit and courage before, having several years ago saved a boy from drowning. Her home is on Copeland street, Roxbury.

Huckleberries Are Better Yet.

[Norristown Herald.]

In a dental journal we find "A quick and inexpensive way of filling the teeth." A quicker and more expensive way is to eat raspberries. If a tooth is provided with a small cavity a seed twice its size will get jammed into it, no matter how much care you may take to prevent it.

THE MARKETS.

		New York, Sept. 14
LIVE STOCK—Cattle	$3 60	@ 5 65
Sheep	3 00	@ 4 60
Hogs	4 90	@ 5 40
FLOUR—Good to Choice	2 70	@ 5 10
Patents	4 61	@ 5 10
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	86	@ 87¼
No. 2 Spring	86	@ 87¼
CORN	[illegible]	[illegible]
OATS—Mixed Western	32	@ 34
RYE	55	@ 60
PORK—Mess	10 75	@ 11 75
LARD—Steam	7 30	@ 7 35
CHEESE	[illegible]	[illegible]
WOOL—Domestic	31	@ 38
	CHICAGO.
BEEVES—Extra	$5 40	@ 5 50
Choice	4 [illegible]	@ 5 [illegible]
Good	3 95	@ 4 [illegible]
Medium	3 [illegible]	@ 4 00
Butcher's Stock	3 00	@ 3 [illegible]
Inferior Cattle	1 25	@ 2 [illegible]
HOGS—Live—Good to Choice	4 00	@ 5 [illegible]
SHEEP	1 50	@ 4 00
BUTTER—Creamery	[illegible]	@ [illegible]
Good to Choice Dairy	9	@ 17
EGGS—Fresh	13½	@ 14
FLOUR—Winter	3 75	@ 4 15
Spring	3 50	@ 4 20
Patents	4 25	@ 4 60
GRAIN—Wheat, No. 2	75	@ 75¾
Corn	39	@ 39½
Oats	25	@ 25¼
Rye, No. 2	49	@ 50
Barley, No. 2	57	@ 57¼
BROOM CORN—
Self working	4	@ 6¼
Hurl	4	@ 6
Crooked	2½	@ 4
POTATOES (bu.)	45	@ 48
PORK—Mess	10 80	@ 10 90
LARD—Steam	7 20	@ 7 22½
LUMBER—
Common Dressed Siding	19 00	@ 21 00
Flooring	32 00	@ 34 00
Common Boards	12 00	@ 13 00
Fencing	10 50	@ 13 00
Lath	1 25	@ 1 35
Shingles	1 70	@ 2 40
	EAST LIBERTY.
CATTLE—Best	$5 00	@ 5 25
Fair to good	4 25	@ 4 75
HOGS—Yorkers	4 85	@ 4 75
Philadelphias	5 25	@ 5 35
SHEEP—Best	4 00	@ 4 25
Common	2 00	@ 3 00
	BALTIMORE.
CATTLE—Best	$4 75	@ 4 87½
Medium	3 00	@ 3 25
HOGS	5 60	@ 6 00
SHEEP—Poor to Choice	2 25	@ 4 12½

Sprains, burns, bruises are promptly healed by St. Jacobs Oil, the conqueror of pain.

Law's Order—"Keep off the grass!"—Detroit Free Press.

A citizen of Norwich has a beautiful pet rattlesnake with a sage green head and finely marked body. He handles her fearlessly, but a rat that she struck the other day died in twelve minutes.

It Astonished the Public to hear of the resignation of Dr. Pierce as a Congressman to devote himself solely to his labors as a physician. It was because his true constituents were the sick and afflicted everywhere. They will find Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" a beneficent use of his scientific knowledge in their behalf. Consumption, bronchitis, cough, heart disease, fever and ague, intermittent fever, dropsy, neuralgia, goitre or thick neck, and all diseases of the blood, are cured by this world-renowned medicine. Its properties are wonderful, its action magical. By druggists.

He—"Miss Elsa, do you play on the piano?" She—"No, sir, I can't play a single note." He—"Elsa, I love you."—Life.

Every man is said to have his price, but the trouble is nobody but himself knows the private mark.—Chicago Tribune.

"Say, why is every thing Either at sixes or at sevens?"

Probably, my dear nervous sister, because you are suffering from some of the diseases peculiar to your sex. You have a "dragging-down" feeling, the back-ache, you are debilitated, you have pains of various kinds. Take Dr. R. V. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" and be cured. Price reduced to one dollar. By druggists.

The St. Nicholas tells of a dog that can count. But it can't equal a cat in running up a column.—Texas Siftings.

Why is a dog's tail a novelty? It was never seen before.

A Positive Fact of the Age is the certainty of relief afforded in skin diseases by Glenn's Sulphur Soap.

Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, Black or Brown, 50c.

The fly is not much of an astronomer, but if there's a cream-jug within his orbit he'll find out, all about the milky way.

The "Lib" is what the next Congress will be somewhat awkwardly styled.

Gray or sandy beards are colored brown or black by Buckingham's Dye for the Whiskers.

One bottle of Ayer's Ague Cure will eradicate malarial poisons from the system.

"Dream of eggs, sign of money," says the dream book. Perhaps that is the origin of the term "shell out."—Chicago Mail.

A Marshal Niel rosebush that grows white flowers on one side and crimson on the other is a sight at London, Ont.

I was laid up for a long time with rheumatism in both my legs. I began taking Athlophoros and had relief in a very short time; was entirely well. I have not been troubled since. Jacob Manus, 580 South Halsted St., Chicago, Ill.

Wanted—The name of the goldsmith who made the walking-ring.—Texas Siftings.

Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets" are perfect preventives of constipation. Inclosed in glass bottles, always fresh. By all druggists.

The largest revolver known—The earth.—N. Y. Graphic.

The Frazer Axle Grease is the best in the world. Sold everywhere. Use it.

Name a cheap country seat—A stump.—Albany Journal.

Relief is immediate, and a cure sure. Piso's Remedy for Catarrh. 50 cents.

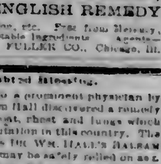
Water Runs Down
Hill, and just as naturally life, energy and strength are gained by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. The peculiar toning, purifying and vitalizing qualities of this successful medicine are felt throughout the entire system, expelling disease, and giving quick healthy action to every organ. If you suffer from any disease of the blood, stomach disorder, or difficulty with the liver and kidneys, try the peculiar medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla. Be sure to get Hood's. Take no other.
"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for dyspepsia and as a tonic alterative, with the most beneficial results. I have also used it for rheumatism with the good effect. I regard it as one of the very best family medicines, and would not willingly be without it." A. B. CURRY, Providence, R. I.
"I have been using Hood's Sarsaparilla for indigestion and liver trouble. It has greatly benefited me, and I think it is fully as good a medicine as claimed." E. B. CHESBROUGH, chief engineer fire dept., Stonington, Ct.
Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.
100 Doses One Dollar

RED STAR TRADE MARK.
COUGH CURE
Absolutely Free from Opiates, Emetics and Poison.
SAFE. SURE. PROMPT. 25 Cts.
AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

ST. JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK
THE GREAT
GERMAN REMEDY
For Pain.
Cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Backache, Headache, Toothache, [illegible]
PRICE, FIFTY CENTS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

COCKLE'S
ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS.
THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY
For Liver, Bile, Indigestion, etc. Free from Mercury; contains only Pure Vegetable Ingredients. Agents: MESSRS. FULLER & FULLER CO., Chicago, Ill.

An Undoubted Blessing.
About thirty years ago a prominent physician by the name of Dr. William Hall discovered a remedy for diseases of the throat, chest and lungs which soon gained a wide reputation in this country. The name of the medicine is Dr. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS, and may be safely relied on as a speedy and positive cure for coughs, colds, consumption, pneumonia, etc.

ELY'S CREAM BALM
CATARRH


For cold in the head Ely's Cream Balm works like magic. It cured me of catarrh and restored the sense of smell.—E. H. Sherwood, Banker, Elizabeth, N. J.
HAY-FEVER
A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable to use. Price 50 cents by mail or at druggists. Send for circular. ELY BROTHERS, Druggists, Owego, N. Y.

The Latest Paris and New York
FASHIONS ARE PUBLISHED IN
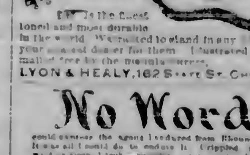
L'ART DE LA MODE.
[illegible]

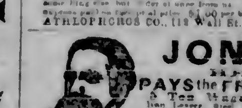
Golden Belt Kansas.
[illegible]

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS
QUALITY P PURITY NOT QUANTITY
THE BEST TONIC.
PHYSICIANS AND DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND IT.
This medicine combines Iron with pure vegetable tonics, quickly and completely Cures Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Weakness, Impure Blood, Malaria, Chills and Fevers, and Neuralgia.
[illegible]
Made only by BROWN CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

DR. JOHN BULL'S
Smith's Tonic Syrup
FOR THE CURE OF
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER,
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.
The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of KENT'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient. USE no other pill.
Price, $1.00 per Bottle; Six Bottles for $5.
DR. JOHN BULL'S
SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP,
BULL'S SARSAPARILLA,
BULL'S WORM DESTROYER.
The Popular Remedies of the Day.
Principal Office, 831 Main St., LOUISVILLE, KY.

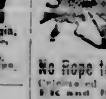
ASK FOR THE
W. L. DOUGLAS
[illegible]
$3.


SILK STITCHED BEST KID BEST TANNERY CALF BUTTON SEWED

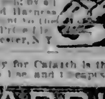
THE WASHBURN GUITAR


[illegible]
LYON & HEALY, 162 State St., Chicago, Ill.

No Words
[illegible]
ATHLOPHOROS CO., 112 Wall St., New York.

JONES


HE PAYS the FREIGHT
[illegible]
JONES OF BINGHAMTON, BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

No Rope to Cut Off Horses' Manes.


[illegible]

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.
CATARRH
Also good for Cold in the Head, Headache, Hay Fever, etc. 50 cents.

Nebraska, Iowa, MINNESOTA and Dakota LANDS
FREE RIDE [illegible]
C. G. [illegible], BELOIT, WIS.

OPIUM HABIT absolutely cured. [illegible]

SOLDIERS NEW LAWS. [illegible]

WANTED A WOMAN
[illegible]

ARNOLD'S [illegible]

OPIUM [illegible]

$5 [illegible]

CANCER [illegible]

TRUSSES [illegible]

HAIR [illegible]

EDUCATIONAL.
[illegible]
HOME STUDY. [illegible]
TELEGRAPHY [illegible]

A. N. K.—4. 1100

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established, 1869.

CHARLEVOIX, SEPT. 22, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE, Associate Editor.

Representative Convention, Antrim Charlevoix and Manitou District.

A Republican district convention for the legislative district of Antrim, Charlevoix and Manitou counties, will be held in the Town Hall, at Charlevoix, in Charlevoix county, on

Wednesday, October the 6th, 1886,

at two o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for representative to the State Legislature and transacting any other business that may come before it. Each county will be entitled to one delegate for every one hundred and fifty republican votes and a majority thereof cast at the last general election for governor, by which Antrim will be entitled to 7 votes, Charlevoix 7 votes and Manitou 1 vote.

A. J. STROUP,
V. K. DOUGHERTY,
Committee.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

State Ticket.

For Governor—CYRUS G. LUCE, of Branch.
For Lieutenant Governor—JAMES H. McDONALD, of Delta.
For Secretary of State—GILMAN R. OSMAN, of Wayne.
For Treasurer—GEORGE L. MALTZ, of Alpena.
For Auditor General—HENRY H. APLIN, of Bay.
For Attorney General—MOSES TAGGART, of Kent.
For Commissioner of State Land Office—ROSCOE D. DIX, of Berrien.
For Superintendent of Public Instruction—JOSEPH S. ESTABROOK
For Member State Board of Education—SAMUEL S. BABCOCK, of Wayne.

Republican Congressional Ticket.

For Representative in Congress, Ninth District—BYRON M. CUTCHEON, of Manistee.

County Ticket.

For Sheriff—HARRISON HERDAN.
For Clerk—ABEL W. CHEW.
For Register of Deeds—ADELBERT R. UPRIGHT.
For County Treasurer—HENRY C. COOPER.
For Prosecuting Attorney—ROSCOE L. CORBETT.
For Circuit Court Commissioner—Z. N. GARBUTT
For Surveyor—E. K. ROBINSON

Congressman Cutcheon's Work.

Now that the Republican convention has done its work without any friction whatever, and it is settled that Hon. B. M. Cutcheon is to lead our fight in this Ninth Congressional District, it will be appropriate to review his work during the past session of Congress and see where he stood—what he has said and what he has done. General Cutcheon has been not only one of the leading debaters on the Republican side, but a worker as well. We have space this week only for a hasty glance at his leading lines of work.

RIVERS AND HARBORS.

General Cutcheon has been very successful in securing appropriations for the harbors of his District. He secured the adoption of a definite plan for a harbor of refuge at Ludington, and an appropriation in the House of $75,000 for the work of widening the entrance to 400 feet. In the Senate this was cut down to $56,250. The several counties bordering on the lake receive as follows, viz.:

Charlevoix County	$10,000
Oceana County	10,000
Manistee County	25,000
Muskegon County	27,000
Mason County	56,000

PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

General Cutcheon introduced bills providing for the construction of public buildings at Muskegon and Manistee, for use as post office, custom house, U. S. Commissioner, etc. He collected a large amount of statistics showing the population, business and needs of these places; but after the President vetoed the bills for Sioux City, Duluth and Dayton, there was not a ghost of a show for the Muskegon and Manistee bills, and they were never reported. But he put in his work ably and faithfully in their behalf.

NEW LIGHT HOUSE DISTRICT.

Gen. Cutcheon introduced a bill to create a new Light House District of Lake Michigan and Green Bay. He secured a favorable report in the House, and the passage of the bill through that body. He followed it to the Senate, and by assistance of Senator Conger, who is on the committee on commerce, secured its passage through that body also. The bill has become a law, and through his efforts Lake Michigan is now a separate light house district.

INSPECTORS OF HULLS, ETC.

Mr. Cutcheon introduced a bill to regulate and increase the compensation of inspectors of hulls and boilers in the district of Michigan. He secured a favorable report; the bill is now awaiting action, and sure to be passed when reached on the general order.

LEGISLATION FOR SOLDIERS.

Mr. Cutcheon introduced a number of bills for the benefit of soldiers, viz:

1. A bill to increase pension of soldiers who have lost an arm or a leg in the service. This bill passed with only a very slight change by way of reduction of the highest rates. It has become a law.

2. Bill to increase widows' pensions to $12 per month. Substitute reported back, and has become a law.

3. Bill to provide for paying balance of $100 bounty to volunteers discharged within two years of enlistment by reason of disease or promotion. This was consolidated with the Veteran bounty bill and reported back by the sub-committee of which Mr. Cutcheon was a member; was brought and debated in the House, and remains unfinished business on the calendar. Mr. Cutcheon made a speech in advocacy of this bill.

4. Bill to provide for the muster and pay of certain volunteer officers and men promoted, so that they can receive pay for the time they actually performed the duties of the higher grade. This bill was reported favorably, taken up and considered in the House, passed its engrossment and third reading May 4th, but its passage was prevented by a Democratic filibuster. It remains unfinished business on the calendar. Mr. Cutcheon advocated this bill in a speech which was widely circulated.

LABOR LEGISLATION.

Mr. Cutcheon has labored diligently in behalf of all important bills in the interest of the laboring class. He made an eloquent and telling speech in favor of the labor arbitration bill, and voted for it on its passage. He also voted for the Chinese restriction bill, the convict labor bill and the government printer's bill. He has given constant support to all legislation required by those most meritorious people, the soldiers and the workers.

TEMPERANCE EDUCATION.

To General Cutcheon largely belongs the credit of the passage of the Temperance Education bill. He introduced it in the House; he advocated it in the committee and upon the floor. He labored entirely among members in its behalf. After it had become a law he gave efficient aid in securing the introduction of the best text books in the District of Columbia. In recognition of his services in the passage of this bill the Michigan Woman's Temperance Union, at their annual convention in this city, adopted the following, viz.:

Resolved, That we, the members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Michigan, in convention assembled at Manistee, June 8th, 1886, recognize the faithful and efficient services of Hon. B. M. Cutcheon of the Ninth District, in presenting to the House the scientific temperance instruction bill, prepared by Mrs. Mary H. Hunt, and will hold him ever in grateful remembrance for the same.

The very able speech made by Gen. Cutcheon in support of this bill has been circulated widely throughout the country, and the law is now in successful operation.

INDIAN EDUCATION.

Since General Cutcheon's entrance into Congress he has taken deep interest in the Indian question. In the 48th Congress he secured the enactment of a law extending the criminal laws over the Indian tribes, and under it the Indians can now be tried and punished for misdemeanors the same as white or colored citizens of the United States. This is regarded as one of the most important of late years, as affecting the Indian tribes. Gen. Cutcheon is recognized as one of the leading advocates of Indian education in both Houses of Congress. His speeches have been re-printed by the Indian Rights Association, and by them circulated all over the United States by the thousands. No member of the House has a better recognized standing as a leader upon the Indian question.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

The most elaborately and carefully prepared of the many bills introduced by Gen. Cutcheon was one introduced to relieve Congressmen of the business of interference in appointments to office. This bill attracted much attention and discussed throughout the country. Geo. William Curtiss, the President of the Civil Service Reform League, wrote Gen. Cutcheon, heartily approving the measure. The General presented a carefully prepared argument in favor of the bill, before the Civil Service reform Committee, but the committee has not yet reported it back.

PRIVATE BILLS.

Gen. Cutcheon introduced about twenty-five private bills in the House. Of these the bills to grant a pension to Wm. J. Baker, of Antrim county, and the bill for the relief of Franklin Thompson, (alias Mrs. S. E. E. Seelye) passed both Houses and became laws. Several others have been reported favorably, are on the calendar, and will be reached in the regular order.

PETITIONS, REPORTS AND SPEECHES.

He has presented a large number of petitions, covering a wide range of subjects. No petitions has been forwarded to him which he has not presented. He has made a large number of reports—probably twenty five to thirty. In the celebrated Fitz John Porter case he was the leader of the Republican side, and drew up the minority report. His speech on that case was admitted by all to be the most complete and convincing argument made in the House. We could print columns of testimony of the press to this effect. Although it made a pamphlet of more than sixty pages, 30,000 copies were subscribed for immediately after its delivery. His speeches on "Justice to the Veterans," "Indian Civilization," "Temperance Education," and "Pension Vetoes," have all been ordered to be circulated in pamphlet form. Of the speech on Pension Vetoes, Hon. Edward McPherson, Secretary of the Republican Congressional Committee, says: "I have read and re-read your speech on Pension Vetoes, to me the most satisfactory discussion of them ever made. * * * The speech is beyond criticism as a judicious, clear and unanswerable review."

WORK FOR SOLDIERS.

Such is a brief review of Gen. Cutcheon's public work; a review which covers less than half the work he has done. No man has appealed to him for help who has not received it. The District is full of old soldiers whom he has helped on their pensions. The multitudes of letters he has received have been given prompt attention and answers. During the spring he distributed through his district more than 7,000 papers of seeds and about 10,000 documents, including speeches, etc. This is an imperfect review, but it will give his constituents in the Ninth District some idea of General Cutcheon's capacity and willingness to do Herculean work in their behalf. We have gathered the facts partly from the Congressional Record, and partly from interrogations of General Cutcheon himself, for the purpose of giving this partial review. We leave it to the public to say if this does not show a faithful, laborious and successful Representative, whom the District cannot afford to exchange for an inexperienced man. General Cutcheon deserves the grateful homage of the people of all portions of his District, and that homage will crystalize into votes when the battle of the ballots takes place in November next.—Manistee Times.

A Thin Man's Watch.

A tall, thin man with a cast in his eye boarded a Blue Line car going east on Baltimore street recently. He looked like a person who would not be surprised if the world would suddenly come to an end and leave him alone in the universe. The seats of the car were full but nobody was standing. Most of the passengers were ladies. The tall, thin man pulled out his Waterbury watch and compared it with the big chronometer near Light street. The two time-pieces did not agree. The tall man proceeded to open his Waterbury watch at the rear. He pried open the outer case and on the inner case saw the ominous inscription:

"Don't remove the cap unless you are a practical watch-repairer."

This did not scare the thin man a bit. He got out his penknife and pried the case off with the little blade.

Great Cæsar! what a revelation there was in that cap!

The moment the cap came off a steel spring about forty yards long popped out and uncoiled itself up to the ceiling of the car. It was like the devil coming out of his band-box. After touching the roof the spring recoiled and then uncoiled, and then became wound up in a most horribly confused way. It would dart out like a serpent's tongue all over the car, around the necks of the passengers, up their trousers' legs, under the seat, out the front door and around the driver's stool. Then it would curl about the thin man and run out of every window on that side of the car. The female passengers shrieked, and the perspiration gathered in great beads on the tall man's alabaster brow.

He tried to throw the watch out of the window, but it would not go. The spring dragged it back and it flew into the conductor's face, and in his excitement he trod on a fat passenger's pet corn, and the fat man howled as though his liver had struck for shorter hours and higher wages.

The conductor tried to toss the demoniacal watch through the door, but it returned and went whistling through the car like one of Kilroy's hot balls, and hit the door so violently that it left the exact time of the day indelibly stamped on the panel.

Finally the tall man, with the assistance of the conductor and several of the passengers, succeeded in gathering together what appeared to be ten bushels of wire springs, and the car stopped and they gently carried it out into the street and said: "Now, then; all together!" and dropped it and ran for their lives.

When the thin man looked at his Waterbury watch after the excitement had subsided he found that there was absolutely nothing left in it—not even a wheel or a pivot. The spring had been running the watch entirely and exclusively on its own responsibility, and when it fled nothing but the case remained to tell the mournful story.—Baltimore American.

Order in Sleeping Rooms.

Take nine out of ten of the ordinary run of Irish girls, introduce them to an attractive, pretty, well arranged room, and they can hardly understand that such nicety is intended for their use; and half bewildered by the gift, they may abuse it, as they have been used to doing so in their former apartments, which were scarcely worthy of care. A printing press would be useless to any one who had not learned its use, and a telephone would bewilder a bright and strong man as a useless toy, unless he knew the use of it. So, in giving the gift of a pleasant room to an ignorant girl, we must patiently teach her how to use it, so that, after a time, we have under our "roof-tree" an attractive room, instead of one so illy kept as to be actually unhealthy.

Don't forget each day to allow a servant some little time to make and keep order in her room. I have so often heard girls excuse the neglected state of their own domiciles by the plea of never having a moment in their busy day which can be devoted to its particular care. After they have been taught not to make disorder, it don't require much time to keep a room from being untidy. Furnish the room as nicely as your means will allow, let the necessary articles be simple and attractive; white covers for bed, bureau, and window are much better than colored ones, as you can more easily detect the fact when they are allowed to remain too long without washing.—Good Housekeeping.

A man whose early opportunities for learning were few and far between received a letter the other day from a young college student, wherein he spoke of the Lares and Penates of the household. The receiver puzzled over this classical allusion for some time, and could make nothing out of it, but finally burst forth as follows: "What in thunder does the darned fool mean? 'Hares and peanuts;' I may sell provisions, but I remember when his stingy old father was a tin-peddler—'hares and peanuts,' indeed! If he can only learn to insult people at college he had better come home."—Boston Budget.

THE PIONEER HOUSE OF CHARLEVOIX CO.

New Fall Goods,

BEING RECEIVED WEEKLY.

We call especial attention to our complete stock of

BOOTS and SHOES.

TEAS of all kinds. We will guarantee you the best Tea for the money, in the county.

ALL GRADES of FRESH ROASTED AND GREEN COFFEES.

A Fine line of Everything in

FURNITURE.

BIG DRIVES IN

Flannels, Yarns, and Blankets.

Please bear in mind that our stock embraces

EVERYTHING

usually found in a General Store.

Remember: Our Goods are the Best. Our Prices the Lowest. Our Record the Oldest.

Resp'y Yours,

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

FOR LAME BACK, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Price 25 cents.

SHILOH'S COUGH and Consumption Cure is sold by us on a guarantee. It cures Consumption. Sold by F. G. Hines & Co.

SHILOH'S VITALIZER is what you need for Constipation, Loss of Appetite, Dizziness, and all symptoms of Dyspepsia. Price 10 and 75 cents a bottle.

CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH and Bronchitis immediately relieved by Shiloh's Cure. Sold by F. G. Hines & Co.

Sheriff Sale.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the circuit court for the county of Calhoun, in favor of Frank P. Pittman and Theron M. Flower against the goods and chattles and real estate of David [illegible] and Orrin W. [illegible] in said county to me directed and delivered I did on the 21st of day June last levy upon and take all the right, title and interest of the said [illegible] in and to the following described real estate, that is to say all that certain piece or parcel of land described as follows: The south half (S ½) of the South-east quarter (S E ¼) of section twenty-four (24) town thirty-three (33) north, of Range six (6) West, all of which I shall expose for sale at public auction or vendue to the highest bidder at the front door of Lewis' hall in the village of Boyne City in said county, (that being the place for holding the circuit court for the said county of Charlevoix) on the 17th day of September next at one o'clock in the afternoon.

Dated this 4th day of August A. D. 1886.

HARRISON HERDAN, Sheriff.
HOPKINS & CROSBY, Attorneys.

Mortgage Sale.

A mortgage dated the 12th of September, 1879, executed by Oliver S. Horton and Luetta J. Horton to David Carpenter, recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix county, Michigan, September 29th, 1879 in Liber 4 of mortgages on page 80 upon which the whole amount of principal and interest viz: $145.30 is past due and for the recovery of which no suit or proceedings has been commenced, will be foreclosed under the power of sale therein contained by a statutory sale of the premises therein described as the north-west fractional quarter of the north-east quarter of section six, in town 33 north of Range 6, west, in Charlevoix county, Michigan, to the highest bidder at the front door of Lewis hall in the village of Boyne City, Mich., (that being the place of holding the Circuit court for Charlevoix county, Michigan), at 12 o'clock noon November 26th, 1886.

Dated August 31st, 1886.

DAVID CARPENTER, Mortgagee.
HART & CALL, Att'ys for Mortgagee.

Mortgage Sale.

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the money due and secured by a certain mortgage dated the 1st day of August A. D. 1881, executed by George R. Thompson and Ada R. Thompson, his wife of Boyne City, Charlevoix county and state of Michigan, to Alden Chamberlin of Charlevoix, Michigan, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Charlevoix in Liber five (5) of Mortgages on page three hundred and ten (310) on the 3d day of August A. D. 1881, and which said mortgage was on the 12th day of January A. D. 1882, assigned by said Alden Chamberlin to Martha J. Ayers and said assignment was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said county of Charlevoix on the 14th day of January A. D. 1882, in Liber five (5) of Mortgages on page five hundred and twenty-four (524) and said mortgage is now due and owned by the said Martha J. Ayers, the said assignee, and whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of three hundred and seventy-seven dollars ($377) of principal and interest and no proceedings having been instituted at law or in equity to recover the debt now remaining unpaid and secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the said power of sale in said mortgage contained and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described in said mortgage, as all that certain piece or parcel of land lying and situated in the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, and known and described as follows to wit: The west half (½) of the north west quarter (¼) of section thirty two (32) of town thirty two (32) north of range five (5) west, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage with costs of this foreclosure and the stipulated costs mentioned in said mortgage which will be sold at public vendue to the highest bidder at the front door of Lewis hall in the village of Boyne City, Charlevoix Co., state of Michigan, that being the place of holding the circuit court in and for said county of Charlevoix on the 26th day of November, A. D. 1886, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day.

Dated this 1st day of September, A. D. 1886.

MARTHA J. AYERS, Assignee.
J. M. CLARK, Attorney for Assignee.

Offices To Rent.

A number of desirable offices to rent in the Sec block. Inquire of B. [illegible]

Probate Order.

State of Michigan, County of Charlevoix—ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix, holden at the Probate office in the Township of South Arm, on the Second day of September in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six. Present, Hon. James A. Keat, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the Estate of Niles P. Anderson deceased. On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Nellie Anderson praying that administration of said estate may be granted to her, or some other suitable person, thereupon it is ordered, that Monday, the fourth day of October, 1886, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the Township of Evangeline and show cause, if any there be why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted. And it is Further Ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Charlevoix SENTINEL, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county of Charlevoix, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

JAMES A. KEAT, Judge of Probate.
[A true copy.]

Mortgage Sale.

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the money due and secured by a certain mortgage dated the 4th day of March, A. D. 1882, executed by Carrie Watson of Ironton, Charlevoix county and State of Michigan, to Martha J. Ayers of Charlevoix, Michigan, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said county of Charlevoix in Liber six (6) of mortgages on page five hundred and ten (510) on the 4th day of March, A. D. 1882, and the same is now due and owned by the said Martha J. Ayers, and whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of eight hundred and thirty one dollars and eighty-eight cents ($831.88) of principal and interest, and no suit or proceedings having been instituted at law or in equity to recover the debt now remaining secured by said mortgage or any part thereof. Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the said power of sale in said mortgage contained and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided. The said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described in said mortgage to wit: Beginning at a post on the north and south quarter line of section sixteen [16], town thirty-three [33] north of range seven [7] west, [illegible] chains north, [illegible] east of the quarter [¼] post on the south boundary of said section, thence north [illegible] east along said section line [illegible] chains to a post, thence south [illegible] west [illegible] chains to the shore of the south arm of Pine Lake, thence southerly along the meander line of said shore as surveyed in the survey of said section sixteen [16] to a post [illegible] chains north [illegible] west of the meander post on the section line bounding said section sixteen [16] on the south, thence north [illegible] east [illegible] chains to the place of beginning and containing forty [40] acres more or less situated in the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage with costs of this foreclosure and also the stipulated costs therein mentioned in said mortgage, will be sold at public vendue to the highest bidder at the front door of Lewis Hall in the village of Boyne City, Charlevoix county, Michigan, that being the place of holding the circuit court in and for the county of Charlevoix, on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1886, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day.

Dated at Charlevoix, the 18th day of August, 1886.

MARTHA J. AYERS, Mortgagee.
J. M. CLARK, Attorney for the Mortgagee.

Farm For Sale.

I will sell my farm in Marion one and one half miles south of Charlevoix, on the county road, 80 acres, 45 acres cleared and stumps out; good frame house and frame barn; two acres of bearing orchard; well watered. Terms, two-thirds down, balance to suit purchaser. Price $4,700. For information apply at SENTINEL office or to Address, WM. COOPER.

Charlevoix, June 15, 1886.

DETROIT & CLEV'LAND
Steam Navigation Co.

Steamers
CITY OF MACKINAW,
CITY OF ALPENA.

For Cheboygan, Rogers City, Alpena, Harrisville, Oscoda, Sand Beach, Port Huron, St. Clair, Marine City, Detroit.

Leave Mackinac Island,
Thursdays, Saturdays, 9-45, P. M.
Mondays, Wednesdays, 11-15, A. M.
Steamers every week day between
Detroit and Cleveland.
Through tickets to all points, North, East, South and West

J. Reed Emrey, Agent, Charlevoix.
C. D. Whitcomb, Gen. Pass. Agt.

A. R. UPRIGHT. OSCAR UPRIGHT

FARMS, VILLAGE PROPERTY,

And TIMBER LAND

FOR SALE BY

UPRIGHT BROS.,

40 Acre Farm, soil clay loam, good well of water at house, 15 acres cleared 6 more chopped, timber Maple, Beech, Cedar and a few Pine. Frame house, Frame Granary and good Log Barn. Board fence on road, Small Orchard. 1 mile from Ironton on good road. Price $1,[illegible] [illegible] down, balance in two years. Will take a good team as part payment.

80 Acres on Susan Lake, in Hayes Township, heavily timbered with Maple, Elm, Basswood and Beech surface gently rolling, soil good, will make a fine farm, timber on the land will pay for the place. Price $1,000.

40 Acre Farm, situated 4 miles south of Charlevoix on county Road, soil the very best, good well of water, about 30 acres cleared, nearly all seeded down, fences in first-class order, 100 fruit trees just beginning to bear, good log house, log barn, good school house adjoining the place, good neighborhood. Price $1,800. Two-thirds down, balance on time if desired.

55 Acres, 1½ miles from village of Charlevoix on shore of Lake Michigan, soil good, being sandy loam and muck. 5 acres cleared, comfortable log house, a good sugar bush of 200 trees, balance of timber Birch, Ash and Cedar. Price $20 per acre, one-half down, balance on time.

160 Acres, on section 36, Township 33, N. R. 8 W., heavily timbered with Maple, Elm and Basswood. Surface gently rolling, watered by a spring brook. A most excellent piece of land. Price $1,600, the timber alone is worth the money.

50 Acres in Marion, 2 miles from Hoyle's & Nash's mill, 12 acres cleared and seeded to grass. 6 acres more chopped. Living water on the place, a good piece of Maple timber, some Cedar, good soil, good improvements in the neighborhood. Price $[illegible], one-half down.

100 Acre Farm 1½ miles from Horton's Bay and same distance from Bear Lake, surface gently rolling, 10 acres cleared, good frame house, timber Maple, Elm, Basswood and Beech. Excellent soil, Price $2,500, will sell in 80 acre lots if desired.

60 Acres of wild land in Township of Wilson, 3½ miles from Boyne City, soil clay loam, surface gently rolling, timber can not be surpassed. Price $[illegible] one half down.

52 Acres 2 miles from Sweet's mill on South Arm, surface rolling, soil, clay and sandy loam; fine front stream passes on west line of land. [illegible] acres cleared, the best fences in county around clearing, Log house and large log barn, timber Hemlock, Birch, Cedar, in good neighborhood and adjoining large clearings. Price $[illegible], will take a good team in exchange.

40 Acres 3 miles from Charlevoix, all heavily timbered with Maple, Beech, Hemlock and Cedar; will sell for $[illegible].

80 Acres wild land between Horton's Bay and Bay Springs, Price $[illegible], will trade for live stock

80 Acres of as good land as can be found in the county, on section 29—33—7, 40 acres chopped, surface smooth. Price $1,000, $[illegible] down, balance in 1 year at 7 per cent. A great bargain.

160 Acres known as the Inwood Farm in Norwood. [illegible] acres cleared. Frame house 16x30 with wing 16x24, story and a half high, good bearing orchard, consisting of Apples, Peaches, Pears and Plums, a fine water power on the place 22 ft fall, a capital place for a carding mill, 80 acres of 1st class timber 1½ miles from saw and grist mill. Price $4,000, one half down, balance on time sufficient security is given, nothing required down.

80 Acres on the State Road, 7 miles south of Charlevoix, 2½ miles from Norwood, 15 acres cleared, frame house 18x26. Living spring near the house, timber maple principally. Soil clay loam. Price $1,000 one-half down balance on time with interest at 7 per cent.

2 Village Lots in Petoskey finely located, have been graded, are as choice resident lots as can be found in town. $[illegible] cash.

A good Lot in Boyne City near the Skating Rink. Price $75.

100 Lots on Upright & Hurlbut's addition to the Village of Charlevoix at prices to suit all. Some of the finest buildings in Charlevoix are on this addition.

Four good houses and lots in Charlevoix. Price from $[illegible] to $1,[illegible].

A Business Lot on Bridge Street, Charlevoix, water front, terms easy.

WE OWN THE ONLY
COMPLETE Set of ABSTRACTS
Of Charlevoix County,
And all work intrusted to our care shall have prompt and careful attention.

We are Agents for some of The
BEST FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES
And will guarantee as low rates as any first class concerns.

CONVEYANCING,
NEATLY AND PROMPTLY DONE.
Non-Residents' interests looked after, Taxes paid Collections made, etc.

It Pays to Buy the
BEST BOATS!

The large number of boats I have built for resorters, are advertisements of what I have done and can do in boat building. Call and get references.

I will guarantee the best model, easiest rowing and best sailing boats in Northern Michigan for the

LEAST MONEY!

All kinds of Oars, and Paddles made.

LEAVE ORDERS

with me for a boat for next summer's use. I am bound to please you.

Special facilities for storing boat liveries.

J. BEAUVAIS.

1-3 OFF SALE!

At Miss Spaulding's
MILLINERY ROOMS.

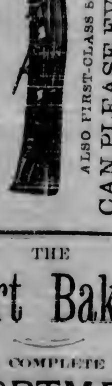
I will sell my entire stock of goods, except Yarns and Crewels at greatly reduced prices for cash only.

Any lady purchasing goods to the amount of $3.00 will receive a present of her choice of any untrimmed fall hat in the store.

Come early and secure a Bargain.

MISS L. SPAULDING.

BOAT LIVERIES!
The Best Row Boats Ever put Into a Livery in Northern Michigan.



ALSO FIRST-CLASS SAIL BOATS.
CAN PLEASE EVERYBODY
First lot south of Bridge Street House, also Red Boat House near Charlevoix Summer Resort.
F. W. WILLCOX.

THE Resort Bakery!
A COMPLETE ASSORTMENT
—OF—BAKER'S
GOODS.

Also Fine Confectionery and Ice Cream. Parties supplied and all orders promptly filled.

O. J. SMITH.

McCABE'S
MARKET
Is supplied with
All Kinds Of
MEATS
At Lowest Prices.
CASH PAID FOR FAT CATTLE,
Hides, Sheep and Hogs.
Corner of State & Mason sts.,
JOHN McCABE.

HEATH & FRANCIS,
Contractors and Builders,
Charlevoix, Mich.
PLANS AND ESTIMATES FURNISHED ON APPLICATION.
First-class
FURNITURE MADE
To Order.
Repairing promptly and satisfactorily done.
Shop on Antrim street, west of Town Hall.

A. D. Bradbeer,
PHOTOGRAPHER,
OFFICE OVER
UPRIGHT & EMREY'S STORE.
I will make Cabinet Photographs,
A SPECIALTY!
At Lowest Prices
Consistent with
GOOD WORK.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Dr. Crouter.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

CRUICKSHANK & GRIER, Attorneys at Law. Office in Buttars' Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

JOSEPH M. CLARK, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

PAILTHORPE & GEORGE, Attorneys and Solicitors, Petoskey, Mich.

HART & CALL, Attorneys, Petoskey, Mich.

R. L. CORBETT, Attorney at law, Boyne City, Mich. (Prosecuting Attorney of Charlevoix County.)

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

L. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

WM. R. PRESTON, M. D., Physician and Surgeon, 4 doors west of Ingleside, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. A. CARLSTEIN, M. D., Office at residence, Main st., Charlevoix, Mich.

SOCIETIES.

G. A. R.—Baxter Post No. 119, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC—Charlevoix Lodge No. [illegible] F. & A. M. Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over Post office.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. [illegible], meets second Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

K. O. T. M.—Resort Tent No. 138, meets second Thursday every month at Odd Fellows Hall.

L. O. L.—True Blues No. 157, meet Saturday on or before full moon in Odd Fellows' hall.

EMMET CHAPTER No. 101 R. A. M., meets at Petoskey on the first Monday of each month.

IVANHOE COMMANDERY No. [illegible], K. T., meets at their Asylum in Petoskey on the first Thursday of each month.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY meets every Tuesday evening at the homes of its members, during the fall and winter months.

CHARLEVOIX IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION meets at Charlevoix Village Hall on the second Monday of each month, at 7:30 p. m.

President—Byron S. [illegible]
First Vice President—W. A. Smith
Second Vice President—Robert Miller
Recording Secretary—Chas. J. Strang.
Financial Secretary—B. Sutfield.
Treasurer—Albert E. Mason
Executive Committee—J. Milo Eaton, A. [illegible] Cruickshank and E. F. Parmelee.
Corresponding Committee—H. Lee Giddings, W. A. Brown and C. Y. Cook
Reception Committee—F. W. Mayne, L. D. Bartholomew, M. J. Stockman, R. Cooper, Geo. W. Crouter, S. W. Miller, S. M. [illegible] W. C. Newman, E. M. Clark, H. Herdan

All those wishing information regarding Charlevoix, the largest and most thriving town in the whole Pine Lake Region, will do well to address the corresponding committee. Unequalled opportunities for all classes of manufacturing.

HOTELS AND RESTAURANTS.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,
RICHARD COOPER, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - - - Mich.
Every convenience for the travelling public, and headquarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids stages.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,
R. A. Campbell, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - - - Mich.
The most central location. Good Sample Room. Telephone connections. Only 100 feet to steamboat landing.

NEWMAN HOUSE.
W. C. Newman, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - - - Mich.
Fitted up with a view to the comfort of the Travelling Public. Good Stabling furnished. Central Location.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE.
L. N. Pearl, Prop.
East Jordan, - - - Mich.
Come and see us. Telephone connections.

BANK.

Bank of Charlevoix.

Drafts on New York, Chicago, Detroit and Grand Rapids. Bank Remittances or Postoffice Order to any person in Europe. Loans and Discounts on first mortgage on Real Estate. Railroad and Steamship Tickets to and from any place in Europe.

BROWN & CO.

PILE DRIVER.

ALLEN'S Steam Pile Driver. Contracts taken and Dock work solicited at any point between Traverse City and Mackinaw. L. E. Allen, Charlevoix, Mich.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

B. SUTFIELD, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Domestic Cases, etc. Charlevoix, Mich.

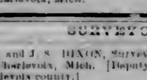
BARBER.

JAS. PERCE, Barber, east side of Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. R. and J. S. DIXON, Surveyors and Engineers, Charlevoix, Mich. [Deputy County Surveyors Charlevoix county.]

DENTIST.



N. J. PERRY, Dentist. Office in Weed's Drug Store, Charlevoix, Mich.

Fresh Stock of
GROCERIES
AT THE
NEW GROCERY,
Corner of Antrim and Grant Streets.

It is my aim to keep a full line of choice groceries at lowest prices.

Your trade is solicited.

Butter and Eggs wanted.

A. J. MUDGE.

MILLINERY
—AND—
FANCY GOODS!
Mrs. ELLA SMITH & Miss ANNIE COOPER
Have opened a store in the Ingleside Building, and invite their friends to call and inspect their fine stock of
FANCY GOODS!
Of all varieties usually kept in a first-class millinery store.

FRANK E. WOOD'S
Bath & Barber
ROOMS.
Hot and cold Baths at any time of the day or evening Odd Fellows' building.

A LITTLE MAID.

A Pretty Story of Hundreds of Years Ago.

Away off in the beautiful country of Greece a long, long time ago, says the Springfield Republican, there lived a little maiden, the daughter of a King. Her name was Gorgo—not a very pretty name, perhaps, to us who are used to calling little girls Maud and Ethel and Helen, but a strong name, and therefore quite appropriate to the little maid who bore it, as you shall see. In those old times there used to be many wars, and the country of Sparta, the part of Greece were Gorgo lived, was famous for its brave warriors, who never thought for a moment of their own safety when their country was in danger. Sometimes these were not good wars, but wars for spite and revenge instead of for freedom and loyalty to beautiful Greece.

Some wicked man would wish to avenge an injury he had received, and in order to do this he would go about among the different kingdoms and persuade the rulers to join with him and try to overcome his enemy; and there would be terrible bloodshed in order to satisfy one wicked man's revenge. Aristagoras was such a man as this. He was dissatisfied with his King, and wished to become the King himself instead. One day he came to Sparta on this evil errand, and tried to persuade King Cleomenes, the father of little Gorgo, to help his base project. He talked with the King a long time. He promised him power and honor and money if he would do as he wished; still more and more money he offered, and at last the King almost consented.

But it had happened that when Aristagoras had come into the presence of the King, the King's little daughter was standing by his side with her hand in his. Aristagoras wanted Cleomenes to send her away, for he knew very well that it is much harder to induce a man to do something wrong when there is a dear little child at his side. But the King said: "No; say what you have to say in her presence, too." And so little Gorgo had sat at her father's feet, looking up into his face with her innocent eyes, and listening intently to all that was said. She felt that something was wrong, and when she saw her father look troubled and hesitate, and cast down his eyes, she knew the strange visitor was trying to make him do something he did not quite want to do. She stole her little hand softly into her father's and said:

"Papa, come away, come, or this strange man will make you do wrong."

This made the King feel strong again, and, clasping the little maid's hand tightly in his own, he rose and left the tempter and went away with the child who had saved him and his country from dishonor. Gorgo was only ten years old then, but she was worthy to be a King's daughter, because being good and true herself, she helped her father to be good and true also.

When she grew to be a woman she became the wife of a King, and then she showed herself as noble a Queen as she had been a Princess. Her husband was that King Leonidas who stood in the narrow pass of Thermopylæ with his small army and fought back the great hosts of the Persians until he and all his heroic band were killed. But before this happened there was a time when the Grecians did not know that the great Persian army was coming to try and destroy them, and a friend of theirs, who was a prisoner in the country where the great Xerxes lived, wishing to warn the Spartans of the coming of the Persians, so they might prepare, sent a messenger to King Leonidas. But when the messenger arrived, all he had to show for his message was a bare, white waxen tablet. The King and all the Lords puzzled over this strange tablet a long time, but could make nothing out of it. At last they began to think it was done for a jest, and did not mean anything.

But just then the young Queen Gorgo said: "Let me take it," and after looking it all over she exclaimed, "There must be some writing underneath the wax!"

They scraped away the wax from the tablet, and there, sure enough, written on the wood beneath, was the message of the Grecian prisoner and his warning to King Leonidas.

Thus Gorgo helped her country a second time, for if the Spartans had not known that the army was coming they could not have time to warn the other kingdoms, and perhaps the Persians would not have been conquered. But as it was, Leonidas, and the other Kings called their armies together, and when the Persian host came sweeping over the plains the Greeks were ready to meet them, and to fight and die for their beautiful Greece.

So this one little maid of hundreds of years ago, Princess and Queen, helped to save her father from disgrace and her country from ruin. And we may feel sure that she was strong and true to the last, even when her brave husband, Leonidas, lay dead in the fearful pass of Thermopylæ, and she was left to mourn in the royal palace at Sparta.

The Dreadful Devil-Fish.

A jolly party of ladies and gentlemen went over to Santa Rosa life-saving station to enjoy the fine surf-bathing on the gulf beach. One gentleman rushed himself into a bathing suit in double-quick, and, with a triumphant cheer, plunged into the briny, scoring the first "header" (not a charity), and swam out some ten or fifteen feet seaward; his triumph was short-lived, however, for he discovered, by the bright moonlight, an enormous devil-fish within a few feet of him, which hoisted its flippers above the water and splashed threateningly. With a yell of dismay, the gentleman made for the shore much faster than he went out, and, while each breaker took him off his feet, he imagined himself in the clutches of the horrid monster and made frantic efforts to escape from the impending danger, finally reaching the shore, safe in limb but fearfully weary.

When safe ashore the gentleman and his companions viewed the monster, which slowly moved around or calmly floated near the surface, not more than twelve or fifteen feet distant, and saw that it was a large devil-fish, such as are often seen on the Florida coast, which seemed desirous of having their company. "Bushy" Hutchinson says that he and another of the crowd walked along the water's edge some 200 yards down the beach, and that the fish kept them company, timing its movements with theirs and stopping when they did, swimming or floating as near inshore as its size would allow. Bush says it appeared to be about eight feet across, and that it occasionally elevated its flippers playfully above the water. It finally disappeared for a time, but later on was discovered near the first place, when all hands scampered ashore and concluded they didn't want to bathe any more that night—a very sensible conclusion, though it is doubtful if the fish would have harmed them, unless they had "run agin" it.—Pensacola Advance-Gazette.

Northern Michigan News.

Cadillac has a population of 1,500.

Mancelona commences school with 300 names on the roll.

There are 146 names on the census of the school district at Bellaire.

Elk Rapids has organized a business men's protective association.

Garden truck is being shipped quite extensively from Elk Rapids to St. Ignace.

Blackberries are selling for four cents a quart in the Grand Traverse region.

The State board of equalization value the taxable property in Antrim county at $3,250,000.

Hattie Kelley of Torch Lake, has been adjudged insane and sent to the Traverse City asylum.

The Grand Traverse County Fair opens at Traverse City Sept. 28 and will continue four days.

The Elmira handle factory makes a perfect handle every two seconds, or 18,000 handles every ten hours.

A recent fire at Cadillac destroyed the storing sheds of Hixon's mill burning 350,000 hoops valued at $2,000.

Messrs. Glenn & Porter will run their saw mill night and day, as soon as they can ship the lumber now on their docks.—Enterprise.

The second annual reunion of the Soldiers and Sailors Association of Antrim county took place at Spencer Creek on the 9th and 10th of this month.

The annual school meeting at Elk Rapids brought out an interested crowd of thirteen tax-payers, who voted $5,500 for school expenses for the coming year.

Fred Dean, a lad working in the saw mill of Cameron Bros., at Torch Lake, had his right hand so badly mutilated by a lath saw that amputation was necessary.

The Herald says that Traverse City Republicans polled 160 votes at their recent caucus. The Republicans of Charlevoix polled 109, and has less than two-thirds the population of Traverse City.

Cheboygan Tribune: Smith Brothers are talking of moving the Mullet Lake House to Sault Ste. Marie if they can secure a good site at the latter place. The hotel would be a credit to any place and is furnished equal to the best.

The Grand Rapids & Indiana will complete the Mackinaw City dock next winter and have it ready for business as soon as navigation opens. It will be 1,200 feet long and 60 feet wide. We are not advised whether they will also build a depot.

The following "notis" is posted on a fence in Custer township: "If' ary man or woman's cows or oxen gits in these yere oats, his or her tail will be cut off. I am a Christian man and pays my taxes, but d——n a man who lets his critters loose, says I."—Mancelona Herald.

Petoskey Record: Mrs. O. T. Booth will sail from England on the City of Rome Sept. 29th, and will reach Petoskey some time in October. The Colonel is looking around for a house, and before snow flies the family will be comfortably settled for the winter.—Record.

Hannah, Lay & Co. are preparing to open a camp at the head of Boardman lake, which will be occupied at once by a force of men for the improvement of the channel of Boardman river, preparatory to the winter logging operations of this firm, on that stream.

J. M. Ashley, Jr., of the Toledo, Ann Arbor & Cadillac railway, assures Cadillacers that he will begin work on their end of the road early next month. When completed, this road will give direct communication through Ann Arbor to Toledo.

Mr. F. E. Gregory, of this place, is now running the Rifenburg mill at Charlevoix as head miller, and will remove his family to that place in a few days. Mr. Gregory has made several changes in the machinery that have materially increased the capacity of the mill, and says it is doing excellent work.—Petoskey Record.

The following is the republican county ticket for Antrim county: Treasurer, Albert S. Abbott; Sheriff, Leander C. Handy; Clerk and Register, John a Harriman; Prosecuting Attorney, Nelson C. Weter; Circuit court commissioner, Charles S. Guile; Surveyor, Fred L. Church; Coroners, Murry Clow and Daniel LaZell.

Manistee was greatly excited on Saturday over the finding of oil. Dispatches give the following particulars: "While drilling in R. G. Peters' third salt well yesterday at the depth of 1,920 feet, a vein of oil was struck which flowed some four hundred barrels of oil in a few hours. When the hole was plugged, employes, who have had experience in drilling oil wells, say all indications point to an output of three thousand barrels a day of the best of oil. Should it after investigation be deemed profitable to make oil, further drilling for salt will be stopped and an oil refinery be erected, thereby adding another industry to our city."

Never Give Up.

If you are suffering with low and depressed spirits, loss of appetite, general debility, disordered blood, weak constitution, headache, or any disease of a bilious nature, by all means procure a bottle of Electric Bitters. You will be surprised to see the rapid improvement that will follow; you will be inspired with new life; strength and activity will return; pain and misery will cease, and henceforth you will rejoice in the praise of Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Dr. G. W. Crouter.

Miraculous Escape.

W. W. Reed, druggist, of Winchester, Ind., writes: "One of my customers, Mrs. Louisa Pike, Bartonia, Randolph Co., Ind., was a long sufferer with Consumption, and was given up to die by her physicians. She heard of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and began buying it of me. In six months' time she walked to this city, a distance of six miles, and is now so much improved she has quit using it. She feels she owes her life to it." Free Trial Bottles at Dr. G. W. Crouter's.

For Sale!

Prof. RICE'S nicely located House and two beautiful lots on [illegible] street near the Park in the village of Charlevoix, are now for sale. Enquire of [illegible], Alpena, Mich., or E. H. GREEN, Charlevoix, Mich.
May 4, 1886.

Teachers' Examination.

The examination of teachers in Charlevoix county for the ensuing school year will occur as follows: At Charlevoix, [illegible] the 10th day of September, 1886; at East Jordan, Friday the 24th day of September, 1886; at Boyne City, Friday, October 29th, 1886; At Boyne City, Friday March 25th 1887, and at East Jordan on Friday April 29th 1887. All examinations to commence at 9 o'clock a. m. and candidates to furnish stationery.

WILLIAM HARRIS, Secretary.

RIFENBURG MILLING CO.
Charlevoix, Mich.
Manufacturers of and Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
3 EXTRA GRADES OF
FLOUR
Feed, Corn Meal, Graham
CASH FOR WHEAT.
We will do exchange work for farmers on short notice.

CHARLEVOIX
Savings Bank.
Organized under the General Banking Law of the State of Michigan.

Henry Bennett, Pres. John Nicholls, Vice Pres. F. A. Smith, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:
Henry Bennett, O. D. Wood,
John Nicholls, A. Buttars,
A. R. Upright, A. Fox,
F. A. Smith.

CAPITAL $25,000
SURPLUS 2,000

The liabilities of Stockholders in all State banks as provided in Art. 3174, Sec. 40 of the Revised Statutes of the State of Michigan, is double the amount of stock taken, making a guaranteed fund of $50,000 to depositors. Superior facilities for the transaction of every legitimate branch of Banking business extended to our customers on terms as favorable as are consistent with safety.

Drafts drawn direct on the leading commercial cities of the world in large or small amounts. Money to loan on approved paper. Exchange bought and sold. Certificates of deposit issued bearing interest. We respectfully solicit your patronage.

CORRESPONDENTS:
NATIONAL PARK BANK - New York.
COMMERCIAL NAT. BANK - Chicago.
NAT. CITY BANK - Grand Rapids.
DETROIT NAT. BANK - Detroit.

New Announcement,
NEXT WEEK,
D. Sherwood & Co

JOHN HOGAN,
HOUSE PAINTER
& Interior Decorator.
RESIDENCE, first door West of Factory, Charlevoix.

NEW SHOP!
All kinds of
Blacksmithing,
At the
Shop in the Foundry Building.
Horseshoeing a specialty.
ALL WORK GUARANTEED.
M. SCOTT.

TIME CARDS OF STEAMERS

[illegible]

Charlevoix and Boyne City
[illegible]

East Jordan and Charlevoix.
STR. NORTH STAR, [illegible] Capt. [illegible]. Leave East Jordan at [illegible] a. m. and 2 p. m., and Charlevoix at [illegible] a. m., 4 p. m., touching at way ports

Harbor Springs, Charlevoix & E. Jordan.
STR. [illegible], Capt. [illegible]
[illegible]

NORTHERN MICHIGAN LINE.
PROP. CHAMPLAIN, [illegible] Capt. [illegible]
Going North, Chicago Tuesdays [illegible] p. m., Charlevoix, Thursdays [illegible] p. m., Cheboygan, Fridays [illegible] p. m. Going South, [illegible] p. m., Milwaukee, Mondays [illegible] p. m., Chicago, Mondays [illegible] p. m.
PROP. LAWRENCE, [illegible] Capt. [illegible]
Going North, Chicago, Fridays [illegible] p. m., Charlevoix, Sundays [illegible] p. m., Cheboygan, Mondays [illegible] a. m. Going South, Cheboygan, Mondays 4 p. m., Charlevoix, Tuesdays [illegible] a. m., Milwaukee, Wednesdays 4 p. m., Chicago, Thursdays [illegible] a. m.
Upright & Emrey, agents, Charlevoix.

HANNAH, LAY & CO'S BOATS.
CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS, [illegible] Capt. O. E. Wilbur
Going North, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Leave Traverse City 7 a. m., Northport 9:00, Charlevoix 11:30, Petoskey 1:00 p. m., Harbor Springs 2, Cross Village 4:30, Mackinac Island 7:45 arriving at St. Ignace 8:00.
Going South, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Leave St. Ignace 6:45 a. m., Mackinac Island [illegible], Cross Village 10:15, Harbor Springs 1:45 p. m., Petoskey 1:15, Charlevoix 2:45, Northport 5:15 p. m., arriving at Traverse City at 7:15 p. m.
T. S. FAXTON, [illegible] Capt. A. G. Allen
Going North, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Leave Traverse City 7 a. m., Torch Lake 9 a. m., Norwood 10:30, Charlevoix 12 noon, Petoskey 1:30 p. m., Harbor Springs 2, Cross Village [illegible], Mackinac Island 7:45 arriving at St. Ignace 8:00.
Going South, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Leave St. Ignace 6 a. m., Mackinac Island 7, Cross Village 10, Harbor Springs 1:15 p. m., Petoskey 1:15, Charlevoix 2:45, Norwood [illegible], Torch Lake arriving at Traverse City 7:15 p. m.
The City of Traverse leaves Chicago [illegible] every Saturday evening at 7, arriving at Traverse City Monday [illegible]. Leaves Traverse City Wednesday evenings at 7 o'clock.
J. E. Hand & Co., Agents, Charlevoix.

Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad.

IN EFFECT SEPTEMBER 5, 1886.

(Trains run on Central Standard Time.)

GOING SOUTH.

Stations	Mail.	Express	Freight.
Mackinaw City, Lv	7 00 a m	9 50 p m	7 00 a m
Petoskey	8 [illegible]	11 20	10 25
Boyne Falls	9 03	11 50	11 50
Mancelona	10 [illegible]	12 54	2 00 p m
Walton Junc	11 24	2 16 a m	4 50
Cadillac	11 25 a m	3 15	7 00
Reed City	1 45	7 00	8 05 a m
Big Rapids	2 14	8 08	10 10
Howard City	3 20	9 10	12 20
D G H & M Cross	4 45	10 15	3 55 p m
Grand Rapids	5 00	10 30	4 15
Kalamazoo	7 25	1 40 p m
Sturgis	9 00	3 03
Ft Wayne	11 30 p m	5 30	4 05
Richmond	4 05		4 50
Cincinnati, Ar	7 25

GOING NORTH.

Stations	Mail.		Freight.
Cincinnati, leave
Richmond	10 00 p m		6 00 a m
Fort Wayne	2 45 a m	8 05	6 25
Sturgis	5 13	8 51	11
Grand Rapids, ar	9 30	4 10 p m	11 20
D., G. H. & M. cross	11 30	5 15	8 20
Howard City	12 35	6 24	9 17
Big Rapids	1 34 p m	7 12	11 15
Reed City	2 05	7 50	1 45 p m
Cadillac	3 51	9 30	5 10
Walton Junc	4 30	10 30	9 35 a m
Mancelona	6 30	12 00	1 00 p m
Boyne Falls	7 34	1 01 a m	3 00
Petoskey	8 16	1 46	4 25
Mackinaw City	9 50	3 15	7 30

C. L. LOCKWOOD, Gen'l Pass Agent.

Washburn & Ackert,
FOUNDREYMEN,
MACHINISTS,
And Manufacturers of The
Charlevoix Plow.

BATH & BARBER
ROOMS.
Hot and Cold Baths and Sea Water Baths at the Barber Shop, 1st door north of Bridge St. House.
If you want a quiet place to get a shave, hair dress or bath call and see me.
JAY L. PRICE.

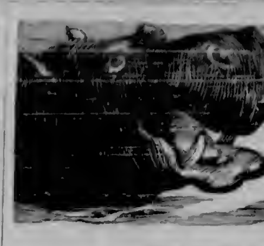
GELLICK & INGALLS
Dealers in
Choice Wines,
Fine Liquors
EXCELLENT CIGARS.
We call Special Attention to our
Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.
We also keep continually on draught
Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer.
Bridge St., 1st door south of Sentinel.

For Finest
JOB WORK,
Patronize The
Sentinel.

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN

The most popular Weekly newspaper devoted to science, mechanics, engineering, discoveries, inventions and patents ever published. Every number illustrated with splendid engravings. This publication furnishes a most valuable encyclopedia of information which no person should be without. The popularity of the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN is such that its circulation nearly equals that of all other papers of its class combined. Price $3.20 a year. [illegible] MUNN & CO., Publishers, No. 361 Broadway, N. Y.

PATENTS. Munn & Co. have also had Thirty-Eight years' practice before the Patent Office and have prepared more than One Hundred Thousand applications for patents in the United States and foreign countries. Caveats, Trade-Marks, Copy-rights, Assignments, and all other papers for securing to inventors their rights in the United States, Canada, England, France, Germany and other foreign countries, prepared at short notice and on reasonable terms. Information as to obtaining patents cheerfully given without charge. Hand-books of information sent free. Patents obtained through Munn & Co. are noticed in the Scientific American free. The advantage of such notice is well understood by all persons who wish to dispose of their patents. Address MUNN & CO., Office SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, 361 Broadway, New York.



--THE--
Best Show!
---OF---
STOVES.
The ROUND OAK,
And SQUARE BASE
HEATING STOVES.
COMPLETE STOCK OF NEW HARDWARE.
JOB & TIN WORK. VERY BEST PUMPS.
L. D. Bartholomew & Co.

THE BEST
Drugs, Confectionery, Stationery,
BOOKS & PAPERS,
FISHING TACKLE, Etc,
Soda Water, Mineral Water, Cigars,
Are found at PERRY WEED'S.
The only News stand in town.

BURNS & SCROGGIE'S
LIVERY STABLE
CHARLEVOIX.
The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.
Drivers furnished if desired. Rates low.
Burns & Scroggie, Charlevoix.

C. R. Bellinger,
--THE--
JEWELER,
HAS JUST RECEIVED A FULL LINE OF JEWELRY,
Clocks, Watches
Etc., Etc.

HELLO

EVERYBODY
Says that Advance Has The Best
HARNESS MAKER!
In The County.
Call and see him. He is found in the person of
F. J. CUTTER.

J. T. Kirkpatrick,
ARCHITECT
AND CONTRACTOR,
—ON—
Charlevoix Summer Resorts.
I have the Plans of 10 cottages of different designs that can be seen by parties wanting to build cottages.
I employ only first-class workmen, both
Carpenters and Painters.
Work intrusted to his care will have prompt attention.
J. T. KIRKPATRICK.

Take The Sentinel.

Fox & Miller
Offer a
Mammoth Stock
OF
BOOTS, SHOES
and other
FOOT WEAR,
--AT--
LOWER PRICES
Than can be found elsewhere in the County.

We have just secured a
FIRST-CLASS
SHOEMAKER,
And will make Repairing a specialty.

We have the Goods and we are bound to sell them.

NOTHING SHODDY.

Fox & Miller.

MONEY TO LOAN,
At current rates of interest, on
Approved Real Estate Security.
School Bonds bought and sold.
MILEY & CHAPIN,
Boyne City.

The Kalamazoo "DAILY TELEGRAPH."
Contains the Associated Press Dispatches
Sent by Mail at 50c a month.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

SMITH & PARMELEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX, : MICHIGAN.

RECENT measurements show that the Washington monument has settled four inches in the last year.

SENATOR EVARTS is improving and expects soon to be entirely recovered from the accident he recently met with in Vermont.

ALL travelers to Mount Hood this season say there never was so little snow on the mountain, the weather has been so warm.

THE widow of Paul Hayne, the Southern poet, is in want. The Washington Herald suggests a subscription for her throughout the South.

THE city appraiser at Charleston, S. C., thinks $5,000,000 would be required to place the buildings in as good order as before the earthquakes.

THE last warrant for the payment of Alabama claims has been signed by Acting Secretary Fairchild, who recently affixed his signature to 1,962 documents of this class.

JENNY LIND'S daughter is coming to this country to sing. She is not described as a great singer, but old people who heard the entrancing voice of her mother will listen to her with indulgence.

"EXTRAVAGANT salaries, so far from tending to make people in responsible trusts honest," says the Boston Transcript, "have a directly opposite effect, as many painful instances of moral delinquency indicate."

EPITOME OF THE WEEK.

Interesting News Compilation.

FROM WASHINGTON.

ORDERS were given by General Sheridan on the 8th for the immediate removal from Arizona to Florida of the Apache and Warm Spring tribes of Indians, with the exception of Geronimo and his band of hostiles, who would probably be tried at Fort Bowie by court-martial.

THE feeling was prevalent in the War Department on the 8th that the capture of Geronimo had practically put an end to Indian hostilities in this country.

THE last session of Congress having refused to make an appropriation necessary to defray the expenses of the National Board of Health, it "shut up shop" on the 9th.

A FINE was imposed by the Comptroller of the Currency on the 10th upon five national banks of one hundred dollars each for delinquency in responding to his calls for monthly reports.

IN the United States and Canada the business failures for the seven days ended on the 10th numbered 178, against 190 the previous seven days.

IN the September report of the Department of Agriculture, the wheat yield is placed at over 80,000,000 bushels greater than last year.

THE United States' total cotton crop was on the 10th estimated at 6,575,000 bales.

JOHN TYLER, son of the late President Tyler, has been appointed by the Secretary of the Interior as chief of the private land claims division of the General Land Office.

THE exchanges at twenty-six leading clearing houses in the United States during the week ending on the 11th aggregated $787,117,290, against $767,179,114 the previous week. As compared with the corresponding week of 1885 the increase amounts to 9.3 per cent.

THE EAST.

AT the Massachusetts Prohibition State convention held at Worcester on the 8th a full State ticket was nominated with J. T. Lathrop for Governor. The resolutions demand the prohibition of the manufacture and sale of all intoxicating beverages, and condemn the Republican and Democratic parties for their past course regarding the liquor question.

[illegible]

... reported on the 10th they would be tried by a military commission.

THE corn yield of Illinois it was estimated on the 10th would be [illegible] bushels, or 10,000,000 more than last year, and the wheat crop of Michigan was placed at 23,500,000 bushels.

THE Democrats of Nevada on the 10th renominated J. M. Adams for Governor. T. J. Bell received the nomination for Lieutenant-Governor.

WHILE hunting on the 10th near Aberdeen, D. T., P. Hooper Phillips, ex-mayor of Nashville, Tenn., was accidentally killed by his friend, James Hulns.

CONGRESSIONAL nominations were made in the following districts on the 10th: Republicans—Michigan, Sixth, Mark S. Brewer; Idaho, Fred. T. Dubois. Democrats—Arkansas, First, Poindexter Dunn (renominated); Missouri, Twelfth, W. J. Stone (renominated). Prohibitionist—Michigan, Fifth, E. L. Briggs.

IRVIN MURRAY was hanged at Georgetown, Tex., on the 10th for wife murder.

NEAR Fountain Run, Ky., Mrs. Ray Turner and child and four young men were drowned while endeavoring to cross Green river, and their horse and wagon was swept away.

CONGRESSIONAL nominations were made as follows on the 11th, Republicans—Kentucky, Tenth district, W. L. Hurst; Missouri, Tenth district, F. W. Ledergerber. Democrat—Illinois, Second district, Frank Lawler (renominated).

THE standing of the National League base-ball clubs at the close of the week ended on the 11th was as follows: Chicago, games won, 76; lost, 25. Detroit, won, 72; lost, 29. New York, won, 62; lost, 37. Philadelphia, won, 59; lost, 37. Boston, won, 44; lost, 53. St. Louis, won, 37; lost, 64. Kansas City, won, 27; lost, 63. Washington, won, 18; lost, 73.

UNKNOWN persons on the 12th murdered and robbed H. E. Powers, agent of the ... [illegible]

GERONIMO'S CAPTURE.

A Detailed Account of the Long Chase After the Wily Savage—Hardships Endured by Captain Lawton's Command—The Prisoners Likely to Be Tried by a Military Commission.

PAINTED CAVE, Tex., Sept. 11.—Friday morning about one o'clock a special train of the Southern Pacific railroad passed here with Geronimo, Chief Natchez and thirty-seven Apaches in charge of Captain H. W. Lawton, Lieutenants Smith, Walsh and Brown, of the Fourth United States Cavalry, and Dr. Leonard Wood, surgeon and First Lieutenant of the Tenth Infantry. There were twenty-eight non-commissioned officers and privates acting as a guard to the prisoners. Captain Lawton, in command of the party, gave the following account of the capture of the Indians:

"My command was organized and took the field May 5, 1886. We were to operate exclusively south of the national boundary in Mexico. It was presumed that Geronimo would go to his stronghold, the Sierra Madres. On the contrary, his band broke up into small parties and commenced a series of very damaging raids in Southwestern Arizona and Northwestern Sonora, in consequence of which the troops were compelled to change the original plan to follow the raiding party. It was my particular duty to keep the trail and not to lose sight of the Apaches, knowing at all times where they were. This work continued until after June, when the trail led into the Azno mountains in Sonora, and from the fact that the raiding party suddenly disappeared from the frontier line it was believed that they had left for their stronghold in the Sierra Madre mountains. Up to this time the command had marched altogether a distance of 1,436 miles, covering that much ... [illegible]

AMERICAN SAILS VICTORIOUS.

The Boston Sloop Mayflower Defeats the British Cutter Galatea in the International Yachting Contest for the America's Cup—The Victor Crosses the Line Over Half an Hour Ahead of the Vanquished.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The crack Boston sloop Mayflower Saturday won the second race for the America cup and saved it for another year at least. What with the light wind that prevailed early in the race the winning sloop came only within eleven minutes of the seven hours' limit, beyond which the race would have been declared off for another trial, but she won the race and the cup by coming in something like thirty-four minutes and twenty seconds ahead of the Galatea. The distance sailed was twenty miles to windward around Sandy Hook lighthouse and return, from a point near the Scotland lightship.

The Mayflower got away at 11:22:25, the Galatea following a little more than two minutes later. The wind was west-northwest, and was blowing at the rate of fifteen miles an hour. At 12:04 the wind had increased to twenty-three miles an hour, and the Mayflower was about a quarter of a mile in the lead. At 12:18 the wind had dropped a little, and was blowing at the rate of nineteen miles an hour. The Mayflower at this time was nearly a mile ahead of the Galatea. The Boston vessel kept gaining on her British competitor, turning the stake-boat and coming into the home stretch three miles in the lead. The wind had gone down to twelve miles an hour.

It was 1:54:20 when the Mayflower turned the stake-boat. She then trimmed her sheets and headed off west by north for the Jersey coast. At 2:09:30 the Galatea reached the buoy and rounded. ... [illegible]

MAINE'S ELECTION.

The Pine Tree State Elects the Republican State and Congressional Ticket—Indications Point to a Reduced Majority, but the Result Exceeds the Expectations of the Victors—A Republican Estimate.

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 14.—Chairman Manley has sent the following telegram to the editor of the New York Tribune:

"The result of the election is a far larger Republican majority than was anticipated; the largest, indeed, given in the State for the last fifteen years except in the Presidential years. We expected 7,000 or 8,000 plurality. The figures at this hour—eleven o'clock—indicate a plurality for Bodwell of not less than 12,000, and not improbably 14,000. We have carried every Congressional district, elected two-thirds to three-fourths of the Legislature, thus securing us the Senate and county officers, probably, in fourteen of the sixteen counties of the State. The Republican plurality in this city is the largest ever thrown, being more than 700 out of a total vote of 1,800. The total vote of the State will be about 137,000, which is extraordinarily large for an off year. Out of this I figure that a third-party vote will not exceed 3,500, far less than was expected by the leaders of the movement.

All four Republican Congressmen are re-elected by handsome majorities, Reed in the First district increasing his plurality over Clifford to 1,200, against 925 over Cleaves in 1884. The Legislature will stand probably 23 Republican Senators to 8 Democratic against a complete Republican Senate in 1884. The Democrats will gain in the House in equal proportion, but the Republicans will have a handsome majority. Cumberland County has probably gone Republican, excepting for sheriff, whom the Democrats have doubtless elected on the liquor question.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 14.—Two hundred ... [illegible]

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

The Detroit grain and produce quotations are: Wheat—No. 1 White, 79¼@79½c; No. 2 Red, 79¾@79¾c, No. 3 Red, 78¾@78¾c. Flour—Michigan White Wheat, choice, $5.00@5.25; roller process, $4.25@4.50; patents, $4.75@5.00. Corn—No. 2, 43¼@43½c. Oats—No. 2, 27¼@27½c. Butter—Creamery, 20@22c. Cheese, 10@10½c. Eggs, 12½@13c.

There are 401 veterans in the Soldiers' Home at Grand Rapids.

News reached Marquette a few days ago of a rich strike at the Beaver silver mine, Port Arthur, where, it was said, a four-foot vein of ore had been tapped, the yield being from one thousand to four thousand ounces of pure silver to the ton.

The Spiritualists of Battle Creek are talking of establishing a newspaper.

A barn belonging to Edward Toplift, near Brookfield, Eaton County, was destroyed by fire the other night. Loss, $2,000.

The grocery store of Pelton & Bartlett, at Jackson, was robbed the other night, the safe being blown open and $150 taken. The center of the safe was wrecked. The damage amounted to $200, aside from the money taken. The robbery was the work of experienced thieves.

The remains of Martin Brass, who disappeared June 19 from Norwich, Missaukee County, were found the other day in a root-cellar near his former dwelling. Mrs. Brass and her paramour, James Crofts, are awaiting trial for his murder.

The W. R. C., of Schoolcraft, auxiliary to Burson Post, G. A. R., deny the report that they have suspended, and say that the corps is in a very flourishing condition.

There is only one female prisoner in the prison at Jackson. She is Mrs. Havilland, ... [illegible]

THE STORM KING.

TROUBLESOME APACHES.

BURIED IN A MINE.

AN EARTHQUAKE IN OHIO.

LATER.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

WEST AND SOUTH.

[illegible]

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

SMITH & PARMELEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX, : MICHIGAN.

HY. A. WATKINS' WOOING.

AFTER LONGFELLOW.

On a tool bench in his shoe shop
Sat the ancient foot gear maker,
In the land of West St. Louis,
Where dwelt the tribe of Big Ears,
Building gaiters, boots and slippers
Out of paste board and split leather.
At his side ... [illegible]
... [illegible]

[illegible]

WANDERING ARABS.

But Two of Them Decided to Settle Down.

[illegible]

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

A Heart-Reaching Discourse on "The Vacant Chair."

A Subject That Embraces Every Home—The Chairs Made Vacant by Absence and Death—"Thou Shalt be Missed Because Thy Seat Will be Empty."

REV. T. DEWITT TALMAGE preached his first sermon on his return from his summer jaunt, in the Brooklyn Tabernacle from the following text:

Thou shalt be missed, because thy seat will be empty.—I Samuel, xx, 18.

Set on the table the cutlery and chased silverware of the palace, for King Saul will give a state dinner to-day. A distinguished place is kept at the table for his son-in-law, a celebrated warrior, David by name. The guests, jeweled and plumed, come in and take their places. When people are invited to a king's banquet they are very apt to go. But before the covers are lifted from the feast Saul looks around and finds a vacant seat at the table. He says within himself, or perhaps audibly:

"What does this mean? Where is my son-in-law? Where is David, the great warrior? I invited him. I expected him. What? A vacant chair at a king's banquet!"

The fact was that David, the warrior, had been seated for the last time at his father-in-law's table. The day before Jonathan had coaxed David to go and occupy that place at the table, saying, to David in the words of my text:

Thou shalt be missed, because thy seat will be empty.

The prediction was fulfilled. David was missed. His seat was empty. ... [illegible]

HOUSEHOLD ECONOMIES.

ASSORTED SNAKES.

[illegible]

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established, 1869.

CHARLEVOIX, SEPT. 22, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH Editor.
ED I. PARMELEE, Associate Editor.

Political

The Vermont Republican majority of 20,000—as large as that of a Presidential year—shows that the thinking men of the party are made of the right material and have level heads.

Thus far since the passage of the act of Congress remonetizing silver, 230,000,000 of the silver dollars have been coined, the bulk of which are piled up in the vaults of the Treasury.

Gen. Cutcheon as Member of Congress has made a record of efficiency and faithfulness which deserves recognition at the hands of his constituency. There are a great many L. G. Masons in this Congressional district, and but few Cutcheons.

The full official returns from Vermont show a republican plurality of 20,590. In 1882 when there was no prohibition ticket in the field the republican plurality was 21,373. The entire prohibition party vote this year in Vermont is 1,532 or 220 below that of two years ago. Neal Dow was right when he said that the "third party" would not be able to elect a president before 1892.

Mr. Yaple's free trade speeches would take well in England. That country, like Mr Yaple, is opposed to protection to American labor and American industries. So strongly opposed in fact is she, to our rapid growth and prosperity that she even sends British gold over here to attempt the bribery of our national congress into making laws that will permit the old country to monopolize our markets.

The Charlevoix Journal is about as accurate in historical matters as it is in everything else. According to the Journal 1855 was at least two years in advance of the birth of the Republican party at Jackson. If the editor will take the pains to look the matter up he will find that the first Republican Governor of Michigan was elected in 1854, and that that year and not 1857 witnessed the organization of the Republican party.

The Marshall Statesman says: "Many Greenbackers swear by all that is great and good that they will not support the 'fusion.' They realize that the Greenback nominees on the ticket will be slaughtered whenever by so doing a vote can be obtained for a Democratic candidate for the State Legislature. It is too plainly evident that the central idea of the campaign on the part of Boss Dickinson is to land himself in the United States Senate."

The nomination of Roswell G. Horr in the Eighth district pits him once more against Timothy E. Tarsney, under circumstances far more favorable for Republican success than two years ago. Not only is Mr. Horr stronger this year with the dissentient elements which defeated him before, but the split in the sixth district can not fail to help him materially. His election now looks brightly probable, and it will give to Michigan in the House another experienced and influential leader.

The later returns from the Maine election show that Bodwell, Republican candidate for Governor, will have a plurality of fully 14,000. The victory is an important one in every way and is a great strengthener of Republican hope. With the exception of the presidential years of 1872, 1876, and 1884, Mr. Bodwell's plurality of 14,000 has not been equalled in twenty years. The Democrats succeeded in electing three State Senators, but the Republicans make gains in the House and elect a solid Congressional delegation. Good enough for an off year. The Prohibitionists only polled about 3,000 votes.

The TRIBUNE was in error the other day when it said St. John was paid $30 per speech in Maine. Gen. Neal Dow, who will be accepted as good authority, says St. John received $50 per speech. In this connection we quote from the Providence Star: "Gen. Neal Dow says that Gov. St. John has been paid $50 each for his democratic-prohibition speeches in Maine; that he refused to speak in Augusta and Bangor because the money was not raised in advance, and that he, Gen. Dow, has contributed more than he wanted to to the payment of St. John's demands. This is the kind of a moral campaign that the prohibition party has been making in Maine."—Detroit Tribune.

One of the difficulties which the Fusion ticket has to encounter during the campaign has an amusing aspect. In the Upper Peninsula, the Saginaw valley, and the lumber regions all over the State, and various other localities, the woods are full of protection democrats, while in the southern counties the party is free trade. The Fusion nominee for Governor is a rampant free trader, and so are several of its nominees for Congress. The difficulty is to so arrange the campaign that the free trade nominees will either keep out of the northern counties and the Upper Peninsula, or will consent to be wholly or partially muzzled when they stump those sections. Already there have occurred some amusing contretemps.

The Jackson Citizen having remarked that "the Greenbackers have a lawyer from a little cross-roads village called Mendon," the Grand Rapids Telegram-Herald observes that "a few remarks on the great metropolis called Gilead would be in order." The most pertinent remark is this: that a lawyer of a small country village prima facie has a small practice, and it would be exceptional indeed to find in such a situation one of much repute in that profession. On the other hand, just the location where one would look for the ablest representative farmer is in or near a small rural village. The great lawyer is naturally to be sought in the midst of lawyers and law business—in the city. The great farmer is naturally to be sought in the midst of farmers and farms—in the country.

Marine.

Grave fears are entertained for the safety of the schooner Narragansett. She cleared from this port sixteen days ago with pig iron for Milwaukee, and has not since been heard from.

The scow Dan Mabee is long overdue here.

The steamer Gracie Barker was partially hauled out at Campbell's ship yard yesterday, to adjust her stern bearings.

It is said that Capts. Grummond and Kirtland are making arrangements to form "the strongest wrecking combination on fresh waters."

"I expect to see grain freights 10 cents out of Chicago to Buffalo, and lumber $3 a thousand out of Bay City before the fall closes," said a well-known inspector and shipper recently.

The people on the Revenue Cutter Andrew Johnson, speaking for your Uncle Samuel, as it were, say that the self-propelling steam pile-drivers on these waters, must be classed with other steam vessels, and take out licenses accordingly.

The following are the clearances from the port of Charlevoix, for ports outside the Michigan District, for the week ending yesterday evening:

15—Schr. Evening Star, 175,000 ft lumber, Glenn & Porter to Chicago.
15—Schr. Lottie Mason, 80 c slabs, Master to Milwaukee.
15—Schr. Sea Gem, 80 c wood Master to Milwaukee.
16—Schr. Jessie Phillips 175,000 ft lumber, Pine Lake Lumber Co, to Chicago.
17—Schr. Burt Barnes, 100 c wood Master to Milwaukee.
18—Schr. Belle Brown, 4,500 posts, 160 c wood Upright & Emrey to Chicago.
18—Schr. Dan Mabee, 110 c wood, [illegible] & Son to Milwaukee.
18—Schr. Starke, 7,000 ties Meech, to Chicago.
18—Schr. Helmes, 110 c wood, Downer to Chicago.
18—Schr. Mockingbird, 3,700 ties Upright & Emrey to Milwaukee.
20—Schr. Newland, 140 c wood Downer to Chicago
20—Schr. Stanton, 70 c wood, 150 c bark Downer to Chicago.

Razings from Hayes.

Our farmers are cutting their corn.

Eugene Cross has moved into his new house.

John Haggarty has a fine new skiff of his own make.

John Simonton has moved to Mrs. Sarah Scroggie's place.

A. Ross has improved his place by re-painting it.

Geo. Lewis of Geneva, N. Y., is visiting his uncle G. O. Scott.

Thomas Goodrich of Carpenter, will teach the winter term of school at Fairgrove.

One of our resorters caught a 16 pound pike in Susan Lake a few days ago.

Frank Burnett has re-modeled and enlarged his boat named "Greenhorn," and re-christened it "Mossback."

W. H. Kunkle and H. V. Chew have purchased 80 acres of cedar land near Horton's Bay, and will make ties and posts this fall and winter.

I. S. Webster started for Grand Rapids, Monday, to attend the Agricultural exhibition and sell his combination farm implement. He will probably visit the upper peninsula before returning.

Eveline Items.

Miss Frankie, daughter of Richard Lake, left Friday for North Branch, where she will stop with her aunt to attend school.

Rev. Mr. Wakely preached at the Lewis school house Sunday evening. He will preach again next Sabbath evening.

There will be a donation held at the Beers school house next Friday evening for the benefit of Rev. Wakely. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Mr. Pearce and wife of California, are visiting his brother-in-law, Mr. N. L. Cash. He reports the wheat crop very large out west.

Miss Laura Jarman left Monday for Oberlin, Ohio, to visit friends and relatives. She expects to be absent one year.

Last Saturday Thos. High, while under the influence of liquor, went where Ed Kostelow was engaged in cutting wood; after some words had passed between them, High picked a quarrel with Kostelow and drew a knife on him. Kostelow, who had a double bitted ax in his hand, struck High with the flat side of the ax just below the right ear, inflicting an ugly wound. The Doctor was sent for.

The Philadelphia Times, a democratic newspaper, says that the Republicans have reason to congratulate themselves on the result in Maine. The Times is a much more honest and candid newspaper that the average Democratic paper in Michigan.

Detroit Tribune: Mr. Yaple is a free trader, but he is eager to convince the laboring man that he is their best friend. His willingness to assist in reducing their wages to a level with the pauper labor of England is rather a queer way to convince the laboring men that he loves them.

Mr. Yaple is endeavoring to show in his speeches that under free trade this country would be the gainer in competition with England, and that England would be the loser. This, of course, explains why England is so anxious to have the United States go in for free trade. Mr. Yaple's logic is not of the convincing sort.

The Chicago Journal says: Geo. L. Yaple, the democratic and greenback fusion candidate for governor of Michigan, says that he is 'unequivocally against protection.' The majority in Michigan will be unequivocally against Yaple." The fusionists of Michigan begin to think so themselves, and are shoving out the boodle to beat all.

"Protection," says Senator Edmunds, "leads to the development of every variety of American production and so to the fullest growth of the nation." And Mr. Edmunds is almost as much of a statesman as the fusion candidate for governor, who is trying to make the people of Michigan believe that the vital good of the country lies in the direction of free trade.

The Republican County Ticket.

The Republican County Convention submitted to the people a ticket in all respects worthy of support.

HARRISON BERMAN,

the candidate for Sheriff, was elected to that position in 1884, and in every way has justified the choice made. He has proven himself a capable and trustworthy officer, careful, prompt and reliable. He possesses in an eminent degree those sterling qualities which are requisite in a successful Sheriff, and has made as few mistakes as any man ever elected to that position.

ABEL W. CHEW

was a choice that will bear very little criticism. Mr. Chew is a citizen of Hayes, where he has for several years taken a leading part in township matters. He has been a member of the Board of School Examiners, which position he filled creditably. He is an intelligent and capable man, especially fitted for the duties of County Clerk, and will, if elected prove himself worthy.

A. E. UPRIGHT,

the nominee for Register of Deeds, is one of the best known citizens of Charlevoix County. He came to Charlevoix a poor man, and by his integrity and superior business ability has pushed himself to the front rank of our business men. He is the head of the firm of Upright & Emery, one of the heaviest mercantile and shipping firms in Northern Michigan. He was for eight years Clerk and Register of this county, and filled the office with general satisfaction. Mr. Upright made himself deservedly popular as Clerk and Register, and his popularity makes him a strong candidate. The nomination is a most excellent one.

HENRY C. COOPER,

who will undoubtedly be the next county Treasurer, is distinctively a Charlevoix county boy; raised in Charlevoix, and honored by his township atmost since the year of his majority. He has several times filled the office of Township Treasurer, and filled it with ability and fidelity. Henry is in every way capable of handling the finances of Charlevoix county. His nomination by acclamation is a strong token of his strength with the people.

ROSCOE L. CORBETT,

Prosecuting Attorney, re-nominated for that position, is one of the most promising attorneys in Northern Michigan. He has, by his careful and judicious course during the term just closing, fully deserved the re-nomination. We regard Mr. Corbett as possessing more than ordinary qualifications, and we know that opinion is shared by the people very generally.

E. K. ROBINSON

has been County Surveyor many years, and is again the Republican candidate. Mr. Robinson is well known as being capable and worthy.

Norwood Notes.

[By Psyche Ann.]

William Brown has had the misfortune of losing one of his horses.

Clarence Nash who was hurt by a fall two weeks ago, is very low and not expected to recover. His spine was injured. Dr. Calkins of Petoskey, was in consultation on Monday with Dr. Chamberlain about the case.

The Champlain while loading here on Monday, set fire to a pile of ties on the dock which was not discovered until all had gone ashore. The Norwood fire brigade reached the dock just in time to save it; five minutes later the dock would have been destroyed as the wind was blowing a gale and there was 25 barrels of oil near the fire. This is not the first disastrous fire that the boys have prevented by prompt action. They are almost equal to a steam engine.

Ironton.

Miss Pearl Lennox has gone to Eastport for six weeks to attend a private school conducted by her cousin.

Mr. Box and Miss Lenzena are visiting friends in Traverse City.

Miss Ella Hause is visiting friends in Elk Rapids.

Would like to report some of our young people as married, but can't, because we don't know. Harry don't believe in tin-pan concerts, and he won't tell.

Our postmaster was at Boyne City on Saturday attending the harmonious (?) Green-Democrat convention. Isn't that offensive partizanship? Eh?

Our Helping Hand Society have decided to buy a small library for their own use. That is right and we wish them success.

Mr. Goodyear, who had the contract for fixing the roof of the Congregational church, had the job completed so that the late rain did no damage to the plastering.

Tom High, who works for Stripp, went home on Friday night and cruelly beat his wife; this did not use up all his passion, so he visited two men at work on Stripp's farm on Saturday, and wanted to repeat his exploit of the previous night, when one of the men, Ed. Cosler, struck him with an axe, cutting his throat. It is thought he will die. Cause, too much whiskey.

Query: Do we want a vender of the "cause" to execute our cause.

A conference of Congregational ministers was held here on Friday to receive our new church into the fellowship of churches.

All the sick are convalescent, and the general health of the town is good.

The Council of the Congregational churches has been called to meet at Ironton, next Friday, at 2 o'clock p. m., to receive the Ironton Congregational church society into the association. The church will be completed next week, and is to be dedicated Sunday afternoon, Sept. 26, services commencing at 3 o'clock; the Rev. C. F. Van Auken officiating. Madam Capianna, the noted teacher of vocal culture of New York City, will sing a solo. The society have assurances that the church will be dedicated free from debt.—Enterprise.

Go to Scott's shop for a first-class job of horseshoeing.

Northern Michigan.

St. Ignace has 17 saloons and Sault Ste. Marie has 23.

The M. E. church at Cadillac has 110 members.

Frankfort has a population of 1,600 including 400 children of school age.

Mosser of Cadillac, has made 1,000,000 brick this season, and can't supply the demand.

A portion of the Bellaire base ball club went Spencer Creek Friday, played a game with the Elk Rapids clubs, and were defeated by a score of 26 to 16.

The W. C. T. U. of the Ninth District at the convention at Cadillac last week elected Mrs. Lucy F. More house, President; Mrs. M. B. Bruce, Recording Secretary, and Mrs Ann M. Hood, Corresponding Secretary.

The Hon. T. J. Ramsdell and wife of Manistee, celebrated their silver wedding Sept, 9 with a large company of friends. Mrs. Ramsdell presented her husband with a gold watch made in Switzerland and ordered from Paris. The case is of heavy gold and contains in its small compass the finest works to be procured in the world—a wonderful specimen of the inventive genius of the brain of man. The face has the usual hour and minute hands, a second hand, and a dial with a hand which makes a revolution once in four years, the dial being divided into four parts, and the hand traveling the first three quarters each in 365 days and the fourth in 366 days, so that the calendar is perpetual. The phases of the moon are also given, with the day of the week and month. The watch is a repeater, also striking the hour, quarter, and minute. The photograph of the donor, Mrs. Ramsdell, is to be burnished on the inside of the gold case, and the outside ornamentation and lettering are yet to be done. The watch is undoubtedly the finest and most expensive piece of mechanism of its kind in Michigan.

WANTED—Good, steady men to cut ties and posts. Apply to George Burns, at the livery barn, or Junius S. Dixon, Charlevoix.

Mrs. Litney & Carr, the popular milliners, have just received and are still receiving one of the finest and fullest lines of fall and winter goods ever brought to Charlevoix. The ladies are invited to call in and inspect their stock.

A house and 6 lots for sale or rent Inquire of L. E. Allen, Charlevoix.

The Tax Sales.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY TREASURERS' OFFICE, East Jordan, August 17th, 1886.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the sale of lands in Charlevoix county advertised by the Auditor General as delinquent for taxes of 1884—and previous years—will be held at the County Treasurers' office in the Waldron House in the village of Bay Springs in said county—there being no suitable buildings at the county seat of said county and the Board of Supervisors of said county designated the said Waldron House for county offices—commencing on Tuesday, the 5th day of October next, at nine o'clock a. m. and continue from day to day—Sunday excepted—until the same shall have been disposed of according to law.

ORLANDO BLAIR,
County Treasurer.

THE CIRCUS BEGINS!

NEXT WEEK I AM GOING TO RECEIVE A

LARGE INVOICE OF

CLOTHING!

Bought from one of the leading houses of Rochester, N. Y., Which I will sell at Prices that will draw Trade from all over the County.

I think the best advertisement a merchant can have is to have his goods advertise him in good fits and prices that cannot be beat.

GEO. W. MILLER.

The Earthquake Did It!

OUR NEW YORK BUYER TOOK ADVANTAGE OF THE GREAT EXCITEMENT JUST IN TIME TO BUY US A MAMMOTH STOCK OF FALL AND WINTER

CLOAKS.

And writes us that he never before secured such Bargains for us or so desirable styles.

LADIES, wait for our stock which will be here in a few days and we will convince you what an earthquake will do for us.

Everything you need is coming in DRY GOODS, NOTIONS, and all the Leading Fancies.

F. W. CRAINE & CO.

DRY GOODS!

J. L. HURD & CO.

GROCERIES!

CLOAKS! CLOAKS!

CLOAKS, CLOAKS!

CLOAKS!

--AT--

Rosenthal & Son's

Having just received the largest and best assortment of Cloaks ever shown in Northern Michigan, we now await your inspection

And we are confident that we can Suit Everybody

IN A STYLISH SHORT WRAP, OR A HANDSOME NEW-MARKET OR A COSY STREET JACKET.

These goods having been purchased at a very low figure, we can sell them at

MOST ASTONISHING LOW PRICES.

Call and examine before going elsewhere,

Respectfully,

ROSENTHAL & SON.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL. XVIII. NO.--22 CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1886. WHOLE NO. 879

School Books!

SCHOOL BOOKS! SCHOOL BOOKS!

---HEADQUARTERS---

For Everything needed in the School Room, at

HINES & CO.'S DRUG AND STATIONERY STORE.

You will find it to your interest to look over our stock before purchasing elsewhere.

Respectfully,
F. G. HINES & CO.

UPRIGHT & EMREY,--GENERAL DEALERS.

UPRIGHT & EMREY,

Dealers in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Etc.

CHOICE TEAS,

Best Coffees

Boots & Shoes!

IN ALL GRADES OF MEN'S, WOMEN'S and CHILDREN'S.

We have given more than our usual care and attention to the selection of our stock, and we Know we can please our patrons in all

KINDS OF FOOTWEAR.

UPRIGHT & EMREY.

We can Supply you with EVERYTHING in our Line

THE FINEST STOCK OF

FURNITURE

ever offered in Charlevoix,

IS NOW AWAITING YOUR INSPECTION AT

Henry C. Cooper's.

A Choice Line of

FRESH GROCERIES,

OF EVERY VARIETY,

Including Confectionery, Fruits, Canned Goods, and Tobaccos and Cigars in stock

For your inspection in OPERA BLOCK by

R. J. COOPER.

STOVES.

THE LARGEST STOCK OF STOVES EVER EXHIBITED IN CHARLEVOIX CO.

NOW ON SALE

AT STOCKMAN & IDDINGS', HARDWARE STORE.

Intending purchasers are sure of obtaining here the best goods at reasonable prices.

Parties designing to purchase a Heating Stove can, at very little additional expense, secure one of our Handsome Stoves, so much in advance of the old style Round Base. Examine them at your nearest hardware dealer's and be convinced of what we say.

We furnish handsome, self-adjusting side fenders, nickle center band, spun brass urn and the finest finished cold rolled steel body in the market, used by no other manufacturer but ours: also the best damper grate in the world for wood. Made in four sizes--Nos. 15, 18, 21 and 25. Nos. 18, 21 and 25 are made with extension bodies when desired.

WE HAVE A FULL LINE OF THESE STOVES,

YOURS TRULY,

STOCKMAN & IDDINGS.

Sep. 29, 1886

The Best Groceries At The Lowest Prices

ARE FOUND AT THE GROCERY AND PROVISION HOUSE OF

A. E. MASON.

I do a strictly Cash-over-counter business and will guarantee lowest prices.

J. MILO EATON'S

REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE, AND LOAN OFFICE.

The oldest in the county. Established in 1875.

Money to loan in sums to suit and at lowest rates on improved farms.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE furnished on short notice. Office over Postoffice.

A. J. McLEOD,

having returned to the Charlevoix Meat Market, announces that he will sell at

Wholesale or Retail

All kinds of

FRESH MEATS, SALT PORK,

SMOKED & SALTED

HAMS,

Dried and Smoked BACON, DRIED BEEF, Bologna, Head Cheese, Sausage.

Highest Prices Paid FOR HIDES and PELTS.

Will kill hogs or cattle for other Markets or persons wishing that class of work at low rates.

A. J. McLEOD.

CHARLEVOIX

Manufacturing Co.

Charlevoix, Mich.,

Manufacturers of

Sash and Doors,

Blinds, Mouldings etc.

NEWELL

Posts, Banisters & Stair Rails kept in stock.

Window & Door Frames made to order.

All Kinds of

Building Material

Kept constantly on hand.

PLANS & SPECIFICATIONS,

Furnished on application.

Cottages made a specialty also contracting and building.

Correspondence solicited.

Charlevoix Sentinel,

The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY

SMITH & PARMELEE,
Charlevoix, - Michigan.

Address all business correspondence to the firm

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One year $1 50 | Six months $ .75
Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—Nelson Ainslie and wife go to Chicago this week.

—A. K. Dougherty, of Elk Rapids, was in town Monday.

—The steamer Friant will run until the first of December.

—B. W. Miller goes to Chicago today after more hoss flesh.

—Michael McDermott, of Hayes, lost a valuable horse Sunday.

—Stockman & Iddings call your attention to their fine line of stoves.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Brown are happy in the possession of a bran new daughter.

—W. J. Lance, a former clerk of the Fountain City house, now of Elsie, is here with his bride.

—Frank Sears arrived last week and his steam launch will make her trial trip to-morrow —Swallow has the contract to paint Mr. Fox's new residence, and has already begun the work.

—A dance at the Waldron house, Bay Springs, is billed for Friday evening. Excursion on the Clara Belle.

—A number of Charlevoix people witnessed Edwin Booth's Hamlet at Grand Rapids last Thursday evening.

—New gable ornaments and a fresh coat of paint have made the residence of E. M. Clark blossom like the rose.

—Byron See and wife leave this week for Detroit, where Mrs. See will receive surgical treatment for her eyes.

—Mr. DeGolyer, the Chicago varnish manufacturer, is studying the causes of hay fever at the C. Y. Cook residence.

—C. R. Bellinger has bought the outfit of the Budd steam agate works and has removed it to the rear of his jewelry store. He will run it during the winter.

—Richard Cooper, desiring to retire from the hotel business will sell the Fountain City House. This is an excellent opportunity to buy a valuable hotel property

—Mr. Lewis C. Parmenter, formerly of Charlevoix, but now in a Muskegon railroad office, was married last Thursday evening in Grand Rapids to a daughter of ex-Mayor Steketee.

—Miss Jessie Meech left Monday for East Saginaw where, in the capacity of governess, she will teach the young ideas in the Budd family how to blossom. Mrs. Budd is a daughter of Mrs. H. A. Sears.

—Mrs Goyles and Miss Cody have leased the Whitman house on Main street, and as soon as the necessary repairs are made, will start the Kindergarten school. The idea meets with a cordial reception among Charlevoix people.

—The G. R. & I. will run a $4.75 excursion from Kalamazoo to Petoskey and Traverse City, Tuesday, Oct. 5, tickets good for return till Oct. 13. This will be a splendid opportunity to visit the north, as an agreeable streak of weather may be expected about that time.

—A business friend mails us an assortment of printed stationery samples which one of the largest job printing establishments in southern Michigan are sending out. We are glad to notice that notwithstanding the higher prices that prevail in many branches of business in Northern Michigan, our prices on letter and note heads, statements, bill heads, envelopes, and other printed stationery, are as low and in some instances lower than those prevailing in the largest cities of southern Michigan.

—The State Business Men's Association met last week Tuesday at Grand Rapids. Frank Hamilton, of the firm of Hamilton & Milliken, of Traverse City, was the presiding officer of the meeting. Smith Barnes, of the Hannah & Lay Mercantile Co., at the afternoon session, read a paper on "The Business Man," giving a comprehensive view of that character in life, of business at present with a retrospect of the past, and the prospect of the future. The paper advocated cash dealings, the establishment of a uniform system of weights and the abolishment of measures over the country, the establishment of a credit loan system for small accounts, and spoke general words of wisdom gleaned from a long and useful business career. A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Barnes by the association, and it was voted to have the article published in the Tradesman. At the evening session the election of officers took place, and Mr. Hamilton was elected president for the ensuing year, and at the close of the session he made a short and interesting address. A banquet was given later at Sweet's hotel, which was a very enjoyable occasion. Mr. Barnes was called upon to answer to the toast, "Honored Guests and Business Men of Michigan." Mr. Barnes answered by reading a paper which was pointed and witty, and did the subject ample justice.

—Casper Schuler, of Elk Rapids, was in town Monday.

—Kerr Budd has entered the employ of Henry Cooper.

—Miss Bertha Mills returned to her Ohio home, yesterday.

—Wm. McNally is building a fine barn on his farm in Hayes.

—New wheat brings 72 @ 75 cents in the Grand Rapids markets.

—Miss Kate Smith of Petoskey, was the guest of relatives, yesterday.

—T. W. O'Brien of Elk Rapids, and L. Kroupa, in Elmwood township, report apple trees in blossom the second time.

—Charlevoix's philanthropic friend, Mr. J. S. Smithson, subscribes for the SENTINEL for the Smithson Lumber Camp.

—C. M. Bell sends the Grand Traverse Herald samples of peaches ten inches in circumference and weighing a pound each.

—L. G. Evans, of Eastport, is visiting in Ohio, and writes the Bellaire Breeze that Northern Michigan is the best place to live yet.

—Mr. Winfield Bailey, and his brother Frank, sons of Geo. W. Bailey, of Wilson, left yesterday for Janesville, Wis., where they enter the school of telegraphy there.

—Last evening at the residence of the bride's parents on Fountain-st., Dr. S. C. Graves and Miss Cora Wenham were married by the groom's father, Rev. Dr. Samuel Graves, of Atlanta, Ga. The ceremony was performed before a bower of tropical plants wherein festoons of smilax blended pleasingly with the heavier decorations. The bride wore a garment of white ottoman silk trimmed with pearl passementerie, and the groom's suit was full dress. At the conclusion of the ceremony a wedding supper was spread before the people present. Besides the members of the families interested and Bishop Gillespie and Kerr B. Tupper, but few friends were in attendance. Dr. and Mrs. Graves will be at home formally at No. 258 Cherry Street, October 14 and 21.—G. R. Democrat.

Charlevoix Summer Resort Items.

Hoyt Parmelee and Oscar Mather left yesterday.

Mrs. A. E. Mather and Miss Hattie returned home Friday.

Judge Mills and family returned to Kalamazoo, Wednesday.

Miss Kittie McKay and Mr. Akers of Cleveland, were married yesterday. They have the congratulations of many resorters.

The following resorters left yesterday and to-day: Mrs. Heaton and daughter, Miss Tyler, Mrs. H. P. Parmelee and son, Mrs. A. E. Palmer and son, Mrs. J. J. and Ed West, Mrs. Abbott and Mrs. Moore.

The following resorters still hold the fort, and are yet here to enjoy the finest weather of the season: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bishop, Mrs. G. E. Bardeen, Mrs. Smiley and daughter, Miss Sutliff, Mrs. Beach, Mrs. Norris, Mr and Mrs. Hart and F. W. Willcox.

Kalamazoo Telegraph: Messrs. J. P. Woodbury and S. S. Cobb, leave next Monday for the far northwest on a hunting expedition. Devils lake is one of the points they expect to go to. * * * Bert Smiley has just received the certificate of the filing of the claim for copyright on his "Meditations of Samuel Wilkins."

Religious.

M. E. Church.

Rev. C. S. Fox, the new preacher appointed to the Charlevoix charge for the coming year, will preach next Sabbath, morning and evening.

Rev. J. T. Iddings has been appointed to the Charlevoix circuit, embracing Ironton, Black's and Johnson's school houses, and should another point offer it may be taken into the charge. He will occupy the residence of D. C. Loveday as a parsonage. Mr. Iddings will preach at Ironton next Sabbath, at 11 o'clock a. m., and at 7:30 p. m. Sabbath school at 10 o'clock a. m.

Congregational Church.

The services Sunday were well attended. The pastor, Rev. A. T. Waterman, preached discourses appropriate to the beginning of his work. Services as usual next Sabbath.

The Congregational church at Ironton was dedicated last Sabbath. Rev. C. F. VanAuken led in the services, and was assisted by Rev. A. T. Waterman and Rev. J. J. Kanagy. The sermon by Mr. J. S. Smithson moved the audience by its serious thought, its happy illustrations, its suggestive and stimulating words. Parts of the song service were rendered by Madam Capianna and Miss Adams. A large audience, filling the church, attended the services. This young church, recently organized, has done well. Its prospects for usefulness are good.

Regular services of the Ironton church every Sabbath at 3 p. m.; Sabbath school at 1:30 p. m.; prayer meeting every Wednesday evening. Sermon next Sabbath by Rev. C. F. Van Auken.

Episcopal.

There will be no Episcopal services next Sabbath.

Baptist Church.

Services next Sabbath as usual, at Green's Hall. The society have purchased the Stevenson lot, near the Town Hall, with the ultimate purpose of erecting a church thereon.

The Fusion Representative Convention.

The Fusion Representative Convention met at Opera Hall in this village on Wednesday last, and unanimously nominated Edwin S. Noble, of Elk Rapids, for Representative in the Legislature. Mr. Noble is the manager of and a heavy stock-holder in the Elk Rapids Iron Works, and also a partner in the extensive mercantile and lumbering establishment of Dexter & Noble, of the same place.

The burden of the song of the greenback end of the fusion party has long been of the arrogance of capital and the evils of monopoly, but when these philosophers come to act they generally pick out the men who have the "boodle," as they have in this case.

Mr. Noble is a gentleman and an honest man, but he represents the very elements of oppression which these greenback reformers, in Antrim county especially, have been for the past few years so conspicuously hostile to.

There's consistency for you!

And Now, What?

Now that the fusion combination of the Charlevoix Representative District have nominated a man that is distinctively a capitalist, and what our Greenback friends denominate a monopolist, what will the Republicans do?

The fusion party, with their usual inconsistency, have provided us an opportunity to turn the arguments of these people back upon themselves, and make an issue of what has long been their war-cry. The Republican party has always been the friend of the laboring man; its cardinal tenet is protection to American labor and its productions. It has always sought to elevate and dignify labor.

In the employ of Mr. E. S. Noble, the fusion nominee for Representative, is a mechanic, who receives his daily wages for manual labor performed. For twenty years he has been a laboring man in Charlevoix and Antrim counties.

Archibald K. Dougherty, of Elk Rapids, is a Republican lacking not one element of strength as a candidate for Representative. He is an intelligent laboring man, with a record untarnished, and a loyalty to Republican principles that has always been unquestioned and particularly conspicuous.

Mr. Dougherty has been for years a student in the school of politics, and from a laboring man's 'vantage ground he has sought the solution of the problems which lie so near to the interests of his class. He has always dignified labor by coupling intelligence with industry, and moreover, has been sincere and always consistent.

In Charlevoix county he was a pioneer, and yet owns property in this village, the earnings of his own hands as a shipwright; and for the past nine years he has, while yet working at his trade, been prominent in public matters in Antrim county.

Whoever the Republican nominee may be, he will be elected, and to this end no man will contribute more than Mr. Dougherty, should he not be nominated; but there does not live in the three counties a man who would be a stronger candidate, and, if elected, who would prove himself worthier, than he.

A swede named Alex. Olsen wandered away from the hospital at Reed City Sunday afternoon, while out of his mind, being suffering with typhoid pneumonia, and has not since been found. It is feared that he wandered into the woods and perished.

The Worcester (Mass.) Spy echoes the sentiments of a large majority of the temperance people of this country when it says "if prohibition had never been mentioned in any party platform or party convention the temperance reform would have made greater progress in the last thirty years than it has made." Proof that this statement is true is found in the fact that in the few states where the question has been kept entirely out of politics temperance has made more rapid progress than in those states in which it has been made a political issue.

A bishop in the Methodist Episcopal church receives a salary of $4,500, and house rent free. In nearly all the large cities of the country there are Episcopal residences owned by the church at large, and in those cities where residences are not so owned a suitable dwelling is rented for the bishop if one happens to live there. All the travelling expenses of a bishop are also paid by the church—an important item, as nearly all the bishops are traveling almost constantly. There are 12 bishops in all and the chairman of the Episcopal board is the venerable Bishop Bowman, who may be the head of the Methodist church in America, although the position does not signify anything.

We begin to believe that the prohibition party is a real party, after all. At least it has had a bolt, and no party that has not had a bolt can expect to stand up alongside the old organizations and look for recognition. The seventh day adventists of Wisconsin, who have always voted the prohibition ticket in that state, announce their departure from the prohibition ranks. This is done because the prohibitionists are seeking to enforce strict observance of the Sunday law, and the adventists of course do not recognize the sanctity of Sunday. The Wisconsin prohibitionists are very much disgusted at what they call hide-bound prejudice standing in the pathway of a great reform.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

SMITH & PARMELEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX, : : MICHIGAN

THE WHITE BRIGADE.

Let them prate about the bravery
Of the blue coats or the gray,
And the glory, and the honor
Of the [illegible] in the fray.
[illegible] the nations,
[illegible]
The [illegible]
Or [illegible] well won,
That [illegible] in grandeur,
Or [illegible] delight
That is done when through the sunset
Creep the purple clouds of night,
And down [illegible]
Drops the [illegible] shade,
As I hear the footsteps patter
Of my merry white brigade.

For I'm the greatest General
In all this land of fame—
I'm [illegible]
And [illegible] name—
[illegible] fortune,
Which is not so very large,
That [illegible] the famous battles
There was never such a charge
As we make upon the pillows,
When the [illegible] Sprite of Sleep
[illegible]
Of my [illegible]
They're not so great in numbers,
Nor so very great in power,
But they're worth a hundred millions
[illegible] down.
And I often start to tremble,
As my heart grows half afraid,
That I shall some time lose them—
My lovely white brigade!

How they charge upon the stairway,
In their long and snow-white coats,
While clear upon the zephyrs
Their merry laughter floats,
And they [illegible] my orders,
As I give them here and there,
With the most austere of voices,
That is lost upon the air.
Their "arms" are white and dimpled,
Their [illegible] a kiss,
And they often turn upon me,
And [illegible] with its bliss.
[illegible]
My hair flows [illegible] down,
Regardless of my protests,
[illegible]

NO "INTEREST."

The Pretty Cashier and Her Unbusiness-like Investment.

[illegible]

Then, the quarter being at an end, Mr. Butler turned his attention from finance to flowers, and began vigorously cultivating Bonstettins and "Jacks;" at the same time Nettie was solemnly notified of her election, more solemnly inducted into office, and most solemnly given an infinite quantity of instruction regarding her duties by the president, who didn't know half so much about them as she did, and on a memorable Monday morning took her place behind the shining black walnut counter of the Bassline First National.

Of course people wondered and criticised—they always do—but Nettie paid no attention to them and a great deal to business, in consequence of which she succeeded so admirably that the whole board of seven directors were unable to find a mistake in her footings, although for the first week or two they collectively and individually moused them over as if they suspected a defalcation. But they couldn't have, for none had taken place, and it is notorious that directors never examine footings until the institution they direct has completely lost its own. So after a while the directors resumed their precious occupation of talking stocks or politics around the fire in the private room, and Nettie soon had as complete control as ever her father had. She showed herself worthy of it, too. She could solve the most mixed-up problem in partial payments, complicated with uneven periods of time, varying percentages, and all sorts of provoking allowances and drawbacks. She chased errors through tangled thickets of entries till they were run to earth and finally disposed of in some out of the way corner of the great books, detected counterfeits like a financial Vidocq; and safely extricated the president from a dreadful muddle with the Treasury Department into which he had somehow blundered. Her relations with the rival bank near by were no less creditable, for that institution's city-imported young man, who had at first treated her with supercilious patronage, was utterly routed in a controversy about a missing check and covered with the deepest humiliation. Altogether the new official appeared to be "the right woman in the right place."

Harmon Curtis thought so, at any rate. Harmon was an old and very dear friend. He had been so ever since Nettie and he first met on the benches of the primary school, where, aged respectively five and seven, they struggled together through the First Reader, and helped each other on [illegible]

[illegible]

EQUAL RIGHTS TO ALL.

[illegible]

PROPHETIC KENNA.

[illegible]

A POLITICAL NAVY.

[illegible]

PRESS GLEANINGS.

[illegible]

THE COMBINED STEAM FURNITURE —AND— Agate Works, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

REPAIRING OR BUILDING Furniture of all Kinds ON SHORT NOTICE.

MY LAPIDARY

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

CORNELIUS BUDD.

Northern Michigan Boiler Works.

Boilers, Heaters, LARD TANKS, ETC.

SHEET IRON WORK A SPECIALTY.

MARINE WORK

HENRY BARTH, Proprietor, Charlevoix, Mich.

MILWAUKEE, LAKE SHORE & WESTERN RAILWAY.

TWO DAILY TRAINS BETWEEN Wausau and Milwaukee and Chicago

THE AIR LINE TO OSHKOSH.

FRANK E. WOOD'S BATH AND BARBER ROOMS.

FARMING LAND! 500,000 ACRES Michigan Lands FOR SALE BY THE G. R. & I. R. R. COMPANY.

WATER AND RAIL.

Not a Wilderness, but by any Means.

W. H. HURBART, Commissioner, Grand Rapids, Mich.

HUMPHREYS' HOMEOPATHIC SPECIFICS.

WM. J. STEVENSON, VETERINARY HORSE-SHOER.

The Old Doctor

THE IOWA ROUTE BURLINGTON CEDAR RAPIDS AND NORTHERN RY.

THE SHORT & POPULAR LINE

SOLID TRAINS WITH PULLMAN SLEEPERS Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Paul

St. Louis, Minneapolis & St. Paul

Burlington Route C.B.&Q.R.R.

CHICAGO, PEORIA or ST. LOUIS AND DENVER

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

SMITH & PARMELEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX, · MICHIGAN

A CHARMING MAIDEN.

When I am racked with darting pain,
When worn and weary is my brain,
And anguish drives me most insane
With writhings energetic;
Then comes a maiden fair to me,
Surcease of woe and pain is she,
All lightness, volatility,
The charming Ann Aesthetic.

Write then sweet odes to charming maids,
Sing ballads to coquettish jades,
I'll save my choicest serenades
For one more sympathetic;
Who in the hour when wretchedness
Is sore to painfulest excess
Soothes, charms, relieves, with soft caress,
Serene Miss Ann Aesthetic.

Your sirens fair come not where woe
Convulses with its horrid throe,
In smiles they come, in storm they go,
Like dogmas theoretic.
But, oh, the tender, blissful touch
That soothes when suffering over-much,
Serene and efficacious—such Is matchless Ann Aesthetic.

—Texas Siftings.

TWO POSTAL CARDS.

The Leading Part They Played in a Romance.

Friends of the two girls often thought it was a great pity that Mrs. Arbuthnot and her husband had been appointed sole guardians of Jasper Nevins' nieces, with full care of their money as well as of the girls themselves; for Mr. Arbuthnot, though a good, well-meaning man, was as clay in the acute wife's hands, and all who knew her knew that money [illegible] letter, the wedding must go on without me—or else you, Lillas, will be a pauper."

[illegible]

"Lillas is so impulsive, you know, Aunt Hettie, that I do wish you would write that down so she will not forget," suggested Minnie, handing a sheet of paper to Mrs. Arbuthnot, and then withdrawing it, adding: "Suppose I write it and let you sign it, as you say your eyes trouble you to-day?"

"Do so, my dear; my eyes are very bad to-day; but for them I would postpone my journey until later in the season."

So Minnie wrote: "I intend to adhere strictly and literally to the terms in which I yesterday wrote to Mr. Mariscal and Frank Carroll; if they are not suited with what I wrote I can't help it. I will abide by that decision." And to this Mrs. Arbuthnot appended her name and the date. Somewhat to Mrs. Arbuthnot's surprise, none of the family saw any thing of Mr. Mariscal all that day; and she had to start that night for New York, whence she was to sail for Paris, without seeing him again. Early the next morning there came to the house, not Mr. Mariscal, but Frank Carroll, who, to Lillas' intense amazement, greeted her as if he were her accepted lover. As soon as she could do so—that is, as soon as she could make up her mind to do so—she withdrew from his enfolding arms and exclaimed:

"Why Frank! How courageous you are, to venture here in such an assured manner, after what Aunt Hettie wrote to you!"

"Courageous?" he repeated. "I don't understand you; it is because I received her card that I am here now. I must own that I was a little surprised when I read it, though."

"What could she have said to you?" asked Lillas in amazement still.

[illegible]

LOVE OF HOMES.

[illegible]

FARM AND HOUSEHOLD.

—Rhubarb [illegible] are used [illegible] N. Y. Mail.

[illegible]

GOOD APPLE PIES.

[illegible]

HARVESTING BEANS.

[illegible]

PITH AND POINT.

[illegible]

DIMPLES TO ORDER.

[illegible]

THE MARKETS.

[illegible]

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS WILL CURE HEADACHE INDIGESTION BILIOUSNESS DYSPEPSIA NERVOUS PROSTRATION MALARIA CHILLS AND FEVERS TIRED FEELING GENERAL DEBILITY PAIN IN THE BACK & SIDES IMPURE BLOOD CONSTIPATION FEMALE INFIRMITIES RHEUMATISM NEURALGIA KIDNEY AND LIVER TROUBLES FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS

DR. JOHN BULL'S Smith's Tonic Syrup FOR THE CURE OF FEVER and AGUE Or CHILLS and FEVER, AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

DR. JOHN BULL'S SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP.

WEBSTER.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CATARRH HAY-FEVER

FRAZER AXLE GREASE.

30,000 CARPENTERS

HARTSHORN'S Shade Rollers

RUPTURE

Golden Belt Kansas.

All We Ask

Hood's Sarsaparilla 100 Doses One Dollar

COCKLE'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS, THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY

OPIUM HABIT

WANTED A WOMAN

A whole Night

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established, 1869.

CHARLEVOIX, SEPT 29, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE, Associate Editor.

Representative Convention, Antrim Charlevoix and Manitou District.

A Republican district convention for the legislative district of Antrim, Charlevoix and Manitou counties will be held in the Town Hall at Charlevoix, in Charlevoix county, on

Wednesday, October the 6th, 1886,

at two o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for representative in the State Legislature and transacting any other business that may come before it. Each county will be entitled to one delegate for every one hundred and fifty republican votes and a fraction thereof cast at the last general election for governor, by which Antrim will be entitled to 7 votes, Charlevoix 7 votes and Manitou 1 vote.

A. J. STREIT,
A. K. DOUGHERTY,
Committee.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS

State Ticket.

For Governor—CYRUS G. LUCE, of Branch.
For Lieutenant Governor—JAMES H. McDONALD, of Delta.
For Secretary of State—GILMAN R. OSMAN, of Wayne.
For Treasurer—GEORGE L. MALTZ, of Alpena.
For Auditor General—HENRY H. APLIN, of Bay.
For Attorney General—MOSES TAGGART, of Kent.
For Commissioner of State Land Office—ROSCOE D. DIX, of Berrien.
For Superintendent of Public Instruction—JOSEPH ESTABROOK.
For Member State Board of Education—SAMUEL S. BABCOCK, of Wayne.

Republican Congressional Ticket.

For Representative in Congress, Ninth District—BYRON M. CUTCHEON, of Manistee.

County Ticket.

For Sheriff—HARRISON BERDAN.
For Clerk—ABEL W. CHEW.
For Register of Deeds—ADELBERT R. UPRIGHT.
For County Treasurer—HENRY C. COOPER.
For Prosecuting Attorney—ROSCOE L. CORBETT.
For Circuit Court Commissioner—Z. N. GARBUTT.
For Surveyor—E. K. ROBINSON.

Northern Michigan News.

Benzonia badly needs a hotel.

Ishpeming was visited by a snow storm two weeks ago.

Col. Toll will take possession of the Petoskey postoffice Oct. 1.

Operations on the construction of the new Petoskey depot were began Monday.

Mr. F. J. Lewis, of Torch Lake, is tramping around through the Southern states.

Petoskey wants a toboggan slide for next winter. Wait, neighbors, until Canada is annexed.

A pure white chipmunk was caught alive near East Jordan, the other day, and is now on exhibition at Big Rapids.

Mancelona is rapidly building up after her late fire, and a much better and handsomer class of buildings will grace her streets.

Cadillac has a very successful cow pound in operation, and now yearns for a dog pound in which to immure her too numerous bow wows.

S. Miller has traded his stock of goods and other property at Middle Village, for property in Ionia county, where he expects to move his family soon.

Bellaire Breeze: Teams can now cross the Cutler swamp. The corduroy work is finished and is an excellent job—said to be the best ever done in this part of the county.

The reported sale of Messrs. Hannah, Lay & Co.'s pine lands and saw mill property to Muskegon parties is not yet completed, newspaper reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

Eastport has made some very decided improvements during the past summer, having received the addition of two houses, one barn, and several rods of sidewalk, and one crosswalk.

While coupling cars at Harig's siding, north of Kalkaska, on the 21st, Clifton Harris was caught between the cars in such a manner that his arm was entirely severed from his body, and his breast crushed in such a manner that death resulted immediately. His parents reside at Manton.

St. Ignace Republican: About six miles west of St. Ignace Alonzo Chesman has lived on a farm for the last twenty-five years. He is now an old man, nearly 70, and his career has been a strange one. At the time of the great Mormon settlement at Nauvoo, he was induced to join the Mormons, and took unto himself three wives. He became disgusted with the faith, however, and at the time of the disruption of the mormons, when prophet Smith was killed, he decided to leave them, and instead of going west with the others he told his wives that he had had enough of it already and that they were welcome to leave; but he said if they wanted to stay with him he would do the best he could toward supporting them. They stuck by him, and he came into the wilds of northern Michigan with his three wives, living for a while on Beaver Island, and for a short time in Cheboygan, but eventually settling down on the farm where he now resides. His second wife died some years ago, but he has seven children grown up and all married and now living near St. Ignace. He lives very quietly and everything appears to be harmonious in the household.

Emmet county will have a prohibition county ticket.

The Kalkaska county fair is to be held Oct. 4th, 5th and 6th.

Wm. Gill & Son are putting up a large fine store building at Gill's Pier, Lelanaw county.

During the last six months the T. C. R. R. has earned $20,559.61, with expenses $16,622.10, leaving a net profit of $3,937.57.

The summer travel on the G. R. & I. to the northern resorts has been much larger for this season than at any time since the summer of '81

A. T. Case, of Benzonia, was renominated representative for the Benzie and Lelanaw district at the convention held last week at Maple City.

The frequent showers are causing grass and wheat to grow at a rapid rate, and meadows which have not been pastured would make a very good second crop.

What has been known as the Charlevoix County Agricultural Society will hereafter be "The Union Agricultural Society of Charlevoix and Adjoining Counties."

The Marquette Sun notes the killing of a bear in that locality sized up as follows: In height it was 37 inches, in length 63 inches, girth 49 inches, and weight 485 pounds.

A bullet hole through one of the front windows of the Cadillac Democrat office gives the local editor of that sheet some apprehensions that he has said something distasteful to somebody.

AN OFFENSIVE CANDIDATE.

Yaple Objectionable to the Methodists of Michigan.

In a quiet sort of a way and without letting partisan questions enter at all into the discussion, the ministers who have been in the city for a week past in attendance on the annual Methodist Episcopal conference have been doing some little talking relative to the candidacy of George L. Yaple for the gubernatorial chair. In the midst of speculations on the appointments for the coming year and discussions on ecclesiastical topics, they have found time between the sessions of the Conference, when gathered in knots on the streets or at the hospitable Kalamazoo homes at which they have been entertained, to inquire as to what kind of a young man it is down at Mendon who is afflicted with a precocious ambition to be governor. Statements from sundry ministers lead Telegraph reporters to the inference that Mr. Yaple, although a graduate of a Methodist institution, the Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill., is particularly obnoxious to members of the denomination, and during the lengthy session of the ministerial body last evening, as the hands of the clock were creeping around to midnight, a prominent Methodist from Mendon who has been up here several days attending the conference, was called outside the church and interviewed on the subject.

"Yes, sir," he said, "Mr. Yaple is undoubtedly very offensive to the great majority of Methodists in Michigan but not more so, probably, than to the members of any other evangelical denomination. Mr. Yaple is a devout disciple of Bob Ingersoll, and although attempts have been made by his political friends to deny it, his religious views are all this statement implies. But it is not so much this fact which makes his candidacy objectionable to Methodists and in fact to all adherents of christianity. Speaking of my own denomination, I know that while Mr. Yaple's views on religion would alone be a fatal objection to quite a number, still the great majority are liberal and the charge of intolerance cannot be urged against them. They are willing that those who do not believe as they do should have a right to their views, but they want the same right accorded to to them. Mr. Yaple has not seemed to be willing to accord them this right. He has not been content to assail the christian religion at opportunities when he could do so without any breach of impropriety but has assailed it at such times and places that his attacks not only constituted a specimen of shockingly bad taste, but in general and an extremely offensive insult to the church members. At the pioneer meeting at Centerville this year he made a speech in which he went out of his way to attack the church, disgusting even those who are not adherents of the church, and Rev. Peake, a member of the Michigan conference, did not hesitate to take the platform to reply to him. Mr. Yaple may claim to be a liberal but he is a bigot. He is a fanatic who is not willing that other people should have opinions dissimilar from his and insults in public those who differ from him. The Decoration day exercises in 1885 were by invitation of the members held in the Methodist church at Mendon and Mr. Yaple was the orator. When once within the consecrated edifice that was occupied by the courtesy of our congregation, and standing in the pulpit in which the pastor of the church was also present, he improved the opportunity to rail at the church. He likened the pulpit to the auction block and used language which would not only have been extremely inappropriate in any place when considering the services of our dead heroes, but which in the place and circumstances in which they were uttered

A SHAMEFUL SLUR ON CHRISTIANITY

CONSTITUTED VERITABLE BLASPHEMY.

"Mr. Yaple's political friends picture him in the role of a man who, while not having much time to devote to religious affairs, yet respects the church and contributes to its support. I am in a position to know that Mr. Yaple has never contributed a cent to the support of the Methodist church in Mendon, and that is now the only denomination there. The church and the moral influences resulting from it have no worse enemies in Mendon than Mr. G. L. Yaple and two or three of his personal associates. Many of the ministers attending the Conference have been to me since I have been here and asked me about Mr. Yaple. Every one to whom I have told what I know about him has immediately made up his mind not to vote for him, and they will, in a quiet sort of a way, exert their influence against him. One pastor said: 'What you have told me will cost Mr. Yaple twenty votes in my charge;' and others have said the same, mentioning a greater or less number.

A DISGUSTING PIECE OF HYPOCRISY.

"Mr. Yaple seems to be a man who would not hesitate, however, to use religion as a cloak when it would serve his political ends. Let me tell you what he did once. Notwithstanding that he is an infidel or skeptic or agnostic, or whatever he calls it, and notwithstanding his avowed adherence to the teachings of Ingersoll, he taught a Bible class several months in a church of the Christian denomination which was in existence about two or three years ago in Mendon and of which his political friend, Rev. J. O. DeYo, was pastor. I don't know what his motive was in doing it. He might have done it to influence votes or he might have to carry out a bargain with DeYo. DeYo had been stumping for Yaple and might have wanted the prestige of a prominent citizen in his church. Anyway it was a sickening specimen of hypocrisy and even those whose religious views coincide with those of Mr. Yaple's were disgusted. The majority of the conference are third party prohibitionists, but many regard it as such a calamity should Yaple be elected that they will vote this year for Luce instead of Dickie."—Kalamazoo Daily Telegraph.

Over Niagara.

It is an error to say that no creature that ever went over Niagara Falls escaped with its life. In 1836 a bull terrier went over and came out alive. In 1858 another dog was flung in above the Falls, and an hour afterward it came dripping up the ferry steps, a little rattled and disgusted with things in general, but otherwise uninjured. A recent writer says that there can sometimes be seen at the foot of the Falls water cones apparently ten or twelve feet high. These are formed by the rapid accumulation and condensation of the falling water. It pours down so rapidly and in such quantities that the water below, so to speak, can not run off fast enough, and it piles up as though it were in a state of violent ebullition. These cones are constantly falling and breaking. A hardy animal falling on to one of these cones as on a soft cushion might slide safely into the current below. The dogs were, doubtless, fortunate enough to fall in this way and were also aided by the repulsion of the water from the rocks in the swift channel through which they passed. As Graham's feat of running the rapids has now been equaled, and as the barrel route promises to become a popular route for ladies and children, he will have to go over the Falls in his barrel or remain overshadowed. The chances are strongly in favor of his going over the Falls safely.—Detroit Free Press.

New Zealand's Wonders.

The pink and white terraces were of their kind the wonder of the world, and they thoroughly deserved the rapturous praise meted out to them by both scientific authorities and the tourists in ordinary. From all parts of the world there came travelers in yearly increasing numbers, and this sudden destruction of what were of unique beauty, so attractive to travelers, constitutes a loss which is absolutely irreparable. Te Tarata, the white terrace, although more irregular than the pink terrace, was perhaps the more beautiful of the two. It was over 100 feet in hight, its lowest step having a curved sweep of some 200 yards. There was a diminution of size of every step clear up to the top, so that looking down the terrace had the appearance of a large white expanded fan. "Imagine it," said one of the terrace's admirers, on speaking of the boiling lakelet on the top, "as made up of petrified snow, with the purer blue of the sky melted down into its cups, and illuminated in some supernaturally beautiful fashion beneath." The glory of the vision filled one, in fact, with wonderment. When the basin was empty—for it was not always filled—it was, with its delicately sculptured sides and lace-like fringes, lovely beyond description. The upper basin was, however, not alone in beauties of this character, for in front of all the basins upon the terrace steps hung incrustations like petrified drapery. Any article put in these pools became quickly covered with a coating of silica, looking for all the world like crystal. Otukapuarangi, the pink terrace, said by a well-known writer to be the most exquisite thing in Nature, was smaller and more perfectly formed than its white sister. Its setting was not so effective or imposing as that of Te Tarata, but the pinky loveliness of its porcelain stairs offered a delicate contrast to the dazzling white of the other. The pink terrace was about eighty feet in hight, and its steps, unlike those of the white terrace, were, save some five steps from the top, level and not cupped.—

THE PIONEER HOUSE OF CHARLEVOIX CO.

New Fall Goods,

BEING RECEIVED WEEKLY.

We call especial attention to our complete stock of

BOOTS and SHOES.

TEAS of all kinds. We will guarantee you the best Tea for the money, in the county.

ALL GRADES of FRESH ROASTED AND GREEN COFFEES.

A Fine line of Everything in

FURNITURE.

BIG DRIVES IN

Flannels, Yarns, and Blankets.

Please bear in mind that our stock embraces

EVERYTHING

usually found in a General Store.

Remember: Our Goods are the Best. Our Prices the Lowest. Our Record the Oldest.

Resp'y Yours,

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

THE REV. GEO. H. THAYER, of Bourbon, Ind., says: "Both myself and wife owe our lives to SHILOH'S CONSUMPTION CURE."

ARE YOU MADE miserable by Indigestion, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Yellow Skin? Shiloh's Vitalizer is a positive cure. Sold by F. G. Hines & Co.

WHY WILL YOU Cough when Shiloh's Cure will give you immediate relief. Price 10 cents 60 cts. and $1.

SHILOH'S CATARRH REMEDY—a positive cure for Catarrh, Diphtheria, and Canker Mouth. Sold by F. G. Hines & Co.

Mortgage Sale.

A mortgage dated the 13th of September 1879, executed by Oliver S. Horton and Lucetta J. Horton to Davis Carpenter, recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix county, Michigan, September 29th, 1879 in Liber 4 of mortgages on page 86 [illegible] ... will be foreclosed ... at 12 o'clock noon November 26th, 1886.

Dated August [illegible] 1886.

DAVID CARPENTER, Mortgagee.
DART & CALL, Att'ys for Mortgagee.

Mortgage Sale.

Whereas default has been made in the payment of [illegible] ... dated the 1st day of August A. D. 1881, executed by George H. Thompson and Ada E. Thompson, his wife of Boyne City, Charlevoix county and state of Michigan, to Alden Chamberlin of Charlevoix, Michigan, [illegible] ... on the 30th day of November, A. D. 1886, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day.

Dated this 1st day of September A. D. 1886.

MARTHA J. AYERS, Assignee.
J. M. CLARK, Attorney for Assignee.

Offices To Rent.

A number of desirable offices to rent in the [illegible] block. Inquire of R. [illegible]

NEW SHOP!

All kinds of

Blacksmithing,

At the Shop in the Foundry Building.

Horseshoeing a specialty.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

M. SCOTT.

Probate Order.

State of Michigan, County of Charlevoix, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix, holden at the Probate office in the Township of South Arm, on the Second day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six. Present, Hon. James A. Keat, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the Estate of Niles P. Anderson, deceased, [illegible] ...

JAMES A. KEAT, Judge of Probate.

[A true copy.]

Mortgage Sale.

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the money due and secured by a certain mortgage dated the 1st day of March, A. D. 1882, executed by Carrie Watson of Ironton, Charlevoix county and State of Michigan, to Martha J. Ayers of Charlevoix, Michigan, [illegible] ... on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1886, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day.

Dated at Charlevoix, the 18th day of August, 1886.

MARTHA J. AYERS, Mortgagee.
J. M. CLARK, Attorney for the Mortgagee.

Farm For Sale.

I will sell my farm in Marion one and one half miles south of Charlevoix, on the county road, [illegible] ... For information apply at SENTINEL office or of me.

Address, WM. COOPER.
Charlevoix, June 15, 1886.

DETROIT & CLEVELAND Steam Navigation Co.

Steamers CITY OF MACKINAW, CITY OF ALPENA.

For Cheboygan, Rogers City, Alpena, Harrisville, Oscoda, Sand Beach, Port Huron, St. Clair, Marine City, Detroit.

Leave Mackinac Island, Thursdays, Saturdays, 9-45, P. M. Mondays, Wednesdays, 11-15, A. M.

Steamers every week day between Detroit and Cleveland.

Through tickets to all points, North, East, South and West.

J. Reed Emrey, Agent, Charlevoix.
C. D. Whitcomb, Gen. Pass. Agt.

A. R. UPRIGHT. OSCAR UPRIGHT

FARMS, VILLAGE PROPERTY,

And TIMBER LAND

FOR SALE BY

UPRIGHT BROS.

40 Acre Farm, [illegible] ... Price $1,000, $450 down, balance in two years. Will take a good team as part payment.

80 Acres on Susan Lake, in Hayes Township, heavily timbered with Maple, Elm, Basswood and Beech [illegible] ...

40 Acre Farm, situated 1 miles south of Charlevoix on county Road, [illegible] ... Price $1,500. Two thirds down, balance on time if desired.

55 Acres, [illegible] miles from village of Charlevoix on shore of Lake Michigan, [illegible] ...

160 Acres on section 36, Township 34 N. R. 8 W. heavily timbered with Maple, Elm and Basswood. [illegible] ... Price $1,600, the timber alone is worth the money.

50 Acres in Marion 2 miles from Cuyler & Nash's mill, [illegible] ...

160 Acre Farm [illegible] miles from Horton's Bay and same distance from Bear Lake, [illegible] ...

60 Acres of wild Land in Township of Wilson, [illegible] ...

52 Acres 2 miles from Sweet's mill on South Arm, [illegible] ...

40 Acres 3 miles from Charlevoix, all heavily timbered with Maple, Beech, Hemlock and Cedar; will sell for $400.

80 Acres wild land between Horton's Bay and Bay Springs; Price $500, will trade for live stock.

80 Acres of as good land as can be found in the county, on section [illegible] ... A great bargain.

160 Acres known as the Lowell Farm in Norwood. [illegible] ...

80 Acres on the State Road, 7 miles south of Charlevoix, [illegible] miles from Norwood, [illegible] ...

2 Village Lots in Petoskey finely located, [illegible] ...

A good Lot in Boyne City near the Skating Rink. Price $75.

100 Lots on Upright & Hurlbut's addition to the Village of Charlevoix at prices to suit all. Some of the finest buildings in Charlevoix are on this addition.

Four good houses and lots in Charlevoix. Price from $[illegible] to $1,[illegible].

A Business Lot on Bridge Street, Charlevoix, water front, terms easy.

WE OWN THE ONLY

COMPLETE Set of ABSTRACTS Of Charlevoix County,

And all work intrusted to our care shall have prompt and careful attention

We are Agents for some of The

BEST FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES

And will guarantee as low rates as any first class concerns.

CONVEYANCING, NEATLY AND PROMPTLY DONE.

Non-Residents' interests looked after, Taxes paid Collections made, etc.

New Announcement,

NEXT WEEK,

D. Sherwood & Co

It Pays to Buy the

BEST BOATS!

The large number of boats I have built for resorters, are advertisements of what I have done and can do in boat building. Call and get references.

I will guarantee the best modeled, easiest rowing and best sailing boats in Northern Michigan for the

LEAST MONEY!

All kinds of Oars, and Paddles made.

LEAVE ORDERS

[illegible]

Special facilities for stocking boat liveries.

J. BEAUVAIS.

1-3 OFF SALE!

At Miss Spaulding's MILLINERY ROOMS,

I will sell my entire stock of goods except Yarns and Flannels at greatly reduced prices for cash only.

Any lady purchasing goods to the amount of $1.00 will receive a present of [illegible]

Come early and secure a Bargain.

MISS L. SPAULDING.

McCABE'S

MARKET

Is supplied with

All Kinds Of

MEATS

At Lowest Prices.

CASH PAID FOR FAT CATTLE, Hides, Sheep and Hogs.

Corner of State & Mason sts.,

JOHN McCABE.

HEATH & FRANCIS,

Contractors and Builders,

Charlevoix, Mich.

PLANS AND ESTIMATES FURNISHED ON APPLICATION

First-class FURNITURE MADE To Order.

Repairing promptly and satisfactorily done.

Shop on Antrim street, west of town hall.

A. D. Bradbeer,

PHOTOGRAPHER,

OFFICE OVER

UPRIGHT & EMREY'S STORE.

I will make Cabinet Photographs,

A SPECIALTY!

At Lowest Prices

Consistent with

GOOD WORK.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price, 25 cents per box. For sale by Dr. Crouter.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

CRUICKSHANK & GRIER, Attorneys at Law. Office in [illegible] Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

JOSEPH M. CLARK, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

PAILTHORP & GEORGE, Attorneys and Solicitors, Petoskey, Mich.

DART & CALL, Attorneys, Petoskey, Mich.

R. L. CORBETT, Attorney at law, Boyne City, Mich. (Prosecuting Attorney of Charlevoix County.)

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

L. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in Lewis block, Charlevoix, Mich.

WM. M. PRESTON, M. D. Physician and Surgeon, 4 doors west of Ingleside, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. A. CARSTEIN, M. D., Office at residence, Main st. Charlevoix, Mich.

SOCIETIES.

G. A. R.—Baxter Post No. 119, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC—Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, F. & A. M. Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over Post office.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 221, meets second Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

K. O. T. M.—Resort Tent No. 138, meets second Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows Hall.

L. O. L.—True Blues No. 157, meet Saturday on or before full moon in Odd Fellows' hall.

EMMET CHAPTER No 104, R. A. M. meets at Petoskey on the first Monday of each month.

IVANHOE COMMANDERY No. 136, K. T., meets at their Asylum in Petoskey on the first Thursday of each month.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY meets every Tuesday evening at the homes of the members, during the fall and winter months.

CHARLEVOIX IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION meets at Charlevoix Village Hall on the second Monday of each month, at 7:30 p. m.

President—Byron See.
First Vice President—W. A. Smith.
Second Vice President—Robert Miller.
Recording Secretary—Chas. J. Strang.
Financial Secretary—H. Suffell.
Treasurer—Albert E. Mason.
Executive Committee—J. Milo Eaton, A. D. Cruickshank and E. F. Parmelee.
Correspending Committee—H. Lee Iddings, W. A. Brown and [illegible].
Reception Committee—F. W. Mayne, L. D. Bartholomew, M. J. Stockman, R. Cooper, Geo. W. Crouter, R. W. Miller, S. M. See, W. C. Newman, E. M. Clark, H. Berdan.

All those wishing information regarding Charlevoix, the largest and most thriving town in the whole Pine Lake Region, will do well to address the corresponding committee. Unequaled opportunities for all classes of manufacturing.

HOTELS AND RESTAURANTS.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,
RICHARD COOPER, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - - - Mich.
Every convenience for the traveling public, and headquarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids Stages.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,
R. A. Campbell, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - - - Mich.
The most central location. Good Sample Room. Telephone connections. Only 100 feet to Steamboat Landing.

NEWMAN HOUSE,
W. C. Newman, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - - - Mich.
Fitted up with a view to the comfort of the Traveling Public. Good stabling furnished. Central location.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,
L. N. Pearl, Prop.
East Jordan, - - - Mich.
Come and see us. Telephone connections.

BANK.

Bank of Charlevoix.

Drafts on New York, Chicago, Detroit and Grand Rapids. Bank Remittances or Postoffice Order to any person in Europe. Loans and Discounts on first mortgage on Real Estate. Railroad and Steamship Tickets to and from any place in Europe.

BROWN & CO.

PILE DRIVER.

ALLEN'S Steam Pile Driver. Contracts taken and dock work solicited at any point between Traverse City and Mackinac. L. E. Allen, Charlevoix, Mich.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

B. SUFFELL, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Domestic Cases, etc. Charlevoix, Mich.

BARBER.

JAY PRICE, Barber, east side of Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. E. and J. [illegible] DIXON, Surveyors and Engineers, Charlevoix, Mich. [Deputy County Surveyors Charlevoix county.]

DENTIST.

N. J. PERRY, Dentist, Office in Weed's Drug Store, Charlevoix, Mich.

Fresh Stock of

GROCERIES

AT THE

NEW GROCERY,

Corner of Antrim and Grant Streets.

It is my aim to keep a full line of choice Groceries at lowest prices.

Your trade is solicited

Butter and Eggs wanted.

A. J. Mudge.

MILLINERY

—AND—

FANCY GOODS!

Mrs. ELLA SMITH & Miss FANNIE COOPER

Have opened a store in the Ingleside Building, and invite their friends to call and inspect their fine stock of

FANCY GOODS!

Of all varieties usually kept in a first-class millinery store.

FRANK E. WOOD'S

Bath & Barber ROOMS.

Hot and cold Baths at any hour of the day or evening. Oddfellows' building.

Additional Local News.

—D. C. Loveday has removed to East Jordan.

—Dr. Lewis has a fine young team of bays, recently purchased.

—A new time table went into effect on the G. R. & I. last Sunday.

—John Shapton of Norwood township, is in Canada, attending the fairs.

—H. H. Chapman and wife, of Bay Springs, has been spending several days in town.

—Capt. Harrison Miller was over from the Beavers last week, considerably out of health.

—The record of every man on the Republican county ticket will bear the closest scrutiny.

—Dr. Levi Lewis has sold his tenement house on Dixon avenue to Peter McFarland, for $1,200.

—Dr. S. C. Graves, of Grand Rapids, was married at Grand Rapids last week to Miss Cora Wenham.

—Hon. Reuben Goodrich, of Traverse City, was in town last week, looking after his Senatorial fences.

—Gen. Cutcheon is a statesman, a scholar, and a soldier with a brilliant record. What can be said in favor of L. G. Mason, the Muskegon capitalist.

—R. M. McKeel, the popular painter, who spent the summer in Minneapolis, after a few days' visit among friends here, has returned to Minneapolis.

The seven year old son of G. V. Nash, of Norwood, who received an injury by falling ten feet in a barn, some time ago, died on Wednesday. The bereavement is a very sad one.

Mr. Cummings, of Sault Ste. Marie, who recently bought the Robinson farm in Norwood township, arrived last week and took possession. Mr. Robinson leaves next week for Iowa.

It is understood that the genial Dan will put considerable "boodle" into the campaign this fall. Capt. Berdan has no "boodle" to spend, but he has a clean personal and official record.

—Work at Smithson's camp, in the Township of Norwood, progresses. Comfortable winter quarters for the men are being constructed, and work will soon be begun in earnest in getting out cedar and other timber. The benefit of this enterprise will be felt this fall and winter.

The SENTINEL was in error in stating last week that Rev. J. T. Iddings had received no appointment. He accepted charge of the Charlevoix circuit, which includes Ironton, Barnard, Black's and other points, with headquarters here. He has leased the Loveday residence for one year.

—At the special examination of teachers held at East Jordan on the 24th, 14 candidates offered themselves for examination. The following passed: Ida Dean, Lottie Mutton, Sarah L. Jones, Hannah Bell, Adelaide Foote, Edwin Walworth, Edith Cole, Eleanor Adams, Frank H. Ranney, Geo. W. Fast, S. S. Shepard.

"In a very cursory inspection of the columns of last week's Record, we discovered twenty-five mistakes, both gramatically and orthographically.—Petoskey Democrat. Well, how is the above for "gramatically"? But, by the way, in "a very cursory inspection" of the columns of the Democrat last week, we discovered about thirty lies, "gramatically and orthographically."

The new special delivery law goes into effect Oct 1st, and for the information of the people we give the following points: On and after Oct. 1st, not only letters, but anything else that is mailable, will be delivered from any office in the United States by special messenger from 7 a. m. to 11 p. m. at free delivery offices, and from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m., from other offices, upon the following conditions being complied with: The matter must be stamped according to law with the regular government postage stamp, and in addition must have affixed the special delivery stamp costing ten cents. This insures immediate delivery of any package or letter by special messenger.

—The Falstaff of the "sanitarium" in last week's Journal reviews his brilliant military record, and appeals to the soldiers to come to his rescue. The SENTINEL did not open this dance. In a lengthy article in a supplement of a recent issue of the Journal, Mr. Swertland took occasion to attack the senior editor of this paper, without any cause whatever. But the core of his article is a vile calumny on the war record of the Republican party. The SENTINEL is unequivocally the friend of the soldiers, but when it has to deal with a contemptible cur of the sort of he of the "sanitarium," it makes military record secondary in importance to decent manhood. We have never bolstered humbugs, and because we have ignored this creature and his rotten outfit, he sought to retaliate, and caught the wrong pig by the ears. Dr., you may have fought in all the wars since the time of Cæsar, but you are a stinker just the same.

LIVELY AT THE AGE OF 82.

Col. E. D. Taylor, the Father of Greenbacks, Who Has Lived in the Prairie State Since 1814.

This gentleman, who resides in Ottawa, the father of W. H. Taylor, our Circuit Clerk, is now 82 years of age. He came into Illinois with his father in 1814; has been the recipient of a great many favors from the Democratic party, to which he has belonged during his long life. As far back as 1832 he was a member of the Legislature of the State of Illinois. In 1835 he was appointed by Gen. Jackson, President of the United States, Receiver of the United States Land Office at Chicago, then just established. He sold the lands on which Chicago is built for Government price—$1.25 per acre.

Col. Taylor has been an active worker in this State all his life; for years he was the President of one of the largest and most successful banking institutions in the State. His credit and reputation as one of Illinois' rich men were National. He was always a personal friend of Abraham Lincoln, long before he was elected President. It was he who urged Lincoln to study law, and by so doing was the man who made Lincoln President. Although of opposite party affiliations, Lincoln had great confidence in Col. Taylor's financial abilities. When the War burst on the Nation its Treasury was empty, and, after the Government had borrowed all the money it could from the New York and New England bankers, President Lincoln found the Nation of which he was the head with an empty Treasury. No money to pay the army, no money to pay for supplies; Secretary Chase had exhausted all the Government resources, the Treasury was empty, Chase was discouraged. In this extremity Lincoln wrote a letter to Col. E. D. Taylor requesting him to come to Washington immediately. To this invitation the Colonel responded at once. Arriving in Washington he repaired to Willard's and sent word to the President that he had arrived in the city agreeably to his request. Lincoln sent a page with a note saying: "Come up to the White House immediately." Arriving there, the President was at the door waiting to receive him. Taking him by the hand, Lincoln said: "I want to talk with you an hour or more on the finances of the Nation, and to ask your advice. Here we are out of money, a gigantic war on our hands; our army defeated at Bull Run; Holland bankers had agreed to loan us $600,000,000, but now since our defeat refuse to lend us a dollar. Now, Taylor, you are and have been a successful financier, and I want you to tell me what to do to raise funds to take the Nation successfully through this terrible contest."

"Mr. Lincoln," says Col. Taylor, "my advice is to issue Treasury notes, printed on the best bank-note paper, bearing no interest; make them a legal tender, and I assure you they will be received as money by all loyal people. This is pledging the whole property of the people, making the security the best in the world."

"Well, Taylor," says Lincoln, "I think your plan is a good one. Let us send for Chase and hear what he has to say about it." On arrival of the Secretary he was informed of Col. Taylor's plan of raising money. He said it would not work; the notes would depreciate in value, and become as worthless as Confederate money. But Lincoln had confidence in Taylor's idea, and said they must try it. Secretary Chase said to Lincoln, "I do not desire to request Congress to adopt a plan I have no confidence in. You recommend the plan to Congress and I will support it." "All right," says Lincoln. He immediately wrote a message to Congress stating the urgency of the occasion, and recommending the issue of Treasury notes and making them a legal tender. The law was passed; the notes were issued; the army was paid; greenbacks became the popular money of the day; State bank notes disappeared. Four hundred millions of greenbacks were issued, notes bearing no interest, saving the people in interest alone eight hundred millions of dollars.

To one of our own citizens are we indebted for the greenback, and although he is now 82 years of age he is still hale and hearty, and an honored citizen of La Salle County. President Lincoln, some time in the fall of 1864, wrote Col. Taylor a letter making the acknowledgment that to the Colonel we were indebted for the legal-tender greenback. We give President Lincoln's letter to Col. Taylor. It is a precious document, and in after years will be held as a great memento of the financial history of the Rebellion:

To Col. E. D. Taylor of Chicago—My Dear Col. Dick: I have long determined to make public the origin of the greenback, and tell the world that it is one Dick Taylor's creations. You had always been friendly to me, and when troublous times fell on us, and my shoulders, though broad and willing, were weak, and myself surrounded by such circumstances and such people that I knew not whom to trust, then I said, in my extremity: "I will send for Col. Taylor—he will know what to do." I think it was in January, 1862, on or about the 16th, that I did so. You came, and I said to you: "What can we do?" Said you: "Why, issue Treasury notes bearing no interest, printed on the best banking paper. Issue enough to pay off the army expenses, and declare it legal tender." Chase thought it a hazardous thing, but we finally accomplished it, and gave to the people of this Republic the greatest blessing they ever had—their own paper to pay their own debts. It is due to you, the father of the present greenback, that the people should know it, and I take great pleasure in making it known. How many times have I laughed at your telling me plainly that I was too lazy to be anything but a lawyer. Yours truly,

A. Lincoln, President.

—Streator (Ill.) Independent

Miss Edith Shocked Them.

"Yes," said the parson at the tea table, "Young Jordan was out driving with Miss Popinjay the other evening and his horse ran away. They were both thrown out and the buggy was smashed to pieces. It was a providential escape for both of them. But I can't understand how the young man came to lose control."

"He must have been driving with one hand," flippantly suggested the minister's eldest son, a rake of a boy.

"Or perhaps he had the reins around his neck," said Edith, a shy young beauty of 16, with a charmingly modest mien. And then everybody exclaimed in chorus:

"Why, Edith!"—Cambridge Chronicle.

"Pa," said a young hopeful, "I know what a man who has seen better days is." "Well, my son, what is he?" "He is a man who makes you tired talking about himself."—New Orleans Picayune.

"By Jove, Tom," said one Harvard man to another on the avenue yesterday, "how did it happen that Columbia laid it on to Harvard so thick?" "Bah!" was the disgusted reply. "I guess our boys must have been devoting themselves to their studies and neglecting business. They make me tired. I'd like to know what a man goes to college for, anyhow," and he swore an oath to base-ball Latin.—Washington Critic.

A Mormon Institution.

"What oaths must be taken in the endowment-house?"

"Well, there is first the oath of the Aaronic or lesser priesthood. The candidate must swear to obey implicitly the laws of the Mormon [illegible] and all it enjoins in preference to those of the United States. The penalty for breaking this oath is to have your throat cut from ear to ear and the tongue torn out by its roots. After taking this oath the candidate is made to draw his hand across the throat as a reminder of what may be expected in case of its violation. There is a grip which is made known to those who take the oath. It consists in placing the thumb on the index-finger and clasping the hand around.

"The second oath is the second degree of the Aaronic or lesser priesthood. This is the oath of chastity. The woman is to have but one husband, but the man can take as many wives as he wants, and the more wives he takes the better Mormon he is, and the greater will be his reward hereafter.

"The grip of the oath of 'chastity' consists in placing the thumb between the knuckles of the index and second fingers and clasping the hand around. The penalty for breaking this oath is to have the body sawn asunder and then thrown into the sea. The candidate is required, after taking the oath, to draw the hand sharply across the middle of the body.

"Then there is the first grip of the Melchisedec, or higher order of the priesthood, of which the order hold that Christ was a member. Those who enter this order are made to swear to avenge the deaths of Joseph Smith, the martyr, and his brother Hiram, on the American nation, and to teach their children and their children's children to do the same.

"The grip consists in placing the thumb on the knuckle of the index finger, the latter being placed straight along the palm of the hand, while the lower part is clasped by the other fingers. The penalty for breaking this oath is not a very slight one—it is disembowelment.

"There is one more order, the highest order of Melchisedec. Whoever enters that order must swear absolute obedience to the Mormon priesthood. In giving the grip of this order the hands of the two persons clasp each other with the end of the index finger resting on the wrist and the little fingers closely locked together. The place on the wrist where the index finger rests is supposed to correspond with the place the nails pierced when Christ was crucified, but as the nails tore out at first and the Savior had to be again fastened to the cross you place your second finger beside the index finger on the wrist. This is called the sure sign of the nail.

"These are the oaths that all who go through the endowment house must take. To lie for the church is considered, in the Mormon religion, not to be a sin; on the contrary, something to be highly commended."—N. Y. Morning Journal.

An Answer Wanted.

Can any one bring us a case of Kidney or Liver Complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure? We say they can not, as thousands of cases already permanently cured and who are daily recommending Electric Bitters, will prove. Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Weak Back, or any urinary complaint quickly cured. They purify the blood, regulate the bowels, and act directly on the diseased parts. Every bottle guaranteed. For sale at 50c. a bottle by Dr. G. W. Crouter

An Enterprising, Reliable House.

Dr. G. W. Crouter and Crouter & Harris, Ironton, can always be relied upon, not only to carry in stock the best of everything, but to secure the Agency for such articles as have well-known merit, and are popular with the people, thereby sustaining the reputation of being always enterprising, and ever reliable. Having secured the Agency for the celebrated Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, will sell it on a positive guarantee. It will surely cure any and every affection of Throat, Lungs, and Chest, and to show our confidence, we invite you to call and get a Trial Bottle Free.

For Sale!

Prof. RICE'S nicely located House and two beautiful lots on Clinton street near the Park in the village of Charlevoix, are now for sale.

Enquire of G. M. RICE, Alpena, Mich., or E. H. GREEN, Charlevoix, Mich.

May 4, 1886.

Teachers Examination.

The examination of teachers in Charlevoix county for the ensuing school year, will occur as follows: At Charlevoix, Friday the 10th day of September 1886; at East Jordan, Friday the 24th day of September, 1886; at Boyne City, Friday, October 29th, 1886. At Boyne City, Friday March 25th 1887, and at East Jordan on Friday April 29th 1887. All examinations to commence at 9 o'clock a. m. and candidates to furnish stationery.

WILLIAM HARRIS, Secretary.

RIFENBURG MILLING CO.

Charlevoix, Mich.

Manufacturers of and Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

3 EXTRA GRADES OF

FLOUR

Feed, Corn Meal, Graham

CASH FOR WHEAT.

We will do exchange work for farmers on short notice.

CHARLEVOIX

Savings Bank.

Organized under the General Banking Law of the State of Michigan.

Henry Bennett, Pres. John Nicholls, Vice Pres. F. A. Smith, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:

Henry Bennett, O. D. Wood,
John Nicholls, A. Hollars,
A. R. Upright, A. Fox,
F. A. Smith.

CAPITAL, ... $25,000
SURPLUS, ... 2,000

The liabilities of stockholders in all State banks as provided in Act 5174 sec. 40 of the Revised Statutes of the State of Michigan, is double the amount of stock taken, making a guarantee fund (total of $50,000) to depositors. [illegible] ...

Drafts drawn direct on the leading [illegible] ... Exchange bought and sold. Certificates of deposit issued bearing interest. We respectfully solicit your patronage.

CORRESPONDENTS

NATIONAL PARK BANK, New York.
[illegible] NATIONAL BANK, Chicago.
NAT. CITY BANK, Grand Rapids.
DETROIT NAT. BANK, Detroit.

TIME CARDS OF STEAMERS

[illegible]

Charlevoix and East Jordan

[illegible]

Charlevoix and Boyne City.

STR. CLARA BELLE, [illegible]

East Jordan and Charlevoix.

STR. NORTH STAR, [illegible]

Harbor Springs, Charlevoix & E. Jordan.

STR. THOS. FRIANT, [illegible]

NORTHERN MICHIGAN LINE.

PROP. CHAMPLAIN, [illegible]

PROP. LAWRENCE, [illegible]

HANNAH, LAY & CO'S BOATS.

CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS, Capt. E. Wilson. [illegible]

T. S. FAXTON, [illegible]

Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad.

In effect September 27, 1885.

[timetable illegible]

C. L. LOCKWOOD, Gen'l Pass Agent.

Washburn & Ackert,

FOUNDREYMEN, MACHINISTS,

And Manufacturers of The

Charlevoix Plow.

BATH & BARBER ROOMS.

Hot and Cold Baths and Sea Water Baths at the Barber Shop, 1st door north of Bridge St. House.

[illegible]

JAY L. PRICE

GELLICK & INGALLS

Dealers in

Choice Wines,

Fine Liquors

EXCELLENT CIGARS.

We call Special Attention to our

Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

We also keep continually on draught

Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer.

Bridge St., 1st door south of Sentinel.

For Finest

JOB WORK,

Patronize The

Sentinel.

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN

The most popular Weekly newspaper devoted to science, mechanics, engineering, discoveries, inventions and patents ever published. [illegible] ...

PATENTS. [illegible] ... Address MUNN & CO., Office SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, 361 Broadway, New York.

—THE—

Best Show!

—OF—

STOVES.

The ROUND OAK, And SQUARE BASE HEATING STOVES.

COMPLETE STOCK OF NEW HARDWARE.

JOB & TIN WORK. VERY BEST PUMPS.

L. D. Bartholomew & Co.

THE BEST

Drugs, Confectionery, Stationery,

BOOKS & PAPERS,

FISHING TACKLE, Etc,

Soda Water, Mineral Water, Cigars,

Are found at PERRY WEED'S.

The only News stand in town.

BURNS & SCROGGIE'S

LIVERY STABLE

CHARLEVOIX.

The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Drivers furnished if desired. Rates low.

Burns & Scroggie, Charlevoix.

C. R. Bellinger,

—THE—

JEWELER,

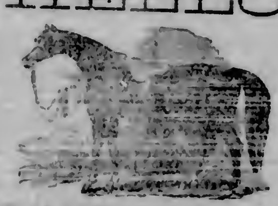
HAS JUST RECEIVED A FULL LINE OF

JEWELRY,

Clocks, Watches

Etc., Etc.

HELLO



EVERYBODY

Says that Advance Has The Best HARNESS MAKER! In The County.

Call and see him. He is found in the person of

F. J. CUTTER.

J. T. Kirkpatrick,

ARCHITECT AND CONTRACTOR,

—ON—

Charlevoix Summer Resorts.

[illegible]

Carpenters and Painters.

[illegible]

J. T. KIRKPATRICK.

Take The Sentinel.

Fox & Miller

Offer a

Mammoth Stock

OF

BOOTS, SHOES

and other

FOOT WEAR,

—AT—

LOWER PRICES

Than can be found elsewhere in the County.

We have just secured a

FIRST-CLASS SHOEMAKER,

And will make Repairing a specialty.

We have the Goods and we are bound to sell them.

NOTHING SHODDY.

Fox & Miller.

MONEY TO LOAN,

At current rates of interest, on Approved Real Estate Security. School Bonds bought and sold.

MILEY & CHAPIN, Boyne City.

The Kalamazoo

"DAILY TELEGRAPH,"

Contains the Associated Press Dispatches

Sent by Mail at 50c a month.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

SMITH & PARMELEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX. : MICHIGAN.

GENERAL MILES and his men took twenty-one weeks to make Geronimo surrender.

WITHIN five days the temperature at Fargo, D. T., dropped from 108 degrees in the shade to freezing point.

A DELEGATE to a recent political convention at Good Thunder, Minn., moved to "adjourn sine die for one week."

EDWIN BOOTH recently sent his check for one thousand dollars to an old friend in Charleston whose house was destroyed by the earthquake.

MRS. FLETCHER HARPER'S free seashore cottage at North Long Branch has been the home of many sick working girls from New York the past summer.

A REVIVAL at Maryville, Mo., which added one hundred members to the Methodist Church, is mainly credited to Edwin M. Forrest, a reformed gambler.

THE newspapers are giving out such quantities of earthquake information that when the next one comes every body will know it as soon as it turns the corner.

IT has been a warm day during the past month when some centenarian has not had a birthday. The average record of three-score-and-ten has been left in the shade.

THE widow of ex-President James K. Polk celebrated the eighty-third an-...

EPITOME OF THE WEEK.

Interesting News Compilation.

FROM WASHINGTON.

THE series of oleomargarine stamps were on the 14th ready to be supplied to internal revenue collectors as fast as possible.

UP to the 14th the Civil-Service Commission have made 750 appointments.

THE Treasury Department on the 15th called in $15,000,000 of the three per cents of 1882.

THE Government, it is stated, will in the next two weeks issue about $10,000,000 in small silver certificates.

THE exchanges at twenty-six leading clearing-houses in the United States during the week ending on the 18th aggregated $884,891,449, against $787,117,220 the previous week. As compared with the corresponding week of 1885, the increase amounts to 21.9 per cent.

ARTHUR G. SEDGWICK, the special envoy to Mexico, returned to Washington on the 19th, where he will confer with Secretary Bayard.

THE EAST.

AT the convention of Pennsylvania Greenbackers held on the 16th at Harrisburg a full State ticket was nominated, with Robert J. Houston for Governor. The platform demands that the Government shall issue all money; that no more bonds be issued by the Government, that after 1889 the Government buy all lands held by aliens, denounces free-trade agitation, convict, imported, pauper and heathen labor; demands a graduated income tax; favors a practical eight-hour law and the prohibition of child labor.

FRANK HISCOCK was renominated for Congress on the 15th by the Republicans of the Twenty-fifth district of New York.

A MEMORIAL arch, erected at Hartford, Conn., in honor of the soldiers and sailors of the war, was dedicated on the 17th with imposing services. General Joseph R. Hawley delivered the address.

THE official returns from every city and town in Maine on the 17th gave Bodwell (Rep.) for Governor 14,000 majority over Edwards (Dem.), at the recent election. Plurality on Congressmen, 17,000. The Republicans elected 148 members of the Legislature and the Democrats 35.

[illegible]

A FIERCE GALE.

Portions of Illinois, Indiana and Michigan Visited by a Disastrous Hurricane—Some Loss of Life and Great Damage to Property Result.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 17.—A great hurricane swept over the southeast corner of Michigan yesterday, doing great damage by streaks in Livingston, Washtenaw, Wayne, Lenawee and Monroe counties. Wires are down west and south of here, so that it is impossible to learn the full particulars of the damage done. It seems to be considerable, however, involving farm property, barns, windmills, fences, standing timber and crops. The worst report comes from Howell where the storm broke in the shape of a great black wheel-like cloud moving from east to west about two o'clock. It covered territory six miles wide and did great havoc. Four buildings in the town were completely wrecked and most of the other buildings were more or less injured. Fred Smith, aged about twenty, was crushed under the falling walls of his father's house and killed.

At Brighton the German Lutheran Church was blown from its foundation, and the State military buildings at Island Lake were destroyed. Flat Rock escaped damage by the storm dividing and passing in sections on each side of it. The western part of the city of Adrian was considerably damaged, though no fatali-...

[illegible]

GETTING EVEN.

The Chinese Paying Us Back for Outrages on Their Countrymen in Wyoming—American Missionaries Attacked by Savage Mobs, Robbed of Their Possessions and Driven from Their Homes.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Minister Denby, at Pekin, has reported to the Secretary of State two cases of recent outrage perpetrated by the Chinese upon Americans. Rev. A. A. Fulton and wife and Miss Mary Fulton, M. D., all of the American Presbyterian mission in China, established a mission hospital and station at Kwei Ping, about 400 miles southwest from Canton. When they had expended a considerable sum in putting up buildings, placards appeared on the wall declaring that the "foreign devils" must go in three days, and their buildings be destroyed. The literati, as usual, were at the bottom of the disturbance. A crowd gathered near the hospital, and Mr. Fulton set out to secure the protection of the militia. He was stoned on his way and not permitted to return, and no soldiers were sent to protect the mission. On May 6 the mob piled straw and faggots against the building occupied by Mrs. and Miss Fulton and a little daughter of the former, upon which the inmates fled and the house was looted and burned. The ladies sought refuge on boats, but the mob threatened to destroy any boat that should receive them, and after some delay they reached the point where Mr. ... the property destroyed is about $5,500, and Consul Seymour is pressing a demand for the payment of this amount in damages.

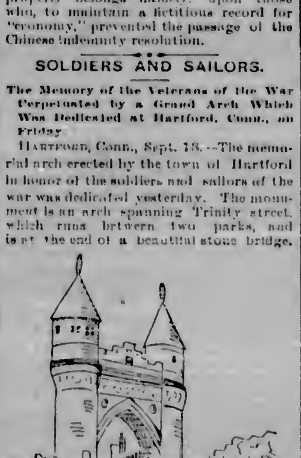
The second case is of still more recent date. On Sunday, June 6, in the absence of all the gentlemen connected with the Methodist Episcopal Mission Hospital at Chung King, and while only the lady was present, a mob collected, broke down the gates and threw stones at the lady, one of which cut open her index finger its entire length, while she was otherwise injured about the head and arms. Complaint was made to the officials, but the matter was treated lightly. "This is a serious case," writes Mr. Denby, "and may be a test one. It grew, as all our evils in China do, out of troubles in the United States." Still later, July 10, the mob attacked the mission property at Chung King and destroyed it. Mr. Denby filed a protest.

In speaking of the report of Minister Denby regarding the Chinese outrages, a well-known official of the State Department said the fact that the lives and property of American missionaries in that country are in danger is an entirely logical sequence to the failure of the House of Representatives to take action on the bill unanimously reported by the Foreign Affairs Committee, recommended by the President in a special message, and strongly urged upon the consideration of the House by the Secretary of State. In the closing days of the session Minister Denby reported to the State Department his fear that, notwithstanding the presence of the United States men-of-war in Chinese waters, sent there on the requisition of the State Department, something serious would occur if Congress adjourned without action on the Wyoming indemnity resolution, and the purport of this dispatch was confidently communicated by Mr. Belmont, chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, to the leading members of the House, but the session was allowed to end without action. The official said there will probably be an effort next session to place the responsibility for whatever loss of life and property may occur where it properly belongs—namely, upon those who, to maintain a fictitious record for "economy," prevented the passage of the Chinese indemnity resolution.

SOLDIERS AND SAILORS.

The Memory of the Veterans of the War Perpetuated by a Grand Arch Which Was Dedicated at Hartford, Conn., on Friday.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 18.—The memorial arch erected by the town of Hartford in honor of the soldiers and sailors of the ...



[illegible]

REBELLION IN SPAIN.

An Uprising of Three Hundred Soldiers in Madrid Causes Great Excitement—Loyal Troops Quell the Attempt to Overthrow the Monarchy—The Rebels Driven from the City.

MADRID, Sept. 21.—A revolution was attempted Sunday evening by a number of the Spanish troops quartered in this city. The uprising was ill planned and ill managed and practically amounted to little more than a mutiny. The trouble was inaugurated by a regiment of infantry quartered in the Gil Blas barracks. The soldiers revolted, broke down the partition wall that separated them from the quarters occupied by the cavalry, and intermingled with the men of the two cavalry regiments, a number of whom joined in the revolution.

The officers of all three regiments did all in their power to dissuade the men from revolting, but 300 soldiers, after beating a number of officers and wounding three, deserted the barracks and marched in two bodies through the city. One body went to the Prado, the principal park and promenade of Madrid. Two thousand troops were quartered in the Prado at the time, and the revolutionists expected to be joined by them. The other body went hurrahing through the center of Madrid, calling on the people to join in the revolution, crying "Live the Republic!" and ...

[illegible]

THE CONSTITUTION.

The Centennial Anniversary of Its Promulgation to Be Fitly Celebrated at Philadelphia, September 17, 1887—Meeting of Governors and Representatives of the Thirteen Original States to Perfect Plans.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18.—As a result of a movement upon the part of the chief magistrates of the thirteen original States seven Governors of as many Commonwealths met here yesterday to arrange for a fitting observance of the centennial anniversary of the promulgation of the constitution of the United States. The centenary will occur on September 17, 1887. Ten States were represented. New Hampshire, Massachusetts and North Carolina were not represented, but probably will be by to-day. The following Governors were present: Pattison, of Pennsylvania; Lee, of Virginia; Lloyd, of Maryland; Stockley, of Delaware; Wetmore, of Rhode Island; McDaniel, of Georgia, and Shephard, of South Carolina. New York was represented by Lieutenant-Governor Jones, New Jersey by a committee of the State Legislature, and Connecticut by ex-Governor Bigelow.

At the Continental Hotel Governor Pattison delivered a brief address of welcome, after which the party ...

[illegible]

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

A Discourse on the Lessons Taught by Hagar's Exile.

The Duty of Finding One's Sphere and Keeping It—The Dangers of Overweening Pride—The Well in Every Wilderness.

REV. T. DEWITT TALMAGE in a recent sermon at the Brooklyn Tabernacle, took the story of Hagar's exile as his theme in illustrating God's ability and readiness to rescue the outcast. His text was:

And God opened her eyes, and she saw a well of water, and she went and filled the bottle with water, and gave the lad drink.—Genesis xxi. 19.

The preacher said: Morning breaks upon Beer-sheba. There is an early stir in the house of old Abraham. There has been trouble among the domestics. Hagar, an assistant in the household, and her son, a brisk lad of sixteen years, have become impudent and insolent, and Sarah, the mistress of the household, puts her foot down very hard and says that they will have to leave the premises. They are ...

... that the world would long ago have been saved if some of the men out of the ministry were in it, and some of those who are in it were out of it. I really think that one-half the world may be divided into two quarters—those who have not found their sphere, and those who, having found it, are not willing to stay there. How many are struggling for a position a little higher than that for which God intended them. The bondswoman wants to be mistress. Hagar keeps crowding Sarah. The small wheel of a watch which beautifully went treading its golden pathway, wants to be the balance-wheel, and the sparrow with chagrin drops into the brook because it can not, like the eagle, cut a circle under the sun.

In the Lord's army we all want to be Brigadier-Generals. The sloop says:

"More mast, more tonnage, more canvas. Oh, that I were a topsail schooner, or a full-rigged brig, or a Cunard steamer."

And so the world is filled with cries of discontent because we are not willing to stay in the place where God put us and intended us to be. My friends, be not too proud to do any thing God tells you to do. For the lack of a right disposition in this respect the world is strewn with wandering Hagars and Ishmaels. God has given ...

... one woman in that crowd who seems to have the confidence of all the others, and they all look up to her for her counsel and for her prayers. Who is she? This afternoon you will find her in the Sabbath-school, while the teacher tells her of that Christ who clothed the naked, and fed the hungry, and healed the sick. My mind leaps forward thirty years from now, and I find myself in an African jungle; and there is a missionary of the cross addressing the natives, and their dusky countenances are irradiated with the glad tidings of great joy and salvation. Who is he? Did you not hear his voice this morning in the first song of the service?

My mind leaps forward thirty years from now, and I find myself looking through the wickets of a prison. I see the face scarred with every crime. His chin on his open palm, his elbow on his knee—a picture of despair. As I open the wicket he starts and I hear his chain clank. The jail-keeper tells me that he has been in there now three times—first for theft, then for arson, now for murder. He stays upon the trap-door, the rope is fastened to his neck, the plank falls, his body swings into the air, his soul swings off into eternity. Who is he, and where is he? ...

[illegible]

TEMPERANCE STATESMEN.

Eighteen States Represented in the National Conference of Anti-Saloon Republicans by 180 Delegates—Ex-Senator Windom Presides—A Platform Adopted Which Favors High License as a Restrictive Measure.

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—The national convention of Anti-Saloon Republicans met yesterday morning in the Madison Street Theater auditorium. The convention was called to order at 10:30 o'clock by Hon. Albert Griffith, of Kansas, who called upon Rev. Arthur Little to open the convention with prayer. Mr. Griffith then stated that he had been instructed by the Kansas delegation to make the following nominations for temporary officers: Chairman, United States Senator W. H. Blair, of New Hampshire; Secretaries, J. C. Skiller and L. R. Elliott; Reading Secretary, E. R. Hutchins.

These nominations were accepted by acclamation.

On taking the chair Senator Blair said he believed the convention would be historic. It was called to organize for the destruction of the rum traffic. He said: "Between free and low-licensed rum we are for low license, between low license and high license we are for high license, and between high license and prohibition we are for prohibition." He said he believed ...

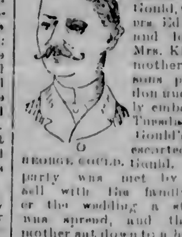
[illegible]

YOUNG GOULD'S MARRIAGE.

The Millionaire's Family Pleased with His Choice—Further Details of the Ceremony.

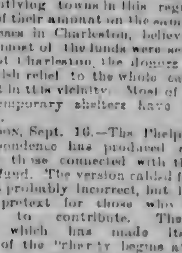
NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—George Gould and his bride are not going on a wedding trip. The young couple will spend three weeks at Lyndhurst, Jay Gould's summer home, after which George will buy a house in the city and attend to business as usual. There is no doubt that Jay Gould is very much pleased to see his son married. The young man's choice is in every way satisfactory to the family. Further details of the ceremony are as follows:

Miss Edith Kingdon, arrived with her mother on the steamship Servia from Liverpool on Monday, and the wedding took place at Jay Gould's residence at dusk Tuesday evening. Rev. Dr. Washington Choate, of the Presbyterian Church, Irvington, read the marriage service. Jay Gould, Mrs. Gould, George's two brothers Edward and Howard, and his two sisters and Mrs. Kingdon, the bride's mother, were the only persons present. Miss Kingdon and her mother quietly embarked at New York Tuesday noon on Jay Gould's yacht Atalanta, escorted by Mr. George Gould. At Irvington the party was met by Jay Gould himself with the family carriage. After the wedding a simple little lunch was spread, and the bride and her mother sat down to a half-hour's chat over the repast with the groom's family and Jay Gould, who had been prompt to kiss her on the instant that the preacher's ceremony was over, toasted her health and happiness and all prosperity with the husband of her choice. Happiness was linked all around the table.



GEORGE GOULD.

Until seven o'clock the house remained closed, and visitors who [illegible] their cards were invited to call at another time. At that hour the family coach again appeared at the door. Mr. George Gould handed his newly-made wife and her mother into it, and the carriage rolled off to the depot to catch the 7:55 train. George and his bride and mother-in-law returned to the city on the train, and drove directly to the residence of Mrs. Kingdon, in Thirty-eighth street.



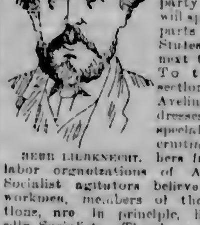
EDITH KINGDON.

It is rumored that Mr. Gould and Miss Kingdon were married in London about two months ago, and that the ceremony of Tuesday last was performed to avoid disagreeable gossip about an elopement or a forbidden union. Mr. Gould was in London on a pleasure trip at the time, while Miss Kingdon was a member of Daly's company now performing in the English metropolis.

THE SOCIALISTS.

A Campaign to Be Inaugurated in America by Emissaries from Germany.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 16.—Dr. Edward Aveling, Fellow of the University College, London, and his wife, Eleanor Marx Aveling, the youngest daughter of Karl Marx, addressed an audience of some 2,000 people here Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Socialistic-Labor party. Dr. Aveling, as a preliminary to his address, gave the following description of the Socialistic campaign in America, which Tuesday night's meeting inaugurated. This party has a German and an American section. Herr Wilhelm Liebknecht, a member of the Reichstag and one of the leaders of the Socialist party in Germany, will speak in various parts of the United States during the next three months. To the American section Dr. and Mrs. Aveling will give addresses, with the special view of recruiting their numbers from the many labor organizations of America. The Socialist agitators believe that many workmen, members of these organizations, are in principle, if not avowedly, Socialists. They hope to induce such men to openly avow their socialism, and, while by no means neglecting the objects for which the Knights of Labor, the Trades Unions, the Central Labor Union and kindred organizations work, to regard these as only the means to an end. That end, from the point of view of the Socialists, should be the entire emancipation of labor in all lands from the domination of capital.



HERR LIEBKNECHT.

CHOLERA INCREASING.

It Is Spreading Through Austria—Returns from Japan and Corea.

[illegible]

CHARLESTON'S NEEDS.

Grand Army Veterans Requested to Extend Aid to the Homeless Earthquake Victims—Another Shock—Rebuilding the Stricken City—London Papers on the Fund for the Sufferers.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Sept. 16.—General S. W. Crawford, United States army, who came here from Philadelphia, on Sunday last, has sent a letter to Governor Fairchild, Commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, in which he says, among other things:

"There is a large class of people who by the calamity have been rendered houseless and homeless, and with no prospect of any restoration without efficient help. They are small property-owners to whom their little dwellings were their all, and upon whom the weight of the shock has fallen with its principal force. Often encumbered with mortgages, these structures can not be repaired without help. My knowledge of and my association with these people have given me abundant opportunity to learn these facts, and I have been greatly impressed with the immediate necessity of relief to them. Funds must be raised by voluntary contributions to assist this class, and thus by relieving them a class above them is free to restore their own injured property, which they are able and willing to do. The great organization which you represent could do nothing more in accordance with its principles and practice than to assist in this great Christian effort."

CHARLESTON, S. C., Sept. 16.—There was a strong shock yesterday morning about three o'clock. It shook houses perceptibly. The work of rough reparation is going on all over the city and buildings are already putting on a better appearance, though it will be impossible to restore them to their former appearance. There is a scarcity of brick-layers and plasterers. The relief committee has decided to provide for the losses in the outlying towns in this region in the ratio of their amount on the same basis as the losses in Charleston, believing that, while most of the funds were sent in the name of Charleston, the donors intended to furnish relief to the whole earthquake district in this vicinity. Most of the tents and temporary shelters have been removed.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The Phelps-Bayard correspondence has produced a flutter among those connected with the earthquake fund. The version cabled from New York is probably incorrect, but it suffices as a pretext for those who do not wish to contribute. The Daily News, which has made itself the organ of the "charity begins at home" grumblers, considers the United States big enough and rich enough to provide for its own disasters. The Times, nothing daunted, brings its powerful advocacy to the aid of the Charleston sufferers, and disowns a correspondent who, on Monday, suggested that Englishmen should not contribute because "America encourages Irish violence and Irish rebellion." The fund, however, makes slow progress.

FARMERS IN COUNCIL.

Satisfaction Expressed Over the Passage of the Butter Bill—The President's Letter of Regret.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16.—The seventh annual convention of the American Agricultural and Dairy Association began here yesterday. There are about forty delegates in attendance, representing the Eastern States, Canada and Kansas. J. H. Reall, president of the association, opened the convention with a lengthy speech, in which he said the most important victory ever won by agriculture was the passage of the Oleomargarine bill by Congress. Referring to the tariff laws, Mr. Reall declared that it was to the interest of all farmers to see that they were directed toward the advancement and protection of American industry, and so framed as to give the farmers the best home markets for home products.

Letters of regret were read from a number of well-known people, among the rest the following from President Cleveland:

"SARANAC INN, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Joseph H. Reall, Esq., President, Etc.—My Dear Sir: Your letter of the 3d inst., supplementing our pleasant interview and containing an invitation to attend the National convention of the American Agricultural and Dairy Association, is received. I should be glad to accept the kind invitation tendered and avail myself of the opportunity the convention will afford to meet the representatives of an interest so important and valuable as that which the farmers and agriculturists of the country have in charge. The relation of this interest to the welfare and prosperity of our land is so intimate that its power and legitimate care and protection is, in my opinion, a patriotic duty. This consideration elevates the responsibility of those in any wise intrusted with our farming industry beyond the plane of mere selfishness, and should induce conservatism and moderation. Demands made in such a spirit can not fail to exact a just and appreciative response from those who make and execute our laws. I hope that the coming convention may be productive of the best results to the agriculturists, as well as to all the people of our country, and, though plans already made and engagements already agreed upon will prevent my accepting your invitation to be present, I shall be much interested in its objects and purposes. Yours sincerely, GROVER CLEVELAND."

Resolutions were adopted opposing the election to Congress of any man antagon-...

[illegible]

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

Bay View Assembly.

This Assembly, the youngest of the Chautauqua family, is located at Bay View, on the shore of Little Traverse bay, in Northern Michigan. The association has over four hundred acres of ground, over one hundred and fifty cottages erected, a post-office and telegraph office, hotel, stores, etc., and is reached both by railway and steamboat. The Assembly, under the superintendency of Mr. John W. Hall, has summer schools conducted by able teachers, comprising music, art, improved cooking methods, elocution, Bible study, etc. The lecture list this year comprised some of the best talent in the country. The Assembly as now organized is to have an advisory board elected from the Protestant evangelical churches in Michigan by the cottage owners and Chautauqua readers at an annual meeting. In connection with the Assembly the superintendent has organized a Michigan Department of the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle, and next year a Chautauqua Hall is to be erected. Those desiring further particulars can receive them by writing to the superintendent, John W. Hall, at Flint.

[illegible]

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
CHARLEVOIX, SEPT. 29, 1886.
WILLARD A. SMITH Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE Associate Editor.

EDUCATIONAL

The Purpose of This Department.

The SENTINEL begins this week an "educational column," which it purposes to make a permanent feature of the paper, and of interest to all friends of education. It will be under the personal supervision of Superintendent Enos, of the Charlevoix public schools, and all correspondence on that topic should be addressed to him. This column is not designed simply to discuss educational matters from the teachers' standpoint merely, but rather as a means by which the interests of parents, pupils and teachers may be impartially represented. It it the desire of the conductor of this column that all should work together with a hearty good will.

The Teachers' Association

At the State Teachers' Institute held here during the week ending Sept. 10th, a county organization was effected, known as the "Charlevoix Teachers' Association;" the object being to provide for teachers' meetings in various parts of the county, as the executive committee may find practicable. A committee of five members, located in different sections, have power to make arrangements for general meetings, and, in case the whole committee does not act, the local committee at any point may assume the management, and appoint meetings for that locality. This will enable a few live teachers anywhere to secure the benefits of teachers' meetings. The officers elected Sept. 9th are as follows: President, H. M. Enos, Charlevoix; Secretary, A. B. Nichollas, East Jordan; Executive Committee, the President and Secretary, ex officio, and J. M. Harris, Ironton, Miss Garner, Boyne, Mr. Waldron, Boyne Falls.

A meeting was appointed to be held at the high school room, in Charlevoix, on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 8th and 9th, beginning on Friday evening at 7 o'clock, and closing at 10:30 o'clock on Saturday. The following programme has been prepared:

1. Music.
2. "School Government," a paper by J. M. Harris.
3. Select Reading.
4. "The Quincy Methods;" a paper by H. M. Enos.
5. "Notation and Numeration," Mrs. Pope.
6. Query Box; the questions to be distributed for discussion next morning.

SATURDAY MORNING.

1. Music.
2. How shall we teach Grammar to obtain the highest success?—A. B. Nicholas.
3. Answers to questions.

Each paper will be discussed by those present as they may desire.

The Query Box will bring out much valuable matter. These discussions will be of interest to the people generally, as well as to teachers, and we trust will be well attended.

The teachers of Charlevoix county should enter heartily into this work, and make this organization a powerful factor in the advancement of our educational interests.

Every teacher, present, past and prospective, is welcome to the meetings, and is urgently desired to take part. No fees are required.

For this meeting let all make an effort to be present and insure an auspicious beginning. Come prepared to be present at both sessions.

The Charlevoix public schools have enrolled, thus far this term, 240 pupils.

One element of success is wanting in our school work. The patrons do not visit the schools.

The complete organization of grades in the High School is being perfected, and the class lists will be published soon.

The republican party is the only political friends labor has ever had in this country and the workingmen are not so blind as not to see it.

The renomination of the Hon. Seth C. Moffatt by the republicans of the Eleventh congressional district will be cordially approved by the whole state.

In response to the allegation of democratic papers that Roscoe Dix, republican candidate for land commissioner, is "a lawyer," the Bay City Tribune says that he runs a real estate and abstract office, and invites them to turn their attention to P. B. Wachtel, their own candidate for secretary of state.

Bellaire Breeze: It is hardly probable that the Prohibitionists of Antrim county will place a separate ticket in the field. What there is of them are, no doubt, just as vicious and revengeful as the average third party Prohibitionists, and just as anxious to kill the Republican party and let the low-license, non-sumptuary-law Democrats into power, but the scarcity of their numbers will hardly admit of their calling a convention and making nominations.

The colored people at Charleston and vicinity have been on the verge of lunacy the past two weeks over the prediction that the end of the world would occur on the 29th. In Wilkes county four prophets have arisen who claim to have predicted the fatal day a year ago. Thousands of people place implicit trust in the assertions of these men. The announcement by Prof. Wiggins that another earthquake would take place on the very day which the colored people picked out for the end of the world has alarmed the whites and thus there exists a concurrent sensation, which has the effect of demoralizing labor. Hundreds of new members are being added to the churches and camp meetings are attended by immense crowds.

THE FAIR.

The Second Annual Exhibit of the Charlevoix County Agricultural Society at East Jordan.

The second annual Fair of the Charlevoix County Agricultural Society closed Friday with a record of successful and satisfactory results in exhibit and patronage. Although sometimes threatening, the weather was favorable for the three days.

To one who has watched the growth of Charlevoix county and its immediately contiguous sections from a condition of pioneer primitiveness to the present, there was much to mark the two decades of development.

The large rink building was radiant in works of art, redolent with the perfume of plants and flowers, and beautiful with the product of garden and orchard. The display of fruit was particularly attractive, and it sustained fully the boast that this northern country beats the rest of Michigan for fruit. The display of Richard Knight, of Banks, was especially fine, and many Charlevoix county orchards contributed of their choicest varieties.

In vegetables there was much to be admired, and still more to prove the quality of our soil, and the pride of its owners in its product. In our opinion it only fell below displays in the fairs of older societies in the extent of the exhibit.

The product of the dairy and kitchen spoke loudly in praise of the skill and industry of our good housewives. The mercantile enterprises of our villages were splendidly represented. We will be pardoned if we discriminate enough to say that the finest display in the building was from the establishment of F. W. Craine & Co., of Charlevoix. Their exhibit of textures, drapery and fine goods was arranged in artistic style, and in charge of Mrs. Mrs. Goss. Mesdames Smith & Cooper and Mesdames Litney & Carr, milliners of Charlevoix, had fine exhibits. The Rifenburg Milling Co., of Charlevoix, under the management of Lieut. Gov. Buttars, had a fine display of their different grades of flour, etc., and no department of the fair was of more interest to the people than this. Charlevoix people were proud of it. East Jordan's manufacturing and business establishments were well represented.

The live stock department, although not extensive, was an improvement over that of last year, and demonstrated a tendency to improvement in blood, and a growing interest in the raising of stock.

Our cereals were well represented, and more in this than in any other exhibit was shown the true wealth and future possibilities of the Pine Lake region, agriculturally. No county in Michigan can show up a finer quality of grain, or more of it per acre, than the Pine Lake region submitted for inspection at her county fair.

The show of agricultural implements and machinery was of course confined to those articles in demand amonng the farmers of a new country, but a noticeable interest was taken in all improvements, and with this opportunity for observation, more advanced methods of farming are likely to result.

As a whole this second annual fair was satisfactory to the officers of the society. It is hoped and expected that the purposes and aims of the society will in the future, as in the past two seasons, find a responsive disposition on the part of the farmers, manufacturers and merchants of the north counties of Grand Traverse.

This annual showing up of the industrial and agricultural interests of our section will encourage and inspire in progress and improvement.

Mayor Courtney, of Charleston, says: "What a great thing it is to be part of this magnificent union of the states." And poor old battered Fort Sumter out in the Charleston harbor could tell, if it could talk, a great long story about that.

Wiggins, the weather prophet, is so set up by the fact that he prophesied the late earthquakes, that he has spent all his spare time since out in his back yard making the biggest kind of a quake with side shows of cyclones and all other conceivable meteorological disturbances. He is going to fire the whole thing off to-day, at which time he avers and declares that the whole continent, from ocean to ocean, will be shaken in the most thorough and scientific manner. New Orleans, Macon and Mobile are especially set apart for total destruction. North of the 30th parallel of latitude hurricanes and cyclones will do almost as much destructive work.

The Triennial Conclave of Knights Templar closed its session at St. Louis Thursday. The grand parade was a perfect success. The procession was headed by a platoon of mounted police. It was 11:45 when the head of the procession reached the reviewing stand in front of the exposition building. The members of the grand encampment were assembled in a body. It was nearly 2 o'clock when the last division passed and the grand encampment returned to its assembly room. As the procession passed the reviewing stand, various evolutions were gone through by the knights and the bands, sixty-two in number, which accompanied them and every skillful or unusual movement was loudly applauded by the crowds which lined the street and filled the four rows of windows in the capacious exposition building. Long before the last division of the procession had passed the reviewing stand the head had reached the point of disbandment at the entrance of the grand encampment hall, and the members of the first division, breaking ranks and joining with the spectators, packed the lawn surrounding the building and rendered movement of any sort well nigh impossible, while entrance to the exposition building was entirely out of the question. The procession was fully three and a half miles in length and even the most enthusiastic officers in charge of the arrangements were surprised at its magnitude. The parade passed without notable incident and no casualties of any sort were reported.

Clover and Timothy seed at L. D. Bartholomew & Co.'s.

Norwood Notes.

[By Psyche Ann.]

N. S. Card arrived in town on Saturday, and school commences on Monday.

A horse belonging to George Eagleton got caught in his stall on Saturday night, and died soon after being found.

Clarence Nash died on Wednesday night. About four weeks since while playing in the barn he fell about ten feet to the floor. His spine was injured by the fall. His remain were taken by the Lawrence on Saturday to Appleton, Wis., to be buried by the side of his mother.

Ironton.

The schools open on Monday.

The town fathers met at the school house on Saturday.

Mrs. Frank Barclay of East Jordan, visited friends in Ironton over Sunday.

Mrs. Pope, of Charlevoix, has been engaged for the primary department, Miss Wagley having resigned.

Boys, when you have another hunting match don't bring in so much old game as it is disagreeable after it has been killed so long.

The Colonel Cook, which unloaded ore here this week, formerly called the Augusta, is the ship which ran into the Lady Elgin some years ago.

The boys had a hunting match on Wednesday last, Jas. Mitchell and John Montel, Captains. Jim and his men didn't have game enough so they paid for the supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Garland may be assured of the sympathy of their friends in their recent bereavement. Little Eddie was 14 months old and had been sick for six months.

The schools will open Oct. 4. The building is being thoroughly renovated and everything is being done by the board to secure a good school for the coming year. The school will be graded by the principal so as to accommodate those who can only attend during the winter months. All the branches required for a third grade certificate will be taught the first two terms. A hearty co-operation of the patrons is solicited in securing a regular attendance.

The services at the dedication of the new church were well attended by all the people of our town and vicinity, also a large crowd from Charlevoix came on the Clara Belle. Rev. Mr. Smithson preached the dedicatory sermon. One of the novel and interesting features of the exercises, was the Italian solo rendered by Miss Adams, which excelled any thing of the kind ever offered here before. Madame Capianna also rendered a solo and the Madame and Miss Adams a duet, "The Lords Prayer." The new church was nearly free from debt and the collection would liquidate it or nearly so.

Eveline Items.

Awful wet fall.

S. Parker was in town Wednesday.

William Henry has completed a new granary 14x18.

Mr. Tuttle is building a house 18x30. James Graham is doing the work.

School commences next Monday, but we have not heard the principal's name.

Sidney Hayden of Eveline was nominated on the democratic ticket for county surveyor.

Miss May Papineau, of Charlevoix, commenced the school in the Hillegas District Monday morning.

Miss Esther Allen closed the summer term of school of five months in the Beers District last Friday.

Our farmers are busy plowing and sowing fall wheat. We notice several pieces of wheat up and looking fine.

Mountain road is situated below the Big Hill, and is going to make one of the prettiest places in Northern Michigan.

The donation held at the Beers' school house last Friday evening was an enjoyable affair, although the crowd was rather slim. The receipts were $7.75 for the benefit of Rev. Mr. Wakely.

W. S. Stripp has 25 acres of potatoes this year. Mr. Stripp is not only one of our largest farmers, but is Eveline's largest shipping dealer. He has dealt very extensively in logs, wood, bark, ties and posts, since he has been here. This year he gathered 900 bushels of wheat from 40 acres.

In our report last week that Thos High, was struck by Ed Kostelow with an ax, was a mistake. Kostelow struck High and he fell on a cross cut saw, which was lying with teeth up, cutting his neck on the left side. Kostelow had a warrant issued for his arrest and last Friday High went to East Jordan and while there was arrested. He plead guilty and was fined $9.50 and costs.

Home made yarns at F. W. Craine & Co.'s.

Go to Scott's shop for a first-class job of horseshoeing.

Tricots and all kinds of dress flannels at F. W. Craine & Co.'s.

F. W. Craine & Co. are selling all wool shirting at 25 cents per yard.

A house and 6 lots for sale or rent Inquire of L. E. Allen, Charlevoix.

An elegant new line of dress goods and trimmings at F. W. Craine & Co.'s.

F. W. Craine & Co. sell all wool yarn at 80 cents per pound. None better.

WANTED—Good, steady men to cut ties and posts. Apply to George Burns, at the livery barn, or Junius S. Dixon, Charlevoix.

Mrs. Litney & Carr, the popular milliners, have just received and are still receiving one of the finest and fullest lines of fall and winter goods ever brought to Charlevoix. The ladies are invited to call in and inspect their stock.

Old newspapers sold at this office.

Marine.

The officers and crew of the United States man-o'-war Michigan were inspected by Admiral Jouett and other prominent naval officers. The affair was private. The programme included crew drill, great guns mounted, broad sword contests, fire drill, boat drill, sail drill, clearing ship for action, pistol drill, and artillery drill. At 8 o'clock the man o'-war landed at Belle Isle for dress parade and was again cleared for action. The Michigan has a history. Those who know say she was built in 1843 at Erie and was launched in May 1844. She is one of the oldest vessels in the navy. She is a relic of the naval architecture of the past, but in recompense for that she gives one a pretty clear insight into the mysteries of shipbuilding as it was carried on many years ago. A square stem and a blunt bow are the most notable characteristics of her shape to the average landsmen.

The following are the clearances from the port of Charlevoix, for ports outside the Michigan District, for the week ending yesterday evening:

22—Schr John Bauer, 130 c wood, Newton to Milwaukee.

22—Schr. Stampede, 250,000 ft hardwood lumber, Pine Lake Lumber Co, to Sheboygan.

23—Schr. Evaline, 175,000 ft hardwood lumber, Glenn & Porter to Chicago.

22—Schr John L. Greca, 70 c wood, Master to Milwaukee.

22—Schr LaPetite, 135 c wood, Master to Milwaukee.

25—Schr Col Cook, 600 tons iron, Pine Lake Iron Co. to Cleveland.

25—Schr Starke, 200,000 hardwood lumber, Glenn & Porter to Chicago.

27—Schr Jessie Phillips, 180,000 ft hardwood lumber, John Nicholls to Chicago.

28—Schr Dan Malse, 147 c wood, Geo Burnham & Sons to Milwaukee.

28—Schr John Raber, 1,000 tns Upright & Emrey to Chicago.

28—Schr Bret Haynes, 100 c wood, Master to Milwaukee.

Dr. C. H. Johnston of Suttons Bay, who is a young, but successful physician, has decided to spend about six months at the college of Physicians and Surgeons, of New York city.

The Tax Sales.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY TREASURER'S OFFICE, East Jordan, August 17th, 1886.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the sale of lands in Charlevoix county advertised by the Auditor General as delinquent for taxes of 1884—and previous years—will be held at the County Treasurer's office in the Waldron House in the village of Bay Springs in said county—there being no suitable buildings at the county seat of said county and the Board of Supervisors of said county designated the said Waldron House for county offices—commencing on Tuesday, the 5th day of October next, at nine o'clock a. m. and continue from day to day—Sunday excepted—until the same shall have been disposed of according to law.

ORLANDO BLAIR,
County Treasurer.

MICHIGAN STATE LAND OFFICE,
LANSING, SEPT. 20th, 1886.

Notice is hereby given, that the following described Primary School and Agricultural College land situated in Charlevoix county, forfeited for non-payment of interest, will be offered for sale at public auction at this office on the 11th day of November, A. D. 1886, at 10 o'clock a. m., unless previously redeemed according to law.

MINOR S. NEWELL,
Commissioner.

PRIMARY SCHOOL LAND.

No. of Cert.	Descrip.	Sec.	Town.	Range.
11,011	N½ of NE¼	16	32 N	5 W
18,201	SW¼ " NE¼	16	32 N	5 W
16,203	W½ " SE¼	16	32 N	5 W

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE LAND.

No. Cert.	Descrip.	Sec.	Town	Range
723	S½ of SE¼	28	32 N	4 W
14,962	SE¼ of SW¼	32	32 N	4 W
15,508	N½ of NW¼	32	32 N	4 W
20,316	SW¼ of SW¼	[illegible]	32 N	4 W
20,945	SW¼ of NW¼	32	32 N	4 W
20,945	N½ of SW¼ of SW¼	32	32 N	4 W
20,946	S½ of NW¼ of SW¼	32	32 N	4 W

THE CIRCUS BEGINS!

I HAVE RECEIVED A

LARGE INVOICE OF

CLOTHING!

Bought from one of the leading houses of Rochester, N. Y., Which I will sell at Prices that will draw Trade from all over the County.

I think the best advertisement a merchant can have is to have his goods advertise him in good fits and prices that cannot be beat.

GEO. W. MILLER.

The Earthquake Did It!

OUR NEW YORK BUYER TOOK ADVANTAGE OF THE GREAT EXCITEMENT JUST IN TIME TO BUY US A MAMMOTH STOCK OF FALL AND WINTER

CLOAKS.

And writes us that he never before secured such Bargains for us or so desirable styles.

LADIES, wait for our stock which will be here in a few days and we will convince you what an earthquake will do for us.

Everything you need is coming in DRY GOODS, NOTIONS, and all the Leading Fancies.

F. W. CRAINE & CO.

DRY GOODS!

J. L. HURD & CO.

GROCERIES!

CLOAKS! CLOAKS!

CLOAKS, CLOAKS!

CLOAKS!

—AT—

Rosenthal & Son's

Having just received the largest and best assortment of Cloaks ever shown in Northern Michigan, we now await your inspection

And we are confident that we can Suit Everybody

IN A STYLISH SHORT WRAP, OR A HANDSOME NEW-MARKET OR A COSY STREET JACKET.

These goods having been purchased at a very low figure, we can sell them at

MOST ASTONISHING LOW PRICES.

Call and examine before going elsewhere,

Respectfully,

ROSENTHAL & SON.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL. XVIII. NO.—23 | CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1886. | WHOLE NO. 880

School Books!

SCHOOL BOOKS! SCHOOL BOOKS!

—HEADQUARTERS—

For Everything needed in the School Room, at

HINES & CO.'S DRUG AND STATIONERY STORE.

You will find it to your interest to look over our stock before purchasing elsewhere.

Respectfully,
F. G. HINES & CO.

UPRIGHT & EMREY, GENERAL DEALERS.

UPRIGHT & EMREY,

Dealers in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Etc.

CHOICE TEAS,

Best Coffees

Boots & Shoes!

IN ALL GRADES OF MEN'S, WOMEN'S and CHILDREN'S.

We have given more than our usual care and attention to the selection of our stock, and we Know we can please our patrons in all

KINDS OF FOOTWEAR.

UPRIGHT & EMREY

We can Supply you with EVERYTHING in our Line.

THE FINEST STOCK OF

FURNITURE

ever offered in Charlevoix,

IS NOW AWAITING YOUR INSPECTION AT

Henry C. Cooper's.

A Choice Line of

FRESH GROCERIES,

OF EVERY VARIETY,

Including Confectionery, Fruits, Canned Goods, and Tobaccos and Cigars in stock

For your inspection in OPERA BLOCK by

R. J. COOPER.

STOVES.

THE LARGEST STOCK OF STOVES EVER EXHIBITED IN CHARLEVOIX CO.

NOW ON SALE

AT STOCKMAN & IDDINGS', HARDWARE STORE.

Intending purchasers are sure of obtaining here the best goods at reasonable prices.

Parties designing to purchase a Heating Stove can, at very little additional expense, secure one of our Handsome Stoves, so much in advance of the old style Round base. Examine them at your nearest hardware dealer's and be convinced of what we say.

We furnish handsome, self-adjusting side fenders, nickle center band, spun brass urn and the finest finished cold rolled steel body in the market, used by no other manufacturer but ours; also the best damper grate in the world for wood. Made in four sizes—Nos. 15, 18, 21 and 25. Nos. 18, 21 and 25 are made with extension bodies when desired.

WE HAVE A FULL LINE OF THESE STOVES,

YOURS TRULY,

STOCKMAN & IDDINGS.

Sep. 29, 1886

The Best Groceries At The Lowest Prices

ARE FOUND AT THE GROCERY AND PROVISION HOUSE OF

A. E. MASON.

I do a strictly Cash-over-counter business and will guarantee lowest prices.

J. MILO EATON'S

REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE,

AND LOAN OFFICE.

The oldest in the county. Established in 1875.

Money to loan in sums to suit and at lowest rates on improved farms.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE furnished on short notice. Office over Postoffice.

A. J. McLEOD,

having returned to the Charlevoix Meat Market, announces that he will sell at

Wholesale or Retail

All kinds of

FRESH MEATS,

SALT PORK,

SMOKED & SALTED

HAMS,

Dried and Smoked

BACON, DRIED BEEF,

Bologna, Head Cheese,

Sausage.

Highest Prices Paid FOR HIDES and PELTS.

Will kill hogs or cattle for other Markets or persons wishing that class of work at low rates.

A. J. McLEOD.

CHARLEVOIX

Manufacturing Co.

Charlevoix, Mich.,

Manufacturers of

Sash and Doors,

Blinds, Mouldings etc.

NEWELL

Posts, Banisters & Stair Rails

kept in stock.

Window & Door Frames made to order.

All Kinds of

Building Material

Kept constantly on hand.

PLANS & SPECIFICATIONS,

Furnished on application.

Cottages made a specialty also contracting and building.

Correspondence solicited.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
SMITH & PARMELEE,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
Address all business correspondence to the firm
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One year $1 50 | Six months $ 75
Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—Eva Arlington at the rink Friday night.

—Smith, the baker, has gone to Harbor Springs.

—J. Reed Emrey went to Chicago on the Champlain.

—J. S. Smithson leaves for Chattanooga, Tenn., to-day.

—The Inwood building, on Bridge street, is being raised.

—Will Covert is ill with fever at the Fountain City House.

—Miss Emma Newmaster, of Muskegon, is visiting friends in town.

—E. M. Clark is improving and beautifying his house and grounds.

—Loftus Cook, the cigar and billiard man, has gone out of business.

—Capt. Bontecou and Dr. Oven of Petoskey, made us a pleasant call yesterday.

The Prohibitionists will nominate a county ticket next week Friday, to help elect Dan Jerrue.

—Rosenthal & Son's store will be closed from 6 p. m. Friday until 6 p. m. Saturday, on account of holidays.

—Ben Davis has returned from his pilgrimage and the Elk Rapids Progress will again glisten with his bon mots.

—Isaac Wright of High Island, in the Beaver Island group, is in town. He came as the delegate from Manitou county to the Representative and Senatorial conventions.

—The Charlevoix Journal of last week contains two quite remarkable effusions. One is a communication from Boyne City and the other is from an ostensible Charlevoix prohibitionist.

—The new steam launch built at the Campbell ship yard by Jos. Beauvais, was launched yesterday. She is a thing of speed, convenience and beauty and her owner, Mr. Frank Sears, has good reason to be proud of her.

—Among the visitors in town today are A. K. Dougherty, R. W. Bagot, and Mr. McLaughlin, of Elk Rapids, editor Abbott, of Bellaire, W. S. Mesick, of Mancelona, M. W. Newkirk, of Elmira, and L. M. Kanagy, of Banks.

"I want the farmers of this district to understand what they ask when they ask me to vote for the restoration of the duty on wool; I didn't do it, and by the eternal, I never will."—[George L. Yaple in a speech at Sturgis, Oct. 9, 1884.]

—The fishing on the Beaver Island grounds this season is said to be the poorest they have ever experienced, in consequence of which times are somewhat stringent on the island. If fall fishing does not improve, a hard winter among many of the fishermen will result.

—Jerome Heath has purchased the interests of Will Francis and A. Cameron in the furniture factory and will run the institution alone in the future, confining his attention entirely to furniture work, jobbing and repairing. Mr. Heath has a fine plant and proposes to rush things in his line.

—Mr. E. C. Newton who has been viewing Charlevoix for the past two months from a hay fever standpoint, returned to his Batavia, Ills., home Monday. Mr. Newton possesses a skill in carving that would do credit to a professional. While here he has carved a walking stick containing 30 animal figures aside from scenes from the Garden of Eden, Macbeth, and a church interior.

—The Kindergarten, of which mention has already been made in our columns, will be opened on Monday, Oct. 18th, under the direction of Mrs. Genevra Guyles, and Miss Rose Cody, at their residence on Main street, known as the Whitman place. Children from four to nine years of age will be received. Tuition seventy-five cents a week, payable weekly. Mrs. Guyles and Miss Cody will also receive a limited number of pupils in elocution and music, and will be pleased to meet any desirous of making arrangements for such instruction, at their residence, on Saturday afternoon, October 16th. A review of the Kindergarten plan of training will be found in another column.

—George H. VanPelt is very proud of the distinction obtained by Apollo Commandery at St. Louis. The Apollo headquarters were said to be the handsomest of any in the city. Van and deputy sheriff, Charlie Potter, were given the room in which Maxwell carved Preller, and packed him in a trunk, and the remembrance of that incident was so fresh in their minds, that, although each had a snug little box all to himself, they frightened the servants out of their senses by their ghostly antics in the dead hours of night. By the way, we hear it stated among shoe men that Van is a candidate for secretary and treasurer of the Northwestern Traveling Men's Association.—Chicago Shoe and Leather Review.

—Frank Craine is home from Cadillac.

—G. V. Nash, of Norwood, was in town Monday.

—Mrs. Geo. E. Bardeen returned home yesterday.

—Chas. Gotham is again in his old place in the factory.

—Mrs. Litney & Carr are in Northport with Millinery goods.

—Mrs. J. S. Smithson returned home from Chicago yesterday.

—Will Cooper will resign as manager of the rink, after Friday night.

—C. W. Sutton, of East Jordan, made us a pleasant call on Monday.

—The Spanish doctress, of historic fame, was upon our streets Monday.

—Edwin S. Noble, the fusion nominee for Representative, has declined to run.

—Hyron Glass has done some very fine chimney work on Amos Fox' new residence.

—The SENTINEL office has received a new "Paragon" paper cutter, which works beautifully.

—Architect Kirkpatrick has drafted the plans for another fine Charlevoix residence that will be begun soon.

—O. I. Wheat and W. H. Carr and their wives, went to St. Johns last week to attend the funeral of a relative.

The writer can remember when an apple was a great variety in Charlevoix; now they come in by wagon loads.

—Miss Eva Arlington, the champion on rollers, will make her first appearance here at the rink Friday night.

—Jas W. Tripp has returned from a six weeks visit to his parents in St. Clair county. He brings a number of plows with him.

—Wm. Flanagin, postmaster at Atwood, has been removed, and his brother, Daniel Flanagin has been appointed in his place.

—Regular communication of Charlevoix Lodge, No. 282, F. & A. M on next Tuesday evening. A general attendance is desired.

John Wilhelm, of Traverse City, was on the 2nd nominated for Representative by the fusionists of Grand Traverse and Kalkaska district.

—Rev. C. F. VanAuken goes to Chicago next week as a delegate from the Cheboygan Conference to the National Congregational Council.

—In a confidential sort of way, we can give some friend a pointer in the way of investment. Doctor's bills are good safe paper to handle.

—Wesley Cross and son have leased the building formerly occupied by the Budd agate works and will stock it with fruit and vegetables.

—The Republican Representative convention meets in this village this afternoon. Antrim county comes with a solid delegation for Dougherty.

—A team belonging to Dr. Bailey, of Elk Rapids, ran away while being hitched up at the livery stable this morning, badly damaging the buggy.

'They are a set of d—d bummers,' is the gentlemanly way in which Geo. L. Yaple speaks of the soldiers. We hardly think such an expression will enlist the soldier vote for him.

—Rev. Dr. G. W. Goodspeed of Chicago, who was appointed President of Kalamazoo College last June vice Rev. Dr. Kendall Brooks, resigned, has declined to accept the position.

—The Charlevoix Manufacturing Company report excellent business this season. They are crowded with orders, and are running to the fullest capacity of the works. It looks now as if they would have to run well into the winter.

—The Mutual Improvement Society of Marion, will meet at Black's school house, Tuesday evening, Oct. 12th, at 7:30 o'clock, to elect officers for the year, and to transact such other business as may come before the society.

—"The tariff is a positive injury to the American wool growers."—Geo L. Yaple. This statement does not very well agree with statistical information, which says the 10 per cent reduction of 1883, has brought about a reduction of $157,000,000 in the wool product of the country.

A few questions for the "prohibitionist" correspondent of the Journal to answer: How did the last legislature stand, as to party, on the question of Prohibition? What party enacted the last prohibitory law? What party repealed it? Coming down to local matters, what Republican editors signed the petition against the granting of further licenses, and what Democratic editor refused to sign it? Is it not true that the Prohibition party of Michigan is simply a Democratic Aid Society?

—On Monday evening, A. J. McLeod, chief, and the entire fire department, resigned, and Charlevoix is without organized means of extinguishing a fire. The reason for such action on the part of McLeod and the department is the refusal of the Council to employ a regular engineer for the steamer. Mr. McLeod contends that to make the apparatus effective, such provision should be made. As it has been so far, practice was impossible, and hence the fire department was simply a romance—a "poem," as it were. McLeod makes a good chief, and we regret his action.

We Are of the Opinion

That the coming session of the Board of Supervisors will not be in all respects a love-feast, as it were.

That the railroad interests of Charlevoix and East Jordan have blended into one common cause, as it now appears.

That harmony of action on the part of these towns will bring good results.

That the railroad question should concentrate all our energies until the desired end is reached.

That Bridge street should be lighted.

That the common council should make better provisions for the efficiency of its fire department.

That Chief McLeod is the right man in the right place, but should be so seconded by the council that he can make the effectiveness of his department correspond better with the excellent apparatus under his control.

That Charlevoix is rapidly approaching the necessity of a better and larger school building.

That our schools should be a matter of pride to our citizens.

That they are, in point of instruction and management, in advance of those of any town of our size in Northern Michigan.

That our educational column will prove to be a very interesting feature of this paper.

That the teachers of the county should make it a medium in which to expound their educational ideas.

That the status of educational matters in Charlevoix county has been much improved through the efforts of Prof. Enos, of the Charlevoix schools.

That Capt. Berdan's majority will exceed that by which he was elected two years ago.

That those who bet on the defeat of any candidate on the Republican county ticket will lose their money.

That the coming winter will be more than usually active in business matters.

That the "prohibitionist" correspondent of the Journal is not posted.

That George L. Yaple is a somewhat plethoric contributor to the local columns of the Journal.

That Charlevoix takes the cake.

Religious.

Until further notice Sunday services in all the churches will begin at 10:30 a. m., and 7 p. m., by standard time.

M. E. Church.

Rev. Mr. Fox, the newly appointed minister to this charge, failed to arrive as announced, but it is confidently expected that he will fill his pulpit next Sabbath. Rev. C. F. VanAuken occupied the pulpit in the morning, no services being held in the evening.

Rev. J. T. Iddings will preach at Black's school house at 3 o'clock p. m., and at Johnson's school house at 7 o'clock p. m.

Congregational Church

Notwithstanding the rain, a good audience gathered on Sunday evening to hear J. J. Smithson. The speaker commanded close attention. His theme was Psalm I. The address abounded in illustrations and forcible presentations of truth. Services as usual next Sabbath.

Baptist Church.

The Baptist church have their regular monthly missionary concert next Thursday evening. Subject, "Africa." A special programme has been arranged. Any one interested in Christian missions will find this meeting profitable.

Episcopal

There will be no Episcopal services next Sabbath.

Women's Christian Temperance Union:

WHEREAS, The pastoral labors of Rev. J. T. Iddings and Rev. C. F. VanAuken have just closed in Charlevoix, we as a Women's Christian Union, desire to express our appreciation of their work and interest for us; therefore,

Resolved, That we remember with gratitude the many addresses they have delivered for us. (Mr. Iddings has delivered thirteen in three years.) We believe they have greatly helped in advancing public sentiment on the temperance question, and hereby tender our thanks for the same. We are glad to know they still remain residents of Charlevoix, and shall hope to receive the same kindly interest and support we have had in the past.

Mrs. President Campbell makes the following announcement: The third annual meeting of the 11th District W. C. T. U. will be held at Petoskey commencing Tuesday evening, October 12th, closing Thursday evening, Oct. 14th. Delegates are invited to be present from every Township, whether organized or not. Half fare on the boats has been arranged. Entertainment will be given by the ladies. Visitors share in all the privileges of the convention, except voting.

—The Traverse Journal says that Steele & Tilns have just made a sale of 1,000 acres of timber land on North Manitou Island and are negotiating for the sale of 2,500 more.

—We learn that fresh bear tracks have been discovered frequently of late in the north part of the county.—Harbor Springs Republican.

Isn't it possible that they have been mistaken for those of Charley Hampton?

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

A Discourse on "The Disadvantages of Some People."

The Dead Weight of Unfortunate Names—The Strength of Weakness—Suggestions for Morally and Physically Handicapped Men.

Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, in a recent sermon at the Brooklyn Tabernacle, chose for his subject: "The Disadvantages of Some People," taking for his text:

All these things are against me.—Genesis xlii. 36, and preached the following sermon:

Father Jacob, you are wrong! You think your son Joseph is dead, but he is Prime Minister of Egypt, and has the keys of the great corn cribs. You think that circumstances are all adverse, but they will turn out well. In all your life you never made a greater mistake than when you said:

All these things are against me.

A great multitude of people are under seeming disadvantages, and I will to-day, in the swarthiest Anglo-Saxon that I can manage, treat their cases; not as a nurse counts out eight or ten drops of a prescription, and stirs them in a half glass of water, but as when a man has by mistake taken a large amount of strychnine, or paris green, or belladonna, and the patient is walked rapidly round the room, and shaken up, and pounded until he gets wide awake. Many of you have taken a large draught of the poison of discouragement, and I come out by the order of the Divine Physician to rouse you out of that lethargy.

1. Many people are under the disadvantage of an unfortunate name, given them by parents who thought they were doing a good thing. Sometimes at the baptism of children, while I have held up one hand in prayer, I have held the other hand in amazement that parents should have weighted the babe with such a dissonant [illegible]

[illegible]

... in the clinical department of one of the New York hospitals, when a poor man with a wounded leg was brought in before the students to be operated on. The surgeon was pointing out this and that to the students, and handling the wounded leg, and was about to proceed to amputation, when the poor man leaped from the table and hobbled to the door, and said:

"Gentlemen, I am sorry to disappoint you, but, by the help of God, I will die with my leg on."

What a terrible loss is the loss of our physical faculties!

The way the battle of Crecy was decided against the French was by the Welshmen killing the French horses, and that brought their riders to the ground. And when you cripple the body, which is merely the animal on which the soul rides, you may sometimes defeat the soul.

Yet, how many suffer from this physical taking off! Good cheer, my brother! God will make it up to you somehow. The grace, the sympathy of God will be more to you than any thing you have lost. If God allows part of your resources to be cut off in one place, He will add it on somewhere else. As Augustus, the Emperor, took off a day from February, making it the shortest month in the year, and added it to August, the month named after himself, so advantages taken from one part of your nature will be added on to another.

But it is amazing how much of the world's work has been done by men of subtracted physical organization. S. S. Prentiss, the great orator of the Southwest, went limping all his life, but there was no foot put down upon any platform of his day that resounded so far as his club foot. Beethoven was so deaf that he could not hear the crash of the orchestra rendering his oratorios. Thomas Carlyle, the dyspeptic martyr, was given the commission to drive cant out of the world's literature. Rev. Thomas Stockton, of Philadelphia, with one lung raised his audience nearer Heaven than most ministers can raise them with two lungs. In the banks, the insurance companies, the com- [illegible]

[illegible]

Not a word have I to say against accuracy of speech, or fine elocution, or high mental culture. Get all those you can. But I do say to those who were brought up in the day of poor school-houses and ignorant school-masters, and no opportunity, you may have so much good in your soul and so much of heaven in your every-day life that you will be mightier for good than any who went through the curriculum of Harvard or Yale, or Oxford, yet never graduated in the school of Christ. When you get up to the gate of Heaven no one will ask you whether you can parse the first chapter of Genesis, but whether you have learned the fear of the Lord, which is the beginning of wisdom; nor whether you know how to square the circle, but whether you have lived a square life in a round world. Mount Zion is higher than Mount Parnassus.

4. But what other multitudes there are under other disadvantages! Here is the Christian woman whose husband thinks religion a sham, and while the wife prays the children one way the husband swears them another. Or here is a Christian man who is trying to do his best for God and the Church, and his wife holds him back and says on the way home from prayer-meeting, where he gave testimony for Christ:

"What a fool you make of yourself! I hope hereafter you will keep still."

And when he would be benevolent and give fifty dollars, she criticises him for giving fifty cents. I must do justice, and publicly thank God that I never proposed at home to give anything for any cause of humanity or religion but the other partner in the domestic firm approved it. And when it seemed beyond my ability and faith in God was necessary, she had three-fourths of the faith. But I know men who, when they contribute to charitable objects, are afraid that the wife shall find it out. What a withering curse such a wife must be to a good man!

Then there are others under the great disadvantage of poverty. Who ought to get things cheapest? You say those who [illegible]

[illegible]

THE RESULT IN MAINE.

A Straight Republican Victory on Strict Republican Principles—The Party Renewing Its Youth.

The election in Maine has resulted in a Republican triumph, thanks to this faith and to the good work Mr. Blaine and the other good leaders who have labored so assiduously during the canvass of the last few weeks. The opposition, too, was backed up by all the influence of the temperance organs and the Mugwump press. But the voters of Maine were not to be misled. Few of them were deceived by the pretense that better prohibitory legislation was needed than the Republican party would give. Then, too, the sturdy fishery interests were disgusted with the ridiculous and pusillanimous attitude of the Administration in regard to the fisheries question.—N. Y. Tribune.

The election in Maine not only resulted in general success for the Republican party, but was a more brilliant and overwhelming victory than the most sanguine predictions had foreshadowed. The majority for the State ticket is set down at about 13,000, the Congressional delegation in the next House of Representatives will be solidly Republican, and the Legislature will be largely Republican in both branches, insuring the re-election of Senator Hale without a struggle. Considering that this is an off year, the victory seems to have been [illegible]

[illegible]

A Pea in a Bushel Measure.

[illegible]

Still Go Marching On.

[illegible]

EXPOSED HYPOCRISY.

The Vain Efforts of the Mugwumps of Indiana to Induce the President to Enforce Civil-Service Reform in Their State.

A good many facts are struggling into the light these days which can not be satisfactory to the Mugwumps. They voted for Mr. Cleveland mainly because he was a Civil-Service reformer. They have upheld his Administration since his inauguration largely because of his alleged fidelity to reform. Heretofore specific cases of violation of the law and the rules have been excused on the ground that they were exceptions.

Only one newspaper among the supporters of Mr. Cleveland has consistently and persistently endeavored to uphold his professions of reform. It is not a Mugwump newspaper; it is the Democratic World. This patriotic expounder has searched far and wide for evidence of breaches of the Civil-Service law by Federal officers, and has been diligent in calling to the President's attention his own appointees who are disobeying his order and taking part in politics. It can not be said that the World's exposures have produced much effect on Mr. Cleveland. We have not yet heard of a dismissal following on the heels of a conviction. Still, our esteemed contemporary is not disheartened. It seems to be determined to do all in its power for the purification of its party, and for the maintenance of the pretensions of its Administration. [illegible]

[illegible]

THE COMBINED

STEAM FURNITURE

—AND—

Agate Works,

CHARLEVOIX, - - - MICH

The undersigned announces that he is prepared to take orders for

REPAIRING OR BUILDING

Furniture of all Kinds

ON SHORT NOTICE.

MY LAPIDARY

Is in first-class shape for working or polishing all choice stones.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

CORNELIUS BUDD.

All Goods not called for within ninety days will be sold for charges.
Charlevoix, Nov. 23, 1885.

Northern Michigan

Boiler Works.

Builder and Manufacturer of

Boilers, Heaters,

LARD TANKS, ETC.

OF ALL KINDS

SHEET IRON WORK

A SPECIALTY.

MARINE WORK

Given Special Attention

HENRY BARTH, Proprietor,

Charlevoix, Mich.

MILWAUKEE, LAKE SHORE & WESTERN RAILWAY.

The Only Line Running

TWO DAILY TRAINS

—BETWEEN—

Wausau and Milwaukee and Chicago

The Only Line Running Sleeping Cars between Wausau and Milwaukee and Chicago.

THE AIR LINE TO OSHKOSH.

TIME TABLE.

[illegible]

FRANK E. WOOD'S

BATH AND BARBER ROOMS.

Hot and Cold Baths at any hour of the day or evening. Oddfellow's building.

FARMING LAND!

500,000 ACRES

Of Splendid

Michigan Lands

FOR SALE BY THE

G. R. & I. R. R. COMPANY.

50,000 Acres in Charlevoix County.

These lands are timbered with beech and maple, elm and other wood, and are accessible to best markets by

WATER AND RAIL,

And are in a part of the State unequaled for health, well watered, and contiguous to the great fruit raising section of the east shore of Lake Michigan.

The Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad runs through the center of the grant.

The part of Michigan in which these lands are found is

Not a Wilderness, by any Means.

It contains a population of two hundred and fifty thousand souls, and is rapidly filling up with settlers from almost every State in the Union.

Over 200,000 acres of the lands of this grant have already been sold.

Send for English or German pamphlet.

Address

W. H. HUGHART, Commissioner,

Grand Rapids, Mich.

TITLE PERFECT.

HUMPHREYS'

Manual of all Diseases, By F. HUMPHREYS, M. D. RICHLY BOUND IN CLOTH and GOLD Mailed Free.

HOMEOPATHIC

SPECIFICS.

[illegible]

WM. J. STEVENSON,

VETERINARY HORSE-SHOER.

Interfering and crippled horses shod satisfactorily or no charge.

Repairing done promptly.

The Old Doctor

A Life Experience. Remarkable and quick cures. Trial Packages. Send stamp for sealed particulars. Address Dr. WARD & CO. Louisiana, Mo.

THE SHORT & POPULAR LINE

for all points in IOWA, MINNESOTA, DAKOTA, and the New Northwest. The only line making close connections with all important lines leading

NORTH, SOUTH, EAST or WEST.

SOLID TRAINS

WITH

PULLMAN SLEEPERS

ARE RUN BETWEEN

Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Paul

VIA THE

FAMOUS ALBERT LEA ROUTE,

AND BETWEEN

St. Louis, Minneapolis & St. Paul

St. Louis, Minneapolis & St. Paul Short Line

Dining Cars on all Albert Lea Route Trains.

Land Seekers' Round Trip Tickets

C. J. IVES, J. E. HANNEGAN,

The Line selected by the U. S. Gov't to carry the Fast Mail.

Burlington Route

C. B. & Q. R. R.

CHICAGO, PEORIA or ST. LOUIS AND DENVER

ILLINOIS, IOWA, MISSOURI, NEBRASKA, KANSAS, COLORADO

San Francisco, Portland and City of Mexico

HENRY B. STONE, Ass't Gen'l Manager. PERCEVAL LOWELL, Gen'l Pass. Agent, CHICAGO.

A GOOD SAMARITAN.

Why He Has Concluded to Leave Drunken Men Severely Alone Hereafter.

A newspaper man of wide acquaintance and benevolent disposition was going home one night not long ago when he fell in, at the doorway of a hotel, with a person of some consequence in the community, who had tarried much too long over the wine cup, and was in a state where disgrace if not harm might come to him if he were not got safely home very soon.

"Bless me!" said the newspaper man to himself, "here's a chance to do the good Samaritan. I'll have to handle Jobson carefully, because he is very drunk, and [illegible] steer him home while seeming to let him have his own way."

So he stopped and fell into easy conversation with Jobson, and presently said:

"Well, I must be going home, Jobson. Won't you walk along with me?"

"Short'nly, ol' boy, short'nly," said Jobson. "Great'ey pleasure'n 'e warl' shee a man home. Come el' 'long, ole fellow, one 'long."

[illegible]

TO THE UNWARY.

[illegible]

FARM AND FIRESIDE.

—Always have a tight roof to your chicken coops; cold rains are very destructive to young chickens.—Cincinnati Times.

Keep your chickens growing steadily; do not feed them too much at a time, but feed them often, and with good, nourishing food.—Exchange.

—Waterproof Varnish: One pint of turpentine, one and one-half pints of linseed oil, seven ounces of litharge, one ounce of sugar of lead. Strain and apply with a brush to linen or calico and dry in the sun or in a dry place.—Boston Post.

—Baked Spring Chicken: Split the chicken down the back, put in a dripping pan without water, and set inside [illegible] When half done, take out, season with salt, pepper and butter, return to the stove to brown. Boil the liver and gizzard, chop and put in the gravy, to which add butter and a little cracker dust.—Good Housekeeping.

—Cabbages will often head if placed, roots downward, in a pit of sufficient depth to bring the tops of the leaves just above the surface of the ground, and covered with straw or hay to prevent severe freezing. [illegible]

ROTATION OF CROPS.

[illegible]

TREATMENT OF HORSES.

[illegible]

THE MARKETS.

[illegible]

RAT AND SNAKE.

How a Determined and Plucky Rodent Overcame a Reptilian Foe.

[Visalia (Cal.) Delta.]

A long and fierce combat took place the other morning, near the Visalia Agricultural Works, between a rat and a garter snake, and was witnessed to the finish by a large number of men. The rat was cautious but quick in its actions, and at every opportunity pounced on to the snake and drove its teeth through the scales. The latter would coil itself and dart at the rat, striking it squarely each time and frequently knocking it up into the air or over on its back. But the rat would speedily regain its feet and renew the attack. At one time it grabbed the snake just below the head and held it for some time, till the snake worked itself loose and [illegible] by the neck and shaking it as a dog would have done. Mr. Rat then resorted to strategy, and climbed into a short, thick weed growing on the spot. Whenever the snake would strike at the rat the latter would quickly drop to the ground, while the snake's head would pass through the branches of the weed, giving the little four-footed strategist an opportunity to grabble with it. The fight lasted about three-quarters of an hour and resulted in a victory for the rat, which dragged the corpse of its opponent into its hole. Neither one of the combatants paid any attention to the large number of spectators. [illegible]

A CENTURY OLD.

[illegible]

BUCKINGHAM'S Dye for the Whiskers produces, in one application, a permanent color.

We have used Ayer's [illegible] and have found it invaluable in [illegible] troubles.

EVELINA wants to know what "cheap nuts" are. Other people's jokes [illegible]—Somerville Journal.

AN inferior article is dear at any price. Remember this and buy Frazer Axle Grease.

AN advertiser in one of the papers says that he has a cottage to let containing eight rooms and an acre of land.

BEST, easiest to use and cheapest. Piso's Remedy for Catarrh. By druggists. 50c.

THE only persons in the world who do not like to see redeeming qualities in the human race are pawnbrokers.—Boston Post.

No Words of Ours

Can tell you the benefit you will derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, if you are in need of a good medicine. [illegible]

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

DR. JOHN BULL'S

Smith's Tonic Syrup

FOR THE CURE OF

FEVER and AGUE

Or CHILLS and FEVER,

AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of KENT'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient. USE no other pill.

Price, $1.00 per Bottle; Six Bottles for $5.

DR. JOHN BULL'S

SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP,

BULL'S SARSAPARILLA,

BULL'S WORM DESTROYER.

The Popular Remedies of the Day.

Principal Office, 831 Main St., LOUISVILLE, KY.

ELY'S CREAM BALM

CATARRH

HAY-FEVER

DR. SANFORD'S

LIVER INVIGORATOR

AN INVALUABLE FAMILY MEDICINE.

ASK FOR THE

W. L. DOUGLAS

$3.

A Remarkable Escape.

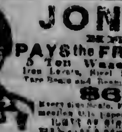
[illegible]

COCKLE'S

ANTI-BILIOUS

PILLS,

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY



JONES

PAYS the FREIGHT

$60.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

CATARRH

WANTED A WOMAN

ARNOLD'S RHUBARB MIXTURE

A BOON TO WOMEN

A WOMAN'S GRATITUDE. [illegible]

MARVELOUS BENEFITS. [illegible]

TERRIBLE PAIN. [illegible]

BED-FAST FOR MONTHS. [illegible]

TREATING THE WRONG DISEASE.

[illegible]

DOCTORS FAIL. "Female Weakness" Cured. [illegible]

"DO LIKEWISE." [illegible]

A THOUSAND THANKS. [illegible]

DOCTOR'S MISTAKE. [illegible]

"ALL RUN DOWN." [illegible]

OVER-WORKED WOMEN.

NOT A "CURE-ALL." [illegible]

EVERY INVALID LADY should send for "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser." [illegible]

WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, No. 663 Main Street, BUFFALO, N. Y.

LIVER, BLOOD AND LUNG DISEASES.

LIVER DISEASE. [illegible]

GIVEN UP TO DIE. [illegible]

A BAD CASE. [illegible]

MALARIAL FEVER. [illegible]

GENERAL DEBILITY. [illegible]

DYSPEPSIA CURED. [illegible]

DIARRHEA AND COUGH. [illegible]

"THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."

[illegible]

ABSCESS OF LIVER. [illegible]

SCROFULOUS SORES. [illegible]

CONSUMPTION, WEAK LUNGS, SPITTING OF BLOOD.

[illegible]

LUNG DISEASE. A Wonderful Cure. [illegible]

REDUCED TO A SKELETON. Consumption Cured. [illegible]

SAVED HIS LIFE. [illegible]

BLEEDING FROM LUNGS. [illegible]

Golden Medical Discovery is Sold by Druggists. Price $1.00 per Bottle, or Six Bottles for $5.00.

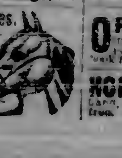
WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Proprietors,

No. 663 Main Street, BUFFALO, N. Y.

THE NEW DEPARTURE DRUMS

LYON & HEALY, Chicago, Ill.

No Rope to Cut Off Horses' Manes.



Golden Belt Kansas,

SOLDIERS

OPIUM HABIT

HOME STUDY.

HAIR

A Limb Lost

TELEGRAPHY

OPIUM

$5 TO $8 A DAY.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established, 1869.
CHARLEVOIX, OCT. 6, 1886.
WILLARD A. SMITH Editor.
I. D. F. PARMELEE, Associate Editor.

Representative Convention, Antrim Charlevoix and Manitou District.

A Republican district convention for the legislative district of Antrim, Charlevoix and Manitou counties, will be held in the Town Hall, at Charlevoix, in Charlevoix county, on

Wednesday, October the 6th, 1886,

at two o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for representative in the State Legislature and transacting any other business that may come before it. Each county will be entitled to one delegate for every one hundred and fifty republican votes and a majority thereof cast at the last general election for governor, by which Antrim will be entitled to 7 votes, Charlevoix 7 votes and Manitou 1 vote.

A. J. STRUB[illegible],
A. K. DOUGHERTY,
Committee.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

State Ticket.

For Governor—
CYRUS G. LUCE, of Branch.
For Lieutenant Governor—
JAMES H. McDONALD, of Delta.
For Secretary of State—
GILMAN R. OSMAN, of Wayne.
For Treasurer—
GEORGE L. MALTZ, of Alpena.
For Auditor General—
HENRY H. APLIN, of Bay.
For Attorney General—
MOSES TAGGART, of Kent.
For Commissioner of State Land Office—
ROSCOE D. DIX, of Berrien.
For Superintendent of Public Instruction—
JOSEPH ESTABROOK.
For Member State Board of Education—
SAMUEL S. BABCOCK, of Wayne.

Republican Congressional Ticket.

For Representative in Congress, Ninth District—
BYRON M. CUTCHEON, of Manistee.

County Ticket.

For Sheriff—
HARRISON BERDAN
For Clerk—
ABEL W. CHEW.
For Register of Deeds—
ADELBERT B. UPRIGHT.
For County Treasurer—
HENRY C. COOPER.
For Prosecuting Attorney—
ROSCOE L. CORBETT.
For Circuit Court Commissioner—
Z. N. GARBUTT.
For Surveyor—
E. K. ROBINSON.

WHAT PROTECTION DOES.

Striking Facts for Farmers and the Working Masses to Remember.

From Hon. Galusha A. Grow's Address, September 7th, at Erie, Pa.

Take the last twelve years of our last revenue tariff, ending June 30, 1860, and the last twelve years of the protective tariff, ending June 30, 1885—the first passed by the Democratic party, the other by the Republican party. The years of the war, and those following until the business of the country returned to about its normal condition, are omitted from this comparison for obvious reasons. The [illegible]

Northern Michigan News.

Clarion odd fellows have dedicated a new hall.

Mackinac county Democrats seem to be in a bad snarl.

The Record says the electric light at Petoskey has "fizzled."

Apples are selling in Norwood at three shillings per bushel.

E. A. H. Cole has taken possession of the Eagle hotel at South Arm.

Cadillac has erected more buildings this year than in any year since 1883.

Apple trees and strawberries are reported in blossom in several localities in this region.

More cedar will be cut in Mackinac county and vicinity during the coming winter than any two winters heretofore.

Bellaire Breeze: Ira A. Porter and John Dolton recently found two bee trees containing about ninety pounds of honey.

Stephen Hicks of Boyne has rented J. S. Dilworth's blacksmith shop at Horton's Bay, and commenced work last week.

Henika & Tousley of Petoskey, have dissolved partnership, the latter retiring, while Mr. Henika will continue the business.

The Peninsula people are agitating the scheme of a railroad from Traverse City to Old Mission. A meeting was held at Mapleton lately to talk it up.

The Presque Isle County Advance says wolves treed three young men in the township of Bismark in that county and compelled them to roost in the tree all night.

Two or three bridges and some culverts were washed out on the G. R. & I. line between Cadillac and Grand Rapids last week causing considerable delay to transportation.

S. M. Rose left Monday for Torch Lake to inspect the steamer Valley Queen. Sim thinks of purchasing her and in case he does he will run her on the Intermediate lakes next season.—Enterprise.

The democrats and nationals of Benzonia and Leelanaw counties at their convention held at Glen Arbor, nominated Lawrence W. Crain, of Frankfort, for Representative in the State Legislature.

[illegible]

Deserted Colorado Towns.

The evidences of decrease in wealth and population that one meets with in the mountains are striking. In every direction the eye rests upon abandoned ranches and deserted towns. The towns have fared worse than the country from that hegira which followed the collapse of the mining "boom" of five or six years ago. Gunnison was then a prosperous mining camp, full of men and money, where even ordinary laborers received $4 and $5 for a day's work. Now it would serve as a monument to desertion and decay. "This will be a good town yet, mark that, there is plenty of mineral in these hills, and somebody will strike it after a while," said a shopkeeper to me. It was the old story of hope struggling against despair which is so characteristic of this mining country. I thought the dairyman I met gave a more truthful picture of its future when he said: "Do you see those fellows going down to the river? Well, they support their families by fishing. That's about all there is to do around Gunnison now, and when that source of supply becomes exhausted, as it rapidly is, there won't be much left." Up near Crested Butte, where they mine the coal that is most like the Pennsylvania anthracite, an old woodchopper said a hundred teams used to pass along the road daily. We camped near his cabin one day, and counted three teams passing by.—Cor. N. Y. Tribune.

Pulled the Wrong Strap.

"Lave me off forninst Kater street," shouted an ancient son of Erin as he glanced at the conductor of a white car on Seventeenth street, near South, yesterday afternoon. The knight of the strap was either deaf or was absorbed in a mental calculation of the profit of the trip when Kater street was reached and passed. The Irishman was mad, and quick as a flash he jumped up and, catching a strap overhead, pulled vigorously until the alarmed conductor rushed in and caught his arms.

"Lave me off this car, or ba me sowl I'll break every bone in yer body," yelled the passenger, as he struggled to free himself.

"Naw," said the conductor, "yer don't git off this ere car till ye pay me for the eight fares yer rung up on me."

"Look you here, sir, what do you mane? Is it a thafe you take me for?" shrieked the friend of home rule.

"Say, that's all right about that, but when yer clung to that leather strap yer put me in a hole for eight fares. Hurry up: give the 48 cents," answered the monarch of the back platform.

"I'll give ye a bat in the oly. Sure, an' I done nothing more than pull the bell-strap when ye refused to respect me order to stop forninst Kater street," argued the old fellow.

"Well, whiskers, when yer monkeyed with that 'ere strap yer jest twisted the hand of that register eight notches. The receiver expects the boodle. So put up or suffer the consequences."

But the old man didn't pony up, and the tough conductor is now quietly telling his friends of the wonderful knowledge [illegible]—Philadelphia Times.

A Lake Superior Monster.

[illegible]

THE PIONEER HOUSE OF CHARLEVOIX CO.

New Fall Goods,

BEING RECEIVED WEEKLY.

We call especial attention to our complete stock of

BOOTS and SHOES.

TEAS of all kinds. We will guarantee you the best Tea for the money, in the county.

ALL GRADES of FRESH ROASTED AND GREEN COFFEES.

A Fine line of Everything in

FURNITURE.

BIG DRIVES IN

Flannels, Yarns, and Blankets.

Please bear in mind that our stock embraces

EVERYTHING

usually found in a General Store.

Remember: Our Goods are the Best. Our Prices the Lowest. Our Record the Oldest.

Resp'y Yours,

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

A. B. UPRIGHT. OSCAR UPRIGHT

FARMS, VILLAGE PROPERTY, And TIMBER LAND FOR SALE BY UPRIGHT BROS.,

[illegible]

WE OWN THE ONLY COMPLETE Set of ABSTRACTS Of Charlevoix County,
And all work intrusted to our care shall have prompt and careful attention

We are Agents for some of The BEST FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES
And will guarantee as low rates as any first class concerns.

CONVEYANCING, NEATLY AND PROMPTLY DONE.
Non-Residents' interests looked after, Taxes paid Collectionsmade, etc.

"HACKMETACK," a lasting and fragrant perfume. Price 25 and 50 cents.

SHILOH'S CURE will immediately relieve Croup, Whooping Cough and Bronchitis. Sold by F. G. Hines & Co.

FOR DYSPEPSIA and Liver Complaint, you have a printed guarantee on every bottle of Shiloh's Vitalizer. It never fails to cure.

A NASAL INJECTOR free with each bottle of Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy. Price 50 cents. F. G. Hines & Co.

Mortgage Sale.

[illegible]

McCABE'S MARKET
Is supplied with All Kinds Of MEATS At Lowest Prices.
JOHN McCABE.

New Announcement, NEXT WEEK. D. Sherwood & Co

BEST BOATS!
LEAST MONEY!
J. BEAUVAIS.

A. D. Bradbeer, PHOTOGRAPHER.
I will make Cabinet Photographs, A SPECIALTY! At Lowest Prices Consistent with GOOD WORK.

NEW SHOP! All kinds of Blacksmithing, At the Shop in the Foundry Building. Horseshoeing a specialty. ALL WORK GUARANTEED. M. SCOTT.

CHARLEVOIX Savings Bank.

1-3 OFF SALE! At Miss Spaulding's MILLINERY ROOMS,
Come early and secure a Bargain. MISS L. SPAULDING.

DETROIT & CLEVELAND Steam Navigation Co.
Detroit and Cleveland.

Take The Sentinel.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

CRUICKSHANK & BRIER, Attorneys at Law Office in Butters' Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

JOSEPH M. CLARK, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

HALLTHORPE GEORGE, Attorneys and Solicitors, Petoskey Mich.

DART & CALL, Attorneys, Petoskey, Mich.

R. L. CORBETT, Attorney at law, Boyne City, Mich. (Prosecuting Attorney of Charlevoix County.)

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

L. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

WM. M. PRESTON, M. D. Physician and Surgeon, [illegible], Charlevoix, Mich.

J. A. CARLSTEIN, M. D., Office at residence, Main st. Charlevoix, Mich.

SOCIETIES.

G. A. R.—Baxter Post No. 119, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, F. & A. M. Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over Postoffice.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 200, meets second Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

K. O. T. M.—Robert Tent No. 138, meets second Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows' Hall.

L. O. L.—True Blues No. 157, meet Saturday on or before full moon in Odd Fellows' hall.

EMMET CHAPTER No. 104, R. A. M. meets at Petoskey on the first Monday of each month.

IVANHOE COMMANDERY No. 130, K. T., meets at their Asylum in Petoskey on the first Thursday of each month.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY meets every Tuesday evening at the homes of the members, during the fall and winter months.

CHARLEVOIX IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION meets at Charlevoix Village Hall on the second Monday of each month at 7:30 p. m.

President—Byron Sou.
First Vice President—W. A. Smith.
Second Vice President—Robert Miller.
Recording Secretary—Chas. J. Straug.
Financial Secretary—B. Suffield.
Treasurer—Albert E. Mason.
Executive Committee—J. Milo Eaton, A. B. Cruickshank and E. F. Parmelee.
Corresponding Committee—H. Lee Iddings, W. A. Brown and C. Y. Cook.
Reception Committee—F. W. Mayne, L. D. Bartholomew, M. J. Stockman, H. Cooper, Geo. W. Crouter, R. W. Miller, S. M. See, W. C. Newman, E. M. Clark, H. Berdan.

All those wishing information regarding Charlevoix, the largest and most thriving town in the whole Pine Lake Region, will do well to address the corresponding committee. Unequaled opportunities for all classes of manufacturing.

HOTELS AND RESTAURANTS.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE.
[illegible]

EDUCATIONAL.

All communications on educational topics should be addressed to Prof. H. M. Enos, Superintendent of the Charlevoix Schools.

Teachers' Association.

The Charlevoix County Teachers' Association meets at the high school room, in Charlevoix, on Friday and Saturday, October 8th and 9th, beginning on Friday evening at 7 o'clock, and closing at 10:30 o'clock on Saturday. The following programme has been prepared:

1. Music.
2. "School Government,"—a paper by J. M. Harris.
3. Select Reading,—Miss May Waterbury.
4. "The Quincy Methods;" a paper by H. M. Enos.
5. "Notation and Numeration," Mrs. Pope.
6. Query Box; the questions to be distributed for discussion next morning.

SATURDAY MORNING.

1. Music.
2. How shall we teach Grammar to obtain the highest success?—A. B. Nicholas.
3. Answers to questions.

Each paper will be discussed by those present as they may desire.

Let each teacher come with a question. This feature of the convention may be made the most valuable of all. The public are especially invited.

The teachers of the Charlevoix schools hold meetings each alternate evening, at the high school room, for the discussion of methods of teaching, and measures in general for the improvement of the schools. Last Monday evening the following subjects were considered: Primary Reading. Language Training in the Ordinary Recitations of school. What Special Exercises outside of regular studies can we introduce for the benefit of pupils? Miscellaneous business. The meetings will be public; patrons and pupils invited. Next meeting Monday evening, October 18th.

The School Board have put up new curtains in the high school room, and the effect is to make the room more comfortable, as well as homelike.

[illegible]

A SOCIETY LADY.

How the Demands of Fashion Are Satisfied.

From the Morning Bath to the Evening Reception.

A little French gilt timepiece ticking away the minutes in an upper room in one of Murray hill's fine residences struck the half-hour beyond 9 o'clock on a recent morning, and while its deep cathedral tone yet echoed upon the air there was a sudden movement among the lace hangings of a brass bedstead standing in a recess of the same apartment, and a woman's face looked forth.

The room was full of pretty things warm with the blaze of a hickory fire, and brilliant with the dazzling winter sunshine, which, filtering through the draperies of the broad windows, lay in patches of light on floor and furnishings, but there was nothing one-half so pretty, so warm, or so brilliant, no picture so sunny or dazzling within the four walls, as that made by this same face, the face of a young and lovely woman, which, flushed from the pillow's downy caress, the eyes dewy with sleep, and the rumpled chestnut hair framing the whole in sweet confusion, looked out to see what had awakened its owner.

"Oh, it's you, you clattering little clock," as her eye fell upon the telltale hands, then, before she sank back into her nest, she leaned out to touch an electric button within easy reach. A moment and a soft knock prefaced the entrance of a neat-looking middle-aged woman in cap and apron.

"Good morning, Barker," came from the pillows. "My bath, please;" and Barker opened a second door and disappeared. In three minutes she was back standing at the bedside with a bath gown of thick, soft flannel and a pair of low shoes, warm and woolly.

The young woman got up, suffered the flannel garment to be thrown over her lace and cambric night dress, thrust two white feet into the wadded shoes, and crossed to the bath-room.

Barker only waited to take from various drawers and presses an outfit of feminine apparel, finished with an embroidered muslin combing gown whose ribbons were of the same pale-pink hue as tinted the silken stockings, before she vanished a second time, and the room was left to the clock and the fire, with occasional muffled splashings from the maid in her tub.

But not for long. The hall door unclosed again to admit a tall old negress, black as Erebus, her head bound in a brilliant bandana. She shuffled to the door of the bath-room and knocked.

"Ez you ready, honey?"

"In a moment, mammy," sounded from within; then:

"You may come now," and once more the fire and clock had it all their own way in the outer apartment.

Next Barker reappeared bearing [illegible]

[illegible]

Excitement in Texas.

[illegible]

Very Remarkable Recovery.

[illegible]

TIME CARDS OF STEAMERS.

[illegible]

NORTHERN MICHIGAN LINE.

[illegible]

HANNAH, LAY & CO'S BOATS.

[illegible]

Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad.

[illegible]

--THE--
Best Show!
---OF---
STOVES.
The ROUND OAK, And SQUARE BASE HEATING STOVES.
COMPLETE STOCK OF NEW HARDWARE.
JOB & TIN WORK. VERY BEST PUMPS.
L. D. Bartholomew & Co.

THE BEST
Drugs, Confectionery, Stationery,
BOOKS & PAPERS,
FISHING TACKLE, Etc,
Soda Water, Mineral Water, Cigars,
Are found at PERRY WEED'S.
The only News stand in town.

BURNS & SCROGGIE'S LIVERY STABLE CHARLEVOIX.
The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Fox & Miller
Offer a Mammoth Stock OF BOOTS, SHOES and other FOOT WEAR, —AT— LOWER PRICES Than can be found elsewhere in the County.
We have just secured a FIRST-CLASS SHOEMAKER, And will make Repairing a specialty.
We have the Goods and we are bound to sell them.
NOTHING SHODDY.
Fox & Miller.

C. R. Bellinger, THE JEWELER, HAS JUST RECEIVED A FULL LINE OF JEWELRY, Clocks, Watches Etc., Etc.

HELLO

EVERYBODY Says that Alvarado Has The Best HARNESS MAKER!
F. J. CUTTER.

J. T. Kirkpatrick, ARCHITECT AND CONTRACTOR.
J. T. KIRKPATRICK.

MONEY TO LOAN, At current rates of interest, on Approved Real Estate Security.
MILEY & CHAPIN, Boyne City.

BATH & BARBER ROOMS.

RIFENBURG MILLING CO.
3 EXTRA GRADES OF FLOUR
Feed, Corn Meal, Graham
CASH FOR WHEAT

GELLICK & INGALLS
Dealers in Choice Wines, Fine Liquors EXCELLENT CIGARS.
Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.
Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer.

The Kalamazoo "DAILY TELEGRAPH."

Fresh Stock of GROCERIES AT THE NEW GROCERY, Corner of Antrim and Grant Streets.
Butter and Eggs wanted.
A. J. MUDGE.

MILLINERY AND FANCY GOODS!
Mrs. ELLA SMITH & Miss ANNIE COOPER

Washburn & Ackert, FOUNDRYMEN, MACHINISTS, Charlevoix Plow.

Take The Sentinel.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL

SMITH & PARMELEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX. : MICHIGAN.

Residents of Chestnut street, Philadelphia, have petitioned to have its name changed.

One of the things the cyclone did in Eastern Virginia was to shuck the corn in one of the fields.

It costs ten dollars in Paris to learn how to bow gracefully, and a sweet smile costs five dollars extra.

The wheat crop of Russia is reported 30,000,000 bushels short. The United States can make it all up and not miss it.

It is estimated that the oyster will have to shell out to the extent of [illegible] to supply the demand of the next eight months.

And now the melancholy days have come, which make your men book [illegible] display the [illegible] sign, ice-cream and oysters, too.

General Sheridan's famous horse that carried him to Winchester is now in the Government Museum at Governor's Island, New York Harbor.

A California fruit-grower recently picked 1,719 pounds of apricots from a single tree on land that five years ago was a desert. It was a fine indication of a good fruit year.

John Hachman, sixteen years of age, pointed a revolver at his brother Francis, eighteen years old, in Pittsburgh a few days ago. He did not know it was loaded, but Francis died from the wound [illegible]

[illegible]

EPITOME OF THE WEEK.

Interesting News Compilation.

FROM WASHINGTON.

On the 21 the President and his wife returned to Washington.

The Pension Commissioner's report on the [illegible] for the fiscal year ended June 30 last show that there were [illegible] names on the pension-rolls, including 1,539 survivors of the war of 1812. The amount of money disbursed during the past year was $63,-797,831. There were nine thousand soldiers in the poor-houses throughout the country, thirteen per cent. of whom were pensioners.

During the month of August last exports from the United States amounted to $51,161,323, imports for August, $5[illegible].

The reports of negotiations between Great Britain and the United States for a new Canadian treaty were denied on the 24th by Washington officials.

In the United States and Canada the business failures for the seven days ended on the 24th numbered 187, against 185 the previous seven days.

The exchanges at twenty-six leading clearing houses in the United States during the week ended on the 25th aggregated $975,614,015, against $[illegible] the previous week. As compared with the corresponding week of 1885, the increase amounts to 34.5 per cent.

THE EAST.

The Democrats of the Twenty-first Pennsylvania district on the 21 nominated [illegible] T. Rafferty for Congressman.

It was decided by the Superior Court at Taunton, Mass., on the 21 that sleeping-car companies are liable for losses sustained by passengers while in the cars.

The Odd Fellows' procession in Boston on the 21 comprised twelve thousand men and forty bands.

It was discovered on the 22d that George T. Bartholomew, of Hartford, Conn., president of the Charter Oak Life Insurance Company, was a defaulter for $127,000, and he had disappeared from Hartford.

At a political convention of the Central Labor Union of New York City on the 23d Henry George was nominated for mayor.

[illegible]

At Corpus Christi, Tex., [illegible] wind blew sixty miles an [illegible] rise of the tide flooded the [illegible] of the city.

In the Fifth Illinois district the Prohibitionists nominated [illegible] Wharton for Congressman [illegible]

[illegible]

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

[illegible]

WEST AND SOUTH.

[illegible]

LATER.

[illegible]

THE CATTLE PLAGUE.

[illegible]

THE UNITED STATES NAVY.

[illegible]

THE SALVATION HOSTS.

[illegible]

THE PUBLIC DOMAIN.

[illegible]

A HOPEFUL VIEW.

[illegible]

THE PRESIDENT AT HOME.

[illegible]

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

[illegible]

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL

SMITH & PARMELEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX. : MICHIGAN.

A RURAL EPISODE.

[illegible]

FATAL AMUSEMENT.

The Deaths Placed to the Credit of Alpine Climbing.

[illegible]

THE JACK WON.

[illegible]

A STRONG CASE.

[illegible]

SCHOOL AND CHURCH.

[illegible]

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

[illegible]

FRIGHTENED HIMSELF.

[illegible]

FOR OUR YOUNG FOLKS.

GRANDMA SAYS.

[illegible]

A MUD MOUSE.

[illegible]

THE TURKISH INFANT.

[illegible]

Not a High Charge Either.

[illegible]

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established, 1869.

CHARLEVOIX, OCT. 6, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH Editor.
ED I. PARMELEE, Associate Editor.

Republican Senatorial Convention.

A Republican Senatorial Convention for the twenty ninth senatorial district, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for State Senator, will be held at [illegible] hall in Traverse City, in Grand Traverse county, on Friday, the 15th day of October, 1886, at 2 p. m.

By the basis of representation adopted by the last senatorial convention Grand Traverse county will be entitled to 8 delegates, Antrim to 5, Charlevoix to 5, Leelanaw to 4 and Manitou 1.

A. K. DOUGHERTY,
CHARLES W. WILLIAMS,
R. GOODRICH,
FRED W. MAYNE,
ISAAC WRIGHT,
Committee.

Dated Oct 2, 1886.

Neighborhood News.

P. Karlskin killed a bear near Advance last week.

The Cheboygan News is to be the name of the new semi weekly paper to be published by Brougham Smyth. Two to one the editor is a chump, or he would spell his name in a Christian manner.

The entire satisfaction of the upper peninsula with Mr. Moffatt's work in congress was clearly shown by the fact that every county but one of that part of the district was represented in the convention last week, and there was not a dissenting voice to his renomination, which was made by acclamation and a rising vote. Herald.

Boyne Citizen: We are often at a loss to know how to interpret the expressions of our democrat and greenback brethren. After anathamatizing Mr. Luce for even having indirect connections with the banking business, the Charlevoix Journal says of the fusion candidate for representative in this district, Mr. Noble: "He represents probably more business and capital than any other man in the district, and is in every way well qualified for the position."

The competitive examination of candidates for the West Point cadetship, held in Big Rapids recently, resulted in the recommendation of Leroy S. Upton, of Big Rapids, as first choice, J. S. Tousey of Hinton township, second, and John J. Yaple of Crystal Valley, third. Of course Mr. Upton will receive the appointment, but the two other recommendations were made so that in case of a failure to pass at the Military Academy another examination would not be necessary.

Ironton.

Miss Addie Lewis has been engaged in the Ava Smith District for 3 months. This is not Miss Addie's first term there and her work is her commendation.

The funeral sermon of the Suffern children who died of diphtheria some weeks ago, was preached by Elder VanAkken in the new church on Sunday.

Miss Leuzena Box is among the indisposed of the town.

The Hodges, Harvey and James, moved from our midst on Monday, the former to Charlevoix and his brother to Traverse. Both have many friends here who, though sorry to miss them, yet heartily toss the old shoe after them.

A paragraph in the Grand Rapids Democrat says: "every man in the 9th district is going to Mason this fall." Not all, and the few who do, will be left. Its a barren place to go.

Elder Iddings preached twice on Sunday to good audiences. The M. E. people congratulate themselves for having received an able man for the work here. Preaching service at present every two weeks in the morning at 11 o'clock and evening at 7 p. m. Sunday School at 10 a. m.

The delegates to the district convention of the W. C. T. U. from this place are Mrs. Almond Bird, Mrs. Sheldon and Miss Nellie Noyes.

Senator Voorhees, the "Tall Sycamore," at a meeting in Indianapolis the other night, denounced the republican party record on almost every public question. If those Bourbons are right, the country should have been rushing to destruction for twenty-five years past, instead of maintaining itself and prospering as it has.

About the bitterest pill Secretary Whitney has had to swallow since the acceptance of the Dolphin is the realization of the fact that John Roach's shipyard is the only one in the country having the proper facilities for the work of building the new cruisers. Nevertheless Whitney will go through the form of advertising for proposals in order to take his medicine in as small homeopathic doses as possible.

Detroit Tribune: The fact that Mr. L. G. Mason, the fusion nominee for Congress in the ninth district, has invested money in a new prohibition paper in that district is a significant one. It shows (1) that Mr. Mason is looking to the prohibitionists for material aid and (2) that the prohibitionists are willing tools in the hands of fusion wire pullers. If the result of this pretty scheme isn't a black eye for Mason and the third party it will be because the honest voters in that district cannot be made to understand the true inwardness of the situation.

Workmen engaged in excavating a sewer at Kaukauna, Wis., came upon the ruins of a stone building at a depth of eight feet. The stone first found bore traces of fine workmanship and polish. Further digging developed a quantity of ashes, about twenty-five bushels of which were removed, when another wall was struck. The stones were finely faced, some being blackened as if by fire and smoke. Others must have been subjected to artificial heat, as they had crumbled into lime. The work was found but a foot or two above bedrock, and shows evidence of workmanship that could have been performed only by a highly civilized race. It must have been done centuries ago, as a large elm tree had grown over the ruins. The discovery has led to the advancement of many theories.

OUR IMPROVEMENTS.

Summary of Charlevoix Building for '86.

Last fall, in accordance with its usual custom the SENTINEL published a summary of the building for 1885 aggregating $57,560 as against $64,720 for the year previous. This summer has witnessed more building of residences, and aside from the Rifenburg mill and Government work, presents a better showing than last year. The $10,000 appropriation for harbor work will not be used until next spring.

RESIDENCES.

W. A. Brown, Bridge st.,	$5,000
F. W. Mayne,	1,500
H. S. Cook,	1,000
Will Scroggie,	1,500
John O'Neill,	800
George Pappin,	500
Charles Swallow,	1,200
Mrs. Widdefield,	400
Smith Campbell,	1,000
Fred A. Smith,	2,000
Will Francis,	1,000
John Mason,	1,500
J. W. Kirby,	600
Mrs. Macey,	300
L. Lamphear,	700
Will Lamphear,	500
Harvey Wilson,	800
Capt Tulloch,	800
Amos Fox,	3,500

IMPROVEMENTS.

A. D. Cruickshank, residence,	500
J. Milo Eaton, Hawks' residence,	300
Jos Pappin, residence,	50
Fountain City House,	500
Mrs. Pope, residence,	200
D. C. Nettleton, residence,	250
Chamberlain Property,	600
Fred See, Addition,	300
Capt Berdan, residence,	150
G. E. Sweetland, sanitarium,	100
John Kelley, addition,	150
W. C. Taylor, addition,	200
Harrison Bedford,	150
Rev A. M. Parmenter,	100
O. L. Wheat,	200
R. W. Kane, residence,	200
D. See, tenement,	150
Chas J. Strang, addition,	500
L. D. Bartholomew, addition etc.,	500
J. M. Clark, store,	100
The Inwood Building	100
On Green's block,	1,000
J S Smithson, residence,	500
J F Kirkpatrick,	100
E M Clark,	100

MISCELLANEOUS.

L. D. Bartholomew & Co, warehouse,	75
Wells' Agate shop,	100
Upright & Emrey's warehouse and dock,	5,000
Rifenburg Mill dock,	200

CHICAGO SUMMER RESORT.

Boat keeper's house,	500
New boat houses,	800
S. M. Moore, improvements,	700
New fences and side walks,	1,000
Club House, repairs and other improvements,	500

CHARLEVOIX SUMMER RESORT.

New Club house,	8,000
O. L. Ainsworth, cottage,	1,200
H. H. Everard, improvements,	300
S. A. Gibson, improvements,	200
H. P. Parmelee, improvements,	150
Repairs on boat houses,	300
New boat houses,	200
Geo King, improvements,	150
Geo Smiley, improvements,	300
D. A. Waterman, improvements,	150
Rev. A. E. Mather, cottage	800
C. J. Lloyd, cottage,	1,200
Mrs Darius, cottage,	1,000
John West, improvements,	300
John Estabrook, improvements,	150
New side walks, and fences,	1,000
E D Moore, improvements,	100
Total,	$51,675

Evelina Items.

Some sickness in town.

October 1st found the earth clothed in white, but it did not last long after the sun put in its appearance. This is the earliest snow has fallen in seventeen years, when snow fell on the 3d of October.

Joe Stutzman returned here from Mancelona Friday. He reported five inches of snow there.

Last Friday Wm Henry threshed 255 bushels of wheat from ten acres of ground. Crother's steam thresher officiating. How is this for Northern Michigan farming?

The leaves are falling.

School commenced Monday morning with Miss Seymour of Charlevoix, as principal.

Mrs. John Gaunts was suddenly ill last week and is still very low.

At nearly all agricultural fairs this year, addresses in which arguments in favor of a protective tariff have been advanced have been received with the greatest applause. And why not?

The War Department, it is stated, criticises the manner in which Gen. Miles caught the Indian Chief, Geronimo. The General should turn Geronimo loose, and let the Department catch him in a better way, if it can.

The Odd Fellows' Sovereign Grand Lodge, in session at Boston last week, adopted a report declaring it inexpedient to establish a home for orphans of Odd Fellows. The headquarters of the Sovereign Grand Lodge were located at Columbus, Ohio, by a vote of 76 to 73 for Chicago.

The old soldiers of Michigan are freely expressing their opinion of the man who voted against restoring Gen. Grant and in favor of restoring Fitz John Porter. The man who did this was George L. Yaple, the fusion candidate for governor. For this alone he ought to be "spotted" by every soldier in the state.

We were requested to publish a call in the EAGLE last week for a prohibition county convention to be held in Grange Hall, October 1st, but, by an oversight it failed to get in. Traverse Bay Eagle.

Too bad, Bro. Sprague. In the interest of Democracy you should tender the Prohibitionists every assistance possible.

The political fight in Missouri this fall is between the "blue" and the "gray." Every candidate on the republican ticket is an ex union soldier and every candidate on the democratic ticket is an ex rebel soldier. This is drawing the line on the '61 plan. The respective parties will vote the way they shot. What a [illegible] it would be for the Detroit Free Press to be in Missouri this fall with its fire-in-the-rear battery.

Protection sentiment is strong in the south, and it is becoming stronger. Several Democratic candidates for Congress this fall have been compelled to declare themselves unequivocally against free trade in order to secure nomination. There is another rapidly congealing belief in the south, and it is expressed by the democratic Macon Telegraph thus: "It will be fatal to Mr. Cleveland's administration and his prospects if it can be established that he leans to free trade."

Zephyr, 4 oz. for 25 cents, at F. W. Craine & Co.'s.

F. W. Craine & Co.'s cloaks have arrived. Call and see them.

Marine.

Eight vessels lay here wind-bound over Sunday.

It is understood that Upright & Emrey have bought the tug Paine. Capt. Tulmse still runs her.

The schooner Florence M. Smith, which arrived from Cleveland last week, discharged 300 barrels of oil and 45 tons of coal for Charlevoix parties.

Some time ago Collector Watson seized the Canadian steamer Frances Smith at Mackinac Island for violation of the navigation laws. The steamer has again been seized on the same account, and U. S. Marshal Watson has gone to Sault Ste Marie to libel her.

The war between the steamboats on Black Lake, the Queen of the Lakes" and the "Mackatawa," which raged so furiously a few weeks ago, has quieted down, all except the harvesting of a crop of lawsuits sown at the time. One of them was disposed of in the U. S. District Court in Grand Rapids last week, by a judgment of $200 against the steamer "Mackatawa" for crossing the bows of the "Queen of the Lakes."

Cheboygan Tribune: Capt. Chas. E. Kirtland, of Cheboygan, and the "boss" wrecking master on the lakes, has made arrangements with Capt. S. H. Grummond, of Detroit, by which he has full control of the latter's wrecking outfit, consisting of tugs, twelve steam pumps, large lighter and hoisting apparatus for lighting cargoes, etc. Capt. Kirtland will locate his headquarters at Mackinaw City, and it is probable that the tug Winslow will be located at Cheboygan. This is the strongest wrecking combination ever formed on our inland seas. As a wrecker Capt. Kirtland has no superior, and has succeeded where others have failed. Capt. Grummond has as good a wrecking outfit as there is to be had, and putting the two together, it makes a strong combination. In addition, Capt. Kirtland is the special agent of the underwriters, to look after their interests in the matter of wrecked vessels.

The following are the clearances from the port of Charlevoix, for ports outside the Michigan District, for the week ending yesterday evening:

29—Prop Allmendinger, 168,000 hardwood lumber Glenn & Porter to Chicago
29—Schr Charlotte Raab, 180,000 hardwood lumber, Glenn & Porter, to Chicago
29—Schr Evening Star, 180,000 hardwood lumber, Glenn & Porter, to Chicago
29—Schr Consuello, 120,000 hardwood lumber, C J Lloyd, to Detroit
29—Schr Gladiator, 60 c wood, 100 c bark, Perkins to Chicago
30—Schr Lottie Mason, 60,000 ft hardwood lumber, Newville & White
Oct 1—Schr Scud, 400,000 hoops, Wilson Hoop co to Milwaukee
1—Schr Sea Gem, 80 c wood, Master to Milwaukee
1—Schr Stampede, 280,000 hardwood lumber, P L L co, to Sheboygan
2—Schr Cuba, 700,000 hoops, Wilson Hoop Co to Milwaukee
4—Schr Fleetwing, 35 c wood, Master to Milwaukee
4—Schr Oneida, 150 c wood, D C Loveday to Milwaukee
4—Schr LaPetite, 150 c wood, Master to Milwaukee
6—Schr Geo A Marsh, 2,000 posts, 1,700 ties, 420 tons [illegible], Pine Lake Iron Co to Chicago

The Kindergarten—Something New for the Little Ones.

What is a Kindergarten? Not the infant-school of by-gone days, whose watchward was, "Be quiet!" and whose most powerful argument in favor of right action was the suggestive bundle of switches, hanging in a conspicuous position upon the wall.

This school, where stooping little figures, flushed faces and heavy eyes, over which the lids would sometimes fall, attested the difficulty with which the buoyancy of childhood was subdued and repressed, had little in common with the Kindergarten of to-day.

Kindergarten means a garden of children, and itself suggests the nature and plan of the school. Just as the gardener watches his plants, encouraging here, checking there, and furnishing such conditions as will help them to grow and blossom in perfection, so the teacher in the Kindergarten must encourage every healthy activity, check every tendency to growth in the wrong direction, and by constant and patient effort aim at the perfection of the little human plants entrusted to his charge.

Taking children from three years of age, and ever keeping in mind the idea of symmetrical development, the Kindergartner strives to work in such a manner that physical and mental growth shall be evenly balanced. No precocity is aimed at; no unchildish over-activity of mind.

The exercises of the school are varied, and prominent among them are plays and marches, accompanied by music, which make weariness and monotony impossible. Singing is a prime feature. The little children are taught to build, plait, fold, speak, sing, act, in short, they learn, in play, to work, to construct, to invent, to relate, to speak correctly, and, what is best of all, to love each other, to be kind to each other, and to help each other.

The social element is strong in children, and, cultivated under favorable circumstances, is a powerful agent in the development of a beautiful character. Says Mrs. Horace Mann, in writing on this subject, "Let us give the social instinct of children its fair chance. For this purpose a few will not do. A large company should be gathered out of many families. It will be found that the little things are at once taken out of themselves and become interested in each other. In the variety, affinities develop themselves very prettily, and rough points of individuality wear off. Children begin with loving each other quite as intensely as they love themselves; forgetting themselves in their love of others, if they only have as fair a chance of being benevolent and self-sacrificing as of being selfish."

"I know what a Kindergarten is," said a little girl, "It's a place where every little child looks happy all the time, and never says 'I won't!' and 'you're mean!'" And in this childish expression was the true understanding of what the school should be. A garden, where the gentle rays of the sunshine of love should bring to full beauty of blossom all, in the child nature, which is best and most akin to the spirit of Him who blessed little children, and said

"Of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

Miss Seymour opened the Lewis school for the winter term on Monday morning.

Historical Society.

The first meeting for the season of 1886-7, of the Charlevoix Historic Society, occurred at the Bridge Street House, last evening. No business was transacted, but a plan of the winter's work was talked over. On next Friday evening the Society will meet at the same place, at which time the election of officers will occur.

The Common Council.

At an adjourned meeting of the village council held last evening the resignation of Trustee Nicholls was presented and accepted, and O. S. Washburn elected to fill the vacancy.

The resignation of Chief McLeod and the fire department was accepted.

O. S. Washburn was employed as engineer of the steam fire engine, at $150 per annum.

The Fire Committee were instructed to construct one or more cisterns in the west part of town at once.

Go to Scott's shop for a first-class job of horseshoeing.

A house and 6 lots for sale or rent. Inquire of L. E. Allen, Charlevoix.

Yarns in all grades at F. W. Craine & Co.', from homespun to fine zephyr.

Who says F. W. Craine & Co. have not got the best shirting flannels at 18, 20 and 25 cents, in town?

The most elegant line of dress goods ever shown in Northern Michigan, at F. W. Craine & Co.'s.

F. W. Craine & Co have no old last years' stock, but everything in cloaks are new and desirable goods.

The "Round Oak" heating stoves always have and always will take the lead. Sold only by L. D. Bartholomew & Co.

NOTICE.—Farmers call and see the Carrier Peerless Plow, the best in the county, at the old court house.
TRIPP & STEVENS.

WANTED—Good, steady men to cut ties and posts. Apply to George Burns, at the livery barn, or Junius S. Dixon, Charlevoix.

Mrs. Litney & Carr, the popular milliners, have just received and are still receiving one of the finest and fullest lines of fall and winter goods ever brought to Charlevoix. The ladies are invited to call in and inspect their stock.

MICHIGAN STATE LAND OFFICE,
LANSING, SEPT. 29th, 1886.

Notice is hereby given, that the following described Primary School and Agricultural College land situated in Charlevoix county, forfeited for non-payment of interest, will be offered for sale at public auction at this office on the 11th day of November, A. D. 1886, at 10 o'clock a. m., unless previously redeemed according to law.

MINOR S. NEWELL,
Commissioner.

PRIMARY SCHOOL LAND.

No. of Cert.	Descrip.	Sec.	Town.	Range
11,011	N½ of NE¼	16	32 S	5 W
18,204	SW¼ " NE¼	16	32 N	5 W
18,203	W½ " SE¼	16	32 N	5 W

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE LAND.

No. Cert.	Descrip.	Sec.	Town	Range
723	S½ of SE¼	29	32 N	4 W
14,902	SE¼ of SW¼	32	32 N	4 W
15,508	S½ of SW¼	32	32 N	4 W
20,316	SW¼ of SW¼	32	32 N	4 W
20,945	SW¼ of NW¼	32	32 N	4 W
20,945	N½ of NW¼ of SW¼	31	32 N	4 W
20,946	S½ of NW¼ of SW¼	32	32 S	4 W

THE CIRCUS BEGINS!

I HAVE RECEIVED A
LARGE INVOICE OF
CLOTHING!

Bought from one of the leading houses of Rochester, N. Y., Which I will sell at Prices that will draw Trade from all over the County.

I think the best advertisement a merchant can have is to have his goods advertise him in good fits and prices that cannot be beat.

GEO. W. MILLER.

The Earthquake Did It!

OUR NEW YORK BUYER TOOK ADVANTAGE OF THE GREAT EXCITEMENT JUST IN TIME TO BUY US A MAMMOTH STOCK OF FALL AND WINTER
CLOAKS.

And writes us that he never before secured such Bargains for us or so desirable styles.

LADIES, wait for our stock which will be here in a few days and we will convince you what an earthquake will do for us.

Everything you need is coming in DRY GOODS, NOTIONS, and all the Leading Fancies.

F. W. CRAINE & CO.

DRY GOODS!
J. L. HURD & CO.
GROCERIES!

CLOAKS! CLOAKS!
CLOAKS, CLOAKS!
CLOAKS!
—AT—
Rosenthal & Son's

Having just received the largest and best assortment of Cloaks ever shown in Northern Michigan, we now await your inspection

And we are confident that we can Suit Everybody

IN A STYLISH SHORT WRAP, OR A HANDSOME NEW-MARKET OR A COSY STREET JACKET.

These goods having been purchased at a very low figure, we can sell them at

MOST ASTONISHING LOW PRICES.

Call and examine before going elsewhere,

Respectfully,

ROSENTHAL & SON.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL. XVIII. NO.—24 CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1886. WHOLE NO. 881

School Books!
SCHOOL BOOKS! SCHOOL BOOKS!
—HEADQUARTERS—
For Everything needed in the School Room, at
HINES & CO.'S DRUG AND STATIONERY STORE.

You will find it to your interest to look over our stock before purchasing elsewhere.

Respectfully,
F. G. HINES & CO.

UPRIGHT & EMREY.—GENERAL DEALERS.

UPRIGHT & EMREY,
Dealers in
Dry Goods, Groceries, Etc.
CHOICE TEAS,
Best [illegible] Coffees

Boots & Shoes!
IN ALL GRADES OF MEN'S, WOMEN'S and CHILDREN'S.

We have given more than our usual care and attention to the selection of our stock, and we Know we can please our patrons in all
KINDS OF FOOTWEAR.
UPRIGHT & EMREY.

We can Supply you with EVERYTHING in our Line.
THE FINEST STOCK OF
FURNITURE
ever offered in Charlevoix,
IS NOW AWAITING YOUR INSPECTION AT
Henry C. Cooper's.

A Choice Line of
FRESH GROCERIES,
OF EVERY VARIETY,
Including Confectionery, Fruits, Canned Goods, and Tobaccos and Cigars in stock
For your inspection in OPERA BLOCK by
R. J. COOPER.

STOVES.
THE LARGEST STOCK OF STOVES EVER EXHIBITED IN CHARLEVOIX CO.
NOW ON SALE
AT STOCKMAN & IDDINGS',
HARDWARE STORE.

Intending purchasers are sure of obtaining here the best goods at reasonable prices.

Parties designing to purchase a Heating Stove can, at very little additional expense, secure one of our Handsome Stoves, so much in advance of the old style Round Base. Examine them at your nearest hardware dealer's and be convinced of what we say.

We furnish handsome, self-adjusting side fenders, nickle center band, spun brass urn and the finest finished cold rolled steel body in the market, used by no other manufacturer but ours: also the best damper grate in the world for wood. Made in four sizes—Nos. 15, 18, 21 and 25. Nos. 18, 21 and 25 are made with extension bodies when desired.

WE HAVE A FULL LINE OF THESE STOVES.
YOURS TRULY,
STOCKMAN & IDDINGS.
Sep. 29, 1886

The Best Groceries
At The Lowest Prices
ARE FOUND AT THE GROCERY AND PROVISION HOUSE OF
A. E. MASON.
I do a strictly Cash-over-counter business and will guarantee lowest prices.

J. MILO EATON'S
REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE,
AND LOAN OFFICE.
The oldest in the county. Established in 1875.
Money to loan in sums to suit and at lowest rates on improved farms.
ABSTRACTS OF TITLE furnished on short notice. Office over Postoffice.

A. J. McLEOD,
having returned to the Charlevoix Meat Market, announces that he will sell at
Wholesale or Retail!
All kinds of
FRESH MEATS,
SALT PORK,
SMOKED & SALTED
HAMS,
Dried and Smoked
BACON, DRIED BEEF,
Bologna, Head Cheese,
Sausage.
Highest Prices Paid FOR HIDES and PELTS.
Will kill hogs or cattle for other Markets or persons wishing that class of work at low rates.
A. J. McLEOD.

CHARLEVOIX
Manufacturing Co.
Charlevoix, Mich.,
Manufactureres of
Sash and Doors,
Blinds, Mouldings etc.
NEWELL
Posts, Banisters & Stair Rails
kept in stock.
Window & Door Frames made to order.
All Kinds of
Building Material
Kept constantly on hand.
PLANS & SPECIFICATIONS,
Furnished on application.
Cottages made a specialty also contracting and building.
Correspondence solicited.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
SMITH & PARMELEE,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
Address all business correspondence to the firm.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One year $1 50 | Six months $ 75
Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—Alic Rosenthal returned home, yesterday.

Get your slips printed at the SENTINEL office.

W. J. Bradley now registers in New York state.

—Mr. Cody, the Nurseryman, is in town delivering orders.

Ernest Beauvais engineers Frank Sear's new steam launch.

—Mrs. Geo. Smiley and daughter of the resort, have returned to Kalamazoo.

—Mrs. Frank F. Wood and son returned home from Grand Rapids on Sunday.

—L. W. Hoyt, Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue, of Grand Rapids was in town, Monday.

Mrs. Covert, of Central Lake, is in town in attendance upon her son, Will, who is sick with typhoid fever.

—Mr. Sherman, the gentlemanly book keeper of the Wilson Hoop Co., removes to New York state next week.

—Chas. McKey, of Torch Lake, contributed $1 and costs to the public funds yesterday for being a little too drunk for comfort.

—Married, at Charlevoix, Oct. 11th, by Rev. J. T. Iddings, Marcus S. Moulton of East Jordan and Mrs. Mahon Parsons of Chicago.

—The Rev. S. G. Blanchard, formerly of Norwood, was appointed presiding elder of the Santa Barbara district, southern California conference, at the late session.

—There will be an excursion on the G. R. & I. and D. L. & N. R. R. from Petoskey, Cadillac and intermediate stations, to Detroit, Oct. 19th. Fare for the round trip $5. A rare opportunity.

Candidates for county offices can get their election slips printed at this office. Our prices are lower than those of J. F. Eby & Co of Detroit, one of the largest job printing establishments in the state.

—Mrs. Catharine Nowland, wife of Henry Nowland, died Wednesday at the home of her father, Mr. John A. Johnson of Marion. Mrs. Nowland was 28 years of age and well known and much respected here.

The Grand Rapids & Indiana will complete the Mackinaw city dock next winter and have it ready for business as soon as navigation opens. It will be 1,200 feet long and 60 feet wide. There will be a transfer dock, so that freight cars may be loaded on vessels for transportation across the straits and for receipt from the other side.

—Flavel J. Smith, of Petoskey, is the Republican candidate for Sheriff of Emmet county. Mr. Smith was deputy sheriff and deputy U. S. Marshal for eight years, and the Republicans of Emmet county did wisely in nominating him. He was with Sherman at Atlanta, and has a record as a soldier which he can point to with pride. His election is assured.

—The fusionists nominated F. S. Hampton of Harbor Springs for representative in their convention at Cheboygan, Thursday. Hampton will lose a good many votes in Cheboygan and Presque Isle counties because of the stand taken by him in the proposed division of the two counties. E. Z. Perkins, his opponent, will be hard to down, and Mr. Hampton realizes that fact.

It now appears that the M. E. church of Charlevoix has no regularly assigned minister after all. The Rev. Mr. Fox, who was appointed here declines to come because he is afraid the climate will not agree with his daughter. We would suggest to the Rev. gentleman that the climate is no more severe now than it was before the conference closed its session. The Society seem to be in favor of the work being supplied by Rev. W. H. McCartney.

—The elegant little steam launch of Frank Sears has attracted a good deal of attention the past week. Its advent marks the beginning of a new era in private pleasure boats here and the superior model and the workmanship testify to the fact that Charlevoix possesses the necessary skilled workman to design and build this class of boats. Mr. Sears has christened his yacht the Ozie. She is 31 feet long, 6½ feet beam and draws 30 inches aft. Her hull is of cedar. Her decks and wainscoting are formed of pine and walnut strips. A large amount of nickle trimming will be put on in the spring. The power is supplied by a 4 horse power Shipman Automatic engine, the kerosene tank holding two barrels, being placed under the forward deck. The yacht has a seating capacity of twenty and will make ten miles an hour. Mr. Beauvais, the well-known Charlevoix boat builder, who designed the yacht, receives many deserved compliments. The work has been done at Campbell's ship yard and is a marvel of excellence.

"[illegible]" Wood is in Grand Rapids this week.

—Ice has been in good demand the past week.

—Mrs. F. A. Smith Sundayed with relatives at Petoskey.

—The Board of Supervisors are in session at Bay Springs.

Will Steele, clerk of the Bridge St. House, is visiting at Northport.

—The excursion to Boyne City last evening was well attended from here.

—Mrs. J. B. Allen has been in Petoskey visiting friends for a few days.

Last week was the pleasantest week of the year, thermometrically speaking.

—Capt. Goss of Charlevoix, is visiting his son Joseph, in South Frankfort.—Times.

—The wages in the lumber woods the coming winter will average from $16 to $20 per month.

—The Historical Society elects officers at the Bridge Street House on Friday evening of this week.

—The rink was crowded Friday evening to witness the fancy skating of Eva Arlington, of Lansing.

—The new Boyne City town hall was opened last night by a ball. A large number went up from here.

—Quite a large number of Charlevoix citizens contemplate going on the excursion to Detroit the 19th.

—The fire department was out for practice yesterday afternoon and everything worked to perfection.

Miss Kate Meech leaves this afternoon for Morristown, N. J., where she has accepted a position in the public schools of that city.

—Rosenthal & Son will have a new announcement next week giving full account of the bargains in their mammoth stock recently purchased.

H. Lee Iddings has the foundation laid for a handsome residence to be erected next spring at the west end of Main Street, adjoining the park.

—The steamer Clara Belle will leave Charlevoix at 5:30 next Tuesday morning in order to make connections with the Detroit excursion train at Boyne Falls.

—Chas Mossington, formerly of this place, but for the past year a resident of Canada, is in town. He is purchasing property at Sault Ste. Marie, and will remove there to engage in market gardening.

J. E. Harrah of Clarion, has taken a contract of getting out a large quantity of pine lumber in Melrose, for Charleton, of Canada. It will be taken by rail to Harbor Springs and from thence rafted to Quebec. The camps are already in operation.

—The election of Capt. Berdan may now be considered probable. With a prohibition ticket in the field, his defeat by Ira Jerrue will be made possible. No doubt Mr. Jerrue is gratified at the movement. We know that several of his ardent supporters are.

—There is no better indication of improvement in business matters than the large increase in freight transfer at this place over any previous season. All steamers are loaded every trip up the lake, and the Chicago steamers are discharging more merchandise here than ever before.

—The Spanish Doctress, aided and abetted by other notorious characters in town, on Monday circulated a written slander against a citizen. She languishes in jail and stands a fair chance of serving a term in one of the State institutions. Her trial occurs tomorrow before Justice McLeod.

—The Chippewa County News says that what is known as the Mullet Lake House, which is being torn down to remove it to the "Soo," will be located in that village on Portage avenue, facing the canal, and that workingmen are engaged clearing the ground and preparing the foundation. It will be named the "Hotel Ste. Marie."

The Detroit Illustrated Graphic News is now established as a permanent Detroit institution. The publishers propose to place before the people of Michigan, each week, the handsomest and newsiest illustrated journal issued and in the issues we have have seen, they have succeeded. The issue of Oct. 16th is to contain a full page portrait of the Hon. C. G. Luce, republican candidate for Governor.

The Nicholls saw mill, in this place, has a large contract for cutting hemlock ties and a cargo or more is ready on the dock. Hemlock ties are coming into use largely by the virtue of the discovery of the preserving quality of a solution in which creosote is a prominent ingredient. They are submerged by small car loads, by a device which obviates handling and the process is said to make the ties very lasting.

Elk Rapids Progress: A. K. Dougherty returned from Charlevoix Wednesday after the adjournment of the convention, arriving home in the evening. His friends soon got wind of his return and proceeding to his residence congratulated him upon his nomination, which the band endorsed by tendering him a serenade. Mr. Dougherty welcomed them in a neat little speech. After the congratulation, the serenade and speech were ended the band escorted the candidate for legislative honors down town when cigars and lemonade were set up at Crombe's

Dr. G. W. Crouter left Monday to attend the annual meeting of the State Pharmaceutical Association held at Grand Rapids.

—There are many sensible prohibitionists who are opposed to the nomination of a county ticket. They regard the move as suicidal to the temperance cause in this county.

—The warm weather and the Spanish doctress have had a tendency to sour the milk the last week, that on the south terrace suffering most from the latter cause, and local stench.

A movement is on foot to organize a Driving Park Association in Charlevoix, and stock has already been liberally subscribed. The movement is a good one, and we hope it will be successful.

Archibald K. Dougherty.

The Republican Representative convention took place last Wednesday afternoon at the Fountain City House.

Mr. A. K. Dougherty, of Elk Rapids, was nominated by acclamation for Representative.

A better choice could not have been made. Mr. Dougherty will make a strong run in Antrim and Charlevoix counties, where he is well known as an honest and intelligent laboring man. He will do credit to the district.

His election is certain.

The Board of Supervisors.

At the statutory time for the meeting of the Board of Supervisors Monday, a part of the Board met at Bay Springs and a part at Boyne City, with no quorum at either place. In the evening the entire Board organized at Bay Springs. No business has been done. The Board meets this morning at 9 o'clock at Bay Springs.

It is understood that a vote will be taken to submit the question of making Bay Springs the permanent seat, but the Boyne folks claim it will be defeated, and that the Boyne City building will be accepted, which result will make Boyne City the county seat, and thus settle the troublesome question.

The session will undoubtedly last the balance of the week.

The New Fire Department.

The unpleasantness lately existing between the Council and the fire department has been amicably settled, and all is peace and harmony at headquarters.

On Monday evening a large and enthusiastic meeting [illegible] the department reorganized under new officers, most of those who resigned returning, and several new names being added.

The new officers are as follows: Chief, C. J. Grier; Engineer, O. S. Washburn; President, Chas. Swallow; Vice President, R. W. Kane; Secretary, H. F. Bisbee; Treasurer, Harry Nicholls; Foreman, Elmer Mayne; Assistant Foreman, Lewis Smith; Nozzlemen, Al. Jeffries, Chas See, H. Bedford, Bert Mason, Wright Ridley, Will Horton.

The election of Mr. Grier as Chief must be confirmed by the Council. The selection is an excellent one, as is also that of Mr. Washburn as Engineer, who is thoroughly competent and reliable.

Religious.

Congregational Church.

Subject for Thursday evening, Luke 13:6-9. Sunday morning, Temperance.

M. E. Church.

There will be preaching next Sunday morning, probably by the new pastor. If he does not arrive the Presiding Elder will send a supply.

There will be a Young People's Meeting Sunday evening at six o'clock. Come and be on time.

The Union Temperance Meeting will be held at the Methodist church next Sunday evening.

Preaching at Ironton M. E. church, next Sabbath at 11 o'clock a. m. At the evening service, baptism and the reception of members into the church.

Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

At the annual meeting of the W. C. T. U., in Philadelphia last October, a request came from twenty-one leading pastors of the city that the Convention designate a certain Sabbath in each year to be known as "Temperance Sunday" throughout the world, and that the W. C. T. U. exert its influence in all its local Unions to secure its observance in all the churches. In accordance with this request, Sunday, Oct. 17th has been designated for 1886, at which time a union service will be held in the M. E. Church, which will be made a memorial service in honor of the cruelly murdered Geo Haddock. The meeting will be addressed by the several pastors and others. The pastors will preach temperance sermons at the regular morning service. It is also desired that the different Sunday school superintendents give some time to the subject of temperance in their schools on that day.

Why did the best Republican leaders leave the party in Chicago and form the anti-saloon Republican club. Because they were disgusted with and ashamed of the party.—Prohibitionist, in Journal.

The above shows how well posted the bull-headed fanatic is. The "Anti-Saloon Republican Club" which was organized in Chicago, is true to its name, a Republican club. They avowed themselves Republicans, and against the third party movement. They have not left the Republican party, but desire to consider the temperance question, as Republicans.

Old newspapers sold at this office.

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

A Discourse to Young Men About to Enter City Life.

The Careers of Two Young Men—Through Idleness and Dissipation to Death—By Industry to Wealth and Honor—An Earnest Appeal.

Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, in a recent sermon at the Brooklyn Tabernacle took for his text:

Ponder the path of thy feet.—Prov. iv. 26, and preached the following sermon on the subject:

"Two young men who came to live in the city."

It was on Monday, September 20, at a country depot. Two young men are to take the cars for the city. Father brought them in a wagon with two trunks. The evening before at the old home was a sad time. The neighbors had gathered in to say good-by. Indeed, all the Sunday afternoon there had been a strolling that way from adjoining farms, for it was generally known that the two boys the next morning were going to the city to live, and the whole neighborhood was interested, some hoping they would do well and others, without saying anything, hoping for them a city failure. Sitting on the fence talking over the matter the neighbors would interlard their conversation about the wheat crop of last summer, and the apple crop yet to be gathered, with remarks about the city prospects of Edward and Nicholas, for those were the names of the two young men—Edward seventeen, and Nicholas nineteen; but Edward, although two years younger, being a little quicker to learn, knew as much as Nicholas. They were both brown-faced and hearty, and had gone through all the curriculum of hearty sports, by which muscle is developed and the chest filled out.

Father and mother on Monday morning had both resolved to go to the depot with [illegible] proportion as the fault-finder pays little or is resolved to leave unceremoniously and pay nothing at all.

[illegible]

"Confound it!" cried the young man, "I can not stand this life any longer, and I must go out and see the world."

The same young men and others of a growing acquaintance ever ready to escort him. There is never any lack of such guidance. If a man wants to go the whole round of sin, he can find plenty to take him, a whole regiment who know the way. But after awhile Edward's money is all gone. He has received his salary again and again, but it was spent before he got it, borrowing a little here and a little there. What shall he do now? Why, he has seen in his rounds of the gambling tables men who put down a dollar and took up ten, put down a hundred and took up a thousand. Why not he? To reconstruct his finances he takes a hand and wins; is in a frenzy of delight and takes another hand—and looses all.

When he first came to the city Edward was disposed to keep Sunday in quietness, reading a little and going occasionally to hear a sermon. Now Sunday is a day of carousal. He is so full of late excesses by eleven o'clock in the day he staggers into one of the licensed rum holes of the city.

Some morning Edward, his breath stenchful with rum, takes his place in the store. He is not fit to be there. He is listless, or silly, or impertinent, or in some way incompetent, and a messenger comes to him and says:

"The firm desires to see you in their private office."

The gentleman in the private office says:

"Edward, we will not need you any more. We owe you a little money for services since we paid you last, and here it is."

"What is the matter?" says the young man. "I can not understand this. Have I done anything?"

The reply is: "We do not wish any words with you. Our engagement with each other is ended."

[illegible]

there is no place so appropriate for a troubled soul as the house of God. And their way to church. It is communion day, and what is the old man's surprise to see his son pass down the aisle with one of the silver chalices, showing him to be a church official. The fact was that Nicholas from the start in city life honored God, and God had honored him. When the first wave of city temptation struck him he had felt the need of divine guidance and divine protection, and in prayer had sought a regenerated heart, and had obtained that mightiest of all armor, that mightiest of all protection, that mightiest of all reinforcements, the multitudent and omnipotent grace of God, and you might as well throw a thistle down against Gibraltar, expecting to destroy it, as with all the combined temptations of earth and hell try to overthrow a young man who can truthfully say: "God is my refuge and strength."

Come, let us measure Nicholas around the head. As many inches of brain as any other intelligent man. Let us measure him around the heart. It is so large that it takes in all the earth and all the heavens. Measure him around the purse. He has more resources than nine-tenths of those who on that Monday, September 20, came in on any of the railroads from north, south, east and west.

But that Sabbath afternoon while in the back room Nicholas and his father are talking over any attempt at the reclamation of Edward, there is a ringing of the door-bell and a man with the uniform of a policeman stands there; and the man with some embarrassment, and some halting, and in a round-about way says that in a fight in some low haunt of the city Edward had been hurt. He says to Nicholas:

"I heard that he was some relation of yours, and thought you ought to know it."

"Hurt? Is he badly hurt?"

"Yes, very badly hurt!"

"Is the wound mortal?"

"Yes; it is mortal. To tell you the whole truth, sir," says the policeman, "although I can hardly bear to tell you, [illegible]

[illegible]

LOGAN TO THE SOLDIERS.

The Great Volunteer General of the War, and Senator from Illinois, Speaks Sturdily and Truthfully to Veterans of the War—He Does Not Believe in Splitting Hairs Over Just Pension Claims.

Senator John A. Logan lately delivered an honest, eloquent address before the Eastern Illinois Veteran Association which makes good reading for Republicans throughout the country. Generous extracts from his speech are therefore given below:

One thing to the soldiers, in reference to the organization of the G. A. R. It is understood by many people that the organization has some sinister motive, some design of wielding its power and influence for some hidden purpose. There never was a greater mistake made. The organization is based upon friendship, loyalty and charity. It is based upon that character of friendship frequently spoken of. It is not the friendship that ordinarily exists among men; it goes far beyond. It is that friendship, which, when you take the hand of a comrade and he needs your assistance, you will aid him, will help him and protect him. That is the character of the friendship we mean when we speak of friendship being one of the corner-stones of the G. A. R. [Applause.] The loyalty that is expressed in our organization is not that idea of loyalty ordinarily entertained. It is not that loyalty which would merely say: "I am for my Government;" but it is a loyalty that wells up in the heart and says: "I am not only for my country, I am not only for its success, I am not only for its glory and its power, but I am loyal to the extent that if any man with polluted hand touches that flag, if any man touches with intention of destroying it, with intention of pulling it down or trampling it under foot, that man is an enemy of mine; he is your enemy, he is the enemy of every loyal man in this land, and the power of this Government shall be exercised, with the assistance of these soldiers, to suppress that man and those who associate with him in his treason." [Applause.] What do we mean by charity in our organization? Not that charity which merely doles out the crust of bread, not that charity which merely says: "Old fellow, I am glad to see you. I hope I can do something for you." It is that charity existing between brother and brother; so that if you find a poor comrade who has served faithfully his Government, even though you find him wallowing in the gutter—no matter how poor he may be, if honest—it is that charity that will extend to him a hand and say, "Come from that low place up to the plane where honorable men stand;" I will help you, even if it takes from my own pocket the last cent [illegible] were turned over to them. Well, the books have been turned over and the result has been compiled. [illegible]

[illegible]

PENSION "ABUSES."

The Vile Campaign Document, Breaking with Misstatements and Slanders, Issued by the Democratic Congressional Committee, Effectively Disproved.

[illegible]

THE INDIANA CAMPAIGN.

[illegible]

THE COMBINED
STEAM FURNITURE
—AND—
Agate Works,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

The undersigned announces that he is prepared to take orders for

REPAIRING OR BUILDING
Furniture of all Kinds
ON SHORT NOTICE.

MY LAPIDARY

Is in first-class shape for working or polishing all cookie stones.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

CORNELIUS BUDD.

Charlevoix, Nov. 23, 1885.

Northern Michigan
Boiler Works.

Builder and Manufacturer of

Boilers, Heaters,
LARD TANKS, ETC.
OF ALL KINDS

SHEET IRON WORK
A SPECIALTY.

MARINE WORK
Given Special Attention

HENRY BARTH, Proprietor,
Charlevoix, Mich.

MILWAUKEE, LAKE SHORE
& WESTERN RAILWAY.

The Only Line Running
TWO DAILY TRAINS
—BETWEEN—
Wausau and Milwaukee and Chicago

THE AIR LINE TO OSHKOSH.

TIME TABLE.

[illegible]

FRANK E. WOOD'S
BATH AND BARBER ROOMS.

FARMING LAND!
500,000 ACRES
Of Splendid
Michigan Lands
FOR SALE BY THE
G. R. & I. R. R. COMPANY.
50,000 Acres in Charlevoix County.

WATER AND RAIL.

Not a Wilderness, by any Means.

W. H. HUGHART, Commissioner,
Grand Rapids, Mich.

HUMPHREYS'

HOMEOPATHIC

SPECIFICS.

WM. J. STEVENSON,
VETERINARY HORSE-SHOER.

The Old Doctor

Dr. WARD & CO. Louisiana, Mo.

THE SHORT & POPULAR LINE

NORTH, SOUTH, EAST or WEST.

SOLID TRAINS
WITH
PULLMAN SLEEPERS
Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Paul
FAMOUS ALBERT LEA ROUTE,
St. Louis, Minneapolis & St. Paul
St. Louis, Minneapolis & St. Paul Short Line

Land Seekers' Round Trip Tickets

The Line selected by the U. S. Gov't to carry the Fast Mail.

Burlington Route
C. B. & Q. R. R.

CHICAGO, PEORIA & ST. LOUIS
AND DENVER

ILLINOIS, IOWA, MISSOURI,
NEBRASKA, KANSAS, COLORADO

Chicago and Denver,
Chicago and Omaha,
Chicago and Council Bluffs,
Chicago and St. Joseph,
Chicago and Atchison,
Chicago and Kansas City,
Chicago and Topeka,
Chicago and St. Louis,
Chicago and Dubuque,
Chicago and Sioux City,
Peoria and Council Bluffs,
Peoria and Kansas City,
Peoria and St. Louis,
St. Louis and Omaha,
St. Louis and St. Paul,
Kansas City and Denver,
Kansas City and St. Paul,
Kansas City and Omaha,
Kansas City and Burlington.

San Francisco, Portland and City of Mexico

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

SMITH & PARMELEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DONE FOR A DIME.

The b...[illegible] crowded round
To take him by the hand
The man whose eloquent words
Had sounded through the land.
When ...[illegible] to man or place,
Came up a boy with daring face.

Who held within his dirty hand
A dwindling pencil's half,
"Mister," said he, "I wish you'd please Gimme your autograph."
"I will," the great man kindly said,
And lightly touched the urchin's head.

Then wrote a wild chirography,
And mused that this was fame,
When little lads from off the street
Desired his written name.
"What will you," asked he with a laugh,
"My child, do with my autograph?"

The coming voter viewed the man
With something like surprise,
And answered with a business look
About his sharp young eyes:
"Why, sir, I sells 'em, don't you see,
I gits ten cents for yourn!" said he.
—N. Y. World.

M. SEGUIN'S GOAT.

The Fate of One Who Wanted to Be Free.

You will always be the same, my poor Gringoire.

What! You are offered the place of chronicler in a good newspaper in Paris, and you have the face to refuse. But only look at yourself, you unfortunate fellow. Look at your torn doublet and dilapidated hose, at your thin face that cries famine. And yet that is what your passion for rhyming has brought you to. That is what you have [illegible]

[illegible]

You laugh, Gringoire? I dare say! You are on the side of the goats, against good M. Seguin. We shall see whether you will laugh presently.

When the white goat reached it, the mountain was filled with delight. The old fir trees had never seen any thing so lively. They received her like a little queen. The chestnut trees bent down to the ground to caress her with the tips of their branches. The golden broom parted before her to let her pass, and sent out its sweetest smell. The whole mountain rejoiced over her.

You may imagine, Gringoire, whether our goat was happy. No more tether, no more stake. Nothing to prevent her gamboling about and browsing at her own sweet will. What grass there was there! Over the tops of her horns. Such grasses, thousands of different kinds, fine and scented and delicate, very different from the grass of that field. And what flowers! Great blue harebells and purple fox-gloves with long calixes, a whole forest of wild flowers overflowing with intoxicating juices! The white goat, half drunk, reveled among them, and rolled down the slopes pell-mell with the fallen leaves and the chestnuts. Then all at once she would spring to her feet. Hop! She was off again, through the bushes and the underwood, now on the top of a point, now at the bottom of a ravine, up, down, everywhere; you would have said there were ten M. Seguin's goats on the mountain.

And she was afraid of nothing, Blanquette. With one bound she sprang across wide torrents that sprinkled her with their spray and foam as she passed. Then streaming wet, she would lie down to dry herself in the sun upon some flat rock. Once leaning over the edge of a plateau, with a cystisus flower in her mouth, she caught sight of M. Seguin's house with the field behind it, far, far down in the plain. And she laughed till she cried at the [illegible]

[illegible]

FARM AND FIRESIDE.

—Red ants will never be found in closets or drawers if a small bag of sulphur is kept in these places.—Boston Post.

—Thorough cultivation of corn and potatoes often repeated will be found a safe protection against drouth.—Cincinnati Times.

—Make a harness fit properly and a horse can wear it without distress, provided that it is also kept decently clean and comfortably soft.—Exchange.

—Cure for Hiccough: A teaspoonful of granulated sugar moistened with pure vinegar will generally remedy that annoying complaint, hiccough.—Toledo Blade.

—Raised Waffles: One quart of flour, one pint of sweet milk, two eggs, a tablespoonful of melted butter, one teaspoonful of salt, half cup of yeast, bake in waffle irons well heated and greased. —The Household.

—Have you occasion to dig up any sods along the roadside, under the fences or in any part of the garden? Save them. Spread a layer of sods and sprinkle on it a light dressing of potash (ashes) and bone; then another layer of sods, then ashes and bone, etc., until the heap is completed. This will give you a perfect soil for flower pots.—Prairie Farmer.

—A practical housekeeper says if the necessity of cutting hot bread be imperative the most unpleasantness may be obviated by using a warm knife for the purpose. The heating of the steel prevents the chill which causes the sodden look so well known to those who have been compelled to cut the warm loaf. A napkin should be laid on the plate upon which the slices are placed. —N. Y. Times.

—Brown Gems: Three cups of graham flour and one of white (pre- [illegible]

[illegible]

THE BEST HEN.

[illegible]

The Fly as a Purifier.

[illegible]

OUR FASHION LETTER.

Street Costumes—Autumn Tailor Dresses, English Coats and French Jackets—Charming and Inexpensive Gowns.

[Special New York Correspondence.]

Although there is an [illegible] degree of elegance exhibited in the [illegible] dress toilets for the [illegible] there is shown an unusual amount of conventionality in costumes designed for the street. Marked individuality and artistic fancy assert themselves in the lengthy list of evening and "high tea" gowns, but as soon as a lady sets her dainty boot upon the pavement, fashion claims her for her own, and decrees most arbitrarily wherewith she shall be clothed. Silks and satins are ruled out, and it is now a very uncommon thing to see a woman shopping or taking a "constitutional" dressed in any other sort of gown save one in tailor style and formed of softly-draping wool of some description. Arrayed in elaborate silk attire, with billows of lace around her shoulders, and with fancy hat bedecked with flowers and feathers, she is at once set down as either ignorant of good form in the fine art of modern dressing, or as a lady on her way to a fete of some sort, who has lost her carriage in the crowd.

It is a matter of congratulation that the short, trim, round skirt which clears the ground by several inches is still absolutely de rigueur for church, street and all ordinary occasions. The width of the skirt on autumn tailor dresses remains about the same, and kilts and panels and simple drapings are still the distinguishing feature. Tailor dresses for utility pur- [illegible]

WALKING COSTUME.

PROMENADE COSTUME.

[illegible]

WALKING COSTUME.

[illegible]

SCRAPS OF INFORMATION.

[illegible]

THE MARKETS.

[illegible]

All Used Up

[illegible]

DYSPEPSIA

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS
THE BEST TONIC

DR. JOHN BULL'S
Smith's Tonic Syrup
FOR THE CURE OF
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER,
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

[illegible]

DR. JOHN BULL'S
SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP,
BULL'S SARSAPARILLA,
BULL'S WORM DESTROYER,
The Popular Remedies of the Day.

The Latest Paris and New York
FASHIONS
L'ART DE LA MODE

MASON & HAMLIN
UNRIVALED ORGANS
UPRIGHT PIANOS,
MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN AND PIANO CO.
Boston, New York, Chicago.

FRAZER
AXLE GREASE.

GRIND your own Bone,

GUNS

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

30,000 CARPENTERS

RUPTURE

HARTSHORN'S
Shade Rollers

WANTED GOOD MAN

OPIUM

RED STAR
TRADE MARK.
COUGH CURE
SAFE.
SURE.
PROMPT.
25 Cts.

ST. JACOBS OIL
THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY
For Pain.

MUSIC FOR THE PEOPLE.

American Ballad Collection.

American Song and Chorus Collection.

American Piano Music Collection.

American Dance Music Collection.

LYON & HEALY, CHICAGO.
OLIVER DITSON & CO., BOSTON.

CATARRH
ELY'S
CREAM BALM.
HAY-FEVER

Hood's Sarsaparilla
100 Doses One Dollar

COCKLE'S
ANTI-BILIOUS
PILLS,
THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY

Golden Belt Kansas.

SPENCER'S ALLIGATOR PRESS.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established, 1869.

CHARLEVOIX, OCT. 13, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE, Associate Editor.

Republican Senatorial Convention.

A Republican Senatorial Convention for the twenty [illegible] senatorial district, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for State Senator, will be held at [illegible] Hall in Traverse City, in Grand Traverse county, on Friday, the 15th day of October, [illegible], at 2 p. m.

By the basis of representation adopted by the last senatorial convention Grand Traverse county will be entitled to 8 delegates, Antrim to 5, Charlevoix to 5, Leelanaw to 4 and Manitou 1.

A. K. DOUGHERTY,
CHARLES W. WILLIAMS,
R. GOODRICH,
FRED W. MAYNE,
ISAAC WRIGHT,
Committee.

Dated Oct 2, 1886.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

State Ticket.

For Governor—
CYRUS G. LUCE, of Branch.

For Lieutenant Governor—
JAMES H. McDONALD, of Delta.

For Secretary of State—
GILMAN R. OSMAN, of Wayne.

For Treasurer—
GEORGE L. MALTZ, of Alpena.

For Auditor General—
HENRY H. APLIN, of Bay.

For Attorney General—
MOSES TAGGART, of Kent.

For Commissioner of State Land Office—
ROSCOE D. DIX, of Berrien.

For Superintendent of Public Instruction—
JOSEPH ESTABROOK.

For Member State Board of Education—
SAMUEL S. BABCOCK, of Wayne.

Republican Congressional Ticket.

For Representative in Congress, Ninth District—
BYRON M. CUTCHEON, of Manistee.

Legislative Ticket.

For Representative in the State Legislature, Charlevoix District—
ARCHIBALD K. DOUGHERTY, of Elk Rapids.

County Ticket.

For Sheriff—
HARRISON HERDAN.

For Clerk—
ABEL W. CHEW.

For Register of Deeds—
ADELBERT E. UPRIGHT.

For County Treasurer—
HENRY C. COOPER.

For Prosecuting Attorney—
ROSCOE L. CORBETT.

For Circuit Court Commissioner—
Z. N. GARBUTT.

For Surveyor—
E. E. ROBINSON.

For Coroners—
DR. SANDERSON and DR. BENNETT.

Cadillac News: A number of democrats in this vicinity will vote for Luce this year, and openly say so. Farmer Luce will make the "Mendon Boy" think he has been chestnutting this fall.

Yaple makes a very convincing speech. Many who go to hear him almost persuaded to vote against him, go away thoroughly convinced that Luce is the right man. Yaple's British free trade does the business.

Says the Grand Rapids Democrat: "Did Mr. Yaple vote against placing General Grant on the retired list? He did. He has no desire to avoid any issue that can be made upon that point." Very frankly acknowledged. Paste it in your hats, boys.

The Cincinnati Enquirer has discovered that "the Democratic party is the true and only friend of the Union soldier." But don't ask if the Democratic party of the solid south backs up the sentiment; it was only intended for northern latitudes.

The fusion papers that are trying to excuse Mr. Yaple for voting for the restoration of Fitz John Porter and against the restoration of Gen. Grant are making a bad matter worse. Very few of the fusion papers have anything to say about it. The majority of them are maintaining a powerful discreet silence on that tender subject.

President Cleveland has at last recognized the existence of the city of Charleston, which ought to evoke a feeling of gratification in the breasts of those Charlestonians who have feared the president was lacking in geographical knowledge. He has sent a check for $20 to the confederate home in Charleston, accompanied by a sympathetic letter.

A great many newspapers have a sneer for what they term "party organs." They seem to forget that newspapers are the representatives of men. As a rule, men who have convictions either in religion or politics, or regarding any moral reform, are neither afraid nor ashamed to advocate them. One always knows where to find a man or a newspaper that has espoused principles. It is the fellow who is in trade and wants to please all classes, who thinks one way to-day and another to-morrow, who boasts of his "independence."

A medical journal states that turtle oil has been used with the most beneficial results in all cases where cod liver oil was indicated, in persons to whom the nutritive process was defective, also in children of strumous disposition, in the sequelæ of scarlet fever, in measles and other acute specific diseases. Taken in warm milk it is not so objectionable as cod liver oil. This oil is of a yellowish color, and at ordinary temperature forms a thick, finely granulated fluid, in consistence something like olive oil partly congealed, a gentle heat rendering the oil clear and transparent; it possesses little odor or taste, and does not quickly turn rancid. It has proved of the greatest service in scrofulous affections of the eyes, nose and other parts, and has been most beneficial in chronic bronchitis, but is found more particularly useful in phthisis pulmonalis in all its stages.

Northern Michigan News.

Boyne City will organize a post of Sons of Veterans.

Dexter & Noble's large Leland has been sold to S. G. Slyfield, of St. Clair.

Birkett and Spoke's pulp mill at Petoskey is nearly ready for operations.

About 700 packages of fish have been caught in Glen Arbor bay this season.

A Cadillac horse has had a case of genuine scarlet fever—so certified by competent physicians.

Harbor Springs is building up hopes that soon an iron mine will be blossomed out in full near that place.

J. R. Vance is rebuilding his mill on the old site, on the state road between Boyne Falls and East Jordan.

Lumbermen complain that woodsmen are scarce this fall. Upper peninsula wages are ranging from $16 to $22 a month.

The Marquette Mining Journal tells of A. R. Harlow's farm near that city, on which 400 bushels of potatoes were raise to the acre!

The rainfall at Traverse City Sept. 23 and 24, was over five inches, an amount greater than all the rest of the season put together.

Two factions of the Norwegians are building churches at Northport. One is already up and enclosed, and the timber is on the ground for the other.

Traverse City has a good many fast horses, but Kalkaska took away $225 in premiums, Fife Lake $10, and Fife Lake $25 at the recent races at the former place.

Peter F. McIntire presented the Boyne Citizen with a Hubbard squash last Friday that measured three feet in circumference one way and three and a half another.

Mr. Luce, the Republican candidate for Governor, and Senator Palmer, will be in Traverse City on Tuesday, Oct. 26, and speak at Library Hall on the evening of that day.

The dock at Leland succumbed to the recent heavy, northwest gale last week, and is so badly damaged that navigation is considered closed there for the balance of the season.

A party of Elk Rapids ladies proved themselves to be the champion fishers of the season by bringing in on Tuesday of last week not many less than 400 fine bass and perch.

Mancelona closed its schools on account of the prevalence of diphtheria, and business was paralyzed. Investigation revealed that there wasn't a case of diphtheria in the village. The schools have resumed, and business is booming as usual.

Breeze. Ed. Graham and E. Hemstreet have the contract of picking upwards of three hundred bushels of pine cones for W. W. Johnson, the snowflake seedsman. They have now procured about one hundred and seventy-five bushels.

The prohibition convention of Emmet county, held last Saturday was made up mostly from Petoskey. The following ticket was nominated: For sheriff, B. R. Atkins; register of deeds, Peter Boyer; clerk, J. W. Howard; treasurer, E. B. Weaver; surveyor, Ezra Schlappi.

The time of the G. R. & I. changed last Sunday. Under the new schedule trains leave Petoskey for the south at 8:34 a. m. and 10:51 p. m. with local freight at 9:40 a. m. Trains leave for the north at 1:30 a. m. and 8:10 p. m. with local freight at 4:55 p. m.

Mrs. Charles Walton of near Petoskey left for a visit to her relatives in New York state. A few days later her relatives at Petoskey received a telegram from the authorities at Lansing stating that she was there and insane. She was brought home and has since been sent to Traverse City asylum.

The officers of the Bay View Alumni C. L. S. C. are as follows: Mrs. Smith Palmer, Saginaw, president; Rev. Thos. B. Easterday, vice president; Mrs. J. C. Bontecou, Petoskey, secretary; and Mrs. Ada Iddings Gale of Albion, treasurer. All Michigan graduates are requested to send their names and addresses to the secretary. —Bay View Assembly Herald.

The excitement at Manistee over the recent oil discovery is growing in intensity. Speculators are buying everything that is in the market, and at the annual tax sale Tuesday tax titles brought fabulous prices, one man paying $70 for a "forty" on which the tax was but one dollar. A syndicate has been formed to test the genuineness of the "find."

John Yells, of Melrose township, came near losing his life the other day. He had gone to visit a neighbor, Mr. Howard, and on leaving Howard's house took a short cut through the place to the road. Howard it seems had set a double barrelled gun for bear on that pathway, and Yells walked against the wire and discharged both barrels. The shot tore his pants into shreds but did him no injury beyond scaring him out of a year's growth. Mr. Yells thinks people have no business to set bear guns on paths liable to be used by human beings.—Record.

The Fates.

After in the mystic olden days,
When the blooming earth and the gods were young
In the days when each song was a hymn of praise,
And never a winter's cloud hung
'Twixt the smiling sun and the blooming flowers,
And when time was a chain of golden hours.

So glad was the prime of that ancient time
That [illegible] from the lips of the Fates a song,
As sweet as the notes of a far-off chime,
O'erflowed with a melody rich and strong,
And, of threads of life, they gladly spun
Full many a [illegible] and golden one.

Now the world and the gods, ah! me, are old;
Yet the Fates still follow their endless task
All a-weary, for gone is the age of gold,
When the earth had never a prayer to ask,
And the threads of toil, of despair and pain,
The Fates spin over and over again.

Still, an echo, resounding within their souls,
Doth waken a memory well nigh dead,
And, while back from the past the darkness rolls,
They, sorrowing, spin a golden thread
When a hero or poet appears among men,
And the light shines forth that shone forth then.

—James Geddes.

An Electric Mountain.

A very peculiar property has recently been discovered in the rock of a mountain seven miles from the Town of Santa Cruz. This rock is heavily charged with electricity, and when applied to a battery was found to produce strong electric currents. A small handful of this rock applied in a battery generated sufficient electric force to operate the battery for three weeks, and appeared not to be the least exhausted of its powers. This rock has very much the appearance of ordinary soapstone, and exists in immense quantities, constituting the principal mass of the mountain. Its strange property was accidentally discovered by a man who was experimenting with mineral water on the mountain, and, having occasion to use some of this rock, placed it in contact with the battery. The man who made this wonderful discovery kept it a profound secret from the world until he and one or two of his confidential friends had obtained a title to the portion of the land, paying $15,000 therefor. The present owners are now experimenting with this rock with a view to thoroughly testing its properties.—Tulare (Cal.) Press.

Snakes in the Adirondacks.

The reptile, when he saw he was discovered, lifted his scaly head above the grass an instant to lay his course, and with fire sparkling from his wicked eyes came straight towards us. When he was within a few yards however, a well-directed shot from a revolver and a shower of stones turned him aside a little. As he paused, with the evident intention of renewing his charge, I fired another shot, my last cartridge, and grasping the club with both hands, determined to sell my life dearly. As he came on again, I struck at the monster twice, missing him both times, but turned him back. As he fled crashing through the underbrush, his hideous figure gleaming in terrible undulations, I was after him. He shot out of the woods, however, and swept into the road far in advance of me. Less than ten feet away from him a little girl was picking raspberries at the roadside, unconscious of her danger. I shouted to her with all my strength, calling upon her to fly, and screamed "The snake! The snake!" The child saw the scaly monster, and heading him off as he crossed the road, put her bare foot upon him and killed him with a switch she broke from a bush near by. She then went on picking raspberries, while I measured the snake. He was nearly seven inches long, but you need not say anything about that.—Burdette, in Brooklyn Eagle.

The Festive Fly.

Mr. Richard Jefferies writes of the fly in the Pall Mall Gazette, using language very different from that of the late Josh Billings. But Mr. Jefferies takes his fly out of doors. He says: A July fly went sideways over the long grass. His wings made a burr about him like a net, beating so fast they wrapped him round with a cloud. Every now and then, as he flew over the trees of grass, a taller one than common stopped him, and there he clung, and then the eye had time to see the scarlet spots—the loveliest color—on his wings. The wind swung the bennet and loosened his hold, and away he went again over the grasses, and not one jot did he care if they were Poa or Festuca, or Bromus or Hordeum, or any other name. Names were nothing to him; all he had to do was to whirl his scarlet spots about in the brilliant sun, rest when he liked, and go on again. I wonder whether it is a joy to have bright scarlet spots, and to be clad in the purple and gold of life; is the color felt by the creature that wears it? The rose, restful of a dewy morn before the sunbeams have topped the garden wall, must feel a joy in its own fragrance, and know the exquisite hue of its stained petals. The rose sleeps in its beauty.

The fly whirls his scarlet spotted wings about and splashes himself with sunlight, like the children on the sands. He thinks not of the grass and sun; he does not heed them at all—and that is why he is so happy—any more than the barefoot children ask why the sea is there, or why it does not quite dry up when it ebbs. He is unconscious; he lives without thinking about living, and if the sunshine were a hundred hours long, still it would not be long enough. No, never, enough of sun and sliding shadows that come like a hand over the table to lovingly reach our shoulder, never enough of the grass that smells sweet as a flower, not if we could live years and years equal in number to the tides that have ebbed and flowed counting backwards for years to every day and night, backward still till we found out which came first, the night or the day. The scarlet dotted fly knows nothing of the names of the grasses that grow here where the sward nears the sea, and thinking of him I have decided not to willfully seek to learn any more of their names either. My big grass book I have left at home, and the dust is settling on the gold of the binding. I have picked a handful this morning of which I know nothing. I will sit here on the turf and the scarlet dotted flies shall pass over me, as if I, too, were but grass. I will not think, I will be unconscious, I will live.

George H. Boker, who for so many years was president of the two leading clubs in Philadelphia and the central figure in nearly every large social entertainment, is now hardly seen at all. He seems to have retired temporarily from society and goes nowhere. He is famous as having been held up as "the only literary man in Philadelphia." This reputation he is now upholding, it appears, by writing a new play, which, it is said, will be the greatest achievement of his life. He is at work upon it continuously, and he devotes to it almost all of his time. It is whispered that, as in his "Book of the Dead," [illegible] social celebrities will be freely satirized and excoriated.

THE PIONEER HOUSE OF CHARLEVOIX CO.

New Fall Goods,

BEING RECEIVED WEEKLY.

We call especial attention to our complete stock of

BOOTS and SHOES.

TEAS of all kinds. We will guarantee you the best Tea for the money, in the county.

ALL GRADES of FRESH ROASTED AND GREEN COFFEES.

A Fine line of Everything in

FURNITURE.

BIG DRIVES IN

Flannels, Yarns, and Blankets.

Please bear in mind that our stock embraces

EVERYTHING

usually found in a General Store.

Remember: Our Goods are the Best. Our Prices the Lowest. Our Record the Oldest.

Resp'y Yours,

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

For Finest

JOB WORK,

Patronize The

Sentinel.

Offices To Rent.

A number of desirable offices to rent in the [illegible] Block. Inquire of [illegible].

For Sale!

Prof. BICE'S nicely located House and two beautiful lots on Clinton street near the Park in the village of Charlevoix, are now for sale.

Enquire of G. M. BICE, Alpena, Mich., or E. H. GREEN, Charlevoix, Mich.

May 4, 1886.

Teachers' Examination.

The examination of teachers in Charlevoix county for the ensuing school year, will occur as follows: At Charlevoix, Friday the 10th day of September, 1886; at East Jordan, Friday the 24th day of September, 1886; at Boyne City, Friday, October 29th, 1886. At Boyne City, Friday March 25th 1887 and at East Jordan on Friday April 29th 1887. All examinations to commence at 9 o'clock a. m. and candidates to furnish stationery.

WILLIAM HARRIS,
Secretary.

NEW SHOP!

All kinds of

Blacksmithing,

At the

Shop in the Foundry Building.

Horseshoeing a specialty.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

M. SCOTT.

CHARLEVOIX

Savings Bank.

Organized under the General Banking Law of the State of Michigan.

Henry Bennett, Pres.; John Nicholls, Vice Pres.; F. A. Smith, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:

Henry Bennett, O. D. Wood,
John Nicholls, A. Buttars,
A. B. Upright, A. Fox,
F. A. Smith.

CAPITAL, ... $25,000
SURPLUS, ... 2,000

The liabilities of Stockholders in all State banks as provided in Art. 3174, Sec. 6 of the Revised Statutes of the State of Michigan, is double the amount of stock taken, making a guaranteed fund of $50,000 to depositors. Superior facilities for the transaction of every legitimate branch of Banking business extended to our customers on terms as favorable as are consistent with safety.

Drafts drawn direct on the leading commercial cities of the world in large or small amounts. Money to loan on approved paper. Exchange bought and sold. Certificates of deposit issued bearing interest. We respectfully solicit your patronage.

CORRESPONDENTS:

NATIONAL PARK BANK - - - - NEW YORK.
COMMERCIAL NAT. BANK - - - - CHICAGO.
NAT. CITY BANK - - - - GRAND RAPIDS.
DETROIT NAT. BANK - - - - DETROIT.

Take The Sentinel.

Mortgage Sale.

A mortgage dated the 12th of September, 1879, executed by Oliver S. Horton and Lucetta J. Horton to David Carpenter, recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix county Michigan, September 29th, 1879 in Liber 4 of mortgages on page 86 upon which the whole amount of principal and interest viz: $145.20 is past due and for the recovery of which no suit or proceedings has been commenced, will be foreclosed under the power of sale therein contained by a statutory sale of the premises therein described as the north-west fractional quarter of the north-east quarter of section six, in town 34 north of Range 6, west, in Charlevoix county, Michigan, to the highest bidder at the front door of Lewis hall in the village of Boyne City, Mich., (that being the place of holding the Circuit court for Charlevoix county, Michigan, at 12 o'clock noon November 26th, 1886.

Dated August 31st 1886.

DAVID CARPENTER, Mortgagee.
DART & CALL, Att'ys for Mortgagee.

Mortgage Sale.

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the money due and secured by a certain mortgage dated the 4th day of March, A. D. 1884, executed by Carrie Watson of Ironton, Charlevoix county and State of Michigan, to Martha J. Ayers of Charlevoix, Michigan, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said county of Charlevoix in Liber six (6) of mortgages on page five hundred and ten (510) on the 4th day of March, A. D. 1884, and the same is now due and owned by the said Martha J. Ayers, and whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of eight hundred and thirty one dollars and eighty-eight cents ($831.88) of principal and interest, and no suit or proceedings having been instituted at law or in equity to recover the debt now remaining secured by said mortgage or any part thereof. Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the said power of sale in said mortgage contained and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided. The said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described in said mortgage to wit: Beginning at a post on the north and south quarter [illegible] line of section sixteen [16], town thirty-three [33] north of range seven [7] west, [illegible] chains north, [illegible] east of the quarter [illegible] post on the south boundary of said section, thence north [illegible] east on said section line [illegible] chains to a post, thence south [illegible] west [illegible] chains to the shore of the south arm of Pine Lake, thence southerly along the meander line of said shore as surveyed in the survey of said section sixteen [16] to a post [illegible] chains north [illegible] west of the [illegible] post on the section line bounding said section sixteen [16] on the south, thence north [illegible] east [illegible] chains to the place of beginning and containing forty [40] acres more or less situated in the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage with costs of this foreclosure and also the stipulated costs therein mentioned in said mortgage, will be sold at public vendue to the highest bidder at the front door of Lewis' Hall in the village of Boyne City, Charlevoix county, Michigan, that being the place of holding the circuit court in and for the county of Charlevoix, on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1886, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day.

Dated at Charlevoix, the 18th day of August, 1886.

MARTHA J. AYERS, Mortgagee.
J. M. CLARK, Attorney for the Mortgagee.

Mortgage Sale.

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the money due and secured by a certain mortgage dated the 1st day of August A. D. 1881, executed by George H. Thompson and Ada R. Thompson, his wife of Boyne City, Charlevoix county and state of Michigan, to Alden Chamberlin of Charlevoix, Michigan, and which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Charlevoix in Liber five (5) of Mortgages on page three hundred and ten (310) on the 3d day of August A. D. 1881, and which said mortgage was on the 12th day of January A. D. 1882, assigned by said Alden Chamberlin to Martha J. Ayers and said assignment was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said county of Charlevoix on the 13th day of January A. D. 1882, in Liber five (5) of Mortgages on page five hundred and twenty four (524) and said mortgage is now due and owned by the said Martha J. Ayers, the said assignee, and whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of three hundred and seventy seven dollars ($377) of principal and interest and no proceedings having been instituted at law or in equity to recover the debt now remaining unpaid and secured by said mortgage or any part thereof. Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the said power of sale in said mortgage contained and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described in said mortgage, as all that certain piece or parcel of land lying and situated in the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, and known and described as follows to wit: The west half [½] of the north west quarter [¼] of section thirty-two [32] of town thirty-two [32] north of range five [5] west, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage with costs of this foreclosure and the stipulated costs therein mentioned in said mortgage which will be sold at public vendue to the highest bidder at the front door of Lewis hall in the village of Boyne City, Charlevoix county, state of Michigan, that being the place of holding the circuit court in and for said county of Charlevoix on the 30th day of November, A. D. 1886, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day.

Dated this 1st day of September, A. D. 1886.

MARTHA J. AYERS, Assignee.
J. M. CLARK, Attorney for Assignee.

A. B. UPRIGHT. OSCAR UPRIGHT.

FARMS, VILLAGE PROPERTY,

And TIMBER LAND

FOR SALE BY

UPRIGHT BROS.,

40 Acre Farm, soil clay loam, good well of water at house, 15 acres cleared, 6 more chopped, timber Maple, Beech, Cedar and a few Pine. Frame house, Frame Granary and good Log Barn. Board fence on road. Small Orchard. 1 mile from Ironton on good road. Price $1,100. $450 down, balance in two years. Will take a good team as part payment.

80 Acres on Susan Lake, in Hayes Township, heavily timbered with Maple, Elm, Basswood and Beech, surface gently rolling, soil good, will make a fine farm, timber on the land will pay for the place. Price $1,200.

40 Acre Farm, situated 4 miles south of Charlevoix on county Road, soil the very best, good well of water, about 30 acres cleared, nearly all seeded down, fences in first class order, 100 fruit trees just beginning to bear, good log house, log barn, good school house adjoining the place, good neighborhood. Price $1,500. Two thirds down, balance on time if desired.

55 Acres, 1½ miles from village of Charlevoix on shore of Lake Michigan, soil good, being sandy loam and muck. 5 acres cleared, comfortable log house, a good sugar bush of 200 trees, balance of timber Birch, Ash and Cedar. Price $20 per acre, one-half down, balance on time.

160 Acres, on section 36, Township 34, N. R. 8 W., heavily timbered with Maple, Elm and Basswood. Surface gently rolling, watered by a spring brook. A most excellent piece of land. Price $1,600, the timber alone is worth the money.

50 Acres in Marion, 2 miles from Guyles & Nash's mill, 12 acres cleared and seeded to grass. 5 acres more chopped. Living water on the place; a good piece of Maple timber, some Cedar, good soil, good improvements in the neighborhood. Price $600, one-half down.

160 Acre Farm 1½ miles from Horton's Bay and same distance from Bear Lake, surface gently rolling, 10 acres cleared, good frame house, timber Maple, Elm, Basswood and Beech. Excellent soil. Price $2,500; will sell in 80 acre lots if desired.

60 Acres of wild land in Township of Wilson, 3½ miles from Boyne City, soil clay loam, surface gently rolling, timber can not be surpassed. Price $[illegible], one-half down.

52 Acres 2 miles from Sweet's mill on South Arm, surface rolling, soil, clay and sandy loam; fine trout stream passes on west line of land. [illegible] acres cleared, the best fence in county around clearing; log house and large log barn, timber Hemlock, Birch, Cedar; in good neighborhood and adjoining large clearings. Price $550; will take a good team in exchange.

40 Acres 3 miles from Charlevoix, all heavily timbered with Maple, Beech, Hemlock and Cedar; will sell for $400.

80 Acres wild land between Horton's Bay and Bay Springs; Price $[illegible]; will trade for live stock.

80 Acres of as good land as can be found in the county, on section 22—33—7, 40 acres chopped, surface smooth. Price $1,000; $300 down, balance in 1 year at 7 per cent. A great bargain.

160 Acres known as the Inwood Farm in Norwood. 80 acres cleared. Frame house 16x30 with wing 16x24, story and a half high, good bearing orchard, consisting of Apples, Peaches, Pears and Plums, a fine water power on the place 22 ft fall, a capital place for a carding mill, 80 acres of 1st class timber 1½ miles from saw and grist mill. Price $4,000; one half down, balance on if sufficient security is given, nothing required down.

80 Acres on the State Road, 7 miles south of Charlevoix, 2½ miles from Norwood, 15 acres cleared, frame house 18x26. Living spring near the house; timber maple principally. Soil clay loam. Price $1,000 one-fourth down balance on time with interest at 7 per cent.

2 Village Lots in Petoskey finely located, have been graded, are as choice resident lots as can be found in town. $800 cash.

A good Lot in Boyne City near the Skating Rink. Price $75.

100 Lots on Upright & Hurlbut's addition to the Village of Charlevoix at prices to suit all. Some of the finest buildings in Charlevoix are on this addition.

Four good houses and lots in Charlevoix. Price from $500 to $1,200.

A Business Lot on Bridge Street, Charlevoix, water front, terms easy.

WE OWN THE ONLY
COMPLETE Set of ABSTRACTS
Of Charlevoix County,

And all work intrusted to our care shall have prompt and careful attention

We are Agents for some of The
BEST FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES
And will guarantee as low rates as any first class concerns.

CONVEYANCING,
NEATLY AND PROMPTLY DONE.
Non-Residents' interests looked after. Taxes paid Collectionsmade, etc.

New Announcement,

NEXT WEEK.

D. Sherwood & Co

1-3 OFF SALE!

At Miss Spaulding's
MILLINERY ROOMS,

I will sell my entire stock of goods except Yarns and Crewels at greatly reduced prices for cash only.

Any lady purchasing goods to the amount of $3 [illegible] will receive a present of her choice of any untrimmed felt hat in the store.

Come early and secure a Bargain.

MISS L. SPAULDING.

DETROIT & CLEV'LAND
Steam Navigation Co.

Steamers
CITY OF MACKINAW,
CITY OF ALPENA.

For Cheboygan, Rogers City, Alpena, Harrisville, Oscoda, Sand Beach, Port Huron, St. Clair, Marine City, Detroit

Leave Mackinac Island,
Thursdays, Saturdays, 9-45, P. M.
Mondays, Wednesdays, 11-15, A. M.
Steamers every week day between
Detroit and Cleveland.
Through tickets to all points, North, East, South and West

J. Reed Emrey, Agent, Charlevoix.
C. D. Whitcomb, Gen. Pass. Agt.

McCABE'S

MARKET

Is supplied with
All Kinds Of
MEATS
At Lowest Prices.
CASH PAID FOR FAT CATTLE, Hides, Sheep and Hogs.
Corner of State & Mason sts.,
JOHN McCABE.

It Pays to Buy the
BEST BOATS!

The large number of boats I have built for resorters, are advertisements of what I have done and can do in boat building. Call and get references.

I will guarantee the best modelled, easiest rowing and best sailing boats in Northern Michigan for the

LEAST MONEY!

All kinds of Oars, and Paddles made.

LEAVE ORDERS

with me for a boat for next summer's use. I am bound to please you.

[illegible]

J. BEAUVAIS.

A. D. Bradbeer,

PHOTOGRAPHER,

OFFICE OVER

UPRIGHT & EMREY'S STORE.

I will make Cabinet Photographs,

A SPECIALTY!

At Lowest Prices

Consistent with

GOOD WORK.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Dr. Crouter

---

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

CRUICKSHANK & GRIER, Attorneys at Law. Office in Buttars' Block Charlevoix, Mich.

JOSEPH M. CLARK, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

PAILTHORP & GEORGE, Attorneys and Solicitors, Petoskey Mich.

DART & CALL, Attorneys, Petoskey, Mich.

R. L. CORBETT, Attorney at law, Boyne City, Mich. (Prosecuting Attorney of Charlevoix County.)

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

L. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

WM. M. PRESTON, M. D. Physician and Surgeon, [illegible] Charlevoix, Mich.

J. A. CARLSTEIN, M. D., [illegible] Charlevoix, Mich.

SOCIETIES.

G. A. R.—Baxter Post No. 119, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows Hall.

MASONIC.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, F. & A. M. Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over Post-office.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. [illegible], meets second Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

K. O. T. M.—Resort Tent No. 138, meets second Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows' Hall.

I. O. L.—True Blues No. 157, meet Saturday on or before full moon in Odd Fellows' hall.

EMMET CHAPTER No. 106, R. A. M., meets at Petoskey on the first Monday of each month.

IVANHOE COMMANDERY No. 136, K. T., meets at their Asylum in Petoskey on the first Thursday of each month.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY meets every Tuesday evening at the homes of the members, during the fall and winter months.

CHARLEVOIX IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION meets at Charlevoix Village Hall on the second Monday of each month, at 7:30 p. m.

President—Byron [illegible].
First Vice President—M. A. Smith.
Second Vice President—Robert Miller.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. J. Strang.
Financial Secretary—[illegible].
Treasurer—Albert E. Mason.
Executive Committee—J. Milo Eaton, A. H. Cruickshank and E. F. Parmelee.
Corresponding Committee—F. W. [illegible], W. A. Brown and C. T. Coon.
Reception Committee—F. W. Mayne, L. D. Bartholomew, M. J. Stockman, R. Cooper, [illegible], B. W. Miller, [illegible], W. C. Newman, E. [illegible] Clark, H. Herdan.

All those wishing information regarding Charlevoix, the largest and most thriving town in the whole Pine Lake Region, will do well to address the corresponding committee. Unequalled opportunities for all classes of manufacturing.

HOTELS AND RESTAURANTS,

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,
RICHARD COOPER, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - - - Mich.
Every convenience for the traveling public, and headquarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids Stages.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,
R. A. Campbell, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - - - Mich.
The most central location. Good Sample Room. Telephone connections. Only [illegible] Landing.

NEWMAN HOUSE.
W. C. Newman, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - - - Mich.
Fitted up with a view to the comfort of the Traveling Public. Good Stabling furnished. Central location.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,
L. N. Pearl, Prop.
East Jordan, - - - Mich.
Come and see us. Telephone connections.

BANK.

Bank of Charlevoix.

Drafts on New York, Chicago, Detroit and Grand Rapids. Bank Remittances or Postoffice Order to any person in Europe. Loans and Discounts on first mortgages on Real Estate. Railroad and Steamship Tickets to and from any place in Europe.

BROWN & CO.

PILE DRIVER.

ALLEN'S Steam Pile Driver. Contracts taken and Dock work solicited at any point between Traverse City and Mackinaw. L. R. Allen, Charlevoix, Mich.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

B. SUFFIELD, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Domestic [illegible], etc., Charlevoix, Mich.

BARBER.

JAY PRICE, Barber, east side of Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. [illegible] and J. [illegible] DIXON, Surveyors and Engineers, Charlevoix, Mich. [Deputy County Surveyors Charlevoix county.]

DENTIST.

N. J. PERRY, Dentist.
Office in Weed's Drug Store,
Charlevoix, Mich.

Fresh Stock of

GROCERIES

AT THE

NEW GROCERY,

Corner of Antrim and Grant Streets.

It is my aim to keep a full line of choice Groceries at lowest prices.

Your trade is solicited.

Butter and Eggs wanted.

A. J. MUDGE.

MILLINERY

AND

FANCY GOODS!

Mrs. ELLA SMITH & Miss ANNIE COOPER

Have opened a store in the Ingleside Building, and invite their friends to call and inspect their fine stock of

FANCY GOODS!

Of all varieties usually kept in a first-class millinery store.

Washburn & Ackert,

FOUNDREYMEN,

MACHINISTS,

And Manufacturers of The

Charlevoix Plow.

EDUCATIONAL.

All communications on educational topics should be addressed to Prof. H. M. Enos, Superintendent of the Charlevoix Schools.

The first regular meeting of the County Teachers' Association, held at the high school room last Friday evening and Saturday morning, was a very successful one. Though the number in attendance was not as large as could be desired, yet it was sufficient to encourage all interested, that the Association has a prosperous future before it. The session opened on Friday evening with a chorus sung by teachers present, assisted by some citizens. Mr. J. M. Harris followed with a paper on "School Government." He thought the term government too harsh, and chose that of management, as better indicating the means to be employed in controlling the school. He suggested as proper and efficient means to be used: First, the acquaintance of the parents. Second, endeavor to place the pupils on a level, socially, with ourselves, by cultivating carefully our manner and tone in addressing them. Third, raise their interest in the school to the highest possible standard. The paper was well received, and brought out a favorable discussion.

Miss Waterbury, of Charlevoix, then read a selection with fine expression and effect.

After a short recess, more music was rendered, and Superintendent Enos, of Charlevoix, read a paper on "Quincy Methods." He does not accept Col. Parker as the apostle of a "New Education," as claimed by his more ardent admirers, but believes that the agitation initiated by the promulgation of the Quincy Ideas, has given a new impetus to true education. The subject was treated with a view to discover the spirit which Parker carries into his work, and with which he seeks to imbue his teachers; the peculiarity of the methods employed, and, if possible, to discover whether the success of the methods are due to their intrinsic merit, or to the teacher who employs them. The speaker was led to the conclusion that the success of Col. Parker and his assistants is attributable to their earnest, enthusiastic efforts to learn the true object of education, and adopt natural methods to secure that end; in short, that any teacher of tact, will with equal industry and enthusiasm, succeed as well as Col. Parker's disciples, whether he has studied the Quincy methods or not.

The questions were then distributed, and the meeting adjourned till Friday morning.

On reassembling, the following questions were taken up: Shall we open school with Bible reading and prayer? Discussion led by Miss Seymour, who answered decidedly in the affirmative, offering good reasons for her position. There was no dissent, except that school Boards might object to or forbid, or that the state of society might make such a course productive of animosities that would defeat the purpose of the devotions.

What arguments can be offered in favor of teaching primary pupils by using script in place of print in blackboard exercises? Miss Waterbury gave some of the reasons, pro and con, showing a careful study of the subject, herself strongly leaning toward printing.

Are monthly examinations advisable in district schools? Miss Loveday thought that frequent written exercises to test the pupils on the knowledge gained, and to cultivate the power and habit of written expression is not only practicable, but very desirable. She would give these exercises not at stated periods, but at the close of each subject, or natural division of it.

Mrs. Pope gave a very interesting talk on "Notation and Numeration," showing how she would teach primary pupils that somewhat difficult subject. She used objects to illustrate the relations of the different orders of units, and showed how children may be led to comprehend those relations clearly, and express them readily and intelligently.

Mr. A. B. Nicholas, of East Jordan, took up the subject of Grammar, and how to teach it with profit. He would do little text-book work until quite late in the course; would train the child from the very first to oral, and as soon as possible to written expression of his ideas, leading rather to the proper use of language in practice, than to the study of the laws of the science.

An interesting conversation on pronunciation was then indulged in, after which the Association adjourned to meet at East Jordan on the second Friday evening in November, and the Saturday morning following.

This session of the Association has been one of great profit and interest to all who have attended. At the morning session nearly every one present had some words to offer, and all were free from the embarrassment often so painful in meetings of the kind. It is to be hoped the next meeting will show an increase in members and interest.

Every teacher should send in a question for the query box. Let us publish them and have them discussed at next Association meeting.

The report of the Charlevoix schools for the first month of the current year will be given next week. It will probably show a higher per cent. of attendance and punctuality than any that has heretofore been published.

The subject for discussion at the next meeting of our Village teachers is Primary Reading. An interchange of views will be made by teachers in various grades.

IN WIG AND GOWN.

Lady Hayward had been to London to see her lawyers about some urgent business, and, leaving Lord Hayward to entertain the guests during her short absence, had gone alone, or rather with her maid. She had staid the night in town, in order to bring with her a new dress for a ball which was to be given at the castle the following evening.

At last the carriage dashed up to the door, driven very fast, for the coachman knew it was late. The first person who emerged from it was an exceedingly quiet-looking, well-dressed young woman—the maid evidently. She quickly disappeared and was followed by Lady Hayward, who instantly seized her husband's arm.

"I want to speak to you," said Lord Hayward, "before you dress; there's just time."

He followed her up to her dressing-room, where tea was waiting on a little table by the fire. Lady Hayward's maid had just put an easy wrapper temptingly ready, and was busy getting out a dinner dress for her mistress.

"I will send for you in a few minutes, Taylor," said Lady Hayward; and the perfectly-trained servant vanished at once.

"I wonder whether it's that girl, after all!" exclaimed Lord Hayward; "yet it seems impossible."

"Don't talk enigmas," said Lady Hayward imperiously, "there isn't time. What is the matter?" She was pouring out her tea as she spoke, and now she began to sip it.

"More things have disappeared," said Lord Hayward, in a low voice, "and this time it's worse. The old Duchess has lost a big diamond ring, and your sister's diamond necklace is gone."

Lady Hayward put down her tea.

"Vernon, this is awful," she said. "What are we to do? Who can it be? It's absurd to talk about Taylor; she was with me in town."

"Ah, but we can't tell exactly what time the things were taken; she may have gotten rid of them in London. It was when you took her to town with you last that your diamond brooch went."

"So it was," said Lady Hayward. "But that makes no difference. The brooch was taken while we were away. Besides, the thing is absurd. Taylor is above suspicion. I know the girl so well. Why, Vernon, she went with me all through France and Italy when I joined you in Rome; we were always together, and I used to talk to her a great deal. She is a very superior girl. No; it would be most unjust to suspect Taylor."

"Well, there is no one else," said Lord Hayward dejectedly, "except poor little Rose Mannering."

"Poor little Rose Mannering" was the governess who took charge of their one little girl.

"Absurd!" said Lady Hayward. And so it was on the face of it. They knew Rose Mannering's family well, she was a lady, and little more than a child.

A silence followed, during which both looked into the fire for inspiration. All the servants in the house were born of families who had been for generations on the estate. The idea of suspecting any of them was too painful. Taylor was the only exception, and she had been with Lady Hayward two years.

"I begin to believe," said Lady Hayward, "that it is one of our guests."

"Good heavens, Kate, what an idea!"

"Can you suggest anything else?"

"No, I can't. There's some infernal devilry at work, but beat my brains how I will, I can't see where it comes from."

"I tell you what we must do, Vernon," said Lady Hayward decisively. "We must be very careful, not frighten any one, and keep our own counsel. Ride over to the town early to-morrow morning and telegraph to Scotland Yard for a detective to come down disguised to the ball. There will be so many people the servants won't have time to notice him. He must stop on as a visitor until he finds out something."

"That will do," exclaimed Lord Hayward.

"Now go," said Lady Hayward, ringing the bell for Taylor; "I must dress at once."

As he went out he met the maid in the doorway, and gave her a more curious look than usual. The result was only to give up his idea as preposterous. She had a very gentle, good face; her soft brown hair, brushed smoothly over her ears gave it an almost Puritanic look. Lady Hayward had made something of a friend of her, and the girl had never presumed in the least upon it, but had always retained her subdued, sweet manner.

Lady Hayward scrutinized her, too, during the process of dressing, but she shrank from the thoughts in her own mind. She had grown fond of her treasure of a maid, and felt ashamed of her quickly-suppressed suspicions.

Early the next morning the telegram was sent to Scotland Yard, by Lord Hayward, who rode over alone to send it, and waited for the answer. The reply seemed to please him, and he rode back in good spirits to a late breakfast. He even faced with moderate cheerfulness, Lady Hayward's eldest sister, who was in a frightful state about her necklace. This lady was one of his pet aversions; she was not pretty or clever, like his wife, but she was more irreproachable, more moral, more perfect, and she was an old maid. Probably she was the only person in the world of whom Lady Hayward was afraid. Miss Collette was a severe censor in all things, and kept her eye-glass well fixed on her younger sister, who had an important position to fill before the world. At present Miss Collette was very angry because she did not know what was being done about the thefts; and she held that she ought to be one of the council. But Lady Hayward was obstinate; she had found out before that the exemplary Cecilia could not hold her tongue.

This extreme discretion having been observed, the Scotland Yard detective arrived as a visitor, and no one paid any particular attention to him. He was very quiet and adopted the character of the man who does not dance, or talk, or do anything, and it answered admirably. A number of other men with superb shirt-fronts hung about the doorways and looked bored; Mr. Hawk was admirably gotten up for the purpose, and had only to mingle with these others and look as bored as they. Lady Hayward was delighted at this excellent effacement of himself and kept her eye on him with great interest. She managed to speak to him very late when the party was breaking up. He had discovered nothing so far—not even a "clew"—and she went to bed disappointed.

Visitors at Hayward Castle breakfasted, of course, at any time during the morning; but the family and household always assembled to morning prayers at a quarter to nine, and breakfast formally began directly afterwards. Mr. Hawk had learned this and was in the breakfast-room early—the only guest present. No one else turned up but Lord and Lady Hayward themselves, Rose Mannering, who always appeared with her charge at this time, and the servants. [illegible] was too tired to come down, though no one was stricter, theoretically, on the subject of family prayers. How grateful I was Lady Hayward, half an hour afterward, that her sister had been late that morning!

The servants all came in, led by the butler and the stately housekeeper, and Lord Hayward read prayers. Mr. Hawk sat very quietly in the shadow of a curtain.

With all decorum the servants filed out again, and Mr. Hawk did not move. The moment the door closed on the last of them he leaned over to Lord Hayward.

"My Lord," he said, "may the men servants watch the windows of this room outside for a few minutes? Don't ask me to explain, there's no time to lose."

The old butler came in at that moment, carrying a silver coffee-pot. Lord Hayward gave the order.

"And tell them to keep their eyes open," added Mr. Hawk. "We've got to deal with the lightest pair of heels in the kingdom."

Lady Hayward listened and looked, her heart in her mouth. What was coming next?

"Your ladyship," said Mr. Hawk, "may I send for your maid?" Lord Hayward rang instantly.

"Why should you suspect her?" protested Lady Hayward. "She is a most superior girl. She has traveled with me and I know her well. No suspicion must fall on her unless you have proofs."

Mr. Hawk rose and went anxiously to the door. The order had been given, but scarcely a moment had elapsed.

"Do you expect her to come here in less than a moment?" asked Lady Hayward, a little crossly.

Just then Taylor appeared at the door; the butler was behind her. She came in and the door was shut, the butler remaining outside. At the first glance Lady Hayward had seen a curious look on the girl's face—one she had never seen there before. But immediately she was herself again, and now she stood before Lord and Lady Hayward and the detective, perfectly quiet, without a quiver on her face.

"John," said Mr. Hawk, "this is really very wrong of you; it is an infamous trick to have played. For two years you have been wanted, and I knew you weren't out of the country; but I'd no idea you could be doing such a thing as this."

While he spoke Mr. Hawk had approached Taylor and put a pair of handcuffs on her. There had been a little by-play first; Taylor had scanned the windows and instantly saw they were guarded.

"So the game's up!" she said sullenly.

"Yes, my lady's maid, to the tune of fourteen years," answered Mr. Hawk.

"What does it mean?" cried Lady Hayward; "I can't understand!"

Mr. Hawk snatched the dainty little Parisian cap and the smooth brown wig from Taylor's head and flung them on the floor. In an instant the gentle girl's face became a man's, smooth and malleable as wax. It was not nice to look at just now. The head was covered with a dark, very, very short growth of hair.

Lady Hayward uttered a shriek and fell back in her chair.

"I'll take him off," said Mr. Hawk. "It's too much for her ladyship."

"Mr. Hawk! Mr. Hawk!" cried poor Lady Hayward, "put on his wig and take him away as a woman! I'll give you anything—anything, if you'll do that!"

Mr. Hawk seemed suddenly to understand.

"Your ladyship may depend on me," he said solemnly, and he put the wig and cap on again with the greatest solemnity.

"Vernon," exclaimed Lady Hayward hysterically, the moment the door was shut, "promise you'll keep the secret—don't tell anyone—don't tell Cecilia. Vernon, are you a brute? I believe you are laughing."—London World.

Food and Temperament.

The good housekeeper shows her wisdom by the well-being of the inmates of her home, physically first, then mentally and morally. She knows that home cannot be kept worthy and happy without effort. She studies the temperament of each member of the family, and furnishes him or her with the food needed. The sanguine and full-blooded require one kind; the nervous and wiry another. Good taste rules the serving of the viands, but the viands are first selected to build up muscle and nourish brain, not to pamper and enervate. Otherwise energy, capacity and integrity are weakened, and the power to do good work has gone.

It is related by a gentleman who had an appointment to breakfast with the late A. T. Stewart, that the butler placed before them both an elaborate bill of fare. The visitor selected a list of rare dishes, and was quite abashed when Mr. Stewart said: "Bring my usual breakfast; oatmeal and boiled eggs." He then explained to his friend that he found simple food a necessity to him; otherwise he could not think clearly. That unobscured brain applied to nobler ends would have won higher results, but the principle remains the same.—Mrs. Hester M. Poole, in Good Housekeeping.

Returning for a moment to the musical theme, the criticisms that one hears on these classical symphony occasions are simply charming. The historian heard a young lady remark that she did so enjoy dear Del Puente in "La Sonnambula," because he always wore such exquisitely-fitting gloves. Her neighbors at the concert discovered that the same young lady has a pet aversion to one of our well-known bass soloists, because when delivering an aria he always rises first on one toe and then on the other in vain endeavors to shake a cent down his trousers pocket! It is an actual fact that a swell young man, after hearing Charles R. Adams sing the part of Odysseus at the Cecilia the other night, was asked how he enjoyed it, and replied: "O, very much! I've always known of Charles Francis Adams, but I never heard him sing before!"—Boston Record.

An Eastern drummer who was in Knoxville listened to the complaints of a mountaineer about hard times for ten or fifteen minutes, and then observed: "Why, man, you ought to get rich shipping green corn to the Northern markets." "Yes, I orter," was the reply. You have the land, I suppose, and can get the seed?" "Yes." "Then why don't you go into the speculation?" "No use, stranger," sadly replied the native; "the old woman is too darned lazy to do the plowing and planting."—Wall Street News

Thousands Say So.

Mr. T. W. Atkins, Girard, Kan., writes: "I never hesitate to recommend your Electric Bitters to my customers, they give entire satisfaction and are rapid sellers." Electric Bitters are the purest and best medicine known and will positively cure Kidney and Liver complaints. Purify the blood and regulate the bowels. No family can afford to be without them. They will save hundreds of dollars in doctor's bills every year. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Dr. G. W. Crouter and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

A Walking Skeleton.

Mr. E. Springer, of Mechanicsburg, Pa., writes: "I was afflicted with lung fever and abscess on lungs, and reduced to a walking Skeleton. Got a free trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which did me so much good that I bought a dollar bottle. After using three bottles, found myself once more a man, completely restored to health, with a hearty appetite, and a gain in flesh of 48 lbs." Call at Dr. G. W. Crouter's and Crouter & Harris' Drug Store and get a free trial bottle of this certain cure for all Lung Diseases. Large bottles $1.

TIME CARDS OF STEAMERS.

Charlevoix and East Jordan.
STR. GAZELLE ... Capt. John Mac[illegible]
[illegible]

Charlevoix and Boyne City.
STR. CLARA BELLE ... Capt. Robert O'Neil.
[illegible]

East Jordan and Charlevoix.
STR. NORTH STAR ... Capt. F. Carey.
[illegible]

Harbor Springs, Charlevoix & E. Jordan.
STR. THOS. FRIANT ... Capt. R. Vandermoor
[illegible]

NORTHERN MICHIGAN LINE.
PROP. CHAMPLAIN ... Capt. Edw. Carey
[illegible]

PROP. LAWRENCE ... Capt. Geo. Tan[illegible]
[illegible]

Upright & Emrey, agents, Charlevoix.

HANNAH, LAY & CO'S BOATS.
CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS ... Capt. O. E. Wilson.
[illegible]

T. S. FAXTON ... Capt. A. G. Aldrich.
[illegible]

J. L. [illegible], Agents, Charlevoix.

Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad.

IN EFFECT SEPTEMBER 27, 1885.

(Trains run on Central Standard Time.)

GOING SOUTH.

Stations.	Mail.	Express.	Freight.
Mackinaw City	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Petoskey	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Boyne Falls	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Mancelona	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Walton June	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Cadillac	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Reed City	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Big Rapids	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Howard City	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
D & H & M Cross	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Grand Rapids	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Kalamazoo	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Sturgis	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Ft Wayne	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Richmond	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Cincinnati	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

GOING NORTH.

Stations.	Mail.	Express.	Freight.
Cincinnati, leave	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Richmond	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Fort Wayne	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Sturgis	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Grand Rapids	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
D., G. H. & M. Cross	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Howard City	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Big Rapids	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Reed City	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Cadillac	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Walton June	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Mancelona	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Boyne Falls	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Petoskey	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Mackinaw City	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

A. B. LOCKWOOD, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

RIFENBURG MILLING CO.

Charlevoix, Mich.

Manufacturers of and Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

3 EXTRA GRADES OF

FLOUR

Feed, Corn Meal, Graham

CASH FOR WHEAT.

We will exchange work for farmers on short notice.

GELLICK & INGALLS

Dealers in

Choice Wines,

Fine Liquors

EXCELLENT CIGARS.

We call Special Attention to our

Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

We also keep continually on draught

Milwaukee Export and lager Beer.

Bridge St., 1st door south of Sentinel.

The Kalamazoo

"DAILY TELEGRAPH,"

Contains the Associated Press Dispatches

Sent by Mail at 50c a month.

--THE--

Best Show!

---OF---

STOVES.

The ROUND OAK,
And SQUARE BASE
HEATING STOVES.

COMPLETE STOCK OF NEW HARDWARE.

JOB & TIN WORK. VERY BEST PUMPS.

L. D. Bartholomew & Co.

THE BEST

Drugs, Confectionery, Stationery,

BOOKS & PAPERS,

FISHING TACKLE, Etc,

Soda Water, Mineral Water, Cigars,

Are found at PERRY WEED'S.

The only News stand in town.

BURNS & SCROGGIE'S

LIVERY STABLE

CHARLEVOIX.

The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Drivers furnished if desired. Rates low.

Burns & Scroggie, Charlevoix.

C. R. Bellinger,

--THE--

JEWELER,

HAS JUST RECEIVED A FULL LINE OF

JEWELRY,

Clocks, Watches

Etc., Etc.

HELLO

EVERYBODY

Says that Advance Has The Best

HARNESS MAKER!

In The County.

Call and see him. He is found in the person of

F. J. CUTTER.

J. T. Kirkpatrick,

ARCHITECT

AND CONTRACTOR,

—ON—

Charlevoix Summer Resorts.

I have the Plans of 10 Cottages of different designs that can be seen by parties wanting to build cottages.

I employ only first-class workmen, both

Carpenters and Painters.

Work intrusted to my care will have prompt attention

J. T. KIRKPATRICK.

Take The Sentinel.

Fox & Miller

Offer a

Mammoth Stock

OF

BOOTS, SHOES

and other

FOOT WEAR,

--AT--

LOWER PRICES

Than can be found elsewhere in the County.

We have just secured a

FIRST-CLASS

SHOEMAKER,

And will make Repairing a specialty.

We have the Goods and we are bound to sell them.

NOTHING SHODDY.

Fox & Miller.

MONEY TO LOAN,

At current rates of interest, on

Approved Real Estate Security.

School Bonds bought and sold.

MILEY & CHAPIN,

Boyne City.

BATH & BARBER ROOMS.

Hot and Cold Baths and Sea Water Baths in the Barber Shop 1st door north of Bridge St. House.

If you want a quiet place to get a shave, hair dress or bath call and see me.

JAY L. PRICE.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

SMITH & PARMELEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX, : MICHIGAN.

THE house in which General Hancock was born near Lonsdale, Pa., was burned a few days ago.

A LITTLE girl defined "nettles" as "things that burn all over." What dictionary ever told it better?

JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL will deliver the oration at the 250th anniversary of Harvard, which will be observed with unusual honors early in November.

TINY violins, enameled in perfect imitation of their prototype, are a passing fancy with ladies for lace pins. Very suggestive of a beau, we should say.

A POTATO and carrot firmly grown together so that it is impossible to tell where the potato begins and the carrot ends is one of the vegetable freaks exhibited by an Indiana farmer.

CHIMNEY ROCK, in the Blue Ridge mountains in Maryland, is a misnomer no longer. It's a veritable chimney now, with plenty of smoke, and Maryland has its own volcano now—or a very clever liar.

IT has been discovered that the bill passed by Congress authorizing the construction of a public building at Jacksonville, Fla., to cost $250,000, did not make one cent of an appropriation to build it.

THE Cincinnati Memorial Association is circulating a petition asking the General Assembly of Ohio to appropriate $25,000 for a monument to President William Henry Harrison, whose grave near that city is very much neglected.

CAPTAIN ROBERT W. ANDREWS, of Sumter S. C., who is ninety-six years old, a few days ago finished his second summer pedestrian tour to Boston. In the last two years Captain Andrews has walked over seven thousand miles.

ABOUT twenty years ago Charles Lawton, of Massachusetts, sent a dollar bill off in a letter, and it never reached its destination. Having made due allowance for all probable delays, he now feels it his duty to begin suit against Uncle Sam for the lost money.

THE utterance, "To the victors belong the spoils," has generally been ascribed to Andrew Jackson, but it is now shown that it was first used by William L. Marcy, of New York, in the debate in the United States Senate on the nomination of Mr. Van Buren by Jackson to be Minister to England.

THE harm caused by the recent volcanic disturbance in New Zealand has now been pretty accurately ascertained. An area of two thousand square miles is covered three inches deep with volcanic dust, for four hundred square miles the country is wholly destroyed, and sixteen hundred miles are much damaged.

THE acting Secretary of War has received a dispatch from the Indian Agent at the San Carlos Agency stating that the removal of the Warm Spring and Chiricahua Indians is a cause of rejoicing to the Indians left there, who are relieved of their fears of attack and are afforded better opportunity for acquiring habits of industry.

THEODORE G. HIBLETT, an aged citizen of Niagara Falls, went before the sanitary board at Buffalo recently and explained his system of imbedding fruit and bodies of animals in cement, by which they were changed into a substance resembling stone, preserving the original color. His will provides that his corpse shall be treated by this process.

THE Northern Sioux have decided to establish mail and transportation routes throughout the frontier region on the co-operative principle, the work to be done by the young men of the nation. As all the labor will be performed on foot, young warriors are now in training for their part in the enterprise. Each runner is to make seventy-five miles per week.

HOW costly and demoralizing to the industries of a country are civil commotions is clearly shown in the recent message of President Terra to the Uruguayan Congress. In order to cover the deficit caused by the recent revolution, the Government is forced to issue an internal loan for $2,000,000, and largely to increase customs tariff. The annual revenue of the Republic is about $12,000,000, and there is an existing debt of some $60,000,000, so that the deficit noted is a serious matter for the Government.

REV. DR. C. A. BARTOL, of Boston, alluding to recent defalcations, said: "The badness of the bad shall never prejudice my mind against the goodness of the good, the purity of the pure, the honor of the honorable. There have been one or two defalcations on a great scale lately in Boston. Consider how many in places of trust (10,000 and more in this city) there are who do not default even by a cent. Nay, I who have lived more than seventy years, say that I have found 10,000 honest men to one dishonest."

THE experts who have examined the ruins caused by the earthquake in Charleston, S. C., are free to say that the buildings were poorly constructed, and that it is not surprising that they caved when the quake came along. They say that the mortar was poor, and in other respects the material used in the construction was of an inferior quality. After an earthquake has shaken down a few thousand buildings it is very easy to put the blame on the builders. What this country wants, in our opinion, is milder earthquakes.

EPITOME OF THE WEEK.

Interesting News Compilation.

FROM WASHINGTON.

IN the United States and Canada the total number of failures during the three months ended on the 30th ult. was 1,932, against 2,178 in the third quarter of 1885, a decrease of 246. The liabilities amounted to [illegible] against $[illegible] in the corresponding quarter of 1885.

THE public-debt statement for September is as follows: Total debt (including interest), $1,742,[illegible]; less cash items available for reduction of debt, and reserve bills for redemption of United States notes ($[illegible]), $1,[illegible]; cash in treasury, $[illegible]; debt, less amount in treasury, $1,[illegible]. Decrease during September, $10,627,012.

IT was stated on the 1st by Captain Lawton, who was in command of the United States troops at the time of the capture of Geronimo, that the surrender was unconditional, thus contradicting General Miles' report that Geronimo was not captured but surrendered conditionally.

DURING September the total coinage executed at the mints of the United States was $5,070,035.50, of which $2,810,100 was in standard silver dollars.

IT was stated by the Comptroller of the Currency on the 2d that there was a decrease during September of $1,155,593 in the amount of national bank notes outstanding. The decrease since October 1, 1885, aggregates $17,810,652. The amount outstanding now is $[illegible].

THE business failures in the United States during the week ended on the 2d numbered 236, against 150 in the preceding week.

THERE was $242,609,018 in gold coin and bullion in the treasury September 30, as compared with $235,430,635 the 31st of the previous month.

THE exchanges at twenty-six leading clearing-houses in the United States during the week ended on the 2d aggregated $1,055,246,270, against $[illegible],613,345 the previous week. As compared with the corresponding week of 1885, the increase amounts to 21.9 per cent.

THE special delivery-system of the Post-office Department was extended on the 2d

THE EAST.

AT the State convention of the Massachusetts Republicans held at Boston on the 29th ult. Oliver Ames was nominated for Governor. The platform favors the submission to the people of a constitutional amendment to prohibit the manufacture and sale of liquor; denounces the importation of foreign pauper labor; favors Civil-Service reform; opposes all horizontal reductions of the tariff, and denounces Congress for its failure to enact a Bankruptcy law, to repeal the Silver-Coinage law and to provide for coast defenses.

CONGRESSMEN were nominated in the following districts on the 29th ult.: Republicans—Massachusetts, Seventh, William Cogswell; Tenth, W. W. Rice (renominated); New York, Thirty-fourth, W. G. Laidlaw; New Jersey, Fifth, William Walter Phelps (renominated). Democrats—Pennsylvania, First, John Chambers; Second, W. E. Thomas; Third, Samuel J. Randall (renominated); Fifth, W. G. Smith; New York, Fourteenth, W. G. Stahlnecker (renominated); New Jersey, First, J. W. Westcott. Prohibitionists—Rhode Island, First, A. C. Howard; Second, A. B. Chance.

BY the explosion of a packing-house at the Ditmar Powder Works at Baychester, N. Y., four men were instantly killed on the 30th ult.

AT the State convention of the Massachusetts Democrats held at Worcester on the 30th ult. John F. Andrews was nominated for Governor. The platform adopted indorses President Cleveland's Administration, demands a judicious reform of the tariff and protection of the fishing interests.

UPON pleading guilty on the 30th ult. William E. Gould, the defaulting cashier of a bank in Portland, Me., was sentenced to imprisonment for ten years.

PROHIBITIONISTS on the 1st nominated Rev. Daniel C. Knowles for Congress in the First New Hampshire district, and in the First Massachusetts district, George W. Dyer.

THREE boys out of five were drowned in Lynn (Mass.) harbor on the 1st by the capsizing of a boat.

OFFICERS captured D. M. Cadwick, a notorious counterfeiter, at Albany, N. Y., on the 1st while in the act of making base coin.

MRS. OLIVE C. CLARKE, who was born at Williamsburg, Mass., in 1785, celebrated the 101st anniversary of her birth at Springfield, Mass., on the 2d.

GEORGE BANCROFT, the historian, was eighty-six years of age on the 3d.

GEORGE D. STITZEL was on the 2d nominated for Congress by the Eighth Pennsylvania district Republicans.

OTTO BAUMANN, receiving teller in the Union Dime Savings Bank of New York City, was discovered on the 2d to be a defaulter to the amount of $20,000.

WITH a view of breaking up the hard-coal combination, the Governor of Pennsylvania on the 2d called the attention of the Attorney-General to the fact that the State constitution prohibits carrying companies from engaging in mining or manufacturing articles for transportation over their roads.

WEST AND SOUTH.

CONGRESSIONAL nominations were made as follows on the 30th ult.: Republicans—Louisiana, Third district, J. S. Davidson (colored); Missouri, Eighth district, J. K. Cummings; Texas, First district, H. D. Johnson; Sixth, A. B. Norton. Democrats—Louisiana, First district, F. G. Wilkinson; Ohio, Eighteenth district, W. H. Phelps; Twentieth, William Dorsey; Twenty-first, Martin A. Foran (renominated); Missouri, Eighth district, J. J. O'Neill (renominated); Minnesota, Third district, J. L. McDonald; Illinois, Fourteenth district, William Voorhees; Virginia, Fourth district, M. Page; Dakota, M. H. Day. Labor—Virginia, Sixth district, J. B. Page. Prohibitionist—Illinois, Eighteenth district, W. H. Moore; Greenbacker—Iowa, Sixth district, Dr. Nelson.

THE Supreme Court of Illinois on the 30th ult. denied a motion for a writ of habeas corpus to secure the release of Joseph C. Mackin, of Chicago, from the penitentiary.

ANDREW LUCAS, born in slavery in Tennessee, where he was a servant of General Jackson, died on the 30th ult. at Brantford, Ont., at the remarkable age of 128 years.

LAKE MICHIGAN was swept by a gale on the night of the 29th ult., and several disasters to vessels were reported.

A SERIES of five base-ball games is to be played between the Chicago and St. Louis clubs for the championship of the world.

THERE is, it is said, a pronounced movement among Western Knights of Labor to prevent strikes and boycotts in the future.

AT Marquette, Mich., a snow-storm accompanied by a heavy gale prevailed on the 30th ult.

IN memory of Schuyler Colfax, the founder of the Rebekkah degree of the Odd-Fellows, the members of that order will erect a monument in Indianapolis, Ind., on the 13th of May next.

CHARLES EDWARDS (colored) was hanged at New Orleans on the 1st for the murder of his mistress.

A MOB at Steeleville, Mo., on the 1st took from jail P. F. Wallace, suspected of the murder of the Logan family, and suspended him for a time, but handed him back to the officers on the appeals of leading citizens.

AT Hamilton, Mo., ten business buildings were destroyed by fire on the 1st, the loss being $50,000.

CONGRESSIONAL nominations made on the 1st were: Prohibitionists—Missouri, Eighth district, James H. Harris; Ninth, William P. Wilson; Tenth, Emerson R. Grant. Democrat—Arkansas, First district, Samuel W. Peel (renominated).

CHEBOYGAN, Mich., was visited by a furious snow-storm on the 1st, and throughout the Northwest the weather was cold and the frost heavy.

AN explosion at Bringhurst, Ind., on the 1st, caused by a merchant named McKeatus accidentally dropping a lighted cigar into a keg of powder, wrecked the structure, killed a customer and fatally wounded two other persons.

AT Beaver Dam, O., three members of the family of Samuel Weaver were on the 1st lying at the point of death, and four others were rapidly sinking, from the effects of eating diseased pork.

EARLY on the morning of the 1st slight shocks of earthquake were felt at Charleston and Summerville, S. C. No damage was done.

AT Plaquemine, La., four acres of land caved into the Mississippi river on the 1st, completing the wreck of the front portion of the town.

THE standing of the National League base-ball clubs at the close of the week ended on the 2d was as follows: Chicago, games won, 87; lost, 31. Detroit, won, 82; lost, 34. New York, won, 70; lost, 43. Philadelphia, won, 67; lost, 42. Boston, won, 52; lost, 59. St. Louis, won, 43; lost, 73. Kansas City, won, 29; lost, 81. Washington won 23; lost, 87.

AT Quincy, Fla., on the 2d two men suspected of firing a saw-mill were lynched.

FROSTS were reported on the 3d to have badly damaged the tobacco crop in sections of the South.

THERE had been up to the 3d thirty-one earthquake shocks at Charleston, S. C., since August 27. Of these five shocks were very destructive.

CONGRESSMEN nominated on the 2d were: G. W. E. Dorsey (Rep.) in Third district of Nebraska; Samuel A. Miller (Dem.) in the First Utah district; Hugh Shields (Dem.), in the Second; M. D. Logan (Dem.), in the Second Louisiana district.

IN Northern Michigan snow fell on the 2d to the depth of three inches.

IN a series of base-ball games for the Northwestern League pennant the Duluths won first place, Eau Claire second, Oshkosh fourth, St. Paul fifth and Minneapolis sixth.

THE age of Miss Louisa Weeks, whose funeral took place in Chicago on the 2d, was one hundred years. She was born in Maine, and for some years was the head of a Shaker village.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

THE volcano of Colima, in Mexico, had on the 29th ult. again become active, making the third time within a year. The people in the surrounding villages were greatly alarmed.

IT was reported on the 30th ult. from Victoria, B. C., that a valuable gold find had been made close to the boundary between British Columbia and Alaska, and that already the quantity taken out had realized $24,000.

THE stations of the German Lifeboat Association now number one hundred and during the last year 1,578 lives were saved.

IT was reported on the 30th ult. that the cod and herring catch on the Newfoundland and Labrador coasts was a failure. The consequent destitution this winter would be widespread.

MANDUAS advices of the 1st say that floods were devastating the Godavery district. Some villagers tried to cut a dam to relieve their own village of water at the expense of other villages, when a fierce fight ensued, in which one hundred natives were killed.

AT several points in Ontario on the 1st very cold weather and snow were reported.

THERE were six deaths from cholera and twenty new cases reported in Austro-Hungary on the 1st, and in Italy five deaths and nineteen new cases.

REPORTS received on the 1st state that thirty Russian sympathizers had been whipped to death in Bulgaria.

A CONVICT in the Quebec penitentiary was given thirty lashes on the 1st for an attempt to escape.

AT Madrid, Spain, fourteen revolutionists were on the 2d sentenced to death.

IN the central portion of Germany violent shocks of earthquake occurred recently.

IN a colliery near Wakefield, Eng., an explosion on the 2d caused the loss of twenty-four lives.

LATER.

THE September fire loss in the United States and Canada was $8,500,000, a slight decrease from the average September loss of previous years. Up to October 1 the aggregate fire waste in 1886 was $83,000,000, against $71,500,000 for the same period of 1885.

THE cholera returns from Austro-Hungary on the 4th were: Trieste, 14 new cases, 3 deaths; Pesth, 17 new cases, 6 deaths.

THE paper currency outstanding on the 4th comprised $300,182,437 in national bank notes and $346,681,016 in greenbacks.

THE issue of the new one-dollar silver certificates began at Washington on the 4th. The demand for these notes was already very great, and the treasury officials expected it would continue for months.

IT was believed on the 4th that the schooner Seth Stockbridge, a Gloucester (Mass.) vessel, had been lost with a crew of sixteen.

PARIS GREEN, which had been spread on the cotton fields to kill worms on the Foster place, Bossier Parish, La., poisoned a number of field hands, causing their death on the 4th.

DURING the nine months ended September 30 there were 7,582 business failures in the United States, against 8,431 in the same period of 1885. The total liabilities amounted to $77,110,614, against $90,978,[illegible] in the preceding nine months.

THE Chicago Labor League on the 4th made the following Congressional nominations: First district, Edgar Terhune; Second, Frank Lawler; Third, W. E. Mason; Fourth, William McNally.

ADVICES of the 4th from Algeria reported that forty Arabs had been drowned by floods at Laghouat.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL GARLAND resumed his duties at the Department of Justice in Washington on the 4th.

THE Woman's National Equal Suffrage Association met at Leavenworth, Kan., on the 4th. Susan B. Anthony and other well-known advocates of woman suffrage were present.

A monster home-rule petition was on the 4th presented to Mr. Gladstone by Irish ladies.

FOUR grocers were fined fifty dollars each on the 4th at Cincinnati for violating the State Butterine law.

A SLIGHT shock of earthquake was experienced in San Francisco about eight o'clock on the morning of the 4th.

THE tenth annual convention of the Knights of Labor assembled at Richmond, Va., on the 4th. Governor Fitzhugh Lee welcoming the delegates to the city and State. General Master Workman Powderly then delivered his address, remarking that it should be the duty of the Knights of Labor to clutch anarchy by the throat with one hand, and strangle monopoly with the other.

WAR ON THE COAL KINGS.

Governor Pattison Makes an Attack on the Great Combination—The Oppression of the Pool Set Forth in Strong Terms—A Suit Likely to Be Brought.

HARRISBURG, PA., Oct. 4.—Governor Pattison has written a letter to the Attorney-General of the State requesting him to begin proceedings in the courts against the anthracite coal pool, and it is understood that the Attorney-General will take immediate action. The Governor in his letter recalls the facts that the pool was formed in New York December 31, 1884, by the Lackawanna, Lehigh Valley, Reading, Lake Erie and Pennsylvania coal companies, the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company, and the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company, corporations chartered by the State of Pennsylvania; that at that time an agreement was entered into by which six of these corporations were in effect pledged in writing to restrict and regulate the production of coal and to maintain and advance its price; that an apportionment of the total production was then allotted to each company for the year 1885, and on January 1, 1886, a new allotment went into operation based on an annual production of 33,500,000 tons.

The Governor, after referring to the advance in the price of coal since July 2, says:

"Recently through the officers of a syndicate of capitalists there has been a strengthening of the authority of the anthracite coal combination, and the claim is now made by some of its members that they can mark up coal prices to any figure they please, thereby subjecting the public to their mercy, injudiciously and unwarrantably taxing every fireside, and imposing upon coal consumers the financial burden which the speculations of some of those companies have engendered, although the State constitution declares that 'no corporated company doing the business of a common carrier shall directly or indirectly prosecute or engage in mining or manufacturing articles for transportation over its lines;' yet all, or nearly all, of the common carriers represented in the anthracite coal combination are engaged directly or indirectly in mining.

"The anthracite coal regions of the State are practically under the control of this combination. For long periods it has kept the miners running on three-quarters time, thus putting nearly 100,000 workers on what amounted to three-quarter pay, and, by hindering competition, it has restricted the developing of our mineral wealth. It has advanced or depressed the price of coal as best suited its purpose. It has maintained the prices of coal supplied to town and to city trade at prices ranging more than one dollar per ton over and above the price at which it sold the same article to consumers located farther from the mines but in territory that did not come within the terms of the agreement.

"It has advanced the charges for transportation in face of the fact that the net earnings of the carrying companies belonging to the combination amounted to about nineteen per cent. per annum of the cost of the roads and their equipment, and of the further fact that charges are higher than they were twenty-six years ago, though the cost of transporting a ton of freight does not to-day amount to more than one-third of its cost at that time. By restricting production and advancing prices it has crippled the vast iron interests, decreasing the demand for anthracite coal in the reduction of iron ores, forcing iron furnaces out of blast, and placing nearly all the industries of Eastern Pennsylvania at the mercy of the managers of these companies."

The Governor then refers to the trunk-line pool and says:

"It destroys competition by bringing every modest enterprise under the supervision of a trunk-line commissioner, and practically unites all the lines under one control. To give an artificial stimulus to traffic it arbitrarily raises or lowers its charges for transportation, adjusting its freight rates upon a basis which will purchase peace among its members. It exacts from the profits of shipment all that the traffic will bear, and sometimes more than it will bear, doing this without reasonable regard to the cost of service or the rights of shippers. It causes violent fluctuations in prices, making all trade dependent upon its convenience and holding a perpetual menace over the material interests of the country.

"Against such combinations the individual is helpless. The commonwealth of Pennsylvania in creating corporations that are members of the anthracite coal combination and of the trunk-line pool vested them with the right of eminent domain and other franchises of a public nature. They owe certain duties to their creator, and one of these is to avoid any infringement upon the rights of individuals or the general well-being of the State. Their interference with the natural current and conditions of trade has been in violation of what is believed to be sound public policy and against the best interests of the State. It prejudices the public and oppresses individuals. It is a perversion of the purpose for which they were created. These facts, which have been reported to me and mentionably authenticated, I deem of sufficient importance to refer to you for your consideration and such action as the circumstances may warrant."

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.—The action of Governor Pattison in instructing the Attorney-General of the State to institute legal proceedings against the six greatest coal carrying railroads of the United States to prevent the contemplated advance of fifteen cents a ton in the price of coal after October 1 will be of far-reaching importance, not only to the rival railroads which have entered into the treaty but to the coal consumers of the entire country. It was a part of the agreement between the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, Lehigh Valley, Philadelphia & Reading, New York, Lake Erie & Western, Delaware & Hudson and the Pennsylvania that the output of coal should in future be restricted and rates rigidly sustained at the higher prices. Governor Pattison's proceedings will be based on the law of Pennsylvania forbidding the consolidation or combination of corporations which compete for business in the State. The application of the law to the present contract is likely to lead to a legal conflict, which will employ the talents of the best corporation lawyers of the country.

Damages for Horses Killed.

PEKIN, ILL., Oct. 4.—A verdict for $2,169 was rendered for the plaintiff Friday night in the suit of Christian Zehr, of Lille, this county against the Live-Stock Commission of the State to recover $5,000 for killing four horses supposed to have been glandered. The case is one of great interest, as it was the first test of live-stock commission law. The plaintiffs claimed that the old law which gave compensation was not repealed when the new one was passed, and therefore is still in force. The board will take an appeal. Meanwhile, in order to prevent the bringing of other suits against the State, glandered horses will be quarantined and not killed.

Robbed a Dime Savings Bank.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—On Saturday, September 4, Otto Baumann, receiving teller of the Union Dime Savings Institution, left the bank with the understanding that he was to have a vacation of two weeks. On the Monday following he appeared at the bank for the purpose, as said, of correcting a mistake in his books. He pored over the books a few moments and then disappeared. He has not been seen since. Several days after he had gone an item in his book aroused suspicion and a deficit of $19,152 was discovered. Since then the police have been vainly searching for him.

Gold and Bullion.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The total gold and bullion in the treasury September 30 was $242,609,018, as compared with $235,430,635 on the 31st of the previous month. The net gold in the treasury, after deducting gold certificates in the treasury, cash, and in circulation, September 30 was $157,917,211, as compared with $157,782,283 on the 31st of the previous month.

A Sale of New Corn at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, MD., Oct. 4.—The first corn of the new crop, white, was sold on 'Change Saturday. It was in good condition and brought fifty cents per bushel.

A GREAT FAILURE.

The Well-Known Chicago Wholesale Dry-Goods Firm Goes to the Wall, with Liabilities of $825,000 and Assets of Nearly $1,000,000—Cause of the Crash.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—A. S. Gage & Co., the well known wholesale and retail millinery and dry-goods house, failed yesterday. Approximately the liabilities are $825,000 and the assets $1,000,000. The immediate cause of the suspension was Mr. Gage's inability to raise $5,000 to satisfy a claim of H. B. Claflin & Co., of New York, which Mr. Franks, Western manager agent of that firm, was pressing. Aware that an attachment would issue yesterday morning in favor of the claim of Claflin & Co., and this would be quickly followed by other attachments for larger and smaller amounts, the firm made an assignment to H. J. McFarland. The papers had hardly been made out when the sheriff arrived to serve the attachment, but found the doors closed against him. At this time there were several hundred customers in the store, and these were kept imprisoned during the efforts to keep out the sheriff and his deputies. Entrance was finally effected by the latter, and both the assignee and officers of the law held joint possession during the afternoon. Judge Prendergast's court was in session, and to it was referred the task of determining the question of possession.

The court having confirmed Mr. McFarland as assignee, the deputy sheriffs were obliged to withdraw and leave him in possession. The store will be reopened this morning by Mr. McFarland and business continued as before. The assets of the firm are estimated at nearly $1,000,000. Of this amount about $200,000 is represented by the retail stock of dry goods and millinery, $200,000 by the wholesale millinery goods, and $500,000 by unpaid accounts. No exact figures could be obtained either as to the accounts or the liabilities. The latter lie mostly in New York, Boston and Philadelphia, and represent goods purchased and money borrowed.

The causes of the failure are said to be decline in the value of goods, lack of practical knowledge of the retail trade, vastly increased expenses, and the falling due of large claims of Eastern firms of whom, when the retail business was begun, goods were bought on six months' time.

In commercial circles it was rumored that the credit of the firm has been questioned for twelve months or more. About the time the concern changed from wholesale to retail dealing, which was last March, intimations of its shaky condition were afloat, but Mr. Gage declared there was no foundation for them. It is said to be true, nevertheless, that at no time within four years has the firm been easy financially. It has been doing a business of about $2,000,000 a year, and of late the daily receipts have been from $3,000 to $5,000.

Mr. A. S. Gage was questioned and said: "I was being pressed by creditors till the pressure became, as I thought, unendurable, when I made an assignment for the benefit of my creditors."

The house of A. S. Gage & Co. is one of the oldest in the city. It was founded in the early part of 1857 under the firm name of Webster & Gage. Shortly before the great fire of 1871 the firm name was changed to Gage Bros. & Co., the original members retiring. Mr. A. S. Gage, son of Seth Gage, of Gage Bros. & Co., and nephew of John N. Gage, the original founder of the house, shortly after this took the helm, and the house became known as A. S. Gage & Co. About five years ago they moved into their present quarters the large and handsome structure on the corner of Wabash avenue and Adams street.

FOUR AWFUL DEATHS.

The Explosion of a Powder-Magazine in New York State Literally Blows Four Men to Fragments.

BARTON-ON-THE-SOUND, N. Y., Oct. 1.—A terrific explosion occurred at the Ditmar Powder Works, at Baychester, of the Harlem river branch of the New York & New Haven railroad, about ten o'clock yesterday morning, resulting in the instantaneous death of four men employed in the factory. The explosion occurred in the packing-house, a one-story building, twenty by thirty feet in the center of the grounds and about 200 yards from the main factory, a large building near the water, where the bulk of the giant powder and nitro-glycerine used in the new aqueduct works is manufactured. The men were hard at work putting up and packing cartridges, when suddenly and without warning the explosion occurred, shattering the building to splinters and blowing the four men to fragments. The exploding powder, of which there was a large quantity, shot up into the air as high as fifty feet and splinters of the building were blown over a mile distant.

The names of the men killed are as follows: Ernest Draken, John Rasch, Max Shulholt, Mr. Reinhart. Nothing was left of them except the fragments of their bodies. Their hands, legs, feet, arms and pieces of skulls, back bones and charred bits of flesh were scattered in every direction from 500 to 600 feet from the packing-house.

Max Cruger, foreman of the works, says the explosion was caused by two men shooting into the building. He was in the packing-house at the time, and, going out, found two men, who said they were shooting squirrels. He says he threatened them with arrest, and they then became impudent. As the explosion occurred the men were seen hurrying away.

The main factory of the Ditmar works was badly wrecked, one end being blown to pieces, exposing the interior. After the explosion the lower timbers of the building took fire and burned fiercely. A large tree near by was torn up by the roots and branches of other trees were blown away. The ground around for half a mile was strewn with fragments of the dead, splinters, packing paper, etc. The violence of the explosion shook houses in Barlow, across the creek from Baychester. Many windows in John Elliott's Bay View Hotel at Phelam Bridge, over a mile away, were broken. Thomas Hinwoodie's blacksmith shop at Westchester was shaken violently, and the windows in many houses in the same village were broken.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—It is said that the shocks felt in Westchester County and portions of Eastern Connecticut yesterday morning were due to the explosion of dynamite at Baychester, Westchester County, N. Y.

For the World's Championship.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 1.—President Von der Ahe, of the St. Louis American Association Base-ball Club, has received a letter from President A. G. Spalding, of the Chicago National League Club, accepting the former's challenge to play a series of nine games for the championship of the world, the winners to take the total gross gate receipts. Four of the games are to be played in Chicago, four in St. Louis and the ninth on neutral grounds. Mr. Von der Ahe says it will be impossible for his club, owing to a previous challenge, to play more than five games with the Chicagos, but otherwise Mr. Spalding's plan is acceptable.

Mother and Child Killed.

READING, PA., Oct. 1.—Yesterday morning Mrs. Mary Wagner, of Bingen, Lehigh County, went to the depot at that place to attend the Allentown fair. She had with her a five-year-old daughter. The child wandered on the track unnoticed by its mother. Then a fast express train came along. Mrs. Wagner saw the peril of her child and ran out on the track, grabbed up the little one, and proceeded to run away, when she was caught by the cow-catcher. She dropped the child and the little one's head was cut off. Mrs. Wagner was then drawn under the train and her body mangled in a horrible manner. Her death was instantaneous.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

The Detroit grain and produce quotations are: Wheat—No. 1 White, 79¼@79½c; No. 2 Red, 79¼@79½c; Flour—Michigan White Wheat, choice, $5.00@5.25; roller process, $4.25@4.50; patents $4.75@5.00. Corn—No. 2, 19½@19¾c. Oats—No. 2, 27¾@28c. Butter—Creamery, 25@26c. Cheese, 10@11c. Eggs, 14@15c.

Work is progressing rapidly on the Butters & Peters logging railroad through the southern part of Mason County.

Mrs. John Croy, of Farwell, Clare County, was fooling with a didn't-know-it-was-loaded revolver a few days ago when it was accidentally discharged. The ball went through one of her fingers, passed through her husband's arm and finally lodged in her daughter's foot. None were dangerously injured.

Bears are said to be numerous in Gladwin County.

Incendiaries recently set fire to two barns belonging to Charles Abbott and Charles Peters, of West Bay City. Loss, $600.

Four hundred people boycotted the Grand Ledge (Eaton County) post-office because it was removed from the business center of the town. The department at Washington recently ordered the postmaster to go back to a central location.

Four cows were killed by lightning at Kalamazoo a few days ago.

A terrific thunder-storm swept over Reed City, Osceola County, a few afternoons ago. Christopher Gabel's barn was struck by lightning and consumed, together with the season's crops, involving a loss of $4,000. On the Bersey river the flood carried away every thing. At Copley's lightning struck a tree, which fell on a house, killing a child and badly injuring its mother—names unknown. The total loss was estimated at $100,000.

Edward Sellers died at Jackson recently of heart disease. He was conductor on the Michigan Central railroad for thirty-six years.

Bennett's second-hand store at Lansing was entered by burglars the other night, who secured $200 worth of revolvers, razors and guns.

A most terrific rain-storm, with thunder and lightning, caused a great deal of damage at Big Rapids and vicinity a few nights ago. S. H. Gray & Co., lost a million feet of logs from their boom. The Grand Rapids & Indiana railroad lost by the flood several bridges and several hundred feet of track. The Muskegon river was higher than was ever known before.

The Salvation army of this State held a meeting at Howell, Livingston County, a few days ago and decided to divide its forces between Michigan and Indiana.

Archie Chatfield was arrested the other day at New Hudson, Oakland County, charged with wrecking a special freight on the Grand Trunk railroad September 16, causing the death of one man and the serious injury of two others.

Mrs. Sarah Campbell celebrated her one hundredth birthday recently at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Beckwith, near Jackson.

A recent fire at the rectory of St. Luke's Church in Kalamazoo, damaged the house and contents $700 worth.

Jacob Hutchins, a pioneer, died at his farm near Jackson a few days ago, aged eighty-two years. Mr. Hutchins settled there over forty years ago, and was well known throughout that part of the State. During the Crouch Holcombe trial he was the principal witness. He leaves property valued at $20,000.

Amos Cole drove into Bellevue, Eaton County, a few days ago, having in his wagon 513 dozens of eggs in open pasteboard crates. As he was turning a corner rapidly the wagon tipped over on top of him. He was dragged a short distance, and when the wagon and crates were pulled off Cole presented the appearance of an animated omelette. No part of his body had escaped.

Mrs. L. H. Martin, who was so strangely abducted from her husband's side while riding near their home at Maple Hill, Newaygo County, the other evening, has returned home. She said she rode several hours that night, seated between her abductors, and that early the next morning she threw herself from the buggy and rushed through the woods, escaping pursuit, and from daylight till afternoon she wandered about nearly dead from exposure and fright. Finally she reached a farm-house on the road to Howard City, and the next day was taken home. Mrs. Martin had no idea who her abductors were, but said they treated her respectfully.

The Board of Corrections and Charities has issued an address to the clergy of the State recommending that October 24 be observed as prison Sunday, on which day the ministers are requested to preach on the general subject.

Reports to the State Board of Health by seventy-one observers in different parts of the State, for the week ended September 25, indicated that tonsilitis increased, and influenza, bronchitis, whooping-cough, cholera-morbus, dysentery, cholera-infantum and typhoid fever decreased in area of prevalence. Diphtheria was reported at twenty-eight places, scarlet fever at twelve, typhoid fever at ninety-[illegible], measles at seven, and small-pox at Detroit.

The gate receipts at the Jackson prison during State fair week amounted to $1,185.

A Cheboygan policeman recently arrested a man, and not being able to handle him called on a citizen named Sprague for aid. Sprague refused to assist the officer, whereupon he was arrested and sent to jail for twenty days.

The Kalamazoo Telegraph says: "About one o'clock the other afternoon a large henhawk fell out of the sky in front of Mrs. Allen Potter's place on South street."

The clothing-store of T. Shanahan, at Marshall, was broken into the other night and clothing valued at $1,000 was carried off. A reward of $100 was immediately offered for the recovery of the clothing, and it was found a few mornings afterward hidden under a brick pile in the southern part of the city.

Lafayette Brown, imprisoned at Leslie, Ingham County, to await examination for forgery, broke jail the other night, stole a horse and made his escape.

The employes of the Lansing post-office a few days ago presented Colonel George P. Sanford, late postmaster at that city, with a bronze statue entitled "Industry."

Burglars entered the residence of Frank Snyder, at Albion, Calhoun County, the other night, bound and gagged his wife, and were about to go through the house when they were frightened away by persons passing.

The Muskegon Conference of Congregational Churches recently held a two days' meeting in the church at Whitehall.

At a recent hunting match at Springport, Jackson County, between two parties of sportsmen, eight bushels of chipmunks and red squirrels were killed.

In a fit of jealousy the other day at Negaunee, J. King, a widower, shot Mrs. Louise Rouillard, mother of five children, inflicting a dangerous wound.

David A. Hall, now of Dakota, began suit for divorce against his wife. She was living in Jackson County and summons was sent there recently, but it came too late. The poor woman had died the week before.

Eastern buyers have purchased one hundred thousand bushels of apples near Mount Clemens at one dollar per barrel.

GREAT EARTHQUAKES.

The Net Results of Loss From The Most Disastrous Shocks on Record.

742—Syria, Palestine and Asia; 500 towns destroyed.

1137—Sicily, 15,000 persons buried.

1158—In Syria, 20,000 perished.

1268—In Cicilia, 60,000 perished.

1456, December 5—At Naples; 40,000 perished.

1509, September 14—Constantinople; thousands perished.

1531, February 26—At Lisbon; 1,500 houses and 30,000 persons buried.

1626, July 30—Naples; thirty towns and 70,000 lives lost.

1667, April 6—Ragusa ruined, 5,000 perished.

1667—Schmaki; lasted three months; 80,000 perished.

1672, April 14—At Rimini; above 1,500 perished.

1692, June 7—Island of Jamaica; whole of Port Royal engulfed forty fathoms deep and 3,000 perished.

1693, September—Fifty-four cities and towns and more than 100,000 lives were lost.

1703, February 2—Aquila; 5,000 perished.

1703—Jeddo, Japan, ruined; 200,000 perished.

1706, November 3—In the Abbruzzi, 15,000 perished.

1716, May and June—At Algiers, 20,000 perished.

1726, September 1—Palermo, 6,000 lives lost.

1732, November 30—China, 100,000 people swallowed up at Pekin.

1732, November 29—Naples, 1,940 perished.

1746, October 28—Lima and Callao, 18,000 persons buried.

1754—Grand Cairo, half the houses and 40,000 persons swallowed up.

1755, June 7—Karschan, North Persia, destroyed; 40,000 perished.

1755, November 1—The great earthquake at Lisbon. In about eight minutes most of the houses and upward of 50,000 inhabitants were swallowed up.

1759, October 30—Syria, 20,000 perished.

1780—Tauris, 15,000 houses and multitudes buried.

1797, February 4—Panama destroyed and 40,000 people buried in one second.

1805, July 26—Frosolone, Naples, 6,000 lives.

1812, March 16—At Caracas, 12,000 perished.

1819, June 16—Kutch sunk, 2,000 persons buried.

1822—Aleppo destroyed; above 20,000 perished.

1840, February 14—Ternate, thousands lost.

1842, May 7—Cape Haytien, St. Domingo, between 4,000 and 5,000 lives.

1851, August 15—South Italy, 14,000 lives lost.

1856, March 2—Island of Great Sanger, 3,000 lives lost.

1859, March 22—Quito, 5,000 persons killed.

1861, March 20—Mendoza, South America, 7,000 lives lost.

1863, July 2 and 3—Manila, Phillippine Isles, 10,000 persons perished.

1868, August 13 and 15—Peru and Ecuador, 25,000 lives lost and 30,000 rendered homeless; loss of property estimated at $300,000,000.

1875, May 16 and 18—San Jose de Cueta, Colombia, 14,000 lives.

1881, March 16—Ischia, 289 houses, 114 lives lost, about £38,000; March 4, more destroyed by another shock.

1881, April 3—Scio, 4,000 perish.

1883, July 28—Island of Ischia, in the Bay of Naples, destroyed; 1,990 lives.

1883, August 26—Java Island was shattered and sunk, and sixteen others raised their heads above the surrounding waters. Nearly 100,000 people were buried beneath volcanic debris or swept off the face of the land by the volcanic wave.

1884-85—Andalusia, 745 persons killed, 1,485 injured, and 17,000 buildings damaged.

1885—Serinagur and numerous villages almost destroyed.

1886, August 28—Morea and the Island of Zante, several villages and 300 lives lost.

1886, August 31—Charleston S. C., about 90 persons killed and property to the amount of $4,000,000 destroyed.

CHINESE SLOWNESS.

Their Lingering and Pronounced Indisposition to Welcome Foreigners.

That China did not receive Europeans at first with much eagerness is scarcely to be wondered at, nor is it strange that she still at times shows a desire to revert to her former state of isolation. China produces in abundance all that its people require; the Chinese are of an eminently conservative turn of mind, and for some three thousand years they had got on tolerably well without us. Dynasties had been overthrown and revolutions often attempted; Emperors had passed away by the score, and rebellions past number had swept over the face of the country, but still their old institutions, their moral codes, their language and their habits of thought had scarcely been affected all through the centuries. All at once they found the European trader obtruding himself with his go-ahead notions of material progress, and saw looming up in the distance visions of the steam engine, the electric telegraph and all the other accompaniments of modern civilization. All these things jarred sorely with their ideas of a philosophic life. Confucius, who lived five hundred years before Christ, and whose teachings and precepts form the Chinese Bible, held worldly advancement of little account and sought to attain rather the moral than the material elevation of mankind. Even now few Chinese will admit that the European standard of morality is equal to their own.

Christianity they consider to be a good enough religion in as far as, like Buddhism and other native cults, it teaches men to do good, but they can not see that in practice it has made much impression upon the nations of Europe. Their own country has seldom waged an offensive war, while all Europe appears to them an armed encampment. England prides herself upon her religion and her big ships of war, France sends her missionaries far into the interior, and her torpedo boats cruise round the coast and sink all the unoffending junks that come in their way. This is, of course, the unfavorable side of European character as it presents itself to the ordinary Chinaman. He does not, however, fail to discern our good as well as our bad points. Though he does not altogether accept our ideas of progress, still he is willing to adopt some of our inventions. Steamers are rapidly supplanting the clumsy junks, and one very large and flourishing line is entirely supported by native capital and conducted by native talent.—Nineteenth Century.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

SMITH & PARMELEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX, : MICHIGAN.

A SONG O' SIXPENCE.

O sing a song o' sixpence a going here and there,
From early dawn of morning to must set of sun
With my very utmost effort I would surely quite despair
Of telling half the things that I have done.

Just a jolly little sixpence nothing more nor less;
A jolly little sixpence a going out and in
Of half a world of pockets; you would never, never guess
Of the many curious places I have been.

I've bought a holy Bible, I've bought a loaf of bread;
The diamond fingered lady and the men of bonds and stocks,
That the hungry souls of heathendom afar still might be fed,
Have dropped me in the missionary box.

In little boys' first "pockets" I've had a happy place,
With marbles, strings and fish-hooks, a tangled, knotty mess;
It has been my gracious duty to buy the yard of lace
That frilled around the neck of Biddy's dress.

In an iron safe I've languished for weary weeks and weeks,
I've stuffed in a stocking, the miser's hoarded pelf,
And one old person kept me—some people have such freaks—
In a teapot on her pantry's highest shelf.

I've journeyed in the East, in the wild and lawless West,
I know the heart of London, I've crossed the sea in ships;
I've been bartered for a blossom to wear on beauty's breast,
And for ice to cool a baby's fevered lips.

But every fashion changes—you may have heard the same—
Grown thin in useful serving my respite came at last
I don't quite understand it, but I know that I became
All at once a simple relic of the past.

And then one day a lover beside his dearest door
Sat gaily looking over a box of curios,
And he took me up and whispered so low I could not hear,
But I saw her lovely cheek grow like the roses.

I did not hear her answer, she did not speak quite plain
He, somehow, had to closely bend his head,
And then he took a cruel knife and cut me quite in twain
I suppose it was because of what she said.

He kissed me, kissed us, rather, and she, too, gave a kiss,
On a chain around her neck he hung a part;
Then with some tender, love words, I'd take my oath of this,
He laid my other half upon his heart.

Sing a song o' sixpence; labor done and over,
Sing a song o' sixpence, don't you envy me?
I who know the true heart of loyal maid and lover,
What that's born of silver would not a sixpence be?

All my journeys ended, all my wanderings o'er,
From me sweet new duty never will I rove,
Ye who haply listen know this evermore,
That the song of sixpence is just the song of love.

—Carlotta Perry, in N. Y. Independent.

TOLD BY A COWBOY.

His Graphic Story of Life in the Broad West.

The Deadly and Seductive "Loco"—A Primitive Code of Honor—Taming Wild Horses by Cruelty—"Tricks of the Trade."

Not long ago exigencies, on which I need not dwell at length, drove me to the Far West, where I hoped, after serving my apprenticeship as a cowboy, to pass in time to the managership of a cattle ranch. Late in February, 188—, I found myself in the sordid, reeking saloon of a small prairie settlement, surrounded by a motley crew of bull-whackers, mule-skinners, grangers, drummers, gamblers and cowboys, the latter easily distinguishable by their devil-may-care air and fantastic get up. In these unwonted surroundings I am not ashamed to confess that I was overcome by a feeling of complete isolation. I sat gloomily in a quiet corner of the saloon, yet could not but be keenly interested in all that went on around me. A stranger's first impressions are of necessity superficial. What passed through my mind during those faint-hearted, regretful moments is therefore perfectly immaterial; whatever conclusions I came to were in all probability entirely wrong; subsequent experience has effectually obliterated the very memory of them. I was a fish out of water.

"What's the boss of the Y Z outfit?" inquires a long, lank youngster with jingling spurs, swaggering up to the bar-tender who is busily engaged in "setting up drinks" for a group of men.

After a prolonged stare and the usual expectoration, he replies, "What, Wash Barton?"

"That's so."

"Waal, I guess he's round at the store."

Now, Barton was the name of the foreman of one of the large cattle companies of Texas, to whom the manager had provided me with a letter, and from whom I hoped to obtain employment.

As I waited, somebody entered the saloon and was immediately received on all hands with salutations of "How-do, Wash!" Looking up, I saw a hard-bitten, thick-set man of about five-and-thirty, at first sight of somewhat forbidding aspect, but in whose quiet demeanor and rugged, weather-beaten features a good judge of character would soon detect honesty and courage, combined with a certain stand-off shyness not uncommon in men whose lives are spent far away from their fellow creatures.

"I reckon you want a job as a hand," he curtly remarked, after I had told him my rigmarole. "Waal, and what can you do?"

"I can ride a bit, I think," I somewhat hesitatingly replied.

"That ain't much; but I guess we can fix you up with a job that'll soon let you know if you can ride or not. I've bought a bunch of a hundred head of bronchos down south of Rio Pecos, and can take you on at thirty dollars a month as broncho-rider. Anyhow, I shall pull for the horse-camp to-morrow, and I guess you'd better get your fixings and help bring some of our sick cow-ponies back to the ranch."

I closed at once, and for the rest of that day I had a busy time of it.

Every cowboy owns a private horse, a saddle and bridle, for if he is thrown out of employment far from any settlement, or whilst hunting for work in the prairies, his only means of traveling is his horse; besides these, his equipment consists of a pair of chaparejos (leather overalls), generally ornamented with fringes after the manner of the Indians. Add a pair of Mexican spurs, the enormous rowels of which are fitted with jingle-bobs if he be a dude, a long slicker (waterproof coat), a six-shooter hanging from the cartridge belt in an open scabbard, a Winchester saddle-gun and a very heavy, wide-brimmed felt hat ornamented with leather band or silver Mexican roll. A couple of blankets and a buffalo-robe, or padded quilt and tarpaulin covering serve as bedding; and last, but not least, his trusty raw-hide lariat or hempen rope, without which he would indeed be helpless, completes his outfit. All these things I bought at the store, aided and advised in their selection by a friendly cowboy, at whose expense I had had a drink.

I was more at home when it came to buying a horse and chose a wiry little roan standing about fourteen hands two inches. Wash Barton was standing by at the time, and I think that I rose in his estimation when I rightly gauged the animal's age by his mouth. The next morning long before sunrise we started for the winter horse-camp, forty-odd miles north. How bleak and cold and dreary the prairie looked! how brown and sparse and shriveled up the grass!—a desolate scene indeed.

No wonder one came frequently across bleached bones and carcasses in every stage of decomposition; some a shapeless shriveled heap of bones and hide, and others, still more ghastly, hideously distorted and swollen. Flocks of buzzards, gorged with their loathsome food rose with slow flapping wings as we approached, only to settle again after we had passed, and occasionally we spied a coyote slinking furtively away.

I saw that my companion, like all Western men, disliked being questioned, but, from what I could gather, the winter had been long and severe, and as that particular part of the prairie was devoid of shelter many cattle had succumbed.

"I reckon we're within a mile of the horse-camp, and them horses ain't been doing well," soliloquized Wash after we had jogged along for a good six hours in the jerky style peculiar to prairie horses. A fetid odor now filled the atmosphere, and I soon began to understand what prompted the remark that "the horses hadn't been doing well."

Dead horses became more and more frequent, and occasionally a living skeleton of a horse hobbled across our path, almost hairless, and covered with scabs and sores. At last we came in sight of a small wooden shanty standing apart from a long line of tumble-down open sheds and a roughly constructed enclosure or "corral;" but before we reached it we passed a heap of about forty dead horses piled up together, the most revolting, pitiful spectacle imaginable, and standing listlessly, or moving about with staggering gait, were about twice as many more still living creatures, with a peculiar look and manner about them such as I had never seen before, and most of whom must surely soon be dragged to the big heap close by. But what on earth did it all mean? It seemed so strange to come suddenly across this gruesome sight on the lone prairie. I soon learned the explanation.

A weed called "loco" has of late years largely increased in some of the cattle ranges of Texas and the Indian Territory, owing probably to an increase in the rain-fall; it has a mysterious habit of appearing suddenly in places where it was before unknown, and, given a dry season, of as suddenly disappearing. During the summer, when the prairie is a fair expanse of waving grass, lit up with bright flowers, both horses and cattle instinctively avoid it; but when in the fall of the year the grass becomes scarce in over-stocked regions, and when all around assumes a brown and burnt-up appearance, it stands out conspicuously and temptingly green, its long, soft, velvety leaves rising in a bunch from six inches to a foot off the ground. Then the hungry creatures begin by nibbling, suspiciously and stealthily, at the seductive plant, but very soon become reckless, and eagerly and greedily devour all that comes in their way. And now, if the habit can not be nipped in the bud by a sufficiency of good strong food, the animal is doomed, for he has become a confirmed "loco-eater." He will rapidly become thin and lose all control over his movements, he will be subject to frequent fits, during which he lies on the ground groaning and foaming at the mouth; he throws himself about without reason, tears up or runs round in small circles when you attempt to mount him; his eyes turn dull and stupid: in short, he gives you the impression of being bereft of his senses. Specimens of "loco" have been subjected to analysis by experts in Washington and in Edinburg, but without any thing injurious being discovered in it. It is possible that some minute alkaloid may be the cause of the mischief, but up to the present its disastrous effects only are known, for this pernicious weed causes periodically the death of thousands of horses and cattle. Here, then, was the clue to the miserable appearance of these wretched creatures. More severely punished than their human counterpart the opium-eater, they had paid, or were paying, with their lives the penalty of their devotion to the drug.

Out of about two hundred and fifty "locoed" horses which had been driven in the fall from the region where "loco" flourished, but ninety-odd head had wintered. The carcasses of the rest were strewn about the boggy bottoms of the creek, whither they had dragged themselves to quench their last raging thirst, and those that had died in too close proximity to the shanty in which the boys lived had been heaped up in a small hollow, in order to mitigate the pestilential stench which arose from them. Right glad I was to leave such scenes after a couple of days spent in preparing harness, saddlery, and mess wagon for the march.

Having shot two horses which were unable to stand up, we rounded up our cripples and made a start for the headquarters ranch, one hundred and eighty miles due south. A sorry crowd, indeed! In addition to being badly "locoed" and half starved, the majority suffered from Spanish itch, a skin disease which eats the hair off and leaves the shivering creature exposed to the icy blasts of the wind-swept plains. A few comparatively sound horses immediately take the lead, but the tail of the bunch, being composed of the worst cases, require a deal of cruel urging. Never before had I heard such swearing and cursing, such blasphemous meaningless oaths and mighty anathemas as were continually on the lips of the sorely-tried cowboys. Three long weeks did this melancholy procession trail across the prairie—ten miles a day being the best pace we could manage until the herd had considerably thinned down, and the survival of the fittest enabled us to quicken. Every now and then a horse stumbled and fell; generally he was too weak to rise, when a couple of boys dismounted, and, passing a rope under his body and round their shoulders hoisted the poor beast on his legs again. As a rule, this was the beginning of the end; if he managed to hold up until the end of the day's march, the frosty night settled him. Every morning, in the chill half-light of early dawn, it was our sad duty to lift those who had lain down to rest, and, by rubbing their stiffened, trembling limbs, to restore circulation sufficiently to enable them to stand. Others were beyond help, and several times I have given such their quietus with a six shooter bullet without drawing more than a faint trickle of blood, so poor were they. One old gray, called "Blanco," showed an extraordinary amount of pluck and sagacity. He was always in the tail of the bunch, but never actually within reach of the long lashes, which the boys flick with great dexterity to a distance of about thirty feet. During a halt he never left the wagon, but hung around on the chance of getting a chunk of bread, and so long as the camp-fire burned during the night, he stood over it perfectly motionless, his handsome old head hanging down. He was a great favorite, and we all did our best to keep him alive, even going the length of sacrificing a blanket to cover his old bones. But it was no use; Blanco got weaker and weaker; we lifted him five times in one day, when only forty miles from our destination. That night's frost was keen, and Blanco fell dead in our midst without a groan.

And now the trials and privations of that painfully memorable drive were nearly over. The spring hurricanes had spent their fury, and every day the air, lately so eager and nipping, became balmier and more genial. The aspect of the prairie changes the farther south we go; the dreary monotony of the broad plains is diversified by gracefully-rounded slopes and thickly-timbered river-bottoms; blue antelope hills rise in the distance; the ground is broken by rocky canons and deep arroyos; bright, quick-running streams gladden the eye, and afford opportunity for a refreshing bath. The verdure begins to show on tree and plain; the prairie lark pours out his love-song in soft, mellow notes; all nature, putting off her rough mood, submits to the mild Western spring.

"I guess a couple of hands had better ride forward," shouts Wash, as the leaders of the bunch break into a smart trot. "Dog-gone their ornary souls, I'll be doggoned if they ain't already got wind of the home-ranch!" and, although we still had a good seven miles before us, it became necessary, for the first time, to restrain their eagerness. Every one brightens up at the prospect of reaching headquarters, of sleeping for a few nights with a roof over our heads, and of being relieved of our uncongenial task.

A long, irregular, narrow strip of timber marks the course of the creek, in a bend of which the ranch-buildings are situated. The boys come out to greet us, and pull long faces at the sight of our attenuated little bunch. They are glad to see us. The return of the boss means the return of active life. They have been having a dull time of it during the long winter months building and repairing corrals, fencing in pastures, and quartered alone or in couples, for months at a time, in cheerless dug-outs on the confines of the range, the monotony of their lives broken only by daily line-riding, a process which consists in riding a certain distance along the boundaries of the range in order to head back as much as possible any large drift of cattle. The ranch itself is built of "adobe," after the manner of the Mexicans, the "adobe" consisting of layers of prairie sod, which packs very tightly and forms a solid weather-tight wall, excluding both heat and cold much more effectually than the wooden frame houses so common in most American settlements; a small store-house containing three months' provisions stands apart, and a double corral, roughly constructed of cotton wood logs, serves as a branding pen.

When the time comes to turn in, we all unroll our bedding and "shuck down" on the bare floor [illegible] sandless [illegible] small comfort here, and had it not been for the shelter afforded from wind and rain, I should have preferred sleeping in the open.

However, my companions, rough and uncouth in manner and speech, were good fellows all. A cowboy's life, with its hardships, isolation, and dangers, develops all the sterner manly qualities in a high degree. To a lithe and sinewy figure he joins courage, stoic indifference to suffering, and dogged industry when work has to be done. For these qualities it would be difficult to find his equal. In my mountaineering experiences of former years, I have passed many days with the best of the Swiss guides,—have bivouacked with them, and have seen their mettle tried to the uttermost. Though but ignorant, coarsely-clad peasants, they are brave, loyal, splendid fellows. Our sailors too, as we all know, are kind-hearted, reckless of danger, generous and long-suffering to a degree. But the cowboy, whilst possessing to a great extent many of the characteristics of both sailor and guide, is even beyond them conspicuous for his sensitive pride, his almost aggressive spirit of independence, his bright intelligence, and his sportsmanlike instincts. Such at least are the best of them. The cringing servility born of centuries of strongly-marked class-distinction, the low cunning of the gutter-bred scum of cities, the heavy, boorish stupidity of the peasantry of our older civilizations, are unknown among the free-born citizens of the Western States of America. On the other hand, our cowboy is shockingly cruel, hasty in temper, and unbridled in tongue. In the branding pen, and with a half-broken, tired, or unwilling horse, he is a perfect fiend; his contempt for life too often leads to needless bloodshed; and he is untiring as an Indian in pursuit of revenge.

With him it is frequently not a word and a blow, but a word and a bullet. This somewhat primitive code of honor is not, however, without its good effects, and I am bound to say that, rough as the boys are, their voluble flow of bad language is limited to their animals, but rarely addressed to their fellows; and for myself I may add that I passed through my whole time without a shadow or a semblance of a quarrel. Of their stoic indifference to pain I could relate many instances, but two will suffice.

I had provided myself with a self-cocking six-shooter, similar to our own army revolver. This is a most dangerous weapon and is rarely used by Western men, whose experience in the use of the revolver is unequaled. The double action throws the weapon off its mark and during moments of excitement one is apt to let it off unwittingly. This actually occurred to me more than once, and I resolved to get rid of the "pesky thing." I "traded" it with one of the boys for a very old single-action Colt-pattern weapon, and threw a couple of hundred cartridges into the bargain. One morning we heard a plaintive note close to the wagon, and, knowing that the boys were hunting turkey, we already looked forward to a good breakfast. Presently my friend with the self-cocker rode up turkeyless. After quietly unsaddling his pony, he proceeded to whittle a twig. This done, he bared his leg, and we then, for the first time, became aware that he was badly wounded in the thigh. A bullet had gone clean through the fleshy part, and had made a wound at least four inches in depth, the upper part of which was very much powder-burnt. He now produced his twig, and, having wrapped a piece of rag round it, coolly ran it to and fro to clean out the powder. He must have endured tortures, for his face paled, and beads of perspiration stood on his forehead, but the brave boy never winced, and we gathered from a long string of oaths directed at the pistol and at his pony that he was following a turkey, self-cocker in hand and finger on trigger, when his horse stumbled; he instinctively (as the rider does on such occasions) threw himself back and tightened his hands, with the above result. That day he rode thirty miles to the nearest military station for a surgeon, with the wounded leg thrown across the horn of the saddle.

On another occasion we were whiling away the time hunting squirrels, for which purpose one of the boys had taken his boots off and climbed a tree. The rest of us remained below, and were taking pot-shots at the squirrel as it leaped from bough to bough. The climber chased the little creature to the end of a thick bough, himself crawling along it, when, by some misadventure, he was struck in the big toe by a bullet; but we none of us knew this until, after coming down, he quietly mentioned that he "reckoned he'd left a bit of his toe up that or tree." It was only a small bit off the end, it is true; but I thought that if the same accident had happened to myself I should have given tongue pretty freely. But these fellows are inured to hardship and suffering, and take it as it comes without a word of complaint.

Once more we have been on the trail, and are now another hundred miles or so farther south. Our camp is pitched on a well-timbered creek running into the north fork of the Red river,—a broad, swift stream, winding its way through wide meadows of luxuriant pasturage. Here is to be the arena of our horse-breaking exploits. The country is alive with game; deer, antelope, wild turkey, prairie chicken, quail, and wild fowl are found in abundance, and we are glad, whilst awaiting the arrival of the bronchos, to be able to fill the pot with something more toothsome than the everlasting bacon, beans and bread, which have constituted our fare for the past two months. Our party is half a dozen strong, all told,—four broncho riders, Hank, Tough Dick, Dock Day, and myself, Sour-Dough Billy (the cook), and Curly, the "horse-rustler," whose duty it is to look after our cow-ponies and work team. Sour-Dough Billy merits a word to himself. He was apt to look with a certain amount of contempt at the ostentatiously-displayed shooting-irons ("pop-guns" he called them) of his uncouth companions, although he ungrudgingly admired their physical prowess and skill as horsemen. A cockney born and bred, he was fond of the sound of his own voice, and found it hard to appreciate the silence and reserve of the native cowboy; but they all liked him none the less, and, in their own way, were amused at his quaint sallies, and his curious mixture of the accent of Bow Bells with the drawl of the Far West. At home he had been, so he said, a professional runner; but it never seemed to strike him or his companions as incongruous that a trick of fortune should have turned him into a prairie Francatelli.

It was an animated, picturesque scene that met our eyes. A hundred head of half-wild horses were being driven into the swift-running but shallow river, the leaders stringing out in all directions, the tail of the herd rushing with headlong speed down the steep, sandy incline of narrow gorge, urged and directed by the flying horsemen, who had to overcome their natural fear of being bogged down in the treacherous, shifting quicksands of the river-bed. Now they are all safely across. Their coats, still wet, are glistening in the sun; their spare forms, wiry legs, and small, well-shaped feet give promise of activity and endurance; the long, flowing manes and tails, shaggy forelocks and bright eyes impart to them a wild, free air, but the straight shoulders and low withers foreshadow an awkward, wearying gait, the narrow chests and small quarters reveal a want of power and the receding foreheads and narrow nostrils denote an uncertain temper. But we must not be too critical. They are young and fresh and full of fun and frolic. In a few months' time ill usage and hard work will have reduced them to lean, broken-hearted creatures without a kick left in them.

How strangely marked they are! Piebalds, skewbalds and duns with striped backs predominate. Here is one with a pure white head, neck and shoulders, the rest of him coal-black; there is a blue roan with a large white patch on his side, and yet another, a rich, dark chestnut, has a splendid mane and tail of a much lighter color. Quite a number of them are wall-eyed, or "glass-eyed," as they are called out West. In height they average from fourteen to fifteen hands. Originally sprung from the Spanish jennet, brought over to the continent of America by the conquerors of Mexico, some of whose steeds escaped, their descendants have ever since wandered across the plains in large droves. In their wild state they are called "mustangs," but when raised on a ranch, and after having been handled to a certain extent, they are called "bronchos."

Neighing, snorting, squealing, pawing the ground impatiently, kicking and biting at one another, with two horse-rustlers galloping around them, one bunch of bronchos is being held on a soft, sandy plane of ground suitable for our purpose. Hank and Dock had gathered up their lassos ready for a throw. A [illegible] is caught and is being dragged out. No sooner does the noose tighten around his throat than Dock runs up, and whipping the loop of his lasso on the ground, entangles the hind legs of the struggling beast and throws him down with a sudden side jerk. Obeying a signal, I pin his neck to the ground, and throw his head up to prevent his struggling, whilst Hank forces into his mouth a cruel Mexican spade bit, with long, sharp-edged port, slips the bridle over his ears, and blindfolds him. All this time his hind legs have been held by the rope, these are now released, he at once jumps up, and stands with trembling limbs and outstretched neck, ready to bite, strike, or kick anybody who comes within his reach, but rooted to the spot so long as he remains blindfolded. In some cases their legs fairly give way under the influence of fear; they then roll over and lie grounding on the ground. With quiet, cat-like movements Hank crawls up with his saddle and flings it across the quivering animal, who at once bucks it off violently; this is repeated several times, until, taking advantage of a few seconds' hesitation, the front cincha (girth) is fished across from the off side with a stick and immediately tightened up. The tightening of the back cincha, which comes near the tender flesh of the stifle, is resented with squealing and vigorous bucking, but no efforts will displace the heavy double-girth saddle, and Hank now coils up his lasso (the loop of which has remained on the horse's neck) preparatory to mounting. Taking up the reins and passing his left forefinger through the ring of the bit, then placing his foot in the stirrup and grasping the horn of the saddle with his right, he swings lightly on his victim's back. Whisk off the blindfold and turn him loose! The broncho at once throws down his head, lumps up his back, and, actually bawling with rage and fear, pitches high into the air and comes down on stiffened legs, hard enough, as Curly puts it, "to make the sparks fly and your teeth rattle;" again and again he pitches, twisting first to one side, then to the other, frantic in his efforts to rid himself of the demon on his back. Each jump is answered by an oath, a vicious dig of the spurs and a stinging cut from the raw-hide thong. "Stay with him!" yell the excited boys. Yes, stay with him if you can, for every thing depends upon this first trial of strength between man and brute.

If he succeed in "downing you," he will have gained confidence in his own powers, and may ever afterwards be ready to try conclusions with you; but when all his exertions are unavailing, when he discovers that the more he struggles the more punishment he receives, and that he only succeeds in exhausting himself, then he will be cowed at his own impotence, and will have learned a lesson which he will never forget, for horses have good memories. After three or four such lessons the chances are that he will be cured of pitching, will offer a sullen, spiritless submission, and, ridden with a light hand and an easy seat, will soon become bridle-wise and quite handy.

Occasionally a horse is "gritty" and "mean;" when such a one finds that his rider is not to be shaken off, he rears straight over with him, or throws himself down sideways; in this case one has to be very quick, or broken bones may result. If you clear him as he falls, jump to his head to prevent his getting up, double your rope, and thrash him all you know, until he groans for mercy; he will then realize that a recumbent position is not always one of repose, and will probably not try that little maneuver again. Cruel work, this, but prompt and efficacious. It must be borne in mind that the task was set before us of breaking over a hundred head of horses in less than a month, in time for the spring round-up, and it would be impossible to effect this by gradual and gentle means. Moreover, we had to deal with animals in a semi-wild state, no longer colts, who looked upon man with fear and loathing, never having experienced any thing but ill treatment at his hands.

At the end of the first week's broncho-riding we were all more or less "stiffened up," as the result of our exertions, and "easy all" was called for a day or two. Towards the end of May, outfits from all directions converge towards the pre-arranged rendezvous for the general round-up. Some, like ourselves, having lost many horses, have been engaged in broncho-riding, camping for that purpose on the rich pastures and sweet-water creeks of the broad river-bottom. With those in our immediate neighborhood we interchanged visits, and watched each other's riding with jealous and critical eye. In this manner time passes quickly each day bringing with it some fresh incidents.

No cowboy can be considered complete until he has become skilled (more so, at least, than I had then become) in the use of the lasso on horseback. A firm seat, readiness, dexterity and a quick eye are all necessary, and even an expert roper must constantly regret that nature has not provided him with more than two hands. Moreover the animal you ride must know his work too, for it is his part, as soon as the rope tightens around the captive's neck, to straighten his fore-legs, leaning well back with his hind legs right under, and always keeping end-on to the victim, to whose struggles the double weight of man and horse is thus opposed. The cast itself is performed in this wise: A slight turn of the wrist keeps the open loop swinging horizontally round your head, and the faster you gallop the better it swings. When you are within a few yards of your intended victim, throw as the loop comes behind you, twisting the other end round the horn of the saddle before the loop lands. Good horsemanship, which makes man and horse act with one will, brings your mount to a stand-still at the right moment and in the right position, the noose tightens and the captive is at your mercy. A very real and ever present danger to men who sleep on the ground is the skunk, which is liable to rabies, and, under its influence, attacks the sleeper savagely during the night. Its bite, in this condition, being as virulently poisonous as that of a mad dog.

But space would fail me to describe all the varied alarms and incidents of our life. I can not even within the limits of this article touch upon that part of the cowboy's duty which relates to the management of cattle, the scouring of the plains by the circle-riders, the driving of cows and calves, bulls, heifers, and steers, to an appointed meeting-place, where brands will be cut out (separated) and the season's work begun in downright earnest. I have said enough to show that the cowboy's life is not all beer and skittles. The future has many hardships in store for us: long days in the saddle under the burning rays of a pitiless sun; nights spent in feverish tossing on the hot, baked ground, under the oppressive blankets, which the maddening presence of myriads of mosquitoes renders necessary, or, worse even than that, lying tentless under the driving rain, with the soaked prairie for your bed; incessant work, Sundays and week-days, from early dawn until sunset; storms always dangerous and sometimes fatal to man as well as beast; night-guards, during which the weary cowboy keeps watch and ward over his cattle; the heat, dust and turmoil of the branding-pen, and the long, monotonous autumn-drive of beef-cattle. All this we shall have to endure, to be rewarded, after many months of exile, by a brief glimpse of civilization and the ecstasy of hearing the sweet voice of woman once more.—John Baumann, in Lippincott's Magazine.

Blanching Celery.

I have for two seasons practiced the following plan for handling celery preparatory for winter keeping: I take a ball of strong cotton wick, and gathering up the stalks of the end plant of a row, tie the wick around it. Then without cutting the wick, take a turn around the stalks of the next and each succeeding plant without tying, and so continue till the ball is used up. When the end of the wick is reached I either tie it to the end of another ball of wick, or secure it around the plant. When the celery is taken up the wick can be unwound and preserved for future use. To me this plan has been more effectual in keeping the stalk together, and easier to follow, than that of pulling earth to the plant.—Cor. Gardener's Monthly.

—If any one doesn't believe in the necessity of eating meals regularly, let him notice the derangement of the stomach on a long journey.—Chicago Mail.

THE INDUSTRIAL WORLD.

—It is estimated that 18,000,000 pairs of boots and shoes are annually manufactured in prisons.—N. Y. Sun.

—The Auburn (N. Y.) Axle Works, which are moving to Wilkesbarre, Pa., will employ about one thousand men.

—Paper roofs, because of their lightness and other advantages, are recommended by the Manufacturers' Gazette as being superior to slate.

—The total amount of track laid in the United States from January 1 to September 1, 1886, is 3,475 miles, divided between 164 lines. During the whole of 1885 only 3,131 miles were built.—N. Y. Post.

—The greatest balloon in the world has been constructed in San Francisco. It will hold 150,000 cubic feet of gas and was made to traverse the American Continent from ocean to ocean.—San Francisco Chronicle.

—Rutland's marble quarries give employment to more than 3,000 men, who were paid $1,200,000 last year, when over 1,500,000 cubic feet of marble was produced. More than $6,000,000 is invested.—Rutland Herald.

—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen is divided into 335 lodges, located in all parts of the United States and in Canada and Mexico, and has a total membership of seventeen thousand.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

—The Dure Car Company's Works in Wilmington, Del., have been sold to the Pullman Car Company for $45,000. The Pullman Company intends making its new shops the eastern headquarters for repairs, and new work will also be done there.—N. Y. Tribune.

—Hired girls get very low wages in Canada, judging from a recent sermon of a Kingston preacher, in which he pleaded for more pay for domestics, saying that many girls work hard, early and late, for three dollars a month, when they should receive ten dollars.

—Straw will soon be used for building purposes. It is claimed that straw may be closely pressed into bales 14x16 inches, or of any size desired, and the bales be used for building walls. The walls can be plastered over, or be arranged to suit the convenience of the builder.—Troy Times.

—A mammoth well is being dug on Breaker Island, near Albany, N. Y. It is over twenty feet in diameter and will be sunk below the bed of the river a distance of several hundred feet, so that the water will be of the purest quality that can be secured. About four million gallons will be consumed on the island every day when the blast furnaces are in operation.—Albany Journal.

—A new industry for women in large cities is announced—that of "lampers." These lampers go from house to house each morning to fill and trim lamps. Practice makes perfect, and they are able to guarantee perfect light, well-cared for lamps, and highly polished chimneys. These lampers are a comfort to many a housekeeper, and their charges are not excessive.—Boston Post.

—The New York Lumber Trade Journal predicts that cherry will hold its own and continue to be a favorite cabinet and finishing wood because there is so little good cherry left; it will not have a chance of becoming too common. There is none worth mentioning north of Pennsylvania, and in that State its owners know its value. There is a good deal left in West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, and North Carolina, but most of it is where it will cost a great deal to get it to market.

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

—"It's a wife's duty to be pleasant," says an exchange. Yes, and it's the husband's duty to make her duty easy.—Philadelphia Call.

—The bravest boy will quail when he appears in public for the first time after he has had his hair cut by his mother.—New Haven News.

—Now that creased pants and rough-edged paper are fashionable, the only thing needful to complete the editor's happiness is a craze for frayed cuffs.—Burlington Free Press.

—"The woman is the enemy of freedom," remarks an authority. Correct. The army of married men who have been deprived of their latchkeys is a monument to the sad truth of the assertion.—Nashville Union.

—Clerk (to employer)—"What shall I mark that new lot of black silk at?" Employer—"Mark the selling price at three dollars a yard." Clerk—"But it only cost one dollar a yard." Employer—"I don't care what it cost. I am selling off regardless of cost."—St. Paul Globe.

—Maud—"Yes, I have sent him back his letters; given him back his ring." Edith—"And are you happy?" "No, I am miserable." "Then why do you do it?" "Well, pa and ma were so pleased with him I was afraid we weren't suited to each other."—Omaha World.

—Antiquary—"Here is something very rare; the identical Colt's pistols worn by the great Roland, who was slain at Roncesvalles by the Turks." Customer—"But there were no pistols in that day." Antiquary—"I know that, my dear sir; that's what makes them so rare."—N. Y. Ledger.

—A small child was kept from doing evil by being told by his mother that the booman would catch him, and by his father that the devil was after him. In time the child's curiosity became excited, and on again being warned he answered: "Papa, I'd just like to see the booman and the devil after each other."—Albany Journal.

—Let it never be believed that humor is dead. Two friends, arguing in a railway carriage on political matters, fell, as is not uncommon under such circumstances, into a quarrel. "You must be a fool," said one. "You are a liar," retorted the other. "Now, gentlemen, that we are dealing with facts," said a cynical passenger, "let us go on with the discussion."—New York Herald.

—"Yes," said Brown, "I'm always making blunders. Why, the other evening I talked with a lady three hours, thinking it was my wife all the while. What do you think of that?" "I think," said Fogg, "that you are not only an unconscionable liar, but that your life is a very foolish and illogical one. Thought it was your wife! And talked with her three hours! It won't do."—Boston Transcript.

—"Poor Hubert, how I wish you did not have to slave so from morning till night!" murmured his wife, as, with a fond caress, she seated herself on her husband's knee, and gently stroked the auburn locks from his lofty brow. And the grave, stern man of business understood her at once and answered: "Well, Susie, what is it—a bonnet or what? Don't be too hard on me, for money is scarcer than ever."—N. Y. Ledger.

FOR OUR YOUNG FOLK'S.

THE STORY OF MISS SELF.

[illegible]

—Golden Rule.

LAWRIE'S COURAGE.

The "Good Care" Which He Took of His Little Sister.

Were there ever two such handsome children? Mrs. Graham felt sure that this query could be answered in the negative, as, on that bright June morning, she gave Elsie the last kiss, and Lawrence the oft-repeated injunction: "Take good care of your little sister, dear."

Lawrie looked fully equal to the charge if bravery alone were necessary to its fulfillment. The sun never shone upon curls that were tossed back with a bolder air; while his hands were thrust into his trousers' pockets with a jaunty defiance before which the mightiest foe must have trembled.

"Oh, I'll take care of her, mamma, never you fear. I'll bring her back safely."

"Very well, Sir Launcelot," said mamma, with a smile which would look the least bit proud in spite of herself, "only remember that bravery consisteth not in boasting."

Very gayly the little lad and lassie started forth. It was Susie Brown's birthday, and they were to have the honor of going, all alone, to the party. It was such an unusual distinction that Lawrie began casting about in his small mind what he could do to impress Elsie with the fact that he was "taking care of her." Just at the foot of their broad grounds ran the railroad track, and they were hardly out of mamma's sight before a brilliant idea flashed upon Lawrie's mind.

"Come on, Elsie. Turn round; I'll show you a new way to Susie's," he cried, seizing the little girl's hand, and hurrying her, panting and breathless, to the steep bank which led to the track.

Ah! if mamma had only been upon that side of the house. But she was in her own room, getting ready for a trip into town, and her windows faced the other way. I wonder if Lawrie remembered that fact.

"Oh, no, no, Lawrie!" cried Elsie, shrinking back. "I'm 'fraid of the cars. Don't let's go on the track."

"Oh, pshaw! Girls is so scary," said Sir Launcelot, scornfully; "'fraid of their own shadows. I'm glad I ain't one. I thought, though, you was different from the rest. Now where's the harm of our walkin' on the track? We'll get to Susie's as quick again, and you heard mamma say we'd be late."

"Y-e-s—but she didn't say we could go on the track, and I must know she wouldn't let us. It ain't safe. How do you know which track to take?"

"Pooh! you goose! That's easy enough. When you see a train comin' jump on the other track of course."

"But s'pose there's two trains?"

"Well there won't be; but even if there is can't we run up the bank? See here!" And our hero was half way down and back again in a twinkling.

"Oh, Lawrie! How dirty you've got your shoes, and goin' to a party too!"

"Never mind the shoes. Are you goin' this way or not?"

"But, Lawrie, there's the big rocks. Spos'n—"

"I shan't stay here all day a-sposin' things. I shall go on the track. If you want to go round the road all alone, you can. But mamma said I should take care of you. If you won't let me, all right I can't help it." And the young knight turned away with that deeply injured air which his elder brothers, under like circumstances, sometimes find so effective.

"Oh, wait, Lawrie! I'll go, I'll go, only do be careful."

"Well, I thought you'd be sensible," was the magnanimous reply. "Of course, I'll be careful. Here, let me help you down the bank. Now ain't this nicer than the old road?"

It was nice. Elsie could not deny it. There was a wild excitement in jumping sleepers and walking rails. The banks were starred with daisies and buttercups, while bobolink's wild song made all the air pulsate with its maddening mirth. It was just the kind of a day to make one a hero—and the very air was intoxicating—and the little girl's laugh soon rang out as merrily as Lawrie's own. Not one fear did she feel until she found herself nearing the steep rock cutting which all the children called "the big rocks." Elsie had often stood upon it [illegible] and it was a favorite resort. She had never failed to look down its steep sides with a thrill of terror, and now that she found herself actually about to enter this mysterious passage, something of the old fear returned.

Just then a cattle train which they had heard lumbering behind them, came so near that Lawrie considered it prudent to step upon the other track. I think he had kept purposely upon the track of the train, that he might have the pleasure of saying grandly as they left it: "There, ain't that easy now?" At all events, he said it, and Elsie looked at him with reverential admiration. She never doubted his heroism—not she!

It was a long train—they were nearly through the cutting, and still there seemed no end to the brown cars, filled with stifling, lowing cattle. They were so confused by the noise that they heard no other sound, nor did they have the slightest warning of approaching danger, until swift from around a sudden curve, they saw coming, down upon them with the speed of the wind, the lightning express!

"Oh, Elsie! Elsie! Elsie!" cried Lawrie, with a white face, as he danced up and down in an ecstacy of terror.

One terrific glance the little maiden cast around. No help on the right—for there was the steep rock; no help on the left—for there was the passing train; no help in front, with that fiery monster bearing down upon them; no time to run back!

She said afterward that it seemed as if she stood there "a million years," but, in reality in far less time than it has taken me to tell the story, she had grasped her frantic brother by the arm, fairly dragging him into the narrow path between the tracks, and crying: "Lie down, Lawrie, lie down!" they had thrown themselves upon their faces, and in that very instant had felt the mighty whirlwind rush of the passing train.

"Oh, dear me!" were Elsie's first words, as she once more stood upright; "if I haven't just ruined my new dress!"

But Lawrie did not think of his clothes—not he! He sat down upon the track, and cried and cried, while Elsie, very much astonished, stood by and tried to comfort him.

"Come on," he said at last, "let's go home I don't want to go to no old party."

"Shall we go this way?" asked Elsie, timidly.

"No; I never want to see the mean old track again. Let's go back a piece till you can crawl up the bank and get to the road," and very solemnly our brave knight marched homeward, with hardly a word to the little damsel who trotted so meekly by his side.

Papa and mamma were not yet at home, so it was not until they were gathered around the supper table that they listened to the story which Lawrie, whose spirits were wonderfully revived, told so fluently.

Mamma clasped her little daughter very closely in her arms, and papa's eyes were misty as he asked: "How came you to think of lying down, my darling?"

"Oh, I remembered a story I heard you read once," said Elsie, as if "remembering" under such circumstances was, of all things, the simplest.

"Well, Sir Launcelot, and who do you think has proved the brave knight to-day?" was papa's next question, but very gravely.

"Oh, I suppose Elsie was, in one way, but you see it took me so sudden. You know I never can think, papa, and besides I wasn't one bit afraid to go on the track, and Elsie was."—Catherine Stevenson, in Montreal Witness.

Anniversary of a Bell.

The busy city of Breslau, in Prussia, found time recently to celebrate the five hundredth birthday of a church bell. A tragic story of the casting of this bell has kept it famous throughout Germany for a longer period than has elapsed since the discovery of America.

The founder of the bell, on the 17th of July, 1386, when the molten metal was just ready to run into the mold, left the foundry for a few moments in charge of a boy, warning him not to meddle with the apparatus. The boy disobeyed the injunction and set the metal running. Terrified, he called the founder, who, on seeing the mischief, supposing the bell ruined, struck the boy to the earth and killed him.

When the metal cooled and the bell was tried, it was found to be of admirable tone and finish—the founder's masterpiece. Stricken with remorse, he gave himself up to the magistrate, and was condemned to expiate his crime by death. He walked to the place of execution to the tolling of his own bell, calling upon all the people to pray for "the poor sinner." The bell has ever since borne the name of the Poor Sinner's Bell.

At that early period Breslau was a country village of little note. It has now grown to be the seat of the linen manufacture of Silesia, and next to Berlin, the largest city of Prussia. The anniversary of the founding of the Poor Sinner's Bell was not forgotten, however. The bell was rung morning and evening, and the pastor of the church preached a sermon in honor of the occasion, in which he told once more the well-remembered tale.—Youth's Companion.

Ashamed of His Name.

"See that fellow standing over there?" said a citizen of Little Rock, addressing a stranger.

"Yes."

"Biggest fool I ever saw."

"In what way?"

"I'll tell you. His name is Lige Coffin. He used to be an unassuming, hard-working fellow and people respected him, but a few weeks ago he made a few thousand dollars in a little speculation. Since then he has become a different man. He is vain, and is ashamed of his name. Don't want us to call him Coffin any more."

"Don't eh?"

"No, he is so high toned now that he insists upon being called Mr. Metallic Case."—Arkansaw Traveler.

—From Charlotte, N. C., comes the story that a citizen of that place lately visited a nest where a goose was busily engaged hatching out eggs and was just in time to kill a blacksnake which was coiling itself around the bird. His snakeship had swallowed the eggs. His stomach was cut open, and the eggs, being found unbroken, were placed under the goose, which hatched them into goslings, which all had blood-red eyes and died in four days.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established, 1869.
CHARLEVOIX, OCT. 13, 1886.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE, Associate Editor.

Political.

Henry M. Loud, of Oscoda, has been nominated for Congress in the 10th district.

John Seymour, of Escanaba, is the democratic nominee for state senator from that district.

The history of the democratic party has been one of good promises and mighty bad performances.

The prohibition party seems to be a sort of house of refuge for all sorts of political soreheads and malcontents.

The best joke of the season comes from the Grand Rapids Democrat which says: "We (the fusion spoils hunters) are fighting a great battle for principle." Everybody laugh.

John Power, the eleventh district democrat nominee for congress, is the man who lifted up his voice in the democratic state convention against fusion and then lifted it down again.

The Manistique Pioneer reminds the greenbackers that "they have often said that lawyers had been running things too long. Now they have a fusion ticket composed of lawyers. Reform is a wonderful thing."

Let every voter ask himself the question: "Why are the English so anxiously desirous of having free trade with America?" In all commercial transactions with that country America's loss is England's gain. Then isn't this the answer?

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: "When will the earth stop revolving?" is the ...

Neighborhood News.

Mr. Noble has a piece of corn on this side of Elk Rapids that up to the last day of September had not received the slightest injury from frost.

The Hudkin's school district in Wilson township is building a new school house to cost $500. It will be completed for school to begin in December.

The Fusionists of the Cheboygan senatorial district last week nominated the Rev. William H. Miller, of Gaylord, for state senator. His opponent is the Rev. Ansel W. Westgate, of Cheboygan. Candidate Miller is pastor of the Congregational church at Cheboygan.

At a regular meeting of Walter Clifford Post No. 235, G. A. R., held at their hall, Oct. 2nd, it was resolved that a committee of four consisting of Comrades Miller, Newville, DeBar and Dyer, be appointed to assist the Sons of Veterans of that vicinity, to organize a post at Boyne City, and that notice be given that said committee will meet all Sons of Veterans at the G. A. R. hall, on Saturday, Oct. 16th, at 10 o'clock a. m., to take such action as is necessary to organize a S. of V. P. at this place.

Ironton.

Gilbert Parish of Wayne, is visiting his brother J. D. Parish.

Elder Kanagy preached in the Congregational church on Sunday.

Mrs. McQueer returned from visiting friends in Traverse City on Saturday.

Miss Pearl Lennox was home from Eastport over Sunday.

Town board met at the school house on Saturday.

The "Helping Hand" have secured the services of an elocutionist for an ...

THE CIRCUS BEGINS!

I HAVE RECEIVED A

LARGE INVOICE OF

CLOTHING!

Bought from one of the leading houses of Rochester, N. Y., Which I will sell at Prices that will draw Trade from all over the County.

I think the best advertisement a merchant can have is to have his goods advertise him in good fits and prices that cannot be beat.

GEO. W. MILLER.

The Earthquake Did It!

OUR NEW YORK BUYER TOOK ADVANTAGE OF THE GREAT EXCITEMENT JUST IN TIME TO BUY US A MAMMOTH STOCK OF FALL AND WINTER

CLOAKS.

And writes us that he never before secured such Bargains for us or so desirable styles.

LADIES, wait for our stock which will be here in a few days and we will convince you what an earthquake will do for us.

Everything you need is coming in DRY GOODS, NOTIONS, and all the Leading Fancies.

F. W. CRAINE & CO.

DRY GOODS!

J. L. HURD & CO.

GROCERIES!

Rosenthal & Son's

NEW "29."

NEXT WEEK.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL. XVIII. NO.—25 | CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1886. | WHOLE NO. 882

School Books!

SCHOOL BOOKS! SCHOOL BOOKS!

---HEADQUARTERS---

For Everything needed in the School Room, at

HINES & CO.'S DRUG AND STATIONERY STORE.

You will find it to your interest to look over our stock before purchasing elsewhere.

Respectfully,

F. G. HINES & CO.

UPRIGHT & EMREY,—GENERAL DEALERS.

UPRIGHT & EMREY,

Dealers in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Etc.

CHOICE TEAS,

Best STANDARD JAVA Coffees

Boots & Shoes!

IN ALL GRADES OF MEN'S, WOMEN'S and CHILDREN'S.

We have given more than our usual care and attention to the selection of our stock, and we Know we can please our patrons in all

KINDS OF FOOTWEAR.

UPRIGHT & EMREY.

We can Supply you with EVERYTHING in our Line.

THE FINEST STOCK OF

FURNITURE

ever offered in Charlevoix,

IS NOW AWAITING YOUR INSPECTION AT

Henry C. Cooper's.

A Choice Line of

FRESH GROCERIES,

OF EVERY VARIETY,

Including Confectionery, Fruits, Canned Goods, and Tobaccos and Cigars in stock

For your inspection in OPERA BLOCK by

R. J. COOPER.

STOVES.

THE LARGEST STOCK OF STOVES EVER EXHIBITED IN CHARLEVOIX CO.

NOW ON SALE

AT STOCKMAN & IDDINGS',

HARDWARE STORE.

Intending purchasers are sure of obtaining here the best goods at reasonable prices.

Parties designing to purchase a Heating Stove can, at very little additional expense, secure one of our Handsome Stoves, so much in advance of the old style Round Base. Examine them at your nearest hardware dealer's and be convinced of what we say.

We furnish handsome, self-adjusting side fenders, nickle center band, spun brass urn and the finest finished cold rolled steel body in the market, used by no other manufacturer but ours: also the best damper grate in the world for wood. Made in four sizes--Nos. 15, 18, 21 and 25. Nos. 18, 21 and 25 are made with extension bodies when desired.

WE HAVE A FULL LINE OF THESE STOVES,

YOURS TRULY,

STOCKMAN & IDDINGS.

Sep. 29, 1886

The Best Groceries

At The Lowest Prices

ARE FOUND AT THE GROCERY AND PROVISION HOUSE OF

A. E. MASON.

I do a strictly Cash-over-counter business and will guarantee lowest prices.

J. MILO EATON'S

REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE,

AND LOAN OFFICE.

The oldest in the county. Established in 1875.

Money to loan in sums to suit and at lowest rates on improved farms.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE furnished on short notice. Office over Postoffice.

A. J. McLEOD,

having returned to the Charlevoix Meat Market, announces that he will sell at

Wholesale or Retail

All kinds of

FRESH MEATS,

SALT PORK,

SMOKED & SALTED

HAMS,

Dried and Smoked

BACON, DRIED BEEF, Bologna, Head Cheese, Sausage.

Highest Prices Paid FOR HIDES and PELTS.

Will kill hogs or cattle for other Markets or persons wishing that class of work at low rates.

A. J. McLEOD.

CHARLEVOIX

Manufacturing Co.

Charlevoix, Mich.,

Manufacturers of

Sash and Doors,

Blinds, Mouldings etc.

NEWELL

Posts, Banisters & Stair Rails

kept in stock.

Window & Door Frames made to order.

All Kinds of

Building Material

Kept constantly on hand.

PLANS & SPECIFICATIONS.

Furnished on application.

Cottages made a specialty also contracting and building.

Correspondence solicited.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
SMITH & PARMELEE,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
Address all business correspondence to the firm
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One year $1.50 | Six months $.75
Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

J. S. Smithson returned from the south yesterday.

Z. N. Garbutt of Boyne City, was in town yesterday.

—Apples are coming into market in wagon and boat loads.

H. S. Hipp of South Arm, has just returned from a Chicago visit.

—Mrs. W. H. McCartney, of Banks, is visiting friends in the State of New York.

—Ben Rice of Marion, left yesterday on the excursion to visit friends in southern Michigan.

—Stockman & Iddings, the well known hardware dealers, have a new announcement next week.

—J. L. Hurd & Co. are in receipt of a fine new stock of fall and winter Dry Goods, Groceries etc. Call and see them.

—Mr. J. Beauvais and son Ernest left Monday for the northern peninsula on their annual hunting and trapping tour.

—A. Cameron, wife and child left Monday for Butler county, Pa., to visit relatives. They will remain until after the holidays.

Ben Campbell's house is receiving two coats of paint.

—J. L. Hurd is in Chicago purchasing fall and winter goods.

L. E. Allen left Monday for Grand Rapids and East Saginaw.

John Burns leaves to-day for Colorado where he will spend the winter.

Henry Barth left last night for Manistique to construct a burner for a lumber firm there.

—Mrs. W. S. Stripp, and her two children of Eveline, left Monday for a few weeks visit among friends in Canada.

—Jerome Heath presents a new ad this week. Look it over and when in need of anything in his line go and see his work.

—Prof. Dewey, after teaching two successful terms of writing school here, returned to his home in southern Michigan, Monday.

—Brown & Co., of the Bank of Charlevoix, have a new announcement in this issue, of interest to the banking public. Read it.

—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bishop returned to Kalamazoo Friday. They have spent nearly six months summering at Charlevoix and are always welcome to the best in the land.

—The Board of Corrections and Charities are desirous to ascertain the number, residences, and circumstances of the class commonly known as imbeciles or idiots in Michigan. They will be indebted to any person who will communicate such information to L. C. Storrs, secretary, Lansing. The Charlevoix Prohibitionist correspondent to the Journal, should forward his name at once.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established, 1869.

CHARLEVOIX, OCT. 13, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE, Associate Editor.

Political.

Henry M. Loud, of Oscoda, has been nominated for Congress in the 10th district.

John Seymour, of Escanaba, is the democratic nominee for state senator from that district.

The history of the democratic party has been one of good promises and mighty bad performances.

The prohibition party seems to be a sort of house of refuge for all sorts of political soreheads and malcontents.

The best joke of the season comes from the Grand Rapids Democrat which says: "We (the fusion spoils hunters) are fighting a great battle for principle." Everybody laugh.

John Power, the eleventh district democrat nominee for congress, is the man who lifted up his voice in the democratic state convention against fusion and then lifted it down again.

The Manistique Pioneer reminds the greenbackers that "they have often said that lawyers had been running things too long. Now they have a fusion ticket composed of lawyers. Reform is a wonderful thing."

Let every voter ask himself the question: "Why are the English so anxiously desirous of having free trade with America?" In all commercial transactions with that country America's loss is England's gain. Then isn't this the answer?

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: "When will the earth stop revolving?" is the latest scientific question. We should say such an event is likely to take place at about the same time that the Democratic party shall begin to carry out its promises of reform.

What extravagance. This Democratic administration has made preparations to spend over $40,000,000 more than the nation's income, and yet talks of economy, reform, friendship for the working people, and its anxiety to reduce the burden of taxes.

The Republicans this year have put in nomination their best men, as a perusal of the ticket at the head of our columns will demonstrate, and there can be no just cause for complaint. The greatest good will be gained by voting the whole ticket. Study it carefully and be sure to vote it in November.

With the President's vetoes of the pension bills, the putting of confederate soldiers in the places of Union soldiers, and with Yaple's vote against restoring Gen. Grant, the dying soldier to the army, staring the veterans of Michigan in the face, the bid in the Fusion platform for their vote ought not to have a great deal of weight.

Colonel "Bob" Ingersoll has declared that he would like to see the laboring men have a President of their own and a majority in Congress, in order that they might satisfy themselves how little, after all, can be accomplished by legislation. "They would find," he says, "that making a living in this world is an individual affair, and that each man must look out for himself."

Farmer Luce began farming in Michigan before Lawyer Yaple was born. He has contributed more to the wealth and welfare of Michigan, and knows more about the great and diversified interests of the state than a hundred Yaples. Give us a man for governor, a man who is thoroughly conversant with state affairs; one who is broad and practical and has the confidence of the public.

Republican policies have created and continued the legal rights that are enjoyed by labor. Democratic policies, if they had prevailed, and especially the free trade policy, would have reduced labor in this country to close competition with that of Europe, and to the same condition. The very foundation principles of the Republican party are the guaranty of its mission.

Domestic competition gives employment at good wages to our working men, makes prices low, and keeps the capital employed all at home. This is protection. Free foreign competition takes employment away from our workingmen, and gives it to the workingmen of Europe, crippling our great manufacturing industries, and robbing us of our wealth. This is free trade.

When Yaple, who is now the Fusion candidate for Governor of Michigan, was in Congress, he cast two votes that he will probably hear of occasionally during the campaign. He voted against the bill to restore General Grant to the retired list and in favor of restoring Fitz John Porter to the army of the United States. This is a queer record to ask the people of Michigan to endorse by electing the man who made it to the governorship.

Would free trade effect the farmer? It would take a duty of 20 cents from every bushel of his wheat, 10 cents from every bushel of oats, corn, rye and barley, $2 from every ton of hay, 15 cents from every bushel of potatoes, 4 cents from every pound of butter and every pound of cheese, and reduce the price of his wool and some other products to less than cost. Free trade would do more than this. It would destroy the farmers' home markets and then their products would indeed be profitless.

The Republican party believes in protecting the industries of the country. It wants better wages for its wage earners, and would have prosperity everywhere. The Democratic party used to believe in owning its labor, and now wants free trade and competition without restraint between our laborers and those of Europe, the result of which must be cheaper wages and with it less of the necessities of life and more want, more helplessness, more crime. This is a distinctive feature between the great party of freedom and the Democratic party on one of the vital issues of the day.

Neighborhood News.

Mr. Noble has a piece of corn on this side of Elk Rapids that up to the last day of September had not received the slightest injury from frost.

The Haikin's school district in Wilson township is building a new school house to cost $500. It will be completed for school to begin in December.

The Fusionists of the Cheboygan senatorial district last week nominated the Rev. William H. Miller, of Gaylord, for state senator. His opponent is the Rev. Ansel W. Westgate, of Cheboygan. Candidate Miller is pastor of the Congregational church at Cheboygan.

At a regular meeting of Walter Clifford Post No. 235, G. A. R., held at their hall, Oct. 2nd, it was resolved that a committee of four consisting of Comrades Miller, Newville, DeBar and Dyer, be appointed to assist the Sons of Veterans of that vicinity, to organize a post at Boyne City, and that notice be given that said committee will meet all Sons of Veterans at the G. A. R hall, on Saturday, Oct. 16th, at 10 o'clock a. m., to take such action as is necessary to organize a S. of V. P. at this place.

Ironton.

Gilbert Parish of Wayne, is visiting his brother J. R. Parish.

Elder Kanagy preached in the Congregational church on Sunday.

Mrs. McQueer returned from visiting friends in Traverse City on Saturday.

Miss Pearl Lennox was home from Eastport over Sunday.

Town board met at the school house on Saturday.

The "Helping Hand" have secured the services of an elocutionist for an entertainment in the not distant future.

The Bible reading in the M. E. church on Sunday evening was well attended. Also the prayer service at the Congregational was as well attended as usual. Elder Iddings will preach at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. on Sunday. Sunday school at 10 a. m.

Card of Thanks.

I wish through the SENTINEL to thank the ladies of the Charlevoix resort who recently presented me with a beautiful ingrain carpet. Also those who so kindly remembered us with many other articles which has helped largely to compensate for our loss of last winter. They will always hold a warm place in our hearts and may life's choicest blessings fall liberally to their lot.

MRS. CHAS. KELLEY.

The base ball contest for the league pennant closed Saturday. The Chicago nine still retain possession of the rag, having won three more games than the Detroits and lost two less. New York comes third and Philadelphia comes next. We predict that next year Detroit will win the pennant. She would have done so this year had it not been for unfair umpiring, the game given away by Getzein and those boundary ropes at Chicago.

A steady-going farmer of Kent county, who some three years ago moved from the southern part of the State, says that he knows Hon. Cyrus G. Luce well, and that he believes there are hundreds of farmers that have hitherto voted in opposition to the Republican party, who will not allow party lines or ties to prevent them from voting for Luce, and very many such, he thinks, will vote the entire Republican ticket this year.

App M. Smith started his campaign paper last week. He claims to be a prohibitionist. L. E. Ellis is the prohibition candidate for congress, L. G. Mason the democratic candidate and B. M. Cutcheon republican candidate. He has received subscriptions towards his paper as follows: L. S. Ellis, $25; L. G. Mason, $300; D. Bemis and others, $400. The above indicates the value the democratic candidate for congress places upon the services and influence of a prohibitionist like Smith.

Mr. Powderly struck a sound proposition when he said to the Knights in his address at Richmond: "Of what avail is it to say that we are laboring to establish a system of co-operation, when that which is most essential to the success of co-operation is lacking? A business training is necessary to successfully carry on a co-operative enterprise. If the management of the large or small concerns now in operation in this country were turned over to us today, we would but run them in the ground, for we lack the business training necessary to successfully operate them. Our vanity may prevent us from acknowledging this, it is true, but we cannot deny it. It is through no fault of ours that it is true, but if it continues it will be our fault."

In Hillsdale in 1882 there were nine saloons, open from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. In the spring following a Citizens' League was formed, with the object of enforcing the liquor laws. One saloon was closed. The next year the Prohibitionists begun their little voting as a separate party and in 1885 succeeded in electing a Democratic City Council and Mayor, whose first action was to extend the time for keeping saloons open. Last spring Professor Dickie, now Prohibition candidate for Governor, put in some more work, and in consequence of his aid the Democrats have been able to add two more saloons, and the ten are running fifteen hours a day. Armada, Macomb county, furnishes another sample of third party temperance work. Under a Republican Board the only hotel in the village sold liquor, paying the tax, filing a bond and observing the restrictions of the law. But a new Board consisting of five Prohibitionists and two Democrats allowed another "rum-hole," as they call it to be opened, and allowed its keeper to sell liquor nearly a month before he paid the tax, which is directly in violation of law. There seems to be need of a prohibition campmeeting to define the standing of the third party Prohibitionists.

Evoline Items.

Fine summer weather last week and this.

A. D. Joles and wife, of Melrose, and Gill Parish, of Wayne, were visiting friends and relatives here last week.

R. J. Tuttle, of Grand Rapids, was in town Saturday and Sunday, visiting his parents.

We make out to hear the whistle of the Frank Sears steam yacht quite frequently.

We understand Stillman Parker has sold his 40 acre farm here. Consideration, 1,300.

Robert Bedwin is failing very fast.

Some of our farmers are busily engaged in getting out hemlock ties, which seem to be in great demand.

A. J. McLeod, of Charlevoix, was in town for a short time Thursday.

Miss Jennie Gaunt, of Cleveland, Ohio, arrived last week on a visit to her mother, Mrs. John Gaunt, who has not been expected to live.

Rev. Mr. Wakely preached at the Lewis school house last Sunday evening. He will preach at the Beers district next Sunday at 10 a. m., and at the Lewis district two weeks from last Sabbath, at 7 p. m.

Rev. J. T. Iddings preaches at the Lewis school house at 3 o'clock p. m. next Sabbath.

There seems to be quite a number of our Evelinites going to take in the Detroit excursion on the 19th. This will be a fine opportunity to visit the "City of the Straits."

South Arm.

We are having some very delightful weather, and the farmers are taking advantage of it by plowing and preparing for spring crops.

Jim Isaman is erecting a beautiful and commodious house, also a barn on his lot on Bridge street.

A. Bush has purchased 2 lots of S. G. Isaman, and has built a dwelling house thereon.

The Wilson hoop factory have built a splendid new office near their factory, and E. A. Gibson is doing the painting.

Eugene Cole has returned to this side, and may be found at the Eagle Hotel, which he has opened once more for the reception of the public.

Miss Pauline McIntosh, of Antwerp, N. Y., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. P. L. Lanway. She contemplates spending the winter at this place.

W. C. Cushman and family left last Tuesday for Grand Rapids, where they contemplate making their home for the present. Will says he hopes to return to Charlevoix county ere many years.

Wm. Dunlap occupies the Cushman house.

A number of the logging fraternity have a large amount of logs on skids, and the lumbering business is assuming great proportions in the township.

P. H. LaClair has purchased a fine horse.

Arrangements for our fall and winter Shakspeare readings are being made.

The schooner Arctic loaded with hoops for the Wilson Hoop Co. last Tuesday. She carries about 700,000 hoops. The Charlotte Raab loaded with ties for F. J. Meech.

C. T. Sweet has received a new invoice of shingle-makers from Manistee, his old squad taking the grand bounce. They thought they were the only shingle-makers in Michigan.

Three farmers in this vicinity raised the aggregate amount of 3,400 bushels of potatoes, F. M. Sevrance taking the lead with 2,000 bushels.

Hasings from Hayes.

Amos Webster had his hand severely injured last week Tuesday by the explosion of his gun.

The Pine Lake Lime Co. have commenced operations at Triple Rock, after a rest of almost a year. The company has arranged its business affairs satisfactorily and will now go to work again in earnest.

Whitford and Cram will rebuild their mill at Undine. They have been doing first class work in the past.

The LaPetite loaded with wood at Ka-go-che-weng last Monday.

Frank Kane has been repairing his residence the past week.

A. W. Chew has a field of corn that will yield 100 bushels to the acre.

Amos C. Stauffer and Miss Bessie E. Long were married the 2nd inst. at Petoskey, by Rev. H. E. Davis.

If Mr. Snyder does not sell his Spread Eagle farm on Section 10, he will probably set a force of men at work on it this winter getting out cedar.

Henry Hart has commenced clearing up his farm. He had a logging bee last Friday.

The Captain of the schooner Consuelo, while lying at Whitford's dock last week got out his old blunder-buss and with one of our Hayesites for a pilot, took a sail through the woods in search of woodcock. He succeeded in nearly blowing our Hayesites' top-knot off by carrying his gun cocked through the woods, and when he returned to the boat finding he had not killed his pilot, and no game either, he discharged his gun at an old dutchman, who was wandering along the dock, and filled his pants legs full of shot. The dutchman was badly scared, but happened to be just out of reach of the shot and no harm was done.

The number of applicants for admission to the literary or collegiate department of the University of Michigan is unprecedented, reaching 800. The attendance in all the professional schools is also very large.

A Card.

To the Electors of Charlevoix County:

At the request of many friends from different parts of the county, I take this method of announcing myself as an independent candidate for the office of Register of Deeds, and most respectfully ask for your suffrages.

FRED J. MEECH.

Charlevoix, Oct. 12th 1886.

Go to Scott's shop for a first-class job of horseshoeing.

Marine.

The Queen of the Lakes has returned to Elk Rapids. She has made money this summer.

Saturday the steamer Faxton took shelter at St. Helena in what was supposed a sinking condition, being filled with water until she was down decks to water. They supposed she had sprung a-leak and at one time thought of beaching her but by throwing over 25,000 or 30,000 shingles they succeeded in making the harbor at St. Helena. An examination showed the trouble to be one of the dead lights in her bow was open, and through this the water poured in. The light must have been insecurely fastened or else it was struck by something and knocked open.—Cheboygan Tribune.

The following are the clearances from the port of Charlevoix, for ports outside the Michigan District, for the week ending yesterday evening:

6—Schr. Jessie Phillips, 165,000 ft hardwood lumber Pine Lake Lumber Co. to Chicago.

7—Schr. A. R. Upright, 600 posts Master to [illegible]

7—Schr. Blake, 4 000 ties, W. H. Downer, to Chicago.

8—Schr J. P. Newland, 140 c wood, Downer to Chicago.

8—Schr. Stampede, 280,000 ft hardwood lumber, Pine Lake Lumber Co. to Sheboygan.

9—Schr. Mocking Bird, 1,815 ties, 62 c wood, Upright & Emrey to Chicago.

11—Schr. Arctic, 600,000 hoops, Wilson Hoop Co. to Milwaukee.

12—Schr. Kurt Barnes, 100 c wood, Master to Milwaukee.

12—Schr. LaPetite, 130 c wood Master, to Milwaukee.

The Chicago anarchists on Monday received their sentence. Neebe goes to state prison for fifteen years, and the rest hang on Dec. 2d.

A house and 6 lots for sale or rent, inquire of L. E. Allen, Charlevoix.

NOTICE.—Farmers call and see the Carrier Peerless Plow, the best in the county, at the old court house.

TRIPP & STEVENS.

WANTED—Good, steady men to cut ties and posts. Apply to George Burns, at the livery barn, or Junius S. Dixon, Charlevoix.

Mrs. Litney & Carr, the popular milliners, have just received and are still receiving one of the finest and fullest lines of fall and winter goods ever brought to Charlevoix. The ladies are invited to call in and inspect their stock.

MICHIGAN STATE LAND OFFICE,
LANSING, SEPT. 20th, 1886.

Notice is hereby given, that the following described Primary School and Agricultural College land situated in Charlevoix county, forfeited for non-payment of interest, will be offered for sale at public auction at this office on the 11th day of November, A. D. 1886, at 10 o'clock a. m., unless previously redeemed according to law.

MINOR S. NEWELL,
Commissioner.

PRIMARY SCHOOL LAND.

No. of Cert.	Descrip.	Sec.	Town.	Range.
11,011	N½ of NE¼	16	32 N	5 W
18,202	SW¼ " NE¼	16	32 N	6 W
18,203	W½ " SE¼	16	32 N	5 W

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE LAND.

No. Cert.	Descrip.	Sec.	Town	Range
723	S½ of SE¼	28	32 N	4 W
14,802	SE¼ of SW¼	32	32 N	4 W
15,508	N½ of NW¼	32	32 N	4 W
20,316	SW¼ of SW¼	32	32 N	4 W
20,945	SW¼ of NW¼	32	32 N	4 W
20,945	N½ of NW¼ of SW¼	32	32 N	4 W
20,946	S½ of NW¼ of SW¼	32	32 N	4 W

THE CIRCUS BEGINS!

I HAVE RECEIVED A

LARGE INVOICE OF

CLOTHING!

Bought from one of the leading houses of Rochester, N. Y., Which I will sell at Prices that will draw Trade from all over the County.

I think the best advertisement a merchant can have is to have his goods advertise him in good fits and prices that cannot be beat.

GEO. W. MILLER.

The Earthquake Did It!

OUR NEW YORK BUYER TOOK ADVANTAGE OF THE GREAT EXCITEMENT JUST IN TIME TO BUY US A MAMMOTH STOCK OF FALL AND WINTER

CLOAKS.

And writes us that he never before secured such Bargains for us or so desirable styles.

LADIES, wait for our stock which will be here in a few days and we will convince you what an earthquake will do for us.

Everything you need is coming in DRY GOODS, NOTIONS, and all the Leading Fancies.

F. W. CRAINE & CO.

DRY GOODS!

J. L. HURD & CO.

GROCERIES!

Rosenthal & Son's

NEW "29."

NEXT WEEK.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL. XVIII. NO.—25 CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1886. WHOLE NO. 882

School Books!

SCHOOL BOOKS! SCHOOL BOOKS!

---HEADQUARTERS---

For Everything needed in the School Room, at

HINES & CO.'S DRUG AND STATIONERY STORE.

You will find it to your interest to look over our stock before purchasing elsewhere.

Respectfully,
F. G. HINES & CO.

UPRIGHT & EMREY.—GENERAL DEALERS.

UPRIGHT & EMREY,

Dealers in

Dry Goods, Groceries, Etc.

CHOICE TEAS,

Best Coffees

STANDARD JAVA
CHASE & SANBORN, 87 BROAD ST., BOSTON, MASS., U. S. A.

Boots & Shoes!

IN ALL GRADES OF MEN'S, WOMEN'S and CHILDREN'S.

We have given more than our usual care and attention to the selection of our stock, and we Know we can please our patrons in all

KINDS OF FOOTWEAR.

UPRIGHT & EMREY.

We can Supply you with EVERYTHING in our Line.

THE FINEST STOCK OF

FURNITURE

ever offered in Charlevoix,

IS NOW AWAITING YOUR INSPECTION AT

Henry C. Cooper's.

A Choice Line of

FRESH GROCERIES,

OF EVERY VARIETY,

Including Confectionery, Fruits, Canned Goods, and Tobaccos and Cigars in stock

For your inspection in OPERA BLOCK by

R. J. COOPER.

STOVES.

THE LARGEST STOCK OF STOVES EVER EXHIBITED IN CHARLEVOIX CO.

NOW ON SALE

AT STOCKMAN & IDDINGS', HARDWARE STORE.

Intending purchasers are sure of obtaining here the best goods at reasonable prices.

Parties designing to purchase a Heating Stove can, at very little additional expense, secure one of our Handsome Stoves, so much in advance of the old style Round Base. Examine them at your nearest hardware dealer's and be convinced of what we say.

We furnish handsome, self-adjusting side fenders, nickle center band, spun brass urn and the finest finished cold rolled steel body in the market, used by no other manufacturer but ours: also the best damper grate in the world for wood. Made in four sizes--Nos. 15, 18, 21 and 25. Nos. 18, 21 and 25 are made with extension bodies when desired.

WE HAVE A FULL LINE OF THESE STOVES,

YOURS TRULY,

STOCKMAN & IDDINGS.

Sep. 29, 1886

The Best Groceries

At The Lowest Prices

ARE FOUND AT THE GROCERY AND PROVISION HOUSE OF

A. E. MASON.

I do a strictly Cash-over-counter business and will guarantee lowest prices.

J. MILO EATON'S

REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE, AND LOAN OFFICE.

The oldest in the county. Established in 1875.

Money to loan in sums to suit and at lowest rates on improved farms.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE furnished on short notice. Office over Postoffice.

A. J. McLEOD,

having returned to the Charlevoix Meat Market, announces that he will sell at

Wholesale or Retail

All kinds of

FRESH MEATS, SALT PORK, SMOKED & SALTED HAMS, Dried and Smoked BACON, DRIED BEEF, Bologna, Head Cheese, Sausage.

Highest Prices Paid FOR HIDES and PELTS.

Will kill hogs or cattle for other Markets or persons wishing that class of work at low rates.

A. J. McLEOD.

CHARLEVOIX Manufacturing Co.

Charlevoix, Mich.,

Manufacturers of

Sash and Doors, Blinds, Mouldings etc.

NEWELL Posts, Banisters & Stair Rails kept in stock.

Window & Door Frames made to order.

All Kinds of

Building Material

Kept constantly on hand.

PLANS & SPECIFICATIONS.

Furnished on application.

Cottages made a specialty also contracting and building.

Correspondence solicited.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY

SMITH & PARMELEE,

Charlevoix, - Michigan.

Address all business correspondence to the firm

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One year - $1 50 | Six months - $ 75

Invariably in Advance

Local News.

J. S. Smithson returned from the south yesterday.

—Z. N. Gelbutt of Boyne City, was in town yesterday.

Apples are coming into market in wagon and boat loads.

—H. H Hipp of South Arm, has just returned from a Chicago visit.

Mrs. W. H. McCartney, of Banks, is visiting friends in the State of New York.

Ben Rice of Marion, left yesterday on the excursion to visit friends in southern Michigan.

—Stockman & Iddings, the well known hardware dealers, have a new announcement next week.

—J. L. Hurd & Co. are in receipt of a fine new stock of fall and winter Dry Goods, Groceries etc. Call and see them.

—Mr. J. Beauvais and son Ernest left Monday for the northern peninsula on their annual hunting and trapping tour.

—A. Cameron, wife and child left Monday for Butler county, Pa., to visit relatives. They will remain until after the holidays.

—A letter from Byron See written at Detroit states that Mrs. See is improving in health. By. is able to take his meals regularly.

—The family of Rev. D. A. Waterman arrived Saturday, and the pastoral residence has been established in the house of Mrs. Burns, on Clinton street.

—B. W. Miller returned last week from Chicago with a fine work team, and a full blood Norman stallion, not yet two years old which weighs 1,375 pounds.

—J. P. Hart and wife and S. R. Hart and wife returned to Ionia yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Hart have been the guests of the former for the past six weeks.

—There will be a social gathering at the Congregational church this evening, in honor of the new pastor and wife. Free refreshments will be served. All are invited.

—Rosenthal & Son in their new advertisement announce the advent of their new fall and winter stock of Dry Goods, Clothing, Cloaks, etc. Call and see their assortment.

—John J. Brush, Sr., of Lansing, died recently. Mr. Brush was generally known here by the old settlers. He was a warm friend of Hon. J. S. Dixon, whom he visited frequently.

—Jas. E. Wood, of this place, has secured a situation as traveling salesman with Chas. Wright & Son, Manufacturing Chemists, of Detroit. They will find Mr. Wood a competent and faithful agent. He leaves next week. His route will probably be in Ohio.

—At the senatorial convention for this district, held in Traverse City last Friday, W. W. Barton of Leland was elected on the 16th ballot. R. Goodrich and Dr. Ashton both of Traverse City were contesting candidates. Mr. Barton served a term in the legislature with credit in 1881 and will certainly be elected this fall.

—Died—at this institution on Thursday, Sept. 30th, 1886. Robert Nicholls, infant son of Robert and Mary Paddock—aged 4 months and 15 days. Little Robert the idol of his parents, at first gave great promise; but he grew sick and continued to linger until God took him to his own heavenly abode. The Ohio Industrial School Journal.

Elk Rapids Progress: As Charlevoix is the Queen summer resort of Northern Michigan, so is the Bridge Street House at that place, an enjoyable place to stay. R. A. Campbell is the proprietor, and an excellent hotel man.  The Charlevoix Manufacturing Co. do very excellent work, and as Charlevoix is booming they must of course keep up with the boom.

—The Spanish Doctress was arraigned in Justice McLeod's court, Thursday, on the charge of slander. The jury found her guilty, and the court sentenced her to pay a fine of $20 and costs ($48.00 in all) and remain ten days in jail, and in default of the payment of the fine to remain in jail 35 days longer. It was the desire of the court to send her over the road for 90 days, but the contract with the house of correction had expired.

—The following is a list of the Detroit excursionists from Charlevoix: Lizzie Beauvais, Will Cooper, M. Washburn, W. P. Brown, Mrs Ned Brown, T. D. Smith and daughter, R. W. Kane and wife, Anna McLeod, Wm. Ranger and wife, Jacob Weyburn, Anna Bell, Ed Newman, Thos. Shrier and sister, Fred and Maggie Green Mrs J. T. Iddings, Rev. Mr. Clark, Mrs. Ira Morehouse, Capt. J. Penfold, W. B. Vosburg and wife, Mrs. O. Upright, Mrs. Berdan and Effie, Jennie Washburn, George Wilson, and Milton Savory. The train left Petoskey yesterday morning.

Ben Campbell's house is receiving two coats of paint.

J. L. Hurd is in Chicago purchasing fall and winter goods.

—L. E. Allen left Monday for Grand Rapids and East Saginaw.

—John Burns leaves to-day for Colorado where he will spend the winter.

—Henry Barth left last night for Manistique to construct a burner for a lumber firm there.

—Mrs W. S. Stripp, and her two children of Eveline, left Monday for a few weeks visit among friends in Canada.

—Jerome Heath presents a new ad this week. Look it over and when in need of any thing in his line go and see his work.

Prof. Dewey, after teaching two successful terms of writing school here, returned to his home in southern Michigan, Monday.

Brown & Co., of the Bank of Charlevoix, have a new announcement in this issue, of interest to the banking public. Read it.

—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bishop returned to Kalamazoo Friday. They have spent nearly six months summering at Charlevoix and are always welcome to the best in the land.

—The Board of Corrections and Charities are desirous to ascertain the number, residences, and circumstances of the class commonly known as imbecils or idiots in Michigan. They will be indebted to any person who will communicate such information to L. C. Storrs, secretary, Lansing. The Charlevoix Prohibitionist correspondent to the Journal, should forward his name at once.

—The Charlevoix Florida Colony will be larger than ever this winter. The following gentlemen expect to leave about the first of December for Fort Orange: L. D. Bartholomew, E. Carpenter, Bert Mason, M. J. Stockman, C. Y. Cook, Sib Ackert. Mr. Cook will act as steward and fish and deer story teller. We expect to receive some interesting letters from our own correspondents, Messrs. Carpenter and Stockman.

An ex-saloonist of Charlevoix avows that he will do all in his power to defeat Capt. Berdan, because the latter made a complaint against him for violation of law in keeping his saloon open on Sunday. He (the ex-saloonist) laid particular stress upon the fact that it was no more Berdan's duty to make the complaint than of any other citizen. True, but Capt. Berdan did it like an order-loving citizen, and he would do it again did any further offense of this kind come to his notice. Let prohibitionists paste this item in their hats for reference. Sheriff Berdan has never failed to do his duty wherever and whenever he found it; and saloons where he lives have to live up to the law or he jumps down their throat very expeditiously.

The Prohibition Ticket.

The county Prohibition convention was held in this village last Thursday, and the following ticket was put in the field: Sheriff, Henry Sheldon of Eveline, Clerk, B. Sutfield, of Charlevoix; Register, Jas. E. Stone, of South Arm; Treasurer, Hiram Thompson of Evangeline. No Surveyor, Circuit Court Commissioner or Coroners were nominated.

Attention Comrades of Baxter Post G. A. R., No. 119.

There will be a logging and grubbing bee at the Soldiers' cemetery grounds, Friday, Oct. 22, 1886. Bring your axes, mattocks, shovels and your dinners. Hot coffee will be furnished by the committee.

W. A. AITCHINSON,
D. BIGELOW,
Committee.

General Cutcheon comes before the people of the 9th Congressional District with a four years record of which no constituent can justly complain. Upon all questions he has been always right. His experience four years in congress especially fits him for still another term, and who can question the wisdom of his return. Can Lyman G. Mason represent this district with the effectiveness that Gen. Cutcheon can?

The fact that a United States senator is to be elected in Michigan next winter makes it of the greatest importance that the republicans should secure a good majority in the legislature. This majority should be so decided and emphatic that no possible question of combinations, or personal influences can be made to effect the more important question of the general good for the state and party. See to it then, republicans.

Jackson Citizen: When he was in congress Lawyer Yaple voted against the Hennepin canal bill on the ground that the general government has no right to make internal improvements. The design of this bill was to appropriate money to dig a ship canal from the Mississippi river to Lake Michigan, a project which will sometime be accomplished, and will prove of inestimable benefit to western farmers by affording them cheap rates for the transportation of their products to the eastern markets. This canal has been approved and its construction urged by all western granges and knights of labor; yet Yaple voted against it. His ability to vote wrong has never been excelled by any congressman from this state.

Fresh oysters direct from Baltimore at Jerome's market.

Religious.

M. E. Church.

Rev. W. H. McCartney, of Banks, has been appointed to supply the M. E. pulpit of Charlevoix for the current Conference year and he will occupy the parsonage next week. Sunday he will occupy the pulpit morning and evening. The appointment meets with general endorsement. Mr. McCartney is an able preacher, and a Christian gentleman.

Rev. J. T. Iddings will preach at Black's school house next Sabbath at 3 p. m. Also at Johnson's school house in the evening.

Congregational Church.

A reception will be held at the Congregational church this evening. Lunch will be served from six to eight.

Historical Society.

The first regular meeting of the Historical Society will be held at the home of Mrs. O. D. Wood on Friday evening, Oct. 22d, at 8 p. m., local time, twenty minutes faster than standard time.

The programme will be as follows:

1. Music.
2. Five minute speeches.
3. The Historical Society—object and influence. Prof. Enos.
4. Results. President Green.
5. Tenor Solo—"The Gay Huzzar" W. A. Smith.
6. Reflections upon the character of Stonewall Jackson. Dr. Carlstein.

All who have been or desire to become members are invited to attend.

The Possible Result.

The prohibitionists of Charlevoix county, in their convention last week, effected a political organization, and put into the field a county ticket.

The abstract question of third party action in the temperance reform movement is one that has been discussed until none need be ignorant of the character of its claims, or the effect of their prosecution.

The prohibition party movement is and always has been a perversity of human nature, in that it has always worked injury to its own cause. To deny that the Republican party, in Michigan especially, has always had a clean record upon that question, and that the prohibition party has been principally recruited from the ranks of the Republican party to the profit of Democracy, is to deny history. With a record of enmity toward the principle of prohibition of the liquor traffic, Democracy has been singularly polite toward political prohibitionists.

Of the honesty of purpose of the individual members of the prohibition party in Charlevoix county we have nothing to say. But this question suggests itself. Is there not a marked inconsistency in the work of these gentlemen in this year of our Lord, 1886?

The traditionally unfortunate Democracy have represented at the head of their county ticket the ideal of that element which these reformers are warring against. His election they would deplore as the triumph of the very principle they combat. His defeat would be a rebuke to those who hate temperance and encourage the rum traffic.

In Charlevoix county there is a Republican majority of about 250. The fusionists claim they can even reduce that. With the historical fact existing that a very large majority of the prohibition vote comes from Republicans, does it need a philosopher to foretell the possible result of this third party movement?

That there is danger ahead for the temperance cause in Charlevoix county cannot be denied; and if injury comes to it, it will be self-inflicted.

Capt. Berdan's election was probable before the prohibitionists made it doubtful. Either he or his Democratic competitor will be the next Sheriff. With the situation clearly defined before them, we ask these gentlemen, which shall it be?

The strike at the Chicago packing houses effects a vast branch of industry and the market for one of the principal American products. Each side in the contest claims that it can afford the suspension. The great stock-raising industry is not consulted in this quarrel, though it is directly concerned. The question most prominent at the outset is the success or failure of the effort at arbitration. The majority of these difficulties have been smoothed away by the friendly agency of the labor associations. No other avenue seems open to a peaceful solution. Each side feels independent and disinclined to yield. With the packers it is a question of their business. With the men on a strike the issue is a great industrial reform, as they view it. The apparent probability is that a determined effort will be made to fill up the works with new men, starting a long contest to be fought out on that line. Later. Efforts at arbitration have failed, Armour declaring that "it shall be ten hours or nothing." The vast establishment is literally a military camp, and large numbers of armed men guard the premises.

Kalamazoo Telegraph: The followers of candidate Yaple have been busy making denials of what is said about him, but some of their replies do not deny much. The family characteristics to which he is heir is a matter of no particular moment, though there is no reason for denying the facts. The elder Yaple denies that during the war he was hostile to the measures for the preservation of the union. That is neither here nor there, but the fact he assumes to deny was notorious in his section at the time.

SENATOR SHERMAN.

Extracts from His Recent Speech at Portsmouth, O.—A Clear Exposition of the Issues of the Day.

Hon. John Sherman made the opening speech of the Ohio campaign, at Portsmouth, a few evenings ago. The distinguished orator was taken in charge by a committee of the Morton club, under whose auspices the meeting was held. Mr. Sherman, on being introduced, spoke as follows:

[illegible]

...erty, and became useful and respected citizens.

Among the false pretenses of the Democratic party none is more false than the pretense that they ever had been or are now the friends of the laboring man. In their platform and speeches nothing is more common than the repetition of this falsehood. The Democratic party has never framed or adopted any measures of substantial benefit to laboring men. [illegible]

POLITICAL POINTS.

[illegible]

POWDERLY TALKS.

The Grand Master Workman of the Knights of Labor Reviews the Social and Educational Necessities of the Order—Why He Opposed the Railroad and Eight-Hour Strikes.

RICHMOND, Oct. 6.—[illegible]

A BIG STRIKE.

[illegible]

AUSTIN F. PIKE.

[illegible]

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

[illegible]

THE COMBINED
STEAM FURNITURE
—AND—
Agate Works,
CHARLEVOIX, . . . MICH

The undersigned announces that he is prepared to take orders for
REPAIRING OR BUILDING
Furniture of all Kinds
ON SHORT NOTICE.

MY LAPIDARY
Is in first-class shape for working or polishing all choice stones.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

CORNELIUS BUDD.
All Goods not called for within ninety days will be sold for charges.
Charlevoix, Nov. 20, 1885.

Northern Michigan
Boiler Works.
Builder and Manufacturer of
Boilers, Heaters,
LARD TANKS, ETC.
OF ALL KINDS
SHEET IRON WORK
A SPECIALTY.
MARINE WORK
Given Special Attention
HENRY BARTH, Proprietor,
Charlevoix, Mich.

MILWAUKEE, LAKE SHORE & WESTERN RAILWAY.
The Only Line Running
TWO DAILY TRAINS
—BETWEEN—
Wausau and Milwaukee and Chicago
THE AIR LINE TO OSHKOSH.
TIME TABLE.

FRANK E. WOOD'S
BATH AND BARBER ROOMS

FARMING LAND!
500,000 ACRES
Of Splendid
Michigan Lands
FOR SALE BY THE
G. R. & I. R. R. COMPANY.
60,000 Acres in Charlevoix County.
WATER AND RAIL.
Not a Wilderness, by any Means.
W. H. HOGHART, Commissioner, Grand Rapids, Mich.

HUMPHREYS'
Manual of all Diseases,
CLOTH and GOLD
Mailed Free.
HOMEOPATHIC
SPECIFICS.

WM. J. STEVENSON,
VETERINARY HORSE-SHOER.
Interfering and crippled horses shod satisfactorily or no charge.
Repairing done promptly.

The Old Doctor
A Life Experience. Remarkable and quick cures. Trial Packages. Send stamp for sealed particulars. Address
Dr. WARD & CO. Louisiana, Mo.

IOWA ROUTE
BURLINGTON
CEDAR RAPIDS
& NORTHERN
RY.
THE SHORT & POPULAR LINE
for all points in IOWA, MINNESOTA, DAKOTA, and the New Northwest.

SOLID TRAINS
WITH
PULLMAN SLEEPERS
Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Paul
FAMOUS ALBERT LEA ROUTE
St. Louis, Minneapolis & St. Paul
Land Seekers' Round Trip Tickets

The Line selected by the U. S. Gov't to carry the Fast Mail.

Burlington Route
C. B. & Q. R. R.

CHICAGO, PEORIA & ST. LOUIS
AND DENVER
ILLINOIS, IOWA, MISSOURI, NEBRASKA, KANSAS, COLORADO

AN UNHONORED MAN.

[illegible]

THE CONSERVATIVE SOUTH.

[illegible]

FARM AND FIRESIDE.

[illegible]

TRAINING HORSES.

[illegible]

FROM EVERYWHERE.

[illegible]

A CITY EPISODE.

[illegible]

THE MARKETS.

[illegible]

TIRED OUT!
BROWN'S IRON BITTERS
—THE BEST TONIC
BROWN CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

MASON & HAMLIN
NOW SELL THEIR
UNRIVALED ORGANS
UPRIGHT PIANOS,
MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN AND PIANO CO.
Boston, New York, Chicago.

ACME
BANJO METHOD.
By N. P. B. CURTISS. Price, $1.25.
THE ROYAL SINGER.
SONGS OF PROMISE.
PIANO CLASSICS,
BOOKS MAILED FOR RETAIL PRICE.
LYON & HEALY, CHICAGO.
OLIVER DITSON & CO., Boston.

ASK FOR THE
W. L. DOUGLAS
$3.
BEST TANNERY CALF
BOTTOM SEWED

$15,000
IN GOLD AND SILVER AND
$6,000.00
IN HANDSOME PRESENTS GIVEN AWAY.
THE KANSAS MAGAZINE
FREE BIBLE COMPETITION!
"SEARCH THE SCRIPTURES" AT ONCE.
An Easy Chance for a Big Reward.
MIDDLE REWARDS.
LAST REWARDS.
TOTAL VALUATION OVER $21,000.00.
U PAY NOTHING FOR COMPETING!
THE KANSAS MAGAZINE, KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Purifies the Blood
Hood's Sarsaparilla
100 Doses One Dollar

DR. JOHN BULL'S
Smith's Tonic Syrup
FOR THE CURE OF
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER,
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

COCKLE'S
ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS.

JONES
PAYS the FREIGHT
$60.

WASHBURN GUITAR

CATARRH

GUNS
MAGIC LANTERNS!
SOLDIERS
HOME STUDY.
HAIR
TRUSSES
TELEGRAPHY
OPIUM
$5
PENSION
MILO B. STEVENS & CO.
AGENTS
WANTED GOOD MAN

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established, 1869.

CHARLEVOIX, OCT. 20, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE, Associate Editor.

Republican Senatorial Convention.

A Republican Senatorial Convention for the twenty ninth senatorial district, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for State Senator, will be held at ... hall in Traverse City, in Grand Traverse county, on Friday, the 15th day of October, 1886, at 3 p. m.

By the basis of representation adopted by the last senatorial convention Grand Traverse county will be entitled to 8 delegates, Antrim to 5, Charlevoix to 5, Leelanaw to 4 and Manitou 1.

A. K. DOUGHERTY,
CHARLES W. WILLIAMS,
R. GOODRICH,
FRED W. MAYNE,
ISAAC WRIGHT,

Dated Oct 2, 1886. Committee.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

State Ticket.

For Governor—CYRUS G. LUCE, of Branch.
For Lieutenant Governor—JAMES H. McDONALD, of Delta.
For Secretary of State—GILMAN R. OSMAN, of Wayne.
For Treasurer—GEORGE L. MALTZ, of Alpena.
For Auditor General—HENRY H. APLIN, of Bay.
For Attorney General—MOSES TAGGART, of Kent.
For Commissioner of State Land Office—ROSCOE D. DIX, of Berrien.
For Superintendent of Public Instruction—JOSEPH ESTABROOK.
For Member State Board of Education—SAMUEL S. BABCOCK, of Wayne.

Republican Congressional Ticket.

For Representative in Congress, Ninth District—BYRON M. CUTCHEON, of Manistee.

Legislative Ticket.

For Representative in the State Legislature, Charlevoix District—ARCHIBALD E. DOUGHERTY, of Elk Rapids.

County Ticket.

For Sheriff— ...

Northern Michigan News.

Nelson & Co., of Northport, have already contracted for 30,000 bushels of potatoes.

Milt Newkirk, the bright Mancelona attorney will locate at Elk Rapids in the near future.

If there were fifty houses in Mancelona, tenants could be found for each and all of them.

Cadillac has a very flourishing night school, numbering among its pupils both children and adults.

The total number of entries at the Grand Traverse county fair were 1,440, and the gross receipts were $772.50.

The iron ore shipments from Marquette during the season have been 709,313 tons; St. Ignace, 58,272 tons; Escanaba, 1,207,410 tons.

The editor of the Mancelona Herald has been presented with a potato grown in Antrim county soil, which lacks six ounces of weighing four pounds.

Alpena welcomed the first train of cars into the city at 9 o'clock last week Monday night with banners flying, and a general exhibition of enthusiasm.

The sale of Hannah, Lay & Co.'s pine lands, saw mills and lumber docks was consummated last Friday, John Torrents of Muskegon, paying $780,000 for the same.

The salt product for September was: Saginaw county, 124,353 barrels; Bay, 96,141; Huron, 28,510; ...

EDUCATIONAL.

MONTHLY REPORT

Of the Charlevoix Public Schools for the Month Ending October 8, 1886.

...

H. M. Enos, Supt.

...

A STUDENT.

THE PIONEER HOUSE OF CHARLEVOIX CO.

New Fall Goods,

BEING RECEIVED WEEKLY.

We call especial attention to our complete stock of

BOOTS and SHOES.

TEAS of all kinds. We will guarantee you the best Tea for the money, in the county.

ALL GRADES of FRESH ROASTED AND GREEN COFFEES.

A Fine line of Everything in

FURNITURE.

BIG DRIVES IN

Flannels, Yarns, and Blankets.

Please bear in mind that our stock embraces

EVERYTHING

usually found in a General Store.

Remember: Our Goods are the Best. Our Prices the Lowest. Our Record the Oldest.

Resp'y Yours,

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

For Finest

JOB WORK,

Patronize The Sentinel.

For Sale!

Prof. RICE'S ... House and two beautiful lots on Clinton street near the Park in the village of Charlevoix, are now for sale. Enquire of G. M. RICE, Alpena, Mich., or F. H. GREEN, Charlevoix, Mich.
May 4, 1886.

Teachers' Examination.

The examination of teachers in Charlevoix county for the ensuing school year, will occur as follows: At Charlevoix, Friday the 10th day of September, 1886; at East Jordan, Friday the 24th day of September, 1886; at Boyne City, Friday, October 29th, 1886. At Boyne City, Friday March 25th 1887 and at East Jordan on Friday April 29th 1887. All examinations to commence at 9 o'clock a. m. and candidates to furnish stationery.

WILLIAM HARRIS, Secretary.

NEW SHOP!

All kinds of

Blacksmithing,

At the Shop in the Foundry Building.

Horseshoeing a specialty.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

M. SCOTT.

CHARLEVOIX

Savings Bank.

Organized under the General Banking Law of the State of Michigan.

Henry Bennett, Pres.; John Nicholls, Vice Pres.; F. A. Smith, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:
Henry Bennett, G. D. Wood.
John Nicholls, A. Buttars.
A. R. Upright, A. Fox,
F. A. Smith.

CAPITAL, ... $25,000
SURPLUS, ... 2,000

... $50,000 ...

CORRESPONDENTS.
NATIONAL PARK BANK ... NEW YORK.
COMMERCIAL NAT. BANK ... CHICAGO.
NAT. CITY BANK ... GRAND RAPIDS.
DETROIT NAT. BANK ... DETROIT.

Take The Sentinel.

Mortgage Sale.

A mortgage dated the 12th of September, 1879, executed by Oliver S. Horton and Lauretta J. Horton to David Carpenter, recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix county, Michigan, September 29th, 1879 in Liber 4 of mortgages on page 80 ... at 12 o'clock noon November 26th, 1886.

Dated August 31st 1886.
DAVID CARPENTER Mortgagee.
DART & CALL, Att'ys for Mortgagee.

Mortgage Sale.

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the money due and secured by a certain mortgage dated the 4th day of March, A. D. 1882, executed by Carrie Watson of ... Charlevoix county and State of Michigan to Martha J. Ayers of Charlevoix, Michigan, ... on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1886, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day.

Dated at Charlevoix, the 18th day of August, 1886.
MARTHA J. AYERS, Mortgagee.
J. M. CLARK, Attorney for the Mortgagee.

Mortgage Sale.

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the money due and secured by a certain mortgage dated the 1st day of August A. D. 1881, executed by George B. Thompson and Ada R. Thompson, his wife of Boyne City, Charlevoix county and state of Michigan, to Alden Chamberlin of Charlevoix, Michigan, ... on the 30th day of November, A. D. 1886, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day.

MARTHA J. AYERS, Assignee.
J. M. CLARK, Attorney for Assignee.

A. R. UPRIGHT. OSCAR UPRIGHT

FARMS, VILLAGE PROPERTY,

And TIMBER LAND

FOR SALE BY

UPRIGHT BROS.,

40 Acre Farm, ... Price $1,100 ...

80 Acres on Susan Lake, in Hayes Township, heavily timbered with Maple, Elm, Basswood and Beech ... Price $1,000.

40 Acre Farm, situated 4 miles south of Charlevoix on county Road ... Price $1,500. Two-thirds down, balance on time if desired.

55 Acres, ... from village of Charlevoix on shore of Lake Michigan ...

160 Acres, on section 30, Township 34, N. R. 8 W., heavily timbered with Maple, Elm and Basswood ...

50 Acres in Marion, 2 miles from Haydon & Nash's mill, 12 acres cleared and seeded to grass ... Price $600, one-half down.

160 Acre Farm ... from Horton's Bay and same distance from Bear Lake ... Price $2,500; will sell in 80 acre lots if desired.

60 Acres of wild Land in Township of Wilson, 3½ miles from Boyne City ... Price $600 one-half down.

52 Acres 2 miles from Sweet's mill on South Arm ... Price $500, will take a good team in exchange.

40 Acres 3 miles from Charlevoix, all heavily timbered with Maple, Beech, Hemlock and Cedar, will sell for $400.

80 Acres wild land between Horton's Bay and Bay Springs; Price $500, will trade for live stock.

80 Acres of as good land as can be found in the county ... Price $1,000 ... A great bargain.

160 Acres known as the Inwood Farm in Norwood ... Price $4,000, one half down ...

80 Acres on the State Road, 7 miles south of Charlevoix, 2½ miles from Norwood ... Price $1,000 one half down balance on time with interest at 7 per cent.

2 Village Lots in Petoskey finely located ...

A good Lot in Boyne City near the Skating Rink. Price $75.

100 Lots on Upright & Hurlbut's addition to the Village of Charlevoix at prices to suit all ...

Four good houses and lots in Charlevoix. Price from $500 to $1,200.

A Business Lot on Bridge Street, Charlevoix, water front, terms easy.

WE OWN THE ONLY
COMPLETE Set of ABSTRACTS
Of Charlevoix County,

And all work intrusted to our care shall have prompt and careful attention

We are Agents for some of The
BEST FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES
And will guarantee as low rates as any first class concerns.

CONVEYANCING,
NEATLY AND PROMPTLY DONE.
Non-Residents' interests looked after, Taxes paid Collectionsmade, etc.

D. Sherwood & Co

Dealers in

BOOTS AND SHOES.

1-3 OFF SALE!

At Miss Spaulding's

MILLINERY ROOMS,

I will sell my entire stock of goods, except Yarns and Crewels at greatly reduced prices for cash only.

Any lady purchasing goods to the amount of $3.00 will receive a present of her choice of any untrimmed felt hat in the store.

Come early and secure a Bargain.

MISS L. SPAULDING.

MICHIGAN STATE LAND OFFICE,
LANSING, SEPT. 20th, 1886.

Notice is hereby given, that the following described Primary School and Agricultural College land situated in Charlevoix county, forfeited for non-payment of interest, will be offered for sale at public auction at this office on the 11th day of November, A. D. 1886, at 10 o'clock a. m., unless previously redeemed according to law.

MINOR S. NEWELL, Commissioner.

Offices To Rent.

A number of desirable offices to rent in the Sentinel block. Inquire at this office.

McCABE'S

MARKET

Is supplied with

All Kinds Of

MEATS

At Lowest Prices.

CASH PAID FOR FAT CATTLE, Hides, Sheep and Hogs.

Corner of State & Mason sts.,

JOHN McCABE.

It Pays to Buy the

BEST BOATS!

The large number of boats I have built for resorters, are advertisements of what I have done and can do in boat building. Call and get references.

I will guarantee the best modelled, easiest rowing and best sailing boats in Northern Michigan for the

LEAST MONEY!

All kinds of Oars, and Paddles made.

LEAVE ORDERS

with me for a boat for next summer's use. I am bound to please you.

J. BEAUVAIS.

A. D. Bradbeer,

PHOTOGRAPHER,

OFFICE OVER

UPRIGHT & EMREY'S STORE.

I will make Cabinet Photographs,

A SPECIALTY!

At Lowest Prices

Consistent with

GOOD WORK.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Dr. Crouter.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS

ATTORNEYS

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

CRUICKSHANK & GEIER, Attorneys at Law, ... Charlevoix, Mich.

JOSEPH M. CLARK, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

PAILTHORP & GEORGE, Attorneys and Solicitors, Petoskey Mich.

DART & CALL, Attorneys, Petoskey, Mich.

R. L. CORBETT, Attorney at law, Boyne City, Mich. (Prosecuting Attorney of Charlevoix County.)

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS

L. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

WM. M. PRESTON, M. D. Physician and Surgeon, 4 doors west of Ingleside, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. A. CARLSTEIN, M. D., Office at residence, ... Charlevoix, Mich.

SOCIETIES.

G. A. R.—Baxter Post No. 119, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC—Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, F. & A. M. Tuesday ... before full moon. Hall over Post office.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 231, meets second Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

K. O. T. M.—... Tent No. 138, meets second Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows Hall.

L. O. T. —True Blues No. 151, meet Saturday on or before full moon. In Odd Fellows' hall.

EMMET CHAPTER No. 104, R. A. M., meets at Petoskey on the first Monday of each month.

IVANHOE COMMANDERY No. 10, K. T., meets at their Asylum in Petoskey on the first Thursday of each month.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY meets every Tuesday evening at the homes of the members, during the fall and winter months.

...

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

B. SUFFIELD, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Domestic Cases, etc. Charlevoix, Mich.

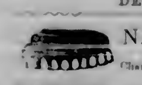
BARBER.

JAY PRICE, Barber, east side of Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

A. E. and J. S. DIXON, Surveyors and Engineers, Charlevoix, Mich. (Deputy County Surveyors Charlevoix county.)

DENTIST.



N. J. PERRY, Dentist. ... Charlevoix, Mich.

Fresh Stock of

GROCERIES

AT THE

NEW GROCERY.

Corner of Antrim and Grant Streets.

It is my aim to keep a full line of choice Groceries at lowest prices.

Your trade is solicited

Butter and Eggs wanted.

A. J. MUDGE.

MILLINERY

AND

FANCY GOODS!

Mrs. ELLA SMITH & Miss ANNIE COOPER

Have opened a store in the Ingleside Building, and invite their friends to call and inspect their fine stock of

FANCY GOODS!

Of all varieties usually kept in a first-class millinery store.

Washburn & Ackert,

FOUNDREYMEN,

... MACHINISTS,

And Manufacturers of The

Charlevoix Plow.

HER SACRIFICE.

Pretty little Grace Wentworth listened eagerly for her husband's coming home. She had been married but a year, and that evening was the anniversary of her wedding.

"He will bring me that exquisite diamond ring, I'm sure. Linnette Osborn's husband gave her an elegant pearl cross on their anniversary. Harry knows I'm just wild about that ring and—ah! here he comes now," she said.

A moment after a quick, firm step came through the hall, the door opened, and Harry Wentworth came forward, kissed the bright lips held up to him, and, taking off the wrapping, held forward an exquisite bouquet of rare exotics.

"Here, darling," he said, "I wanted to bring you something different to-day, but I dared not do it. We must wait for better times. This day, the anniversary of the very happiest of my life, I thought to have brought my little wife something of greater value to express my appreciation and love. But these flowers must speak for me."

Grace took the flowers, pressed them to her lips to hide their quivering, but she could not hide from the loving, watchful eyes of her husband the look of disappointment all over her face.

"There, there! never mind, love. I know you are disappointed; but cheer up, little wife. I trust this sad state of affairs will not last very long, and then you shall have your diamond ring," Harry said, gently caressing her.

At the mention of the ring Grace could restrain her tears no longer. She sobbed right out.

"Four days ago Linnette Osborn's husband gave her a lovely pearl cross and chain, and—and I told her what I hoped for. She will think it so queer, and I will be so mortified. What can I say? She will surely ask me. And, Harry, I don't think Will Osborn is doing any better business than you."

Harry Wentworth's fine face grew very grave, and he said, in a slightly reproachful tone.

...

These Are Solid Facts.

The best blood purifier and system regulator ever placed within the reach of suffering humanity, truly is Electric Bitters. ... Every bottle guaranteed to give entire satisfaction or money refunded. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Dr. G. W. Crouter.

A Captain's Fortunate Discovery.

Capt. Coleman, schr. Weymouth, plying between Atlantic City and N. Y., had been troubled with a cough so that he was unable to sleep, and was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. ... Trial Bottles of this Standard Remedy at Dr. G. W. Crouter's Drug Store.

THE GOODS OF STEAMERS.

...

HANNAH, LAY & CO'S BOATS.

...

Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad.

...

C. L. LOCKWOOD, Gen'l Pass. Agent

Ear Ache and Leg Ache.

... —Clarissa Potter.

RIFENBURG

MILLING CO.

Charlevoix, Mich.

Manufacturers of and Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

3 EXTRA GRADES OF

FLOUR

Feed, Corn Meal, Graham

CASH FOR WHEAT.

GELLICK & INGALLS

Dealers in

Choice Wines,

Fine Liquors

EXCELLENT CIGARS.

We call Special Attention to our

Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

We also keep continually on draught

Milwaukee Export and lager Beer.

Bridge St., 1st door south of Sentinel.

The Kalamazoo

"DAILY TELEGRAPH."

Contains the Associated Press Dispatches

Sent by Mail at 50c a month.

--THE--

Best Show!

---OF---

STOVES.

The ROUND OAK,
And SQUARE BASE
HEATING STOVES.

COMPLETE STOCK OF NEW HARDWARE.

JOB & TIN WORK. VERY BEST PUMPS.

L. D. Bartholomew & Co.

THE BEST

Drugs, Confectionery, Stationery,

BOOKS & PAPERS,

FISHING TACKLE, Etc,

Soda Water, Mineral Water, Cigars,

Are found at PERRY WEED'S.

The only News stand in town.

BURNS & SCROGGIE'S

LIVERY STABLE

CHARLEVOIX.

The Best, Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Drivers furnished if desired. Rates low.

Burns & Scroggie, Charlevoix.

C. R. Bellinger,

--THE--

JEWELER,

HAS JUST RECEIVED A FULL LINE OF

JEWELRY,

Clocks, Watches

Etc., Etc.

HELLO

EVERYBODY

Says that Advance Has The Best

HARNESS MAKER!

In The County.

Call and see him. He is found in the person of

F. J. CUTTER.

J. T. Kirkpatrick,

ARCHITECT AND CONTRACTOR,

— ON —

Chalevoix Summer Resorts.

I have the Plans of 10 Cottages of different designs that can be seen by parties wanting to build cottages.

I employ only first-class workmen, both

Carpenters and Painters.

Work intrusted to my care will have prompt attention.

J. T. KIRKPATRICK.

Take The Sentinel.

Fox & Miller

Offer a

Mammoth Stock

OF

BOOTS, SHOES

and other

FOOT WEAR,

--AT--

LOWER PRICES

Than can be found elsewhere in the County.

We have just secured a

FIRST-CLASS

SHOEMAKER,

And will make Repairing a specialty.

We have the Goods and we are bound to sell them.

NOTHING SHODDY.

Fox & Miller.

MONEY TO LOAN,

At current rates of interest, on

Approved Real Estate Security.

School Bonds bought and sold.

MILEY & CHAPIN,

Boyne City.

BATH & BARBER

ROOMS.

Hot and Cold Baths and Sea Water Baths at the Barber Shop, 1st door north of Bridge St. House.

If you want a quiet place to get a shave, hair trim or bath call and see me.

JAY L. PRICE.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL

SMITH & P'RINALEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

FREDERICK DOUGLASS and his white wife are attracting much attention in Liverpool.

THE volcanic eruption in New Zealand has been followed by a breaking up of the drought in Australia.

JUST think of twenty-six inches of rain falling at Brownsville, Tex., in twenty-four hours, while the wind was blowing at the rate of one hundred miles an hour!

A CINCINNATI man has got himself into trouble by advertising in the papers that he stood ready to prove an alibi for any arrested party at short notice and on very reasonable terms.

THE Rhode Island Supreme Court has dismissed the bill brought before it in which it was sought to establish that the prohibitory amendment recently voted upon in that State did not receive the requisite three-fifths majority.

PROF. WILEY, the chemist of the Agricultural Department at Washington, who has charge of the sugar-making experiments at Fort Scott, says that he has met with complete success in extracting saccharine matter from sorghum.

A TAR pool has been formed, and the price of that article advanced. A commission has been appointed, with power to destroy tar when the market is overstocked, a sum equal to the cost price of the surplus tar to be paid to the contractor in whose possession it was.

[illegible]

EPITOME OF THE WEEK.

Interesting News Compilation.

FROM WASHINGTON.

THE United States Commissioner of Agriculture was notified on the 6th by the Agricultural Department of Canada that there was no pleuro pneumonia in Canada.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND on the 7th pardoned the three Mormon Bishops, who were eighteen months ago sentenced to three years' imprisonment at Detroit, Mich., for unlawful cohabitation, on the ground that the sentence was illegal.

BUSINESS failures occurring throughout the United States during the seven days ended on the 8th numbered 201, against 203 in the preceding seven days. The total in the United States this year to date is 7,749, against 8,681 last year.

THE exchanges at twenty-six leading clearing houses in the United States during the week ended on the 9th aggregated $1,174,314,756, against $1,033,240,270 the previous week. As compared with the corresponding week of 1885, the decrease amounts to 25.3 per cent.

IN a proclamation issued by General Miles on the 9th he declares the Indian campaign at an end and congratulates the troops.

IT was shown by the Land Office report on the 9th that during the year 22,124,538 acres of public lands had been disposed of, which was an increase of 1,129,050 acres over the previous year.

THE EAST.

FOLLOWING are the Congressional nominations made on the 6th: Republicans—New York, Twenty-second district, A. X. Parker (renominated); Massachusetts, Ninth district, F. D. Ely (renominated); Twelfth, F. W. Rockwell (renominated); Connecticut, Fourth district, Fred W. Niles; Pennsylvania, Twenty-sixth district, W. B. Roberts. Democrats—New York, Twenty-third district, J. T. Spriggs (renominated); Pennsylvania, Tenth district, W. H. Snowden (renominated).

STEPS were taken by representatives of the building trades at New York on the 7th to secure permanent organization for protection against the labor unions.

THE following nominations to Congress were made on the 7th: Democrats—New York, Twenty-second district, A. Corlin, [illegible]

[illegible] turn to the ten-hour system. A force of one hundred and fifty specials was sent to the Stock Yards by Pinkerton to protect property.

THE deaths caused by the recent explosion of the Mississippi river steamer, La Mascotte, near Cape Girardeau, Mo., numbered thirty on the 9th.

OWING to frosts, it was said on the 8th that there would only be one-third of a tobacco crop in Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina.

CONGRESSMEN nominated on the 8th were: Democrat—Nebraska, Second district, W. A. McKeighan. Labor—Missouri, Eighth district, D. Wyman; Ninth, G. W. Davidson; Tenth, M. Ratchford. Independent—Alabama, Fifth district, F. A. Wood.

IN opposition to Frank Lawler the Hermans of the Second Illinois Congressional District have nominated Charles W. Woodman for Congressman.

WITH the Chicago club as champions the National League base-ball games at the close of the season on the 9th, stood as follows: Chicago, games won, 91; lost, 34. Detroit, won, 87; lost, 36. New York, won, 75; lost, 44. Philadelphia, won, 71; lost, 43. Boston, won, 56; lost, 61. St. Louis, won, 43; lost, 79. Kansas City, won, 29; lost, 89. Washington, won, 20; lost, 91.

THE Greenbackers of the Sixteenth Illinois district on the 9th nominated A. M. Clark for Congressman, and the Independent Democrats of the Second Illinois district nominated John J. Curran.

EARLY on the morning of the 9th three shocks of earthquake occurred at Charleston, S. C., and one at Augusta, Ga., but no damage was caused at either place.

JUDGE GARY, in the criminal court at Chicago on the 9th, sentenced seven of the Anarchists to suffer death on December 3, and Oscar Neebe to be imprisoned for fifteen years at Joliet.

IT was announced on the 9th that N. M. Neeld, a member of the Chicago firm of J. C. Ferguson & Co., packers, had absconded with nearly $400,000.

AT Detroit on the 9th the brewers locked out five hundred employes, and resolved to submit to no dictation from trades unions.

THE championship of the American Association was won by the St. Louis base-ball club on the 9th.

AT Cincinnati on the 10th a tenement house was burned, and Margaret Link, aged sixty years, and her daughter, aged thirteen years, perished in the flames.

THE husband of Josie Martel, an [illegible]

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

[illegible]

WEST AND SOUTH.

[illegible]

LATER.

[illegible]

THE DAY FIXED.

The Anarchists to Be Hanged Friday, December 3—Judge Gary's Last Words to the Doomed Men—The Remarkable Trial Brought to an Impressive and Tearful Close.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—The fervid outbursts of impetuous oratory delivered by the eight Anarchists in response to inquiry from Judge Gary as to what they had to say why sentence should not be passed upon them, in accordance with the verdict of the jury, came to an unhappy conclusion a little before four o'clock Saturday, when Albert R. Parsons spoke the last words of a six-hour speech. In tones so low and sympathetic that those not immediately around the bench could with difficulty catch the import of his words Judge Gary began his address to the prisoners. When he came to the formal pronouncing of the sentence Parsons, seemingly in spite of himself, fixed his eye upon his face. Spies listened to the words of doom with steadfast eye and defiant smile. Schwab's face was grave and inscrutable. Neebe looked excited. Fielden pulled at his long beard. Lingg and Fisher gave no outward sign of emotion, and Engel's manner was as stolid as ever. Far more agitated than the prisoners was Judge Gary himself. His voice fell lower and lower. As he pronounced the words "hanged by the neck" he paused, turned in his chair, and the concluding words, "until dead," were barely audible.

The full text of his address and the sentence of death is as follows:

"I am quite well aware that what you have said, although addressed to me, has been said to the world; yet nothing has been said which weakens the force of the proof or the conclusions therefrom upon which the verdict is based. You are all men of intelligence, and know that if the verdict stands it must be executed. The reasons why it shall stand I have already sufficiently stated in deciding the motion for a new trial.

"I am sorry beyond any power of expression for your unhappy condition and for the terrible events that have brought it about. I shall address to you neither reproaches nor exhortation. What I shall say shall be said in the faint hope that a few words from a place where the people of the State of Illinois have delegated the authority to declare the penalty of a violation of their laws, and spoken upon an occasion so solemn and awful as this, may come to the knowledge of and be heeded by the ignorant, deluded and misguided men who have listened to your counsels and followed your advice. I say in the faint hope; for if men are persuaded that because of business differences, whether about labor or any thing else, they may destroy property and assault and beat other men, and kill the police if they, in the discharge of their duty, interfere to preserve the peace, there is little ground to hope that they will listen to any warning.

"It is not the least among the hardships of the peaceable, frugal and laborious poor, to endure the tyranny of mobs who, with lawless force, dictate to them, under penalty of peril to limb and life, where, when and upon what terms they may earn a livelihood for themselves and their families. Any Government that is worthy of the name will strenuously endeavor to secure to all within its jurisdiction freedom to follow their lawful avocations and safety for their property and their persons, while obeying the law, and the law is common sense. It holds each man responsible for the natural and probable consequences of his own acts. It holds that whoever advises murder is himself guilty of the murder that is committed pursuant to his advice, and if men band together for a forcible resistance to the execution of the law, and advise murder as a means of making such resistance effectual, whether such advice be to one man to murder another, or to a numerous class to murder men of another class, all who are so banded together are guilty of any murder that is committed in pursuance of such advice.

"The people of this country love their institutions, they love their homes, they love their property. They will never consent that, by violence and murder, those institutions shall be broken down, their homes despoiled and their property destroyed. And the people are strong enough to protect and sustain their institutions and to punish all offenders against their laws; and those who threaten danger to civil society, if the law is enforced, are leading to destruction whoever may attempt to execute such threats.

"The existing order of society can be changed only by the will of the majority. Each man has the full right to entertain and advocate by speech and print such opinions as suits himself, and the great body of the people will usually care little what he says. But if he proposes murder as a means of enforcing he puts his own life at stake. And no clamor about free speech or the evils to be cured or the wrongs to be redressed will shield him from the consequences of his crime. His liberty is not a license to destroy. The toleration that he enjoys he must extend to others, and not arrogantly assume that the great majority are wrong and may rightfully be coerced by terror or removed by dynamite.

"It only remains that for the crime you have committed, and of which you have been convicted after a fair trial unexampled in the patience with which an outraged people have extended to you every protection and privilege of the law which you derided and defied, that the sentence of that law be now given.

"In form and detail that sentence will appear upon the records of the court. In substance and effect it is that the defendant Neebe be imprisoned in the State Penitentiary at Joliet at hard labor for the term of fifteen years.

"And that each of the other defendants, between the hours of ten o'clock in the forenoon and two o'clock in the afternoon of the third day of December next, in the manner provided by the statute of this State, be hung by the neck until he is dead. Remove the prisoners."

Instantly upon the pronouncement of the sentence all was confusion. Every eye was turned upon the prisoners, who rose from their seats from force of habit and without volition. The spectators rose also and the relatives of the condemned men pressed forward. Mrs. Parsons rushed forward and threw her arms about her husband's neck as he stood by his chair. She laid her face in his neck and he bent his head over his face [illegible] in view in her arms. Husband and wife retained their attitude for nearly a minute. Then she released him and turned away her dark face [illegible] tears and sorrow. As she turned away General Parsons threw his arms about his brother's neck and the two men hid their faces on each other's shoulders.

Poor Fielden! He was more to be pitied than all the rest. To a man of his impulses and loving disposition, the fact that his wife was bearing him a son, while he was undergoing sentence of death, must have been a terrible ordeal.

Spies, with a careless smile on his face, shook hands with his sister and his other relatives and spoke a few reassuring words to them, turned with expressions of sympathy. As he turned to go Mrs. Parsons rushed up to him, threw her arms about his neck, and kissed him vehemently on the lips. The other prisoners received the expressions of sympathy quietly and filed out of court without betraying emotion of any kind.

Death of Ex-Senator Yulee, of Florida.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Ex-Senator Yulee, of Florida, died in this city yesterday. He was born in St. Thomas, West Indies, in 1811. He came to Florida in 1824, and represented that territory in Congress for a term. He was United States Senator from Florida from 1845 to 1851 and from 1855 to 1861, retiring to join the Confederacy, in which he became prominent. He has since been interested in railroads and agriculture.

Burned to Death.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 11.—A tenement-house at 67 Moore street was burned early Sunday morning. In the ruins were found the charred remains of Mrs. Link, aged sixty, and her daughter Anna, aged twenty-one.

Minister Cox Returns.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—United States Minister Cox arrived with his wife from Europe yesterday in the French steamer La Champagne. He said this afternoon that he had not come back to be a candidate for Congress, as had been reported, but that he was willing to go to Congress again from his old district.

Terrible Accident.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—By the tilting of the iron roof of the blacksmith shop of the North Chicago Rolling Mills, at South Chicago, Sunday morning, two men were instantly killed, [illegible] badly injured, and it is [illegible]

A BIG DEFALCATION.

The Manager of a Chicago Packing-House Ruins His Father-in-Law, and Swindles Four Banks by Means of a Commercial Confidence Game—His Defalcation Amounts to About $400,000—He Slips to Canada.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—The firm of J. C. Ferguson & Co., packers, went to smash Saturday, one of the partners having fled after wasting in unsuccessful speculations $400,000 borrowed from various Chicago and Eastern banks on fraudulent warehouse receipts. Notifications were given by J. C. Ferguson & Co. to close out their trades on the board Saturday, and over 1,000,000 bushels of wheat and a large quantity of pork are said to have been sold by different parties to protect themselves. Later in the morning a rumor was current that N. M. Neeld, the managing partner, had left the city and gone to Canada. The failure, especially the alleged flight of Mr. Neeld, caused much surprise.

The firm had been in business in Chicago for several years. The members came from Indianapolis, where J. C. Ferguson & Co. was established for twenty years. The house got into financial trouble there owing to Neeld's action, but came out of it with fair credit to itself and a capital estimated at $200,000. It bought a house at the stock-yards, and engaged in packing and foreign shipping, selling on the markets here the product it did not send abroad. It did a conservative business, and was well regarded by every body. Mr. Neeld, as stated, managed the business. He was a heavy speculator and had been wrong on the markets for over a year. To make trades he had to have money, and to get it deposited warehouse receipts calling for lard, pork and meats with banks from which he borrowed. If there was any property back of these receipts it can not be found, and the banks hold as security only small pieces of paper.

So far as can be ascertained the firm has little or nothing left. There are mortgages for $80,000 on their packing-house and machinery—$40,000 on account of purchase money and $70,000 loaned by Mrs. J. C. Ferguson—the equity not being large. The liabilities foot up $535,000. The principal creditors are:

Corn Exchange Bank of New York	$100,000
First National, Chicago	50,000
Bank of British North America	75,000
Continental, Chicago	50,000
Metropolitan, Chicago	30,000
Brokers	40,000

Besides the banks, which are the principal sufferers, many brokers on the board who did the trading for the firm lose amounts varying from $1,000 to $5,000.

Neeld is the son-in-law of the man he has ruined by his speculations, and his wife is supposed to have accompanied him when he left the city.

BASE-BALL.

Chicago Wins the National League Championship While St. Louis Takes the Association Cake.

The season of the National Base Ball League practically closed on Saturday, although some postponed games may be played to-day (Monday). The result of these, however, will not effect the record, which will stand as follows:

	Chicago.	Detroit.	New York.	Philadelphia.	Boston.	St. Louis.	Kansas City.	Washington.	Games Won.
Chicago	—	11	10	10	12	13	17	17	91
Detroit	7	—	11	10	11	15	16	17	87
New York	8	7	—	8	11	15	15	11	75
Philadelphia	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	—	10	12	13	11	71
Boston	5	6	6	3	—	11	11	13	56
St. Louis	4	2	3	6	8	—	12	10	43
Kansas City	1	2	3	2	6	5	—	10	29
Washington	1	1	3	4	5	8	3	—	25
Games lost	34	36	44	43	61	79	88	91

In the American Association the season closed Sunday, the St. Louis club for the second time winning the pennant. The record of games lost and won is as follows:

Clubs.	Won.	Lost.
St. Louis	91	45
Pittsburgh	78	57
Brooklyn	75	61
Louisville	65	68
Cincinnati	64	71
Athletic	58	73
Metropolitan	52	73
Baltimore	48	79

AN HONORABLE LIFE CLOSED.

Hon. Jesse L. Williams, a Well-Known Railway and Canal Builder, Passes Away at Fort Wayne, Ind.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Oct. 11.—Hon. Jesse L. Williams, who died at his home in this city at noon Saturday in his eightieth year, was known as the father of the canal system in Ohio and Indiana. He was appointed by President Lincoln Government director of the Union Pacific railway, and was the only Government director retained by Presidents Johnson and Grant. It was from his reports and estimates of construction that the credit-mobilier scheme was first brought to the attention of Congress. He served the State of Indiana in many high capacities and always occupied a high place in the estimation of the National and State Governments. He leaves property valued at upward of $1,000,000, largely lands in Dakota, Michigan and Indiana, and stocks in various banks and railroads. He was a director of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago railway, which road he surveyed and located.

Interest in George's Canvass.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The progress of the contest for the mayoralty in New York is watched both here and on the continent with more attention than has ever been bestowed upon a similar issue. The Pall Mall Gazette, referring to the candidacy of Mr. George in the interest of the laboring classes, says that his election to the chief magistracy of the city of New York would infuse new life into the vanguard of economic reformers all over the world. The public interest manifested in the coming election partakes, however, more of curiosity in the result than a biased leaning toward any particular side.

The Anchoria Is Safe.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Oct. 11.—The Anchor line steamer Anchoria, which has been so long overdue, is lying under canvas with her main shaft broken about seventy miles off Cape Spear, bearing east-southeast. Her passengers and crew are all well. The steamer Miranda has been sent to render aid to the disabled vessel. The news of her safety was brought in by the life-boat of the Anchoria, which left the steamer Friday under the command of the first officer, and arrived at port yesterday afternoon.

—A great deal of talk has been caused at Dunkirk, N. Y., by the untimely and unexpected return, after seventeen years' absence, of three married fishermen. They had been cast away in Greenland. Like three Enoch Ardens, they have returned to find three Phillips in their places, or, as the reports put it, "their wives in the meantime had taken other husbands."

—A Los Angeles (Cal.) paper, having no appreciation of the beautiful, complains: "There are too many artists here, and not enough tillers of the soil; too many people trying to paint sunsets and picturesque scenes, and too few who are willing to set out vines and plant orange trees."

—A careless nurse in Providence, R. I., left her little charge in its carriage on the sidewalk while she went into a store. The wind roiled the carriage off the sidewalk. It overturned and frightened a horse, which, in plunging, crushed the poor little baby's head.—Providence Journal.

—No, no. It is not egotism; it is just a way the Ohio editor has of talking. Instead of saying "It rained here yesterday," he says: "We were pleased [illegible]

THE COLOR LINE.

Mr. Powderly's Open Letter on the Race Question—A Reply to His Southern Critics.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 12.—In consequence of questions which have been raised by the presence here of Farrell and other colored delegates to the General Assembly, Mr. Powderly has written a letter to explain why he selected Delegate Farrell to introduce him. His critics he says have seen fit to assert that his action was an insult and an attack upon the laws of social equality. He continues:

"My sole object in selecting a colored man to introduce me was to encourage and help to uplift his race from a bondage worse than that which held him in chains twenty-five years ago, viz.: Mental slavery. I desired to impress upon the minds of white and black that the same result followed action in the field of labor, whether that action was on the part of Caucasian or negro labor. Two years ago, in an address delivered in this city, I said to the people of Richmond: 'You stand face to face with a stern, living reality, a responsibility which can not be avoided or shirked. The negro question is as prominent to-day as it ever was. The first proposition that stares us in the face is this: The negro is free, he is here, and he is going to stay. He is a citizen and must learn to manage his own affairs. His labor and that of the white man will be thrown upon the market side by side, and no human eye can detect a difference between the article manufactured by the black mechanic and that manufactured by the white mechanic. Both claim an equal share of the protection afforded to American labor, and both mechanics must sink their differences or else fall a prey to the slave labor now being imported to this country.'

"I was not criticised for saying that, and yet it was as susceptible of criticism as my words on October 4. I did not refer to social equality, for that can not be regulated by law. The sanctity of the fireside circle can not be invaded by those who are not welcome. Every man has the right to say who shall enter beneath his roof, who shall occupy the same bed, private conveyance, or such other place as he is master of. I reserve for myself the right to say whom I will or will not associate with; that right belongs to every other man. I have no wish to interfere with that right. My critics have forgotten that personal liberty and social equality stand side by side. They would deny me the right to make my own selection as to which of the assembled representatives should perform a certain duty. Had I selected the colored man to introduce Governor Lee it would have been quite another thing. It is perhaps unfortunate that our coming was at a time when political excitement ran high and all things served as excuses for those who wished to use them. When I heard that there was a likelihood of trouble because Mr. Farrell attended a place of amusement, I asked of him not to subject himself to insult by going where he was not welcome. He told me that he had no intention of again going to that or any other place where his presence would give rise to comment. Until that time I did not know that colored men were denied admittance to theaters in this city.

"While I have no wish to interfere with the social relations which exist between the races in the South I have a strong desire to see the black man educated. Southern labor, regardless of its color, must learn to read and write. Southern cheap labor is more a menace to the American toiler than the Chinese, and this labor must be educated. Will my critics show me how the laws of social equality will be harmed by educating the black man so that he may know how to conduct himself as a gentleman? Will they explain how a knowledge of the laws of his country will cause a man to violate the laws of social equality? Will they, in a cool, dispassionate manner, explain to me whether an education will not elevate the moral standard of the colored man, and will they tell me that such a thing is not necessary? Will it be explained to me whether the black man should continue to work for starvation wages with so many able-bodied colored men in the South who do not know enough to ask for living wages? It is not hard to guess that while this continues to increase in numbers prosperity will not even knock at the door much less enter the home of the Southern laborer, and that country which has an abundance of ill-fed, ill-bred laborers, is not nor can not be a prosperous one.

"Will the critics stop long enough to tell me why the United States Senate allowed a colored man to introduce before the Vice President of the United States measures for the benefit of his State? Were the laws of social equality outraged when the House of Representatives permitted colored men to take seats in it? Why did not other Southern Representatives leave and return to their homes when that was done? There need be no further cause for alarm; the colored representatives to this convention will not intrude where they are not wanted, and the time-honored laws on social equality will be allowed to slumber along undisturbed. We have not done a thing since coming to this city that is not countenanced by the laws and constitution of our country, and in deference to the wishes of those who regard the laws of social equality as superior to the laws of God and man we will not, while here, avail ourselves of all of these rights and privileges which belong to us. The equality of American citizenship is all that we insist on, and that equality must not be trampled upon.

"Now, a word as to hospitality. We are here under no invitation from any one. We came of our own free will and accord, and are paying our own way, therefore, such gratuitous insults as those offered by a few mischievous meddlers are not in order, and do not admit of defense, even though given in behalf of the laws of social equality. I do not hold the people of Richmond responsible for the ill-action of a few who saw a [illegible] in our every action. The treatment received at the hands of the citizens generally has been most cordial. If during our stay any representative shall conduct himself in an unbecoming manner he alone will be held responsible for his action. To the convention I say let no member surrender an iota of intellectual freedom because of any clamor. Hold fast to that which is true and right. The triumph of noise over reason is but transient. Our principles will [illegible] to-day, they may be to-morrow. They can bide their time, and will some day have the world [illegible] labor and American citizenship we recognize no line of race, creed, politics or color. The demagogue may distort for a purpose the words of others, and for a time the noise of the vocal bass may silence reason, but that which is right and true will become known when the former has passed to rest and the sound of the latter's voice has forever died away. Then it will be known that the intelligent, educated man is better qualified to discern the difference between right and privilege and the unwritten law of social equality will be more readily observed than it is to-day."

Good Crops.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—In the October report of the grain crops of this country, the United States Department of Agriculture estimates that the year's aggregate yield of wheat will be about 441,000,000 bushels, being an increase of about 100,000,000 over last year; that the total corn crop will be about 1,650,000,000 bushels; the oat crop about 600,000,000 bushels; the barley crop over 50,000,000 bushels, and the rye crop over 26,000,000 bushels.

Thirsting for Revenge—Chicago Anarchists Showing Their Teeth.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—A crowd of Anarchists on Sunday met Gottfried Waller, who turned informer during the late trial of Spies, Parsons, and the other condemned men, giving valuable evidence against them, and chased him for several blocks. He fired twice into the crowd, but without effect, and finally found a refuge in a police station. Several of his pursuers have been arrested. Juror Cole says that he is in constant receipt of threats against his life, and that the members of his family, from his wife to his youngest child, are continually menaced by men who sympathize with the convicted Anarchists.

Arrest of an Expert Safe-Blower.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—"Bobby" Adams, one of the best professional safe-blowers of the country, was arrested by Detectives Marks and Granger from a description in the rogues' gallery. He was found in a low resort on West Washington street. His arrest completes the work of the police in the Minneapolis post-office robbery, during which $15,000 worth of postage stamps were stolen. About $1,000 worth of the property was recovered. Adams did the "scientific" part of the work and induced T. J. Finnegan, who is still in the county jail, to dispose of a portion of the plunder. Adams [illegible]

ASSASSIN'S CAUGHT.

The Mystery Surrounding the Murder of Rev. George Haddock at Sioux City, Ia., Solved—One of the Conspirators Tells the Story of the Murder—John Arensdorf, the Assassin, Captured.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Oct. 9.—Important developments were made yesterday in the Haddock assassination case. Leavitt, arrested in Chicago, was brought here, but taken to Kingsley, the home of Attorney Wood. He is expected here Monday, the date fixed for the beginning of the examination of the parties arrested. Accompanying Wood to Chicago was F. A. Hill, business manager of the Sioux City Tribune, the brother-in-law of its editor and proprietor, J. C. Kelly. Mr. Hill was intimate with Leavitt, and it was through this intimacy that Leavitt was induced to surrender himself. Hill brought back with him a confession of Leavitt, which has been made public. In this confession, sworn to before Merritt D. Cobb, notary public, of Chicago, Leavitt charges that the shooting was done by John Arensdorf, foreman of the Franz Brewing Company, and one of its stockholders. Leavitt says:

"About 8:15 Tuesday night, August 3, I met Fred Munchrath, George Treiber, Louis Plath, a saloon-keeper and two others whose names I can not recall. They were talking together about Haddock and Turner going down to the Greenville House. Munchrath said: 'Leavitt, let us take a ride and go to the Greenville and see what they are going to do.' We went over in front of the Hubbard House, and Henry Haberman, Treiber, Plath, and myself got into the hack right under the electric light. I asked Adams, the driver of the hack, to let the windows down, which he did, and drove down to the Greenville. Henry got out in front of the Greenville House, went in, and asked if there had been a buggy over that way in the last hour. They said no. He got in and came right back to town, and the hack stopped in front of Junk's, where we all got out. It was then about ten o'clock. Standing inside of the door were John Arensdorf, Junk, Jim Scottard and Robert Grady, the alderman, and Lange, the painter. We all went inside—myself, Henry Treiber and Plath—and got a drink. We then went out to go home, and at the door on the outside were the two Dutchmen who were hired by Treiber to whip Walker. John Arensdorf came out with us, and these two Dutchmen said to him, but loud enough for us all to hear: 'The buggy has come back.' Arensdorf said: 'Let us go over and see.' We—that is Arensdorf, Munchrath, Treiber, Plath, Henry, myself and the two Dutchmen—started to go toward the stable. I dropped behind and met Harry Sherman, and we followed on after them. Lange, the painter, was following us. I said to Sherman: 'This will be another failure. They are all cowards.' Sherman says: 'Well, let us go and see what they are going to do.' By that time we had got close together, and were talking, and Munchrath said: 'If you or your man is going to lick Haddock, tell him not to punch him too hard, but hit him in the face twice and give him a black eye.' 'That will do, as we don't want to go any farther than that.' Treiber said: 'That is right. We only want to give one of them a whipping.' In that conversation there was present John Arensdorf, Henry, the driver of the brewery delivery wagon, George Treiber, Louis Plath, Fred Munchrath, Harry Sherman, myself, the two Dutchmen whose names are unknown to me, but the same men Treiber hired to whip Walker, and a saloon-keeper in Sioux City whose name I can not now call to mind, but whom I can identify. We saw Haddock coming across Water street from the Columbia House. No one said a word as John Arensdorf started toward Haddock and came up in front of Haddock and looked him in the face and threw up his hands in front of Haddock's face. Mr. Haddock pulled something from his pocket and struck Arensdorf. I then saw Arensdorf draw his gun, and saw him shoot Haddock. I saw nothing more of Arensdorf. Henry, the driver, started toward Arensdorf before the shot was fired. We all started to run after the shot was fired, and I went to hunt my wife, and found her and told her that night all about the shooting."

The morning after the murder John Arensdorf came to me while I was standing in front of Warlich's saloon. I said: 'John, I think you did wrong.' He said: 'I thought Haddock was pulling a gun on me and in the excitement I shot, that is how it happened.' I left Sioux City shortly afterwards. I have made no concealment of my whereabouts, and have always been ready and willing to make the proper party a full and complete disclosure of all my acts connected with the Haddock murder and the conspiracy to whip Walker whenever I could do so without receiving bodily injury and be legally protected in so doing.

Arensdorf was arrested in Davenport, where he had gone as a delegate to the Knights of Pythias Lodge. Munchrath and Sherman were arrested here Thursday, and placed under $5,000 bonds each for appearance next Monday, and yesterday Paul Leader, of the Milwaukee House, was arrested and admitted to like bail, and George Lange, the painter, was arrested and sent to jail in default of bail. Warrants are out for still other parties implicated in the conspiracy, and, it is said, Leavitt has assurances that by turning State's evidence he will escape punishment.

The killing of Rev. Haddock has been one of the sensational mysteries of the year, and has baffled the authorities of Iowa. Mr. Haddock was a pioneer in the prohibition crusade, and opened a bitter campaign against the liquor interests of Sioux City, which had a very large number of saloons, and when the prohibition law went into effect it was openly defied by the worst element there. The bold advocate of temperance was often warned to desist in his efforts to enforce the law or he would be removed, but he paid no heed to the threats. His dead body was found on the public street one day, and the wound showed that he had been shot down without warning by some unknown assassin. The crime was laid at the door of the saloon element, but nothing was ever discovered to warrant the arrest of any one until now.

The River Horror.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9.—The total deaths from the La Mascotte disaster now number thirty. The following victims died Thursday: Marshall Wade, colored, Walnut Hill, Tenn.; Albert Rice, colored, Cape Michael; M. C. Sherer, Cincinnati, O.; Levi Chatham, colored, Paducah, Ky. George S. Davidson, the boat's carpenter, is not expected to live. At the coroner's inquest the captain of the Eagle testified that his boat would have caught fire had he gone near the burning vessel; he did all in his power to aid the sufferers. Captain Thompson, of the La Mascotte, testified that he was the last man to leave his vessel, and was forced to swim ashore, after getting all the ladies off the boat. He said the conduct of the Eagle's captain was heartless in the extreme and he seemed indifferent to the condition of the dying and suffering victims. The jury returned a verdict exonerating the La Mascotte's officers and criticising the captain of the Eagle for his conduct and recommending that his license be revoked.

A Vile Conspiracy Discovered.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The Chronicle's correspondent in Paris says he has just heard from Vienna the details of a startling Anarchist plot to destroy Vienna and to assassinate Emperor Francis Joseph. The conspirators, whose plans were frustrated by the authorities, had intended to carry out the plot October 4. Various timber stores were to be set fire to throughout the city, and during the confusion public buildings were to be blown up with dynamite. The police seized immense quantities of bombs and other explosives in different parts of the city, especially near the imperial residence at Schonbrunn and beneath the bridge leading to the palace, which the Emperor crosses daily.

The Late Chief-Justice Chase.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—There will be no services here in connection with the removal of the remains of the late Chief-Justice Chase to Cincinnati. Rev. John Hall, of New York, is expected to go with the funeral train, which leaves here Wednesday over the Baltimore & Ohio, and conduct the religious ceremonies at Cincinnati. Governor Hoadly will deliver the memorial address. At a meeting of colored citizens here it was resolved to ask colored people over the country to set apart October 14, the day the funeral is to take place, as "Chief-Justice Chase day."

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL

SMITH & P'RINALEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

MY NEIGHBOR'S BABY.

[illegible]

He was two years old that summer,—
I had never noticed the child,
Till one day, when I was passing,
He looked through the gate and smiled.
He made a pretty picture,
With the sun light on his hair;
He wore a red dress, I remember,
And his little feet were bare.

I had always a weakness for children,
So I stopped and spoke to the lad—
He told me what his name was,
And how many kittens he had.
He filled my hands with blossoms,
[illegible]
Then I fixed his face to kiss me
Before I turned away.

I guess I may as well tell you,
That my neighbor and I were—well,
Now I've begun the story,
I hardly know what to tell;
It was such a little matter
At first, but it ran along
As things will, if you let them,
When they've started to go wrong.

But I—I'm ashamed to say it,
[illegible]
After a bitter quarrel,
When a cutting word or two
Passed back and forth between us,
We'd not speak again—
Childish you say? I know it,
But I didn't think so then.

But we were the best of comrades,
The little rover and I.
After that day when he kissed me,
As I was passing by
I might turn toward my neighbor,
A face that was hard and grim;
But Roger, my neighbor's baby,
I had always a smile for him.

And so it went on all summer,
Till at last there came a day,
When, strangely hushed and darkened
Was the cottage over the way.
A few words told the story—
A few words carelessly said,
But freighted with so much sadness—
"The baby, you know, is dead!"

I filled my hands with the flowers
I knew he loved the best,
And just as the sunset glory
Was fading out of the west,
I entered my neighbor's gateway,
Went up the path to the door—
The months had grown into years since I
Had trod on that path before.

But we who are very willful
By a little child are led.
As I entered the darkened chamber,
And stood beside the bed,
Where the silent form of Roger,
Half covered with flowers, lay,
All my bitterness to my neighbor
Forever passed away.

It needs no words to explain it,
I think you will understand;
Over the little sleeper
I clasped my neighbor's hand.
The bond that was formed will never
Be broken till time shall cease,
For Roger, my neighbor's baby,
Has spoken the words of peace.
—Good Housekeeping.

SILAS' FLOWERS:

And Among them He Loved Little Althea Best.

There was no room for any flower garden in front of the house, it stood so close to the road. The little cottage, unpainted, save for white strips around the windows, had an air of pushing forward timidly. The small, white, sharp-steepled meeting house stood just opposite. There was a joke prevalent in the town about Silas Vinton's house having once started to go to meeting when the bell rang. The three uneven stone steps before the front door led quite down to the narrow sidewalk, which was scarcely more than a foot path amongst grasses and weeds. The little strip of green under the two windows on each side of the front door was closed in neatly and trimly by a low fence of two whitewashed rails. Silas Vinton had tried to start some plants in their tiny inclosures, but it was of no use. The drip from the eaves directly into the roots kept the earth washed away from them. So there was nothing but the little pebbly strip, where the rain drops fell, through the close green grass.

Silas had enough land at the rear of his house to make up for the want of it at the front. There were two good acres stretching back to the river bank. One acre was the flower and vegetable garden, and the other was an apple orchard. There were cherry trees, but they were scattered about at intervals through the garden. This morning the trees were all in blossom and some early flowers in the garden, and Silas was out there working. He had taken his coat off, and his blue calico shirt sleeves showed.

He was a young man under thirty, and he looked still younger. It was not so much because he was short and slender and fair-haired; the effect of childishness he gave came from some inward quality which shaped the outward to itself. People used to say, "Silas Vinton is a dreadful womanish sort of fellar." But it was not womanishness nor boyishness, but that childhood which has no sex which appeared in his round, delicate face. When he was a baby he must have had that same look of wonder and inquiry and innocent speculation that he had now. He was at work near where the garden left off and the orchard began. The blossoming apple trees were full of bees, and there was a cherry tree near him which swarmed with them. One could hear their murmuring, and through that, between the ranks of rosy trees, the glowing rush of the river. The air was very sweet. Silas was setting out some potted plants which he had brought from the house. His windows were ringed with shelves for them from sill to ceiling. His house in winter was like a hot-house.

All the time Silas kept talking to himself, or rather murmuring. It was the way the bees did, and he might have been making honey, after a spiritual fashion, too. "Lilacs, and snowballs, and almond; apple blows, and cherry blows, and daffodils." He talked to himself about the plants he was setting out; where this one had better be put, and that one, and how deep holes to dig for them. But every now and then he cast his eyes about, and repeated: "Lilacs, and snowballs, and almond; apple blows, and cherry blows, and daffodils." It was like a refrain to his practical musings. These new flowers were in sight around him as he worked, and he kept counting them over as he might have counted jewels. He was so busy talking and working that he did not hear a girl's footstep on the garden path.

The first he heard was a timid, high-pitched voice, saying: "Silas."

He started, and looked around. "Why, Althea Rose," said he, "you thar! How still you came! I didn't hear you."

"Mother wants to know," the girl said, bashfully, "if you've got any parsnips you could let her have."

"Certain I have; a good parcel; and your mother's quite welcome to 'em. They're right over here."

Silas led the way, and the girl followed him. She had a basket in her hand. She was an odd-looking young girl. Her face was sweet and fair; her features were small and delicate, and had that quality about them which one calls waxen in lilies; but everything about her which did not depend directly on nature was peculiar. Her thick light hair was cut squarely across her neck, and shelved out around her ears. She had a little stiff white sun bonnet on her head, but she had taken it off as she came along, and held it dangling by the strings. Her dark calico dress was so prim in its cut it almost acquired an individuality from it. She was only sixteen, but the skirt touched the ground, and hid her little, coarsely shod feet. The waist was long and straight, and kept back all her pretty curves. She stood watching Silas as he got the parsnips. When he had filled her basket, and rose and turned to speak to her, the delicate color flushed up deeper in her cheeks, and her eyes changed like blue flowers when the wind strikes them.

"There," said he, "I've filled the basket full; and tell your mother she can have some more any time she wants 'em."

"Thank you," said Althea. She did not offer to pay him. Silas never would take any pay; he took pride in supplying the neighbors gratuitously with vegetables, and seemed hurt if any remuneration was offered.

Althea reached out her hand for the basket, but Silas kept it. "I'm going up to the house," said he, "and I'll carry it as far's the gate, it's kinder heavy."

Passing along by the [illegible] and little [illegible] of early flowers, a thought struck him. "See here, Althea," said he, "don't you want a bunch of flowers?"

She gave him such a bashful smile that it ran into a silly giggle. "I don't know."

"I'll pick you a bunch in a minute. I won't keep you waiting, for I suppose your mother wants to cook them parsnips for dinner. I'm going to have some for mine. Got 'em all dug in the house."

Then he cut lavishly sprays of dielytra, or lady's ear drop, snowballs, daffodils, flowering almond, and the other spring flowers. He stopped a moment hesitatingly at a lilac bush. "See here," said he, "I don't know as you like lilacs."

"Yes, I like 'em."

"Well, here's a bunch, then. I didn't know but what you mightn't like 'em; some folks don't. I reckon it's 'bout too strong a drink of spring, if I can put it that way, to some. I can stand it."

When he handed her the enormous nosegay he had cut for her, he looked at her uncovered head. "Ain't you afraid of gettin' burnt without your bonnet?" asked he.

She gave her sun bonnet a spiteful little fling. "I hate it!" cried she, with sudden nerve. "Mother makes me wear it, but I pull it off the minute I get out of sight. I want a hat like the other girls. So!"

"I thought the bonnet was real pretty," said Silas, sympathizingly. "I'd wear it, if I was you. You're so light-skinned you'll burn red easy. You're something the color of them apple blows over there now; it would be a pity if you got brown."

"I don't care if I do! Thank you for the flowers," she added, a little more softly, as she went out the gate.

Silas stared after her. "She changes round so quick," said he, "as if she was in a gust of wind. First her head a-dropping down, an' then she goes to dancing. She's got the prettiest face I ever saw. She's prettier than mother was. I declare I might count her with them flowers I was countin' over when she came. She might come in after the daffodils."

When he went into the house and busied himself about cooking his dinner, he did say the string of flowers over several times and named Althea after the daffodils. The fancy seemed to please him. He lived alone now; he had always lived his mother with him up to the last two years. Now she was dead. His father had died years before, when Silas was a young boy. He had been a hard working, penurious man, and had amassed in his lifetime what the townsfolk considered quite a property. He owned his house and land clear, and had, besides, a little sum in the bank.

In his lifetime Silas and his mother, who was a meek, sickly woman, had been pitifully pinched. After his death when the restrictive clause had ceased, they found it difficult to rid themselves of the habit of being so. Many a time Mrs. Vinton would look scared when some extra expenditure came in question, and say: "O, Silas, what would your father say?" The old man's iron, grinding will still lived on in his house after he was dead.

Still they made some innovations. Silas took the larger part of the garden for flowers and cramped the vegetables into a smaller space. Silas and his mother had not been allowed room for one little flowerbed before. After his mother's death Silas went farther. He would not sell his vegetables, but gave them away to any one of the neighbors who wanted them. He took the greatest delight in it. The sale of vegetables had always been quite an item to them, but he never thought of missing the money. He was naturally generous, and giving was what singing would have been to him had he been musical. In apple and cherry time, too, the children swarmed about his place. They were very fond of Silas and visited him a great deal at all seasons. He seldom had any other visitors.

Silas had never seemed like other young men, whether it was owing to his having been with his mother so much or his own natural disposition. He never had any associates of his own age, of either sex; nobody ever dreamed of his getting married. People called him a little simple. They were simple country folk themselves. He was probably no simpler than they, only his simplicity took such a different direction that they recognized it as such. Silas had always loved flowers. As he grew older, and especially after his mother's death, when all direct human interest was gone, the love of them turned his whole self. He was natural enough to grasp after some absorbing interest, and his gentle taste seemed to point that way the easiest; and he might have turned a worse way, though it might have been a nobler one, than into beds of lilies and thickets of roses. He was so fond of his dainty pursuit that it was only very dimly that he felt the need of any thing else. He ruminated so heartily and long over his flowers that it might have been with him as with Marvell's fatio. "Lilies without, roses within." His very thoughts might have been tinctured, he thought principally of his flowers, and his brain was full of true images of roses and lilies and apple blossoms.

But now he began to think of Althea. After she came for the parsnips she slid into his mind along with the flowers continually. He hoped every day her mother would send her again on some errand, but she did not. Silas, without knowing that he did so, watched and waited every day for her. Finally, after a week or so, it occurred to him that Althea's mother might like more parsnips. So he carried her a great bushelful. After he had gone he would not come into the house, but lingered a moment in the yard looking wishfully at Althea, who stood in the door behind her mother. Mrs. Rose eyed her daughter knowingly and sharply.

"Silas Vinton didn't come to bring me parsnips," said she.

Althea looked up at her, frightened. She still stood a few paces behind her mother; it was her way. If they were out on the street together, Althea followed after her always. When her mother attempted to face her, Althea always stirred softly round behind her.

"He came to see you," said her mother, turning round again. Althea turned too, and looked more scared than before, and made some unintelligible dissent.

"Yes, he did," said her mother; "don't you contradict me, Althea."

It was easy enough, after seeing Mrs. Rose, to understand how the daughter got her peculiarities. The mother had molded the daughter after her own model as exactly as she could, and more exactly than she was herself aware. Mrs. Rose must have looked very like Althea in her youth. She wore her light, partly gray hair cut squarely around her ears, just like Althea's, her dress had the same prim, uncompromising cut. She was arbitrary and full of a self-confidence that was absolute power, and so was Althea. All was the girl had not yet shown her disposition, her mother, by her older, stronger will and force of habit, as yet kept her down. She only rebelled furtively. The stern rule she had always been under gave her a shy, almost cowed, demeanor; once in a while the spirit in her gave a flash, as it were, and that was all. The two were alone; they had no relatives. They had a small pension to live on and owned a small house besides. Mrs. Rose's husband had died in the army. They never called on the neighbors, and the neighbors never called on them. "Queer folks," they called them.

Mrs. Rose's opinion seemed fortified when Silas came the next Sunday night and made a call. He went to evening meeting first, and then walked down the shadowy road toward the Rose house. The Roses were not meeting folks, and he could not walk home with Althea, and so break the ice. However, Silas was not bashful. It is doubtful if he realized he was going courting at all. He had a great bunch of flowers in his hand, and so was merely going to carry them to Althea; he did not look much beyond that. His horizon, blue and sunny though it was, came close around him always. So he sat in Mrs. Rose's sitting-room that evening and eyed Althea sweetly and kindly, but was not perturbed, though he said very little.

"He's comin' after you, Althea," said her mother, after he had gone.

Althea, slinking behind her mother, burst into tears.

"What are you crying for?" asked her mother, sharply.

"I—don't want him to."

"Get your candle and go to bed."

Silas came regularly every Sunday evening after that, but he met with an obstacle in his wooing which might have nonplussed some lovers—the mother always staid in the room when he called. There she would sit, straight and fiercely watchful, her bushy short hair curving round her ears. However, Silas was not annoyed. The need of a formal declaration never suggested itself to him; he supposed Althea knew, and there was no need of saying much about it. [illegible] puzzled any one to have told Althea's opinion when Silas' attentions became persistent; she was shy and docile, but never expressive. Still it was all right with Silas, as long as she did not repulse him. He had had so much to do with flowers that he derived his notions of girls from them. He did not look for much return but sweetness and silence. At last Mrs. Rose grew impatient. Spring had come round again and Silas had visited Althea a whole year, and still nothing decisive had been said. She could not see why. It never struck her that with her keen character she should have been so stupid, but she was. She did not dream that her own watchfulness and intense interest might delay matters.

One night she spoke out bluntly when he was taking leave. "Look here, Silas Vinton, I think if you an' Althea are goin' to git married you might as well be about it!"

"I'm ready when Althea is," said Silas. He gave one glance over at her behind her mother, then he did not dare to look again. He was outwardly calm but the shock of Mrs. Rose's sudden remark was over his very soul. He felt as if he were still in paradise, but as if some angel had given him a rude shake.

"O, she's ready enough," said Mrs. Rose. "She don't need to have any thing more'n a dress now, an' we can make that in a week."

"A week!" repeated Silas, half in rapture, half in stupidity. "Well, I'm all ready when Althea is. I'm all ready." He kept saying it over as he backed down the steps.

"I'll git the stuff for the dress to-morrow, then," called Mrs. Rose after him, standing in the door.

"I'm all ready when Althea is," Silas' voice answered out of the darkness.

As for Althea, when the door closed after him she began to cry. Her mother turned round and saw her.

"What air you cryin' for?" she demanded.

"O, mother, I don't want to get married in a week. I won't! So!"

"Althea Rose," said her mother, "if you don't quit cryin', an' light your candle, an' go to bed an' behave yourself, I'll shake you!"

And Althea lit her candle and went. The old whip crack was too much for her. But when she was in her room alone, she clinched her fists, and shook her stubborn head at herself in her little looking-glass.

"I won't," muttered she. "So!"

The next morning the trees were all in blossom, and Silas was out in his garden working. He was all over his excitement of last night. His mind was running in the larger circle into which Mrs. Rose's proposal, like a stone in a pond, had thrown it, just as calmly as it had in a smaller. He felt as if he had always been going to be married in a week.

"It's just such a mornin' as 'twas last year," said he, "when I counted her in after the daffodils."

"Silas!"

"Why, Althea, you've come ag'in!"

She was flushed and trembling but her eyes were keen. "I want to tell you something, Silas."

"Why, Althea, what is it?"

"You won't tell mother! Promise you won't tell, promise—promise."

"Course I won't, if you don't want me to, Althea, what is it?"

"She'd kill me. You won't tell?"

"No, never, long's I live!"

She gave a scared glance around her. "Mother's making me marry you," said she, bluntly, "an' I don't want to."

"O, Althea!"

"It's the truth."

Silas stood staring at her pitifully. "You was so afraid of her you didn't dare say any thing, weren't you?" said he.

"Yes, I was."

"You poor little thing!" Great tears ran down Silas' cheeks.

"Then I needn't marry you, need I?"

"Course you needn't."

"Well, how can we fix it? You know we've got to tell mother something."

"I guess I don't know just what you mean."

"Mother'll make an awful fuss; she's set on my having you; she thinks you've got property. An' if she knew I was the one that broke it off, she'd kill me. You've got to make her think you're the one."

"But I ain't."

"That don't make any difference; you've got to make her think so."

"But what shall I say the reason was?"

"[illegible] you've thought it over, and you don't know how to support a wife." She'll believe that. They all know your father was awful tight."

The bewilderment in Silas's face almost obscured its awful sadness.

"You won't let her blame me, anyhow, will you, Silas?"

"No; she sha'n't blame you. I'll tell lies before she shall blame you."

"You are awful good, Silas. Say, you don't mind much, do you?"

"No. Don't think nothin' about me, I sha'n't mind; I've got my flowers. Al thea—"

"What!"

"I don't know as you'll want to; I just happened to think of it that's all. You know folks when they're goin' to get married, the way we was, kiss each other. You 'ain't ever kissed me. I never thought much about wantin' you to till now, when you are goin'. Would you mind it to kiss me once? I don't suppose you will want to—"

"Yes, I will," said Althea; and she put up her sweet face and kissed him.

He choked back a sob. "You'd better go now," said he, "or your mother'll be wonderin' where you are."

She looked frightened. "You be sure not to let her blame me," she said as she turned to go.

"Yes, I'll be sure. Don't you worry, Althea."

She disappeared amongst the flowery green bushes, and he sat down on a stone under the cherry tree, and held his head in his hands.

When he got up he looked older. Sorrow at one jerk had taken him farther out of his long childhood than the years had. He was a step nearer the rest of the world; he would not be so odd by that much, again. He went up through the garden to the house; he looked about him wonderingly as he went. "That's been an awful change," said he to himself. "I guess I don't see straight. The flowers an' things look queer, as if I hadn't seen 'em before. It's worse than death dyin'. There ain't so much God in this. I don't know how to go to work to stan' it. Poor little thing! she sha'n't have no more trouble about it, no how."

Very close to the Ross house stood another, tiny and modest and white-curtained; but it had an eye and an ear ever alert in it. The woman who lived there was sickly, with too active a mind for her own narrow life, so she fastened it on her neighbors. This last evening when Silas went to the Roses she knew it, as usual. When, by and by, she heard loud talk, she raised her window softly and listened. The front door of the Rose house was evidently open, and the talkers were standing in the hall.

She could only hear one voice to distinguish the words, that was Mrs. Rose's. When she was excited she always spoke very loud. "You're worse than your father was," the listener heard her say, "and he was tighter than the bark of a tree; but he wa'n't quite so mean but what he could get married. Althea's well rid of such a poor stick as you. Don't s'pose she'd had 'nough to eat if you'd married her, nor a dress to her back."

The loud talk kept on, and the woman listened greedily. When it had ceased, and Silas had crept down the path, and the door had closed with a great house-shaking slam behind him, she felt more healthily alive than she had for many a day. Soon all the town knew how Silas Vinton had jilted Althea Rose—because he was too tight to support her. His courtship had made a deal of laughing comment; now he was mercilessly badgered. He shut himself up with his flowers and bore it as well as he could. Once a neighbor he had given vegetables to many a time offered him pay. That almost broke his heart. Then others no longer asked for them, and he understood why. He never met Althea at all. For the next two years, except for one or two glimpses of her from his window, he would hardly have known she lived in the same town.

In the winter of the second year a man who came to his house on an errand asked him if he knew his old girl was going to be married.

Silas turned white. "What do you mean?" asked he.

"Althea Rose is goin' to get married, if the fellar don't back out 'cause he don't want to support her. What do you think of that?"

"I'm glad, if she likes him," said Silas.

"Well, maybe when he comes to count up the cost he'll think better on't."

Silas made no reply to the taunt. He stood behind his window-shelves of plants and watched the man go down the sidewalk. "I don't wonder he talks so," said he. "But there wa'n't no other way to save her. I had to have some reason. The worst of it is, I ain't true." [illegible] that year; they were covered with blossoms. Every one stopped to look at his windows. Silas sat behind them that day after he heard the news, and watched the street. He was hoping Althea would go by; he wanted to see her. She did come in sight toward night—a slender, girlish figure, in some prim, [illegible] winter garb, as noticeable as her summer one.

Silas ran to the door. "Althea!"

"What?" said she, [illegible] at the gate. He went down the steps [illegible]

"See here, Althea. I heard this morning you was going to get married. Is it so?"

Althea looked down. "Yes."

"I just want to know if it's safe for you to tell me, Althea, I'd die sooner than any body should know. I just want to know if it's all right this time, if you want him or it's your mother making you, the way it was before. 'Cause, if it is, don't you marry him. Don't you be afraid of your mother; I'll stan' by you."

"I—guess it's all right, Silas."

"Then your mother ain't making you! Don't you be afraid to tell."

"No, she ain't. She couldn't, really. I'd manage somehow, the way I did before, if I didn't want him."

"I'm glad it's all right, Althea."

She giggled softly. She was fingering a gold locket which she wore outside of her shawl. "See what a pretty locket he give me," said she; "he's real generous."

"She didn't mean to hurt me when she said that, I know," said Silas, when she had gone on and he was back in the house. And he was right, she did not. She was only a cat's paw for a scratch of fate that time.

She was married a couple of weeks later. On the afternoon of the wedding-day one of the neighbors' children came in to see Silas. She was a pretty little thing, and he was very fond of her. She used to tease her mother to let her go over to Silas'. When she entered Silas' little front room to-day the first thing she did was to stare at the plants in the window. Every blossom was gone.

"Why, Silas," she piped up, "where's all your flowers?"

"They've gone to a weddin', deary," said Silas.—Mary E. Wilkins, in Harper's Bazar.

PLOWING UNDER CLOVER.

Misapprehensions Current Among Intelligent Agriculturists.

The extravagant claims based upon the estimates made by agricultural chemists as to the manurial value of a ton of clover lead to misapprehension among a good many farmers. They are led to believe that there is a feeding value and a manurial value in addition to the clover, and that the farmer who feeds a ton of clover hay to his stock gets these two values from it. This is a sort of illusory view to take of it, and, while it is pleasant to think of, it is of no real value practically, for the farmer never actually gets the money in his hands so that he can see it from these double values of his clover. Clover is a most useful plant, but it is subject to all the laws of vegetable growth and alimentation, and nothing is got out of it that it does not contain, nor can any of its valuable elements be used twice over.

It is also a common belief that clover gets most of its valuable qualities from the atmosphere, and that it is able to draw the large quantity of nitrogen it contains from the air, or from a soil in which so little is contained that no other crop could extract much. The result of this is supposed to be that a clover crop plowed under which furnishes 180 pounds of nitrogen per acre is all gain, and adds to the soil a very liberal free contribution from the air.

These views are not correct and at times do mischief by misleading farmers and causing disappointment. For clover is often sown on very poor land in the hope that a good crop of it may be grown which can be plowed under and at once restore the soil to a condition of fertility. This hope of course is never realized, and not only disappointment but loss is the result. The truth is that clover, no more than any other plant, can get from the atmosphere or any other source than the soil, any nitrogen beyond the small quantity which has been traced to this source and which is from seven to ten pounds per acre yearly. It must therefore gather from the soil itself all that it contains save this very meager contribution, and consequently can add nothing to it more than it receives from it. A crop of clover, then, of any value can only be produced upon land which is quite rich in plant food, and to expect to grow it upon poor land must always lead to disappointment. For this reason the practice of plowing under clover is better adapted for preserving fertile land in good condition than for restoring poor land which has been run down and exhausted by overcropping. This should be clearly understood. The most that can be expected of this plant is that its deeper roots are able to reach the plant food which lies below the roots of other plants which forage nearer the surface, and thus it can be grown upon soils which will not produce the other crops.

In regard to its feeding and natural value some explanation may be useful. Clover is valuable for the nitrogenous matter it contains both for food and manure. If it did not yield up its valuable food elements in this way there would be no inducement for the farmer to use it. The dairyman would have no use for it and would employ some other crop. But when it is used for fatting full-grown animals who do not take up any of the nitrogen of it, or but a small portion, then this valuable element of it goes out into the manure and becomes available in that way. The manure from fattening animals is always richer than that from milking cows, growing young stock, or working oxen, because the carbonaceous elements of the food only are used up, and the others are rejected in the manure of the former, while the latter consume nearly all of the nitrogen in the production of milk or flesh or the repair of the muscular tissue, as the case may be. This being the case, then, it appears that the commonly accepted statement is to be received with due allowance for these facts, and that when the improvement of the soil is the object sought it must be considered that the plowing of clover is the best practice under certain conditions, because then the surface soil gains a large amount of fertilizing matter; but this gain is all at the expense of the deeper soil. The land itself has gained but very little, it has simply been benefited as regards the growth of shallow-rooted crops by the shifting of a large portion of its plant food from an inaccessible part of the land to a better and more attainable position. This is all. When, however, a farmer is feeding cattle for fat during the winter, clover hay is the best fodder he can use because it furnishes an abundance of nitrogen to balance the abundant carbon of the corn and so preserves the animals in a healthful condition; and as this nitrogen is not assimilated, but is discarded as an excess of nutriment, the greater part of the most valuable constituents go out in the manure.—N. Y. Times.

When the waiters struck at the Palace Hotel in Cincinnati the landlord mustered in five chambermaids, two scrub girls, two barbers and two clerks. [illegible]

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

A Pointed Discourse on Profanity, Drunkenness and Kindred Evils.

The Occasion Ripe for God to Arise and Scatter His Enemies—The Blighting Evils of Intemperance and Swearing Throughout the World.

Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, in a recent sermon at the Brooklyn Tabernacle, made a determined onslaught on the prevailing vices of the time, taking for his text:

Let God arise, let his enemies be scattered.—Psalms lxviii. 1.

You will observe my text is not like a complimentary and tasseled sword that you sometimes see hung up in a parlor, a sword that was never in battle and only to be used on general training day, but more like some weapon carefully hung up in your home, telling its story of Chapultepec, Cerro Gordo and Churubusco, and Hatcher's Run, and Malvern Hill; for my text hangs in the Scripture armory, telling of the holy wars of 3,000 years in which it has been carried, but as keen and mighty as when David first unsheathed it. It seems to me what in the Church of God, and in all styles of reformatory work, we most need now, is a battle cry. We raise our little standard and put on it the name of some man who only a few years ago began to live, and in a few years will cease to live. We go into contests against the armies of iniquity, depending too much on human agencies. We use for a battle cry the name of some brave Christian reformer, but after a while that reformer dies, or gets old, or loses his courage, and then we take another battle cry, and this time perhaps we put the name of some one who plays Arnold and sells out to the enemy. What we want for a battle cry is the name of some leader who will never betray us, and will never surrender, and will never die.

All respect have I for brave men and women, but if we are going to get the victory all along the line we must put God first. We must take the hint of the Gideonites, who wiped out the Bedouin Arabs, commonly called Midianites. These Gideonites had a glorious leader in Gideon, but what was the battle-cry with which they flung their enemies into the worst defeat into which any army was ever tumbled? It was:

The sword of the Lord and of Gideon.

Put God first, whoever you put second. If the army of the American Revolution is to free America, it must be:

The sword of the Lord and of Washington.

If the Germans want to win the day at Sedan, it must be:

The sword of the Lord and Von Moltke.

Waterloo was won for the English because not only the armed men at the front but the worshipers in the cathedrals at the rear were crying:

The sword of the Lord and Wellington.

The Methodists have gone in triumph across nation after nation with the cry:

The sword of the Lord and of Wesley.

The Presbyterians have gone from victory to victory with the cry:

The sword of the Lord and of John Knox.

The Baptists have conquered millions after millions for Christ with the cry:

The sword of the Lord and of Jordan.

The Americans Episcopalians have won their mighty way with the cry:

The sword of the Lord and of Bishop McIlvaine.

The victory is to those who put God first. But as we want a battle-cry suited to all sects of religionists, and to all lands, I nominate as the battle-cry of Christendom in the approaching Armageddon the words of my text, sounded before the ark as it was carried to Mount Zion:

Let God arise, let his enemies be scattered.

As far as our finite mind can judge, it seems about time for God to rise. Does it not seem to you that the abominations of this earth have gone far enough? Was there ever a time when sin was so defiant? Were there ever before so many fists lifted toward God, telling him to come on if he dare? Look at the blasphemy abroad! What towering profanity! Would it be possible for any one to calculate the number of times that the name of Almighty God, and of Jesus Christ, are every day taken irreverently on the lips? So common has blasphemy become that the public mind, and public ear, have got used to it, and a blasphemer goes up and down this country in his lectures defying the plain law against blasphemy, and there is not a mayor in America that has backbone enough to interfere with him save one, and that the mayor of Toronto. Profane swearing is as much forbidden by the law as theft, or arson, or murder; yet who executes it! Profanity is worse than theft, or arson, or murder, for these crimes are attacks on humanity—that is an attack on God.

This country is pre-eminent for blasphemy. A man traveling in Russia was supposed to be a clergyman.

"Why do you take me to be a clergyman?" said the man.

"Oh," said the Russian, "all other Americans swear."

The crime is multiplying in intensity. God very often shows what He thinks of it, but for the most part the fatality is hushed up. A few summers ago among the Adirondacks I met the funeral procession of a man who, two days before, had fallen under a flash of lightning while boasting, after a Sunday of work in the fields, that he had cheated God out of one day anyhow; and the man who worked with him on the same Sabbath is still living, but a helpless invalid under the same flash. On the road from Margate to Ramsgate, England, you may find a rough monument with the inscription:

A boy was struck dead here while in the act of swearing.

Years ago in a Pittsburgh prison two men were talking about the Bible and Christianity, and one of them, Thompson by name, applied to Jesus Christ a very low and villainous epithet, and as he was uttering it he fell. A physician was called, but no help could be given. After lying a day with distended pupils and palsied tongue, he passed out of this world. In a cemetery in Sullivan County, in this State, are eight headstones in a line and all alike, and there are the facts! In 1841 diphtheria raged in the village, and a physician was remarkably successful in curing the patients. So confident did he become that he boasted that no case of diphtheria could stand before him, and finally defied Almighty God to produce a case of diphtheria that he could not cure. His youngest child soon after took the disease and died, and one child after another, until all the eight had died of diphtheria. The blasphemer challenged Almighty God, and God accepted the challenge.

But I come later down and give you a fact that is proved by scores of witnesses. This last August of 1886, a man got provoked at the continued drought and the ruin of his crops, and in the presence of his neighbors he cursed God, saying that he would cut his heart out if he would come, calling him a liar and a coward, and [illegible] body was so intense it drove back those who would come near. Scores of people visited the scene and saw the blasphemer in the awful process of expiring.

Do not think that because God has kept still in your case, O, profane swearer, that he is dead. Is there nothing now in the peculiar feeling of your tongue, or nothing in the numbness of your brain that indicates that God may come to avenge your blasphemies, or is already avenging them? But these cases I have noticed, I believe, are only a few cases where there are hundreds. Families keep them still to avoid the horrible conspicuity. Physicians suppress them through professional confidence. It is a very, very, very long roll that contains the names of those who died with blasphemies on their lips. And the crime rolls on, up through parlors up through chandeliers with lights all ablaze, and through the pictured corridors of club rooms, etc., out through busy exchanges where oath meets oath, and down through all the haunts of sin, mingling with the rattling dice and cracking billiard balls, and the laughter of her who has forgotten the covenant of her God; and round the city, and round the earth a seething, boiling surge flings its hot spray into the face of a long-suffering God. And the ship captain damns his crew, and the merchant damns his clerks, and the master builder damns his men, and the hack driver damns his horses; and the traveler damns the stone that bruises his foot, or the mud that soils his shoes, or the defective time-piece that gets him too late to the railroad train. I arrange profane swearing and blasphemy, two names for the same thing, as being one of the gigantic crimes of this land, and for its extirpation it does seem as if it were about time for God to arise.

Then look a moment at the evil of drunkenness. Whether you live in Brooklyn, or New York, or Chicago, or Cincinnati, or Savannah, or Boston, or in any of the cities of the land, count up the saloons on that street as compared with the saloons five years ago, and see they are growing far out of proportion. You people who are so precise and particular lest there should be some imprudence or rashness in attacking the rum traffic, will have your son some night pitched into your front door dead drunk, or your daughter will come home with her children because her husband has by strong drink been turned into a demoniac. The rum fiend has despoiled whole streets of good homes in our cities. Fathers, brothers, sons, on the funeral pyre of strong drink! Fasten tighter the victims! Stir up the flames! Pile on the corpses! More men, women and children for the sacrifice! Let us have whole generations on the fire of evil habit; and at the sound of the cornet, flute, harp, sackbut, psaltery and dulcimer let all the people fall down and worship King Alcohol, or you shall be cast into the fiery furnace under some political platform!

I indict this evil as the fratricide, the parricide, the matricide, the uxoricide, the regicide of the century. Yet under what innocent and delusive and mirthful names alcoholism deceives the people. It is a "cordial." It is "bitters." It is an "eye-opener." It is an "appetizer." It is a "digester." It is an "invigorator." It is a "settler." It is a "night-cap." Why don't they put on the right labels—"Essence of Perdition," "Conscience Stupefier," "Five Drachms of Heartache," "Tears of Orphanage," "Blood of Souls," "Scab of an Eternal Leprosy," "Venom of a Worm That Never Dies." Only once in awhile is there any thing in the title of liquors to even hint their atrocity, as in the case of sour mash. That is the advertised all over. It is an honest name and any one can understand it. Sour mash! That is, it makes a man's disposition sour, and his associations sour, and his prospects sour; and then it is good to mash his body, and mash his soul, and mash his business, and mash his family. Sour mash! One honest name at last for an intoxicant! But through lying labels of many of the apothecaries' shops good people, who are only a little undertone in health and wanting of some invigoration, have unwittingly got on their tongue the fangs of this cobra that stings to death so large a ratio of the human race.

Others are ruined by the common and all-destructive habit of treating customers. And it is a treat on their coming to town, and a treat while the bargaining progresses, and a treat when the purchase is made, and a treat as he leaves town. Others, to drown their troubles, submerge themselves with this worse trouble. Oh, the world is battered, and bruised, and blasted with this growing evil! It is more and more entrenched and fortified. They have millions of dollars subscribed to marshal and advance the alcoholic forces. They nominate, and elect, and govern the vast majority of the office-holders of this country. On their side they have enlisted the mightiest political power of the centuries. And behind them stand all the myrmidons of the nether world, Satanic and Apollyonic, and diabolic. 'Tis beyond all human effort to throw this bastile of decanters or capture this Gibraltar of rum jugs. And while I approve of all human agencies of reform, I would utterly despair if we had nothing else. But what cheers me is that our best troops are yet to come. Our chief artillery is in reserve. Our greatest Commander has not yet fully taken the field. If all hell is on their side, all Heaven is on our side. Now

Let God arise, and let his enemies be scattered.

Then look at the impurities of these great cities. Ever and anon there are in the newspapers explosions of social life that make the story of Sodom quite respectable; for such things, Christ says, were more tolerable for Sodom and Gomorrah than for the Chorazins and Bethsaidas of greater light. It is no unusual thing in our cities to see men in high position with two or three families, or refined ladies willing solemnly to marry the very swine of society if they be wealthy. Brooklyn, whose streets fifteen years ago were almost free from all sign of the social evil, now night by night rivals upper Broadway in its flamboyant wickedness. The Bible all aflame with denunciation against an impure life, but many of the American ministry uttering not one point-blank word against this iniquity, lest some old libertine throw up his church-pew. Machinery organized in all the cities of the United States and Canada by which to put yearly in the grinding mill of this iniquity thousands of the unsuspecting of the country farm-houses, one procuress confessing last week in the courts that she had supplied the infernal market with 150 souls in six months. Oh, for five hundred Pall Mall Gazettes in America to swing open the door of this lazar-house of social corruption. Exposure must come before extirpation.

While the city van carries the scum of this sin from the prison to the police court morning by morning, it is full time, if we do not want high American life to become like that of Louis XV., to put millionaire Lotharios and Pompadours of your brown stone palaces into a van of popular indignation, and drive them out of respectable associations. What prospect of social purification can [illegible] her eyes sideways before one of those first-class satyrs of fashionable life, and on the ball-room floor join him in the square dance, the maternal chaperone meanwhile beaming from the wall on the scene. Matches are made in Heaven, they say, [illegible] for the infernal regions. [illegible]

The evil is overshadowing all our cities. By some these immoralities are called peccadilloes, gallantries, eccentricities, and are relegated to the realms of jocularity, and few efforts are being made against it. God bless the "White Cross" movement, as it is called, the excellent and talented Miss Frances Willard, its ablest advocate on this side the sea, an organization making a mighty assault on this evil! God forward the tracts on this subject distributed by the religious tract societies of the land! God help parents in the great work they are doing in trying to start their children with pure principles! God help all legislators in their attempt to defeat this crime.

But is this all? Then it is only a question of time when the last vestige of purity and home will vanish out of sight. Human arms, human pens, human voices, human talents are not sufficient. I begin to look up. I listen for artillery rumbling down the sapphire boulevards of heaven. I watch to see if in the morning light there be not the flash of descending scimeters. Oh, for God! Does it not seem time for his appearance? Is it not time for all lands to cry out:

Let God arise, and let His enemies be scattered!

I got a letter a few days ago asking me if I did not think that the earthquake in Charleston was the divine chastisement of that city for its sins. That letter I answer now by saying that if all our American cities got all the punishment they deserve for their horrible impurities, the earth would long ago have cracked open into crevices transcontinental, and taken down all our cities; and Brooklyn and New York would have gone so far under that the tip of our church spires would be five hundred feet below the surface. It is of the Lord's mercies that we have not been consumed.

Not only are the affairs of this world so a-twist, a-jangle and racked, that there seems a need of the divine appearance, but there is another reason. Have you not noticed that in the history of this planet God turns a leaf about every two thousand years? God turned a leaf and this world was fitted for human residence. About two thousand more years passed along and God turned another leaf, and it was the deluge. About two thousand more years passed on and it was the appearance of Christ. Almost two thousand more years have passed by, and he will probably soon turn another leaf. What it shall be I can not say. It may be the demolition of all these monstrosities of turpitude and the establishment of righteousness in all the earth. He can do it, and he will do it. I am as confident as if it were already accomplished. How easily he can do it my text suggests. It does not ask God to strike with his right hand, or stamp with his foot, or hurl a thunderbolt of his power, but just to get up from the throne on which he sits. Only that will be necessary.

Let God arise!

It will be no exertion of omnipotence. It will be no bending or bracing for a mighty lift. It will be no sending down the sky of the white horse cavalry of Heaven or rumbling war chariots. He will only rise. Now he is sitting in the majesty and patience of His reign. He is from his throne watching the mustering of all the forces of blasphemy and drunkenness and impurity and fraud and Sabbath-breaking, and when they have done their worst and are most securely organized, he will bestir himself and say:

"My enemies have defied me long enough, and their cup of iniquity is full. I have given them all opportunity for repentance. This dispensation of patience is ended, and the faith of the good shall be tried no longer."

And now God begins to rise, and what mountains give way under his right foot and what continents sink under his left foot I know not; but standing in the full height and radiance and grandeur of his nature, he looks this way and that, and how his enemies are scattered! Blasphemers, white and dumb, reel down to their doom; and those who have trafficked in that which destroys the bodies and souls of men and families will fly with cut foot on the down grade of broken decanters; and the polluters of society, that did their bad work with large fortunes and high social sphere, will overtake in their descent the degraded rabble of underground city life as they tumble over the eternal precipices; and the world shall be left clear and clean for the friends of humanity and the worshipers of Almighty God. The last thorn plucked off, the world will be left a blooming rose on the bosom of that Christ who came to gardenize it. This earth that stood snarling with its tigerish passion, thrusting out its raging claws, shall lie down a lamb at the feet of the Lamb of God who took away the sins of the world.

A LIBERAL GROOM.

How He Rewarded the Preacher and How the Latter Disposed of the Fee.

[Chicago Inter-Ocean.]

It was their first wedding. The groom "new," so was the bride, and the Congregational clergyman had committed matrimony only in his imagination. Things did not pass off so smoothly as many weddings before or since have done. A good deal of the solemnity of the occasion was rubbed off when the young preacher asked the groom if he would take the bridesmaid for better or worse, and there was a necessity of beginning all over when the sweet little bride entered a blushing yet vigorous protest. Finally, however, it was all over; the twain was one of flesh, and the little wife was weeping in the arms of the mother who had nursed her so many years, cared for her so kindly, only that she might go away from her when most the aged arms and dim eyes needed support and help. The groom slipped up to the nervous minister, and as that gentleman was about to pass out into the night, pressed a coin into his hand.

"A twenty-dollar gold piece," thought the young preacher. His heart beat faster now than when he was officiating at the wedding. He had needed the money so much. Indeed, he often wished his meager salary was only half its size, he had such difficulty in collecting it. And now to receive twenty-dollars all at once—why—. Then it occurred to him that it was customary for the minister to make the bride a present of his first marriage fee. The good man sighed as he removed his thin overcoat and returned to the room where the guests were offering their congratulations to the newly wedded couple.

"I forgot something," said he, as he approached the bride. "This is the first marriage fee I have ever received. It is yours. It should be kept as a reminder of this occasion."

The young bride stretched out her hand and the coin rang as it touched her marriage ring. The guests looked up; the unconscious wife did not close her hand upon the fifty-cent piece that lay there, and all saw it. The minister was [illegible]

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established, 1869.

CHARLEVOIX, OCT. 20, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE Associate Editor.

Hustling Items.

Another sudden fall Friday night snow.

We think that if the parents would visit our schools more there would not be so much fault found.

The schooner Sea Gem loaded with potatoes for Stripp, Saturday.

D. N. Gregory has purchased him a horse team. Consideration, $200. The purchase was made of Mr. Crothers

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dickie buried an infant baby last Monday, Oct. 11.

The SENTINEL is the best paper in the county, therefore you should subscribe.

A gospel temperance meeting at Ironton next Thursday evening.

Hazings from Hayes.

L. H. Scott is building a house on his farm, on Sec. 14.

John Horton of Horton's Bay, brother-in-law of our pastor, Rev. E. W. Wood, died last Thursday after a short illness.

A young republican at Jack Saunby's since last Saturday. We are sure of a cigar.

If the town-board desire to hold the election at Burgess this fall, they can have the use of the Hanson residence.

George McRoberts has purchased the 40 acre farm known as the Joe Jackson place, of Jack Saunby, and will occupy it in the spring.

We think the G. R. & I. R. R. will find it pays as well to give an excursion from northern points to the south as it has in the past from the south, northward. And we can enjoy a cheap ride occasionally as well as our outside neighbors.

Boyne Falls.

The first number of the Boyne Falls Gazette is before us. Its editor and proprietor is Charles F. Dixon, with H. H. Eaton as sub-editor and business manager. It is a five column quarto, and is not a bad looking little sheet. From it we take the following items:

C. W. Dutcher and family have removed to Grand Rapids.

The revival meetings which have been held in the school room for the past two weeks are largely attended and full of interest. Several have been converted.

J. C. McFellin has been down with an attack of pleurisy during the week, but is recovering.

Chas. W. Horn, proprietor of the Boyne Falls grist mill, died last week.

A new road has recently been surveyed for the purpose of affording the inhabitants of the Bohemian settlement better means of access to Boyne Falls. The old road contains over a mile and a half of corduroy, while the new one has barely half a mile. The road commences 80 rods east of the north-west corner of section 28, and runs south a mile and a quarter, thence west one mile and a quarter, intersecting the old swamp road. This will bring the settlement within 8 miles of good road.

Who was to Blame?

From the Grand Traverse Herald.

It was asserted last evening at Library hall that the republican party had not kept its promises on the question of submission to the people of the amendment to the constitution touching the liquor traffic. The republican party believes in the right of petition and when any considerable number of citizens shall ask for the submission of any constitutional question or amendment to the people, for ratification or rejection, that party will do all it can to meet this request. Two years ago this pledge was made and kept, all assertions to the contrary notwithstanding. The house contained 52 republicans and 48 opposition. The senate had 18 republicans and 14 opposition. A two-thirds vote is required in each house on such questions. The vote stood: In the house, republicans, 49 years and not one nay; democrats, 18 yeas and 28 nays. Absent 3 republicans and 2 democrats. Just the required two-thirds, 67 votes, received in the house. The senate vote stood: Republicans, 18 years, not one nay; opposition, 13 nays, not one yea, 1 opposition vote absent. Lost in the senate, 22 votes being required. Thus it will be seen that not a single republican in either house voted against the submission. This vote was thus given because the party had pledged themselves to do so, and the pledge was redeemed. If the prohibitionists had not placed third candidates in the field in several of the senatorial districts, drawing from the republican vote, and thereby defeating the republican and electing the democratic or fusion candidate in those districts, the result would have been different, as only 4 more votes were needed in the senate. The prohibition party is therefore solely and wholly to blame for the defeat of this measure in the last legislature. This is a matter of history and record and no idle assertion.

One of the witnesses in the anarchist trial went into a Chicago saloon the other day and barely escaped with his life from the crowd who wanted to kill him for testimony against the anarchists. The close alliance between anarchy and saloons is one of the most promint features. The knights of labor knew what they were about in refusing saloon-keepers admission to this order.

WANTED—Good, steady men to cut ties and posts. Apply to George Burns, at the livery barn, or Junius S. Dixon, Charlevoix.

Mrs. Litney & Carr, the popular milliners, have just received and are still receiving one of the finest and fullest lines of fall and winter goods ever brought to Charlevoix. The ladies are invited to call in and inspect their stock.

Correspondence.

To the Editor:

Having spent between four and five months on the Resort, and having made a daily visit to the village, I deem it not amiss, through your valuable paper to say a good word, both on the desirableness of the place for a summer residence, and of its enterprising inhabitants. We often find desirable places to live, but undesirable associates.

For this place Nature has done all that the most exacting could require. High and dry land, surrounded by pure waters, upon which daily trips are made to all the surrounding places by six different steamers. The product of the forest is also furnishing a very large amount of freight to Chicago, Milwaukee, and other lake ports, for steamers and sail vessels.

And the village of Charlevoix is growing as fast as the surrounding country will sustain it, and have it retain a healthy, permanent growth. All wealth must come from the soil in some shape, and so long as you can manufacture and produce from the soil and the forest, and sell abroad, or exchange for articles you consume, so as to have the balance of trade in your favor, you will continue to prosper, even without the county seat or a railroad. It is very convenient to have the county offices where you reside, but if the court is so far from you that you never find it, you lose nothing.

And the railroad (where water communication is as good as yours is) will detract rather than otherwise; too large a proportion of undesirable inhabitants crowd into all railroad towns. All large places have to provide a place to keep the large number of tramps who infest railroad towns. It is generally that class who spend their surplus earnings with the saloon-keeper.

I have heard no complaint of tramps here. We had a visit from one

"Who proved to be a miserable sinner,
He came in the back way and stole our dinner.
He was no cold water man, the thievish elk
For he washed it down with a pitcher of milk."

I look upon Charlevoix as a model place. Merchants, manufacturers, and men of all other callings, all attend to their own particular branch of business, and all seem to work in harmony. There are but few idle men standing around the streets or saloons. And you will continue to prosper so long as you can claim to be outside of the three "outs"—out of debt, out of the bucket shop and other gambling establishments, and out of the saloons.

Your educational facilities are as good as any community can desire. College educations, other than commercial and agricultural are tending to make our young men and women look upon work as degrading.

Yours,
H. BISHOP.

Ironton.

The wood is nearly all out of the yard. The furnace will run as long as wood lasts, and then shut down for repairs.

A large stock of hard and soft ores is being shipped in. Last week a vessel was unloading ore every day, and also some loading at the same time.

The propeller Lawrence took a load of iron from the dock on the last trip.

Business seems much better now than last year.

The Company have about completed the addition to their store, and are filling it and the main building with fall stock.

Henry Hammond has been very sick for a few days.

Lots of prohibition talk on the corners and in the streets.

A curiosity: A democrat who will not advocate prohibition to a republican.

The delegates to the W. C. T. U. convention at Petoskey returned sober.

Mrs. John Peterson pulled a beet from her garden which has five roots in the shape of a man's hand; one representing the thumb and the other four the fingers partly closed.

Mrs. Eber Burdick, who has been spending a few weeks with relatives at Harbor Springs and Cross Village, returned on Thursday. During her absence Eber "kept bach." Resulting probabilities are: More wild cat panorama, and some unfortunates sold out at two for a cent.

The Citizen scribe of this place last week worked himself into a pitiful state of agonizing anguish because one of his neighbors had two sick pigs, one of them actually not expected to live. We saw a pig die of sore throat the other day, and never shed a tear.

Edwin Soules, who has had the contract for painting the school house, has his job nearly completed. His work recommends him, and our school building would be a credit to a much larger town. The body of the work is a light drab, trimmed on the outside with a hazel color, and on the inside with red.

The following citizens from here are taking in the excursion to Detroit this week: J. H. Purvis, Wm. Goodyear, Wm. Hause and Mrs. D. J. Parish.

Elder Clark, of Charlevoix, conducted the services at the Congregational church on Sunday afternoon. Elder Iddings preached at the M. E. church, and left his appointment for regular services in two weeks. There will be a gospel temperance meeting in the M. E. Church on Thursday evening under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. Both Sabbath schools were well attended, notwithstanding unpleasant weather.

Gospel temperance service at the M. E. church, Thursday evening of this week. The pastor is expected to be present.

An immense line of Dry Goods, Fancies and Notions, at Rosenthal & Son's.

Rosenthal & Son can sell you a dandy overcoat for a small sum. Give them a call.

The steamer Lawrence brought the largest stock of Trunks and Valises ever shown in the county, for Rosenthal & Son.

Marine.

The steamer Faxton has been carrying flour to east shore ports during the past week.

The steamer Joseph Gordon begins running to-day on the route between Charlevoix and Boyne City, making one round trip per day, leaving Boyne City every morning at 8, and returning every afternoon at 3:30.

The severest storm of the season raged Thursday and Friday of last week. Signals were ordered up for a severe gale, but the halyards broke and the flags came down with a run. The steamers Faxton and Grand Rapids were sheltered here during both days and the steamer Clara Belle remained at her dock Thursday, having tasted the beginning of it Wednesday night. No disasters occurred hereabouts. The captains say their barometers fell more rapidly and lower than they have ever seen them before

Grand Traverse Herald: "Hannah, Lay & Co. have contracted with Miller Bros., ship-builders, of Chicago, for re-building the steamer City of Traverse, during the coming winter. The boat will go into dry dock for this purpose Nov. 1st The work will be very thorough, and this still fine steamer after her sixteen years of active service will be entirely remodeled and rebuilt, at a very large expense, and will come out in the spring in just as good condition as when she made her first run, in the spring of 1861 in fact better, because in rebuilding, advantage will be taken of the better knowledge of ship-building attained during these years, with the improved machinery and equipments now in use."

Capt. Dan Way has had another streak of bad luck. The scow Supply, of which he was owner and master, was lost Thursday. The Milwaukee Sentinel gives the following particulars: A vessel flying a signal of distress was sighted off Fox Point, twelve miles north of Milwaukee about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, by the captain of the steambarge Oswegatchie, and on his arrival here he sent the tugs Coe and Welcome to her. They found it to be the scow Supply in a water-logged condition and in danger of capsizing. The vessel was laboring in a heavy sea, and it was with much difficulty that the tugs could rescue her crew, who had sought refuge on top of the cabin. Finally the tug Coe ran close enough alongside of her to allow three of the men to jump aboard. The Captain, Daniel Way, alone remained aboard and it was proposed to have him lash a line around his body and throw the other end aboard the tug so that he might be hauled aboard. This the captain considered too dangerous. The Coe at last got a line to the vessel and held her head to the sea until the Welcome, after several efforts, got in a favorable position so Capt. Way could jump aboard. As the Supply was being towed into the harbor she lost her entire deck load. Her decks filled with water until she had such a bad list that her starboard rail was under water. In this condition she was towed into the harbor, and immediately after she was tied up at Wolf & Davidson's shipyard she capsized. Wednesday night the Supply left Muskegon for Milwaukee. Shortly afterwards she encountered a heavy sea and sprung a bad leak. Her crew remained at the pumps all night and until 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when she encountered the heavy northwest gale, which threw her on her beam end, dumping part of her deckload, and she filled. Her crew were chilled through by their wet clothing when they arrived here.

The following are the clearances from the port of Charlevoix, for ports outside the Michigan District, for the week ending yesterday evening:

13—Schr. Libbie Now, 7,000 ties, Glenn & Porter to Chicago.
13—Schr. Eliza Day, 110,000 ft hardwood lumber, Glenn & Porter to Chicago.
15—Schr. Dan Mabee, 167 c wood, Bradburn & Sons to Milwaukee.
16—Schr. Cascade, 3,300 ties, 3,500 posts, Downer to Chicago.
16—Schr. Stampede, 220,000 hardwood lumber, Pine Lake Lumber Co to Sheboygan.
16—Schr. Charlotte Raab, 5,400 ties, Meech to Chicago.
16—Schr. Sea Gem, 25 c bolts, 3,000 bu potatoes, Stripp to Milwaukee.

Old newspapers sold at this office.

Notice of Registration.

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of the Board of Registration of the township of Charlevoix, will be held at the town clerk's office, in said township, on Saturday, the 30th day of October, A. D. 1886 for the purpose of registering the names of all such persons as may be possessed of the necessary qualifications of electors in said township, and who may apply for that purpose and that said Board of Registration will be in session on the day and at the place aforesaid, from 9 o'clock in the forenoon until five o'clock in the afternoon for the purpose aforesaid.

HORACE S. HARSHA,
Town Clerk.

Notice of Election.

Notice of election is hereby given to the electors of the township of Charlevoix in the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, that the next ensuing general election, will be held on Tuesday, succeeding the first Monday of November next, being the second day of said month, at the village hall in said township, at which election the following officers are to be chosen, to wit:

A Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, State Treasurer, Auditor General, Commissioner of the State Land Office, Attorney General, and Superintendent of Public Instruction, also a Member of State Board of Education, in place of Edgar Rexford, whose term of office will expire December 31, 1886; also a Representative in Congress for the Ninth Congressional District of this State, to which your county belongs; also a Senator for the 29th Senatorial District, composed of the counties of Manitou, Leelanaw, Charlevoix, Antrim and Grand Traverse, also a Representative in the State Legislature for the Charlevoix Representative District composed of the counties of Charlevoix, Antrim and Manitou; also the following county officers: County Treasurer, Prosecuting Attorney, County Clerk, Sheriff, Coroners, Register of Deeds and County Surveyor. The following proposed amendments to the Constitution of this State will be submitted to the people of the State for their adoption or rejection, viz:

An amendment to Section 10, Article 10, relative to the Board of Auditors of Wayne County, provided for by Joint Resolution No. 16, Laws of 1885—

SECTION 10. The Board of Supervisors, or in the county of Wayne the Board of county auditors, shall have the exclusive power to prescribe and fix the compensation for all services rendered for, and to adjust all claims against their respective counties, and the sum so fixed or defined shall be subject to no appeal: Provided, That the Legislature shall have power to regulate, control, modify, or abolish the board of county auditors of Wayne county, and may by law provide for the auditing of the accounts of Wayne county.

An amendment to Section 1, Article 9, relative to the salaries of State officers, provided for by Joint Resolution No. 27, Laws of 1885—

SECTION 1. The judges of the circuit courts shall receive an annual salary of twenty-five hundred dollars; the Governor, State Treasurer, Secretary of State, the Commissioner of the Land Office, Attorney General, and Superintendent of Public Instruction shall receive such salary as shall be fixed and determined by the Legislature of this State, such salaries to be fixed and determined by the Legislature of this State at its first session after the adoption of this amendment and in each fourth year thereafter.

The polls of said election will be opened at eight o'clock in the forenoon, or as soon thereafter as may be, and will be continued open until five o'clock in the afternoon, unless the Board shall, in their discretion, adjourn the polls at twelve o'clock, noon, for one hour.

Dated at Charlevoix, Mich., this 20th day of Oct. A. D. 1886.
HORACE S. HARSHA,
Town Clerk.

A Card.

To the Electors of Charlevoix County.

At the request of many friends from different parts of the county, I take this method of announcing myself as an independent candidate for the office of Register of Deeds, and most respectfully ask for your suffrage.

FRED J. MEECH.
Charlevoix, Oct. 12th 1886.

Notice.

All persons having business with me can find me in the new court house at Boyne City.

Office hours from five in the morning to ten in the evening. Persons wishing to return on the same boat will be waited upon first, with pleasure.

SAMUEL H. THATCHER,
County Clerk.

Go to Scott's shop for a first-class job of horse shoeing.

If you want a nice suit of clothes at a low figure, just give Rosenthal & Son a call, they are bound to suit you.

Bank of Charlevoix,

W. F. BROWN, Cashier. W. A. BROWN, Asst. Cashier.

CAPITAL, $25,000

Perfect Security
Is assured to the depositors in this Bank, both by its Capital and conservative management.

Its Officers
Never Speculate. Their business creed is: That to Speculate with ones own money, is folly; that to do so with the money of others, is criminal.

Security in Banking
Is the question of first importance to both Bankers and Depositors; and, believing that it furnishes unusual guarantees, therefore,

This Bank Invites
People generally to intrust their money to its keeping. Just liberality will mark its dealings.

This Bank Will
Borrow Investment money when desired, paying as large interest thereon as shall be compatible with safe use of the money.

Parties Seeking
Productive employment for money, and desiring to escape the expense and trouble of the management of private investments, will find attractive security in this Bank's

Investment Notes,
Now earning Five per cent. yearly interest. These notes afford investors much more perfect security than Savings Bank deposits.

We Solicit Your Patronage.

J. A. HEATH,
FURNITURE
AND JOBBING SHOP,
Antrim Street,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

All classes of furniture made to order, furniture repaired, and shop work of all kind promptly attended to, and satisfaction guaranteed.
Give me call.

THE CIRCUS BEGINS!

I HAVE RECEIVED A
LARGE INVOICE OF
CLOTHING!

Bought from one of the leading houses of Rochester, N. Y., Which I will sell at Prices that will draw Trade from all over the County.

I think the best advertisement a merchant can have is to have his goods advertise him in good fits and prices that cannot be beat.

GEO. W. MILLER.

The Earthquake Did It!

OUR NEW YORK BUYER TOOK ADVANTAGE OF THE GREAT EXCITEMENT JUST IN TIME TO BUY US A MAMMOTH STOCK OF FALL AND WINTER
CLOAKS.

And writes us that he never before secured such Bargains for us or so desirable styles.

LADIES, wait for our stock which will be here in a few days and we will convince you what an earthquake will do for us.

Everything you need is coming in DRY GOODS, NOTIONS, and all the leading Fancies.

F. W. CRAINE & CO.

J. L. HURD & CO.
Have just opened an
IMMENSE NEW STOCK
OF FALL & WINTER
DRY GOODS!

LEADING NOVELTIES IN DRESS GOODS,
ASTRAKAN CLOAKING,
TRIMMINGS, etc.
WITH A FULL LINE OF
STAPLE GOODS OF ALL KINDS.

WE OFFER SOME WONDERFUL BARGAINS IN HAMBURG EMBROIDERIES

OUR STOCK OF
GROCERIES!
Was never more complete and we know the prices are low enough.

J. L. HURD & CO.

CHEER UP! CHEER UP!
CHEER UP.
A HAPPY TIME COMING!

Rosenthal & Son

Have just returned from the market and have purchased the largest stock of goods ever before brought to Charlevoix.

IN DRY GOODS we have a large line in Dress Goods of the latest styles and at prices to suit everybody. Also a full line of Notions, Ribbons, Buttons of the latest styles and a big stock of Domestics.

IN CLOAKS we have the finest line of short Wraps, Newmarkets, street Jackets in excellent styles for children and misses. Made in Plush, Astrakan, Friza, Beaver and Diagonals.

IN CARPETS: A mammoth line of Brussels Ingrains, stair and hall Carpetings and Rugs of every description. Window Curtains in lace, jute and oil with fixtures.

IN CLOTHING: Mens', Youths', Boys', and Childrens' Clothing and Overcoats at almost any price. A large line of Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, etc.

IN TRUNKS, we take the cake and can sell them from 50 cents to $15.00.

A grand chance to strike BARGAINS. Our goods are the best and our stock complete.

Yours, always ready to wait on Customers,
ROSENTHAL & SON.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL. XVIII. NO.—36. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1886. WHOLE NO. 883

School Books!
SCHOOL BOOKS! SCHOOL BOOKS!
—HEADQUARTERS—
For Everything needed in the School Room, at
HINES & CO.'S DRUG AND STATIONERY STORE.

You will find it to your interest to look over our stock before purchasing elsewhere.

Respectfully,
F. G. HINES & CO.

UPRIGHT & EMREY.—GENERAL DEALERS.

UPRIGHT & EMREY,
Dealers in
Dry Goods, Groceries, Etc.

CHOICE TEAS,

Best Coffees

Boots & Shoes!
IN ALL GRADES OF MEN'S, WOMEN'S and CHILDREN'S.

We have given more than our usual care and attention to the selection of our stock, and we Know we can please our patrons in all

KINDS OF FOOTWEAR.

UPRIGHT & EMREY.

We can Supply you with EVERYTHING in our Line.

THE FINEST STOCK OF
FURNITURE
ever offered in Charlevoix,
IS NOW AWAITING YOUR INSPECTION AT
Henry C. Cooper's.

A Choice Line of
FRESH GROCERIES,
OF EVERY VARIETY,
Including Confectionery, Fruits, Canned Goods, and Tobaccos and Cigars in stock

For your Inspection in OPERA BLOCK by
R. J. COOPER.

THE BEST GOODS!
FOR
THE LEAST MONEY!
IS THE MOTTO
OF STOCKMAN & IDDINGS',
HARDWARE and IRON
MERCHANTS.
CHARLEVOIX, - MICH.

A CONTINUANCE OF
Your Patronage,
IS SOLICITED.

The Best Groceries
At The Lowest Prices
ARE FOUND AT THE GROCERY AND PROVISION HOUSE OF
A. E. MASON.
I do a strictly Cash-over-counter business and will guarantee lowest prices.

J. MILO EATON'S
REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE
AND LOAN OFFICE.
The oldest in the county. Established in 1875.
Money to loan in sums to suit and at lowest rates on improved farms.
ABSTRACTS OF TITLE furnished on short notice. Office over Postoffice.

A. J. McLEOD,
having returned to the Charlevoix Meat Market, announces that he will sell at Wholesale or Retail
All kinds of
FRESH MEATS,
SALT PORK,
SMOKED & SALTED
HAMS,
Dried and Smoked
BACON, DRIED BEEF,
Bologna, Head Cheese,
Sausage
Highest Prices Paid FOR HIDES and PELTS.
Will kill hogs or cattle for other Markets or persons wishing that class of work at low rates.
A. J. McLEOD.

CHARLEVOIX
Manufacturing Co.
Charlevoix, Mich.,
Manufacturers of
Sash and Doors,
Blinds, Mouldings etc.
NEWELL
Posts, Banisters & Stair Rails
kept in stock.
Window & Door Frames
made to order.
All Kinds of
Building Material
Kept constantly on hand.
PLANS & SPECIFICATIONS.
Furnished on application.
Cottages made a specialty also contracting and building.
Correspondence solicited.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
SMITH & PARMELEE,
Charlevoix, - Michigan.
Address all business correspondence to the firm
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One year - $1 50 | Six months - $ .75
Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—Register next Saturday.

—J. S. Smithson has gone to Toronto on business.

—W. S. Johnson, of Sutton's Bay, was in town yesterday.

—When you lay in your stock of winter flour, buy the Rifenburg brands.

—The fire department are doing nicely, and getting along just like little white doves.

—That big, lame, popular and good natured old sinner, Dick Cooper, made us a call yesterday.

—Mr. Sackett, of Calhoun county, still remains at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. R. Upright.

—Junius Dixon left Monday on a business trip to Chicago in the interest of the Smithson Lumber Co.

—The steamer Gracie Barker laid up last week, and Leslie Giddings, who has been her engineer, returned home Friday.

—Geo W. Miller has a rousing stock of clothing and gent's furnishing goods to which he invites attention in his new ad.

—Mr. E. T. Covert, of Central Lake, was in town yesterday gathering up the personal effects of his son, the late Wm. Covert.

—The Rifenburg Milling Co. announce that they will stop buying grain for thirty days, owing to the storage bins being full.

—Frank Sears has purchased a water lot just east of the Wilcox boat house, and he and Jos. Beauvais are erecting a new boat house 24x40 feet in size.

—Notwithstanding the crowded house and the large sale of Chinese souvenirs, the ladies who had the late Chinese entertainment in charge only cleared $3.

—Jos. Beauvais and Frank Sears will build a 38 foot steam yacht this winter. They will put a steam ferry on the route between the resorts and town next season.

—W. H. Gibson, who has been in the employ of Heath & Francis this summer, returned to his home on Beaver Island last week. Mr Gibson will return here in the spring.

—Two large cisterns have been built for fire purposes, and were filled by the steam fire engine on Tuesday. One is located on the school lot, and one on the corner near Mudge's store.

—Miss Cody, the teacher in elocution, is eminently well qualified. She has testimonials from a number of the best American elocutionists, and we are glad to learn that she is securing a large class.

—The "bee" held by the G. A. R. boys last Friday to clear up their cemetery lot was a success. The boys have 112 feet front by 15 rods back, adjoining the Township cemetery. It will be immediately platted.

—John A. and Joseph Cooper, of Marion bought, Monday, from Mr Frank Sears a 30 horse power saw mill and engine, to be erected at the Smithson Lumber camp in Norwood. The Cooper brothers will do the sawing for Mr. Smithson.

—Charlevoix county dealers will patronize home industry by laying in a large winter stock of the Rifenburg flour. Experience has demonstrated that it is as good flour as can be made, and consumers should see to it that they buy no other.

—Graves & Lamphear, the painters, have begun the painting of the new resort hotel. This firm have done several fine jobs of painting the past summer, both in the village and on the resorts, and are growing in popular favor. Among the fine pieces of work they have done this season is the neat residence of Wm Scroggie.

—Two constitutional amendments will be submitted to the people at the State election this fall. One authorizing the Board of Supervisors of a county to fix the compensation for all services rendered the county and to adjust all claims against the county, and the sum as fixed shall be subject to an appeal. The other is to fix the salaries of circuit judges at $2,500 per year, and directing that the Legislature shall at its first session after the adoption of the amendment fix the salaries of the several State officials and adjust them every fourth year thereafter.

—The Elk Rapids Progress, independent, is of the opinion that Mr. A. K. Dougherty is going to be our next representative. That iron will be found in paying quantities at Norwood. A shaft is being sunk this week. That the democratic party is a bass. That the republicans will carry the next presidential election. That Charlevoix is a delightful village. That a man is a fool who will refuse to have business relations with another because he happens to differ with him in politics or religion. That there are lots of fools. That republicans stand by their party workers. That democrats do not. That we would never run a party organ.

—Send us in the election returns.

—Don't forget to register saturday.

—Judge Ramsdell was in town to-day.

—J. L. Hurd returned from Chicago, Thursday.

—Stockman & Iddings have a new announcement this week.

—Rev. W. H. McCartney has taken possession of the M. E. parsonage.

—Mrs. Richard Lake leaves tomorrow to visit relatives in Canada.

—Capt. Guard of the steamer Gordon, has removed to Charlevoix with his family.

—The plasterers and painters have begun their work on Amos Fox's fine new residence.

—Joseph Cooper rolls a squash in our front door which measures 46 inches in circumference.

—Wm. Erwin, brother of Archie Erwin of this place, returned to his home in Ontario, last week.

—D. Sherwood & Co. have a large new stock of boots and shoes just opened. New ad next week.

—The Western Union Telegraph office will receive and bulletin election returns next Tuesday night.

—Rev. W. H. McCartney possesses a library of over 600 volumes. He has only removed about 230 volumes here, however.

—If any man in the Pine Lake region suffers for bread the coming winter it will be because he is too sick or too lazy to work.

—Notice the large list of clearances from this port this week. Can any port on this shore of Lake Michigan make a better showing?

—We would be glad if the friends of the SENTINEL would send in the election returns from their townships promptly, and on the night of election if possible.

—James E. Wood has received his sample-case of druggists' supplies and leaves Monday to become a knight of the grip. He will make the trip to Detroit by carriage, selling goods along the route.

—Mr. J. G. Reed, of Marion, brings in samples of potatoes of the White Elephant variety which take the cake. One weighs five pounds, another 4½, and six others in the collection aggregate a weight of 15½ pounds. These are no "small potatoes."

—Some people pay $10 for an advertisement and then think themselves liberal. Few of these know what it costs to advertise in city daily papers. A column in the Chicago Tribune costs $26,000. The lowest price column in the New York Herald costs the advertiser $39,563, and the highest one $54,890. The New York Tribune charges for its lowest priced column $29,751, and for the highest $35,658. Who will say that there is not money in a live newspaper.—Portchester Gazette.

Charlevoix Summer Resort Items.

H. W Page spent Sunday on the resort.

The Wilcox cottage has been improved by a large veranda on the north and east sides.

Work on the new club house is being pushed. The shingling is completed and the flooring nearly laid, and the partitions in. As the building advances, the perfection of the interior plan develops. The building will be painted canary with olive trimmings. The priming coat is now being put on.

Chicago Elite News: C. N. Holden and wife entertained 300 guests last Thursday evening at their elegant residence, 512 West Monroe, including the officers of the church, the choir and his Bible class. The evening was interspersed with music and elocution, winding up with an elegant supper. Mr. and Mrs. Holden know how to entertain royally, and there seems to be no end to their hospitality.

Religious.

M. E. Church.

The Official Board of the M. E. church will meet at the parsonage on Monday evening. The pastor desires every member to be present.

Rev. W. H. McCartney began his pastoral labors Sunday, preaching morning and evening. Services as usual next Sabbath. The pastor earnestly requests the attendance of non church goers.

Congregational Church.

Services as usual next Sabbath.

The reception tendered the pastor and family at the church last Wednesday night was a social success.

J. S. Smithson will preach at the Ironton Congregational church next Sabbath at 3 o'clock p. m. To all a cordial invitation is extended.

J. S. Smithson has kindly consented to lecture for the benefit of the Ironton Men's Aid Society on Monday evening, Nov. 1, at 7:30. Subject, "Candles." At Congregational church, Ironton.

Baptist Church.

Services at the rooms of the Society next Sabbath morning and evening, the pastor officiating.

The ladies of the Baptist church will give a novel entertainment in the form of a Corn Social at their rooms over Craine's store, next Wednesday evening Nov. 3. Corn will be served in a great variety of ways, and charges made upon the European plan. See bills of fare.

County Political Matters.

Vote the straight Republican ticket from Governor to Coroner.

Vote for Archibald K. Dougherty, the honest laboring man for Representative.

If you favor protection for American productions and labor, vote the straight Republican ticket.

Look out for lies circulated against Republican candidates for county offices, too late for denial.

The entire Republican county ticket is one which can consistently be supported by every Republican. Vote it straight.

Every voter, of whatever party, who realizes the true situation in this matter of Sheriff, should cast a vote for Captain Harrison Berdan.

Who is this young man Lewis whom the fusion party have nominated for Representative? Will some one who has heard enlighten us?

James E. Stone, prohibition candidate for Register, has withdrawn. H. H. Thompson, prohibition candidate for Treasurer, has done likewise. Next.

Hon. Walter W. Barton, the Republican nominee for State Senator, is very popular in Lelanaw county, his home. He served a term in the lower house of the Legislature in '81 with honor to himself and his constituency. He is a pioneer in the grand Traverse region, having moved to Northport in 1856, and will be elected by a rousing majority.

Our esteemed friend, Mr. Cruickshank, spoke at Ironton one night last week, on the political issues of the hour, and the burden of his song was free trade, the creed of Democracy. Ironton is the wrong place Brother Cruickshank, at which to talk free trade. Abolish the tariff on iron and the Ironton furnace would go out of blast with the rest of them, thereby compelling the Pine Lake Iron Co. to dispense with the services of a large force of men, together with those of their excellent attorney.

Dan Jerrue is a better man than his opponent every day in the week, on any issue that can be raised, and no good Democrat should allow himself to be led away.—CHARLEVOIX JOURNAL.

The above is a sample of the consistency of the paper that has a temperance column and blows about it. The utterance is as plain a slander of Capt. Berdan as the English language could make it, and everybody knows it. We challenge the Journal editor, or any other man, to particularize in defense of it. Capt. Berdan has a clean record, both here and where he formerly lived, and any person who asserts that he has, since his residence at Charlevoix, committed an act which should forfeit him the confidence of the public, utters a lie! The slanders against him which were circulated two years ago were proven false, and his conduct privately and officially since he came to Charlevoix is without blemish. We repeat, the Journal is a slanderer and a falsifier, and beg to remind it that among Capt. Berdan's strongest supporters are leading Democrats in Charlevoix and other parts of the county. Such asinine foolishness on the part of the Journal does it no credit, even if it be displayed in defense of its party nominees.

Historical Society.

The first annual meeting of the Charlevoix Historical Society, held at the parlors of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Wood on Friday evening, was well attended and opened the season auspiciously.

The address of Prof. Enos upon "The Historical Society—its objects and Influence," was a careful and masterly review of the subject, and embodied much good advice to the Society.

President Green followed with a review of "Results," which the speaker enumerated in a manner covering the subject, and predicting future results. The speaker had full confidence in the permanency and usefulness of the Society.

The paper of the evening was by Dr. J. A. Carlstein, upon "Stonewall Jackson," and in which the Doctor did himself and the subject justice.

The musical programme as announced last week was augmented by a quartette by Miss Kanagy and Mrs. E. M. Clark, Messrs Smith and Carlstein, and a piano duet by Mrs. Guyles and Miss Cody.

Several new members were elected and the question of making the meetings bi-weekly was postponed until the next meeting. As this would be a step backward, we earnestly hope the proposition will be defeated.

The resignation of Miss Lizzie Bell as secretary was accepted and Miss May Waterbury was elected to all the vacancy.

The next meeting will be at the residence of President Green.

The following are the officers for the coming year: President, Hon. E. H. Green; 1st Vice President, Mrs. E. M. Clark; 2d Vice President, Al. Washburn; Secretary, Miss Waterbury; Treasurer, Mrs. L. E. Allen; Executive Committee, H. Lee Iddings, Prof. H. M. Enos, Mrs. O. S. Washburn, Mrs. Carlstein, A. D. Bradbeer.

—Most of the Detroit excursionists returned home to-day.

—It is reported that Mrs. Wm. Glover, who left Marion last year for Florida, died last week of typhoid fever.

—W. A. Aitchison, who has worked the Medad Thompson farm for some time, has removed to town and resides on Clinton street. Next week Mr. Aitchison will go to St. Johns, where he will remain for the winter.

YAPLE'S "PATRIOTISM."

His Work While a Member of Congress for Which He Claims the Support of Union Veterans.

At Allegan, lately, the record of the Democratic party received proper attention at the hands of Messrs. Palmer and Luce. They spoke calmly, but decidedly in favor of the pension legislation as recommended by the General Committee of the Grand Army of the Republic and ... their audience ... the first Democratic President for twenty-five years had felt that his high office ... private bills passed in behalf of the widows and orphans. Palmer said he was willing that Democratic leaders should have pensions as well as Republican ones, and even said he was glad that Commissioner Black whose many wounds were received while bravely fighting for his country should draw a pension of $100 per month—the highest pension on the list—but he claimed that the Democratic party is in opposition to the granting of pensions as they are opposed to all patriotic progressive, humane legislation in the interest of the citizens of their own country.

At the close of his speech Palmer made the hit of the evening by giving the record of Candidate Yaple upon the two most striking patriotic and ... questions that arose during his brief term in Congress. To the ... of Mr. Yaple, whom Palmer referred to as "a very nice young man," he voted in one session for the restoration of Fitz John Porter, who was then drawing a good salary as police commissioner of the city of New York, and against the retirement of General Grant, who was then closing his eyes on the world forever. Again, Mr. Yaple personally neither Mr. Luce nor Mr. Palmer had a word to say, but ... showed him to be entirely unworthy of the support of the loyal citizens of Michigan. ...

attend if they wished, and if they did not go it was not Colonel Wells' fault." Thus the Leader's attempt to prejudice the public against the Michigan Soldiers' Home and its worthy veterans scores a triumphant failure. The Leader will have to try again. Perhaps a thrilling editorial on Yaple's vote to restore Fitz John Porter and against the restoration of General Grant would be a clever stroke just now.—Detroit Tribune.

LUCE A GOOD FARMER

How He Is Regarded by One of His Old Employes.

The following letter lately given to the Michigan press speaks for itself:

Having heard and seen several false statements regarding the life and business of Hon. Cyrus G. Luce, the Republican candidate for Governor of Michigan, I wish to state, in justice to that gentleman and for the benefit of the people of Michigan, through the columns of your widely circulated paper, that I worked for him upon the farm for one year, and know whereof I speak, when I say that in the strictest sense of the term he is a farmer. He manages very successfully his farm of about three hundred acres, taking a hand in whatever work there is to be done and working with a will and vim that few young men excel, and whatever work he lays his hands to progresses with no uncertainty or halting. There is no chores, odd jobs or details, too menial for him. He never asks his hired help to do what he would be unwilling to do himself.

Although I have always voted the Greenback ticket, I think I recognize my own interests and those of the farmers generally this fall more by supporting the Republican candidate for Governor, and hence, shall, as I think every farmer alive to his own interests should, vote for Hon. Cyrus G. Luce, who is in every respect a gentleman, a practical and thorough-going farmer and business man, a man whose practical experience and executive ability eminently fit him for the honorable position to which he aspires.

Yours for justice,

CHARLES H. WARD.

NOBLE, Oct. 9, 1886.

Gerrymandering and Disfranchisement.

1. Indiana Gerrymander: On Senatorial representation one Democratic vote is equal to two Republican votes.

2. On Representative apportionment two Democratic votes are equal to three Republican votes.

...

A FINE WAR RECORD.

...

An Eloquent Advocate.

...

The Veterans Are Free Agents.

...

HAPPY NASBY.

Under Democratic Civil Service He Gets His Post-Office, Settles His Debts and Renews His Credit at ...

[Toledo Blade.]

CONFEDRIT X ROADS (which is in the State uv Kentucky), ... Halleloogy! The k... Last night my comish... at the Confedrit X Ro... the State uv Kentuck... and the good ole Con... disgrace uv resevin ... hands uv an disgustin ...

My appointment wu... terest uv Civil-Servis... Eggsleney, the Presid... long time agon makin ... when it wuz represent... Lubbock, the nigger ... held the place for tw... with a slite ontu whe... President, he felt it ne... be a change, becoz in s... felt that their must be... peculi sathin in the ... sich. Sed he to our ...

"I don't know uv a ... cood hold a offis tw... without stealin sathin, ... going to admit that ... publikin Afrikin is any... proud Democratic C... experience teeches m... must be a theef and ... moved."

Consekently I hev ... blessed cam rests upo...

Ther never wuz a ... time than when the n... reseeved my commish... Corners. The people ... masse and insisted th... to-wunst upon my door... to 'em that my bond... made out afore I could... but they wouldn't hee... organized into a perce... Bascom's, and under t... uv the ocashun, he giv... to a still drink. ...

...

PETROLEUM V. NASBY,
(Now Really Postmaster.)

UNCLE SAM DEFIED.

...

AN UP-BUILDING PARTY.

The Great Mission of the Republican Party, Past and Present.

...

POLITICAL POINTS.

...

THE INDUSTRIAL WORLD.

...

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

...

THE COMBINED
STEAM FURNITURE
—AND—
Agate Works,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

REPAIRING OR BUILDING
Furniture of all Kinds
ON SHORT NOTICE.

MY LAPIDARY

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

CORNELIUS BUDD.

Northern Michigan
Boiler Works.

Boilers, Heaters,
LARD TANKS, ETC.
OF ALL KINDS

SHEET IRON WORK
A SPECIALTY.

MARINE WORK
Given Special Attention

HENRY BARTH, Proprietor,
Charlevoix, Mich.

MILWAUKEE, LAKE SHORE
& WESTERN RAILWAY.

TWO DAILY TRAINS
Wausau and Milwaukee and Chicago

THE AIR LINE TO OSHKOSH.

TIME TABLE.

FRANK E. WOOD'S
BATH AND BARBER ROOMS.

FARMING LAND!
600,000 ACRES
Of Splendid
Michigan Lands
FOR SALE BY THE
G. R. & I. R. R. COMPANY.

WATER AND RAIL.

Not a Wilderness, by any Means.

W. O. HUGHART, Commissioner,
Grand Rapids, Mich.

HUMPHREYS'
HOMEOPATHIC
SPECIFICS.

WM. J. STEVENSON,
VETERINARY HORSE-SHOER.

The Old Doctor

IOWA ROUTE
BURLINGTON
CEDAR RAPIDS
AND NORTHERN RY.

THE SHORT & POPULAR LINE

SOLID TRAINS
Pullman Sleepers
Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Paul
FAMOUS ALBERT LEA ROUTE
St. Louis, Minneapolis & St. Paul

Land Seekers' Round Trip Tickets

NOW IS THE TIME
TO USE
JOHNSTON'S
SARSAPARILLA
FOR LIVER COMPLAINT,
DYSPEPSIA,
AND PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

W. JOHNSTON & CO.,
Detroit, Mich.

SEXUAL

JOB PRINTING
Cards, Bill-Heads, Circulars, Posters,
AT THIS OFFICE
In the Neatest and Promptest Manner

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL

SMITH & P. R. W. LEE, EDITORS AND PROPRIETORS.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

A BAND OF BLUEBIRDS.

O, happy band of bluebirds,
Brave prophets of the spring,
Amid the tall and tufted cane,
How blithesomely you sing!
What message bands your music
And solemn a dusky refrain
You tell us Nature stores her seed
To give them back in grain!

Your throats are gleeful fountains,
Through which a song I do know:
Your voice greets me in the woods,
On every wind that blows!
I dream that Heaven invites you
To bid the Earth "good bye;"
For in your wings you seem to hold
A portion of the sky!

* * * * * *

O, happy band of bluebirds,
You could not long remain
To flit across the fading fields
And glorify the grain...
You leave melodious memories,
Whose sweetness thrills me through.
Ah, if my songs were such as yours,
They'd almost touch the blue!

—William H. Hayne, in Harper's Magazine.

A BEAUTIFUL CITY.

Description of Genoa, One of Italy's Historic Centers.

Both a Military and a Commercial Power—A Novel Way of Obtaining Light, Air and Cheerfulness—A Grand Cemetery.

Genoa is one of the most interesting cities in Europe. It is almost inclosed on three sides by high hills or mountains, and fronts on the Mediterranean. Its topography reminds me strongly of that of Cincinnati. It is an old city, dating back to the days of the Cæsars. Its history for the last thousand years ...

... ing views of the city, we proceeded to the famous cemetery of Campo Santo, about three miles out in the suburb. On our way we saw a veritable old Roman aqueduct running on the side of the hills for carrying water, a part of which is utilized for the modern waterworks. We reached the cemetery, and soon saw that it is a very novel place, so entirely different from the American idea of a cemetery. It is square in shape, and covers about ten acres. This square is completely surrounded by a covered gallery one story high. The rear of the gallery is an unbroken wall. The front towards the inside is an open arched wall giving full light inside. This gallery is about twenty feet wide. Under the pavement next to the rear wall, or in tombs prepared for the purpose, are buried the aristocracy of Genoa. In the open ground outside of the the gallery are buried the "lower millions." The distance around the cemetery through this gallery is over half a mile. In this gallery is the most magnificent collection of monuments and statues I have ever seen. I was fairly bewildered with the view of the almost innumerable works of art that were presented to our gaze. There was one monument next to the rear wall, with a life-size figure of a deceased husband lying full length on a catafalque, with a statue of Christ standing by the side, with one hand extended over the figure and the other over the kneeling statue of the grief-stricken wife, with her hands clasped in front of her, all cut out of pure white marble, the statues of the husband and wife being lifelike. The rich laced dress of the wife, spreading over the steps of the monument, was most exquisitely carved, so much so as to appear real. On the steps was a large wreath of flowers, also cut out of white marble.

On the steps of another monument was the kneeling figure of a daughter, also lifesize and lifelike, with a basket of flowers. Standing over her is a statue of an angel, with one hand pointing to heaven, emblematic of hope ...

CALLED HIS HOGS.

Why an Englishman Places Not the Least Confidence in Arkansaw People.

"I would advise a man," said an Englishman who now has an interest in Arkansaw, "not to place any dependence upon getting directions from the people of this blooming country, you know."

"Have you had any trouble?" some one asked.

"No trouble at all, you know."

"Then why would you advise any one not to place any confidence in the people?"

"On account of their peculiarities, don't you know. My brother and I, having negotiated with a large syndicate bought an immense timber tract. We had never seen it, but we knew by the maps furnished us that it was of great value. Shortly after we arrived at Coldwood Station we concluded to go out and look at the lands which they called by the beastly name of 'Coon Trot.' After vainly trying to hire a conveyance we started out on horse-back. For several days, before the romance wore off, like the silver plating coming off a spoon we had a very good time, but gradually we came to a part of the country where the people respected not the church nor feared not the devil. They seemed charitable enough of every thing except information. They would give us any thing in the house—corn bread and bacon—but when we asked the direction to any place they would become strangely curious; and I may here remark that these people, brave and hospitable, would rather give up their last piece of hog—which is indeed very dear—than to give up information. I don't know why this is, and I have asked several educated gentleman who were born and reared in the State and none of them could enlighten me.

"One evening, about the time that the sun was setting, we stopped at a cabin situated at the foot of ...

...

Why They Were Unanimous.

...

FARM AND FIRESIDE.

...

FATTENING CATTLE.

...

Drains from Barn-Yards.

...

EGGS IN WINTER.

...

OH! MY BACK

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS
THE BEST TONIC

ELY'S CREAM BALM
CATARRH
HAY-FEVER

ACME
BANJO METHOD.

Salt Rheum

Hood's Sarsaparilla
100 Doses One Dollar

DR. JOHN BULL'S
Smith's Tonic Syrup
FOR THE CURE OF
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER,
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

RAILROAD GAZETTE.

FRAZER
AXLE GREASE.

LIVE STOCK
CUTS.

COCKLE'S
ANTI-BILIOUS
PILLS.

THE ROYAL SINGER.

SONGS OF PROMISE.

PIANO CLASSICS.

MASON & HAMLIN
UNRIVALED ORGANS
UPRIGHT PIANOS.

MAGIC LANTERNS

30,000 CARPENTERS

HARTSHORN'S Shade Rollers

AGENTS

GUNS

RUPTURE

WANTED GOOD MAN

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established, 1869.

CHARLEVOIX, OCT. 27, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE, Associate Editor.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

State Ticket.

For Governor—
CYRUS G. LUCE, of Branch County.

For Lieutenant Governor—
JAMES H. MACDONALD, of Delta County.

For Secretary of State—
GILBERT R. OSMUN, of Wayne County.

For State Treasurer—
GEORGE L. MALTZ, of Alpena County.

For Auditor General—
HENRY H. APLIN, of Bay County.

For Attorney General—
MOSES TAGGART, of Kent County.

For Commissioner of State Land Office—
ROSCOE D. DIX, of Berrien County.

For Superintendent of Public Instruction—
JOSEPH ESTABROOK, of Eaton County.

For Member of State Board of Education—
SAMUEL S. BABCOCK, of Wayne County.

Congressional Ticket.

For Representative in Congress, Ninth District—
BYRON M. CUTCHEON, of Manistee.

Legislative Ticket.

For Senator in State Legislature, 29th District—
WALTER W. BARTON, of Leelanaw County.

For Representative in the State Legislature, Charlevoix District—
ARCHIBALD K. DOUGHERTY, of Elk Rapids.

County Ticket.

For Sheriff—
HARRISON BERDAN.

For County Clerk—
ABEL W. CHEW.

For Register of Deeds—
ADELBERT R. UPRIGHT.

For County Treasurer—
HENRY C. COOPER.

For Prosecuting Attorney—
ROSCOE L. CORBETT.

For Circuit Court Commissioner—
ZACHARIAH N. GARBUTT.

For County Surveyor—
ENOCH L. ROBINSON.

For Coroners—
JAMES SANDERSON.
JAMES H. BENNETT.

The Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution sees disaster to southern industries if free trade obtains in this country.

There are indications of an anarchist uprising in Chicago. The authorities should muzzle the exhorters without ceremony.

Detroit Tribune: If Canada does not succeed in banishing the United States flag from the seas of its coast nobody should blame Mr. Secretary Bayard.

The veteran statesman, ex-Gov. Kirkwood, of Iowa, puts truth in a compressed form when he says: "The Republican party has done more during the thirty years of its existence for labor and the laboring man than any other political organization here or elsewhere has done in a century."

The Democratic party poses as a friend of labor, yet demands a reduction in the tariff, which, if effected, would close one-half the manufacturing establishments in the states, and compel the men therein employed to seek other fields of labor. It needs no prophet to foretell that this would mean a reduction of the rate of wages in all lines of work.

Naturally Mr. Blaine's appearance in Philadelphia, and his first speech since the Maine campaign were the occasion of a popular demonstration. He was heard with delight by a great multitude, but a still larger number of people were unable to get within the sound of his voice. Pennsylvania gave him 80,000 majority two years ago, and will better it next time.

The leading officers of the State Grange are: Master, Cyrus G. Luce, republican nominee for Governor; Overseer, John Holbrook, nominee for state senator in the Ingham and Shiawassee district; Lecturer, Perry Mayo, republican nominee for state senator from the Calhoun and Branch district. The farmers seem to have the call in the Republican party this fall.

The stock-yards strike at Chicago came to a close Wednesday by the return of the men to work on the ten hour plan. On Thursday, when the Pinkerton armed force was leaving the grounds, two men were shot and killed by them from the car windows, the pretext being that stones were thrown at them from the crowd. The men who did the shooting are under arrest.

Two strong indications of the growth of the temperance sentiment have been made manifest during the recent assembly of the Knights of Labor at Richmond. The first was when Grand Master Powderly charged the delegates that they should abstain from making themselves ridiculous or contemptible in the eyes of the world by the simple act of abstaining from visiting saloons. The second was when the whole body of Knights demanded a pledge of constant sobriety from its newly elected officers.

The Indianapolis Journal remarks: "It is idle to talk longer about the success of civil service reform under this administration. It is practically as dead as though it never had existence. One of two things, either of which were fatal to the advancement of that much-desired reform in the management of affairs—the President is lacking in the 'backbone' for which he was 'boomed' by his friends, or he is insincere in his professions." Both, good sirs, both; if, indeed, he ever made any "professions."

Northern Michigan News.

The ladies of Petoskey are organizing a ladies Yaple club.

Bellaire is all torn up over the expected arrival of a saw mill and a grist mill, etc.

The G. R. & I. excursion to Detroit last week was a good one. Two hundred and fifty people left Petoskey.

D. B. Jerrus is building still another addition to the "Commercial," at East Jordan, intended for a sample room.

More cedar will be cut in Mackinaw county and vicinity during the coming winter than any two winters heretofore.

The East Jordan Enterprise learns from Mr. Meech, that he will stock his mill the coming winter, and another summer it will be kept busy.

Joe Dennis has rented H. W. Beach's farm in Banks, for three years, M. L. Wooley having given up the place and moved on to O. D. Wood's farm.

The district lodge of the L. O. L. will hold its annual election at East Jordan on Friday, Nov. 5th at 2 p. m. In the evening a grand ball will be given under the auspices of L. O. L. of that place.

Mr. John G. Hill has declined the nomination for Prosecuting Attorney of Emmet county, and the committee have placed the name of M. F. Gula on editor of the Petoskey Democrat, on the ticket in his stead.

Judge Fullass held a special term of court at Lake City, last Thursday, for the trial of James Craft and Mrs. Brass for murdering Milan Brass. Both pleaded guilty and were sentenced to Jackson for life. The mills of the gods have done good work this time.

The teachers' institute for Antrim county convenes at Bellaire at 10 a. m. Monday, Oct. 25, and closes at 4 p. m. Friday, Oct. 29. J. A. Harriman is the local committee. The institute will be conducted by H. A. Ford, of Detroit, assisted by Kate B. Bord, of the same place.

The Sate Pharmaceutical Association at its annual meeting in Grand Rapids last week, fixed the place for holding its next annual session at Petoskey on Thursday, July 14th, 1887. Guy M. Harwood was elected local secretary and will have charge of the arrangements for the meeting.

The old canal residence at the Sault canal is to be fitted up for offices for the United States engineers and general canal purposes. The present offices in the building between the old and new locks will be removed as above stated, and the building moved to some other location. These changes are preparatory to the construction of the new lock.

Hon. Richard Knight of Atwood, Antrim county, was in town Tuesday to meet his cousin, Miss Emily West, from Aldershot, near London, England. Mr. Knight had not seen a single relative, outside his own immediate family, in thirty-six years, and it can be readily understood how warmly he welcomed his cousin to his Michigan home.—Grand Traverse Herald.

The enormous increase of traffic through the Sault Ste. Marie canal this season is the wonder of all vessel men. The average freight tonnage for the first 10 days in October was 27,254 tons. This exceeds any 10 consecutive days in the history of the canal. Up to and including the 10th there had passed the canal 3,661,576 freight tons. On the same day last year there had passed 2,599,220 freight tons. The total last season was 3,256,628 freight tons.

Herald: The sale of Hannah, Lay & Co's lumbering interests to John Torrent, of Muskegon, has been completed. The consideration is $760,000. This is the largest single sale ever made in the state of Michigan. The transfer includes all the standing pine on the Boardman river and at Long Lake, eight miles west of town, a total of about 240,000,000 feet. The saw mill, planing mill and shingle mill at this place and the saw mill at Long Lake are included, also the real estate and water front, connected with the mills here, including the two east decks. The water front extends from the limit of the railroad lands west to the west line of the lumber dry kiln. It is the intention of Mr. Torrent to continue the manufacture of lumber at this point on a greatly enlarged scale. Hannah, Lay & Co. retain their heavy interest in the Hannah & Lay Merc. Co, also their banking business, flouring mill, all the Traverse City real estate not included in the sale as above noted, with the two west docks. They also retain their extensive Chicago lumber yard property, and will continue the hardwood business. Their steamboat interests are also retained and, as stated last week, the steamer City of Traverse will be entirely re-built during the coming winter. It will be seen therefore, that this firm does not intend, by any means, to give up their business and business interests here, only as relates to the manufacturing of lumber.

EDUCATIONAL.

All communications on educational topics should be addressed to Prof. H. M. Enos, Superintendent of the Charlevoix Schools.

Reading.

Are your children reading anything? "Oh, yes," says one; "My children are great readers. Frank and Maria are reading almost constantly. I can hardly get them away sometimes, to do their work. My children are great readers, I assure you."

Well, then the question becomes more serious still. What are your children reading? It may be—it is to be hoped—that their eagerness to devour books and papers is bringing them useful information, knowledge of current events, things that will furnish them wholesome food for thought, something that will make them sober-minded and intelligent men and women. But are you sure? What do they read? Is it the trash novel, too cheap to have a decent cover, and bearing an outside advertisement of its utter worthlessness, showing that it is not expected to be read but once, and were better never read at all; or is it one of the other class, distinguished without a difference, having a good binding because it wants to get into good society, and cannot, except in disguise?

Is it the light stories of the magazine, or of the daily and weekly paper, put in to fill up the pages and to furnish a certain class of readers, because a newspaper or magazine must cater to the taste of all classes? Is the boy or girl getting any living ideas out of the reading? Possibly Maria, at ten years may be intensely interested to know what will become of the heroine of "A Lost Heart," in the Weakly Wishy Wash; she may think that Algernon Villiers is "just lovely," and guess before she reaches the sequel that Angelina will marry him yet, and that the two will settle down in sweet clover and a palace; but does she know anything of the thous and topics that fill books and periodicals, and that would give her culture, breadth of mind, and something to grow upon?

Is Frank more engrossed in the fate of "Dashing Dick," or the forger of "The Stolen Check" than he is in the great game of nations, being employed in the East, where empires are at stake; in events the turn of which may shape the future history of the world?

Parents and teachers are deeply interested in the answer to these questions. The appetite for good reading as well as for bad reading, grows with what it feeds upon. Every exercise of the mind on that which is wholesome and pure strengthens the taste for that kind. Every indulgence of what is poor or vicious perverts the inclination and destroys the mind. Keep the trash out of their way; manage to get some good reading done, and so cultivate the desire and the power to read what is profitable. No reading starves the mind; bad reading poisons it. Either course gives us girls and women who are idle gossips, "gad-abouts," slovenly housekeepers or outcasts; and boys and men who are social 0's, loafers or criminals.

One of the class wishes to know whether, in the problem concerning Bacchus and Silenus, published in last week's column, we are to understand that B drank two-thirds of the time, that it would take S to drink the entire contents of the cask, or only to empty it after B had drank the quantity stated. We will say that the supposition that he drank two-thirds of the time required by Silenus to empty the full cask, is one which permits a rational solution; whether it was so intended by "Student" we do not know. Contrary to our usual practice, the question was published without a solution being furnished along with the problem.

The village teachers' meeting on Monday evening of last week discussed the subject of Reading for an hour and a quarter. Miss Waterbury gave a brief outline of how to teach a knowledge of words in primary work, and Miss Nelson of word study in more advanced classes. At the meeting next Monday evening, the subjects will be "The Recitation; its Objects and Methods," and "Training to Attention."

Queries by a Teacher: "At the last Association Meeting at Charlevoix, in speaking of means to be used in managing a school, it was urged by several that the teacher should consult the parents in all matters of serious moment, affecting the scholars' welfare in school. How is it practicable for teachers to do this when they have so many to deal with." We send this question over to the next Association meeting, East Jordan, Nov. 12. It is a good one.

The three High School classes have chosen appropriate mottoes, and two of them have been put up on the front wall of the school room. The sentiments are good, and the work is an ornament to the room.

The "Answer to problem for older pupils," by "Private Pupil," will appear next week.

THE PIONEER HOUSE OF CHARLEVOIX CO.

New Fall Goods,

BEING RECEIVED WEEKLY.

We call especial attention to our complete stock of

BOOTS and SHOES.

TEAS of all kinds. We will guarantee you the best Tea for the money, in the county.

ALL GRADES of FRESH ROASTED AND GREEN COFFEES.

A Fine line of Everything in

FURNITURE.

BIG DRIVES IN

Flannels, Yarns, and Blankets.

Please bear in mind that our stock embraces

EVERYTHING

usually found in a General Store.

Remember: Our Goods are the Best. Our Prices the Lowest. Our Record the Oldest.

Resp'y Yours,

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

For Finest

JOB WORK,

Patronize The Sentinel.

For Sale!

Prof. RICE'S nicely located House and two beautiful lots on Clinton street near the Park in the village of Charlevoix, are for sale. Enquire of G. M. RICE, Alpena, Mich., or E. H. GREEN, Charlevoix, Mich. May 4, 1886.

Teachers' Examination.

The examination of teachers in Charlevoix county for the ensuing school year, will occur as follows: At Charlevoix, Friday the 15th day of September, 1886; at East Jordan, Friday the 24th day of September, 1886; at Boyne City, Friday, October 29th, 1886. At Boyne City, Friday March 25th 1887; and at East Jordan on Friday April 29th, 1887. All examinations to commence at 9 o'clock a. m. and candidates to furnish stationery.

WILLIAM HARRIS, Secretary.

O-129

NEW SHOP!

All kinds of

Blacksmithing,

At the Shop in the Foundry Building.

Horseshoeing a specialty.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

M. SCOTT.

CHARLEVOIX

Savings Bank.

Organized under the General Banking Law of the State of Michigan.

Henry Bennett, Pres.; John Nicholls, Vice Pres.; F. A. Smith, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:

Henry Bennett, O. D. Wood,
John Nicholls, A. Buttars,
A. R. Upright, A. Fox,
F. A. Smith.

CAPITAL, ... $25,000
SURPLUS, ... 2,000

The liabilities of Stockholders in all State banks as provided in Art. 3174, Sec. 46 of the Revised Statutes of the State of Michigan, is double the amount of stock taken, making a guaranteed fund of $50,000 to depositors. Superior facilities for the transaction of every legitimate branch of banking business extended to our customers on terms as favorable as are consistent with safety.

Drafts drawn direct on the leading commercial cities of the world in large or small amounts. Money to loan on approved paper. Exchange bought and sold. Certificates of deposit issued bearing interest. We respectfully solicit your patronage.

CORRESPONDENTS:

National Park Bank, New York.
Commercial Nat. Bank, Chicago.
Nat. City Bank, Grand Rapids.
Detroit Nat. Bank, Detroit.

Take The Sentinel.

Mortgage Sale.

A mortgage dated the 12th of September, 1879, executed by Oliver S. Horton and Lucella J. Horton to David Carpenter, recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix county, Michigan, September 29th, 1879 in Liber 4 of mortgages on page 86 upon which the whole amount of principal and interest [illegible] is past due and for the recovery of which no suit or proceedings have been commenced, will be foreclosed under the power of sale therein contained by a statutory sale of the premises therein described as the northwest fractional quarter of the northeast quarter of section six, in town 33 north of Range 6, east, in Charlevoix county, Michigan, to the highest bidder at the front door of Lewis hall in the village of Boyne City, Mich., (that being the place of holding the Circuit court for Charlevoix county, Michigan,) at 12 o'clock noon November 26th, 1886.

Dated August 23d 1886.

DAVID CARPENTER, Mortgagee.
DART & CALL, Att'ys for Mortgagee.

Mortgage Sale.

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the money due and secured by a certain mortgage dated the 4th day of March, A. D. 1882, executed by [illegible] of Charlevoix county and State of Michigan, to Martha J. Ayers of Charlevoix, Michigan, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said county of Charlevoix in Liber six (6) of mortgages on page [illegible] on the 4th day of March, A. D. 1882, and the same is now due and owned by the said Martha J. Ayers, and whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of eight hundred and thirty one dollars and [illegible] ($831.88) of principal and interest, and no suit or proceedings having been instituted at law or in equity to recover the debt now remaining secured by said mortgage or any part thereof. Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the said power of sale in said mortgage contained and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided. The said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described [illegible] November, A. D. 1886, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day.

Dated at Charlevoix, the 18th day of August, 1886.

MARTHA J. AYERS, Mortgagee.
J. M. CLARK, Attorney for the Mortgagee.

Mortgage Sale.

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the money due and secured by a certain mortgage dated the 1st day of August A. D. 1881, executed by George B. Thompson and Ada H. Thompson, his wife of Boyne City, Charlevoix county and State of Michigan, to Alden Chamberlin of Charlevoix, Michigan, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Charlevoix in Liber five (5) of Mortgages on page three hundred and ten (310) on the 12th day of August A. D. 1881, and which said mortgage was on the 12th day of January A. D. 1882, assigned by said Alden Chamberlin to Martha J. Ayers [illegible] on the 30th day of November, A. D. 1886, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day.

Dated this 1st day of September, A. D. 1886.

MARTHA J. AYERS, Assignee.
J. M. CLARK, Attorney for Assignee.

A. R. UPRIGHT. OSCAR UPRIGHT

FARMS, VILLAGE PROPERTY,

And TIMBER LAND

FOR SALE BY

UPRIGHT BROS.,

40 Acre Farm, soil clay loam, good well of water at house, 15 acres cleared 8 more chopped, timber Maple, Beech, Cedar and a few Pine. Frame house, Frame Granery and good Log Barn. Board fence on road, Small Orchard. 1 mile from Ironton on good road. Price $1,100. $100 down, balance in two years. Will take a good team as part payment.

80 Acres on Susan Lake, in Hayes Township, heavily timbered with Maple, Elm, Basswood and Beech, surface gently rolling, soil good, will make a fine farm, timber on the land will pay for the place. Price $1,000.

40 Acre Farm, situated 4 miles south of Charlevoix on county Road, soil the very best, good well of water, about 30 acres cleared, nearly all seeded down, fences in first-class order, 100 fruit trees just beginning to bear, good log house, log barn, good school house adjoining the place, good neighborhood. Price $1,800. Two-thirds down, balance on time if desired.

55 Acres, 1½ miles from village of Charlevoix on shore of Lake Michigan, soil good, being sandy loam and muck. 5 acres cleared, comfortable log house, a good sugar bush of 200 trees, balance of timber Birch, Ash and Cedar. Price $20 per acre, one-half down, balance on time.

160 Acres, on section 30, Township 33, N. R. 8 W., heavily timbered with Maple, Elm and Basswood. Surface gently rolling, watered by a spring brook. A most excellent piece of land. Price $1,600, the timber alone is worth the money.

50 Acres in Marion, 2 miles from Guyles & Nash's mill, 12 acres cleared and seeded to grass. 6 acres more chopped. Living water on the place, a good piece of Maple timber, some Cedar, good soil, good improvements in the neighborhood. Price $800, one-half down.

160 Acre Farm 1½ miles from Horton's Bay and same distance from Bear Lake, surface gently rolling, 40 acres cleared, good frame house, timber Maple, Elm, Basswood and Beech. Excellent soil, Price $2,800; will sell in 80 acre lots if desired.

60 Acres of wild Land in Township of Wilson, 3½ miles from Boyne City, soil clay loam, surface gently rolling, timber can not be surpassed. Price $600 one half down.

52 Acres 2 miles from Sweet's mill on South Arm, surface rolling, soil, clay and sandy loam; Fine trout stream passes on west line of land. 20 acres cleared, the best fence in county around clearing; Log house and large log barn, timber Hemlock, Birch, Cedar, in good neighborhood and adjoining large clearings. Price $800; will take a good team in exchange.

40 Acres 3 miles from Charlevoix, all heavily timbered with Maple, Beech, Hemlock and Cedar; will sell for $400.

80 Acres wild land between Horton's Bay and Bay Springs; Price $500; will trade for live stock.

80 Acres of as good land as can be found in the county, on section 20—34—7, 40 acres chopped, surface smooth. Price $1,000; $300 down, balance in 1 year at 7 per cent. A great bargain.

160 Acres known as the Inwood Farm in Norwood. 80 acres cleared. Frame house 16x30 with wing 16x24, story and a half high, good bearing orchard, consisting of Apples, Peaches, Pears and Plums, a fine water power on the place 22 ft fall, a capital place for a grist mill, 80 acres of 1st class timber 1½ miles from saw and grist mill. Price $4,000; one half down, balance or if sufficient security is given, nothing required down.

80 Acres on the State Road, 7 miles south of Charlevoix, 4½ miles from Norwood, 15 acres cleared, frame house 18x26. Living spring near the house; timber maple principally. Soil clay loam. Price $1,000 one-half down balance on time with interest at 7 per cent.

2 Village Lots in Petoskey finely located, have been graded, are as choice residence lots as can be found in town. $330 cash.

A good Lot in Boyne City near the Skating Rink. Price $75.

100 Lots on Upright & Hurlbut's addition to the Village of Charlevoix, at prices to suit all. Some of the finest buildings in Charlevoix are on this addition.

Four good houses and lots in Charlevoix. Prices from $500 to $1,200.

A Business Lot on Bridge Street, Charlevoix, water front, terms easy.

WE OWN THE ONLY
COMPLETE Set of ABSTRACTS
Of Charlevoix County,

And all work intrusted to our care shall have prompt and careful attention

We are Agents for some of The
BEST FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES
And will guarantee as low rates as any first class concerns.

CONVEYANCING,
NEATLY AND PROMPTLY DONE.
Non-Residents' interests looked after, Taxes paid Collectionsmade, etc.

D. Sherwood & Co

Dealers in

BOOTS
AND SHOES.

McCABE'S

MARKET

Is supplied with
All Kinds Of
MEATS
At Lowest Prices.

CASH PAID FOR FAT CATTLE, Hides, Sheep and Hogs.

Corner of State & Mason sts.,

JOHN McCABE.

It Pays to Buy the

BEST BOATS!

The large number of boats I have built for resorters, are advertisements of what I have done and can do in boat building. Call and get references.

I will guarantee the best modelled, easiest rowing and best sailing boats in Northern Michigan for the

LEAST MONEY!

All kinds of Oars, and Paddles made.

LEAVE ORDERS

with me for a boat for next summer's use. I am bound to please you.

Special facilities for stocking boat liveries.

J. BEAUVAIS.

1-3 OFF SALE!

At Miss Spaulding's
MILLINERY ROOMS,

I will sell my entire stock of goods, except Yarns and Crewels at greatly reduced prices for cash only.

Any lady purchasing goods to the amount of $3.00 will receive a present of her choice of any untrimmed felt hat in the store.

Come early and secure a Bargain.

MISS L. SPAULDING.

MICHIGAN STATE LAND OFFICE,
LANSING, SEPT 20th, 1886.

Notice is hereby given, that the following described Primary School and Agricultural College land situated in Charlevoix county, forfeited for non-payment of Interest, will be offered for sale at public auction at this office on the 11th day of November, A. D. 1886, at 10 o'clock a. m., unless previously redeemed according to law.

MINOR S. NEWELL, Commissioner.

PRIMARY SCHOOL LANDS.

No. of Cert.	Descrip.	Sec.	Town.	Range.
11,012	N½ of NE¼	16	32 N	5 W
18,223	SW¼ " NE¼	16	32 N	5 W
18,223	W½ " SE¼	16	32 N	5 W

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE LAND.

No. Cert.	Descrip.	Sec.	Town.	Range
723	[illegible]	23	32 N	4 W
14,802	SE¼ of NW¼	32	32 N	4 W
15,606	N½ of NW¼	32	32 N	4 W
20,316	SW¼ of NW¼	32	32 N	4 W
20,945	SW¼ of SW¼	32	32 N	4 W
20,945	N½ of NW¼ of SW¼	32	32 N	4 W
20,948	S½ of NW¼ of SW¼	32	32 N	4 W

Offices To Rent.

A number of desirable offices to rent in the Sentinel block. Inquire of [illegible].

A. D. Bradbeer,

PHOTOGRAPHER.

OFFICE OVER

UPRIGHT & EMREY'S STORE.

I will make Cabinet Photographs,

A SPECIALTY!

At Lowest Prices

Consistent with

GOOD WORK.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter chapped hands chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Dr. Crouter.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

CRUICKSHANK & GRIER, Attorneys at Law. Office in Buttars Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

JOSEPH M. CLARK, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

PAILTHORPE & GEORGE, Attorneys and Solicitors, Petoskey Mich.

DART & CALL, Attorneys, Petoskey, Mich.

R. L. CORBETT, Attorney at law, Boyne City, Mich. (Prosecuting Attorney of Charlevoix County.)

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

L. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

WM. M. PRESTON, M. D. Physician and Surgeon. Office west of Ingleside, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. A. CARLSTEIN, M. D., Office at residence, Main st. Charlevoix, Mich.

SOCIETIES.

G. A. R.—Baxter Post No. 119, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC—Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, F & A. M. [illegible] Hall over Post-office.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 293, meets second and Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows hall.

K. O. T. M.—Round Tent No. 158, meets second Thursday every month at Odd Fellows' Hall.

I. O. L.—True Blues No. 157, meet Saturday on or before full moon in Odd Fellows' hall.

EMMET CHAPTER No. 101, R. A. M. meets at Petoskey on the first Monday of each month.

IVANHOE COMMANDERY No. 1 [illegible], K. T., meets at [illegible] in Petoskey on the first Thursday of each month.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY meets every Tuesday evening at the homes of the members, during the fall and winter months.

CHARLEVOIX IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION meets at Charlevoix Village Hall on the second Monday of each month, at 7:30 p. m.

President—Byron Sea.
First Vice President—W. A. Smith.
Second Vice President—Robert Miller.
Recording Secretary—Chas J. Strang.
Financial Secretary—B. Sutfield.
Treasurer—Albert E. Mason.
Executive Committee—J. Milo Eaton, S. D. Cruickshank and E. F. Parmelee.
Corresponding Committee—R. Lee Eddings, W. A. Brown and [illegible].
Reception Committee—F. W. Mayne, L. D. Bartholomew, M. J. Stockman, R. Cooper, Geo. W. Crouter, E. W. Miller, S. M. Sea, W. G. Newman, E. M. Clark, H. Berdan.

All those wishing information regarding Charlevoix, the largest and most thriving town in the whole Pine Lake Region, will do well to address the corresponding committee. Unequalled opportunities for all classes of manufacturing.

HOTELS AND RESTAURANTS.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,
RICHARD COOPER, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - - - Mich.
Every convenience for the traveling public, and headquarters for Petoskey and East Jordan Stages.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,
R. A. Campbell, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - - - Mich.
The most central location. Good sample Room. Telephone connections. Only one block to Steamboat Landing.

NEWMAN HOUSE.
W. C. Newman, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - - - Mich.
Fitted up with a view to the Comfort of the Traveling Public. Good Sample Room. Central Location.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,
G. N. Fearl, Prop.
East Jordan, - - - Mich.
Horse and [illegible]. Telephone connections.

BANK.

Bank of Charlevoix.

Drafts on New York, Chicago, Detroit and Grand Rapids. Bank Remittances or Postoffice Order to any parts in Europe. Loans and Discounts on first mortgages on Real Estate. Railroad and Steamship Tickets to and from any place in Europe.

BROWN & CO.

PILE DRIVER.

ALLEN'S Steam Pile Driver. Contracts taken and work will be done at any point between Traverse City and Cheboygan. L. A. Allen, Charlevoix, Mich.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

B. SUFFIELD, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Domestic Cases, etc. Charlevoix, Mich.

BARBER.

JAY PRICE, Barber, east side of Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. S. and J. N. DIXON, Surveyors and Engineers, Charlevoix, Mich. (Deputy County Surveyors Charlevoix county.)

DENTIST.

N. J. PERRY, Dentist. Office in Weed's Drug Store, Charlevoix, Mich.

Fresh Stock of

GROCERIES

AT THE
NEW GROCERY,
Corner of Antrim and Grant Streets.

It is my aim to keep a full line of choice Groceries at lowest prices.

Your trade is solicited.

Butter and Eggs wanted.

A. J. MUDGE.

MILLINERY

AND

FANCY GOODS!

Mrs. ELLA SMITH &
Miss ANNIE COOPER

Have opened a store in the Ingleside Building, and invite their friends to call and inspect their fine stock of

FANCY GOODS!

Of all varieties usually kept in a first-class millinery store.

Washburn & Ackert,
FOUNDREYMEN,
MACHINISTS,
And Manufacturers of The
Charlevoix Plow.

HER MATCH-MAKING.

"Well, do you like him, Kitty?"

"Oh, very much, Sally, dear!"

"His lovely mustache and his big, blue eyes! Did you notice, Kitty?"

"Blue! Why, they're a sort of greenish-grey; and his mustache is decidedly stubbly."

"Stubbly!"

Miss Sally Wilson dropped the paper in which she was twisting her hair for the night, and turned upon her friend with a gasp.

"Stubbly! For mercy's sake of whom are you talking?"

"Why, of Mr. Beadle, to be sure—Mr. Alfred Beadle, the great bondholder, the hero of the evening; of whom else?"

Kitty pulled off one small white slipper, and stood twirling around upon the other and laughing gleefully.

Sally watched her in dismayed silence.

"Mr. Beadle!" she said, reproachfully. "You know I mean Howard Bennett."

Kitty paused in her giddy revolutions and sat down, with her rounded elbows on the bureau, and her lovely, flushed face in her hands.

"Dear me!—no I didn't," she said, fixing her soft eyes wonderingly on Sally's troubled face. "But, come to think of it, he was rather nice-looking."

Sally groaned. Was this the reward of all her love schemes? Was this the way in which her dreams were to be realized—her hopes to be fulfilled.

Miss Wilson was a very romantic young lady. She had always been, and rejoiced in being.

As regarded herself, she had long since come to the conclusion that any romantic ending was, if not quite impossible, at least most unlikely.

She was not, in the first place, of the proper appearance.

She was not imposing enough for the queenly sort of heroine set forth in her favorite novels, and she had not the necessary raven locks and haughty manner; and the petite and babyish style was equally out of the question.

She had not a retrousse nose, nor pleading, blue eyes, and her stock of dimples was extremely limited and only made visible by painful contortions.

Then her circumstances were very much against her.

Sally was an heiress, and her parents being dead, she was living with an aunt whom she had raised from the obscurity of dressmaking to preside over the beautiful home to which she had recently returned from boarding school.

Nobody could ever love her madly for herself alone—reach across a barrier of poverty, and marry her in the face of a disapproving world.

Sally sometimes regretted that her father had been the highly successful railway contractor that he had been.

Her very name was discouraging. Sally Wilson! Who could conceive of anything interesting happening to a person with so horribly prosaic a name?

But Kitty! It was all very different with Kitty. Sally's romantic soul had thrilled with prophetic delight the moment she had seen her—sitting on one foot in one of Madame Lavine's schoolroom windows.

Kitty had been educated by a bachelor uncle. She was beautiful and penniless—two very qualifications for a heroine, Sally had reflected.

She had taken her under her wing, as it were; and now that school was over, she had brought her home with her for a long visit—the chief object of which was that Kitty and Howard Bennett might be brought together.

Sally had met him while at home on her last vacation, and had immediately consigned him in her heart to Kitty.

What could be more fitting, more delightful? Howard was fair, Kitty brunette—which was just as it should be. Howard was calm, languid, and slightly pensive; Kitty was gay and vivacious. Opposite qualities were always necessary for perfect happiness.

The time had arrived for the fulfillment of her hopes and schemes.

Sally had given her first reception, and from her position as hostess had noted the progress of affairs breathlessly.

She had watched their meeting and their subsequent intercourse anxiously; she had contrived that they should go in to supper together, though that had been no easy matter. Mr. Alfred Beadle—the reputed millionaire, concerning whom everybody was so ridiculously stirred up—having shown dangerous intentions of taking her himself, and Howard having been so obtuse as to offer his arm to his hostess.

But these difficulties, and a few similar ones, she had bravely surmounted, and had waited eagerly till the last guest had gone, to hear Kitty's verdict.

"Rather good-looking!" she repeated, despairingly. "Why, he's a perfect Adonis, Kitty!"

"Oh, well, I don't know!" said Kitty, composedly. "Howard," she went on, dreamily, "he looks as though his name was Howard; all the Howards I ever knew were big and fair, and—rather soft, and——"

She stopped suddenly; she had caught a glimpse of Sally's face in the glass.

"I'm so sorry, dear! I suppose he's a great friend of yours?" she said apologetically. "But really I didn't think him so entertaining as Mr. Beadle, and he hasn't half the money, you know," and Kitty laughed wickedly.

Mr. Beadle again! Sally's heart sank. She might have expected something of the sort. Kitty was so totally different from herself. She could never be made to see things as Sally saw them; she was distressingly matter-of-fact.

Sally sat pondering seriously, with the lights turned low, after Kitty, flushed and tired, and happy, had fallen asleep.

Surely things must come out right. Howard must be backed and encouraged, and Mr. Beadle must be snubbed, crushed, and annihilated.

Sally was not quite clear as to how this latter was to be accomplished but she went to sleep with renewed hope.

"I suppose we shall be flooded with calls, shan't we?" said Kitty, as they sat in the parlor the next evening, talking over last night's festivity, with occasional yawns.

"I suppose so, dear," responded Sally, gazing at her in fond admiration.

Kitty was at her loveliest. Her red lips wore a smile of pleased expectancy, and her dark eyes were bright with anticipation.

"By the way," she said, peering into an opposite mirror and patting her hair; "Mr. Beadle said something about coming to-night. Dear me! how do I look?"

Sally groaned inwardly.

"I presume Mr. Beadle will not notice much," she said, severely. "He is past those things, I should think. He must be forty at least."

"About that," said Kitty, sweetly.

The bell rang at that moment, and the subject of their conversation was ushered in, followed by a tall form, with a fair head, none other than Howard himself.

Mr. Beadle pounced upon the chair nearest Kitty; Howard sank gracefully upon the sofa at Sally's side.

"I hope your duties of last night have not quite worn you out," he said, looking down at her tenderly.

"Oh, dear me, not at all!" responded Sally, rather sharply.

This was all wrong; but what was she to do?

"It was a charming affair," Howard continued, moving a little nearer to her.

"Thank you!" said Sally, abstractedly.

She was watching the pair opposite, with rising uneasiness.

Mr. Beadle was leaning forward at a dangerous angle, talking with horrible volubility, with his eyes fixed on Kitty's face.

Sally felt a wild desire to see his chair roll backward and land him on the floor.

Howard looked a little hurt by her brevity; but Sally was oblivious.

"Don't you think her lovely?" she said.

Kitty was venturing a remark at the moment with a coquettish little laugh. Sally could gladly have shaken her.

"Very," said Howard, rather vaguely, and without looking around.

"He is jealous," said Sally to herself. "Poor fellow!"

"She is always pleasant, like that, to everbody," she said, aloud, with sympathy and reassurance in her tone. "She doesn't mean anything by it."

"Indeed?" said Howard.

But he did not seem quite to understand the force of the remark.

Mr. Beadle was begging Kitty to sing; and now was Sally's chance.

"Do dear!" she urged; "our new waltz song. Do you know it?" she went on, turning to Howard. "Mr. Bennett will turn your leaves, Kitty."

Howard followed Kitty to the piano obediently, and Mr. Beadle joined Sally on the sofa.

"How extremely well-suited they are!" Sally observed. "They seem made for each other. Don't you think so?"

"Really, I had not noticed it," rejoined Mr. Beadle, stroking his mustache with sudden gravity.

"Stubbly!—good gracious, yes!" said Sally to herself, wrathfully.

"I should hardly think so," he added, with some asperity.

"No!" said Sally, frigidly.

And they relapsed into silence.

That was the first of a long series of similar occasions.

Howard and Mr. Beadle called incessantly, and Sally's anxieties increased accordingly.

Things were very discouraging for the most part. Mr. Beadle was plainly enamored of Kitty's manifold charms, and was determinedly devoted. Kitty was gay, and careless, and bewitching, and Howard was as languid as ever, and rather more pensive.

Sally was convinced that this was due to unhappiness. He was grieved and angered by Kitty's indifference; he was a prey to hopeless yearnings and jealous passion.

The only drawback to the theory was that Howard seemed sometimes ridiculously and unexplainably attentive to herself.

But that was pride, of course—pique. Sally lived in momentary expectation of having a tale of wounded love and blighted hopes poured into her sympathetic ears.

The days and weeks rolled by; Kitty's visit was drawing to a close, and everybody was looking forward eagerly to Mrs. Smythe's masquerade.

Sally herself forgot her schemes and anxieties in the flutter of preparation.

Kitty was to go as a gipsy, in a bright silk bodice, a gaily bespangled petticoat, and a highly-colored and highly-becoming turban—things which no gipsy has ever been known to wear. Sally was to appear modestly as a peasant of doubtful nationality, with a tucked waist and abbreviated skirt, and her hair in two braids down her back.

Sally's hopes had somehow risen rather high. This was almost the end of Kitty's visit, almost the last time that she and Howard would be together, and something must happen.

The fact of their approaching separation would come home to them both; would bring them nearer together; would strike down all obstacles hitherto existing, and bring matters to a happy end.

Mr. Beadle was, of course, the chief obstacle. Mr. Beadle had shown a profound interest in the occasion—a positive enthusiasm, which Sally considered revolting.

"A man of his age!" she had said to Kitty, indignantly. "It is absurd! He will probably come as Infancy."

"Undoubtedly!" Kitty had responded, gaily. "And Mr. Bennett as a lamp-post or a lightning-rod—he is so amusingly tall!"

Mrs. Smythe's rooms were a blaze of light and a scene of whirling gaiety.

Sally gazed upon the scene, bewildered, from the retirement of a sofa. She had lost sight of Kitty, and in the present state of confusion could not be sure of knowing her again.

A stalwart Highlander, with a ferocious mask, paused before her, and appeared to be examining her intently.

Then he came nearer, and stood regarding her critically, with his head on one side, folding his arms and crossing his scantily-clothed legs with a satisfied air.

"He thinks I'm somebody else," said Sally to herself, amusedly, and forgot him in a new excitement.

She had caught a glimpse of a red waist and a twinkling skirt; of a gay turban and a flying mass of dark hair.

Kitty was in a low chair at the further end of the room; her bare, round arms, with their silver bands, gleaming white, and her smiling, red lips, just visible.

A distinguished-looking individual, in the costume of Louis XVI., was perched upon an ottoman at her side, gazing upward in an obvious state of admiration and bliss.

Sally craned her neck. Surely it was Howard! Only the top of his head was visible behind his exaggerated ruff; but surely that limited portion bore a striking resemblance to Howard's.

Sally felt a thrill of exultation; this was exactly what she had hoped for.

The music struck up; the Highlander offered his arm promptly, and away they whirled.

Their steps were eminently suited. Sally's cheeks began to glow behind her mask, and her eyes to sparkle.

Suddenly the music ceased; the waltzers paused: there was a little hum of [illegible], and then a simultaneous removal of masks.

Sally looked around eagerly. Kitty and Louis XVI. stood near—Kitty smiling and glowing. Louis XVI. stroking a stubbly mustache and beaming down upon her.

Sally [illegible] up at her partner in [illegible] the affectionate [illegible] eyes, and a [illegible] from [illegible] a blonde mustache.

"It is rather warm here," said the Highlander, softly. "Shall we step outside?"

And Sally went.

Half an hour later, when the rioting within had reached its wildest point, they were still standing out under the stars with the music floating out to them softly.

Howard's fair head was bending very low, and Sally's long braids fell over his arm.

"But—it is so perfectly unexpected," she was saying, in a subdued way. "I had never even thought of such a thing."

"No," said Howard, in an aggrieved tone—"everybody could see that."

"You see," said Sally, in a meekly apologetic way, "it was always Kitty I was thinking of. Dear me!" and she laughed.

Half an hour ago, she would hardly have laughed at this knowledge of the ignominious failure of her plans. It was quite unexplainable.

* * * * * *

"I could hardly wait to tell you!" cried Kitty.

She was sitting on the side of the bed, her dark hair in charming confusion around her shoulders, her silver bands in a pile beside her, her red turban on the floor.

"I could hardly wait! Oh, Sally, can you guess?"

"It is Mr. Beadle, I suppose?" said Sally, resignedly—so resignedly that Kitty stared.

"Dear me!" she cried delightedly. "I thought so all along. Was I right after all? It is Mr. Bennett, I suppose?"

"I—I'm afraid so," said Sally softly.

SENATOR MASON'S WIFE.

She Gave Him a Nice Dinner but Didn't Appreciate His Joke.

"It is only about twice a year," remarked State Senator William E. Mason the other day to an Arkansaw Traveler reporter, "that I'm smart enough to fool my wife. Last Monday I played a trick that ought to serve as a capital suggestion for other husbands to conduct operations on. Along about 4 o'clock in the afternoon I began to get faint and hungry. I had been working hard all day and was as famished and as fagged as a hunted wolf. As I sat in my office chair wondering what I was going to find for dinner when I got home, an entirely new and marvellously brilliant idea flashed upon me. It broke upon my intellect much as a stray plank dances before the vision of a drowning man. It made my mouth fairly water as it developed its details in my greedy brain. I made a bee line for the telephone and called the central office.

"'Give me 5,568,' said I, and then I chuckled all over, and my mouth kept on watering.

"'Bur-r-r,' went the telephone. I put my mouth close to the funnel, and in a shrill, falsetto voice asked: 'Is that Senator Mason's house?'

"'Yes,' came the answer, and I recognized my wife at the other end of the wire.

"'Is the Senator at home?' I asked in the same feminine voice.

"'No,' was the reply.

"'Well, then, is Mrs. Mason there?' I inquired.

"'Yes, I am Mrs. Mason,' was the answer.

"'Oh, is that you?' I cried, 'how do you do?'

"'Why, how d'you do?' responded my wife, but I knew by her tones that she hadn't the remotest idea whom she was talking to.

"'How are all the chileren?' I asked.

"'They're all very well,' said wife.

"'Well,' said I, 'I happened to be in town shopping to-day, and I thought I'd go over to your house to dinner.'

"Well, that sort of staggered wife. She mustered up voice enough to ask:

"'Who are you?'

"Then I answered:

"'Why, don't you recognize the voice? I'm Mrs. Mya-yah!'

"'I don't catch the name—speak louder,' she pleaded.

"'Mrs. Mya-yah!' I repeated, and with that, in order to preclude all embarrassing complications, I shut off the telephone as tight as I could. Then I threw myself into a chair and laughed till I like to went into apoplexy. Laugh? Well, you ought to have seen the plastering fall around me! But, to make the long story short, I reached home about 5.45, and of all the dinners I ever clapped eyes on—gosh it was a banquet! Wife had her new black silk dress on, and she had slicked the children up so that I could hardly identify them.

"'I think we'd better wait dinner a while, dear,' said wife.

"'Why so?' I asked. 'Bless you, I'm as hungry as an alligator.'

"Then wife told me she was expecting a lady guest, and she repeated the details of the telephone of the afternoon. It was a fearful ordeal, but I managed to look innocent, and of course I wondered who the lady could be.

"'Indeed, I don't know,' said wife, 'but her voice was strangely familiar. I've been puzzling myself almost to death trying to guess who it was.'

"Well, we waited fifteen minutes and then we sat down to the banquet—and a royal feast it was! We had soup and fish and a big roast, and about a dozen little side dishes, and wife had sent out and bought a gallon of pink ice cream and a frosted cake for dessert. I stood it just as long as I could. When it came to the pink ice cream I couldn't stand it any longer. As I was slicing it off I looked at wife kind of sideways and said in a falsetto voice:

"'My dear, I'm sorry Mrs. Mya-yah didn't come.'

"Wife dropped her Dresden china coffee cup as if she'd been paralyzed.

"'William E. Mason—you brute!' she gasped.

"The children enjoyed the joke just as much as I did—yes, and wife, too, got to laughing about it after awhile. Our boy Louis said: 'Do it again, pa; its mighty jolly to have a big dinner once in awhile.'

"But look here, you reporter; you aren't taking notes on me? Come, come, now, that's not right; you mustn't tell the story on me. Put it on somebody else—put it on Bill Campbell."

It is not generally known that Shakespeare took singing lessons in his youth. His first teacher gave him the thoracic breathing system, his second gave him the overtone patent, his third proved to him that there were no registers in the human voice, his fourth taught him the names of all the small muscles in the throat; and then the poet went home and wrote: "Methinks there is some 'method' in this madness."

These Are Solid Facts.

The best blood purifier and system regulator ever placed within the reach of suffering humanity, truly is Electric Bitters. Inactivity of the Liver, Biliousness, Jaundice, Constipation, Weak Kidneys, or any disease of the urinary organs, or whoever requires an appetizer, tonic or mild stimulant, will always find Electric Bitters the best and only certain cure known. They act surely and quickly, every bottle guaranteed to give entire satisfaction or money refunded. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Dr. G. W. Crouter.

A Captain's Fortunate Discovery.

Capt. Coleman, schr. Weymouth, plying between Atlantic City and N. Y., had been troubled with a cough so that he was unable to sleep, and was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It not only gave him instant relief, but allayed the extreme soreness in his breast. His children were similarly affected and a single dose had the same happy effect. Dr. King's New Discovery is now the standard remedy in the Coleman household and on board the schooner. Free Trial Bottles of this Standard Remedy at Dr. G. W. Crouter's Drug Store.

TIME CARDS OF STEAMERS.

Charlevoix and East Jordan.

STR. GAZELLE, ... CAPT. JOHN MASON.
Leaving Charlevoix at 6:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. and returning leave East Jordan for Charlevoix at 9:30 a.m. and 4 p. m., touching at intermediate points both ways.

Charlevoix and Boyne City.

STR. CLARA BELLE .... CAPT. ROBERT O'NEILL.
Leave Charlevoix at 6:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. and Boyne City at 9:30 a. m., and 4 p. m. Touching at intermediate ports.

East Jordan and Charlevoix.

STR. NORTH STAR .... CAPT. F. [illegible].
Leave East Jordan at 6:30 a. m. and 2 p. m., and Charlevoix at 9:30 a. m. 4 p. m., touching at way ports.

Harbor Springs, Charlevoix & E. Jordan.

STR. THOS. FRIANT .... CAPT. B. VANDERBECK.
[illegible]

NORTHERN MICHIGAN LINE.

PROP. CHAMPLAIN .... Capt. Edw. Carey.
Going North: Chicago Tuesdays 8 p m; Charlevoix, Thursdays 11 p m; Cheboygan, Fridays 2:30 p m.
Going South, Cheboygan, Fridays 8 p m; Charlevoix, Saturdays [illegible] m; Milwaukee Mondays 3 p m; Chicago, Mondays 11 p m.

PROP. LAWRENCE .... Capt. Geo. Tucker.
[illegible]

Upright & Emrey, agents, Charlevoix.

HANNAH, LAY & CO'S BOATS.

CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS, ... Capt. G. E. Wilber.
Going North, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Leave Traverse City 7 a. m; Northport 9:30; Charlevoix 11:30; Petoskey 1:30 p. m., Harbor Springs 2, Cross Village 4:30, Mackinac Island 7:45, arriving at St. Ignace 8:20.
Going South, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Leave St. Ignace 6:30 a. m; Mackinac Island Cross Village 10:15, Harbor Springs 12:45 p. m., Petoskey 1:15, Charlevoix 3:45, Northport 5:15 p. m., arriving at Traverse City at 7:45 p. m.

T. S. FAXTON, ... Capt. A. B. Vincent.
Going North, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Leave Traverse City 7 a. m; Torch Lake 9:45; Norwood 10:30, Charlevoix 12 noon; Petoskey 1:30 p. m. Harbor Springs 2, Cross Village 4:30, Mackinac Island 7:45, arriving at St. Ignace 8:20.
Going South, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Leave St. Ignace 6 a. m; Mackinac Island 7; Cross Village 10:15, Harbor Springs 12:45 p. m.; Petoskey 1:45; Charlevoix 2:45; Norwood 4:15, Torch Lake 5; arriving at Traverse City 7:45 p. m.

The City of Traverse leaves Chicago dock above 12th street every Saturday evening at 7, arriving at Traverse City Monday morning. Leaves Traverse City Wednesday evenings at 7 o'clock.

J. L. Hunt & Co., Agents, Charlevoix.

Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad.

IN EFFECT SEPTEMBER 27, 1886.

(Trains run on Central Standard Time.)

GOING SOUTH.

Stations.	Mail.	Express.	Freight.
Mackinaw City Lv	7 00 a	9 50 p m	7 20 a m
Petoskey	8 26	11 2[illegible]	10 25
Boyne Falls	9 03	11 50	11 50
Mancelona	10 03	12 34	2 00 p m
Walton Junc	11 24	2 16 a m	4 50
Cadillac	12 25 p m	3 15	7 00
Reed City	1 45	7 20	8 0[illegible] a m
Big Rapids	2 43	8 08	10 10
Howard City	3 31	9 10	12 20
D G H & M Cross	4 45	11 15	3 55 p m
Grand Rapids	5 00	10 30	4 15
Kalamazoo	7 25	1 40 p m
Sturgis	9 00	3 03
Ft Wayne	11 30 a m	5 30	4 05
Richmond	4 05		4 55
Cincinnati .... Ar	7 25

GOING NORTH.

Stations.	Mail.		Freight.
Cincinnati, leave	[illegible]
Richmond	10 00 p m		6 00 a m
Fort Wayne	2 45 a m	8 0[illegible]	8 2
Sturgis	5 13	10 51	8 11
Grand Rapids, ar	9 30	4 10 p m	11 20
D. G. H. & M cross	11 50	5 15	6 00
Howard City	12 35	6 24	8 17
Big Rapids	1 [illegible] p m	7 [illegible]	11 15
Reed City	2 05	1 50	1 [illegible] p m
Cadillac	3 41	6 30	5 10
Walton Junc	4 [illegible]
Mancelona	6 [illegible]	12 00	1[illegible] 00 p m
Boyne Falls	7 [illegible]	1 01 a m	3 00
Petoskey	8 13	1 46	4 [illegible]
Mackinaw City	9 50	3 15	7 50

E. L. LOCKWOOD, Gen'l Pass Agent.

RIFENBURG
MILLING CO.
Charlevoix, Mich.

Manufacturers of and Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

3 EXTRA GRADES OF

FLOUR

Feed, Corn Meal, Graham

CASH FOR WHEAT.

We will do exchange work for farmers on short notice.

GELLICK & INGALLS

Dealers in

Choice Wines,

Fine Liquors

EXCELLENT CIGARS.

We call Special Attention to our

Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

We also keep continually on draught

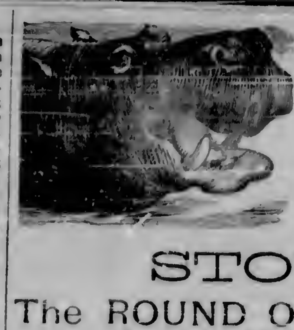
Milwaukee Export and lager Beer.

Bridge St., 1st door south of Sentinel.

The Kalamazoo "DAILY TELEGRAPH."

Contains the Associated Press dispatches

Sent by Mail at 50c a month.



--THE--

Best Show!

---OF---

STOVES.

The ROUND OAK,
And SQUARE BASE
HEATING STOVES.

COMPLETE STOCK OF NEW HARDWARE.

JOB & TIN WORK. VERY BEST PUMPS.

L. D. Bartholomew & Co.

THE BEST

Drugs,
Confectionery,
Stationery,

BOOKS & PAPERS,

FISHING TACKLE, Etc,

Soda Water,
Mineral Water,
Cigars,

Are found at PERRY WEED'S.

The only News stand in town.

BURNS & SCROGGIE'S

LIVERY STABLE

CHARLEVOIX.

The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Drivers furnished [illegible]. Rates low.

Burns & Scroggie, Charlevoix.

C. R. Bellinger,

--THE--

JEWELER,

HAS JUST RECEIVED A FULL LINE OF

JEWELRY,

Clocks, Watches

Etc., Etc.

HELLO

EVERYBODY

Says that Advance Has The Best

HARNESS MAKER!

In The County.

Call and see him. He is found in the person of

F. J. CUTTER.

J. T. Kirkpatrick,

ARCHITECT

AND CONTRACTOR,

—ON—

Charlevoix Summer Resorts.

I have the Plans of 50 Cottages of different designs that can be seen by parties wanting to build cottages.

I employ only first-class workmen, both

Carpenters and Painters.

Work intrusted to my care will have prompt attention

J. T. KIRKPATRICK.

Take The Sentinel.

Fox & Miller

Offer a

Mammoth Stock

OF

BOOTS, SHOES

and other

FOOT WEAR,

--AT--

LOWER PRICES

Than can be found elsewhere in the County.

We have just secured a

FIRST-CLASS

SHOEMAKER,

And will make Repairing a specialty.

We have the Goods and we are bound to sell them.

NOTHING SHODDY.

Fox & Miller.

MONEY TO LOAN,
At current rates of interest, on
Approved Real Estate Security.
School Bonds bought and sold.

MILEY & CHAPIN,
Boyne City

BATH & BARBER
ROOMS.

Hot and Cold Baths and Sea Water Baths at the Barber Shop, 1st door north of Bridge St. House.

If you want a quiet place to get a shave, hair dress or bath call and see me.

JAY L. PRICE.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

SMITH & P[illegible]LEE, EDITORS AND PROPRIETORS.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

JENNY LIND celebrated her sixty-fifth birthday a few days ago.

ADIRONDACK MURRAY, formerly a clergyman in Boston, has married Miss Frances M. Rivers, of Montreal.

FIFTY THOUSAND Americans visited Paris last month. There are thirty thousand American residents in the city.

THE Governor of Montana Territory estimates its population at 120,000, being an increase of about [illegible] in a year.

THE price of standard granulated sugar is now lower than ever before in the history of the trade. The direct cause of this is said to be overproduction.

THE portrait of Martha Washington in the vignette of the new one-dollar silver certificates is the first woman's face ever engraved on the issue of United States notes.

ANNIE LANGAN, a nine-year-old Wisconsin girl, fasted fifty-three days and is now recovering. She did not eat simply because she was not hungry, and insisted that she could not starve without first becoming hungry.

[illegible]

EPITOME OF THE WEEK.

Interesting News Compilation.

FROM WASHINGTON.

ALL the Cabinet officers were in Washington on the 13th. It was said that Secretary Manning would serve out his time.

ACCORDING to a decision of the Treasury Department a bicycle purchased and used in Canada by a resident of this country is entitled to free entry as "personal effects."

FOR the seven days ended on the 15th the business failures in the United States and Canada numbered 170, against 19[illegible] the previous seven days.

THE exchanges at twenty-six leading clearing houses in the United States during the week ended on the [illegible] aggregated $1,100,987,559 against $1,174,311,753 the previous week. As compared with the corresponding week of 1885 the increase amounts to 11.4 per cent.

THE report of the Postmaster-General shows an increase of 2,362 post-offices in the past year, the whole number being 53,614.

ESTIMATES on the 16th gave this year's cotton crop at 6,202,708 bales.

THE EAST.

AT a meeting of the stockholders of the Western Union Telegraph Company in New York on the 13th President Green submitted his annual report. The year's revenues aggregated $16,2[illegible],628, the profits were $3,919,855 and the surplus is $4,[illegible].

AT a meeting of the National Association of Knit Goods Manufacturers in Albany, N. Y., on the 13th it was voted to shut down fifty-nine knitting mills, and twenty-five thousand operatives would be rendered idle.

THE new Baptist Church at Bennington Center, N. Y., was burned by incendiaries on the 13th. The loss was $40,000; insurance, $10,000. The motive was said to be [illegible]

[illegible]

Michigan on the 15th of damaged buildings, ruined fences, broken telegraph and telephone poles, uprooted trees and a general state of demoralization, caused by the recent storm.

A CIRCULAR issued on the 15th by General Fairchild, Commander of the Grand Army, calls upon the various posts to suspend collections for the Charleston sufferers, as he had been informed by Mayor Courtenay that no more funds were needed.

AT four o'clock on the morning of the 15th another shock of earthquake was felt at Charleston and Summerville, S. C.

THE number of lives lost in the recent great storm on the gulf coast was on the 15th reported to be over two hundred. Sabine Pass, Johnson's Bayou and the delta of the Mississippi were the scenes of the greatest devastation, but six houses out of one hundred and fifty being left in the first-named town.

IN the Stock Yards at Chicago the strike had on the 15th settled down to a question of endurance, the packers remaining firm in their decision not to resume work except on the ten hour plan.

REPORTS were made by refugees who arrived at Beaumont, Tex., on the 17th from the flooded district about Sabine Pass that the loss of life would exceed two hundred and fifty souls. The number of sufferers around Johnson's Bayou who had lost every thing was over twelve hundred.

THE Republicans of the Second Illinois district on the 13th nominated Charles W. Woodman for Congressman.

[illegible]

DEATH'S HARVEST.

Over One Hundred Lives Lost at Sabine Pass.

MANY DROWNED AT JOHNSON'S BAYOU.

Great Suffering Among the Survivors—Scenes of Desolation in the Path of the Storm—Havoc in Buffalo—At Other Points.

THE CALAMITY IN THE SOUTH.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 15.—A special dispatch to the Picayune says: The relief-boat Lamar has returned to Beaumont from Sabine Pass. Only two houses are left in the latter place. One hundred and one persons are missing. The boat could not get within twelve miles of the town, but over a dozen tow-boats have been sent there, and are at work saving life and property.

The Relief Committee aboard the Lamar consisted of twenty citizens from Beaumont and about forty from Orange. They traveled up the Neches river between four p. m. and midnight, which was an extraordinary trip, fraught with fearful danger. Twenty-five of the committee were left at Sabine Pass to recover some of the bodies, many of which are reported to have been washed dozens of miles over into Louisiana.

The exact extent of the storm-swept district is yet unknown. From reports brought by the committee it is certain that the flooded district [illegible]

[illegible]

BLOWING GREAT GUNS.

Chicago and Other Points in the Northwest Visited by a Terrific Wind-Storm—Twenty-Nine Houses Wrecked and Several Lives Lost at Buffalo, N. Y.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 15.—A terrific gale, accompanied by rain, set in here yesterday afternoon and continued with increasing fury. At midnight the wind was blowing sixty-five miles per hour. "The island," inhabited by squatters, is flooded, and the waters pour in huge waves over it. Twenty-five houses have been destroyed and over 100 persons are homeless. People are moving their household effects to the mainland. Officers were sent to the rescue of the family of Charles Lambert. Lambert was saved, but his wife and daughter were drowned. Several others are reported missing. The basements of all the houses on Canal street are flooded, the inmates taking refuge in the upper floors. The roof of the Western Transportation House was blown off. Michigan street is flooded seven hundred feet from the dock. Ohio street is completely flooded. All the lumber yards on the island are wrecked. The damage to shipping is very great. Barges are floating over Evans' dock, and a number are reported smashed. At eight o'clock last evening the rear wall of the new Music Hall went down with a crash. No one was injured.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—The storm which visited this city yesterday started in Canada Tuesday morning. It reached here by way of Omaha, Neb., and Davenport, Ia., increasing in fierceness all the time and doing great damage [illegible]

[illegible]

REPUBLICAN ANTI-SALOONISTS.

An Address Issued to Voters Who Are Opponents of the Liquor Traffic—Friends of the Whisky Interest Characterized as a League of Law Breakers Who Hold Not at Assassination.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—The National Committee of Anti-Saloon Republicans has issued an address, in which all enemies of the liquor traffic are urged to unite with the Republican party in the suppression of the saloon. It is urged that the drinking habit is directly fostered and encouraged by the distillers, brewers, wholesale dealers and saloon-keepers, whose object is to stimulate the taste for liquor, in order that they may thrive upon the curse thus inflicted. The address accuses the saloon and liquor interest of banding together to defeat all restrictive measures, even to the extent of resorting to arson and assassination. After further reciting that money is freely employed to control primaries, to carry elections by the purchase of votes, to prevent restrictive legislation by bribery and to obstruct the course of justice by tampering with juries, the address proceeds as follows:

"What shall be done? The National Anti-Saloon Republican conference, representing the predominant sentiment of Republicans and good citizens everywhere, answers that the saloon ought to be put out of existence, that the people of each State and municipality ought to have the opportunity whenever desired of deciding when and how this shall be done, and that, until destroyed, the saloon ought to be crippled by every restraint and disability which local public sentiment will enforce, [illegible]

[illegible]

NEWSPAPER WAIFS.

Picked Up, Assorted and Adorned to Please the Fastidious Reader.

THERE is a five-year-old colored girl in Cincinnati [illegible] that is polin[illegible] and yet has [illegible] A-B-C's.

SAN LUIS O[illegible] solid citizen[illegible] and fifty po[illegible] had to have [illegible] him, on wh[illegible] aldermen.

THREE ve[illegible] Ayres for S[illegible] nothing of [illegible] voyage not [illegible] the Savann[illegible] each other.

AN intellig[illegible] St. Paul's C[illegible] tracted by a[illegible] she went out[illegible] and turn the[illegible] and basses.

A [illegible] from tip to t[illegible] Binghamton, [illegible] day. On its [illegible] date of its li[illegible] prizes for the[illegible]

W. McMU[illegible]

[illegible]

SUNK IN A FOG.

[illegible]

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

[illegible]

THE LAST RITES.

[illegible]

CONVICT LABOR.

[illegible]

SPLENDID FISHING.

[illegible]

THE MARKETS.

[illegible]

WEST AND SOUTH.

[illegible]

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

[illegible]

LATER.

[illegible]

WORK OF THE FIRE-FIEND.

[illegible]

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

SMITH & PARMELEE, EDITORS AND PROPRIETORS.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

OVER THE CROSSIN'.

"Shine, sir? Ye see I'm tuest a dian'
Ter turn yer two boots inter glass
Where ye'll see all the sights in the winders
'Ithout lookin' up as yer pass—
Seen me before? I've no doubt, sor;
I'm purty good hand, yer know,
Waitin', [illegible] the cross'n
Fur a little un', name o' Joe;
My brother, sor, an' a cute un'
Da'ly turned seven, un' small,
Hut gett'n' his thrivin' grad ely
Tendin' a bit uv a stall
Fur Millerkins down the av'noo;
Yer kin bet that young un' 's smart—
Worked right in like a vet'ran
Since the old un' give 'im a start.

"Folks say he's a picture o' father,'
Once mate o' the Lucy Lee—
Lost when Joe wor a baby,
Way off in some furrin' sea.
Then mother kep' us together,
Though nobody thought she would,
An' worked an' slaved an' froze an' starved
Uz long uz ever she could
An' since she died an' left us,
A couple o' years ago,
We've kep' [illegible] Cragg Alley
A housekeepin'—I an' Joe
I'd just got my kit when she went, sor,
An' people helped us a bit,
So we managed to get on somehow;
Joe was allus a brave little chit—
An' now he's got inter business,
Though we don't ape princes an' such,
'Tain't of'n we git right hungry,
An' we feel pretty tolable rich.

"I used to wait at the corner,
[illegible]

A "LITTLE" JEALOUS.

A Very "Common-Sense" Gentleman Surprises Himself.

[illegible]

o'clock, three days a week, your wife goes out in a cab by herself!"

"No," said I, "I do not; though, if she does, it is surely better than if she had any ineligible companion. As a matter of fact, however, she does not do so, for I have offered to go shopping with her twice this week and she has declined to accompany me upon the ground of having a bad sore throat."

"Upon what days did she give this excuse?" inquired Peabody, taking out his pocket-book.

"Last Monday and last Thursday," returned I.

"Well, here's a memorandum: 'Monday, 4th. Saw Mrs. R—— start as usual at eleven. Thursday, 17th, ditto, ditto.' She could not be going to a morning concert, because she had no white gloves on."

"I will grant that much," quoth I sardonically, yet not by any means annoyed by this unexpected intelligence. "My wife does not go to morning concerts."

"Very true," observed Peabody. "Then the question arises, where does she go to? Now, as an inhabitant of the crescent——"

"Peabody," interrupted I, severely, "I acknowledge the right of no man—no, not of the man in the moon himself—to meddle in my affairs upon that ground. I am obliged to you for the interest you have taken in this matter, but the simple fact is, that it has been entirely misplaced. I have been perfectly well aware of my wife's movements, and they have had my fullest permission and approbation. I only wanted to see to what lengths your impertinence and love of interference would carry you. That is your hat, I believe; your umbrella is the alpaca one. I wish you a very good-morning."

I ushered my visitor out, and then sat down in my private parlor with my elbows upon the table, and both my hands thrust into my hair. I had temporarily extinguished Peabody, but I was on fire with [illegible]

[illegible]

"Yes, sir," replied she; "it was the same two."

"Emily Jane," said I, solemnly, "always tell the truth. I know all. Where is your mistress gone to all by herself to-day, with her hair so neatly arranged, and a flower stuck in the left hand side of her head?—and that after telling me she was too busy to move out. Concealment is worse than useless. Where is she?"

"Wild horses shouldn't do it," returned the domestic, resolutely. "I told her I would keep it dark and I won't betray no confidence as has been reposed in me. You must find it all out of your own head, sir. O dear, oh dear!"

Here, to my confusion, Emily Jane cast her apron by a sudden and dexterous movement, over her features, and in that blinded condition rushed down the kitchen stairs. At that moment the front door-bell rang with a violence such as none of our visitors, except the Captain, ever dare to use. My wretched heart seemed to experience a little throb of joy. He, at least, then—and I confess my suspicions had been turned in his direction, for it was not his profession to guard us from foreign foes and to destroy our domestic peace—he, at least, I say, unless there was more than one— I dared not trust myself to finish the reflection, but opened the front door with my own hands.

It was somebody in uniform, but not the Captain.

"Telegraph for Mrs. R——," squeaked the boy, in his shrill, thin voice. "Please to sign on the right 'and side."

Then dancing a double shuffle upon the doorstep in order to keep himself warm, he broke forth into a ballad:

"There's somebody in the house with Dinah,
There's somebody in the house, I know,
There's somebody in the house with Dinah"——

I didn't like his impudence, and I didn't [illegible]

"THE VICTORY."

Eloquent Sermon by Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D. D.

A Glowing Picture of What Is Yet to Be—The Coming Triumph of the Glorious Gospel of the Son of God.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Oct. 17.—At the Tabernacle this morning, Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D. D., took for his subject "The Victory," and for his text, Zechariah, viii., 5, "And the streets of the city shall be full of boys and girls playing in the streets thereof." He said:

A glimpse of our cities redeemed. Now boys and girls who play in the streets run such risks that multitudes of them end in ruin. But in the time spoken of our cities will be so moral that lads and lasses shall be as safe in the public thoroughfare as in the nursery.

For the purpose of rousing the people to the work to be done I have preached some sermons about the dark shadows of the city. Pulpit and printing press for the most part in our day are busy in discussing the condition of the cities at this time; but would it not be healthfully encouraging to all Christian workers, and to all who are toiling to make the world better, if we should this morning, for a little while, look forward to the time when our cities shall be revolutionized by the Gospel of the Son of God, and all the darkness of sin and trouble and crime and suffering shall be gone from the sky.

[illegible]

when the better time comes to our cities and the world, people will give up their time to psalm singing and the relating of their religious experience, and as all social life will be purified there will be no hilarity, and as all business will be purified there will be no enterprise. There is no ground for such an absurd anticipation. In the time of which I speak, where now one fortune is made there will be one hundred fortunes made. We all know business prosperity depends upon confidence between man and man. Now, when that time comes of which I speak, and all double-dealing, all dishonesty and all fraud are gone out of commercial circles, thorough confidence will be established, and there will be better business done, and larger fortunes gathered, and mightier successes achieved.

The great business disasters of this country have come from the work of godless speculators and infamous stocks gamblers. The great foe to business in New York and Brooklyn is crime. When the right shall have hurled back the wrong, and shall have purified the commercial code, and shall have thundered down the fraudulent establishments, and shall have put into the hands of honest men the keys of business—blessed time for the bargain makers. I am not talking an abstraction, I am not making a guess. I am telling you God's eternal truth.

In that day of which I speak taxes will be a mere nothing. Now, our business men are taxed for every thing. City taxes, county taxes, State taxes, United States taxes, stamp taxes, license taxes, manufacturing taxes—taxes, taxes, taxes! Our business men have to make a small fortune every year to pay their taxes. What hastens on [illegible] forded the most cultured views to be fancied. From the galleries, from the roof and from the turrets may be seen gardens as far as the eye can see, full of fruits and flowers arranged in the most beautiful order, with walks, colonnades, aqueducts, canals, ponds, plains, amphitheaters, terraces, fountains, sculptured works, pavilions, gondolas, places of popular amusement to fire the eye and fancy. All this to be done by ringing the water, the wind and the sunshine to their full development."

He goes on and gives plates of the machinery by which this work is to be done, and he says he only needs at the start a company in which the shares shall be twenty dollars each, and one hundred thousand or two hundred thousand dollars shall be raised just to make a specimen community, and then this being formed the world will see its practicability, and very soon two or three million dollars can be obtained, and in ten years the whole earth will be in paradise! The plan is not so preposterous as some I have heard of. But I will take no stock in that company. I do not believe that it will ever be done in that way, by any mechanical force or by any machinery that the human mind can put into play. It is to be done by the Gospel of the Son of God, the omnipotent machinery of love and grace and pardon and salvation. That is to emparadise the nations. Archimedes destroyed a fleet of ships coming up the harbor. You know how he did it! He lifted a great sun-glass, history tells us, and when the fleet of ships came up the harbor at Syracuse he brought to bear this sun-glass and he conveyed the sun's rays upon those ships. Now, the sails are wings of fire, the masts fall, the vessels sink [illegible]

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

The Detroit grain and produce quotations are: Wheat—No. 1 White, 74[illegible]c; No. 2 Red, [illegible]; Flour—Michigan White Wheat, choice, $3.[illegible]; roller process, $4.[illegible]; patents, $4.[illegible]; Corn—No. 2, [illegible]; Oats—No. 2, [illegible]; Butter—Creamery, [illegible]; Cheese, [illegible]; Eggs, 17@17[illegible].

Alonzo Cheeseman, who has lived on his farm six miles west of St. Ignace, Mackinac County, for the last twenty-five years and is now nearly seventy years old, joined the Mormons when their settlement was at Nauvoo, and married three wives. He became disgusted with the faith, and when the prophet Smith was killed he decided to go into the woods of Northern Michigan instead of going West with the saints. He gave his wives their choice, saying if they wanted to go with him he would do his best to support them. They stuck by him. His second wife died some years ago. He has seven children now living near St. Ignace, and his household is quiet and harmonious.

The following is the salt statement for September: Saginaw, 123,355 barrels; Bay City, 86,141; Huron, 28,510; Iosco, 37,-302; Mason, 6,375; Manistee, 82,084; St. Clair, 50,654; Midland, 5,219.

The other afternoon a negro named Henry Jackson was missed from the State prison at Jackson. A systematic search was rewarded by finding a box under the floor containing a rope, twenty slices of bread, a bottle of coffee, a chisel and a file. An [illegible]

[illegible]

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established, 1869.

CHARLEVOIX, OCT. 27, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE, Associate Editor.

Political.

Squelch all third party movements in county offices, and vote the straight Republican ticket.

How many soldiers of Michigan would have voted as Mr. Yaple voted against the restoration of General Grant to the army?

Extract from Yaple's speech: "We in this country pay the highest wages of any country in the world." Our protective tariff seems to work pretty well then, dont it?

Mr. Yaple is good at declamation. He recites glittering platitudes from the books of theorists as if they were valuable truths. But they don't stand the test of practical experience. Take what looks like one of his gems: "Intelligent free labor can always compete with ignorant cheap labor." Ah! then why can't intelligent free American labor compete with ignorant cheap Chinese labor? Why not? Simply because Mr. Yaple's glittering theory isn't true. It sounds well; but practical experience proves it to be a lie.

Prof. Dickie said that Prohibitionists were charged with lobbying "with Republican Senators" against the passage of the prohibitory amendment in 1885, and said that Mrs. Lathrop denies in toto that statement, and he dared any man to stand up and assert it. All that Prof. Dickie will have to do in order to convince himself that he is laboring under a lie, will be to drop a postal card to the President of the Senate, Lieut.-Gov. Buttars of Charlevoix, or to Senator Belknap of Greenville, both of whom will testify that Mrs. Lathrop worked against the passage of the bill.

It is refreshing to find here and there a democratic statesman with enough conscience and courage to speak of the foibles and faults of his party. The Hon. Abram S. Hewitt of New York, for many years a recognized leader in the democratic party, five times elected to congress by his democratic constituents and a man everywhere known as possessed of much more than ordinary ability, has felt it his duty to read his party a wholesome lesson on the subject of unfulfilled promises. He frankly tells his party that it has utterly failed to fulfill any of its pledges made in 1884, but is altogether too charitable when he charges the failure to democratic mismangement instead of democratic demagoguery. He is undoubtedly right in his prediction that "the democratic party is going surely to ruin," but unquestionably wrong if he thinks it can be saved by trying to ruin the country with free trade.

"The southern situation is the best illustrated by a story I heard in New York. A southerner said to a northern man: 'Let's play a game of billiards for the next presidential election two years hence—401 points.' Just the number of electors, that is. So they went down to the Fifth-ave. hotel to settle the election two years in advance. The southerner took up a cue. I go on the presumption that you will all know the game, and said: 'Well, I will count off 153 points in this game; these are mine without playing for them.' He added: 'You will see then that I have got to get only 48 while you have to get 201.' "I confess, gentlemen, that I am utterly at a loss to denounce the fraud and the wrong which is also well illustrated by that story. The southern elections are worse in point of political morals than is the gambler who invites a youth into his den and plays against him with loaded dice. It is not republicanism, it is not democracy, it is not heaven's justice, it is not man's fair play. What we demand in this country is that we shall not play a stake for the presidency against men who shake loaded dice against us."—James G. Blaine.

Senator Palmer in his Detroit speech Wednesday, said: "But there was a vote cast by Yaple, which forever disqualified him from holding the high office of Governor of Michigan. When the greatest warrior of this country, yes, the greatest warrior of the age, lay striken in New York; when the angel of death stood with folded wings on his threshold, and want, like a grim chamberlain, peered hourly into his chamber door; when the old hero with his left hand held back the spector of grisly bone, while with his right he weaved a fabric from his memories which might sell for bread in the market place for his family, a bill for his restoration to the army came up in the American house of representatives. It was not much to ask for the man who had led the union armies to victory, who had brought about a triumphant peace. His hours were numbered. An insidious and mortal disease was advancing swiftly through his tissues upon his beleagured heart. Telegram after telegram announced his approaching dissolution. No draft upon the treasury was involved. It was not much to concede, but it was much to him. All he asked was a vote of confidence by the American people. His confidence had been betrayed, his family impoverished, his great name dragged through the mire of the streets of a great city. The bill came up in the last hours of the 48th congress. It was one of the dramatic scenes of history. Ninety-five Democrats, moved by an impulse which at times makes the the world akin, broke from their party allegiance, rose to the height of the occasion and voted yes. It called the old hero back from the land of shadows, gave him time to finish his work, and led him up to Mt McGregor to die. Search the records of congress. You will find men from every state among those who voted in the affirmative. You will find Democrats from north and the south, but will search in vain for the name of Geo. L. Yaple. Unmoved, placid, possibly cynical and sullen, he voted no."

—L. E. Allen returned from East Saginaw and Detroit yesterday.

Death of Mrs. Will See.

Mrs. Ella See, wife of Will See of this place, departed this life at eleven o'clock Sunday morning, after a lingering illness, of consumption.

Mrs. See (nee Miss Ella Barry) was well known and universally respected by the people of Charlevoix, among whom she had lived from her early childhood. When but fourteen years of age she became a teacher, and developed a taste and aptitude in her calling which placed her among the best of our young educators. Having taught in country districts for several years, she was appointed to one of the departments of the Charlevoix school, which she successfully taught for two years, and until the insidious approaches of the fatal disease compelled her to abandon the school room.

Ella—as even in her subsequent married life she was spoken of by her friends—was a most amiable and intelligent lady, and when, even after the dread disease had fastened itself upon her, she was led to the altar by him who now mourns her departure, the sympathy of the community went out to both for what seemed the inevitable fate of a promising life and a loving companionship. Her sufferings for these three years, which might have been her happiest, were rendered lighter in the affectionate and unremittent care of a husband whom society will always honor for his tenderness toward his doomed bride.

The funeral services were held yesterday morning at the Congregational church, the pastor conducting the services.

Death of Wm. Covert.

On Thursday night last, Wm. Covert, of this place, died of typhoid fever, after four week's illness, aged about 31.

Mr. Covert was, at the time of his taking down, in the employ of Upright & Emrey, and was by them esteemed as a faithful and trustworthy employe. He had, during his two years' residence among us, gained many friends by his straightforward way and his rectitude of character.

Four years ago the writer attended a happy gathering in the Township of Banks, at which young Covert and Miss Addie Hawks were united in marriage. In a year from the event he was called upon to lay his bride away in the silent "city of the dead." And now a bright little boy, less than three years old, is an orphan.

In Antrim county, Will was well known, and had many warm friends. He was a nephew of Mr. W. C. Byers, a leading farmer of Banks, and a sister is the wife of Mr. L. B. Coulter, formerly of Banks, but now of Detroit.

Wm. Covert, thus cut off in the full vigor and fair promise of young manhood, possessed a character full of admirable qualities and noble impulses. In every habit of his life he was exemplary, and in every phase of his moral make-up he was

"A combination and a form indeed
Where every god did seem to set his seal
To give the world assurance of a MAN."

His daily life bore out fully his profession of a Christian, and his example was ever wholesome and pure. He had been for many years a faithful and consistent member of the Congregational church, and died in full possession of the Christian's hope. Truly

"The good die young;
But they whose hearts are dry as summer dust
Burn to the socket."

He leaves an infant son, of whom we have spoken, an aged father and mother, of whom he was the chief hope and pride, and three sisters.

His remains were taken to Central Lake on Friday, and laid beside those of his departed wife, the funeral services having been held later.

Resolutions of Condolence.

The following resolutions were adopted at a recent meeting of the Knights of the Maccabees:

WHEREAS; It has pleased the Supreme Commander of the universe, in His all-wise providence, to remove from our midst our beloved brother, Sir Knight William M. Covert, therefore

Resolved, That we, his brethren Sir Knights of the Maccabees of the world, do sincerely and thoroughly appreciate his loss to the tent of which he was a worthy member and officer, as well as to the community in which he resided.

Resolved, That we tender our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved parents and friends of our deceased brother and beg leave to condole with them in their hour of trial and sorrow.

Resolved, That a copy of the foregoing resolutions be spread on the records of this tent, and that copies of the same be sent to the parents of our deceased brother, and to the Charlevoix SENTINEL and Charlevoix Journal for publication.

J. MILO EATON,
WM. M. PRESTON,
D. SHERWOOD,
Committee.

Banks.

Rev. W. H. McCartney is about removing to Charlevoix. All around here are heard expressions of deep regret. The removal of a worker so active in all good things, sympathetic, large-hearted and genial, to say nothing of the excellent wife and family, would create a perceptible vacuum in any neighborhood. Numerous friends and neighbors who met at his residence on Monday evening had a royal good time, if they did feel "sorter mad" at Charlevoix audacity in luring him away.

Elder Mellins is holding a series of meetings at the See school house.

Prof Grant, of Mancelona, at the hall last week, expatiated on the beauty and benefit of free trade. It was a decided success—made everything as clear as mud. H. B. Hudson followed in his usual manner, and for a fusionist talked good—made many personal friends, but nary a proselyte.

Can you send us a fusion orator. A decoy duck (prohib.) might answer as well. Their talk seems to stiffen up wonderfully any week-kneed Republicans.

Stockman & Iddings have the neatest device ever patented in the way of 5 gallon, force-pump oil cans. Call and see them.

Marine.

Fifteen vessels were in the harbor wind bound over Sunday.

Joe Swalls now acts as mate on the schooner Evening Star. Charlevoix sailors always get to the front.

Capt. D. Buchanan, of the schooner Stampede, gets around with his usual celerity. He cleared for Detroit Sunday with lumber, and will bring back iron ore from St. Ignace.

The following are the clearances from the port of Charlevoix, for ports outside the Michigan District, for the week ending yesterday evening:

20—Schr. Evening Star, 200,000 hardwood lumber, F. J. Meech, to Chicago.
21—Prop. John D. Pauley, 140 c wood B. R. Perkins, to Milwaukee.
21—Schr. L. B. Coates, 200,000 hemlock lumber, Glenn & Porter to Chicago.
22—Schr. Alvin Bronson, 140 c wood, McNally to Milwaukee.
22—Schr. John Raber, 5,000 ties Upright & Emrey to Chicago.
22—Schr. Jessie Phillips, 180,000 hardwood lumber John Nichols to Chicago.
22—Schr. Florence M. Smith, 2,500 bu potatoes Master, to Chicago.
22—John I. Green, 75,000 hardwood lumber, Pine Lake Lumber Co to Sheboygan.
23—Bert Barnes, 100 c wood, Master to Milwaukee.
23—John P. Bauer, 130 c wood Master to Milwaukee.
23—J. B. Newland 140 c wood, Dewitt to Chicago.
25—Island City, 45,000 hardwood lumber, Pine Lake Lumber Co., and 57 bu potatoes, Master to Milwaukee.
25—A. J. Mowrey, 130,000 hemlock lumber 87,000 shingles Pine Lake Lumber Co to Chicago.
26—Dan Maher, 150 c wood Burnham & Sons to Milwaukee.
26—Charlotte Raab, 5,000 ties F. J. Meech, to Chicago.
26—Lottie Mason, 45 c wood, Master to Milwaukee.
—Arctic, 700,000 hoops, Wilson Hoop Co. to Milwaukee.
26—LaPetite, 130 c wood, Master to Milwaukee.

Ironton.

J. D. Parish shipped as cook on the Narragansett, Saturday.

Ed Soules goes to Howell to visit his mother this week.

Bert Sheldon and Mrs. Allison were missed from the list of excursionists last week.

J. H. Pervis extended his excursion to Canada to visit relatives.

John Peterson has got it again—this time a rutabaga weighing 17½ pounds. That's the kind of stuff we have in our soil.

Candidates are thick 'round town now-a-days.

Regular preaching service morning and evening in the M. E. church next Sunday.

J. S. Smithson will preach at the First Congregational church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and will also give a lecture on "Candles" at the same place, Monday evening, Nov. 1st.

Eveline Items.

Next Tuesday is election. Keep on your coats boys.

Potato digging is the order of the day and the crop is going to be a large yield in this vicinity.

We are glad to note the fast recovery of Mrs. John Gaunt, and her many friends wish that her health may soon be restored.

Geo Glendenen had a logging bee last Saturday.

Mr. Tuttle has his residence completed and moved in the same last week.

The Ironton school house is an ornament to the town, of which they have a good right to feel proud.

There is not much news this week, as there is nothing afloat but political talk.

The following is a list of our people who took advantage of the Detroit excursion as far as we have learned: Mrs. W. S. Stripp and two sons, Mrs. M. J. Staley and D. Galbraith.

Sam Hayden started Monday for the Jordan river, where he will run a camp for French & Sutton this winter getting out logs and shipping wood.

Card of Thanks.

I desire to take this method of conveying my thanks to the many friends and neighbors who were so kind to me and mine during the sickness and death of my beloved wife.

WM. SEE.

A Card.

To the Electors of Charlevoix County:

At the request of many friends from different parts of the county, I take this method of announcing myself as an independent candidate for the office of Register of Deeds, and most respectfully ask for your suffrages.

FRED J. MEECH.

Charlevoix, Oct. 12th 1886.

For County Clerk.

To the Electors of Charlevoix County:

At the request of many friends from different parts of the county, I take this method of announcing myself an independent candidate for the office of County Clerk, and would most respectfully ask your suffrages. My official duties will prevent my making a canvass of the county, but I am willing to leave my candidacy in the hands of my friends.

SAMUEL B. THATCHER.

For bargains in everything, go to Rosenthals'.

Potatoes wanted at this office on subscription.

Mackinaw shirts and pants at Rosenthal & Son's.

Fresh oysters direct from Baltimore at Jefferies' market.

Go to Scott's shop for a first-class job of horseshoeing.

A house and 6 lots for sale or rent. Inquire of L. E. Allen, Charlevoix.

Carpets, Mattings, and Window Curtains and fixtures, at Rosenthal & Son's.

L. D. Bartholomew & Co. have begun the wicked work of selling guns and rifles.

See Rosenthal & Son's bargains in Dress Goods, Cloaks, etc. before purchasing elsewhere.

A second hand Crown Jewel coal stove for sale at Stockman & Iddings at a bargain. Good as new.

Hon. J. W. Donavan, of Detroit, in his speech at Opera Hall last night, exploded the free trade fallacy in a masterly manner. His remarks were full of good sound Republican common sense, and were listened to with marked attention. He speaks at Boyne City to-night.

This is a good time to call the attention of the rabid enemies of protective tariff to the price of steel rails. The protected robbers are blackmailing the people out of the enormous price of perhaps $10 per ton. Under the benificent rule that obtained before the protective tariff was levied, the people had to pay to foreign rail makers $140 per ton. Under the influence of a thriving tariff the price has gone steadily down.

Carpets, Mattings, and Rugs at low prices at Rosenthal's.

Clothing, Overcoats and Gents' furnishing goods, at astonishing low prices at Rosenthal & Son's.

Bank of Charlevoix,

W. P. BROWN, Cashier. W. A. BROWN, Asst. Cashier.

CAPITAL, $25,000

Perfect Security
Is assured to the depositors in this Bank, both by its Capital and conservative management.

Its Officers
Never Speculate. Their business creed is: That to Speculate with ones own money, is folly; that to do so with the money of others, is criminal.

Security in Banking
Is the question of first importance to both Bankers and Depositors, and, believing that it furnishes unusual guarantees, therefore,

This Bank Invites
People generally to intrust their money to its keeping. Just liberality will mark its dealings.

This Bank Will
Borrow Investment money when desired, paying as large interest thereon as shall be compatible with safe use of the money.

Parties Seeking
Productive employment for money, and desiring to escape the expense and trouble of the management of private investments, will find attractive security in this Bank's

Investment Notes,
Now earning Five per cent. yearly interest. These notes afford investors much more perfect security than Savings Bank deposits.

We Solicit Your Patronage.

J. A. HEATH,
FURNITURE
—AND—
JOBBING SHOP,
Antrim Street,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

All classes of furniture made to order, furniture repaired, and shop work of all kind promptly attended to, and satisfaction guaranteed.
Give me call.

YOUR CHANCES ARE GOOD
FOR SECURING A BARGAIN,
In Everything in My Line.

I have just completed my stock of Winter Goods and a better line of
MACKINAWS,
You cannot find in any stock. The 3 point Mackinaws are the best that are made and I am the only one who keeps them.
Good Goods are the Cheapest, if you do have to pay a little more for them.

ALL-WOOL RED UNDERWEAR for $1.50 a suit. A large stock of FUR CAPS cheaper than ever sold before. I have cut my prices down on everything this fall and am bound to sell if low prices are any object.

GEO. W. MILLER.

The Earthquake Did It!

OUR NEW YORK BUYER TOOK ADVANTAGE OF THE GREAT EXCITEMENT JUST IN TIME TO BUY US A MAMMOTH STOCK OF FALL AND WINTER
CLOAKS.
And writes us that he never before secured such Bargains for us or so desirable styles.
LADIES wait for our stock which will be here in a few days and we will convince you what an earthquake will do for us.
Everything you need is coming in DRY GOODS, NOTIONS, and all the Leading Fancies.

F. W. CRAINE & CO.

J. L. HURD & CO.
Have just opened an
IMMENSE NEW STOCK
OF FALL & WINTER
DRY GOODS!

LEADING NOVELTIES IN DRESS GOODS,
ASTRAKAN CLOAKING,
TRIMMINGS, etc.
WITH A FULL LINE OF
STAPLE GOODS OF ALL KINDS.

WE OFFER SOME WONDERFUL BARGAINS IN HAMBURG EMBROIDERIES

OUR STOCK OF
GROCERIES!
Was never more complete and we know the prices are low enough.

J. L. HURD & CO.

CHEER UP! CHEER UP!
CHEER UP.
A HAPPY TIME COMING!

Rosenthal & Son
Have just returned from the market and have purchased the largest stock of goods ever before brought to Charlevoix.

IN DRY GOODS we have a large line in Dress Goods of the latest styles and at prices to suit everybody. Also a full stock of Notions, Ribbons, Buttons of the latest styles and a big stock of Domestics.

IN CLOAKS we have the finest line of short Wraps, Newmarkets, street Jackets, in excellent styles for children and misses. Made in Plush, Astrakan, Friza, Beaver and Diagonals.

IN CARPETS: A mammoth line of Brussels Ingrains, stair and hall Carpets, and Rugs of every description. Window Curtains in lace, jute and oil with fixtures.

IN CLOTHING: Mens', Youths', Boys', and Childrens' Clothing and Overcoats at almost any price. A large line of Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, etc.

IN TRUNKS, we take the cake and can sell them from 50 cents to $15.00.

A grand chance to strike BARGAINS. Our goods are the best and our stock complete.

Yours, always ready to wait on Customers,
ROSENTHAL & SON.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL. XVIII. NO.—27. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1886. WHOLE NO. 884

School Books! SCHOOL BOOKS! SCHOOL BOOKS!
—HEADQUARTERS—
For Everything needed in the School Room, at
HINES & CO.'S DRUG AND STATIONERY STORE.

You will find it to your interest to look over our stock before purchasing elsewhere.

Respectfully,
F. G. HINES & CO.

UPRIGHT & EMREY.—GENERAL DEALERS.

UPRIGHT & EMREY,
Dealers in
Dry Goods, Groceries, Etc.
CHOICE TEAS,
Best Coffees

Boots & Shoes!
IN ALL GRADES OF MEN'S, WOMEN'S and CHILDREN'S.
We have given more than our usual care and attention to the selection of our stock, and we Know we can please our patrons in all
KINDS OF FOOTWEAR.
UPRIGHT & EMREY.

We can Supply you with EVERYTHING in our Line.
THE FINEST STOCK OF
FURNITURE
ever offered in Charlevoix,
IS NOW AWAITING YOUR INSPECTION AT
Henry C. Cooper's.

A Choice Line of
FRESH GROCERIES,
OF EVERY VARIETY,
Including Confectionery, Fruits, Canned Goods, and Tobaccos and Cigars in stock
For your inspection in OPERA BLOCK by
R. J. COOPER.

THE BEST GOODS!
FOR
THE LEAST MONEY!
IS THE MOTTO
OF STOCKMAN & IDDINGS',
HARDWARE and IRON
MERCHANTS.
CHARLEVOIX, - MICH.

A CONTINUANCE OF
Your Patronage,
IS SOLICITED.

The Best Groceries
At The Lowest Prices
ARE FOUND AT THE GROCERY AND PROVISION HOUSE OF
A. E. MASON.
I do a strictly Cash-over-counter business and will guarantee lowest prices.

J. MILO EATON'S
REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE,
AND LOAN OFFICE.
The oldest in the county. Established in 1875.
Money to loan in sums to suit and at lowest rates on improved farms.
ABSTRACTS OF TITLE furnished on short notice. Office over Postoffice.

A. J. McLEOD,
having returned to the Charlevoix Meat Market, announces that he will sell at
Wholesale or Retail
All kinds of
FRESH MEATS,
SALT PORK,
SMOKED & SALTED
HAMS,
Dried and Smoked
BACON, DRIED BEEF,
Bologna, Head Cheese,
Sausage.
Highest Prices Paid FOR HIDES and PELTS.
Will kill hogs or cattle for other Markets or persons wishing that class of work at low rates.
A. J. McLEOD.

Bank of Charlevoix,
W. P. BROWN, Cashier. W. A. BROWN, Asst. Cashier.
CAPITAL, $25,000
Perfect Security
Is assured to the depositors in this Bank, both by its Capital and conservative management.
Its Officers
Never Speculate. Their business creed is: That to Speculate with ones own money, is folly; that to do so with the money of others, is criminal.
Security in Banking
Is the question of first importance to both Bankers and Depositors; and, believing that it furnishes unusual guarantees, therefore,
This Bank Invites
People generally to intrust their money to its keeping. Just liberality will mark its dealings.
This Bank Will
Borrow Investment money when desired, paying as large interest thereon as shall be compatible with safe use of the money.
Parties Seeking
Productive employment for money, and desiring to escape the expense and trouble of the management of private investments, will find attractive security in this Bank's
Investment Notes,
Now earning Five per cent. yearly interest. These notes afford investors much more perfect security than Savings Bank deposits.
We Solicit Your Patronage.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
SMITH & PARMELEE,
Charlevoix, - Michigan.

Address all business correspondence to the firm

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One year - $1.50 | Six months - $.75
Invariably in Advance

Local News.

—Junius Dixon returned from Chicago, yesterday.

—Thurlow Weed, wife and children of Dakota, are visiting Mrs. Weed.

—E. B. Dodge has built an addition to Bellinger's store and will stock it with harnesses.

—Mrs. Esther Smith, mother of Lewis Smith, arrived Thursday, to remain for the winter.

—Upright & Emrey are shipping a large quantity of cedar to Manistee to be used for paving purposes.

—The Charlevoix livery stable has received a large quantity of baled hay from Milwaukee at $15 per ton delivered on the dock.

—Mrs. Wm. Coulter, of Banks, spent last week in Charlevoix, the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. A. Smith.

—Extraordinary bargains are offered in underwear at F. W. Craine & Co.'s—the most remarkable ever offered here. See their new advertisement.

—C. R. Bellinger has the finest new line of silver-ware and jewelry ever offered in Charlevoix. The display is worthy of inspection. Read his new advertisement.

—At the annual meeting of the Traverse City asylum trustees, last week, Thos. T. Bates was elected president of the board for the ensuing year and John Goode, secretary.

—The Journal is supposed to be the organ of county Democracy, yet Capt. Berdan, whom that paper pronounced inferior in every respect to Dan Jerrue, received a majority of the Democratic vote in Charlevoix.

—The propeller Remora, owned by the Davis Fish Co., was in port last Friday, and took the company's property remaining here, clearing for the north shore Saturday. They have sold their stock of ice to Mackinac parties.

—The Grand Rapids Telegram-Herald is now printed on a Goss perfecting press, and celebrated the advent of the press by printing a sixteen page paper last Friday. The press is guaranteed to print, cut and paste 14,000 copies per hour.

—Kenney Bros., of Traverse City, have established themselves in the Morgan building, corner of Mason and State streets, where they are prepared to do feather renovating by steam process. We have seen specimens of their work and can recommend it.

—We sincerely trust that the movement to prevent the shipment of deer out of this state will be prosecuted with vigor. There is a good law covering this offense, but for some years pot hunters have shipped large quantities of deer, and as a consequence have made game scarcer than it should be.

—The Pine Lake Iron Co., with their usual energy and business enterprise, are extending their mercantile and industrial interests about our inland shores. Last week they purchased the store and business of Capt. Carroll, of Horton's Bay, and will conduct a mercantile establishment there. Capt. Carroll contemplating opening up a business at Bay Springs. The Iron Company are, we understand, purchasing the land of Richard Lake, of Eveline.

—Last December the Petoskey Record issued a holiday supplement, headed "The Petoskey Record Supplement." Some "reformer" sent a copy of the paper to Postmaster General Vilas and he decided it was a violation of the postal laws because it did not bear a corresponding date and number of the issue, and instructed the postmaster at Petoskey to collect on the whole issue the rate paid for transient papers, causing Mr. Bontecou to pay $30 extra postage. For weeks the state has been flooded with Democratic papers containing two or three sheets of political matter headed "Supplement." It is not stated of what paper. To be consistent the "reform" Postmaster General must cause all these papers to pay transient rates upon their circulation.

—Grand Rapids Eagle: A specimen of the reaction against fusion in this State is told by E. S. Noble, of the firm of Dexter & Noble, of Elk Rapids, concerning himself. He has heretofore been a Democrat, never a politician, but an ardent Democrat. He was tendered the Fusion nomination for Representative in his district. He declined. He was urged. He refused. Don M. Dickinson telegraphed him, insisting. He persisted. A Committee from Mr. Dickinson waited on him. Still he refused. They urged and he finally said, in substance, "Gentlemen, I am 'agin' you this year. The bosses have put aside principles, everything of real Democracy, because of their lust for office. I don't take any stock in such fusion, in such a party, so managed. I can't vote with it, and were I in the Legislature, I should not vote for its candidate for U. S. Senator." And Mr. Noble is a representative of a large class of men.

THE LONG-LOST FOUND.

An Indian Story of Interest to Our Charlevoix County Readers—Romantic and Interesting Results.

[St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]

The old adage that truth is stranger than fiction had its truthfulness well exemplified by an occurrence which came to light during the recent conclave of the Knights Templar. The incident referred to was the passing of a casual observation, which led to the recounting of experiences and ultimately to the discovery of one who for years had been given up for lost. One of the persons most deeply interested is Mr. S. P. Belcher, manager of the French Silvering Glass Company, of this city. Like many others, forced to leave his hotel in order to make room for a Knight Templar, he secured a room in an up-town residence, and was requested by his landlady to allow two Sir Knights to occupy the same compartment with him for a week or so. He cheerfully consented, and on their arrival naturally engaged them in conversation, and endeavored to make them feel at home. One evening during one of their conversations, the subject turned on Indians. One of the Sir Knights remarked that he had lived among them for six years and was deeply struck with their intelligence. This conversation made an impression on Mr. Belcher, and at the dinner table on the following day he repeated what the Sir Knight had said in regard to the Indians. A lady who sat opposite quickly spoke up and said that she agreed with the person who had said that "the good Indian is the dead Indian." This remark coming from a lady of very evident refinement naturally excited surprise, and she quickly added: "I was a captive among them for three years, so I have good reason for my opinion." All eyes were at once turned on the lady, as she made this last remark, and as she was pressed on all sides to tell her story, she at last consented.

She said that upward of twenty-eight years ago, when she was a girl of twelve years of age, she left her home in New York City to visit some friends at a fort on the frontier. While there she saw a great deal of the Indians, as they were daily visitors at the fort. They were greatly attracted toward her, and her beautiful auburn tresses greatly interested them. The color seemed to be to them "good medicine," and they begged for locks of it, as it would insure to them good luck on the war path. One young Sioux chief did not confine himself to a single lock, but requested the whole head, as well as her heart and hand. His aspirations were cruelly checked, but he, as well as other members of the tribe, still continued to lavish on her presents of beads and trinkets of various kinds. This went on for some time, until one day in October, the little girl took her basket, left the fort and trotted off to the woods to gather butternuts. While thus engaged, her too ardent friend, the rejected chief, stole stealthily upon her, and before she was aware of it her head was enveloped in a blanket, she was lifted to the back of a horse and rapidly carried off.

When she had been with them about three years they were encamped somewhere in the Rockies. Her tent was pitched against a tall cliff, down which ran a little stream of water, and which also ran through under the tent. While she was sitting there in the company of several squaws one day, she suddenly heard shouts out among the hills. The shouts were immediately followed by shots, and she knew that a conflict of some kind was going on. A few squaws rushed into the tent, gave a few orders and left. Soon she heard the squaws who had gone out return, and after an interval of death-like silence she was almost enraptured by hearing what she had given up all hopes of ever again listening to—her own language. The welcome voice spoke the following words: "Well, boys, I guess we might as well take this pile of furs along too." With this they gathered up the furs and their astonishment can readily be imagined when they came to the almost inanimate form lying on the ground. She was quickly restored, and learned that her captors had been almost entirely annihilated, only two or three escaping. Her rescuers were a military party who were traveling eastward.

On arriving again in civilization the girl, whose name was Mary Otis, at once set about gaining information of her parents. This she was unable to do. Every trace of them seemed to have been lost. Whether they were living or dead she could not discover. At length a lady whom she had met at one of the forts where she with her rescuers were stopping, and who had taken a great fancy to her, asked her to live with her. This the poor lonely girl consented to do, and at once accompanied the kind lady to her home in Michigan. Here she filled the place of a daughter, and spent many happy days with her new mother, entirely resigned to her fate, and regarding the one who had adopted her as her mother. Time sped on, and she once more began to attain her former beauty and robustness. Soon her charms attracted the attention of an army officer, and she became his wife. The officer, her husband, is a Knight Templar, and they together visited the conclave.

During the progress of the story the lady incidentally mentioned her maiden name, Mary Otis. No sooner had Mr. Belcher heard the name than he became suddenly excited, and questioned her as to her antecedents and family. On receiving her answer, he at once made known to her the fact his wife's brother-in-law was one of her long-sought brothers. His name was James Otis; he had a brother, John Otis, and a sister, Mary Otis. The sister had been spirited away, they knew not how, and had long since been given up for lost. But there was no doubt that the lady from Michigan and Mary Otis were one and the same. This discovery greatly effected both parties interested. The discovery of the former Miss Otis will also have great weight in closing up an estate which has been in litigation.

Religious.

M. E. Church.

Mr J. S. Smithson will preach in the M. E. church on Sunday evening at the usual hour. All come and hear our good brother tell the "old old story."

Sunday services at usual hour. Text for morning sermon, "Ephraim is a cake not turned." All are cordially invited.

Official meeting at the parsonage Friday eve., 7:30. Every member of the Board must be present.

Jury List.

The following is the list of jurors for the November term of Circuit Court:

Bear Lake—Daniel Harrington, E. Krouse, Oscar Ellis.

Boyne Valley—W. P. Devoll, Wm. Mears, Wm. Nelson, Sr.

Chandler—Arthur Chandler, M. Walton, Jacob M. Snyder, James S. Walton.

Charlevoix—Alexander M. Ross, Joseph R. Dixon, R. W. Kane, Albert E. Mason.

Eveline—Robert Price, Geo. M. Wood, Richard Williams, A. B. Steele.

Evangeline—A. J. Strond, John G. McFellin, John C. Karcher.

Hudson—Jas. Harmon, Wm. H. Claspill, H. A. Fisher.

Hayes—E. H. Burgess, Alex. Ross, Phillip Howe.

Marion—Jas. H. Anderson, Henry Dixon, Chester Harris.

Melrose—Jos. B. Gordon, E. A. Easton, Louis Margrum.

Norwood—John Robinson, Robert Trimble, John Muirhead.

Springvale—Jesse Sanford, Martin Wheeler, W. W. Whitman.

South Arm—Geo. Raynor, Fred Goodman, Jas. Isaman.

Resort—M. A. Thompson, Peter H. Bell, H. Nadolsky.

Wilson—L. McCarty, Geo. W. Baily, K. J. Severance.

Marine.

Freights are high and vessel owners are doing well.

The steamer Clara Belle laid up Monday for the season.

The steamer Gordon will made its headquarters at Green's dock.

The little steamer Gordon has it all her own way on the Boyne City route now.

Shipping promises to be lively the balance of the season, and to continue late.

The steamer Faxton received repairs to her stern-bearings at Campbell's ship-yard, Saturday.

The steamer Onekema, of Manistee, was in port Sunday. She goes to Grand Traverse Bay to run the balance of the season.

Theodore Engbring has resigned his position as engineer of the tug Hall, and will remove to Milwaukee this week. Cliff. Pappinaw succeeds him as engineer of the Hall.

—The past week has witnessed the finest fall weather in years.

—J. L. Hurd & Co. offer a large line of blankets at special sale on next Saturday. Particulars in their new ad.

—Preaching next Sabbath at 3 o'clock, at Black's school house, and at 7 o'clock p. m. at Johnson's school house.

—G. M. Eldridge, who has been in the employ of the Manufacturing Co. all summer, returned to his home in Reading, yesterday.

—Mr. and Mrs. Jay Guyles of Dwights, are happy over the advent of a boy who arrived last Thursday. He has already been christened Geo. B. Guyles.

—D. Sherwood, the enterprising boot and shoe man, has a new advertisement in this issue. His stock is fresh and embraces all styles and qualities.

—The hardware establishment of Bartholomew & Co. is restocked in every line of goods kept by them. The new advertisement in another column should be read.

—The Beaver Island Fish Company, which has had its three tugs laid up all summer, owing to the poor catch of fish, will place them at once in commission, prospects being so much better.

—Word has just been received of the death of Joseph Sherman, who left here last fall. He was a loyal and honored member of the M. E. church, and took an active part in the Young People's meetings. Typhoid fever was the cause.

The melancholy records of the fishing town of Gloucester, Mass., have received their yearly addition of woe and sorrow. Up to date 116 fishermen who sailed for the treacherous Grand Banks have gone down with their vessels this year, and twenty-eight more widows and fifty-six fatherless children are added to the population of Gloucester.

A GREAT EXPOSE.

Senator Logan's Masterly Speech Exhibiting Democratic Weaknesses and Dishonesty—How the Administration Is Keeping Its Promises to "Found a Navy, Improve the Foreign Mail Service, Economize in Expenses and Relieve the Soldier and Sailor."

Following are some telling extracts taken from Senator Logan's vigorous arraignment of the Democratic Administration delivered lately at Central Music Hall, Chicago.

[illegible]

...mocracy will do wherever they have the power. Doubtless other Southern States will follow the example of Georgia. There is no doubt, also, that if the Democrats should ever obtain firm control of all the branches of the National Government, they would transfer these State pension rolls to the general roll, payable out of the United States treasury, and would provide for repaying to the States the amounts that they may appropriate to their pensioners.—Chicago Journal.

NOT JUST OR HUMANE.

The Present Administration of Indian Affairs—Republicans Tested in The Matter by the Civil-Service Law.

Very unwisely, for it is written "the refuge of lies shall be destroyed," every Democratic head of a department where administration of national affairs is challenged replies by a counter challenge of the administration of the same department under Republican management, or by an attack on the motive or character of the person making the challenge...

[illegible]

THE ISSUE ALIVE.

Hon. James G. Blaine in His Great Speech at Pittsburgh Shows That the "Southern Question" Is Still a Vital One in Politics—Negro Suffrage Not Intended to Be Forced Upon the South.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 21.—The demonstration here, yesterday, in honor of ex-Senator James G. Blaine, was most enthusiastic and spontaneous, the people seeming to be desirous of showing respect to him both as an old neighbor and a statesman of National reputation. The buildings of the city were decorated, and, after the procession had escorted him to the Coliseum, a large audience gathered to listen to the speaking. The opening of his speech was given up to a consideration and a defence of the system of protection to American industries, after which occurred the following forcible remarks bearing upon the still-living "Southern Question":

[illegible]

THE BROWNS WIN.

[illegible]

THE CATTLE PLAGUE.

Dr. Salmon's Report on the Disease at Chicago—He Considers the Cattle Industry in Great Danger, and Makes Some Valuable Suggestions—The Need of Legislation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Dr. Salmon, Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, in his official report upon the outbreak of pleuro-pneumonia at Chicago, says: "On September 24 I visited the Phoenix and Shufeldt distillery stables in company with the State Live-Stock Commissioners and the State Veterinarian. Post-mortem examinations were made on the carcasses of four animals, and in every case lesions were revealed, which are considered by the veterinary profession the world over to be the characteristic of pleuro-pneumonia. On several subsequent occasions I visited these stables and witnessed the examination of other carcasses which presented equally plain evidence of the same disease." The doctor describes the manner in which the plague was traced to and discovered in those distillery stables and says that it was of itself a demonstration of its contagious character. The report continues:

[illegible]

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

The Detroit grain and produce quotations are: Wheat—No. 1 White, [illegible]; No. 2 Red, [illegible]; Flour—Michigan White Wheat, choice, $5.00@5.25; roller process, $4.00@4.25; patents, $4.75@5.50. Corn—No. 2, [illegible]. Oats—No. 2, [illegible]. Butter—Creamery, [illegible]. Cheese, [illegible]. Eggs, 17@18c.

A recent telegram from Washington Territory announced the death of James H. Heath, who went there from Mount Clemens last winter.

One year ago the Independent Congregational Church of Battle Creek adopted the system of voluntary subscription and free seats, and it has not only proved a success, but more money has been paid in than during the previous year. The society has paid all expenses and a portion of the old indebtedness, having a balance in the treasury. No collections are taken. The Sunday morning services and the Sabbath-school comprise the worship for the day.

John B. Green, of Brooklyn, N. Y., claims all that portion of Twenty-third street, in Detroit, ...

[illegible]

THE COMBINED

STEAM FURNITURE

—AND—

Agate Works,

CHARLEVOIX, - - - MICH.

The undersigned announces that he is prepared to take orders for

REPAIRING OR BUILDING

Furniture of all Kinds

ON SHORT NOTICE.

MY LAPIDARY

Is in first-class shape for working or polishing all choice stones.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

CORNELIUS BUDD.

All Goods not called for within ninety days will be sold for charges.
Charlevoix, Nov. 23, 1885.

Northern Michigan

Boiler Works.

Builder and Manufacturer of

Boilers, Heaters,

LARD TANKS, ETC.

OF ALL KINDS

SHEET IRON WORK

A SPECIALTY.

MARINE WORK

Given Special Attention

HENRY BARTH, Proprietor,
Charlevoix, Mich.

MILWAUKEE, LAKE SHORE & WESTERN RAILWAY.

The Only Line Running

TWO DAILY TRAINS

—BETWEEN—

Wausau and Milwaukee and Chicago

The Only Line Running Sleeping Cars between Wausau and Milwaukee and Chicago.

THE AIR LINE TO OSHKOSH.

TIME TABLE.

GOING SOUTH.

Wausau,	Lve	6.25 a m	5.30 p m
Clintonville,	Arr	[illegible]	[illegible]
Oconto,	"	[illegible]	[illegible]
New London,	"	[illegible]	[illegible]
Appleton,	"	[illegible]	[illegible]
Oshkosh,	"	11.25 a m	[illegible]
Fond du Lac,	"	[illegible]	[illegible]
Milwaukee,	"	[illegible]	[illegible]
Chicago,	"	[illegible]	[illegible]

GOING NORTH.

Wausau,	Lve	[illegible]	[illegible]
Rhinelander,	"	12.50 p m	11.55 p m
Bessemer,	Arr	4.15 p m	....
Hurley,	"	4.34 p m	....
Ashland,	"	[illegible]	....
Superior City,	"	9.31 p m	....
Duluth,	"	[illegible]	....

Full information regarding rates of fare, time of trains, etc., can be obtained on application to Station Agent, Wausau.

H. G. FLEITH, Agent, Wausau.
H. F. WHITCOMB, General Manager.
CHAS. V. McKINLAY, Gen. Pass. Agent.

FRANK E. WOOD'S

BATH AND BARBER ROOMS.

Hot and Cold Baths at any hour of the day or evening. Oddfellow's building.

FARMING LAND!

500,000 ACRES

Of Splendid

Michigan Lands

FOR SALE BY THE

G. R. & I. R. R. COMPANY.

60,000 Acres in Charlevoix County.

These lands are timbered with beech and maple, elm and other wood, and are accessible to best markets by

WATER AND RAIL,

And are in a part of the State unequaled for health, well watered, and contiguous to the great fruit raising section of the east shore of Lake Michigan.

The Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad runs through the center of the grant.

The part of Michigan in which these lands are found is

Not a Wilderness, by any Means.

It contains a population of two hundred and fifty thousand souls, and is rapidly filling up with settlers from almost every State in the Union.

Over 200,000 acres of the lands of this grant have already been sold.

Send for English or German pamphlet. Address

W. H. HUGHART, Commissioner,
Grand Rapids, Mich.

NOW IS THE TIME

TO USE

JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA

FOR

LIVER COMPLAINT, DYSPEPSIA,

AND FOR

PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

It has been in use for 20 years and has proved to be the best preparation in the Market for Sick Headache, Pain in the Side or Back, Liver Complaint, Pimples on the Face, Dyspepsia, Piles, and all Diseases that arise from a disordered Liver or impure blood. Thousands of our best people take it and give it to their children. Physicians prescribe it daily. Those who use it once recommend it to others.

It is made from Yellow Dock, Honduras Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Stillingia, Dandelion, Sassafras, Wintergreen, and other well known valuable Roots and Herbs. It is strictly vegetable and cannot hurt the most delicate constitution. It is one of the best medicines in use for regulating the Bowels.

It is sold by all responsible druggists at one dollar for a quart bottle, or six for five dollars. Sample bottles 50 cts. free on receipt of price.

W. JOHNSTON & CO.,
Detroit, Mich.

When you have tried all the Sarsaparillas and have been disappointed, try Johnston's.

SEXUAL Weakness & Lost Manhood quickly and positively cured. Send for book mailed FREE to all afflicted. Address, Hewlin Medical Co., Buffalo, N. Y., U. S. A.

JOB PRINTING

SUCH AS

Cards, Bill-Heads, Circulars, Posters,

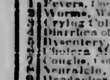
ETC., ETC.,

EXECUTED TO ORDER

AT THIS OFFICE.

In the Neatest and Promptest Manner

HUMPHREYS'



Manual of all Diseases, By F. HUMPHREYS, M. D. RICHLY BOUND IN CLOTH and GOLD Mailed Free.

[illegible]

HOMEOPATHIC

[illegible]

SPECIFICS.

Sold by Druggists, or sent postpaid on receipt of price.—HUMPHREYS' MEDICINE CO., 109 Fulton St., N. Y.

WM. J. STEVENSON,

VETERINARY HORSE-SHOER.

Interfering and crippled horses shod satisfactorily or no charge.

Repairing done promptly.

The Old Doctor

NERVOUS DEBILITY MALE or FEMALE WEAKNESS AND DECAY.

A Life Experience. Remarkable and quick cures. Trial Packages. Send stamp for sealed particulars. Address Dr. WARD & CO. Louisiana, Mo.

IOWA ROUTE

BURLINGTON CEDAR RAPIDS AND NORTHERN RY.

THE SHORT & POPULAR LINE

for all points in IOWA, MINNESOTA, DAKOTA, and the New Northwest. The only line making close connections with all important lines leading

NORTH, SOUTH, EAST or WEST.

NORTH for Minneapolis, St. Paul, and all points in Minnesota, Dakota, Manitoba, Montana, Wyoming and Oregon.

SOUTH for St. Louis and Points in Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas, Texas and all points south and southeast; New Orleans and all Florida points.

EAST for Chicago and all points in the Middle, Southeastern and Eastern States.

WEST for Council Bluffs, Kansas City, and all points in Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, Utah, Nevada and California.

SOLID TRAINS

WITH

PULLMAN SLEEPERS

ARE RUN BETWEEN

Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Paul

VIA THE

FAMOUS ALBERT LEA ROUTE,

AND BETWEEN

St. Louis, Minneapolis & St. Paul

VIA THE OLD ESTABLISHED AND POPULAR

St. Louis, Minneapolis & St. Paul Short Line

Dining Cars on all Albert Lea Route Trains.

[illegible]

Land Seekers' Round Trip Tickets

on sale at all prominent points to the Iowa, Minnesota and Dakota Land Points.

[illegible]

C. J. IVES, J. E. HANNEGAN,
Pres't & Gen'l Sup't. Gen'l Tkt. & Pass. Ag't.
CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA.

THE INDUSTRIAL WORLD.

—A Niagara Falls (N. Y.) company proposes to build a horse-car line, the route being so constructed as to take in all points of interest.

—A Michigan man has invented a hair-pin which can not become loose or fall out, and is confident of making a fortune out of it.

—A laborer who has been seeking work in Los Angeles County, Cal., writes warning others to stay away from there, as the ranchmen employ Chinese in preference to white men.

—Christian Piefer, of Pittsburgh, Pa., has brought suit against his employer for $148 for extra work that he did on Sundays. The defendant resists the payment on the ground that no recovery can be had for labor performed on the Sabbath unless it is a work of necessity, which is denied.—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

—There is not room enough in Louisville...

[illegible]

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

[illegible]

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

Styles for Young and Old Ladies, Brides, Misses and Girls.

Ivory white satin is the preferred fabric for brides' dresses.

Children's frocks are short-waisted, loose, wide-belted and full-skirted.

Coats or overcoats for little girls show the same short waists and full skirts that are seen in their frocks.

Waistcoats and large and small buttons are features on the short-waisted, full-skirted frocks of little girls.

Woolen dresses are almost de rigueur for street wear for all except elderly ladies, who may cling to their black or gray silks.

The bridal bouquet is de rigueur of white flowers, roses, clematis, feather, jasmine, orange flowers, white lilac and lilies of the valley.

New, dressy trimmings are made decorative...

[illegible]

CLEANING WOOLENS.

[illegible]

FARM AND FIRESIDE.

—Keep the milch cows away from stagnant water.

—Mutton sheep may pay best with one farmer and the Merino with another, but, whatever kind is kept, let the animals be the best of the particular breed.—N. Y. Post.

—Cheap Tea Cake: One cup of sugar, one cup of milk, three cups of flour and one-half cup of butter, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one teaspoonful of caraway seed and two teaspoonfuls currants.—Cincinnati Times.

—In trimming trees always try to get one leader up straight, allowing the branches to grow from it, so as to avoid crotches, which sometimes split off from the tree when heavily loaded with fruit.—Boston Budget.

—All chickens that feather rapidly when they are young are more difficult to raise than are those that remain...

[illegible]

SOWING BLUE-GRASS.

[illegible]

SCIENTIFIC TRUTH

Regarding the Functions of an Important Organ, of Which the Public Knows But Little—Worthy Careful Consideration.

To the Editor of the Scientific American.

Will you permit us to make known to the public the facts we have learned during the past 9 years, concerning disorders of the human kidneys and the organs which diseased kidneys so easily break down? You are conducting a Scientific paper, and are unprejudiced except in favor of TRUTH. It is needless to say, no medical Journal of "Code" standing would admit these facts, for very obvious reasons.

H. H. WARNER & CO.,
Proprietors of "Warner's Safe Cure."

That we may emphasize and clearly explain the relation the kidneys sustain to the general health, and how much is dependent upon them, we propose, metaphorically speaking, to take one from the human body, place in the wash-bowl before us, and examine it for the public benefit.

You will imagine that we have before us a body shaped like a bean, smooth and...

[illegible]

FLEECING THE UNWARY.

A Concern Which Promises to Grow Fat at the Expense of Fortune-Seekers.

[N. Y. Cor. Chicago Tribune.]

A seductively-baited trap has just been set to catch unwary Americans. A commodious office has been hired and occupied by a "claim agency." According to the announcements of this concern there is a chance for many to get rich. "Enormous fortunes," says the advertisement, "awaiting claimants, lie buried in the courts of chancery, Bank of England, Germany and other countries, over [illegible], which belong to people of all classes in the community." This vast sum is due in various amounts to an army of 20,000 individuals who have been vainly advertised for in papers from all parts of the world. The agency has a list of these names and is willing to furnish them to the fortune-seeking public at a reasonable rate. The methods of the concern are peculiar...

[illegible]

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.

[illegible]

A TRIAL balance—The baby's first run.—Hartford Times.

* * * * Organic weakness or loss of power in either sex, however induced, speedily and permanently cured. Enclose 10 cents in stamps for book of particulars. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

A SMALL country seat—The milkstool.—New Age.

IN 1850 "Brown's Bronchial Troches" were introduced, and their success as a cure for Colds, Coughs, Asthma and Bronchitis has been unparalleled. Price 25 cts.

WHERE does a buckboard?—Boston Herald.

HOW INEXPENSIVE and yet how effective is Glenn's Sulphur Soap. Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, Black or Brown, 50c.

100 Doses One Dollar

[illegible]

Hood's Sarsaparilla

[illegible]

FOR THE BLOOD

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

Combining IRON with PURE VEGETABLE TONICS, quickly and completely CLEANSES and ENRICHES THE BLOOD. Quickens the action of the Liver and Kidneys. Clears the complexion, makes the skin smooth. It does not injure the teeth, cause headache, or produce constipation—ALL OTHER IRON MEDICINES DO.

[illegible]

Genuine has above Trade Mark and crossed red lines on wrapper. Take no other. Made only by BROWN CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

TO HAVE HEALTH THE LIVER MUST BE IN ORDER.

DR. SANFORD'S LIVER INVIGORATOR

[illegible]

AN INVALUABLE FAMILY MEDICINE.

Thousands of testimonials prove its merit.

COCKLE'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS,

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY

For Liver Ills, Indigestion, etc. Free from Mercury; contains only Pure Vegetable Ingredients. Agents—MESSRS. FULLER & FULLER CO., Chicago, Ill.

A Druggist's Story.

Mr. Isaac C. Chapman, Druggist, Newburg, N. Y., writes us: "I have for the past ten years sold the WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. I can say of it what I can not say of any other medicine. I have never heard a customer speak of it but to praise its virtues in the highest manner. I have recommended it in a great many cases of whooping cough with the happiest effects."

ASK FOR THE

W. L. DOUGLAS

[illegible]

$3.

MASON & HAMLIN

NOW SELL THEIR

UNRIVALED ORGANS

On the EASY HIRE system, payments at the rate of $3.25 per month, up. [illegible]

UPRIGHT PIANOS,

Constructed on the new method of stringing, on similar terms. Send for descriptive Catalogue, mailed free.

MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN AND PIANO CO.
Boston, New York, Chicago.

Remarks by Bill Nye,

[illegible]

WANTED GOOD MAN

[illegible]

DR. JOHN BULL'S

Smith's Tonic Syrup

FOR THE CURE OF

FEVER and AGUE

Or CHILLS and FEVER,

AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic a single dose of KENT'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient. USE no other pill.

Price, $1.00 per Bottle; Six Bottles for $5.

DR. JOHN BULL'S

SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP,
BULL'S SARSAPARILLA,
BULL'S WORM DESTROYER.

The Popular Remedies of the Day.

Principal Office, 831 Main St., LOUISVILLE, KY.

ACME

BANJO METHOD.

By N. P. B. CURTISS. Price, $1.25.

[illegible]

THE ROYAL SINGER

[illegible]

SONGS OF PROMISE.

[illegible]

In press and nearly ready—Anthems of Praise.

PIANO CLASSICS,

($1.00) is a great favorite with good pianists.

BOOKS MAILED FOR RETAIL PRICE.

LYON & HEALY, CHICAGO.
OLIVER DITSON & CO., Boston.

THE NEW DEPARTURE DRUMS

are made with patent double acting rods and folding knee rest. Light, substantial and handsome. Used in the best Bands and Orchestras. Unequaled for tone, surpass all others in finish and appearance. If nearest Music dealer does not keep them, write to us for illustrated catalogue.

LYON & HEALY, Chicago, Ill.

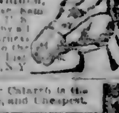
RAILROAD GAZETTE.

A JOURNAL OF TRANSPORTATION.

Engineering and Railroad News

Published at 73 Broadway, New York.

No Rope to Cut Off Horses' Manes.



[illegible]

J. C. LIGHTHOUSE, Rochester, N. Y.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.

CATARRH

Also good for Cold in the Head, Headache, Hay Fever, &c. 50 cents.

JONES

HE PAYS the FREIGHT

5 Ton Wagon Scales,

[illegible]

$60.

[illegible]

JONES OF BINGHAMTON, BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

MAGIC LANTERNS!

AND STEREOPTICONS

[illegible]

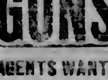
C. T. MILLIGAN [illegible] PHILADELPHIA.

PENSION CLAIMS

[illegible]

MILO B. STEVENS & CO.

[illegible]



GRIND your own Bone,

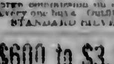
[illegible]

WILSON BROS., Easton, Pa.

GUNS Our $15 Shot Gun now $10. $15 Double Breechloader, $9.50.

[illegible]

AGENTS WANTED



[illegible]

WE WANT YOU!

[illegible]

STANDARD SILVERWARE CO., BOSTON, MASS.

$600 to $3,000 A YEAR

[illegible]

SECRET SERVICE

[illegible]

HOME STUDY.

[illegible]

PALMER'S PIANO PRIMER.

[illegible]

FREE

[illegible]

A Limb Lost

[illegible]

HAIR

[illegible]

TELEGRAPHY

[illegible]

$5

[illegible]

FREE LIST OF HOMOEOPATHIC MEDICINES.

[illegible]

A. N. K. A. 1103

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS PLEASE state that you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

CHARLEVOIX, NOV. 8, 1888.

Northern Michigan News.

HINTS ON TRAVELING.

THE PIONEER HOUSE OF CHARLEVOIX CO.

New Fall Goods,

BEING RECEIVED WEEKLY.

We call especial attention to our complete stock of

BOOTS and SHOES.

TEAS of all kinds. We will guarantee you the best Tea for the money, in the county.

ALL GRADES of FRESH ROASTED AND GREEN COFFEES.

A Fine line of Everything in

FURNITURE.

BIG DRIVES IN

Flannels, Yarns, and Blankets.

Please bear in mind that our stock embraces

EVERYTHING

usually found in a General Store.

Remember: Our Goods are the Best. Our Prices the Lowest. Our Record the Oldest.

Resp'y Yours,

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

For Sale!

Mortgage Sale.

Teachers' Examination.

CHARLEVOIX Savings Bank.

NEW SHOP!

All kinds of

Blacksmithing,

At the Shop in the Foundry Building.

Horseshoeing a specialty.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

M. SCOTT.

For Finest

JOB WORK,

Patronise The

Sentinel.

Pen Portrait of Henry Clay.

A. R. UPRIGHT. OSCAR UPRIGHT.

FARMS, VILLAGE PROPERTY,

And TIMBER LAND

FOR SALE BY

UPRIGHT BROS.

WE OWN THE ONLY COMPLETE Set of ABSTRACTS Of Charlevoix County,

We are Agents for some of The BEST FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES

CONVEYANCING, NEATLY AND PROMPTLY DONE.

Non-Residents' interests looked after, Taxes paid Collections made, etc.

RIFENBURG MILLING CO.

Charlevoix, Mich.

3 EXTRA GRADES OF

FLOUR

Feed, Corn Meal, Graham

McCABE'S MARKET

is supplied with All Kinds Of

MEATS

At Lowest Prices.

JOHN McCABE

D. Sherwood & Co

BOOTS AND SHOES,

Lumbermen's Rubbers, Wool Boots, Shoe Pacs, And Everything

It Pays to Buy the BEST BOATS!

LEAST MONEY!

LEAVE ORDERS

J. BEAUVAIS.

A. D. Bradbeer,

PHOTOGRAPHER,

UPRIGHT & EMREY'S STORE.

I will make Cabinet Photographs, A SPECIALTY!

At Lowest Prices

Consistent with

GOOD WORK.

1-3 OFF SALE!

At Miss Spaulding's MILLINERY ROOMS,

Come early and secure a Bargain.

MISS L. SPAULDING.

Take The Sentinel.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

SOCIETIES.

HOTELS AND RESTAURANTS.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,

RICHARD COOPER, Prop'r.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,

NEWMAN HOUSE,

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,

BANK.

Bank of Charlevoix

FILE DRIVER.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

BARBER.

SURVEYORS.

DENTIST.

MILLINERY AND FANCY GOODS!

Mrs. ELLA SMITH & Miss ANNIE COOPER

FANCY GOODS!

Washburn & Ackert,

FOUNDRYMEN, MACHINISTS,

Charlevoix Plow.

J. A. HEATH,

FURNITURE AND JOBBING SHOP.

Antrim Street, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Old newspapers sold at this office.

DAB'S TURKEY.

A Thanksgiving Story.

He Hadn't any Equilibrium.

Good Results in Every Case.

An End to Bone Scraping.

TIME CARDS OF STEAMERS.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN LINE.

HANNAH, LAY & CO'S BOATS.

Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad.

CHARLEVOIX Manufacturing Co.

Charlevoix, Mich.,

Sash and Doors,

Blinds, Mouldings etc.

NEWELL Posts, Banisters & Stair Rails

Window & Door Frames made to order.

All Kinds of Building Material

PLANS & SPECIFICATIONS,

Correspondence solicited.

The Kalamazoo "DAILY TELEGRAPH"

NEW ATKINS SAWS AND Perfection Axes

Complete stock of HARDWARE, TINWARE, & NOTIONS

Round Oak & Square Base STOVES.

Job & Tin Work.

L. D. Bartholomew & Co.

THE BEST

Drugs, Confectionery, Stationery,

BOOKS & PAPERS,

FISHING TACKLE, Etc,

Soda Water, Mineral Water, Cigars,

Are found at PERRY WEED'S.

The only News stand in town.

BURNS & SCROGGIE'S LIVERY STABLE

CHARLEVOIX.

SILVER WARE.

C. H. BELLINGER.

J. T. Kirkpatrick,

ARCHITECT AND CONTRACTOR,

Carpenters and Painters.

J. T. KIRKPATRICK.

GELLICK & INGALLS

Choice Wines,

Fine Liquors EXCELLENT CIGARS.

Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

Milwaukee Export and lager Beer.

Take The Sentinel.

Fox & Miller

Offer a Mammoth Stock OF

BOOTS, SHOES

and other FOOT WEAR,

--AT--

LOWER PRICES

Than can be found elsewhere in the County.

We have just secured a FIRST-CLASS SHOEMAKER,

And will make Repairing a specialty.

We have the Goods and we are bound to sell them.

NOTHING SHODDY.

Fox & Miller.

MONEY TO LOAN,

MILEY & CHAPIN,

BATH & BARBER ROOMS.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

SMITH & P. R. HALLEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX. : MICHIGAN.

SPELLING-BEES are again in style in all portions of California.

THOMAS JEFFERSON'S picture will decorate the new postal-card to be issued about the middle of December.

PROF. IDDINGS has prepared for a report of the geological survey a description of a long cliff in Yellowstone Park composed wholly of glass.

IT is said that the tallest man in America at present is a chap who lacks an inch of seven feet. How he got there is as much a surprise to him as to anybody else.

A WONDERFUL activity in manufacturing industries is reported from the South. A number of great enterprises have been inaugurated in the last few months or are now under way.

SOMETHING is needed to make the farmer happy, and the State Etymologist of New York comes out with the statement that potato-bugs will walk all over every thing next summer.

A WIDOW in Illinois left a satchel containing thirty-five dollars in her carriage. A young man found it and returned it to its owner, and she married him. And yet moralists persist in saying that honesty is the best policy.

A BIG eagle that measured nine feet from tip to tip, captured last spring near Binghamton, N. Y., was released the other day. On its leg is a brass tag giving the date of its liberation, and offering cash prizes for the return of the bird.

BARON VON FABER was in clover the other day. He owns the far-famed Faber pencil factory at Nuremberg, and was celebrating the 125th anniversary of its founding. Hundreds of congratulatory telegrams, written with "Fabers," reached him.

RUMOR has it that military discipline at West Point is so strict that a beetle may crawl down a private's back when he is in the ranks and he must not indulge in the slightest evidence of perturbation. He must simply hope that the beetle will crawl up again.

FROM the fact that eighteen different telephone girls employed in the Hartford (Conn.) office have been married during the last three years to some of the subscribers on the line it would seem that it is a woman's voice more than her looks which catches on.

THE Dominion Cabinet, at a recent meeting in Ottawa, Ont., confirmed the four hundred dollars fine against the American schooner Marion Grimes, but censured in strong terms the action of Captain Quigley, of the Terror, for compelling the lowering of the American flag.

WILLIAM HOYT, of Mount Morris, N. J., picked up a hive of bees the other day and carried it one hundred feet on a bet of fifty cents. About fifty per cent. of the bees in the hive proceeded to make war on William, and the half dollar he won went a small way toward covering his funeral expenses.

THE following appeared in a recent issue of the Wilkes County, (Ark.) [illegible]

EPITOME OF THE WEEK.

Interesting News Compilation.

FROM WASHINGTON.

ON the 25th Minister Cox asked to be relieved of his duties at Constantinople, in view of his nomination for Congress from the Ninth New York district.

BUSINESS failures during the seven days ended on the 22d numbered 185, against 179 the previous seven days. The casualties in the Eastern and Middle States were light, while in the Western, Southern and Pacific States the number reported was above the average.

ON the 22d the Treasury Department estimated that the ultimate issue of the new one and two-dollar silver certificates would aggregate $50,000,000, and the five-dollar certificates $0,000,000.

THE exchanges at twenty-six leading clearing houses in the United States during the week ended on the 23d aggregated $1,063,852,893 against $1,107,98,550 the previous week. As compared with the corresponding week of 1885 the increase amounts to 15.1 per cent.

ON the 23d Secretary Bayard received the formal resignation of S. S. Cox as Minister to Turkey.

THE President has appointed the following United States Consuls: Seth Pratt, of Massachusetts, at Zanzibar; P. R. Merrill, of Alabama, at Santos; William R. Greathouse, of Louisiana, at Tampico; Enoch J. Smithers, of Delaware, at Tientsin; John T. Campbell, of California, at Tamatave; Leopold Moore, of New York, at Hull.

IT has been decided by the Secretary of the Interior that the marriage of a single woman who had a homestead entry did not defeat her right to make final proof and receive title to the land under the Homestead law.

THE EAST.

THE fishing schooner George L. Smith, of Gloucester, Mass., was on the 21st given up for lost. She carried a crew of fourteen men.

THE one hundredth anniversary of the incorporation of New Haven, Conn., was celebrated on the 21st.

CONGRESSIONAL nominations were made on the 21st as follows: Republicans—New York, Fifth district, W. H. Walters; Thirteenth, A. P. Fitch; Massachusetts, Second district, John D. Long (renominated); Rhode Island, First district, Henry J. Spooner (renominated); Second, Nathan N. Dixon. Democrats—New York, Sixth district, A. J. Cummings; Eighth, Thomas F. Grady; Thirteenth, Theodore Bacon; Massachusetts, First district, G. E. McLaughlin; Fifth, Charles J. Randall.

THE Maine Supreme Court decided on the 21st that the State courts have no jurisdiction over the sale of liquors at the Soldiers' Home at Togus.

IN the vicinity of Troy, N. Y., all the manufacturers of knit goods commenced a determined struggle with the Knights of Labor on the 21st, and twenty-five thousand employes were idle.

ON the 21st David Evans, aged fifty years, and his son William, aged fourteen, of Millport, Pa., were buried under a mountain of earth by the caving in of a tunnel. It would take months to recover their bodies.

FOREST fires were doing great damage on the 21st in the counties of Union, Somerset and Essex, in New Jersey.

AT a trial of ordnance at Sandy Hook on the 21st Lieutenant Metcalf and a soldier named King were killed by the explosion of a shell.

AT Farmington, Me., a fire on the 22d destroyed the best part of the town, including the hotels, newspaper offices, post-office and churches.

CONGRESSIONAL nominations were made as follows on the 22d: Republicans—New York, Fourth district, E. F. O'Connor; Twelfth, Edward Einstein. Democrats—Rhode Island, First district, Oscar Lapham; Second, Charles F. Bradley; Massachusetts, Third district, Leopold Morse.

THE Executive Board of the National Federation of Miners and Mine Laborers issued an official address at Pittsburgh on the 22d "to the miners and mine laborers and all wage-workers of the United States and Territories," denouncing the Knights of Labor as fire-brands calculated to create discord.

THE Greenbackers in New Jersey met in State convention at Newark on the 22d and nominated Erastus Potter for Governor.

[illegible]

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

[illegible]

LATER.

[illegible]

WEST AND SOUTH.

[illegible]

WORKERS OF GREAT GOOD.

[illegible]

TEMPERANCE WOMEN.

[illegible]

TRAFFIC BETWEEN STATES.

[illegible]

PASSED AWAY.

[illegible]

SHAKEN UP AGAIN.

[illegible]

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE.

[illegible]

TROUBLE BREWING.

[illegible]

THE KNIGHTS ADJOURN.

[illegible]

AMERICAN SILK.

[illegible]

THE ELECTIONS.

[illegible]

Charlevoix Sentinel.

SMITH & P. R. HALLEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX. : MICHIGAN.

A SPLENDID WOMAN.

No Greek, no French and but one verb of Latin,
Of higher mathematics none to boast;
With far more love for simple lawn than satin,
For unadorned she seems to shine the most.
A novice in high art, its lore disdaining,
And never guilty of a Sapphic verse;
Of Terpsichore slight knowledge still retaining,
Sad losses these, and yet it might be worse.

Modest and brave where moral strength is needed;
Easy and graceful, gentle and refined;
In culinary art high rank conceded,
In hospitality a trouble blind.
Unostentatious in her mild demeanor,
Courteous and unaffected, full of tact;
Perchance you may or may not yet have seen her;
Perhaps you envy him who calls her wife.

The goddess Fashion she ; may reverence slightly,
Yet, like her sex, have due regard for dress—
A thing no woman can pass over lightly
Without vexation and some mild distress,
And yet no slave to habits so alarming,
Content with what Dame Fortune may bestow;
Her smile is bright, her conversation charming,
Sparkling, but artless, are the words that flow.

Her "set" is not so utterly exclusive
That worth though humble, may not mingle there,
Nor lowly sorrow deemed for her intrusive,
Nor suffering want denied its pleading prayer.
If Fate is kind, with grateful smile she greets him,
And shares her pleasure and her fortune, too;
If Fate is cruel, all half way she meets him
Nor points with envy at the favored few.

Her path, when smooth and strewn with fragrant beauty,
Draws out her love for it and Nature's God;
When furrowed with the rugged lines of duty
She bends but never to its beneath the rod.
To ceramics no idle hours are given,
Nor days allotted to coquet and stroll;
Flirtation and frivolity have striven
With her in vain, for she has conquered both.

The fair and idle dreamers daily pass us
With languid air, recherché as to dress,
They drink in teas, or linger near Parnassus
With finest frenzy and a keen distress,
Our heroine finds ample scope for science
In tending o'er the nuggets as they occur,
Domestic arts with each approved appliance,
Are more than dreams, and never Greek to her.

One verb of Latin, and the tense is present—
[illegible]

A MYSTERY UNVAILED.

An Honest German's Explanation of a Weird Tale.

[illegible]

...entreated him to go round to the back and clamber over the wall, or effect an entrance by way of the area, or down the chimney, even; but he treated all my fears as groundless, and, taking up his hat, bade me good-bye. The next minute I saw him ring the bell opposite. The door was opened by the tall woman, and he entered!

Then followed four days of weary waiting, rendered yet more intolerable by the persistent presence of that old doll, I mean us. Every morning as I took my seat at the window to await the reappearance of Simpson the doctor would come in and sit staring at me with his great, goggle, saucer eyes, as if I were a wild animal. He would say very little. I was thankful he had given up talking metaphysics. I had given him a crusher last week he was not likely to forget in a hurry; but now he kept on telling me I ought to go out for a walk or into the country, or have some of my friends to be with me, saying he was sure "zere was zomzing zo mudder mit me." Madder, indeed! I told him he was much madder than any one I knew out of Bedlam, and this made him take himself off. I heard him outside muttering to the landlady; no doubt he was telling her of my brilliant repartee. She kept dodging in and out of my room afterward in a most unaccountable way. Perhaps she expected that I was going to say something brilliant to her, but I wasn't.

Ah what weary days they were! I could not sleep at night, though I increased my doses of chloral continually, and all night long I seemed to hear the slow beat of some great engine keeping time in my brain, and to see in the darkness the pitiless fall of the great spokes as I had seen them fall inside that black window. At last on the fifth day, Simpson came, and I forgot all my troubles as I bade him welcome and prepared to listen to his story.

As I glanced at Simpson I saw that he at any rate had not suffered physically in his recent adventure. He seemed to me to have grown stouter; a keen exultant light shone from his eyes, usually so calm and tender, and his color was fresh and youthful. Before he began to speak I could see that he had accomplished a great "coup."

"I did not look up at the window when I knocked at the door opposite," he began; "but I was sure enough you were following me with your eyes. The door was opened by the tall woman, of whom I have heard you speak, and as soon as I was inside she closed it and fastened the lock with a heavy key, which she then put in her pocket. The passage in which I found myself was long, lofty and narrow. There were doors on the right and left; the former was closed but through the other doorway I could see into a spacious room in which a number of people were assembled. They were all seated on narrow, wooden benches ranged round the walls, and these benches seemed to be well nigh full. There was, indeed, but one vacant space—to the right of a little door immediately opposite the one by which I had entered. The woman ushered me in, and, pointing to this vacant space, bade me sit down and wait my turn.

"I sat down, and, after a little, my eyes having become accustomed to the dim light—for there was no more than could penetrate through those dulled panes you see...

[illegible]

...was no mystery at all. The house where the three Frenchmen lived was pulled down and clean gone, so I could nothing about them learn, but the old man and his daughter were neither thieves nor conspirators. The old man was an Italian music teacher and his very talented and affectionate young daughter made a little money by water color painting till she got married, and then she was to the altar led not by a fine-looking young man but by a smart young stock broker who took her and her old father as well, with him at Putney to dwell.

"The young clerk in Islington he certainly did a bad day take after the Compan... but nobody but the Simpson ghost has ever heard of the strange reason. The gentleman in the Clapham road he of his garden is still very fond, but his face is very sad just as my friend describes. Any man might well look sad and by care weighed down who has to listen all day long to the noise of the tram way bells in the Clapham road.

"The old man in the Horseferry road was not the victim of a terrible secret as my poor friend had thought; he was only the proprietor of several or their vertrading between Oxford and Lond n barges, and every week his foreman took to the owner would bring. And this rest not quite completed, most horrible story about Dr. Thermor is the greatest delusion of them all, but that is not to be wondered at, for the poor old man took more and more chloral every day, and madder and madder became. The house opposite the lodgings where he is now lying dead, where he saw at work the mysterious machinery, was the public baths and wash houses and nothing more. The people go in dirty by the door in East street and go out clean by another way at the back.

"Mr. Holt, I find from some memoranda that he has left, intended to send these stories to your magazine, so I feel myself in duty bound to forward them; but I can hardly think you will give them to the world in your so widely read and much appreciated pages. I send with them a little treatise of his own, about four hundred and eighty pages octavo on the future of metaphysics in England, which would, I am sure, much more amuse your readers and at the same time raise to a never yet attained point of fame both yourself and your illustrious magazine."

TABLE LINEN.

How That Important Adjunct to a Tempting Meal Should Be Cared For.

The proper laundering of fine table linen was formerly considered one of the accomplishments of a gentlewoman, but few of our modern young ladies can make even the pretense of understanding it. The wringer, while it saves labor, does it at the expense of much of the beauty of the table cloth or linen that passes through it. The wringing out of the very thin starch or rinsing water should be done by hand, and as it is not at all necessary that starched linen especially should be wrung very dry, the hands will do just as well. Shake the articles thoroughly or fold them into manageable size and snap them, as old housekeepers know so well how to do...

[illegible]

UNIQUE MONUMENT.

[illegible]

A FINISHED WORK.

Sermon by Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D. D.

Christ's Earthly Mission—The Stupendous Difficulties Which He Had to Meet and Overcome—His Triumph Over Nature, the Grave and Death.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 24.—Rev. Dr. Talmage preached this morning at the Tabernacle from the text (John 17:4): "I have finished the work which Thou gavest me to do." The eloquent divine said:

There is a profound satisfaction in the completion of anything we have undertaken. We lift the capstone with exultation, while, on the other hand, there is nothing more disappointing than, after having toiled in a certain direction, to find that our time is wasted and our investment profitless. Christ came to throw up a highway on which the whole world might, if it chose, mount into Heaven. He did it. The foul-mouthed crew who attempted to tread on Him could not extinguish the sublime satisfaction which He expressed when He said: "I have finished the work which Thou gavest me to do."

Alexander the Great was wounded, and the doctors could not medicate his wounds, and he seemed to be dying, and in his dream the sick man saw a plant with a peculiar flower, and he dreamed that that plant was put upon his wound, and that immediately it was cured. And Alexander, waking from his dream, told this to the physician and the physician wandered out until he found just the kind of plant which the sick man had described, brought it to him, and the wound was healed.

Well, the human race had been hurt with the ghastliest of all wounds—that of sin. It was the business of Christ to bring a balm for that wound—the balm of Divine restoration. In carrying this business to a successful issue the difficulties were stupendous.

In many of our plans we have our friends to help us; some to draw a sketch of the plan, others to help us in the execution. But Christ fought every inch of His way against bitter hostility, and amid circumstances all calculated to depress and defeat. In the first place, His worldly occupation was against Him. I find that He earned His livelihood by the carpenter's trade—no occupation always to be highly regarded and respected. But you know as well as I do, that in order to succeed in any employment, one must give his entire time to it, and I have to declare that the fatigues of carpentry were unfavorable to the execution of a mission which required all mental and physical faculties...

[illegible]

AMERICAN CHARITY.

[illegible]

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established, 1869.

CHARLEVOIX, NOV. 3, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.
ED F. PARMELEE, ASSOCIATE EDITOR.

EDUCATIONAL.

All communications on educational topics should be addressed to Prof. H. M. Enos, Superintendent of the Charlevoix Schools.

Query: May a teacher compel regular attendance of pupils in school, or dismiss them for irregularity, tardiness, etc., and on what grounds?

TEACHER.

Answer: A teacher can only enforce such rules applying to the cases mentioned, as the school Board may adopt. It is her duty to enforce the rules if any are made. The question then is one concerning the rights and duties of school Boards. These have been quite fully defined by law, and the rulings of the courts. Briefly stated, the basis of such rules and their enforcement is: The State recognizes the duty to educate the children; not for the benefit of the individual, but for the safety of society and the protection of free institutions; therefore not as a gift the people, but as a public necessity which imposes upon the people duties equal with those of the commonwealth.

Having provided for the performance of this duty, the state claims on the same grounds the reciprocal duty of the people to use the means provided.

The schools are not a convenience merely, but an institution whose advantages are alike free to all and obligatory upon all. Along with the right and duty to provide for popular education goes the right and the duty to secure the fullest measure of benefit from the school system.

Punctual and regular attendance are recognized as being quite as essential to this end as the employment of qualified teachers and the supply of materials. The state should provide against the loss to the child, which results from non-attendance or irregular attendance, and this it attempted to do in enacting laws for compulsory attendance. But the ground upon which rules are made and laws enforced is generally the best interests of the schools and the public at large who avail themselves of school benefits. The protection of their interests demands every possible safeguard against the demoralizing effects of the evils in question. It is not so much that the individual child loses by irregularity etc., as that all the other children in school are robbed of a part of the benefits which they might receive. On these considerations rigid rules are made and enforced in all large communities by Boards of Education and their action is fully sustained by the courts when questioned, which is not often. In country districts neighborhood interests operate to prevent their application to so great an extent. Teachers are only the agents of the Boards and should not go beyond their instructions. They have no right to stop short of them. These instructions generally can be, and should be followed in such a spirit as to avoid antagonism.

Answer to problem for "older pupils": Since the first and second boys have each 60 peaches, the first sells two each single sale making 30 sales, the second three each sale making 20 sales. Since they unitedly sell five peaches for eight cents until they have made twenty sales, the second boy has none left but the first boy has ten sales left of two peaches each or twenty peaches, the third boy selling as many as the first two has also 20 peaches left. Now since the first boy receives three halves or fifteen tenths cents for each peach, the third eight fifths or sixteen tenths cents for each peach, he receives sixteen tenths minus fifteen tenths or one tenth of a cent for each more than the first boy, consequently on the remaining twenty peaches he receives twenty tenths or two cents more than the first boy. Now since the third boy's receipts were equal to the first two for the first twenty sales when the second boy's peaches were all sold, he of course receives two cents more than the first two. Many other solutions can be given.

PRIVATE PUPIL.

At the teachers meeting last Monday evening the subject of "The Recitation, its Objects and Methods," was discussed, also "Training to Attention." Misses Gage, Mason and O'Neill presented some suggestions on the latter subject and the discussion brought out some useful hints. One was that the habit of attention may be acquired by proper training beginning with smaller matters teaching children what study and attention mean and how to direct their mental energies. Another, that holding children kindly but firmly to the fulfillment of directions given and duties enjoined is a necessary part of the work; and that the habit on the part of the parents and teachers, of repeating plain directions is vicious and tends to cultivate careless habits in the child.

Examination for the second school month occur this week.

Questions: 1. Should we say "two cheese," or "two cheeses?" "Pass that molasses" or "pass those molasses."

2. Will it take any more brick to build a wall over a hill than straight through it on a level; and if so why?

The Charlevoix Teachers' Association meets at East Jordan on Friday evening, Nov. 12th and Saturday following. The following programme will be presented:

1. Music.
2. An outline of Language work for Primary Schools, A. B. Nicholas, East Jordan.
3. Teaching Children to Think, J. H. Harris, Ironton.

RECESS.

4. What is the most approved method of teaching the effects of Alcohol and Tobacco, Miss Ada Lewis, Charlevoix.
5. Culture more valuable than Knowledge, Miss Maud Loveday, East Jordan.
6. Music.

Morning session opening at 9 o'clock.

1. Music.
2. The teacher's Relation to his Profession, H. M. Enos, Charlevoix.
3. Prizes and Rewards, G. W. Faust, East Jordan.

RECESS.

4. Teacher's relation to the parents of his pupils, Miss Gamer, Boyne City.
5. Answers to questions in Query box.

A cordial invitation is extended to all who so desire and especially teachers to meet with us, though you take no part in the discussion and thus sustain an organization which is in every way worthy of your support. By order of Executive Committee.

Arrangements will be made whereby those wishing to attend the meeting of the association can do so at two-thirds the usual fare charged for the round trip.

THE ELECTIONS.

VOTE OF CHARLEVOIX COUNTY, TUESDAY, NOV. 2d, 1886.

CANDIDATES.	Bay Lake	Boyne Valley	Chandler	Charlevoix	Evangeline	Eveline	Hayes	Hudson	Marion	Melrose	Norwood	Resort	South Arm	Springvale	Wilson	Totals	Majorities
Governor—
Luce	[illegible]			141	11[illegible]	[illegible]	22		30	50	67	12	220
Yaple	[illegible]			90	99	77	71		28	4	[illegible]	[illegible]	105
Pickle	11			29	29	29			9	5	3		33
Representative in Congress—
Cutcheon	25			124	119	80	53		42		67	13	222
Mason	22			90	105	86	69		24		23	21	193
Ellis	10			16	19	27			[illegible]		3	10	32
State Senator—
Barton	10			167	111	85	82		34		81	11	208
Johnson	37			119	117	80	70		32		39	21	218
Representative in Legislature—
Dougherty	[illegible]			[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]		41		76	19	230
Lewis	25			83	92	77	69		24		23	21	138
Sheriff—
Berdan	24	28	9	226	171	65	93	1	20	58	25	12	73	29	41
Jerrue	23	52	25	42	65	87	20	14	30	37	[illegible]	7	304	14	71
Sheldon		10		31	8	39	10	6	19	3	14	14	30		1
Clerk—
Chew	6	8		85	7	31	64		17	10	20	2			3
Palmiter	1	38	31	57	22	89	16		16	8	30	3	396	8	57
Thatcher	40	19		164	210	47	44	20	3	77	50	3	15	37	55
Suffield				19	2	28				3					3
Register—
Upright	30	17	29	132	61	89	73	18	38	40	8	12	41	30	15
Shepard	16	30	3	27	129	27	21	2	14	25		29	5	12	17
Meech	1	41		140	50	73	20		23	27	81	9	297		81
Treasurer—
Cooper	24	50		201	181	107	84	15	14	52	[illegible]	16	20		47
Blatt	23	30		14	55	72	38	5	62	40	27	20	422		56
Prosecuting Attorney—
Corbett	26	42		188	142	108	11		43	80	70	16	101		81
Martin	21	44		89	87	61	51		22	12	20	17	445		26
Hutchison				25	7		1		0	3	6	7	20		5
Commissioner—
Garbut	2	46		90	109	62	9		28	20			24		34
Fogg	4	15		15	29	67	72		50	16	60		390		36
Martin				19	07	44	34		18	59					26
Surveyor—
Robinson				191	52	90	57		49	74
Hayden				85	68	70	68		37	20

Northern Michigan.

The Elk Rapids people are talking water works.

They have already commenced skating at Hancock.

The Cheboygan News reports that large quantities of venison are being brought into town.

The Cheboygan Agricultural Society are unable to pay their premiums in full at present.

The carcasses of two bear and several deer were brought into Mancelona from the woods during last week.

W. S. Smith's saw-mill on the lake shore, a mile from Cheboygan, burned recently. Loss, $25,000; insurance $11,000.

The Cheboygan Council is still wrangling with agents of the electric light companies trying to obtain satisfactory terms for lighting the city.

Ironton.

The "Helping Hand" scored another success on Tuesday night with their elocutionary entertainment. Proceeds $5.

Elder Iddings preached to a full house on Sunday night. Services were also well attended in the Congregational church afternoon and evening.

Little Herbie Lenox, who has been very sick of fever, is much improved.

A shooting match at Jno. Hammond's one week from Friday. The nearest to the mark takes a turkey.

Our farmers are busy securing their potato and baga crops, and the yield is reported bagas, big crop, potatoes an average.

We read a letter from C. F. Hankey commenting on the quality of wheat grown in our vicinity. The Kaskatchawan Fife tested 65lbs to the bushel and is worth 49lbs of good flour. John Peterson raised 120 bushels of this wheat this year.

No school on Friday last, the teaching force being at Boyne City for a new lease of life.

Hemming Frizzell and family left on Tuesday for St. Andrew's Bay, Fla. Mrs. Beamer also leaves this week to join her husband at their home in Virginia. The above parties are old residents among us and will be missed. Mr. Frizzell took a prominent part in the politics of the town, and he and his wife were active members of the M. E. church here. Mrs. Beamer has ever been first in ministering to the sick and good works. Our friends, we heave the "old shoe" in your wake.

Report of our schools for the month of October: Whole number enrolled, 76; Gram. Dep't., 37; Primary, 39; Average number belonging, 64. Gram. Dep't 31; Primary, 33; Average attendance, 55; Gram. Dep't., 26; Primary, 29. Number withdrawn during month, 3. The regular monthly examination has been omitted on account of review work.

Mrs. Bert Buddick has been very ill for the past week, but is again convalescing under the care of Dr. Preston.

Mrs. L. Satterly of Newberry, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Waldron of this place.

The candle lecture in the new church on Monday evening was well attended and proved to be all and more than it had been advertised to be. Many of the illustrations hit us so hard that our repose was destroyed, but learning that the boys were [illegible] restored our equilib.

STATE REPUBLICAN.

Luce Elected by 11,000 Plurality.

A GAIN OF THREE OR FOUR REPUBLICAN CONGRESSMEN.

Glory Enough for one Day

The Legislature Overwhelmingly Republican.

GOD BE PRAISED!

General Cutcheon Re-elected by a Larger Majority than ever.

Republican State Senator and Member of the Lower House, Both Elected.

The County Ticket Badly Mixed.

[Thursday morning, 9 a. m., by telegraph.]

Dispatches as we go to press place the plurality of Luce at from 8,000 to 11,000.

In the Congressional districts, O'Donnel, Republican, is re-elected. In the 2d district, Capt. Allen, Republican, is elected. In the 6th district, Brewer, Republican, is elected, and the prospects are that in the 5th McBride, Republican, gets there.

In the 8th and 1st the fusionists elect Tarsney and Chipman. There is a fighting chance for Loud in the 10th. Cutcheon's plurality in the 9th will reach 3,000.

The Legislature is Republican by about 45 majority, and a Republican U. S. Senator is assured.

In the county, F. J. Meech and S. B. Thatcher, the present Register and Clerk, were elected on stump tickets. Mr. Meech's plurality was 309, and that of Mr. Thatcher 109.

The fusionists elected Orlando Blair Treasurer, and with the help of their co-laborers, elected that distinguished apostle of temperance, Dan. Jerrue, Sheriff, over Capt. Berdan, by a paltry plurality of ten.

F. E. Fogg, stump candidate for Commissioner, and R. L. Corbett Republican candidate for Proseting attorney were both elected.

With the exception of Sheriff the county offices elected are the present incumbents.

W. W. Barton, for State Senator, receives 600 majority, and A. K. Dougherty, for Representative, goes in by a big majority.

The base ball contest between the Chicago club and the St. Louis Browns, for the world's championship, closed last Saturday in a close and exciting ten innings game in favor of the Browns. At the end of the seventh inning the score showed up 3 to 0 in favor of Chicago. In the eighth inning the Browns got in 3 runs, tying the score. Both were whitewashed in the 9th, and in the 10th inning the Browns whitewashed the Chicagoes and made the winning run, making 4 games out of 6 in their favor and winning the championship of the world and the entire gate receipts of the series, amounting to between $13,000 and $14,000.

Probate Notice.

State of Michigan, County of Charlevoix, ss. Notice is hereby given, that by an order of the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix, made on the 4th day of October, A. D. 1886, six months from that date were allowed for creditors to present their claims against the estate of Niles P. Anderson late of said County, and that all creditors of said deceased are required to present their claims to said Probate Court, at the Probate office in the Township of Evangeline, for examination and allowance, on or before the seventh day of February next, and that such claims will be heard before said Court on Monday, the 6th day of December and on Monday, the 7th day of February next, at one o'clock in the afternoon of each of those days.

Dated October 4th, A. D. 1886.

JAMES A. KEAT,
Judge of Probate.

2714

Mortgage Sale.

Default has been made in the condition of a mortgage dated the 15th day of October, 1885, executed by Nicholas Morgan, (widower) to the John Wilkinson Company (a corporation organized and doing business under the laws of the State of Illinois) of Chicago, recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix county, Michigan, October 30th 1885, in Liber C of Mortgages on page 424 and the power of sale therein has become operative, upon which the whole amount of principal and interest One Hundred Dollars is past due, unpaid and now due thereon for the recovery of which no suit or proceeding in law or equity has been commenced, will be foreclosed under the power of sale in said mortgage contained, by a sale as provided by statute of the premises therein described as Lots three (3) and four (4) in Block "G" in Nicholas Morgan's addition to South Boyne in Charlevoix county, Michigan, according to the recorded plat thereof, at public vendue to the highest bidder at the front door of the Court House, in the village of Boyne City, in Charlevoix county and State of Michigan, (that being the place of holding the Circuit Court for the county of Charlevoix) at 12 o'clock noon on the 3rd day of February, A. D. 1887.

Dated [illegible]

THE JOHN WILKINSON COMPANY,
Mortgagee.

FRED W. MAYNE,
Atty for Mortgagee.

Wanted Immediately.

An intelligent young man or woman to sell our goods on commission in Charlevoix county. Light work, large profits. Address with stamps,

THE W. P. LEWIS CO.
Elk Rapids, Mich.

Fresh oysters direct from Baltimore at Jefferies' market.

Go to Scott's shop for a first-class job of horse shoeing.

A house and 6 lots for sale or rent, Inquire of L. E. Allen, Charlevoix.

Mrs. Litney & Carr, the popular milliners, have just received and are still receiving one of the finest and fullest lines of fall and winter goods ever brought to Charlevoix. The ladies are invited to call in and inspect their stock.

TO ALL WHO HAVE FEATHERS TO RENOVATE:—This is to certify that I had work done four years ago by the steam process, and can recommend it to the public as lasting fresh and light for years, having used mine four years with entire satisfaction.

MRS. J. F. HOWE.

Elk Rapids, Oct. 21.

Having been personally acquainted with Kenney Bros. for several years I can say to the citizens of Charlevoix that they need not hesitate to give them work in their line as they are honorable and trustworthy men, and their word can be relied upon.

R. A. CAMPBELL,
Bridge Street House.

YOUR CHANCES ARE GOOD

FOR SECURING A BARGAIN,

In Everything in My Line.

I have just completed my stock of Winter Goods and a better line of

MACKINAWS,

You cannot find in any stock. The 3 point Mackinaws are the best that are made and I am the only one who keeps them.

Good Goods are the Cheapest, if you do have to pay a little more for them.

ALL-WOOL RED UNDERWEAR for $1.50 a suit. A large stock of FUR CAPS cheaper than ever sold before. I have cut my prices down on everything this fall and am bound to sell if low prices are any object.

GEO. W. MILLER.

AT FIFTY CENTS!

ON THE DOLLAR.

A Sale with Greater Bargains Than Before.

Another Gigantic Sale of Muslin Underwear.

SURE TO CAUSE ANOTHER RUSH.

LOT 3—50 CENTS.

Ladies' Aprons with tucks and long strings; Misses' Fruit of the Loom Drawers; Infants' Night Gowns; Ladies Perfect Fitting Corset Covers; Black Waists to wear under Corset covers; Misses' Children's and Young Ladies Skirts; Boys' and Girls' Twilled Waists. Usual retail price, 25 and 30 cents.

LOT 2—25 CENTS.

Ladies' Fruit of the Loom Drawers; Misses' and Children's Fruit of the Loom Drawers trimmed with fine embroidery; Ladies' Ruffled Skirts and Lace trimmed Night Gowns, Infants' fine Lonsdale Cambric Slips; Children's and Misses' Night Gowns, lined yoke and back, all sizes; Ladies' Chemises, all trimmed, and some with one hundred tucks; Handsome Corset covers, in latest shapes; Extra Large Tucked Aprons. Usual retail price, 40 to 50 cents.

LOT 1—15 CENTS.

Ladies' Mother Hubbard Night Gowns; Handsomely Trimmed Night Gowns; Chemises with Hamburg yokes and linen lace; Corset covers, elaborately trimmed; Ladies' Skirts, with deep Hamburg and Cambric Ruffles, Combination Garments; Chemises and Skirts, some with hundred tucks, and Hamburg yokes; Misses' Fruit of the Loom Night Gowns; Ladies' Hamburg Edge and Inserting Trimmed Drawers. Usual retail price, 75 cents and $1.00.

Come for them quick,—F. W. CRAINE & CO.

Unusually Great BARGAINS

IN DRY GOODS,

DURING NOVEMBER.

WE OFFER A FULL ASSORTMENT OF ALL SEASONABLE GOODS AND PRICES ARE WONDERFULLY LOW.

IN DRESS GOODS WE ARE SELLING ALL WOOL HOMESPUN AT 45c.

WIDE, WOOL SERGES, ELEGANT FINISH, AT 20c. FULL LINE OF 6-4 ALL WOOL TRICOTS AND CREPE CLOTHS.

SILK AND WOOL ASTRAKAN CLOAKINGS IN DECIDEDLY GOOD VALUES.

LADIES WOOL BOUCLE JACKETS $3.75

Watch for Special Sale of Cotton Flannels.

BLANKETS! BLANKETS!

Extra Values in all Grades on

SATURDAY, NOV. 6,

we will sell 20 pairs, good 5 pound Blankets at $1.62 a pr.

New Hampshire Horse Blankets 2 straps, 75 c.

KERSEY PANTS, MACKINAWS AND WOOL SOCKS, FOR LUMBERMEN.

Look at our Lamp Goods, for the long evenings. Patent extension Lamps from $3.50 up. Duplex Lamp Burners only 50c.

IMMENSE LINE OF GROCERIES. The best Goods for the least money

County Orders bought.

J. L. HURD & CO.

CHEER UP! CHEER UP!

CHEER UP.

A HAPPY TIME COMING!

Rosenthal & Son

Have just returned from the market and have purchased the largest stock of goods ever before brought to Charlevoix.

IN DRY GOODS we have a large line in Dress Goods of the latest styles and at prices to suit everybody. Also a full stock of Notions, Ribbons, Buttons of the latest styles and a big stock of Domestics.

IN CLOAKS we have the finest line of short Wraps, Newmarkets, street Jackets, in excellent styles for children and misses. Made in Plush, Astrakan, Friza, Beaver and Diagonals.

IN CARPETS: A mammoth line of Brussels Ingrains, stair and hall Carpetings and Rugs of every description. Window Curtains in lace, jute and oil with fixtures.

IN CLOTHING: Mens,' Youths,' Boys,' and Childrens' Clothing and Overcoats at almost any price. A large line of Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, etc.

IN TRUNKS, we take the cake and can sell them from 50 cents to $15.00.

A grand chance to strike BARGAINS. Our goods are the best and our stock complete.

Yours, always ready to wait on Customers,

ROSENTHAL & SON.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL. XVIII. NO.—28 CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1886. WHOLE NO. 885

School Books!

SCHOOL BOOKS! SCHOOL BOOKS!

---HEADQUARTERS---

For Everything needed in the School Room, at

HINES & CO.'S DRUG AND STATIONERY STORE.

You will find it to your interest to look over our stock before purchasing elsewhere.

Respectfully,
F. G. HINES & CO.

THE PIONEER HOUSE OF CHARLEVOIX CO.

New Fall Goods,

BEING RECEIVED WEEKLY.

We call especial attention to our complete stock of

BOOTS and SHOES.

TEAS of all kinds. We will guarantee you the best Tea for the money, in the county.

ALL GRADES of FRESH ROASTED AND GREEN COFFEES.

A Fine line of Everything in

FURNITURE.

BIG DRIVES IN

Flannels, Yarns, and Blankets.

Please bear in mind that our stock embraces

EVERYTHING

usually found in a General Store.

Remember: Our Goods are the Best. Our Prices the Lowest. Our Record the Oldest.

Resp'y Yours,
Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

We can Supply you with EVERYTHING in our Line.

THE FINEST STOCK OF

FURNITURE

ever offered in Charlevoix,

IS NOW AWAITING YOUR INSPECTION AT

Henry C. Cooper's.

A Choice Line of

FRESH GROCERIES,

OF EVERY VARIETY,

Including Confectionery, Fruits, Canned Goods, and Tobaccos and Cigars in stock

For your inspection in OPERA BLOCK by

R. J. COOPER.

THE ELECTIONS.

THE RETURNS ALL IN. EVERYBODY HAPPY.

Now you may need one or more of the following articles.

If you do, REMEMBER,

YOU CANNOT DO ANY BETTER THAN TO PURCHASE IMMEDIATELY OF US, THE VERY BEST GOODS FOR THE VERY

LEAST MONEY!

Stoves.	Wolf Robes.	Hanging Lamps.
Stove Boards.	Sleds.	Cutlery.
Stove Dampers.	Sleigh Bells.	Oil Cans.
Stove Leg Rests.	Sleigh Shoe Steel.	Axes.
Horse Shoes.	Oil Cloth Binding.	Saws.
Ventilators.	Horse Nails.	Wedges.
Stove Pipe.	Rugs.	Iron and Steel.
Roof Caps.	Wagons.	Lanterns.
Feed Cutters	and other	articles needed.

For The Coming Winter.

Come and Inspect Our Stock.

Respectfully,

STOCKMAN & IDDINGS.

The Best Groceries

At The Lowest Prices

ARE FOUND AT THE GROCERY AND PROVISION HOUSE OF

A. E. MASON.

I do a strictly Cash-over-counter business and will guarantee lowest prices.

J. MILO EATON'S

REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE,

AND LOAN OFFICE.

The oldest in the county. Established in 1875.

Money to loan in sums to suit and at lowest rates on improved farms.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE furnished on short notice. Office over Postoffice.

A. J. McLEOD,

having returned to the Charlevoix Meat Market, announces that he will sell at

Wholesale or Retail

All kinds of

FRESH MEATS,

SALT PORK,

SMOKED & SALTED

HAMS,

Dried and Smoked

BACON, DRIED BEEF, Bologna, Head Cheese, Sausage.

Highest Prices Paid FOR HIDES and PELTS.

Will kill hogs or cattle for other Markets or persons wishing that class of work at low rates.

A. J. McLEOD.

Bank of

Charlevoix,

W. P. BROWN, Cashier. W. A. BROWN, Asst. Cashier.

CAPITAL, $25,000

Perfect Security

Is assured to the depositors in this Bank, both by its Capital and conservative management.

Its Officers

Never Speculate. Their business creed is: That to Speculate with ones own money, is folly; that to do so with the money of others, is criminal.

Security in Banking

Is the question of first importance to both Bankers and Depositors; and, believing that it furnishes unusual guarantees therefore,

This Bank Invites

People generally to intrust their money to its keeping. Just liberally will mark its dealings.

This Bank Will

Borrow Investment money when desired, paying as large interest thereon as shall be compatible with safe use of the money.

Parties Seeking

Productive employment for money, and desiring to escape the expense and trouble of the management of private investments, will find attractive security in this Bank's

Investment Notes,

Now paying Five per cent. yearly interest. These notes afford investors much more perfect security than Savings Bank deposits.

We Solicit Your Patronage.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY

SMITH & PARMELEE,

Charlevoix, - Michigan.

Address all business correspondence to the firm.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One year - $1.50 | Six months - $.75

Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—Thursday, Nov. 25th is Thanksgiving Day.

—H. C. Dolph, of Chicago, called this morning.

—Four inches of snow fell Saturday, but soon melted.

—J. L. Hurd & Co. extend their sale to next Saturday. See ad.

—L. W. Hoyt, Deputy Collector Internal Revenue, was here yesterday.

—The W. C. T. U. will meet next Friday with Mrs. B. Suffield at 2:30 p. m. COM.

—Dr. Reynolds speaks upon Third Party Prohibition at the Opera House, this evening.

—Friday, Nov. 12th, the Charlevoix County Teacher's Association holds a meeting at East Jordan.

—Charlevoix county in 1884 gave Alger 122 plurality. This year it gives Luce 248 plurality.

—A. J. McLeod is erecting a fine barn and ice-house combined in the rear of his market, on the alley.

—Dr. N. J. Perry has returned home from southern Michigan and may be found at his dental rooms for the winter.

—Miss Edna Craine of Pentwater, came Monday to enter the employ of her cousin, F. W. Craine, and has already made many friends among our young people.

—This is a good year for independent candidates. John A. Anderson of Kansas, a gentleman who spends his summers at Charlevoix, was elected to Congress in the 5th district, on an independent ticket.

—Mr. J. S. Smithson and family left yesterday for the south, where they will remain for the winter—returning in May. They have many friends in Charlevoix who will be glad to welcome them, with the flowers that bloom in the spring.

—The schooner J. C. Bauer came booming into the river Friday night in a gale and when near the bridge, struck her bow against the revetment dragging her anchor overboard. It caught the telephone cable, tore it from its shore connections and dragged it nearly into Round lake. An expert from Grand Rapids came Sunday to re-adjust it and it is now in operation.

—The worn-out lies repeated in the last issue of the East Jordan Enterprise concerning Capt. Berdan's "personal habits," and his "penchant for sleeping," etc., which everybody who knows anything about the facts know to be lies, were nailed by the vote of Charlevoix. Berdan received 226 votes, Jerrue 42, and Sheldon 31. We know Capt. Berdan here, and lies don't count.

—Boyne Falls Gazette: H. B. Chapman, of Boyne City, drove up to our office on Saturday, and when we saw him coming we hastened to hide our diminished head in the ink tub. He sent us a seventeen column letter a week ago, and we didn't print it. As there were unmistakable signs of gore in all his eyes, we thought discretion the better part of valor and discreted accordingly.

—The following pluralities are reported for Gen Cutcheon: Charlevoix, 300; Antrim, 400; Kalkaska (complete), 405; Missaukee, 100; Wexford, 300; Osceola, 650; Lake, 300; Mason, 300; Mecosta (complete), 716; Newaygo, 250; Oceana (complete), 171; total, 3,892. Mason's pluralities: Muskegon, 391; Manistee, 309; total, 700. This gives Cutcheon a plurality of 3,192. The official returns will change this result but slightly. The prohibition vote in Manistee county reduced Cutcheon's vote some.

—An informal but very enjoyable reception was tendered Dr. Reynolds at the Bridge St. House parlors, last evening, by the W. C. T. U. After refreshments a number of third party speeches were made. A loud silence, however, was maintained over the fact that just one week ago a saloonist had been elected to the highest office in the county as a direct result of their movement and that eight votes in Charlevoix on Prohibition tickets, were cast for him. Nothing was said concerning the fact that one of the men this new sheriff contemplates for a deputy, expects to open a third saloon in Charlevoix. It might be called a third party saloon. No one heard the cold, glittering fact that the leader of the W. C. T. U. in Michigan lobbied against the submission of the prohibitory amendment in the last legislature and that every republican in both branches of the legislature voted in favor of it, with the exception of two who were absent, and that nearly every democrat voted against it. It was entirely forgotten that every state in the Union today, enjoying the blessings of prohibition, owes the passage of such laws to the Republican party and that today in Michigan there are twenty fold more, and just as sincere workers for the cause of temperance as are found in the democratic aid society.

—The excellent campaign work done by the Detroit Tribune during the past two months should be reciprocated by every loyal republican to the extent of a year's subscription and a good word for it, to your neighbor.

—Petoskey Record: B. F. Gage and family move to Charlevoix for the winter this week. Miss Ida M. Gage teaches in the public schools there this year and Mr. Gage, when the family are settled, will go south for the winter.

—Stockman & Iddings have received a complete stock of new hardware, which, in addition to their already large stock, makes a fine showing. Their display of parlor heating stoves is especially fine. See their new advertisement.

—The Petoskey Record is proud of the work of the republicans of Bear Creek. It was clean straight honorable work on the part of the candidates, and Bear Creek and Maple River have the honor of wiping out the fusion majority in Emmet county.

—At the Historical Society, Friday evening a vote was taken upon the question as to who is the greatest living statesman. Gladstone received 10, Blaine 6, Bismark 3 and Yaple 1. The last was ruled out on the plea that only living statesmen were being considered.

—Last week Tuesday, C. S. Hamptons Independent modestly announced the re-election of the Honorable Charles. The next day, however, the returns from back towns came in, and Bro. Hampton decided to follow the example of Cincinnatus and retire to private life.

—The Chicago Mail, one of the brightest dailies of that remarkable city, is now sent to subscribers everywhere, postage prepaid, at less than ½ of a cent per copy, or $2.50 per year. This is a daily paper, not a weekly, remember, and as good a daily as anybody cares to read.

—It is considerable of a stretch of imagination for the local democracy, as a party, to attach political significance to the election of their candidate for sheriff, in the light of about 250 majority for Luce. But it is the only grain of comfort they can find in the whole scope of the general result, and let them enjoy it.

—The Charlevoix Journal with its customary accuracy says: "In Kansas the Democrats elect Governor by 1,000 majority." The Detroit Free Press, the Patron Saint of the Michigan Democratic press, gives the state to the Republicans by 37,000. But 38,000 out of the way is close, for our extinguished contemporary.

—We take pleasure in announcing to the public that Solomon G. Isaman will be a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Charlevoix county, on the Democratic ticket, in 1888.—East Jordan Enterprise. We take pleasure in announcing to the public that Capt. Harrison Berdan will be the candidate for Sheriff of Charlevoix County on the Republican ticket in 1888, and will be elected.

—The Historical Society meets at D. C. Loveday's, East Jordan, next Friday night. Programme as follows. Selections from Macaulay, Hon. John Nicholls; The Character of Evangeline, Miss Ina M. Gage. The Society will also be entertained with music as usual. The Gazelle will leave Stockman & Iddings' dock promptly at 6:15 standard time. The Society meets one week from Friday evening at W. A. Brown's.

—We are indebted to Mr. Isaac Wright for the following vote of Manitou county: Chandler township cast 1 republican and 21 democratic votes; Peaine, 4 republican and 41 democratic; Gallilee, 1 for Luce and 17 for Yaple; South Manitou, 17 for Luce and 1 for Yaple. Of the 103 votes cast 23 were republican. Dougherty had 21 and Lewis 24 votes in Peaine, while Barton had 5 and Johnson 40 in the same township. The worthy republican workers in Manitou are deserving of laurels for the effective work they have put in for the cause.

—It appears not to be generally understood that the law taxing Oleomargarine went into effect Oct. 31st and that all dealers selling this article are liable to a special tax as follows: For retailing, that is, selling less than 10lbs at one time to one person, $48 a year. For wholesaling, that is, selling the original stamped packages, $480 a year. All Oleomargarine must be taken from the original stamped packages by the retailers and placed in new wooden or paper packages on which is printed in letters not less than ¼ inch square the name and address of the dealer and the words: "——pounds, Oleomargarine." In the blank space before pounds must be written or printed the quantity in the package. The law governing the destruction of stamps is the same as that relating to tobacco tax stamps. All dealers having oleomargarine on their premises whether for sale or not, Oct. 31, 1886, must make an inventory on a blank form prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue and must stamp the same with stamps procured from the Revenue office at Grand Rapids. These stamps cost 2 cents per pound. Applications for special tax stamp, will be made upon the same blank form as has heretofore been used for tobacco.

—The Supreme Court has confirmed the decision of the Grand Rapids superior court in the case of Harry McDowell, now serving a fifteen years sentence at Jackson for causing the death of Sylvia Sawdy, of Howard City by abortion.

Wherefore?

The county seat steal is rebuked by the people in spite of the cry of "whiskey ticket."—Journal.

If that is true why were Samuel B. Thatcher and Roscoe L. Corbett, the "arch-conspirators," elected by round majorities? Wherefore ???????

Here's Another One.

When the news came Thursday morning that Luce was elected, the stars and stripes were raised on the signal service pole. At noon when the news was received that Yaple was elected, the stars and stripes were hauled down and the storm signal raised in its place.—Journal.

Now don't that beat all. News was not received that Yaple was elected. The stars and stripes were lowered because signal orders were received and had to be obeyed. That sort of nonsense is a sample of the Journal's imbecility.

Their Neighbors Knew Them.

In his own county (St. Joseph) the returns show that Mr. Yaple ran 512 behind the vote cast for the fusion nominee for governor two years ago. In Mr. Luce's county (Branch) the returns show that Mr. Luce ran 330 votes ahead of the republican nominee for governor two year ago. Query: Was the Detroit Tribune's Mendon correspondent right in his statement as to the unpopularity of Geo. L. Yaple in his own county? Begole's plurality in St. Joseph county in 1884 was 360; Yaple's plurality is 48. Alger's plurality in Branch county in 1884 was 481; Luce's plurality is 814.

The Lesson.

The result of the recent election in this county illustrates the fact that the caucus and convention are not always representatives of public sentiment, even in the circumscribed degree which is ascribed to them. We are a firm believer in the duty of Republicans to be loyal to the traditional customs in party government, yet there are lessons to be unlearned as well as lessons to be learned. One thing we must not lose sight of, and that is that the law of political gravitation is as unfailing as those of the Medes and Persians. Party managers may decree, but the people constitute a higher court, the jurisdiction of which knows no bounds, and from which there is no appeal.

Religious.

M. E. Church.

All the churches united with the Methodists in their service Sabbath evening. Mr. Smithson preached a strong and interesting sermon.

The ladies of the M. E. church invite all members and friends of the church to attend a reception at the parsonage next Wednesday evening. Free refreshments will be served. Come and meet our new pastor and wife.

Revival services at the M. E. church at Ironton during this week and over the Sabbath.

Congregational Church.

Services next Sabbath morning and evening at the usual hours.

Baptist Church.

Services next Sabbath as usual.

Capt. Harrison Berdan.

Capt. Harrison Berdan, who retires temporarily from the Shrievalty of Charlevoix county on the first of January next, will retire with a clean personal and official record. When he took up his abode among us a little more than three years ago, he came with the undivided respect of the community which he left, and in which he had lived for many years, during which time four years of honorable service in the war stands to his credit.

During his residence here he has won the same measure of respect from his neighbors, and his record is that of a gentleman, clean and upright. In the recent canvass he was slandered and vilified, but he carried himself with a dignity that was creditable to him.

Harrison Berdan is not in the political graveyard.

His sun has only set for the night; it will rise again in the morning.

Press Comment.

New York Tribune: The attempt to "smash the Republican party" can hardly be called a conspicuous success.

Philadelphia Press: The most remarkable result of the elections is the astonishing fatality among the free trade leaders. The slaughter is simply terrific.

Grand Rapids Eagle: With a gain of two Republican Congressmen in Kentucky, one in North Carolina, five in Virginia and one in West Virginia, the solid South is not quite as solid as it was.

New York Tribune: The best of it is that the most crushing Democratic losses come just where the free trade and soft money leaders supposed they were strongest, in the West and South.

Detroit Tribune: The free trade heresy and fraud has received a most disastrous blow as a result of Tuesday's election throughout the country, and the fact is full of splendid promise and hope for all the people.

Chicago Inter-Ocean: Michigan Democrats are awfully disgruntled. They had an idea they had made complete arrangements. * * * The Democratic party went into power in 1884 by the "skin of its teeth." It looks as if it would go out in 1888 without a skin. * * * One would almost infer that free traders at the last election had upon them the motto of the match box, "scratch my back." They got scratched, and there is a smell of sulphur in their neighborhood.

LIBERTY'S MEMORIAL.

The Bartholdi Statue in New York Bay Dedicated.

THE PAGEANTS ON LAND AND WATER.

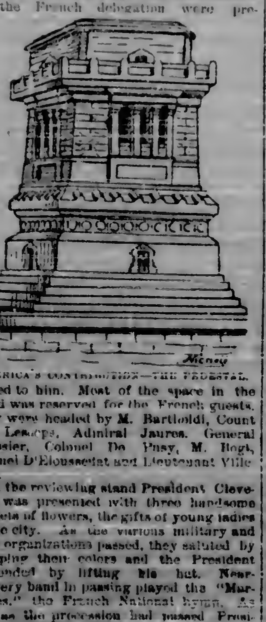
...the Alexandria ... At this time there were probably 500 vessels drawn up in two divisions, the first composed of large steamers and the second of tugs and smaller vessels. Some of these were beautifully decorated with flags and bunting. It was after one o'clock when the signal gun to start was fired, and the column began its forward movement. The United States steamship ... lay off West Twenty-third street, and ... the column of boats approached President Cleveland arrived with his suite and prepared to go on board as the guns fired a President's Salute. A halt was ordered until the despatch got under way, when with a loud blast of whistles the column of boats followed in behind, bound south to Bedloe's Island.

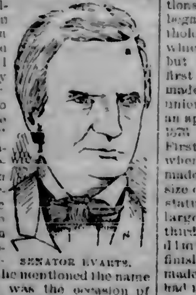
The vessels presented a beautiful sight as they steamed down the Hudson. On reaching Bedloe's Island they passed astern of the men-of-war anchored below the island, then up between them and the island they came to abreast of the statue, head on the tide, where they remained at anchor until the end of the ceremonies at that point.

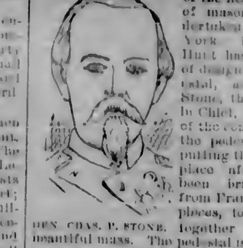
The scene at Bedloe's Island was one that beggars all description, one unprecedented in history, and one which in all probability will never be counterparted in future history. New York harbor was fairly alive with boats and shipping, small tugs and Government cutters darting to and from errands of haste and impatience, while the silent, solid forms of the men-of-war lay quietly at anchor. In a semi-circle to the south of Bedloe's Island were anchored the seven men of war, Tennessee, Minnesota, Jamestown, Yantic, Portsmouth and Lancaster. They were decorated with flags of all nations, and had on their gala dress for the occasion. To the south of the statue, at the base of the pedestal, was a platform large enough to accommodate the 2,000 guests that had been invited, and against the pedestal, facing the assemblage, was a stage for the speakers. This was tastefully decorated with the flags of France and America, and in the center, above the stage, hung a large shield bearing the name "A. Bartholdi" at the top and the word "Liberty" in the middle. The island was guarded by 200 police officers under Captain Clinchey.

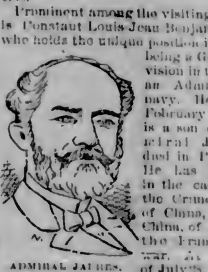
While waiting for the Presidential party Gilmore's band played national airs and made the disagreeable waiting in the rain as pleasant as possible. As the rubber Despatch, with the President on board, made its way through the harbor the yards of all the men-of-war were manned ...

[illegible]









THE INDUSTRIAL WORLD.

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

BURNED UP IN A CABIN.

THE COMBINED

STEAM FURNITURE

—AND—

Agate Works,

CHARLEVOIX, - - - MICH

The undersigned announces that he is prepared to take orders for

REPAIRING OR BUILDING

Furniture of all Kinds

ON SHORT NOTICE.

MY LAPIDARY

Is in first-class shape for working or polishing all choice stones.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

CORNELIUS BUDD.

All Goods not called for within ninety days will be sold for charges.
Charlevoix, Nov. 23, 1885.

Northern Michigan

Boiler Works.

Builder and Manufacturer of

Boilers, Heaters,

LARD TANKS, ETC.

OF ALL KINDS

SHEET IRON WORK

A SPECIALTY.

MARINE WORK

Given Special Attention

HENRY BARTH, Proprietor,

Charlevoix, Mich.

MILWAUKEE, LAKE SHORE

& WESTERN RAILWAY.

The Only Line Running

TWO DAILY TRAINS

—BETWEEN—

Wausau and Milwaukee and Chicago

The Only Line Running Sleeping Cars between Wausau and Milwaukee and Chicago.

THE AIR LINE TO OSHKOSH.

TIME TABLE.

[illegible]

FRANK E. WOOD'S

BATH AND BARBER ROOMS.

Hot and Cold Baths at any hour of the day or evening.

FARMING LAND!

500,000 ACRES

Of Splendid

Michigan Lands

FOR SALE BY THE

G. R. & I. R. R. COMPANY.

60,000 Acres in Charlevoix County.

These lands are timbered with beach and maple, elm and other wood, and are accessible to best markets by

WATER AND RAIL,

Not a Wilderness, by any Means.

Over 200,000 acres of the lands of this grant have already been sold.

Send for English or German pamphlet. Address

W. H. HOGHART, Commissioner,

Grand Rapids, Mich.

TITLE PERFECT.

HUMPHREYS'

Manual of all Diseases

HOMEOPATHIC

SPECIFICS.

WM. J. STEVENSON,

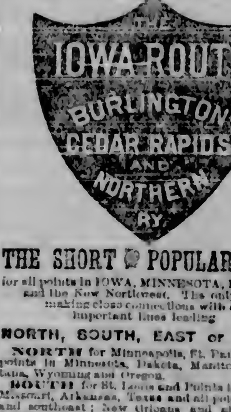
VETERINARY HORSE-SHOER.

Interfering and crippled horses shod satisfactorily or no charge.

Repairing done promptly.

The Old Doctor

A Life Experience. Remarkable and quick cures. Trial Packages. Send stamp for sealed particulars. Address Dr. WARD & CO. Louisiana, Mo.



THE SHORT & POPULAR LINE

for all points in IOWA, MINNESOTA, DAKOTA, and the New Northwest.

NORTH, SOUTH, EAST or WEST.

SOLID TRAINS

WITH

PULLMAN SLEEPERS

ARE RUN BETWEEN

Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Paul

VIA THE

FAMOUS ALBERT LEA ROUTE,

AND BETWEEN

St. Louis, Minneapolis & St. Paul

St. Louis, Minneapolis & St. Paul Short Line

Dining Cars on all Albert Lea Route Trains.

Land Seekers' Round Trip Tickets

C. J. IVES, J. E. HANNEGAN,

NOW IS THE TIME

TO USE

JOHNSTON'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR

LIVER COMPLAINT,

DYSPEPSIA,

AND FOR

PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

It is sold by all responsible druggists at one dollar for a quart bottle, or six for five dollars.

W. JOHNSTON & CO.,

Detroit, Mich.

When you have tried all the Sarsaparillas and have been disappointed, try Johnston's.

SEXUAL Weakness & Lost Manhood quickly and positively cured.

JOB PRINTING

SUCH AS

Cards, Bill-Heads, Circulars, Posters,

ETC., ETC.,

EXECUTED TO ORDER

AT THIS OFFICE.

In the Neatest and Promptest Manner

MR. G. E. BRANDON, Baltimore, Md., Commissioner of Deeds for all the States, suffered for a long time with rheumatism which yielded promptly to St. Jacobs Oil.

The violinist is always up to his chin in business.—Judge.

The break of day was not caused by the fall of night.

FOR RELIEVING THROAT TROUBLES AND COUGHS, "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have a world-wide reputation. Price 25 cts.

IF afflicted with Sore Eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye Water. Druggists sell it. 25c.

No Opium in Piso's Cure for Consumption. Cures where other remedies fail. 25c.

ST. JACOBS OIL

FOR RHEUMATISM.

MARVELOUS EXPERIENCES.

Suffered 30 Years and Cured.

Remarks of an Eminent Divine.

THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., Baltimore, Md.

RED STAR COUGH CURE

FREE FROM OPIATES AND POISON.

SAFE. SURE. PROMPT. 25 Cts.

AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.

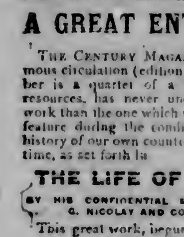
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., Baltimore, Md.

A GREAT ENTERPRISE.

THE CENTURY MAGAZINE, with its enormous circulation (edition of November number is a quarter of a million) and great resources, has never undertaken a greater work than the one which will be its important feature during the coming year. This is a history of our own country in its most critical time, as set forth in

THE LIFE OF LINCOLN,

BY HIS CONFIDENTIAL SECRETARIES, JOHN G. NICOLAY AND COL. JOHN HAY.



This great work, begun with the sanction of President Lincoln, and continued under the authority of his son, the Hon. Robt. T. Lincoln, is the only full and authoritative record of the life of Abraham Lincoln. Its authors were friends of Lincoln before his presidency; they were most intimately associated with him as private secretaries throughout his term of office, and to them were transferred upon Lincoln's death all his private papers. Here will be told the inside history of the civil war and of President Lincoln's administration,—important details of which have hitherto remained unrevealed, that they might first appear in this authentic history. By reason of the publication of this work, which has been followed with unflagging interest by a great audience, will occupy less ...

THE WAR SERIES,

NOVELS AND STORIES

SPECIAL FEATURES

PRICES. A FREE COPY.

THE CENTURY CO. NEW YORK.

SWAYNE'S

OINTMENT

ITCHING PILES

SKIN HUMOR

COCKLE'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS,

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY

A LIMITED OFFER. GREAT CHANCE!

BILL WAS MUSTERED IN.

Throughout our country's vast domain
Were scenes of wild alarm,
In city, town and country, too—
It even reached the farm—
And Bill, a farmer's lad, had heard
The tale of Sumpter told,
And thought that band of ...
...
And to the front a hero came,
When Bill was mustered in.

Lean, lank and long, with heart of gold,
Faithful, and brave, and true;
We had to laugh to see the lad
Dressed in his suit of blue.
His coat was ever so much too short,
His pants a mile too wide,
And when he marched could not keep step,
However much he tried.
I see him now as I saw him then—
Awkward, and tall, and slim,
For a score or more of years had fled
Since Bill was mustered in.

Knapsack and gun, canteen and straps,
An awkward raw recruit,
And we joked the boy when he ordered arms,
The Colonel to salute.
But time passed on, the raw recruit
Was a veteran in the fight:
There was none more brave, in camp or field,
For country, God and right;
For valor and old chivalry
Had counterpart in him:
And the old flag gained a grand recruit
When Bill was mustered in.

But there came a time in that deadly fray
In July, sixty-three,
At Gettysburg, when the charge was made,
And the Rebs were forced to flee;
Why, boys, the very earth and air
With shot and shell did burn.
In the foremost rank, on a double-quick,
There Bill was, brave and stern;
And Bill went down as the Johnnies broke
And for victory gave one shout,
And brave men wept when they knew that night
That Bill was mustered out.

Long years have passed, and can it be
That history is true?
It hardly seems I ever wore
That threadbare coat of blue.
Though a gun may dim and memory fade,
I never shall forget
Brave, honest Bill for the fame he made
So green and living yet.
And when I, too, am mustered out,
My prayer shall be to win
A resting place with men like Bill,
Whom God has mustered in.
—Ivy Green, in Troy Telegram.

EVIDENCES OF "REFORM."

Something of Interest from the Post-Office Department and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

Within a few days two circumstances indicating the progress of reform at Washington have come to the light. "General Order, No. 236," issued to the employes in the railway mail service, recites that "continued violation of the rules has compelled the Post-Office Department to take decisive action. A list is furnished of cases where punishment has been inflicted and it is held up as a warning. No names are mentioned, but the offenses specified are failing to perform service over the entire length of the line, neglecting to record arrivals and departures, carrying unauthorized persons in the mail-cars, careless handling of registered matter, and transporting liquor and using it to excess—performances not only characteristic of "green hands," but savoring strongly of Democracy in several of the instances cited. The list showing the salary provisions, and the fines inflicted proves that the negligent employes were all in the lower grade of the service, and in the very class where, owing to the requirements of the Civil-Service law, the Cleveland appointees had to be placed. The last general order indicates that the Post-Office Department has discovered the deterioration in the mail service, which has caused so much complaint, and that the trouble arises from the appointment of incapable Democratic bummers.

[illegible]

SPIRIT OF THE PRESS.

The Party Feebly Supported.

WHAT THE SOUTH WANTS.

SHAMELESSLY UNPATRIOTIC.

PIG PARTNERS.

WASHINGTON'S HORSES.

The Force of Habit.

THE MARKETS.

[illegible]

DANGEROUS DRUGS.

Catarrh

Hood's Sarsaparilla

100 Doses One Dollar

WOMEN

Needing renewed strength, or who suffer from infirmities peculiar to their sex, should try

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

THE BEST TONIC.

Genuine has above Trade Mark and crossed red lines on wrapper. Take no other. Made only by BROWN CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

ACME

BANJO METHOD.

By N. P. B. CURTISS. Price, $1.25.

THE ROYAL SINGER

SONGS OF PROMISE.

PIANO CLASSICS,

BOOKS MAILED FOR RETAIL PRICE.

LYON & HEALY, CHICAGO.

OLIVER DITSON & CO., Boston.

ELY'S CREAM BALM

CATARRH

I have used two bottles of Ely's Cream Balm and consider myself cured. I suffered 20 years from catarrh and catarrhal headache and this is the first remedy that afforded lasting relief.—D. T. Higginson, 145 Lake Street, Chicago, Ill.

HAY-FEVER

A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable to use. Price 50cts. by mail or at druggists. Send for circular. ELY BROTHERS, Druggists, Owego, N. Y.

BENSON'S

CAPCINE

POROUS PLASTER

HIGHEST AWARDS OF MEDALS

IN AMERICA AND EUROPE.

SEABURY & JOHNSON, Proprietors, New York.

Davis' Literary Monthly,

Attractive, Entertaining and Instructive.

A. E. DAVIS & CO., CHICAGO.

SPENCER'S ALLIGATOR PRESS.

30,000 CARPENTERS

Farmers, Butchers and others SAW FILERS

MAGIC LANTERNS

SECRET SERVICE

WONDERFUL SUCCESS.

ECONOMY IS WEALTH.

PATTERNS FREE!

Demorest's Monthly.

W. JENNINGS DEMOREST, Publisher, 17 E. 14th St., New York.

Sold by all Newsdealers and Postmasters.

MASON & HAMLIN

UNRIVALED ORGANS

UPRIGHT PIANOS,

MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN AND PIANO CO.

Boston, New York, Chicago.

DO YOU WANT TO MAKE MONEY?

BILL NYE'S NEW BOOK.

No Rope to Cut Off Horses' Manes.

GRIND your own Bone,

FACE, HANDS, FEET,

DEDERICK'S HAY PRESSES.

P. K. DEDERICK & CO, Albany, N. Y.

Live Stock Cuts

RAILROAD GAZETTE.

A Journal of Transportation, Engineering and Railroad News.

HARTSHORN'S Shade Rollers

WE WANT YOU!

STANDARD SILVERWARE CO., BOSTON, MASS.

GUNS Our $15 Shot Gun now $10.

RUPTURE

$600 to $3,000

AGENTS WANTED

WOODWORKERS

$5 TO $8 A DAY

HOME STUDY

FREE

400,000

Copies ready Nov. 10th of the Double Thanksgiving Number of the

Youth's Companion

Elegantly Illustrated.

Mailed to any address for Ten Cents.

Free to Jan. 1. New Subscriptions sent at once, with $1.75, will include the COMPANION FREE from the time the subscription is received to Jan. 1, 1887, and a full year from that date. This offer includes the Thanksgiving and Christmas Double Numbers.

Please mention this Paper.

Address PERRY MASON & CO., 43 Temple Place, Boston, Mass.

$3 FOR $1.50

THE CHICAGO LEDGER ... Chicago, Ill.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established, 1869.

CHARLEVOIX, NOV. 10, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE, Associate Editor.

All returns serve only to emphasize the defeat of the Democracy of Virginia. There has been a great falling off in their vote throughout the State and their losses in all districts have been almost phenomenal. Of ten districts in the State the Republicans carried six, the Democrats three, and the Labor party one, being a net loss of five Congressmen to the Democrats.

The administration continues to achieve great success in making itself solid with the late confederacy. It has provided a government post for the daughter of Col. Elsworth's slayer, a fat place for Isabel Green, who pounded John Brown over the head with a sword while the old man lay senseless in the arsenal at Harper's Ferry, and has just removed from a petty office for political reasons Capt. Shellner, who trained the first gun at Sumpter in defense of the flag. Cleveland surely ought to get the south's solid vote in the nominating convention of 1888.

Week before last the remains of Salmon P. Chase, the great financier of Lincoln's administration, were removed from Washington, where they had rested for thirteen years, and were interred in Spring Grove cemetery, Cincinnati, O. Among other leading men of Washington, President Cleveland was invited to accompany the remains to Cincinnati, but he excused himself on the plea that official business would not allow his leaving the Capital. The next day he started on a fishing jaunt that would occupy more of his time than if he had paid respect to the departed financier who did so much to save the country.

The Canadian Minister of Customs says that the Canadian Government has not apologized to the United States for hauling down the stars and stripes on board the Marion Grimes, but that correspondence on the subject has passed between the Governments. The Minister's explanation was unnecessary. No one supposed that the Canadian Government had apologized. If there has been an apology of any kind it has probably been offered in humble terms by Secretary Bayard for the brazen audacity of the captain of the schooner in venturing to fly his country's flag at the masthead of his schooner.

Already in the retail marts of Washington the effect of the issuance of the new silver certificate is felt. Instead of the standard silver dollar everywhere certificates and $1 and $2 greenbacks are seen. Five years ago one would receive a silver dollar very infrequently at the stores here. Everything was paper money. Then the $1 and $2 greenbacks, or United States notes, were called and the silver dollars began to pour out, till for three years people almost universally received silver in change for $10. Some attention is being paid at the mints now to the matter of fractional currency, and nickles, dimes, etc., will get into the hands of the people more plentifully. The redemption of bonds will enable the treasury to circulate to better advantage any class of money desired. Bonds will be largely redeemed in the new certificates and it begins to look now as though there would soon be a clamor for the disappearing coin. Gold has been a drug for three years.

The Republican party comes from the elections this year in good position for future work. It may gather confidence for 1888. From all the Northern States, except perhaps Minnesota, and from some of the Southern, the returns indicate a considerable gain of Republican strength. In most quarters there has been more unanimity of feeling and action, and the tendency seems to be toward conscientious regard of principles and thorough concert of action in their behalf. Except in Michigan the third party Prohibitionists seem to have dwindled toward the vanishing point, which may be taken as a sign that among true reformers the practical men rather than the cranks are gaining ground. Very encouraging are the Republican gains in Congress. The Democratic majority in the next House will scarcely feel exultant over its narrowed strength, and may possibly be in better temper to serve the people than the present one. At the same time the Republicans, having "learned the ropes" and measured the springs of action of the present Administration, are in better trim for the fight of the next two years against the reactionary party and its sinister designs.

Reports say that the contracts for erecting the large hotel at Mackinac Island and the 1,000 feet extension to the dock at St. Ignace, which the railroads centering there have agreed to build, have been let.

Northern Michigan News.

The Mancelona broom factory is turning out 80 dozen brooms per day.

The Episcopalians of Elk Rapids, made $21 out of the Chinese Students entertainment.

The wood men in the employ of the Elk Rapids Iron Co, struck for ten hours last week Monday.

The Mancelona iron company are talking of putting in foundry and machine shops at their furnace.

Kalkaska Leader: The woods in some parts of the county are literally filled with hunters and dogs, till it is hardly safe to venture out.

The Higgins murder case in Antrim county is to be transferred for trial to the circuit court for Wexford county, the change of venue having been granted by Judge Ramsdell.

Geo. Baker, of Deer Lake, Charlevoix county, went to Ann Arbor to have his leg amputated on account of cancer of the knee. The operation was performed, and he is reported as doing well.

Kalkaska Leader: Mrs. L. Denny, wife of Dr. Denny, has thus far this season killed two deer, a score that many of our male hunters cannot beat as yet. She is said to be a sure shot, and when a deer gets in range it is generally safe to bet that she will down the beast.

The Elk Rapids Progress is of the opinion that every one is becoming fossilized in that old burg. That Elk Rapids has come to a standstill until she gets a railroad. That the company should put up something for a railroad, and that the rest of the people should contribute what they can.

The first train to Muskegon over the new direct route left Grand Rapids Thursday morning with the officials of the road and of the Grand Rapids & Indiana road. At Ravenna, President Hughart will drive the golden spike for the last rail. The road will be ready for business in about two weeks.

The Traverse Herald noticed in the spring that Alfred Black of East Bay had gone quite extensively into the planting of potatoes. Mr. Black has just finished digging his crop, and will soon have shipped to Chicago 6,390 bushels. He has had between thirty and forty men employed in digging for some time past.

John Wakeford, near Cheboygan dug 125 bushels of potatoes in seven hours. Frank Ford of Ellis, same county, dug 800 bushels in six and one-half days. Two 10-year-old boys on Elisha Larned's farm near Fenton, Horace Clement and Stanley Copeland, dug and picked up 55 bushels of potatoes from 8 o'clock in the morning until 4 p. m.

Strawberries are in blossom here and we are going to take a tin pail and a peach basket, and go out and hunt up a cow that gives cream and lay in a winter supply of strawberries and cream. Don't you fellows down south where it is cold, wish you lived up here, where we have two crops of strawberries in one season?—Harbor Springs Independent.

John Torrent, who recently bought the Hannah & Lay lumbering interests in this region has sold the Long Lake timber, 112,000,000 feet, to Filer & Son of Manistee for $400,000. Mr. Torrent paid $336,000 for this tract, less than four weeks ago. This timber will probably be run to the Manistee river. There is also talk of further sales on the Boardman.

One of the most experienced land lookers and pine estimators says the Avery pine in the Cheboygan region has been greatly over estimated and in his opinion will fall short of the estimated 100,000,000 feet at least one third. He says there is about 20,000,000 feet of first class pine that will run from 10 to 12 per cent. uppers, in the lot, but that the balance is Norway and common white pine, some of it very common at that.

The Marquette Mining Journal says: The Detroit, Mackinac & Marquette railroad, embracing its entire line of railroad between the straits of Mackinac and the city of Marquette, and also the branch line as projected from its main line to Sault Ste. Marie, together with the lands and all other property of the company was sold last week by E. W. Allen, special master in chancery, to Hugh McMillan, of Detroit. This sale is part of a re-organization scheme, the nature of which will hereafter appear. The consideration paid was $1,010,000. As a result of the above transaction, the control of the D. M. & M., railroad passes from the hands of the former company and is now vested in Mr. McMillan. In connection with the above comes the news that the contract for building the through line from Sault Ste. Marie a portion of which is now projected as a branch of the D. M. & M., to the latter point has been let, and that work on the same will begin this fall. The new through line above mentioned will be known as the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic, and is to be in running order by October 20, 1887.

EDUCATIONAL.

All communications on educational topics should be addressed to Prof. H. M. Enos, superintendent of the Charlevoix Schools.

MONTHLY REPORT

Of the Charlevoix Public Schools 2nd Month Ending November 5, 1886.

NO. ENROLLED.

1st Department, Miss Waterbury,	47
2nd " Miss Mason,	46
3d " Miss O'Neill,	39
4th " Miss Nelson,	46
5th, Gram. Section, Miss Gage,	37
5th, High School, Supt.,	29
Total enrolled,	244

NO. BELONGING.

1st Dept.	46
2nd "	41
3rd "	35
4th "	42
5th, High School Section	36
5th, Grammar Section	28
Total	226

DAYS ATTENDANCE.

1st Dept.	826
2nd "	791
3d "	665½
4th "	782
5th High School	645
5th Grammar Section	502
Total,	4,212½

DAYS LOST BY ABSENCE.

1st Dept.	65½
2nd "	50½
3d "	31½
4th "	49½
5th High School	30
5th Grammar Section	22
Total,	249

AVERAGE ATTENDANCE.

1st Department,	41⅓
2nd "	39½
3d "	33
4th "	39
5th, High School,	32½
5th, Grammar Section,	25⅛
Total average,	210½

CASES TARDY.

1st Department,	15
2nd "	13
3d "	03
4th "	10
5th " High School,	04
5th " Gram. Section,	01
Total,	46

ATTENDANCE, PER CENT OF NUMBER BELONGING.

1st Dept.	96⅞
2nd "	96¼
3rd "	97¼
4th "	96¾
5th High School,	97⅛
5th Grammar Section	97⅜
Average per cent.,	96½

Number of pupils neither absent nor tardy during the month: 1st Dept, 10; 2d, 19; 3d, 18; 4th, 13; 5th High School, 19; 5th Grammar Section, 17; Total, 96.

H. M. ENOS, Supt.

The Charlevoix Teachers' Association meets at East Jordan on Friday evening, Nov. 12th and Saturday following. The following programme will be presented:

1. Music.
2. An outline of Language work for Primary Schools, A. B. Nicholas, East Jordan.

RECESS.

4. What is the most approved method of teaching the effects of Alcohol and Tobacco, Miss Ada Lewis, Charlevoix.
5. Culture more valuable than Knowledge, Miss Maud Loveday, East Jordan.
6. Music.

Morning session opening at 9 o'clock.

1. Music.
2. The teacher's Relation to his Profession, H. M. Enos, Charlevoix.
3. Prizes and Rewards, G. W. Faust, East Jordan.

RECESS.

4. Teacher's relation to the parents of his pupils, Miss Gamet, Boyne City.
5. Answers to questions in Query box.

A cordial invitation is extended to all who so desire and especially teachers to meet with us, though you take no part in the discussion, and thus sustain an organization which is in every way worthy of your support. By order of Executive Committee.

Arrangements will be made whereby those wishing to attend the meeting of the association can do so at two thirds the usual fare charged for the round trip.

Queries: (3) What presidents of the United States were not chosen to the office by the people?

(4) Does boiling water become hotter by increasing the fire underneath?

(5) When a light snow has fallen on the sidewalk in early winter, why are the nail-heads often bare while the planks are not?

Answers to queries: (1) "We should say "two cheeses" and "Pass that molasses, please."

(2) No, if the bricks are laid level in the wall and no wedge-shaped pieces are cut to fill the notches at the top.

East Jordan Enterprise: G. B. Martin, the new banker, is now prepared to receive deposits and transact banking business, in the quarters he has neatly fitted up in the Loveday block. The safe is from the Detroit Safe Co. and has a burglar-proof chest of massive construction, with a Sargeant & Greenleaf time-lock attached. Mr. Martin's financial standing is A 1 at Lansing, where he has long resided, and he is, moreover, a genial business man of broad views, and courteous manners, whom it is a pleasure to transact business with.

"Quotations."

A novel entertainment is said to be rapidly gaining favor in some parts of the East. The title of the new diversion is "Quotation Party," and it is a vast improvement upon the progressive euchre which enjoyed such popularity last winter. Each guest comes prepared with a popular quotation, and the wise guest brings two or three in case some one should steal his thunder. Cards are distributed, on which is a number and a score. The guests then seat themselves in a circle about the room and No. 1 recites his or her quotation. The guests are then given a minute to set down the name of the author against No. 1 on the score. If your neighbor is a particularly pretty girl you may help her out, provided she doesn't know more about it than you do; but as a rule the players are requested to keep their own counsel and neither borrow nor lend. After each one has given a quotation the cards are passed one seat to the right, and No. 1 repeats his quotation and adds the name of the author, each player correcting the card in hand by crossing out the author's name if wrong. Every quotation turns out a genuine surprise to some one, and generally to half a dozen or more, while it not infrequently happens that the giver of the quotation is wrong. The more popular a quotation is the less certainty there seems to be about the authorship, and the mistakes are often quite funny. For instance: "The flowers that bloom in the spring, tra la!" was ascribed by a majority to Gilbert and Sullivan, whereas Sullivan's share of the "Mikado" is the music. When the list has been gone through the number of correct answers is set at the bottom and a committee compares the scores and awards the prizes. It is surprising how few know the authors of the quotations in common use, and the score at a first attempt is said to be always small.

Can't Stand the Music.

"You put me in mind of John Calver," is a remark generally made hereabouts regarding any undue display of hilarity. The person alluded to is a character whose name is known not only in this county, where he resides, but every traveling musician, especially a member of a band, who has passed through here has seen this curious character. Calver is a man of about 35, somewhat simple. He works on a farm about fourteen miles north of Wooster. The cause of his gaining so much notoriety is his curious antics whenever he hears a band play. Band members of every circus that has exhibited here for a number of years past know him, and a show day in Wooster would be bereft of considerable attraction without John Calver. Early in the morning of the day a circus exhibits in this city Calver leaves his home, north of here, and starts on a dead run for Wooster, never slackening up on his pace. As soon as the procession starts he finds his way to the side of the first band-wagon, and whenever the band plays he goes through the gyrations of a whirling dervish, spinning round on his feet, standing on his head, turning somersets, and running around the band-wagon. The music appears to set him wild, and his antics make him the center of attraction.

It is a matter of much surprise that his exertions do not tire him out, but as long and as often as the band can stand it he appears to enjoy it. Sometimes the band gets out of gear by endeavoring to watch Calver's gymnastics, and every band which makes a return visit to Wooster is on the lookout for Calver as soon as the parade forms. After the parade he takes the north road and goes home on a gallop. Even the bill-posters have learned to know Calver and they make it a point to see that advertising matter is left at the place he works, and, rain or shine, he never fails to be on hand the day of the show, coming in on a run and going home in like manner. Aside from this eccentricity, he is considered a good and trusty workman.—Wooster (Ohio) Special.

El Paso.

The town of El Paso, the center of the present complication with Mexico, is a place of historic memories and interesting associations. Ugly and distasteful socially and exteriorly, the frontier city of Texas is bound to have a great commercial future. There is little left of the old border romance, but all its deviltry and coarseness remain, supplemented by an inhospitable lust of gain, which makes residence among such communities a torture to any self-respecting and sensitive person. Yet I found such persons there, and with my Mexican friend, Mr. Vallejo, left the frontier, and his only knowledge of its cause arises from the fact that Editor Cutting, of El Paso, the Texas town, is a severe assailant and critic of the Mexicans. His general course has been designed to breed disorder between the two countries. Paso del Norte, the Mexican town, or presidio, was an Indian village centuries before the Spanish missionaries and soldiers made their appearance on the frontier. It has been an important post ever since. A free port under the Mexican tariff system, and the northern terminus of the Mexican Central Railway, it is now a place of considerable importance. The American portion of its population, which is considerable, is distinctly divided into two classes—the honest hard-working railway people and their opposites, in every sense, the idle and ruffianly refuse, even when not actually criminal refugees, of our own wayward classes. Of course their presence attracts and breeds vice, and the Mexican officers are not at all pleased with such conditions. Paso del Norte is made historical by the fact that President Juarez made it his headquarters for nearly two years, and that during that time the lines he was able to hold against the French and Austrians occupying the city of Chihuahua and most of the State was all in fact that the republic of Mexico could claim to actually possess. It is declared by old soldiers of the California cavalry brigade, under West and Milton, which held New Mexico and Arizona for the Union, that the old church building at Paso del Norte was armed with Parrott guns and Spencer rifles furnished the Mexicans under secret orders from Washington, and that the Californians were always permitted to have furloughs whenever the British troops came near the Juarez headquarters. With these furloughs in possession the American soldiers managed to straggle across the line and congregate in Paso del Norte. It would be well if the same friendliness now prevailed, but the reverse seems to be the fact. There is at all times a desire on the border for adventure in pastures new, provided, however, they belong to our neighbors and not to ourselves.—Philadelphia Times.

"Why don't you get up, John?" spoke his wife, impatiently. "I've called you three times." "Is two small only any good?" asked the unconscious John.—Post.

AN EDEN IN THE SOUTH.

Explorer Tisdel's Story of the Argentine Republic—The Richest Country in the World.

Mr. W. P. Tisdel, the noted African explorer, has just returned from a trip to the Argentine Republic, says the New York Mail and Express. He was sent by the United States government some months ago to explore the Congo valley. His adverse report, published at the time of his return, brought forth a spirited letter from "Ujiji" Stanley, and the war has not yet ceased. Mr. Tisdel's report, however, was accepted, and the United States withdrew from the Berlin conference. His health was somewhat impaired by personal hardships in the dark continent, but he is still a man of wonderful vitality and powerful frame. A reporter conversed with him a few days ago about the magnificent El Dorado, as he termed the Argentine Republic.

"It is the Utopian country of the universe," he said. "In climate, resources, energy, and future possibilities that country is the greatest on the face of the earth. It fulfills in every way the dream of the poet, the reality of the liberty-loving, and the wealth that first led the adventurous Spaniards to seek out and conquer unknown worlds. The first impetus given to progress in the republic was when President Sarmiento inaugurated the system of public schools fifteen years ago. Since then an Eden of prosperity has followed."

"How about the attempt to assassinate Gen Roca, the President the other day?"

"That was the act of an insane man. Even model republics are not free from cranks. President Roca is as popular as the martyr President, Abraham Lincoln, and the country has made great progress during his term, which expires on the 8th of October. He will then resume his position as general-in-chief of the army. President Roca will be succeeded by Juarez Selman, who was elected by an overwhelming majority. A presidential term is six years. There are two political parties, the liberals and conservatives. The former has won every election, and perhaps will continue to do so for many years. The constitution and laws are fashioned after those of the United States. The republic contains 4,000,000 people and an area of 1,900,000 square miles. The seasons there are reversed. I left the last of May; it was very cold. Now it is dead-winter there. The climate surpasses that of any country. It is life-giving and invigorating. Beef hung up in the open air never decays, but dries to a state of preservation, and great quantities are shipped all over the world."

"What kind of a debt does the model republic groan under?"

"She smiles under a foreign and domestic debt of $120,000,000. The revenues for 1886 were $50,000,000 and the expenditures $30,000,000. The foreign commerce of 1884 amounted to a grand total of $150,000,000. Gold has recently been discovered in the province of Patagonia, and an expedition has been fitted out under the direction of the wealthy capitalist, Senor Lezama, who has gone thither to explore and report. Such things constantly keep the country booming and give capital a chance to invest. The republic owns the great province of the Missiones, considered the richest in the world.

"The falls of Ygazu, a few miles above the intersection of the rivers Ygazu and the Parana, on the borders of the Missiones, are considered superior in size, beauty, and sublimity to the falls of Niagara. The volume of water is not as great as the latter, but for picturesqueness they go far ahead of the world-famous falls. Lieut. Storms, a Swedish engineer, explored the Ygazu falls and took photographs, representing many views. These falls are just four hundred miles from Buenos Ayres and are reached at present by river navigation. A railroad is being rapidly built that will give tourists a chance to frequently visit the wonder of the southern continent."

"How does Buenos Ayres compare with other cities?"

"It is the New York of that continent. There is no city in the world to equal it in enterprise, and wealth according to its size. It has a population of 450,000, and supports twenty-eight daily newspapers. Everybody reads. The papers cost 2½ cents per copy. The majority are printed in Spanish, but nearly every language is represented. Buenos Ayres has more miles of street railroads than any other city in the world. The houses are generally one-story high. Of late, however, bank and public buildings have been erected three and four stories high. The only building material is brick. Telephones are everywhere, and the city is lit up with electricity. There are twelve theaters as finely appointed in every way as in Europe or the United States. Sarah Bernhardt was there when I left, electrifying large audiences by her wonderful impersonation of Fedora and other characters. I saw her. She hasn't lost her old-time vigor, but plays with wonderful animation."

"But the city is shut off from the world?"

"No, only shut off from the United States. From thirty to sixty mail steamers arrive monthly, and ride in one of the finest ports of entry in the world. One steamer departs monthly for the United States. There are several lines of steamers carrying frozen cattle to Europe. The bulk of the cattle imported to Europe that way goes from the Argentine Republic. One beef-extract company at Fray Bentos kills over twenty-five hundred head of cattle per day. Immigration is pouring in from Italy, Spain, France, Greece, and Ireland. The Americans do not come to any extent, although they would be gladly welcomed. The new city of La Plata, capital of the province of Buenos Ayres, twelve miles from the city of Buenos Ayres, is considered the most wonderful place of its size that has ever been built. It contains thirty thousand inhabitants. The city was constructed at a great expense by Gov. Rocha, within a period of five years. The public buildings are comparable only to some of the finest in the United States. Electricity, telephones, and all modern improvements are in use. Millions upon millions have been spent in beautifying the city and erecting handsome buildings."

"Well, have they many women in the model city?"

"Ah! yes, and the most beautiful that eyes ever gazed upon. Mr. Frank Vincent, author of 'The Land of the White Elephant,' came up with me. He declares that the Spanish women in the Argentine Republic are the most beautiful on the face of the globe."

"The simple throat bow, without ends, which is the proper finish for the short bonnet-strings of the season," says a fashion exchange, "does not interfere with the workings of the chin." Husbands will read this item with profound regret.—Burlington Free Press.

For Sale!

Prof. RICE'S nicely located House and two beautiful lots on Clinton street near the Park in the village of Charlevoix, are now for sale. Enquire of H. M. RICE, Alpena, Mich., or E. H. GREEN, Charlevoix, Mich. May 4, 1886.

Probate Notice.

State of Michigan, County of Charlevoix ss. Notice is hereby given, that by an order of the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix, made on the 4th day of October A. D. 1886, six months from that date were allowed for creditors to present their claims against the estate of [illegible] Anderson late of said County deceased, and that all creditors of said deceased are required to present their claims to said Probate Court, at the Probate office in the Township of Evangeline, for examination and allowance, on or before the seventh day of February next, and that such claims will be heard before said Court on Monday, the 6th day of December and on Monday, the 7th day of February next at one o'clock in the afternoon of each of those days.

Dated October 4th A. D. 1886.

JAMES A. KEAT, Judge of Probate.

Mortgage Sale.

Default has been made in the condition of a mortgage dated the 16th day of October, 1885, executed by Nicholas Morgan, (widower) to the John Wilkinson Company (a corporation organized and doing business under the laws of the State of Illinois) of Chicago, recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix county, Michigan, October 30th, 1885, in Liber [illegible] of Mortgages on page [illegible] and the power of sale therein has become operative, upon which there is claimed to be due [illegible] ... [illegible] by a sale as provided by statute of the premises therein described as Lots three (3) and four (4) in Block "G" in Nicholas Morgan's addition to South Boyne in Charlevoix county, Michigan, according to the recorded plat thereof, at public vendue to the highest bidder at the front door of the Court House, in the village of Boyne City, in Charlevoix county and State of Michigan, (that being the place of holding the Circuit Court for the county of Charlevoix) at 12 o'clock noon on the 3rd day of February, A. D. 1887.

Dated this 1st day of November, A. D. 1886.

THE JOHN WILKINSON COMPANY, Mortgagee.
FRED W. MAYNE, Atty for Mortgagee.

Mortgage Sale.

A mortgage dated the 12th of September, 1879, executed by Oliver S. Horton and Lucetta J. Horton to David Carpenter, recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix county, Michigan, September 20th, 1879 in Liber 4 of mortgages on page 80 upon which the whole amount of principal and interest viz $145.30 is past due and for the recovery of which no suit or proceedings has been commenced, will be foreclosed under the power of sale therein contained by a statutory sale of the premises therein described as the north west fractional quarter of the north-east quarter of section six, in town 31 north of Range 6, west, in Charlevoix county, Michigan, to the highest bidder at the front door of Lewis hall in the village of Boyne City, Mich., (that being the place of holding the Circuit court for Charlevoix county, Michigan, at 12 o'clock noon November 26th, 1886.

Dated August 31st 1886.

DAVID CARPENTER, Mortgagee.
HART & CALL, Att'ys for Mortgagee.

Mortgage Sale.

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the money due and secured by a certain mortgage dated the 4th day of March, A. D. 1882, executed by Carrie Watson of Tonnon, Charlevoix county and State of Michigan, to Martha J. Ayers of Charlevoix, Michigan, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said county of Charlevoix in Liber six (6) of mortgages on page five hundred and ten (510) on the 4th day of March, A. D. 1882, and the same is now due and owned by the said Martha J. Ayers, and whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of eight hundred and thirty one dollars and eighty-eight cents ($831.88) of principal and interest, and no suit or proceedings having been instituted at law or in equity to recover the debt now remaining secured by said mortgage or any part thereof. Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the said power of sale in said mortgage contained and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described [illegible] ... [illegible] on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1886, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day.

Dated at Charlevoix, the 18th day of August, 1886.

MARTHA J. AYERS, Mortgagee.
J. M. CLARK, Attorney for the Mortgagee.

Mortgage Sale.

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the money due and secured by a certain mortgage dated the 1st day of August A. D. 1881, executed by George B. Thompson and Ada B. Thompson, his wife of Boyne City, Charlevoix county and state of Michigan, to Alden Chamberlin of Charlevoix, Michigan which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Charlevoix in Liber five (5) of Mortgages on page three hundred and ten (310) on the 3d day of August A. D. 1881, and which said mortgage was on the 12th day of January A. D. 1882, assigned by said Alden Chamberlin to Martha J. Ayers and said assignment was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said county of Charlevoix on the 13th day of January A. D. 1882, in Liber five (5) of Mortgages on page five hundred and twenty four (524) and said mortgage is now due and owned by the said Martha J. Ayers, the said assignee, and whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of three hundred and seventy seven dollars ($377) of principal and interest [illegible] ... [illegible] at public vendue to the highest bidder at the front door of Lewis hall in the village of Boyne City, Charlevoix Co., state of Michigan, that being the place of holding the circuit court in and for said county of Charlevoix on the 30th day of November, A. D. 1886, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day.

Dated this 1st day of September, A. D. 1886.

MARTHA J. AYERS, Assignee.
J. M. CLARK, Attorney for Assignee.

CHARLEVOIX

Savings Bank.

Organized under the General Banking Law of the State of Michigan.

Henry Bennett, Pres.; John Nicholls, Vice Pres.; F. A. Smith, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:

Henry Bennett,	O. D. Wood,
John Nicholls,	A. Buttars,
A. H. Upright,	A. Fox,
F. A. Smith.

CAPITAL,	$25,000
SURPLUS,	2,000

The liabilities of Stockholders in all State banks as provided in Art. 3174, Sec. 40 of the Revised Statutes of the State of Michigan, is double the amount of stock taken, making a guaranteed fund of $50,000 to depositors. Superior facilities for the transaction of every legitimate branch of Banking business extended to our customers on terms as favorable as are consistent with safety.

Drafts drawn direct on the leading commercial cities of the world in large or small amounts. Money to loan on approved paper. Exchange bought and sold. Certificates of deposit issued bearing interest. We respectfully solicit your patronage.

CORRESPONDENTS:

NATIONAL PARK BANK	NEW YORK.
COMMERCIAL NAT. BANK	CHICAGO.
NAT. CITY BANK	GRAND RAPIDS.
DETROIT NAT. BANK	DETROIT.

NEW SHOP!

All kinds of

Blacksmithing,

At the

Shop in the Foundry Building.

Horseshoeing a specialty.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

M. SCOTT.

RIFENBURG MILLING CO.

Charlevoix, Mich.

Manufacturers of and Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

3 EXTRA GRADES OF

FLOUR

Feed, Corn Meal, Graham

We will do exchange work for farmers on short notice.

It Pays to Buy the

BEST BOATS!

The large number of boats I have built for resorters, are advertisements of what I have done and can do in boat building. Call and get references.

I will guarantee the best modelled, easiest rowing and best sailing boats in Northern Michigan for the

LEAST MONEY!

All kinds of Oars, and Paddles made.

LEAVE ORDERS

with me before for next summer's use. I am bound to please you.

Special facilities for stocking boat liveries.

J. BEAUVAIS.

D. Sherwood & Co

We are now receiving our Fall and Winter Stock of

BOOTS

AND

SHOES,

which is the most complete in all respects ever brought here and embraces

Lumbermen's Rubbers, Wool Boots, Shoe Pacs, And Everything

Usually kept in a country shoe store.

We also have some big bargains in Women's and Misses Shoes for common wear.

Womens grain shoes for $1.25 Misses grain shoes for $1.00. This Shoe cannot be undersold by any of the dealers.

Also quite an assortment in fine Shoes to please all, having taken advantage of the market and purchased them cheap. We shall give our customers the advantage of the low figures.

A. D. Bradbeer,

PHOTOGRAPHER.

OFFICE OVER

UPRIGHT & EMREY'S STORE.

I will make Cabinet Photographs,

A SPECIALTY!

At Lowest Prices

Consistent with

GOOD WORK.

McCABE'S

MARKET

Is supplied with

All Kinds Of

MEATS

At Lowest Prices,

CASH PAID FOR FAT CATTLE, Hides, Sheep and Hogs.

Corner of State & Mason sts.,

JOHN McCABE.

1-3 OFF SALE!

At Miss Spaulding's

MILLINERY ROOMS,

I will sell my entire stock of goods, except Yarns and Crewels at greatly reduced prices for cash only.

Any lady purchasing goods to the amount of $5.00 will receive a present of her choice of any untrimmed felt hat in the store.

Come early and secure a Bargain.

MISS L. SPAULDING.

Offices To Rent.

A number of desirable offices to rent in the [illegible] block. Inquire of B. [illegible]

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Dr. Crouter.

Take The Sentinel.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

CRUICKSHANK & GRIER, Attorneys at Law. Office in Buttars' Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

JOSEPH M. CLARK, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

PAILTHORPE & GEORGE, Attorneys and Solicitors, Petoskey Mich.

HART & CALL, Attorneys, Petoskey, Mich.

R. L. CORBETT, Attorney at law, Boyne City, Mich. (Prosecuting Attorney of Charlevoix County.)

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

L. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

WM. M. PRESTON, M. D. Physician and Surgeon, [illegible] of Ingleside, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. A. CHRISTFIELD, M. D., Office at residence, Main st. Charlevoix, Mich.

SOCIETIES.

G. A. R.—Baxter Post No. 119, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows hall.

MASONIC.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, F. A. A. M. Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over Post-office.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake lodge No. 251, meets second and third Tuesday every month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

K. O. T. M.—Royal Tent No. 138, meets second Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows Hall.

L. O. L.—True Blues No. 157, meet Saturday on or before full moon in Odd Fellows hall.

EMMET CHAPTER No. 104, R. A. M., meets at Petoskey on the first Monday of each month.

IVANHOE COMMANDERY No. 130, K. T., meets at their Asylum in Petoskey on the first Thursday of each month.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY meets every Tuesday evening at the homes of the members, during the fall and winter months.

CHARLEVOIX IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION meets at Charlevoix Village Hall on the second Monday of each month, at 7:30 p. m.

President—Byron S—
First Vice President—W. A. Smith.
Second Vice President—Robert Miller.
Recording Secretary—Chas. J. Strang.
Financial Secretary—B. [illegible]
Treasurer—Albert F. Mason.
Executive Committee—J. Milo Eaton, A. D. Cruickshank and E. F. Parmelee.
Corresponding Committee—H. Lee Iddings, W. A. Brown and C. T. [illegible]
Reception Committee—F. W. Mayne, L. D. Bartholomew, [illegible] Stockman, R. Cooper, Geo. W. Crouter, R. W. Miller, [illegible], W. C. Newman, E. M. Clark, H. Iordan.

All those wishing information regarding Charlevoix, the largest and most thriving town in the whole Pine Lake Region, will do well to address the corresponding committee. Unequalled opportunities for all classes of manufacturing.

HOTELS AND RESTAURANTS.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,

RICHARD COOPER, Prop'r.

Charlevoix, - - - Mich.

Every convenience for the traveling public, and headquarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids Stages.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,

R. A. Campbell, Prop'r.

Charlevoix, - - - Mich.

The most central location. Good Sample Room. Telephone connections. Only [illegible] feet to Steamboat landing.

NEWMAN HOUSE.

W. C. Newman, Prop'r.

Charlevoix, - - - Mich.

Fitted up with a view to the Comfort of the Traveling Public. Good Stabling furnished. Central location.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,

L. N. Pearl. Prop.

East Jordan, - - - Mich.

Come and see us. Telephone connections.

BANK.

Bank of Charlevoix.

Drafts on New York, Chicago, Detroit and Grand Rapids. Bank Remittances or Canadian Orders to any person in Europe. Loans and Discounts on first mortgage on Real Estate. Railroad and Steamship Tickets to and from any place in Europe.

BROWN & CO.

PILE DRIVER.

ALLEN'S Steam Pile Driver. Contracts taken and Dock work attended at any point between Traverse City and Mackinaw. L. S. Allen, Charlevoix, Mich.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

B. SUFFIELD, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, [illegible] Cases, etc. Charlevoix, Mich.

BARBER.

JAY PRICE, Barber, east side of Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. R. and J. S. DIXON, Surveyors and Engineers, Charlevoix, Mich. [Deputy County Surveyors Charlevoix county.]

DENTIST.

N. J. PERRY, Dentist. Office in Weed's Drug Store, Charlevoix, Mich.

MILLINERY

AND

FANCY GOODS!

Mrs. ELLA SMITH & Miss ANNIE COOPER

Have opened a store in the Ingleside Building, and invite their friends to call and inspect their fine stock of

FANCY GOODS!

Of all varieties usually kept in a first-class millinery store.

Washburn & Ackert,

FOUNDREYMEN,

MACHINISTS,

And Manufacturers of The

Charlevoix Plow.

J. A. HEATH,

FURNITURE

AND

JOBBING SHOP,

Antrim Street,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

All classes of furniture made to order, furniture repaired, and all work of all kind promptly attended to, and satisfaction guaranteed.

Old newspapers sold at this office.

THE MILLER'S MAID.

There is a lonely mill, close beside the little hamlet of Udolf, near the Rhine shore, between the villages of Hersel and Ursel, on the left bank below Bonn. This mill is said to have been the scene of the following story:

It was on a Sunday morning, "ages long ago, that the miller of this mill, and his whole family, went forth to hear the holy mass at the nearest church, in the village of Hersel. The mill, which was also his residence, was left in charge of a servant-girl named Hannchen, or Jenny, a stout-hearted lass, who had long lived with him in that capacity. An infant child, of an age unfit for church, was left in her charge likewise.

The girl was busily employed in preparing dinner for the return of her master and his family, when who should enter all of a sudden but an old sweetheart of hers, named Heinrich Bottnlor. He was an idle, graceless fellow, whom the miller had forbidden his house, but whom Jenny, with the amiable perversity peculiar to her sex, only liked, perhaps, all the better because others gave him no countenance. She was glad to see him, and she told him so, too; and although in the midst of her work, she not only got him something to eat at once, but also found time to sit down with him and have a gossip, while he dispatched the food she set before him. As he ate, however, he let fall his knife.

"Pick that up, my lass," said he, in a joking way to the good-natured girl.

"Nay, Heinrich," she replied, "your back should be more supple than mine, for you have less work to make it stiff. I labor all day long, and you do nothing. But, never mind! 'twould go hard with me an I refused to do more than that for you, bad though you be."

This was spoken half sportively, and half in good earnest; for, kind-hearted as the girl was, and much as she liked the scapegrace, she was too honest and industrious herself to encourage or approve of idleness and a suspicious course of life in anyone else, however dear to her. She stooped down, accordingly, to pick up the knife. As she was in the act of rising, however, the treacherous villain drew a dagger from under his coat, and caught her by the nape of the neck, gripping her throat firmly with his fingers to prevent her screaming the while.

"Now, lass," he said, swearing out a bad oath at the same time, "where is your master's money? I'll have that or your life; so take your choice."

The terrified girl would fain have parleyed with the ruffian, but he would hear nothing she could say.

"Your master's money or your life, lass!" was all the answer he vouchsafed to her entreaties and adjurations.

"Choose at once," was the only alternative he offered her; "the grave or the gold!"

She saw that there was no hope of mercy at his hands; and, as she saw it, her native resolution awoke in her bosom. Like the generality of her sex, she was timid at trifles; a scratch was a subject of fear to her; a drop of blood caused her to faint; an unwonted sound filled her soul with fear in the night. But when her energies were aroused by an adequate cause, she proved, as her sex has ever done, that in courage, in endurance, in presence of mind, and in resources for every emergency, she far surpassed the bravest and coolest man.

"Well, well, Heinrich!" she said, resignedly, "What is to be, must be. But if you take the money, I shall even go along with ye. This will be no home for me any more. But ease your grip of my neck a little—don't squeeze so hard; I can't move, you hug me so tight. And if I can't stir, you can't get the money; that's clear, you know. Besides, time presses, and if it be done at all, it must be done quickly, as the house-folk will shortly be back from Hersel."

The ruffian relaxed his grip and finally let go his hold. Her reasons were all cogent with his rapacity.

"Come," she said; "quick! quick!—no delay. The money is in master's bedroom."

She tripped upstairs, gaily as a lark; he followed closely at her heels. She led the way into her master's bedroom, and pointed out the coffer in which his money was secured.

"Here," she said, reaching him an axe which lay in a corner of the room, "this will wrench it open at once; and while you are tying it up, I shall just step upstairs to my own apartment, and get a few things ready for our flight, as well as my own little savings for the last five years."

The ruffian was thrown off his guard by her openness and apparent anxiety to accompany him. Like all egotists, he deceived himself, when self-deceit was most certain to be his destruction.

"Go lass," was all he said; "but be not long. This job will be done in a twinkling."

She disappeared at the words. He immediately broke open the chest, and was soon engaged in rummaging its contents.

As he was thus employed, however, absorbed in the contemplation of his prey, and eagerly occupied in securing it on his person, the brave-hearted girl stole down the stairs on tip-toe. Creeping softly along the passages, she speedily gained the door of the chamber unseen by him, and likewise unheard. It was but the work of a moment for her to turn the key in the wards and lock him in. This done, she rushed forth to the outer door of the mill and gave the alarm.

"Fly! fly!" she shrieked to the child, her master's little boy, an infant five years old, the only one within sight or sound of her. "Fly! fly to father! fly on your life! Tell him we shall all be murdered an he haste not back! Fly! fly!"

The child, who was at play before the door, at once obeyed the energetic command of the brave girl, and sped as fast as his tiny legs could carry him on the road by which he knew his parents would return from church. Hannchen cheered him onward, and inspired his little heart as he ran.

"Bless thee, boy! bless thee!" she exclaimed, in the gladness of her heart; "an master arrives in time, I will offer up a taper on the altar of our blessed Lady of the Kreutzberg, by Bonn."

She sat down on the stone bench by the mill door to ease her over-excited spirits; and she wept, as she sat, at the thoughts of her happy deliverance.

"Thank God!" she ejaculated, "thank God for this escape. Oh! the deadly villain! and I so fond of him too!"

A shrill whistle from the grated window of the chamber in which she had shut the ruffian Heinrich, caught her ear, and made her start at once to her feet.

"Diether! Diether!" she heard him shout, "catch the child, and come hither! I am fast. Come hither! Bring the boy here, and kill the girl!"

She glanced hastily up at the casement from which the imprisoned villain's head beckoned to some one in the distance, and then looked anxiously after her infant emissary. The little messenger held on his way unharmed, however; and she thought to herself that the alarm was a false one, raised to excite her fears, and overcome her resolution. Just, however, as the child reached a hollow spot in the next field—the channel of a natural drain, then dry with the heats of summer—she saw another ruffian start up from the bed of the drain, and catching him in his arms, hasten toward the mill, in accordance with the directions of his accomplice. In a moment she perceived her danger, and in a moment more she formed her future plan of proceeding. Retreating into the mill, she doubly locked and bolted the door—the only apparent entrance to the edifice, every other means of obvious access to the interior being barred by means of strong iron gratings fixed against all the windows; and then took her post at an upper casement, determined to await patiently either her master's return, and her consequent delivery from that dangerous position, or her own death, if it were inevitable.

"Never," said she to herself, "never shall I leave my master's house a prey to such villains, or permit his property to be carried off before my eyes by them, while I have life and strength to defend it."

She had barely time to secure herself within, when the ruffian from without, holding the hapless child in one hand, and a long sharp knife in the other, assailed the door with kicks, and curses, and imprecations of the most dreadful character.

"Confound thee!" he cried, applying the foulest epithets of which the free-speaking Teutonic language are so copious; "open the door, or I'll break it in on ye!"

"If you can, you may," was all the noble girl replied. "God is greater than you, and in him I put my trust."

"Cut the brat's throat!" roared the imprisoned ruffian above; "that will bring her to reason."

Stout-hearted as poor Hannchen was, she quailed at this cruel suggestion. For a moment her resolution wavered; but it was only for a moment. She saw that her own death was certain if she admitted the assailant, and she knew that her master would be robbed. She had no reason to hope that even the life of the infant would be spared by her compliance. It was to risk all against nothing. Like a discreet girl, she consequently held fast in her resolve to abide as she was while life remained, or until assistance could reach her.

"An ye open not the door," shouted the villain from without, accompanying his words with the vilest abuse, and the fiercest imprecations. "I'll hack this whelp's limbs to pieces with my knife, and then burn the mill over your head. 'Twill be a merry blaze, I trow."

"I put my trust in God," replied the dauntless girl, "never shall ye set foot within these walls whilst I have life to prevent ye."

The ruffian laid the infant for a moment on the sward as he sought about for combustibles wherewith to execute his latter threat. In this search he espied, perhaps, the only possible clandestine entrance to the building. It was a large aperture in the wall, communicating with the great wheel and the other machinery of the mill, and was a point entirely unprotected, for the reason that the simple occupants had never supposed it feasible for any one to seek admission through such a dangerous inlet. Elated with his discovery, the ruffian returned to the infant, and, tying the hands and feet of the little innocent, threw it on the ground even as a butcher will fling a lamb destined for the slaughter, to await his time for slaying. He then stole back to the aperture, by which he hoped to effect an entrance. All this was unseen by the dauntless girl within.

In the meantime her mind was busied with a thousand cogitations. She clearly perceived that no means would be left untried to effect an entrance, and she knew that on the exclusion of her foe depended her own existence. A thought struck her.

"It is Sunday," she said to herself; "the mill never works on the Sabbath; suppose I set it agoing now? It can be seen afar off; and haply my master, or some of his neighbors, wondering at the sight, may hasten hither to know the cause. A lucky thought, she exclaimed; "'tis God sent it to me!"

No sooner said than done. Being all her life accustomed to mill-gear, it was but the work of a moment for her to set the machinery in motion. A brisk breeze which sprang up, as it were by a special interposition of Providence, at once set the sails flying. The arms of the huge engine whirled round with fearful rapidity; the great wheel slowly revolved on its axle; the smaller gear turned, and creaked, and groaned, according as they came into action; the mill was in full operation.

It was at that very instant that the ruffian Diether had succeeded in squeezing himself through the aperture in the wall, and getting safely lodged in the interior of the great drum-wheel. His dismay, however, was indescribable when he began to be whirled about with its rotation, and found that all his efforts to put a stop to the powerful machinery which set it in motion, or to extricate himself from his perilous situation, were fruitless. His cries were most appalling; his shrieks were truly fearful; his curses and imprecations were horrible to hear. Hannchen hastened to the spot, and saw him caught, like the reptile as he was, in his own trap. It need not be added that she did not liberate him. She knew that he would be more frightened than hurt, if he kept within his rotatory prison; and she knew, also, that unless he attempted to escape, there was no danger of his falling out of it, even though he were insensible and inanimate all the while. In the meantime, the wheel went round and round with its steady, unceasing motion; and round and round went the ruffian along with it, steadily and unceasingly, too. In vain did he promise the stout-hearted girl to work her no harm; in vain did he implore her pity on his hapless condition; in vain did he pray to all the powers of heaven, and adjure all the powers of darkness to his aid. She would not hear nor heed him; and, unheard and unheeded of them likewise, muttering curses, he was whirled round and round in the hurtling wheel, until at last feeling and perception failed him, and he saw and heard no more. He fell senseless on the bottom of the engine, but even then his inanimate body continued to be whirled round, and round, and round, as before; the brave girl not daring to trust to appearances in connection with such a villain, and being, therefore, afraid to suspend the working of the machinery, or stop the mill-gear and hinder from turning at their full speed.

A loud knocking at the door was shortly after heard, and she hastened thither. It was her master and his family, accompanied by several of their neighbors. The unaccustomed appearance of the mill-sails in full swing on the Sunday, had, as she anticipated, attracted their attention, and they had hastened home from church for the purpose of ascertaining the cause of the phenomenon. The father bore his little boy in his arms; he had cut the cords wherewith the child was tied, but was unable to obtain any account of the extraordinary circumstances that had occurred from the affrighted innocent.

Hannchen, in a few words, told all; and then the spirit which had sustained her so long and so well while the emergency lasted, forsook her at once as it passed away. She fell senseless into the arms of the miller's eldest son, and was with great difficulty recovered.

The machinery of the mill was at once stopped, and the inanimate ruffian dragged forth from the great wheel. The other ruffian was brought down from his prison. Both were then bound, and sent off to Bonn under a strong escort; and, in due course, came under the hands of the executioner.

It was not long till Hannchen became a bride. The bridegroom was the miller's son, who had loved her long and well, but with a passion previously unrequited. They lived thenceforward happily together for many years, and died at a good old age, surrounded by a flourishing family. To the last hour of her life, this brave-hearted woman would shudder as she told the tale of her danger, and her deliverance.

The Boston Evening Record alleges that a member of our own Senate on Bacon Hill in a recent speech said: "Such a trial is a parody on justice. I can compare it to the trial scene in 'Pickwick,' where poor Pickwick is sued by the Widow Bedott!" This is paralleled by a speech by a Boston member of the House a few years ago, who in anger against opponents of a measure he was advocating, burst out: "As Shakspeare said to his mother, 'Assume a virtue if you have it not.'"—Lowell Courier.

Only the all night saloons were open. The early morning bartenders are a keen-eyed and suspicious generation, prone to doubt the financial soundness of the fly-by-night caught unaware by the rising sun. The thirsty caller in this instance had about him that look of impecuniosity which led the man behind the bar to insist on being paid before passing over the bottle. The astonished customer eyed him a second or two and then ejaculated: "——! pardner, does it kill at sight?"—San Franciscan.

A worthy clergyman in a neighboring town is very absent-minded and has a short memory. It is a common habit with him in the pulpit to forget something, and then, after sitting down, to rise up and commence his supplementary remarks with the expression, "By the way." A few Sundays ago he got half through a prayer, when he hesitated, forgot what he was about, and sat down abruptly without closing. In a moment or two he arose, and, pointing his forefinger at the amazed congregation, he said, "O, by the way, amen!"

"When a man drowns himself in the river at Minneapolis," said a Minneapolis man the other day, "he floats off down to St. Paul, and when he gets within the limits of that city they fish him out and put his name in the directory to swell the population." "No," replied the St. Paul man to whom the Minneapolitan was talking, "you are entirely mistaken. The idea is the authorities in Minneapolis want to get rid of paying the burial expenses, and so let the cadaver float over to St. Paul, where they know it will be taken care of."—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

The base ball audiences at Oshkosh, Wis., are largely composed of ladies, who are struck on the game, and the audience makes the point never to cheer a good play of the opposition. This silence was broken, however, on a recent trip of the St. Paul club to that place, by a traveling man from Chicago, who seemed to think that St. Paul was not getting a fair show, and showed his sympathy for the under dog by giving vent to the funniest cackling laugh ever heard whenever the visitors caught a swift grounder or made a good hit. Finally St. Paul made a fine double play. The usual silence followed, broken into by the shrill clarion crow of the Chicago man. His neighbor, a fair Oshkosh virgin, turned upon him with "I hate you, there!" In relating the incident he concluded with the remark: "I died right there."

Liszt and Paganini compared: Both indulged in tricky effects calculated to lessen their dignity as artists by their yielding to the promptings of an egotistical nature. In spite of this, paradoxical as it may seem, beneath the artificiality of mere technical acquirements of each, lay a deep poetic power of expression, which ever and anon asserted itself to an extent sufficient to move their auditors to tears. The strong personal magnetism of both, although of widely different types, also served to enhance the impression produced by their interpretation, during inspired moments, of phrases pregnant with emotional charms and sensuous beauty. On the other hand, Liszt, although exhibiting a predilection for his own compositions, was perfectly acquainted with the works of all schools, and in his earlier days won abundant renown by his masterly treatment of a most varied repertoire. Paganini, however, restricted himself absolutely to his own productions.—The Keynote.

A Young Statesman.

Childhood driven into a corner, but yet preserving a respect for the truth worthy of the hero of the cherry-tree story, is often very diplomatic in the form of answer it adopts to avoid the consequences of the anger it has in some manner incurred. A youngster who had accompanied its parents on a visit to its aunt, extricated itself from a dilemma of this kind in a very statesmanlike manner. A jar of preserves had effected a very mysterious disappearance during the night, and the fact was mentioned at the breakfast table next morning. Denials of guilt came from every side, but it was noticed that this particular youngster was silent.

"And what have you to say, Georgie," finally said his aunt, turning toward him. And then very honestly and solemnly came the response:

"My pa don't allow me to talk at the table."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Never Give Up.

If you are suffering with low and depressed spirits, loss of appetite, general debility, disordered blood, weak constitution, headache, or any disease of a bilious nature, by all means procure a bottle of Electric Bitters. You will be surprised to see the rapid improvement that will follow; you will be inspired with new life; strength and activity will return; pain and misery will cease, and henceforth you will rejoice in the praise of Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Dr. G. W. Crouter.

Miraculous Escape.

W. W. Reed, druggist, of Winchester, Ind., writes: "One of my customers, Mrs. Louisa Pike, Bartonia, Randolph Co., Ind., was a long sufferer with Consumption, and was given up to die by her physicians. She heard of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and began buying it of me. In six months' time she walked to this city, a distance of six miles, and is now so much improved she has quit using it. She feels she owes her life to it." Free Trial Bottles at Dr. G. W. Crouter's.

TIME CARDS OF STEAMERS.

STANDARD TIME.

Charlevoix and East Jordan.

STR. HAZELLE, Capt. John Mason. Leaving Charlevoix at 6:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. and returning leave East Jordan for Charlevoix at 9:30 a. m. and 4 p. m., touching at intermediate points both ways.

East Jordan and Charlevoix.

STR. NORTH STAR, Capt. F. Carver. Leave East Jordan at 6:30 a. m. and 2 p. m. and Charlevoix at 9:30 a. m., touching at way ports.

Harbor Springs, Charlevoix & E Jordan

STR. THOS. FRIANT, Capt. R. Vanderburg. MORNING: Leave Harbor Springs 7:00, Petoskey 7:30, Charlevoix 9:30, arrive East Jordan 11:30. AFTERNOON: Leave East Jordan 1:30, Charlevoix 4:00, Petoskey, 5:30, arrive, Harbor Spring, 6:00.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN LINE.

PROP. CHAMPLAIN, Capt. Ed. Carey. Going North, Chicago Tuesdays 9 p. m.; Charlevoix, Thursdays 12 p. m., Cheboygan, Fridays 2 30 p. m. Going South, Cheboygan, Fridays 9 p. m.; Charlevoix, Saturdays 1 p. m.; Milwaukee, Mondays 3 p. m.; Chicago, Mondays 11 p. m.

PROP. LAWRENCE, Capt. [illegible]. Going North, Chicago Fridays 9 p. m.; Charlevoix, Sundays 3 p. m.; Cheboygan, Mondays 2 a. m. Going South, Cheboygan, Mondays 1 p. m.; Charlevoix, Tuesdays 5 a. m.; Milwaukee, Wednesdays 4 p. m.; Chicago, Thursdays 1 p. m.

Upright & Co., Agents, Charlevoix.

HANNAH, LAY & CO'S BOATS.

CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS, Capt. G. E. Wilkins. Going North, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Leave Traverse City 7 a. m.; Northport 9:30; Charlevoix 11:30; Petoskey 1:30 p. m.; Harbor Springs 2; Cross Village 4:30; Mackinac Island 7:45 arriving at St. Ignace 8:30.

Going South, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Leave St. Ignace 7 a. m.; Mackinac Island 7:15; Cross Village 10:15; Harbor Springs 12:45 p. m.; Petoskey 1:15; Charlevoix 3:30; Northport 5:45 p. m.; arriving at Traverse City at 7:45 p. m.

T. S. FAXTON, Capt. A. G. [illegible]. Going North, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Leave Traverse City 7 a. m.; [illegible] Norwood 10:30; Charlevoix 12 m.; Petoskey 1:30 p. m.; Harbor Springs 2; Cross Village 4:30; Mackinac Island 7:45; arriving at St. Ignace 8:30.

Going South, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Leave St. Ignace 6 a. m.; Mackinac Island 7; Cross Village 10:15; Harbor Springs 12:45 p. m.; Petoskey 1:15; Charlevoix 2:45; Norwood 4:15; [illegible] arriving at Traverse City 7:45 p. m.

The City of Traverse leaves Chicago dock above 12th street every Saturday evening at 7, arriving at Traverse City Monday morning. Returning leaves Traverse City Wednesday evening at 7.

J. L. Hurd & Co., Agents, Charlevoix.

Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad.

IN EFFECT SEPTEMBER 27, 1886.

(Trains run on Central Standard Time.)

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS		No. 3	No. 1	No. 5	No. 4
Mackinaw City	Lv	7 15 a. m.	9 50 p. m.
Petoskey		[illegible]	10 51
Boyne Falls		[illegible]	11 [illegible]
Mancelona		[illegible]	[illegible]
Walton Junc.		[illegible]	[illegible]		5 15 p. m.
Cadillac	Ar / Lv	[illegible]	[illegible]		[illegible]
Le Roy		[illegible]	[illegible]		[illegible]
Reed City	Ar / Lv	[illegible]	[illegible]		[illegible]
Big Rapids		[illegible]	[illegible]		[illegible]
Stanwood		[illegible]	[illegible]		[illegible]
Howard City		[illegible]	[illegible]		[illegible]
D. G. H. & M. Cross		[illegible]	[illegible]		[illegible]
Grand Rapids	Ar / Lv	[illegible]	[illegible]		[illegible]
Plainwell		[illegible]	[illegible]		[illegible]
Kalamazoo	Ar / Lv	[illegible]	[illegible]		[illegible]
Sturgis		[illegible]	[illegible]		[illegible]
Ft Wayne	Ar / Lv	[illegible]	[illegible]		[illegible]
Richmond		[illegible]	[illegible]
Cincinnati	Ar	[illegible]	[illegible]

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS		No. 2	No. 4	No. 6	No. 8
Cincinnati, leave		7 35 a. m.	7 20 p. m.
Richmond		[illegible]	[illegible]
Fort Wayne	Ar / Lv	[illegible]	[illegible]
Sturgis		[illegible]	[illegible]
Kalamazoo	Ar / Lv	[illegible]	[illegible]
Plainwell		[illegible]	[illegible]
Grand Rapids	Ar / Lv	[illegible]	[illegible]
D. G. H. & M. cross		[illegible]	[illegible]
Howard City		[illegible]	[illegible]
Stanwood		[illegible]	[illegible]
Big Rapids		[illegible]	[illegible]
Reed City	Ar / Lv	[illegible]	[illegible]
Le Roy		[illegible]	[illegible]
Cadillac	Ar / Lv	[illegible]	[illegible]
Walton Junc.		[illegible]	[illegible]
Mancelona		[illegible]	[illegible]
Boyne Falls		[illegible]	[illegible]
Petoskey		[illegible]	[illegible]
Mackinaw City		[illegible]	[illegible]

C. L. LOCKWOOD, Gen'l Pass Agent.

CHARLEVOIX

Manufacturing Co.

Charlevoix, Mich.,

Manufacturers of

Sash and Doors,

Blinds, Mouldings etc.

NEWELL

Posts, Banisters & Stair Rails

kept in stock.

Window & Door Frames made to order.

All Kinds of

Building Material

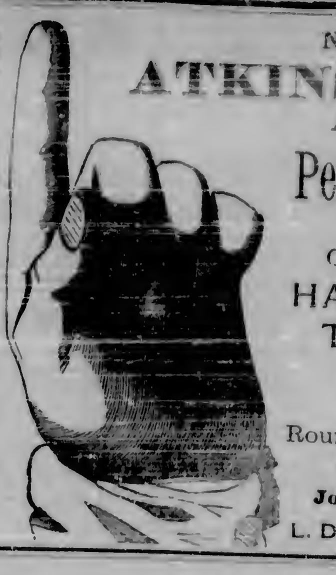
Kept constantly on hand.

PLANS & SPECIFICATIONS,

Furnished on application.

Cottages made a specialty also contracting and building.

Correspondence solicited.



NEW

ATKINS SAWS

AND

Perfection Axes

Complete stock of

HARDWARE, TINWARE, & NOTIONS

Round Oak & Square Base STOVES.

Job & Tin Work.

L. D. Bartholomew & Co

THE BEST

Drugs, Confectionery, Stationery,

BOOKS & PAPERS,

FISHING TACKLE, Etc,

Soda Water, Mineral Water, Cigars,

Are found at PERRY WEED'S.

The only News stand in town.

BURNS & SCROGGIE'S

LIVERY STABLE

CHARLEVOIX.

The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Drivers furnished if desired. Rates low.

Burns & Scroggie, Charlevoix.

SILVER WARE.

I have just received a very fine stock of Silver Ware of the latest varieties and can sell them at lowest figures.

My Stock of

Watches, Clocks, Chains, Pins, Gold & Silver headed Canes etc. is complete.

If you want to select nice Xmas Presents, just call and see what I can give you for a small sum.

All classes of Repairing done quickly.

C. H. BELLINGER.

J. T. Kirkpatrick,

ARCHITECT

AND CONTRACTOR,

—ON—

Charlevoix Summer Resorts.

I have the Plans of 10 Cottages of different designs that can be seen by parties wanting to build cottages.

I employ only first-class workmen, both

Carpenters and Painters.

Work intrusted to my care will have prompt attention.

J. T. KIRKPATRICK.

GELLICK & INGALLS

Dealers in

Choice Wines,

Fine Liquors

EXCELLENT CIGARS.

We call special attention to our

Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

We also keep continually on draught

Milwaukee Export and lager Beer.

Bridge St., 1st door south of Sentinel.

Take The Sentinel.

Fox & Miller

Offer a

Mammoth Stock

OF

BOOTS, SHOES

and other

FOOT WEAR,

--AT--

LOWER PRICES

Than can be found elsewhere in the County.

We have just secured a

FIRST-CLASS

SHOEMAKER,

And will make Repairing a specialty.

We have the Goods and we are bound to sell them.

NOTHING SHODDY.

Fox & Miller.

MONEY TO LOAN,

At current rates of interest, on

Approved Real Estate Security.

School Bonds bought and sold.

MILEY & CHAPIN,

Boyne City.

BATH & BARBER

ROOMS.

Hot and Cold Baths and Sea Water Baths at the Barber Shop, 1st door north of Bridge St. House.

If you want a good place to get a shave, hair-cut or bath call and see me.

JAY L. PRICE.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

SMITH & PARMELEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

[illegible]

A man in Pennsylvania advances the theory that natural gas is confined in the earth in a fluid shape, and has filed a caveat for a patent for a contrivance to bring the alleged fluid to the surface and into receptacles for its preservation. If the theory proves to be correct it may be considered the greatest discovery of the age.

A remarkable occurrence in Newark, N. J., the other night deserves more than passing comment. A woman informed her husband that there was a man under the bed. After being requested to look nine times he arose and looked and there was a man! This is the second time this has happened since the discovery of America.

A terrible panic occurred on board the ocean steamer America during her recent voyage from Queenstown to New York. A storm swept the waves completely over the "bridge" and a cry of fire increased the alarm. Captain Grace stood on deck forty-two hours, and when the danger was passed the reaction caused a congestive chill, which proved fatal. Two passengers went insane, and one of them suicided by jumping overboard.

A reporter for a paper in an Iowa town where a Chinaman had set up a laundry conceived the idea of getting a "scoop" on all the other papers in the State by interviewing the Celestial in regard to the outrages on American missionaries in China. He spent half an hour in trying to make Mr. Toy Lung understand his questions, and then came away with the following result inscribed in his note-book: "Towel fi cen; sockee fi cen; shultee ten cen; nighter-shultee fifteen cen; want washee?"

Misers will continue to hoard gold, and thieves will break in and steal said gold with equal regularity. A poor old man in New York found great happiness in his lonely lodging in counting his store of nearly two thousand dollars, all in British sovereigns and half sovereigns. A painter who watched him found great pleasure in stealing the gold, and the police found great pleasure in capturing the thief. Only a portion of the gold was recovered. The miser had no confidence in bank vaults.

The Superintendent of the Foreign Mail Office at Washington in his annual report says the total weight of letters dispatched to foreign countries during the past year was 500,198 pounds, and of papers 1,184 tons. The report presents the service of different countries. On the basis of population Canada heads the list, with one office to every 658 inhabitants, Switzerland second, with one to every 964; the United States third, one to every 1,092 inhabitants. The United States is first in railway service, with 117,946 miles.

EPITOME OF THE WEEK.

Interesting News Compilation.

FROM WASHINGTON.

[illegible]

THE EAST.

[illegible] Forepaugh's $10,000 beauty, was murdered on the 28th on the railroad track at Flemington Junction, Pa., by unknown parties.

Leading wire manufacturers assembled at Pittsburgh on the 28th and formed a National Association, C. B. Washburn, of Worcester, Mass., being elected president.

Three acres of coal were ablaze on the 31st ult. at the Standard mine, near Mount Pleasant, Pa., and it would be months before mining could be resumed. Six hundred men were thrown out of work.

After a tour of four months in Europe, Rev. Henry Ward Beecher arrived in New York on the 31st ult.

WEST AND SOUTH.

An engine and seven loaded cars were wrecked and burned in a collision on the 27th near Cedar Lake, Ind. Two drovers were killed and four other persons received fatal injuries.

The statement was made on the 27th by Mr. Frothingham, the Adams Express messenger who was recently robbed on the San Francisco road, that the perpetrator gave his name as Jim Cummings, the last of the Jesse James gang.

On the the 27th Shipley, Dorsey & Co., wholesale dry-goods dealers at Cincinnati, asked an extension of time from their creditors. The liabilities were placed at $820,000.

A fire on the 27th destroyed sixteen structures, including two hotels and the principal business houses at Pocahontas, Va. One man perished in the flames.

The Georgia evangelists, Sam Jones and Sam Small, closed their meetings in Toronto, Ont., on the 27th, in the presence of five thousand persons.

At Kansas City Rev. R. T. Pierce, a Methodist pastor at Butler, Mo., was beheaded on the 25th by the street cable cars.

County Treasurer Ward was accosted at Little Rock, Ark., on the 27th by two men, who knocked him senseless, and then taking his keys robbed his office of over $12,000.

After a session in Chicago lasting twenty days the General Episcopal convention adjourned sine die on the 28th.

Near Flat Rock, Ky., a log-cabin was burned on the night of the 26th, the wife and five children of William Poe, and Misses Alice Carnes and Sallie Adams perishing in the flames.

On the morning of the 28th the limited express train on the St. Paul road ran into an open switch at Rio, Wis., and was derailed. The cars at once took fire and the injured passengers were roasted. It was believed that twenty-six lives were lost. Eleven charred corpses had been found.

A train on the Wabash road which left St. Louis on the 28th collided with a freight train when ten miles out. Both engines were wrecked and an engineer and brakeman were killed.

William M. Dustin & Co.'s banking-house at Lincoln, Ill., closed its doors on the 28th. The liabilities were $188,000 and the assets $97,000.

A colored woman at Forest Green, Mo., locked her three children and two others in her house a few evenings ago and went to church. The house took fire from a lamp and four children were burned to death.

The tenth annual convention of the American Humane Association will be held at the Grand Hotel in Cincinnati, O., November 17, 18 and 19, 1886. The subjects for discussion include insufficiency of winter shelter and food for cattle; hydrophobia; protection of birds; humane benevolence; training of horses; the duty of the State toward waifs; places of amusement; protection of youth against vice and crime, and methods for the organization of humane work.

William Klinkhamer, of Chicago, aged fifty-eight years, who was bitten by a dog two weeks before, died of hydrophobia on the 30th ult.

It was stated on the 30th ult. that the Adams Express Company had paid claims of $81,000 arising from the recent robbery on the San Francisco road.

A collision of freight trains on the Baltimore & Ohio road on the 30th ult. near Zanesville, O., totally destroyed two engines and twenty-seven cars with their contents. Loss, $100,000. One man was seriously injured.

In sections of Louisiana and Mississippi a killing frost was reported on the 30th ult.

A fire destroyed seventeen stores the other morning at Franklinton, N. C.

A new post-office in Dakota has been named Bartholdi.

On the 30th ult. the number of deaths from the recent railway accident at Rio, Wis., was placed at twenty. Three Sisters of Mercy from Winona, Minn., were among the victims. The remains of thirteen had been identified.

In a gin-house at Little Rock, Ark., a boiler exploded on the 30th ult., killing Frank Waters and his wife and severely injuring four others.

The extensive refinery at St. Louis suspended operations on the 30th ult. on account of the low prices prevailing for sugar.

Shocks of earthquake were felt on the 31st ult. at Charleston and Summerville, S. C., and at Columbus, Ga. No damage was done.

In railway collisions on the 31st ult. near Portland, Ore., four men were killed.

The leader of the Salvation Army, General Booth, of England, arrived in Chicago on the 30th ult.

The Federal court at Fort Smith, Ark., on the 30th ult., sentenced six murderers from Indian Territory to be hanged on January 14.

The other night the post-office at Mount Vernon, O., was robbed of one thousand dollars in money and a like amount in stamps.

Near Monticello, Ky., Jarvis Huck and his sister were murdered by two men named Jones and Simpson. The object was robbery, but the murderers were captured.

On the 30th ult. it was said that the money recently stolen from an Adams Express car on the San Francisco road was nearly $120,000.

At Nos. 135 and 137 Madison street, Chicago, a fire on the 31st ult. did damage to the extent of $300,000. One fireman was killed and several others were injured.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

The city of Avignon, in France, was partly submerged by floods on the 27th. Great damage was done.

Vienna dispatches of the 27th report that the examination of intending emigrants at Ratibor, for the quarter ended with September, kept 452 paupers from coming to the United States.

King Otto, of Bavaria, was pronounced violently insane on the 27th.

In a saw-mill at Triberg, Germany, seven persons were burned to death on the 27th.

On the 28th the steamer Borderer, from Boston collided with the Minerva, in the Thames, at London. The latter vessel sunk and seven persons were drowned.

In the Rhone and Garonne valleys, in France, floods had on the 28th caused great ravages. Numerous villages were submerged and the inhabitants were in great distress.

Cholera returns from Japan for the four weeks ended September 25 gave 31,905 new cases and 23,774 deaths.

Merchants in Canada were on the 28th clamoring for an extradition treaty with the United States. The heavy losses by the Rothschild failure at Toronto were the cause.

A large number of landlords in West Clare, Ireland, have made heavy reductions in rent.

Eleven new cases of cholera and seven deaths were reported in Austro-Hungary on the 28th.

Floods in the districts of Maremma and Ferrara, Italy, were on the 30th ult. causing great distress among the peasants.

On the 30th ult. Robert Evan Sproule, an American citizen, was hanged at Victoria, B. C., for murder. He stoutly protested his innocence on the scaffold.

The American oarsmen, Teemer and Hamm, defeated Perkins and Goodwin, British representatives, in a series of double scull races on the Thames, on the 30th ult.

Leading reformers met at Toronto, Ont., on the 30th ult. to discuss the question of annexation to the United States.

In the Friendly Island group seven native villages were destroyed by volcanic eruptions a few days ago.

LATER.

The public-debt statement on the 1st shows the total debt to be $1,721,429,003; cash in treasury, $62,783,160; debt less cash in treasury, $1,354,347,947. Decrease during October, $13,291,619.

A colored murderer named Howey was lynched at Bell Springs, Tex., on the 1st.

James Hindle, alias McDonald, was arrested at Minneapolis on the 1st for passing dangerous counterfeit silver dollars. Hindle confessed that the counterfeiting was being done by an organized gang at Omaha.

A shed on the Wellington dock in Liverpool, containing 1,500 bales of cotton, was burned on the 1st. Loss, $200,000.

The law taxing oleomargarine went into effect on the 1st. It was announced that manufacturers and dealers generally would meet the tax and continue in business.

A distillery with twenty-one hundred barrels of whisky was burned at Owensboro, Ky., on the 1st by an incendiary fire. Loss, $180,000.

Another earthquake shock was felt at Summerville, S. C., at eight p. m. on the 1st.

About 3,500 men employed in the beef packing houses of Nelson Morris and Swift & Co., at the Chicago Stock Yards, struck on the 1st against a return to the ten-hour system of labor.

Henry Meno, an old and wealthy man, who for forty years had lived on a farm near Rogers Park, Ill., was murdered on the highway by unknown parties early on the morning of the 1st.

The issue of standard silver dollars from the mints during the week ended on the 30th ult. was 880,835; same week last year, 774,476. The coinage of the mints for October was $4,172,184, of which $3,000,000 was in silver dollars.

The fire-works exhibition in honor of the Statue of Liberty took place in New York on the evening of the 1st, and the scene was one of the finest ever witnessed.

Rockford, Ill., was visited by a destructive fire on the 1st, causing a loss of probably $100,000.

At Nuevo Laredo, Mex., Vicente Recendez boarded a train on the 1st and killed his wife and step-daughter, who were going to Monterey.

The clothing of the five-year-old daughter of S. G. Baldwin, of Marion, Ind., was ignited from a bonfire on the 1st, and she was burned to death.

Ex-Treasurer Carter, of Pittsfield, Mass., was on the 1st said to be a defaulter to the extent of $30,000.

Advices of the 1st say that over one hundred severe shocks of earthquake were experienced on September 10 on one of the Tonga islands, in the Pacific Ocean. From the bottom of a lake of marvelous depth arose a volcano to the height of three hundred feet.

AN OPEN SWITCH.

It Causes a Frightful Accident at Rio, Wis.

A PASSENGER TRAIN DERAILED.

The Wreck Fired by Overturned Stoves—Twenty-Six Passengers Burned to Death—Eleven Bodies Recovered—Story of the Disaster.

HUMAN BEINGS ROASTED.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 29.—The most appalling railroad disaster that has ever occurred in Wisconsin resulted from the collision shortly after midnight Wednesday of a passenger train on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad and a freight train at Rio, a small station fifteen miles this side of Portage and seventy-five miles from Milwaukee. By the collision it is believed that twenty-six were either crushed or burned to death, while a number of others were injured. Eleven charred corpses have been taken from the debris already.

The passenger train was a lightning express. It left Chicago at seven p. m. for St. Paul, with baggage and mail cars, one day coach and three sleepers. At Rio two freight trains were side-tracked to allow the express to pass. One of them had just drawn onto the siding when the express came thundering down upon it. Either through negligence or because there was not time to close it, the switch was left open, and the passenger train, rushing at the rate of forty-five miles an hour, dashed into it and at once left the rails. The sidings are in a cut where the road curves so that the switch-light can not be seen from the east until a train is within a few rods, so the engineer of the limited could not see the switch light was turned wrong until too late to stop. The engine left the track, ran a short distance, and brought up against the side of the cut, toppling over. The baggage and express cars and the day coach followed. The sleepers did not leave the track.

The persons in the coach were imprisoned by the telescoping of the car. Fire broke out in the wreck and rapidly spread through the debris. Of all those thus caught in the awful trap all but two children perished—those who were not killed at once by the collision dying a more horrible death by fire. The wretched people, shrieking for aid, made desperate efforts to escape the torture of the flames, but in vain. Mrs. C. R. Scherer, of Winona, handed her children to a brakeman through a window and then fell a victim to the fiery destroyer. The names of the dead so far as known are:

Mrs. C. R. Scherer and Mrs. Rosina Johns, of Winona, Minn.; Louis Drinker, Emil Woltersdorf and Wallace Stuart, of Columbus, Wis.; Mrs. L. Lowry, of Milwaukee, and — Dibble, a traveling man. In the pocket of one dead man taken from the wreck was an envelope addressed "J. Tourin Lincoln, No. 2 Forty-ninth street, Chicago." One of the victims is believed to be Mrs. George A. Marr, of Chicago. Her identity is, however, uncertain. Two other bodies are those of sisters of charity, one of whom is believed to be Mother Alexis, superior of a convent at Winona, Minn., who had been in Milwaukee establishing a convent.

The injured are Conductor Lucius Searle, of Milwaukee, Wis.; Wade Black, of Oconomowoc, Wis., leg broken; Charles F. Smith, of Chicago, arm and wrist broken; James Phillips, brakeman, cut about the head, and Thomas Little, engineer, badly cut.

Conductor Searle of the passenger train says that the occupants of the car where the frightful incineration occurred did not exceed fifteen altogether. He has lost his tickets and so there is no record. The burning of the baggage also hinders the identification of the corpses.

District Attorney Armstrong, assisted by Coroner Allen and a force of men, worked all day at the ruins of the wrecked train hunting for the remains of the dead or to find some clew to identify those who perished. Up to a late hour last night they had succeeded in raking out trunks and other fragments sufficient to make up eleven bodies. All the bodies were burned beyond recognition, and it will be days before the names of all the victims are known. Conductor Hankey, of the freight train, who fled to the woods immediately after the catastrophe occurred, has been found wandering around in a raving condition. He is likely to become a hopeless maniac.

The scenes at the wreck were harrowing. Passengers from the sleepers gathered around the blazing cars, but they were powerless to render assistance. Men and women could be seen tearing their hair in the agony of the moment, and frightful screams issued from the death-trap. One heavy woman in particular tore up one of the seats with almost superhuman strength and endeavored to break her way out of the flaming pyre, but her strength failed and she fell to the floor and met a horrible death. A man forced his way through the ventilator on top of the car, with all the clothing on his body from the waist downward burned off, and his flesh roasted and bleeding from cuts inflicted by broken glass. The wreck burned like tinder, and in less than ten minutes all was over and quiet, except the wails of the injured and those who could not view the awful scene without breaking down.

From all accounts there must have been a frightful scene in the car in which the fatalities occurred. The pressure raised the coach to assume the position of the letter A. Lamps were broken and the stove overturned, scattering fire and flame in all directions through the coach. Mangled and bleeding, nearly all the passengers were pinned securely by broken seats, many heaped one upon the other. Their agonized shrieks told the story of fractured limbs, to which was added the horror of cremation. It is positive that only three escaped. The hero of the catastrophe was the engineer, who, in the face of seeming death, held his hand on the throttle and thus saved the lives of all the passengers in the sleepers. Then, when the train stopped, he crawled out from beneath his engine, bleeding, and alarmed the sleepers of the danger from fire. All the coaches and cars were burned except the last sleeper, "Nashota."

About sixty sacks of paper mail for Minnesota and Dakota were destroyed. The agents escaped themselves with numerous bruises. The loss to the railroad company is placed at $50,000. The track was cleared at six p. m.

Upon whom to place the blame for the appalling disaster at Rio, if upon anybody, is a matter of conjecture. There are two side tracks at Rio, and at the time the train was due there Wednesday night both were occupied by freights, one by a wild train and the other by train No. 11, Conductor H. P. Hankey of this city, which had just pulled in from the West to allow the limited to pass. No. 11 was very long, and the conductor was at the head of the train, relying on the brakeman to attend to the switch. One report says the rear brakeman, whose business it was to close the switch after the train, for some reason neglected altogether to do so. The other and the more probable story is that he started back to close the switch, but before he could reach it the limited, which does not stop at any except large places, came tearing down upon him.

Bishop Whipple, of Faribault, Minn., with his aged wife, was on the train returning home from the Episcopal convention in Chicago. The venerable prelate rendered great assistance to those in need, and is credited with having saved the lives of two children. He did not cease his efforts to rescue the poor passengers who were being burned to death until the flames drove him away.

—There is a society lately formed in Japan called the "Roman Alphabet Association," and already it numbers many thousand persons. The Chinese alphabet, composed of about 40,000 characters, has been discarded, and the Roman alphabet, with some changes, substituted. As adopted by the Japanese, the alphabet consists of twenty-two letters. The consonants are taken at their English sounds, while the vowels are pronounced with the Italian accent.

—A drunken man lay on the sidewalk in Norwich, Conn., guarded by his dog, who wouldn't permit a person to touch his master. Two policemen tried to club him off but he dodged and remained. Finally they took a horse-blanket, and after several attempts threw it over him, caught him and dragged him away, and then took his master to the police-station.—Hartford Post.

—It isn't the best economy to advertise yourself. Let somebody else do it, even if you have to pay for it.—Springfield (Mass.) Union. Quite right. Our advertising rates will be sent on application.

THE NOBLE RED MAN.

The Annual Report of Commissioner Atkins Shows a Gratifying Improvement in the Condition of the Indian—Recommendations and Estimates.

Washington, Oct. 30.—The Commissioner of Indian Affairs, J. D. C. Atkins, has just completed his annual report showing the operations of the Indian Bureau during the last fiscal year. He begins by calling attention to the unmistakable evidences of progress made by many of the tribes, and says that during the last year the Indian race has taken a firmer step in the march toward civilization than ever before in the same length of time.

The excellent temper, subordination and general tranquility which, with two or three exceptions, has everywhere prevailed among the red men is of itself a most auspicious omen of progress. The active inquiry among many of the tribes for further knowledge of the arts of agriculture; the growing desire to take lands in severalty; the urgent demand for agricultural implements with modern improvements; the largely increased acreage which the Indians have put to tillage, exceeding that of any preceding year; the unprecedented increase in the number of Indian children who have been enrolled in the schools—these and many other facts fully establish the claim that during the past year the Indian race has taken a firmer step and a grander stride in the great march toward civilization than ever before in the same length of time. The estimates for carrying on the Indian service have been reduced from $7,328,019 in 1887 to $7,008,573 for 1888, and, but for an increase of $177,500 in the estimate for educational work, the reduction would have been greater. Referring to the attempts of "boomers" to encroach upon the Indian Territory, the commissioner says that it is important that these five civilized tribes (living in the Territory) should co-operate with the Government in establishing peace and quiet within their borders. The Commissioner believes that it would be best for these Indians to divide their land in severalty, allotting 160 acres to each head of a family and eighty acres to each minor child. The large surplus remaining should be sold to actual settlers, and the proceeds would enable the poorer Indians to improve their allotments, put up school buildings, etc.

The Commissioner says that, were all the Indians of the United States to be transplanted to the Indian Territory, there would then be, including those now resident there, 256¼ acres for each living Indian. He suggests that the Kiowas, Comanches, Wichitas, Cheyennes and Arapahoes, the only tribes in the Territory west of longitude ninety-eight, be removed to lands east of that line, and recommends that Congress authorize the appointment of a commission to ascertain the views of these Indians upon the subject. He expresses his conviction that the proposition to throw open Oklahoma to white settlement would be an experiment dangerous to all concerned. The Commissioner refers to his instructions to agents looking to the teaching of Indians how to farm, and says the success or non-success of those experiments will require some years to demonstrate. The Commissioner, in treating of Indian schools, speaks of the difficulty experienced in freeing the pupils from adverse home influences, but says the schools are doing excellent and efficient service in their particular spheres. He suggests that an Indian graduate who marries an Indian graduate be assisted in purchasing a team, settling on 160 acres of land, fencing, breaking, and building a house, and that, if he takes up land outside of any Indian reservation, he be made a citizen of the United States.

The Commissioner believes that an accurate census would show a large decrease in the number of Indians throughout the country, and urges the necessity of an appropriation for that purpose.

THANKSGIVING.

Full Text of the President's Proclamation Setting Apart November 25 as a Day of Thanksgiving and Praise.

Washington, Nov. 1.—President Cleveland will issue his annual Thanksgiving proclamation to-day. It will read as follows:

"A Proclamation by the President of the United States: It has long been the custom of the people of the United States, on a day in each year, especially set apart for that purpose by their Chief Executive, to acknowledge the goodness and mercy of God and to invoke his continued care and protection. In observance of such custom, I, Grover Cleveland, President of the United States, do hereby designate and set apart Thursday, the 25th day of November instant, to be observed and kept as a day of thanksgiving and prayer.

"On that day let all our people forego their accustomed employments and assemble in their usual places of worship to give thanks to the Ruler of the universe for our continued enjoyment of the blessings of a free Government, for a renewal of business prosperity throughout our land, for the return which has rewarded the labor of those who till the soil, and for our progress as a people in all that makes a Nation great. And, while we contemplate the infinite power of God in earthquake, flood and storm, let the grateful hearts of those who have been shielded from harm through His mercy be turned in sympathy and kindness toward those who have suffered through His visitations. Let us also, in the midst of our thanksgiving, remember the poor and needy with cheerful gifts, so that our service may by deeds of charity be made acceptable in the sight of the Lord.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the city of Washington this first day of November, in the year of our Lord 1886, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and eleventh. GROVER CLEVELAND."

By the President:

T. F. Bayard, Secretary of State.

An Important Decision.

Washington, Nov. 1.—Attorney-General Garland has given an opinion to the Secretary of the Treasury that National banks must deposit interest-bearing bonds to secure their circulation, and that called three per cent. bonds can not be used as a basis of circulation. This will make it necessary for the National banks having on deposit three per cent. bonds already called to immediately substitute in their place four or four and one-half per cents., or to withdraw their circulation. The effects to be produced upon the general money market by this decision will depend upon the determination of the National banks as to whether they will withdraw their circulation or reinvest the proceeds of the three per cents. in interest-bearing bonds.

Doctors Mystified—Alive with the Spinal Cord Severed.

Milwaukee, Nov. 1.—A special to the Evening Wisconsin from Baraboo, Wis., says: "John A. Hamilton, a stockman of Evansville, who fell from a car at this station October 22 and broke his neck, from which resulted a complete paralysis of the body from the neck downward, died at his home Thursday night. A post-mortem examination was made Friday by Drs. McKinnon and English, of this city, assisted by the doctors of Evansville. The examination showed that the spinal cord had been broken, and entirely disconnected. How the man lived a week in such a condition is a mystery, which the doctors can not fathom."

The St. Louis Sugar Refinery Shuts Down.

St. Louis, Nov. 1.—The St. Louis sugar refinery, the largest in the West, shut down Saturday night and discharged about 125 employes. The cause of closing is said to be the inability to compete with Sandwich Island raw sugar, which is admitted into the country free of import duty. The refinery is not closed permanently, but will start up again shortly, as soon as the new crop of Louisiana raw sugar can be purchased at prices that will yield a profit to the refiner.

Destitution in Perth.

Perth, Nov. 1.—Thirty poor persons have been found sleeping in a wagon-[illegible] in this city. They were almost naked [illegible]

MILLIONS GIVEN AWAY.

How the Late Mrs. Stewart Disposed of Her Wealth—Large Sums Bequeathed to Relatives—Provisions for a School for Women—A Warning to Would-Be Contestants.

New York, Nov. 2.—The will of Mrs. Cornelia Stewart, the wife of the late millionaire dry goods merchant, was filed for probate yesterday by ex-Judge Horace Russell, Mr. Henry Hilton's son-in-law. Citations were immediately issued to the heirs and next of kin, made returnable on November 13. In the instrument Mrs. Stewart bequeaths $20,000 per year during life to her brother, Charles P. Clinch; to each of her sisters, Anna, Emma and Julia Clinch, she leaves an annuity of $10,000 a year; to her niece, Sarah N. Smith, she leaves $250,000; to Cornelia S. Butler she leaves $200,000, and to each of her children, Laurence and Charles Butler, $50,000; to Kate A. Smith $200,000; to each of the remaining children of Sarah N. Smith, namely, Louisa, Ella, Bessie and James, $100,000; to each of the children of her deceased sister, Louise (formerly the wife of Charles E. Butler) namely, Rosalie, Helen, Virginia, Lillian, Maxwell and Prescott, $50,000. All the rest of the estate, real and personal, she bequeathes to Charles J. Clinch, now of Paris, and Henry Hilton, of this city. None of the legacies are to be payable until three years from the final probate of the will, nor any of the annuities until six months after such probate. The executors to the will are Charles J. Clinch and Henry Hilton, and the witnesses to the instrument are Henry E. Davies, James Henry Work and Edward B. Hilton.

The will is dated July 5, 1877. In a codicil to the will she revokes the bequest to Henry Hilton of one-half of her residuary estate, and instead bequeaths to him one-half of the residue of her property and estate in trust, to collect, receive, hold, manage, control, sell and apply the same to the following purposes:

To complete the Stewart Memorial Church now in course of erection by her at Garden City, L. I., and to supply it with all that is necessary to make it a free church and a cathedral for the Protestant Episcopal Church of the diocese of Long Island, N. Y., to endow it with such money as will maintain it forever, with provision for the Bishop of the diocese and his assistants; to construct two buildings to be used as schools and seminaries of learning, to be attached to such cathedral, and to endow them with such money as will sustain them forever, and to erect such other buildings as the cathedral and seminaries and schools may require. All these buildings are to be erected on Mrs. Stewart's land there, known as Hempstead Plains, L. I. These buildings when completed are to be conveyed to the use forever of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the diocese of Long Island or to the corporation known as the Cathedral of the Incarnation, in the diocese of Long Island. All the one-half of her residuary estate so devised is to be applied for the above purposes. If any heir becomes a party to any proceeding to interfere with the will, the provision in the will in his, or her favor, is to be canceled. The codicil of the will is dated May 27, 1878.

A FINANCIAL ROUND-UP.

Statement of the Receipts and Expenditures of the Government for the Past Thirty-One Years—What the Indian Has Cost Uncle Sam—Pension Payments.

Washington, Nov. 2.—A statement just put out at the Treasury Department, showing the receipts and expenditures of the Government from July 1, 1855, to June 30, 1886, presents some interesting totals of income and outgo during the last thirty-one years. The totals of some items of expense are enormous. For instance, since 1855 the Government has paid out for pensions, in round numbers, $825,000,000—a small sized National debt—and of this enormous sum all but about $25,000,000 was paid out since 1861 to pensioners of the late civil war. The Indian has cost the Government in round numbers during those thirty-one years about $165,000,000. Interest on the public debt during this period has amounted to the vast sum of $1,315,000,000, a sum about equal to the National debt to-day. The net ordinary expenses of the Government ranged from $23,000,000—the lowest—in 1860, to $1,310,000,000—the highest—in 1865, the last year of the war.

In the way of revenue sales of public lands in 1856 netted the Government nearly $9,000,000, a larger sum than was realized from this source in any year till 1884, when the revenue from this source reached $4,810,000. The total revenue from this source since 1855 amounts to about $75,000,000. The year of the largest net revenue was in 1866, when it reached $558,000,000. Customs receipts that year amounted to about $189,000,000 and internal revenue receipts to nearly $310,000,000, the largest receipts of any year during the period. In 1867 net revenues fell to $490,000,000, and since then have gradually fallen to $336,000,000 last year. The year of the biggest customs revenues was 1882, when it reached $220,000,000. The year of the greatest surplus revenue was from July 1, 1881, to June 30, 1882, when it reached $147,000,000.

WILL HAVE ONE OF THEIR OWN.

A Large Cattle Yard to Be Constructed at St. Louis Under the Auspices of the International Range Association.

St. Louis, Nov. 2.—The Globe-Democrat says that a well-defined movement is on foot by the International Range Association to establish a large cattle yard in this city to overcome the alleged monopoly resulting from the combinations between the Stock Yards and dressed-beef men in Chicago by which rangemen say they are cheated out of ten to fifteen dollars a head on cattle that go to that city. They also claim that the same syndicate of Eastern capitalists owns and controls the stocks yards in East St. Louis, Chicago, Kansas City and Denver, and that the capital invested at St. Louis is invested there to keep out outsiders and to concentrate the cattle trade at Chicago, where they can control the market. The proposed yards here will be fitted up entirely by rangemen and will be controlled by them, with close relations, however, between them and commission men here. The scheme also involves contracts with railroad companies for through rates from the ranges to points of consumption in the East, with the privilege of unloading here, where Eastern buyers can buy and reship to the East on the through instead of local rates, the object being to make St. Louis a great distributing point for Eastern markets.

A Notorious Counterfeiter Caught.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 2.—James Hindle, alias McDonald, a notorious counterfeiter and crook, has been arrested here for passing counterfeit silver dollars, which are nearly perfect counterfeits of the genuine, the only difference being that they are a trifle lighter. Some $11,000 of this stuff has been found concealed in a cave near Cedar Lake. Hindle confessed that the coin is made by a well-organized gang located near Omaha; also that a gang had been organized to rob several prominent banks and business houses in St. Paul and Minneapolis to-night. Hindle has served a term in Wabasha prison for safe-blowing. Other arrests may follow.

Shot the Old Man Dead.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 2.—A special from Statesville, N. C., says: Henry Lakey, of Cross-Roads Church, Yadkin County, N. C., endeavored to elope with the eighteen-year-old daughter of James Cooley. Cooley pursued the flying couple, and having the faster horse, overtook the runaways about a mile from the minister's whom they had expected to marry them. Cooley called upon Lakey to give up the girl, whereupon the young man drew a revolver and shot the old man, inflicting a wound that proved fatal. Cooley is dead, and a posse is searching for the murderer, who fled, leaving the young woman standing by the corpse of her father. It is thought Lakey has gone to Virginia.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

The Detroit grain and produce quotations are: Wheat—No. 1 White, [illegible]; No. 2 Red, [illegible]; Flour—Michigan White Wheat, choice, $5.00@5.25; roller process, $4.00@4.25; patents, $4.75@5.00. Corn—No. 2, [illegible]. Oats—No. 2, [illegible]. Butter—Creamery, [illegible]. Cheese, [illegible]. Eggs, [illegible].

Prisoners in the Port Huron jail recently sent a complaint to the authorities of the bad food given them.

Twenty persons were drowned in the river at Saginaw during the past summer.

The people of Wyandotte, Wayne County, are somewhat annoyed by reports that the devil has been chasing residents of that town. Those who have run foot races with the evil visitor say he has a cloven hoof and a barbed tail, so that there is no doubt expressed as to his identity.

Nelson Burdette, aged fifty-nine years, dropped dead of heart-disease at Bay City the other morning.

The Detroit and Lake Superior smelting works at Hancock, Houghton County, are now filling an order for 520,000 pounds of copper to be used by the Roebling works, near New York, exclusively for telegraph and telephone wire. This year over 2,550 tons of lake copper will be used for telegraph and telephone wires alone. Four years ago scarcely as many pounds were used for this purpose.

Justice Coy, who recently died at Dansville, Ingham County, at the age of ninety-two years, once visited California, making the entire journey on foot.

It is said that the Ball Brothers will remove their foundry and machine shop from Madison, Wis., to Battle Creek.

The Board of Supervisors of Jackson County recently adopted a resolution to appoint a committee to petition the Legislature to pass an act making all persons confined in the county jails subject to hard labor during the terms of sentences.

Mrs. Walton, a well-known woman residing near Petosky, started on a visit to relatives a few days ago and became insane when she reached Lansing. She was taken back home.

The salt well at the Detroit mill, Bay City, is 2,885 feet deep, the greatest salt-well depth ever reached in this State.

The barn of William F. Mikesell, one mile from Charlotte, Eaton County, was burned the other morning with its entire contents, including over 400 bushels of wheat, 800 bushels of beans, 25 bushels of clover seed, 40 tons of hay, agricultural implements and one valuable horse. Loss, $5,991; insurance, $2,000. Origin of the fire unknown.

The Michigan State Poultry and Pet Stock Association will offer one thousand dollars in premiums at their exhibit in Grand Rapids in January.

Hugh McKinnon's house at Black Lake, near Cheboygan, was burned the other morning, with its contents. Loss, $1,200; partially insured.

The Detroit Young Men's Christian Association laid the corner-stone of $75,000 building the other day.

It leaked out at Battle Creek recently that Eugene M. Converse, a prominent young lawyer, had skipped to Canada with four thousand dollars in money belonging to Eastern parties which was in his hands, having been collected on a mortgage. He has a wife and two young children, who would return to her father in New York.

A young man named Vickers, living seven miles south of Nashville, Barry County, accidentally discharged his gun a few days ago, the load going through the heart of Mrs. Effingham, his mother-in-law.

At Lake City, Missaukee County, a few days ago James Crafts and Mrs. Brass pleaded guilty to the charge of murder and were sentenced to State prison at Jackson for life. The crime was committed in June. Brass on returning home from Kingsley, where he had been at work in a lumber-mill, was struck with a sadiron by Mrs. Brass, and afterward shot through the head and body by Crafts, and his body buried in a potato cellar.

Three unknown men walked into the American express office at Vermontville, Eaton County, the other evening, bound Agent William Bates to a leg of the safe, and disappeared with $800.

Lamson's photograph gallery at East Tawas was burned the other night. Loss on negatives and instruments, $500.

Reports to the State Board of Health by sixty-nine observers in different parts of the State, for the week ended October [illegible], indicated that puerperal fever and cholera infantum increased, and erysipelas, inflammation of the kidneys and neuralgia decreased in area of prevalence. Diphtheria was reported at forty-two places, scarlet fever at eighteen, typhoid fever at twenty, measles at three, and small-pox at Detroit.

The electric railway at Port Huron is in operation.

Calhoun County contains nineteen widows who are pensioners on account of the war of 1812.

From a mine discovered last June in the Negaunee range six thousand tons of iron ore have already been shipped.

In one week recently there were shipped from Muskegon 13,880,000 feet of lumber, 6,000,000 shingles and 1,555 cords of slab.

John Mathews, of Mayville, Tuscola County, fell into a bed of fresh mortar a few days ago and was suffocated.

A passenger train ran into a freight train the other day on the Detroit & Grand Haven road, injuring several people.

A Sanitary convention will be held at Big Rapids, Mecosta County, November 18 and 19 next. Admission free. At each session of the convention there will be addresses or papers on subjects of general interest pertaining to public health. The objects of the convention are the presentation of facts, the comparison of views and the discussion of methods relating to the prevention of sickness and deaths and the improvement of the conditions of the living.

Edward Heart, a sailor on the propeller J. A. Pauley, while coming into Muskegon the other evening fell into an open hatchway and broke both his neck and skull, causing instant death.

W. S. Smith's mill on the lake shore near Cheboygan caught fire at two o'clock the other morning and was totally destroyed. Loss, $25,000; insurance, $11,000.

A dog owned by Wilson Cone, of Chase, Lake County, saved Mrs. Cone and her babe from her burning home recently, and was himself killed by a falling chimney.

James J. Decker, of Omer, has been appointed agent of the State Board of Charities for Arenac County.

A poisoned well at Battle Creek caused the death of Mrs. G. Winters the other day and the sickness of three children of the Riddle family, who might die.

Edwin Colvin, aged twenty-two years, was caught in the shafting of a mill at Bay City the other day and torn to pieces.

E. J. Wilcox, aged sixty years, residing near Burlington, Calhoun County, after his family had retired the other night stepped outside his door and exploded a dynamite cartridge under his arm, scattering fragments of his body in all directions.

Pennoyer's saw-mill at [illegible] burned a few days ago. Loss, $16,000; insurance, $10,000.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

SMITH & PARMELEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

THREE GRAVES.

How did he live, this dead man here,
With the sculptured [illegible] grave?
He lived as a great one, from cradle to bier
He was nursed in luxury, trained to pride,
When the wish was born, it was gratified;
Without thanks he took, without heed he gave,
The common man was to him a clod
From whom he was far as a demi-god.
His duties? To see that his rents were paid.
His pleasure? To know that the crowd obeyed.
His pulse, if you felt it, throbbed apart,
With a separate stroke from the people's heart.
But whom did he love, and whom did he bless?
Was the life of him more than a moth's or less?
I know not. He died. There was none to blame
And as few to weep; but these marbles came
For the people that rose to preserve his name!

How did he live, that other dead man,
From the graves apart and alone?
As a great one too? Yes, this was one
Who lived to labor and study and plan.
The earth's deep thought he toiled to reveal;
He banded the breast of the land with steel;
The thread of his toil he never broke,
He filled the cities with wheels and smoke,
And workers by day and workers by night,
For the day was too short for his vigor's flight.
Too firm was he to be feeling and giving;
For labor, for gain, was a life worth living.
He worshiped Industry, dreamt of her, sighed for her,
Potent he grew by her, famous he died for her.
They say he improved the world in his time,
That his aims and actions were a work sublime.
When he died the laborers rested and sighed;
Which was it—because he had lived, or died?

And how did he live, that dead man there,
In the country churchyard laid?
O, he! He came for the sweet field air;
He was tired of the town, and he took no pride
In its fashion or fame. He returned and died
In the [illegible], where a child he played
With those who have knelt by his grave and prayed.
He toiled no serfs, and he knew no pride;
He was one with the workers side by side;
He hated a mill, and a mine, and a town,
With the [illegible] of misery, struggle renown;
He could never believe but a man was made
For a nobler end than the glory of trade.
For the youth he mourned with an endless pity
Who were cast like snow on the streets of the city.
He was weak, may be; but he lost no friend;
Who loved him once, loved on to the end.
He mourned all selfish and shrewd endeavor;
But he never injured a weak one—never.
When censure was passed, he was kindly dumb;
He was never so wise but a fault would come;
He was never so old that he failed to enjoy
The games and the dreams he had loved when a boy.
He erred and was sorry; but never drew
A trusting heart from the pure and true.
When friends look back from the years to be,
God grant they may say such things of me.

—John Boyle O'Reilly, in Boston Transcript.

MIS' HITT'S HUSBANDS.

They Failed Entirely to Discourage Her.

The young schoolmaster who presided during the spring term over the seventeen bare-footed children of district No. 10, East Centerville, Johnson County, did not find the social element of the neighborhood congenial. There was no lack of society and social gayeties. The schoolmaster had attended a surprise party, a warm-sugar party, and a "sociable" during the first week of his residence in district No. 10; he had been stared at by red-handed, hair-oiled, tongue-tied youths; danced several Virginia reels to the tune of "Pop Goes the Weasel," rendered on a shrieking fiddle or a hoarse melodeon; been kissed by scores of buxom girls in innumerable osculatory games; and had since refrained from East Centerville festivities with a sternness which had been looked upon as "stuck-up," and which may indeed have been due in some degree to that complacent self-estimate in which young schoolmasters are not usually deficient.

He was fond of entertainment, however, and being thus thrown back upon himself its resources seemed small. The comfortable old couple who boarded him were meek, industrious, deserving and commonplace, and he was not hopeful of discovering any thing more exciting in district No. 10. He was roused to a mild interest, therefore, when he found the "sittin'-room" one morning, in the possession of an odd and somewhat startling old woman. She was white-washing the ceiling. She stood on top of a step-ladder and covered its cracked and yellowish surface with long strokes of her stubby brush. She wore a bright new calico dress with a short skirt which exposed her heavy masculine boots. Her hair, which was gray and scanty, was drawn back over frequent patches of baldness and fastened in a small knot of the size of a hickory nut. Her face was brown and wrinkled, with bright eyes, and she held a pipe between her lips.

The schoolmaster inquired concerning her as he sugared his lettuce at the breakfast table; sugar and vinegar were the approved salad dressing at East Centerville.

"That's Mis' Hitt," his hostess rejoined. "She kind of jobs round—lays carpet and whitewashes and papers and helps housecleanin' times. She's a master hand, Mis' Hitt is."

"Miss Hitt—she is unmarried, then," said the schoolmaster.

"Law!" the old lady responded, while a faint blush stole into her faded cheek; "she's be'n married four times. Hitt," she added scrupulously, "wa'n't her last husband, but wouldn' never git into the way o' callin' her Mis' Doty. It don't make no odds as I know of—Doty, he's dead."

A week later the schoolmaster, who had conceived a liking for the outdoor aspects of district No. 10, wandering in the dusk of the evening through an empty pasture lot which copious spring rains had developed into a swamp, came suddenly upon a small red wooden building set into a corner of the pasture and backed by a piece of woods. Its unstable appearance, produced by the piles of stones upon which its four corners rested and its several props, made it obvious that it had been moved hither from its native spot, where it might have been a corn or hen house. In a chair in the open doorway, leaning forward on her elbows and smoking, was Mis' Hitt.

The schoolmaster went nearer and raised his hat. The old woman took her pipe from her mouth and eyed him with a fleeting suspicion; then she got up and shoved her chair back hospitably. The schoolmaster stepped inside and sat down on an anonymous object near the door, while his entertainer lighted her lamp. Its light showed a cramped interior of one room. The walls were covered with newspapers, tacked up; an unseasonable stove retained its place, for lack of other refuge. There were a few attempts at adornment which the hardened fingers and belated tastes of the inventor had not served to render successful. The schoolmaster's seat proved to be a nail keg, whose hardness was not helped by its frill of brown cambric. Mis' Hitt, from the one chair of the room, looked at her caller over her pipe with no visible curiosity.

"Saw ye t'other day," she observed. "Teachin' here, ain't ye?" And, when the schoolmaster assented, relapsed into silence with a nod.

"You are pleasantly situated," the schoolmaster ventured, looking out somewhat doubtfully over the pasture lot.

"I don't know as I be," said Mis' Hitt apathetically. "I git along."

The schoolmaster made a second and a bolder attempt. "I have lately received the news of the death of—of an aunt," he remarked. "It is exceedingly sad to lose one's friends, is it not? But perhaps—very possibly—you have had no experience of this sort?"

Mis' Hitt removed her pipe, with a face wholly unsuspicious. Her eyes shone in its darkened and withered surface with a suddenly increased brightness.

"I've buried four husbands," she said. Her expression was a mixture of solemnity and [illegible]

"Ah!" the schoolmaster murmured. "The great consolation for death," he con-[illegible]

"Well, I dunno know," said Mis' Hitt. She crossed her knees and clasped her knotty hands around them. "I didn't have such powerful good luck gittin' husbands."

"Indeed," said the schoolmaster. "One might judge from a casual view that you had been highly successful."

Mis' Hitt's countenance did not alter. Apparently a joke was not in the line of her comprehension.

"Thar wa'n't none o' my men what ye might call likely," she said, without disturbance from the recollection of her timesoftened troubles. "They was a pretty ordinary set, I call 'em."

She puffed away in silent meditation.

"Your first husband, for example?" the schoolmaster suggested.

"Wal, he wa'n't much—Ike Heyward wa'n't," the old woman responded. Her eyes were fixed unseeingly on the blank stretch of swamp land; her face was intent with the absorption of reminiscence. "I was nigh onto sixteen when I married Ike, and Ike he was somewhar' round twenty. I hadn't been calculatin' to marry Ike Heyward; we wa'n't lookin' to a week aforehand. I'd had it fixed up with 'Rastus Carter for a consid'able spell, we'd got the day set, and 'Rastus, he'd spoke to the preacher. I don't know as I recollect jest what spilled it. 'Rastus, he flared up at somethin' er 'nother; consid'able techy. 'Rastus was—sandy topped freckly folks 'most gen'ally be. Wal, I didn't git him," said Mis' Hitt brightening the bowl of her pipe with a puff or two. "And Ike Heyward he stepped in, and we was j'ined.

"Lived with his folks, Ike did; I don' know as I should 'a had no trouble with Ike of it hadn't been for that. Had the wing, Ike and me, and the rest o' the house was the ole folks's; but ole Mis' Heyward was into that wing enough sight more'n she was to hum, fussin' and pesterin' and nosin' around. She'd come in afore breakfast, and set watchin' me gittin' it, and tellin' as how I couldn't cook pork no more'n a cat, and didn't know no more 'bout fryin' pancakes 'n I did 'bout flyin', and as how I wa'n't savin', and my washin' looked yeller, and my soft soap wa'n't half biled; and she'd go round cryin' 'bout Ike gettin' such a poor, shiftless piece. She was a pesky ole creetur."

Mis' Hitt spoke placidly. Her long-ago grievances had developed with years into impersonal facts.

"And Ike, he was just as chicken hearted as ever I see; he wa'n't no more 'count 'n a dish rag. He didn't reely know who to side with; all he figgered on was to git out o' the muss. He'd take his fish pole and go off and stay all day; once, when we'd been havin' it pretty tough, his ma and me, he staid off a week. Long and spindlin' Ike was, and saller; alwus snortin' round with a cold, and wheezin' up with asthma and ailin'; twa'n't no more'n I was lookin' for when he started in to cough steddy—there'd ben fifty wards goin' off with consumption sence the beginnin' o' time. Ike, he went off sudden; but he went dretful hard. I never see no sech awful spells o' coughin' as he did have; seems though he'd git ripped to pieces; and the way that creetur used to sweat nights—wal, the sheets 'd be wringin' wet."

The schoolmaster, listening with gratifying interest, looked in vain for any softening of the old woman's calmly narrative tone. The tragedy of fifty years ago had become a casual memory, interesting only for its harrowing details.

"He was just skin and bone when he died; his arms wa'n't no bigger round 'n a broomstick, and his cheeks was sunk in so't it fairly scairt ye; he was a dretful lookin' corpse." Mis' Hitt turned her eyes upon her listener in pleasurable anticipation of the effect of these items. "He was buried up in the old north buryin' lot—he was took up afterward and put in the new one—and I went hum agin. I was powerful glad to git shet o' ole Mis' Heyward, now I tell ye."

"Our most poignant sorrows have their alleviating features," the schoolmaster observed.

Mis' Hitt puffed at her pipe. The chirping of frogs filled the pause.

"You were induced to repeat the matrimonial experiment," said the schoolmaster. "You married again, I infer?"

"I was a widder for six six months," Mis' Hitt responded; "but I could ben married afore that ef I'd a min' to. 'Rastus Carter, he come round soon as Ike was put in under. He'd scraped up enough to git a place—pretty forehanded, 'Rastus was—and he was calculatin' to buy 'way up to the Corners, clus to the ole tannery. Why, I told him ef he was goin' to live round that ar tannery I wa'n't, and all the powers couldn't make me; the smell was fit to knock ye down, just about, and as to livin' with it right under my nose—it made me sick as a dog, the idea on't. 'Rastus, he was mad as a hornet; he went off a ramjeegin', and 'twa'n't a week afore I heard he'd ben married Paulliny Wiswell. She was gettin' along, Paulliny was, and she was terribly glad to git him.

"Wal, I didn't lay out to wait forever to git another man, but I vow I was clean sot back when Elihu Wilder came aligin' round. Ole bach'ler, Elihu was, must 'a ben nigh onto forty. He'd ben livin' by himself for a long spell, over in the holler; I hadn't never seen him more'n onest or twicet. I declar I didn't know but I was gettin' bony and seein' sperrits when he come nippin' in. Wa'n't much higher'n a yard stick, Elihu wa'n't—seemed to ben stunted; and he was so kind o' dried up, thar didn't look to be nothin' to him.

"Wal, ef I'd a-knew what 'twas keepin' house for a bach'ler, I wouldn't never undertook it. Fussiest narvousest little creetur I ever come within forty mile of, Elihu Wilder was. He'd lived thar by himself till he'd got as notional as a witch; he wa'n't no ways used to folks, and come to the p'int, he didn't reely know how to stan' it havin' me thar. I guess he'd 'a' give considerable to git unhitched agin, and I wouldn't 'a held off, nuther.

"It was a sight to behold, that ar house o' hisn. Thar hadn't been a hammer teched to it sence 'twas put up, and o' all the tarnal old holes. The front steps was all rotted away. Thar wa'n't a hull winder in the house, and the ruf o' the keepin' room leaked like a sieve. Elihu he wouldn't hear to fixin' it up—tight as the bark of a tree, Elihu was. With all my naggin', he wouldn't do nothin' but put an old sawhorse by the front door, place o' steps, and board up some o' the winders. He'd a ben strung up sooner'n git shingles for that ruf. Used to set tubs in thar when it rained and ketch water for washin', said 'twas handy. 'Bout as close-fisted as I ever come acrost, Elihu Wilder was. And what with his bein' so notional, I don't know how I stood him as long as I did. He was wuss'n any old woman I ever see. Had the forenoon all crammed full of a sight o' ole truck he'd been scrapin' up and savin', the goodness knows what fer—dried yerbs and ole tin pans and pieces o' rope and wagon wheels and legs o' bedsteads; and he wouldn't hear to havin' 'em clerred out; wouldn't have 'em teched. He was sot in his ways as ever a bein' was created—jest. Went to bed at eight o'clock, year in and year out, and got up at four to the tick, and half-past four of a Sunday; and all the saints couldn't a made a minute's odds. Ef thar was anybody thar when the clock pointed to eight he never made no bones o' startin' 'em fer hum. Ef the heavens had a fell 'twouldn't 'a stirred him out o' his tracks. Ef I'd 'a knew what 'twas livin' with a bach'ler, I reckon I'd 'a steered clear 'o Elihu Wilder.

"Wal," Mis' Hitt pursued, with a greater tranquility of tone, "he didn't live but three year, Elihu didn't. He was took off with dropsy, for all, he'd never looked to have a pint o' liquid in him. Wouldn't git no doctor nor have nothin' done for him; he jest steeped up them ole yerbs o' hisn and set round the stove stirrin' and drinkin' 'o 'em. Wouldn't give up till the last minute; then he did give in, to lettin' the doctor tap him. Thar was 'most a gallon took out o' him. He wa'n't a natural lookin' corpse; he was swelled up so you wouldn't 'a knew him."

Mis' Hitt leaned over to drop the ashes of her pipe on the ground outside. Then she got up and filled it from a saucer in the cupboard, lighted it by means of a match and the lamp chimney, and sat down, recrossing her knees.

"Did Mr. Carter reappear?" asked the schoolmaster.

"'Rastus Carter, he'd went west a spell back. Paulliny Wiswell, she'd died o' the fever—'twa'n't no wonder nuther, livin' an clus up to that ar tannery—and 'Rastus he'd picked up and went off to Injiany. It come back that he's got married agin out thar."

"And you followed his example?" said the schoolmaster.

"Yes; I took up with Hitt for the next one. Hitt, he hadn't been livin' round here a great while; but I declar I might 'a knew what he was by his courtin'; he was hangin' round sich an everlastin' time afore he come to the pint. I reckoned I shouldn't never get shet o' him.

"Wal," said Mis' Hitt, musingly, "thar wa'n't much to Hitt, [illegible]

She smoked silently for a moment. The lapse of time and the feebleness of Hitt's characteristics seemed to have well nigh effaced him from her memory.

"Hitt," she added, without emotion—"Hitt was run over on the railroad, struck by the injine and busted forty foot in the air; wa'n't a hull bone left in his body. Folks did say he was too plum lazy to git out the way when he saw the injine comin'."

Mis' Hitt's pipe was reinstated. The hooting of an owl in the near wood sounded at slow intervals amid the drowsy clamor of the frogs. The schoolmaster watched the still-sanguine figure, whose masculine effect was not much detracted from by the vivid calico dress. Mis' Hitt's bright eyes roved in his direction.

"'Rastus Carter'd got back from Injiany," she said. "He'd buried his last wife out thar and he was lookin' round for another, and when Hitt was took off he come spearin' round. Abram Doty, he was steerin' my way, and 'Rastus he flared up; jest as high-tempered as ever, 'Rastus was. He pinted out West agin, and I hain't never heered no more on him.

"Wall, I'd lived with a curus set o' men enough, but Abram Doty was just about the cursn'est. He was gittin' 'long towards seventy when I took him, and he was broke down consid'able. I don' know as he was jest right in his mind. He was so terrible pious thar wa'n't no livin' with him."

Mis' Hitt's tone had no trace of apology. Doty, seemingly, had lain without the bounds of her experience, and therefore of her understanding.

"It 'peared to 'a struck in; he was clean possessed. Used to set round the house a-readin' in the bible and meditatin' on his sins that ar's what he give out to be doin' 'most the hull time."

"Wuss'n ever after that, Doty was. He couldn't bear to see me lookin' no ways decent; he laid down that ribands an' fixin's was instruments o' the devil; he chucked two o' my bunnets into the stove and tore up an alpacy gownd. He'd go without eatin' a mouthful for a day to a time—fastin', he give out he was—dear knows what for; he was skinny as a rail to begin with. He got so worked up cause I stirred up a mess o' fried cakes of a Sunday onst that he went off to the woods and stayed thar for a consid'able spell. Ketched his death thar, too, he come back clean sick. Neuralgy 'twas to the fust," said Mis' Hitt, with an increase of interest in her tone; "but a dretful lot o' things sot in—pneumony and the jawders and blood-pisonin' and the swellin' o' the jints; the doctor give in 'twas the wust case he'd ever come nigh. Laid thar for six weeks, Doty did; out of his head the hull time, and undergoin' such sufferin's as I never hurd the like of; ye could hear him hollerin' and groanin' clear out to the street. Made consid'able of a stir, bein' such a terrible bad case; had as big a funeral as I ever was to, Doty did."

Mis' Hitt's pipe was out; the pasture had grown quite dark, and the noise of the frogs was lessening. She got up and put her chair against the wall and closed the one small window near the ceiling by means of a broomstick. The school-master, conscious that an ignoring of these signs would not avail him, arose from his nail keg.

"I suppose you do not consider it probable that you will marry again?" he lingered to remark.

Mis' Hitt put up a bony hand to remove the one hairpin from her diminutive knot, which was apparently to be reconstructed for the night.

"I don't know but what I've had 'bout enough o' gittin' married," she responded with unfinished gravity.

She waited, unimpressed, while her visitor bowed, to shut the door behind him.

The schoolmaster paid another visit to the isolated little domicile toward the close of his sojourn in district No. 10 in consequence of a rumor which had come to his ears. It was to the effect that 'Rastus Carter had come back, and that he and Mis' Hitt had gone promptly to the justice and been made man and wife.

The rumor appeared to have a substantial foundation. There were two figures in the doorway—Mis' Hitt's stock of chairs having been added to by one. The old woman sat quietly smoking, her arms folded on her knees and her eyes resting vaguely on the near field; the change in her condition, possibly owing to its lack of novelty did not appear to have affected her. The little old man at her side, pale in comparison with her withered darkness, struck the schoolmaster with his resemblance to a mushroom beside a blackened toadstool. He had a round, shining crown, with a fringe of white hair surmounting a faded pink face. Its placid meekness might have led one to believe that his "techiness" and high temper were things of the past.

The schoolmaster, with a haunting certainty of being relegated to the nail keg if he went in, contented himself with a bright impression of the small red house with the woods for a background, and the swampy pasture for an unlimited front yard, and with Mis' Hitt and her last husband sitting in tranquil silence in the doorway.—Detroit Tribune.

THE SILENT STEED.

Rapid Growth in the Popularity of Bicycles and Tricycles.

It is interesting to note what strides in public favor the bicycle has made since its first introduction to the public. There are many who will remember what an ungainly thing it was about fifteen years ago, with both wheels of the same diameter and without the rubber tire which has done so much to make it easy riding and noiseless. The bicycle met with little favor at first, being likened to a boy's hobby horse, and it was generally believed that its use would be confined to boys. The rapid improvements made on the machine, which include the addition of the rubber tire, the ball and socket treadle, the small guide wheel and the many contrivances to beautify it, have made it so popular that it is now in use for business or pleasure all over the civilized world.

In this country the bicycle is not a money making machine, but in England and France the governments have made considerable use of it in the postoffice departments and in Germany the bicycle has been introduced in army evolutions. Our Government has not, as yet, recognized the bicycle officially, although the city of Washington possesses more bicycles than any other city in the Union. This is due not only to the large number of young clerks, but mainly to the fact that the asphalt pavements of Washington offer the finest bicycle roads in the world.

It is a pity that the wheel is not in more general use. At present it is almost wholly confined to young men, with a small sprinkling of the middle-aged. Ladies and children should use the wheel, which they can do with perfect safety and propriety in its modified form. It is not only healthful, but the easiest system of locomotion known. Unlike a horse, there is no expense after the first cost, and as an exercise it is much superior. It is recommended by physicians as the best tranquilizer for over-strung nerves or brain worry, and every year it is growing more in favor among business men. We Americans are a time saving people, and the time is not far distant when the bicycle riders will equal the pedestrians. It needs only smooth roads to hasten the day.—Philadelphia Call.

—Excellent Gravy: The Caterer gives this excellent recipe for gravy a la minute with beef extract: Cut up an onion and carrot and brown them lightly in a little butter. Then take half a pint of boiling water, and, having dissolved in it a half teaspoonful of beef extract, pour over the minced carrot and onion. When all have boiled for ten minutes flavor with mushroom or walnut catsup, and when skimmed and drained the gravy is ready for serving.

BUSINESS LIFE.

Sermon by Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D. D.

What God Intended to Be a School of Christian Energy, of Patience, for the Attainment of Knowledge, and of Christian Integrity.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 31.—Dr. Talmage, in his services at the Tabernacle this morning, took for his text Romans xii. 11: "Not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord." He said:

Industry, devotedness, Christian service, are all recommended in this one short text. What, is it possible to conjoin them? O, yes; there is no war between religion and business, between ledgers and Bibles, between churches and counting-houses. On the contrary, religion accelerates business, sharpens men's wits, sweetens acerbity of disposition, fillips the blood of phlegmatics, and throws more velocity into the wheels of hard work. To the judgment it gives more skillful balancing, to the will more strength—to industry more muscle—to enthusiasm a more concentrated fire. You can not show me a man whose business prospects have in any wise been despoiled by his religion.

The industrial classes are divided into three groups—producers, manufacturers, traders. Producers, such as farmers and miners; manufacturers, such as take the corn and change it into food, or the wool and flax and change them into apparel; traders, who make a profit out of the transfer and exchange of that which is produced or manufactured. Now, a business man may belong to one of these classes, or he may belong to all of them. Whatever be your avocation, if you plan, calculate, bargain; if into your life there come annoyances, vexations and disappointments, as well as gains, dividends and percentages; if you are harrassed with a multiplicity of engagements—in a word, if you are driven from Monday morning to Saturday night, and from January to January, with relentless obligations and duty, then you are a business man or a business woman, and my subject is appropriate to your case.

We are apt to speak of the moil and tug of business life as though it were an inquisition or a prison into which a man is thrown, or an unequal strife where, half armed, he goes to contend. Hear me this morning, while I try to show you that God intended business life to be a glorious education and discipline, and if I shall be successful in what I say I shall rub the wrinkles out of your brow and unstrap some of the burdens from your back.

I have first to remark to you that God intended business life to be to you a school of Christian energy. God started us in the world, giving us a certain amount of raw material out of which we were to hew our own character. Every faculty needs to be reset, rounded, sharpened up. After our young people have graduated from the schools and colleges and universities, they need a higher education, that which the collision and rasping of every day life alone can effect. Energy of soul is wrought out only in the fire, and when a man for ten, fifteen, or twenty or thirty years has been going through business activities, his energy can no longer be measured by weights, or plummets, or ladders. It can scale any height. It can plummet any depth. It can thrash any obstacle. Now, do you suppose that God has spent all this education on you for the purpose of making you a more successful worldling, of enabling you to more rapidly accumulate dollars, making you sharp in a trade? Did God make you merely to be a yardstick to measure cloths, or a steelyard to weigh flour? And did He intend you to spend your life in doing nothing but chaffer and haggle?

My friend, He has put you in this school to develop your energy for His cause and kingdom. There is enough unemployed talent in the churches, and in the world, to-day to reform all empires, and all kingdoms, and all people, in three weeks. O, how much idleness and strong muscle and stout hearts, how many deep streams that turn no mill-wheels and haul on the bands of no factory! God demands that He have the best lamb out of every flock, the richest sheaf in every harvest, the best man of every generation; and in a cause where the Newtons and the Lockes and the Mansfields of the earth were proud to enlist, you and I need not be ashamed to toil. O for fewer idlers and for more consecrated Christian workers.

Again: God intended business life to be to you a school of patience. How many little things there are in one day's engagements to perturb, and annoy, and disquiet you. Bargains will rub, and men will break their engagements, collecting agents will come back empty handed; tricksters in business will play upon what they call the "hard times," when in any times they never pay; goods placed on the wrong shelf; cash book and money-drawer in a quarrel; goods ordered for an especial emergency failing to come, or, if coming, damaged in the transportation; people who intend no harm going about shopping, unrolling goods they do not mean to buy, and trying to break the dozen; men obliged to take up other people's notes; more counterfeit bills in the drawer; more bad debts, another ridiculous panic.

Under all this friction men break down, or they are scoured up into additional brightness. How many you and I have known who, in the past few years, have gone down under the pressure, and have become petulant, and choleric, and crabbed, and sour, and pugnacious, until customers forsook their stores, and these merchants have become insolvent, and their names were pronounced with detestation. But other men have found in this a school for patience. They toughened under the exposure. They were like rocks, more serviceable for the blasting. There was a time when they had to choke down their wrath; there was a time when they had to bite their lip; there was a time when they thought of stinging retort they would like to utter. But now they have conquered their impatience; they have kind words for sarcastic flings; they have a polite behavior for discourteous customers; they have forbearance for unfortunate debtors; they have moral reflections for the sudden reverses of fortune.

How are you going to get that grace of patience? Not through hearing ministers preach about it. O, no! If you get it at all you will get it in the world, where you sell hats, and plead causes, and tin roofs, and make shoes, and turn banisters, and plow corn. I pray God that through the turmoil and sweat and exasperation of your every day life you may hear the voice of Christ saying to you: "If patience possess your soul, let patience have a perfect work."

Again: God intended business life to be to you a school for the attainment of knowledge. Merchants do not read many books, nor study many lexicons, nor dive into great profounds, yet through the force of circumstances they get intelligent on questions of politics, and finance, and geography, and jurisprudence, and ethics. Business is a hard school-mistress; if her pupils will not learn in any other way, with unmerciful hand she smites them on the head and on the heart with inexorable loss. You went into some business enterprise, and five thousand dollars got out of your grasp. You say the five thousand dollars were wasted. O, no, that was only tuition—expensive schooling, but it was worth it. Misfortune, with hard hand, comes upon a man and wakes him up, and by the very force of circumstances, business men get to be intelligent. Traders in grains must know about foreign harvests; traders in fruit must know about the prospects of tropical production; manufacturers of American goods must know about the tariff on imported articles; publishers of books must know the new law of copyright; owners of ships come to understand [illegible]

Now, what is the use of all this intelligence unless you give it to Christ? Do you suppose God gives you this opportunity of intelligence, only for your own advantage and of increasing your knowledge merely to get better treasures and greater bonuses? O, no! Can it be that you have been learning about foreign lands and people that dwell under other skies, and yet have no missionary spirit? Can it be that you have been learning the follies and the tricks and hollowness of the business world, and yet you are not trying to bring to bear upon them this Gospel which is to correct all abuses, and abolish all ignorance, and correct all mistakes, and arrest all crime and irradiate all darkness, and lift up all wretchedness? Can it be that, notwithstanding your acquaintance with the intricacies of business, you are ignorant of those things which will last the soul long after bills of exchange and commission, and invoices and consignments, and rent rolls, have crumbled up and consumed in the fires of a judgment day?

Again: God intended business life to be to you a school of Christian integrity. No age of the world ever offered so many inducements for scoundrelism as are offered now. There is hardly a statute on the law books that has not some back door through which miscreants can escape. How many deceptions in the fabric of goods! Commercial life plies the land with frauds innumerable, and there are so many people in Brooklyn and New York who live a life of plunder, that when a man proposes a straightforward, honest business, it is almost charged to greenness and want of tact. Ah, my brethren, this ought not to be. But I have to tell you that it requires more grace to be honest now than it did in the days of our fathers, when business was plain, and there was no stock gamblers, and woolen was woolen, and silk was silk, and men were men. How rare it is that you find a man who can from his heart say: "I never cheated in trade; I never overestimated the value of goods when I was selling them; I never covered up defect in a fabric; I never played upon the ignorance of a customer, and in all my estate there is not one dishonest farthing."

There are those who can say it. They never let their integrity bow or cringe to present advantage. They are as pure and Christian now as on the day when they sold their first tierce of rice, or their first firkin of butter. There were times when they could have robbed a partner; when they could have absconded with the funds of a bank; when they could have sprung a snap judgment; when they could have borrowed illimitably; when they could have made a false assignment; when they could have ruined a neighbor for the purpose of picking up some of the fragments: but they never took one step on that pathway of hell fire. Now they can pray without being haunted with the clink of dishonest gold; now they can read the Bible without thinking of the day when, with a lie on their soul, they kissed a book in the custom house; now they can look into the laughing faces of their children without thinking of orphans left by them penniless and homeless; now they can think of death without having their knees knock together, and their hearts sink, and their teeth chatter, because there is a judgment where all defrauders, and jockeys, and tricksters, and charlatans, shall be doubly damned. Now they can read in the Bible without flinching: "As the partridge sitteth on eggs and hatcheth them not; so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leave them in the midst of his days, and at the end shall be a fool."

Alas! If any of you, for the purpose of getting out of temporary embarrassment, dare to sell your soul, or any portion of it! You may wake up in the midst of embarrassment and say: "No one is looking; this transaction may be a little out of the way, but it is only once, only once." On that one occasion you not only wreck your spiritual nature, but you despoil your business prospects. You put one dishonest dollar in an estate, but it will not stand. You may take a dishonest dollar and put it down in the very depths of the earth, and you may roll on the top of it rocks and mountains, and on the top of those rocks and mountains you may put all the banks and moneyed institutions, piling them up heaven high, but that one dishonest dollar down in the depths of the earth will begin to rock, and heave, and upturn itself until it comes to the resurrection of damnation. You can not hide a dishonest dollar.

In the review of this subject there are two or three things I want to say, and the first is, let us have a larger sympathy for business men. I think it is a shame that in our pulpits we do not oftener preach on this subject and show that we appreciate the sorrows, and struggles, and temptations, and trials of every day life. Men who toil with the hands are very apt to be suspicious of those who move in the world of traffic, and think that they get their money idly, and that they give no equivalent. Men who raise the corn, and wheat, and rye, and oats are very apt to think that grain merchants get easy profits. The first is very apt to be jealous of the latter.

Plato and Aristotle were so opposed to all kinds of merchandise that they said commerce was a curse to the earth, and they recommended that cities should never be built any nearer the sea-coast than ten miles. But we have become wiser than that, and you know that there are no harder workers than those who plan and calculate in stores and banks and counting houses. What though their apparel be neat, what though their manners be refined, do not put them down as idlers. They carry loads heavier than a hod of bricks, they go into exposures keener than the cutting of the east wind, they scale mountains higher than the Alps and Himalayas, and maintaining their Christian integrity, Christ will at last accost them, saying: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

I also enjoin you to quit all fretfulness about business matters. Is there not something in your own household that you would not give up for the worldly success other men have! Besides that, if these trials lifted you up, you ought to bless God for the whip of discipline. The larger the note you have to pay, the greater the uncertainty of business life, the better for your soul if Jesus Christ leads you triumphantly through. How do I know? I know it by this principle—the hotter the furnace the better the refining. There have been thousands of men who have gone through the same path you are now going through with an aching heart. There are multitudes before the throne of God who were lashed with cares and anxieties innumerable, and were cheated out of every thing but their coffin. They were sued; they were ejected, they were imprisoned for debt; they were maltreated; they were throttled by constables with whole packs of writs, they were sold out by sheriffs; they had to confess judgments; they had to compromise with creditors, and their last hour on earth was disturbed by the fact that their door-bell was rung loudly and angrily by the hand of some impetuous creditor, who was surprised that the sick man should be so impertinent and outrageous as to die before he had paid him the last three shillings and sixpence.

O, how men are tossed and driven! I had a friend who went from one anxiety to another; a good and great heart he had, but every thing he put his hand to seemed to fall. Misfortunes clustered around, and after awhile I heard he was dead, and the first word I said was: "Good, he has got rid of the sheriffs." There is a great multitude of business men who on earth had it hard, but by the Grace of God they stand triumphant in Heaven; and when the question is asked of them: "Who are they?" the angels of God, standing on seas of glass, will cry out: "These are they which came out of great tribulation, and have washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb."

[illegible] world will frown, and [illegible] will set after you, and you will want more than this world can give you; you will need the Eternal Rock to stand on. For the lack of that grace you have known men to forge, and to [illegible] their friends, and to [illegible], and you have seen their names bulletined among scoundrels, and spit upon and blackened by scorn, and ground to powder. They not only lost their property, but their souls were mauled, and putrefied, and blasted for eternity. You could count up scores of such persons; while there are others who, tossed on the same [illegible] balanced by the grace of God, have all the time kept their eye on the light-house.

Men coming out of that man's store say: "If there ever was a Christian trader, that is one." Stern integrity kept the books and waited on the customers. Light from the future world flashed through the show windows. Wrath never stamped that floor, nor did sly dishonor cover up imperfections in goods. Love to God and love to men were the principles that ruled in the store of that Christian trader. Some day the shutters are not let down from the store window and the bars are not taken from the door; men pass along, and stop, and stare, and go up to read a card on the door which announces: "Closed on account of the death of one of the firm." That death—it is talked in commercial circles that a good man has gone. Boards of trade pass resolutions of sympathy, and churches of Christ pray: "Help, Lord, for the Godly man ceaseth." He has made his last bargain, he has suffered his last loss; he has ached with his last fatigue; the result of his Christian industry will bless his children after he is dead, and bequests to the Kingdom of God will gather many souls into glory. Everlasting rewards in place of business discipline! There "the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest."

BRIDAL COUPLES.

A Photographer Tells How These Happy Mortals Have Their Pictures Taken.

"Tell you something about bridal couples who get their pictures taken? Well, they are the hardest people to photograph that come here. We always take them on a 'wet plate,' and it takes twenty-five seconds fully to get any thing like satisfactory results. You see, they are mostly always nervous. The groom is especially so, and, while we can take a baby's picture in six seconds, it takes four times as long to photograph an ordinary bridal couple. It's rather funny, but the trouble is all on account of the man, that is to say, it is so in the great majority of cases. He gets rattled, you know, but the woman, the bride I ought to say, why, she is as cool as can be. No trouble at all with the brides. Sometimes they come here on their way to church, sometimes on their way home after leaving church; then, again, it often happens they come four or five weeks after their marriage to get their pictures. The bride, she takes her white dress with her, you know, and we have a lady attendant here to fix her up. That part of it doesn't take a great while."

"How do they usually want to be taken?"

"Well, the new style is standing up, that is liked better, the groom standing on the right side, the bride's right hand in his right hand. The old way, in which the groom was seated while the bride had her hand on his shoulder, is going out of fashion, or rather it is already out of fashion. Every body got to guying those pictures, you know, there was always a funny look on the groom's face, just as if he felt he'd been taken in. And his new clothes never looked well, but standing up there is always a chance to have the clothes hang properly, and so the new style is to have the pictures taken standing."—Chicago News.

FASHION IN REMEDIES.

A Remedial Agent Which the Physician Is Compelled to Acknowledge.

Prof. Leyden, president of the Berlin Society of Medicine, has this to say regarding the value of fashion in remedies: "No experienced physician will disregard the influence of fashion on medicine and therapeutics; fashion constitutes, I aver, a remedial agent which the physician has, in some degree, to acknowledge. Patients have more confidence in remedies which are of the fashion of the day, and more willingly submit to deprivations enforced by a treatment if this happens to be in fashion, i. e., if a number of well-known leaders of society and of their personal acquaintances have accepted it. This influence of fashion we have met with in a remarkable manner in the different methods of treatment of obesity. Twenty years ago Banting's cure was in fashion, which, if used with certain rational restrictions, I still consider the best treatment. At that time persons of the better classes, who fancied or observed the slightest propensity to become stouter, adopted Banting's dietary. At present, for the same reason, they barely dare to partake of soups, and either limit to the utmost their drinks, or entirely abstain from liquids, and consider this a far less severe penance than any other kind of treatment."—N. Y. Post.

Freaks of the Sense of Smell.

Arthur Mitchell, of 34 Drummond Place, Edinburgh, writes: I know a person who has never been conscious of any odor from a bed of mignonette, and I know another person who has never been conscious of any odor from a bean field. Both of these persons have the sense of smell acute and discriminating as regards other odors. I know persons who can not discover a difference between certain odors which are very different to ordinary persons. Then there are persons who are sickened by certain odors which usually give pleasure. A considerable number of persons seem to be altogether destitute of the sense of smell; and on the other hand there are a few who have the sense very strongly developed. I am at present investigating peculiarities of this sense, and I shall feel obliged to any one who will furnish me with illustrations or examples—whatever their character may be—with such fullness and precision as will enable me to use them in a scientific inquiry.—Nature.

Always Remained Clean.

Some visitors were down in a coal mine. On the side of the gangway grew a plant. It was perfectly white. They were astonished that, amid the coal-dust, this little plant should be so pure and white. A miner who was with them took a handful of black dust and threw it upon the plant, but not a particle adhered. Every atom of dust rolled off. The visitors repeated the experiment, but the coal-dust would not cling. If God can so form that little plant that no dust can cling to it, can He not also transform our hearts by His grace, that no sin can cling to them? If He can keep that herb in the coal mine pure and white, can He not keep my heart as white as snow?—Teachers' Journal.

Not Drawing Near in Faith.

She only touched with the touch of faith; the multitude pressing and thronging round, though as near or nearer in body, yet lacked that faith which is the connecting link between Christ's power and our need; and thus they crowded upon Christ, but did not touch Him in any way He should take note of. And thus it is ever in the church; many press upon Christ, His in name, near to Him and to His sacraments outwardly; yet not touching Him, because not drawing near in faith, not looking for, and therefore not obtaining, life and healing from Him, through these.—Archbishop Trench.

What the sun is to nature, what God is to the stricken heart which knows how to lean upon Him, are cheerful persons in the house and by the wayside.—A. A. Willets.

All of us who are worth any thing spend our manhood in unlearning the follies [illegible]

FARM AND FIRESIDE.

—[illegible] that are good [illegible] voracious feeders.—Prairie [illegible]

—Coffee cake should be [illegible] while warm in a napkin, [illegible] remain till cold.—The Househ[illegible]

—Bran and shorts moistened with water or buttermilk should [illegible] the morning food of every [illegible] laying hens.—Cleveland Leader.

—An Indiana farmer advises cutting off the tops of potato vines if they grow too rank, and states [illegible] has increased the yield by so [illegible]

—Plaster of Paris ornaments [illegible] be cleaned by covering them with a thick layer of starch, letting it dry thoroughly and then brushing with a stiff brush.

—The American Cultivator [illegible] readers to save all the feathers of chickens and other fowls, [illegible] best for pillows, etc., and [illegible] others, which are rich in [illegible] the manure heap.

—The best drug for poultry [illegible] is carbolic acid. Get a pint of it [illegible] for fifty cents, put one ounce in a gallon of water, and sprinkle [illegible] broom all over the chicken house and its furniture once a month.—[illegible] Journal.

—Election Cake: Three and [illegible] pounds of flour, one pound [illegible] one-half pound of butter, [illegible] one cup of yeast and one quart of milk. Let it rise over night. [illegible] lins, cinnamon and allspice [illegible] Blade.

—Browned Crackers: Dissolve an even table-spoonful of salt in [illegible] cold water, split some hard crackers (Bent's or Boston), dip the halves one by one in the salt water, but [illegible] and place in the oven to crisp. [illegible] for tea.—Boston Post.

—Corn stalks have much less [illegible] ness in them before they bloom [illegible] tassel, as it is usually called. [illegible] shows this, and a cow given her [illegible] of the two confirms the [illegible] chemical science. The stalks [illegible] until the ears are fully formed [illegible] gin to harden.—Chicago Herald.

—It will surprise old poultry [illegible] to learn that the common hawk is regarded as a valuable bird. He [illegible] one hundred field mice for every [illegible] en, and if there be a fair amount of shrubbery around the hen yard [illegible] few chickens will be lost from [illegible] relations.—N. Y. Times.

—Ginger Snaps: Three cups of flour, seven tablespoonfuls of shortening, one tablespoonful [illegible] one scant teaspoon salt. Put [illegible] ingredients in a pan and pour [illegible] pint of boiling molasses (New Orleans makes the best): mix well [illegible] and add flour enough to knead, [illegible] and bake quick.—Philadelphia [illegible]

—Grape Pie. Pop the pulps [illegible] the skins into one vessel and [illegible] skins in another. Then simmer the pulp a little and run it through [illegible] der to separate the seed. Next [illegible] skins and pulp together and [illegible] ready for jugging or for pies. [illegible] prepared in this way are nearly as good as plum pie, and that is very [illegible] Household.

—Try these waffles for breakfast or lunch: Pass one pint of warm boiled rice through a sieve and [illegible] it a small teaspoonful of salt, one [illegible] spoonful of flour sifted with two [illegible] spoonfuls of baking powder. Beat the whites of three eggs to a stiff froth. Beat the yolks of three eggs as light as possible and mix with three [illegible] milk; stir the mixture into the rice and flour and add an ounce of melted butter; add the frothed whites; [illegible] thoroughly together and pour into a waffle-iron, baking a delicate [illegible] The waffle-iron should be heated, greased and filled two-thirds full [illegible] the mixture.—Exchange.

FARM LABORERS.

The Question of Wages as It P[illegible] Itself to Agriculturists.

As farming is carried on, most [illegible] who improve new farms, building [illegible] own fences, outbuildings, etc., [illegible] every acre broken up for growing [illegible] for many of the first years of [illegible] farming operations, get stiff in [illegible] and muscle at thirty-five, and be [illegible] feel old at forty-five. If their [illegible] when taken in hand was tim[illegible] then the result of the added str[illegible] very much more pronounced. [illegible] starting on such an enterprise [illegible] do so single-handed, as the help of [illegible] boys comes in later. Without cash [illegible] tal to draw from, it can hardly [illegible] pected that a new farm, started [illegible] way indicated, will earn any surplus [illegible] of which wages can be paid to hired [illegible] No, the country has been settled and improved, in a great measure, by [illegible] ling one set of men and women [illegible] set that could only have a farm [illegible] home by making this from the [illegible] land, through the vigor and vital[illegible] their own brain and brawn.

But in later years help must be employed, and it is not with farming [illegible] stock-growing as with certain spe[illegible] tive and manufacturing pur[illegible] where, as it were, the turn of a [illegible] brings with it large and quick re[illegible] It is a serious question when grain [illegible] being raised without profit—and [illegible] the purpose of selling off the farm [illegible] whether it is not best to let the [illegible] stand over and rest rather than [illegible] it with hired labor at current [illegible] Expenses have so grown of late [illegible] compared to former years, that [illegible] men look back at the wages paid [illegible] ago, the difference is seen to be a[illegible] ling. Thus, Prof. Thompson in [illegible] lecture on labor in Harvard, st[illegible] that in 1793 an Eastern canal comp[illegible] offered $5 a month for laborers du[illegible] the winter months, and $6 during [illegible] summer, with board and lodg[illegible] About the same time United St[illegible] soldiers were paid only $3 a mo[illegible] A proposal to raise the pay to $1 [illegible] met by the statement that in Verm[illegible] labor was only worth $1 a month [illegible] board and clothing. In 1797 [illegible] labor was employed in Rhode Isl[illegible] for $3 a month for the year, and fo[illegible] during the busy season. In Conne[illegible] cut a strong boy could be hired fo[illegible] a month to work from daybreak [illegible] eight or nine o'clock at night. [illegible] course produce was low in price, a[illegible] rise in butter from eight to ten ce[illegible] turned the heads of farmers' wives [illegible] daughters. Girls hired out at twe[illegible] five cents a month and board. In [illegible] the best farm hands could be had [illegible] twenty-five cents a day, and twice [illegible] price for mowing time. In 1829 [illegible] hired out to work on the canals at [illegible] to seventy-five cents a day. But [illegible] [illegible] farmer afford to pay $18 a month [illegible]

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established, 1869.

CHARLEVOIX, NOV. 10, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE, Associate Editor.

THE ELECTIONS.

Latest Returns Only Increase the Republican Majorities.

MICHIGAN elects a republican governor and full state ticket by 8,000 plurality as against 4,000 in 1884.

The republicans also gain two congressmen, in the 2d and 6th districts.

The following are the congressmen from this state with their pluralities:

1. J. Logan Chipman, dem. 1,456.
2. E. P. Allen, rep. 1,012.
3. James O'Donnell, rep. 4,796.
4. Julius C. Burrows, rep. 2,556.
5. M. H. Ford, dem. 499.
6. Mark S. Brewer, rep. 1,980.
7. Justin R. Whiting, dem. 586.
8. T. E. Tarsney, dem. 510.
9. Byron M. Cutcheon, rep. 3,192.
10. Spencer O. Fisher, dem. 1,736.
11. Seth C. Moffatt, rep. 3,500.

IOWA gives a 10,000 majority for the republican ticket and eight republican congressmen are elected out of eleven.

IN NEW JERSEY the democrats elect governor by 3,000 plurality. The republicans elect 3 of the 5 congressmen and the legislature is a tie on joint ballot.

IN CONNECTICUT the republican majority in the legislature is 25, insuring the re-election of Senator Hawley and the state ticket, the democratic candidate lacking 2,243 of a majority, thus throwing the election in the legislature. The congressional delegation will stand three democrats and one republican.

WISCONSIN goes republican by 25,000. The legislature is republican by 25 on joint ballot. The congressional delegation remains the same.

IN NEBRASKA the republican state ticket is elected by 20,000. All republican congressmen are elected except Howe, rep., who is defeated by 1,000.

IN CALIFORNIA, with five tickets in the field, the republicans carry the state for governor, get a majority in legislature and elect all six congressmen.

IN MASSACHUSETTS the latest report gives Ames, rep., a majority of 9,100. The legislature is republican.

IN VIRGINIA the republicans gain 5 congressmen.

IN TENNESSEE "Bob" Taylor, dem., defeats his brother "Alf" by about 20,000. The democrats gain one congressman.

IN PENNSYLVANIA the republicans wipe out Patterson's plurality in 1882 and this time elect Beaver by about 49,000. Congressmen remain the same.

THE RHODE ISLAND republicans carry one congressional district and there is no election in the second.

FLORIDA re-elected her two democratic congressmen, and adopts a new constitution.

ALABAMA, GEORGIA, MISSOURI, LOUISIANA and TEXAS, go solidly democratic as usual.

IN INDIANA the republicans elect their state ticket. The legislature is democratic by 1 on joint ballot. Seven out of twelve republican congressmen are elected.

UTAH and WYOMING territories elect republican delegates to congress.

WEST VIRGINIA shows no change in the congressional delegation.

KANSAS elects a republican governor by 37,000 plurality and elects all 7 republican congressmen.

IN NORTH CAROLINA the republicans get 2 congressmen and the legislature.

IN NEW YORK Peckham's, dem., plurality is estimated at 8,681. The assembly will stand: republicans 77, democrats 51.

IN ILLINOIS the republicans carry the state by 30,000. The legislature is republican, Morrison defeated for congress.

COLORADO elects a democratic governor.

MINNESOTA elects a republican governor by a very small majority and the democrats elect 3 of the 5 congressmen.

IN KENTUCKY the republicans gain 2 congressmen. Carlisle for congress is elected by a small majority in a strong democratic district.

The great importance to the republicans of the result of the congressional elections will be realized when it is considered that in case the next presidential election will be thrown into the house there will be twenty states out of the thirty-eight voting as a unit for the republican candidates.

Northern Michigan.

Housebreaking and petty thieving are bothering Cadillac householders.

The indications are that there will be more logs got out the coming winter in the Cheboygan region than ever before in one winter.

Merritt Chandler, of Cheboygan, advertises cedar timber for sale in large or small quantities, in Cheboygan, Emmet, and Presque Isle counties. Mr. Chandler owns several tracts of the best cedar in Northern Michigan.

The Chippewa County News says: The foundation for the new hotel Ste. Marie, opposite the canal park, is progressing nicely. The material for its construction is arriving on every trip of the Messenger from Cheboygan.

Record: On Tuesday night a burglar entered the residence of Mr. T. Wise on Mitchell street through the side door which it is presumed was not locked but which had a sewing machine standing against it. He secured four watches, and rifled the pockets of Mr. Wise of $5 in money. In taking the watch of Mr. Wise which was hanging on the bed post the chain rattled and woke Mrs. Wise who supposing it to be her son George spoke to him. The burglar made no reply but crouching down made tracks for the door and before Mrs. Wise could awaken her husband who is a sound sleeper, made his escape through the open side door with his booty, and up to this writing there are no probabilities of his capture.

OFFICIAL CANVASS.

VOTE OF CHARLEVOIX COUNTY, TUESDAY, NOV. 2d, 1886.

[illegible]

Political.

The g. o. p. got there with both feet. Now for victory in 1888.

Democratic "reform" and free trade are not popular with the people.

Democracy, as a ruling power, is short-lived. The handwriting is on the wall.

Cutcheon's plurality reaches 3,192. Two years ago it was 2,756. A magnificent indorsement of a faithful public servant.

Mr. Dougherty's majority in this Representative district will reach fully 650. Young Mr. Lewis will have to sub-let his rooms at Lansing.

One of the humors of the late campaign was to be found within the communion of the Manistee Congregational church. Gen. Byron M. Cutcheon, one of the deacons, was the Republican nominee for Congress. His Prohibition opponent, Dr. Ellis, aids Gen. Cutcheon in passing the bread and wine. A third deacon of the church, David Bemis, was the prohibition candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction. The Rev. Dr. Fairfield, the pastor of the church, took the stump with Gen. Cutcheon. Notwithstanding the diversity of views, the utmost harmony prevails inside the church.

Marine.

Sixteen vessels were wind bound in the harbor from Thursday of last week until yesterday.

Capt. S. M. Rose has succeeded in getting his boat, the Valley Queen, to St. Clair's point on Intermediate lake.

The schooner Southwest, which cleared from here last week with lumber for Detroit, lost her foreboom off Cheboygan.

The Dahlia is taking up the summer buoys around the straits, and putting in others to be left to be carried away by the ice. The buoys should be left for three weeks yet.

Chicago Journal: It is evident that the country can now rest in security, confident that the destructive heresy of free trade is, for the present, at least, dead. No party in any near future campaign will dare to attempt its resurrection.

In Iowa the fact has been developed that Cleveland's vetoing of pension bills is rapidly driving Democratic ex-soldiers into the Republican ranks. Every honest Democrat all over the country, who was a soldier of the late war, feels indignant that the President of the United States and head of his party should so virulently antagonize the rights of every patriot soldier in the land.

Rasings from Reyes.

The machinery for Whitford and Cram's saw mill arrived last week.

Wm Compton moved into the Hanson residence last Monday.

Mrs. Russ, mother of Mrs. S. W. Solter, came from Grand Rapids last Friday and will make her home with her daughter in the future.

Henry Hare lost nearly all the material for a new house last Tuesday by forest fires. He saved about five hundred feet of lumber.

Harry Oystrim moved into the O. T. Booth residence last week.

Fred Smith has the contract for a new residence for J. A. Bacot. He will build on the Charlevoix and Pine lake road.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Solter presented school district No. 6 with a bell and had it placed in the belfry last Saturday. It is one of the bells given by the "Rural New Yorker" as a premium for raising a club list for their paper.

Geo Saunby had new flues built on his house the past week.

The forest fires last week did considerable damage to standing timber besides burning fences and scaring some of the inhabitants almost out of their winter.

—Notice the new time card of the G. R. & I. in this issue.

Holiday cards are running in satin almost wholly this year.

Those nigh art stoves can be obtained only at Stockman & Iddings. They are going fast—do not miss the opportunity of having a good and handsome stove, cheap.

There were only 192 votes cast in Eveline at the recent election, against 251 cast last spring.

The Work of the Prohibitionists.

The prohibition "party" in Charlevoix county on Wednesday morning found themselves in the predicament of the Hindoo of the fable, who went out to hunt for his donkey and found himself confronted by a lion enveloped in the donkey's skin. The lion threw off his disguise and devoured the poor Hindoo.

The prohibition movement in this county has been fed and nurtured by the Bourbon promoters of Dan Jerrue's cause, who, like their French prototypes, "never forget and never learn;" the organ of the Democratic machine has encouraged the movement, knowing that it meant success to the head of their ticket.

They were correct—it was only a repetition of the history of the prohibition party. It compassed the defeat of Capt. Berdan, and elected a man who has for years been the ideal representative of the principle which prohibitionists pretend to combat.

If prohibitionists say that Republicans voted for Jerrue, we will offset the statement by another, that Democrats all over the county voted for Berdan, a majority of the Democrats in Charlevoix recording themselves on the side of practical reform. Therefore, it is useless to deny that the 183 votes for Sheldon did the work!

If our local prohibitionists can take any comfort from the result of their work in this campaign they are welcome to it. But the verdict of candid men is that they have checked the progress of their own cause. They have brought about the triumph of whiskey and the gaming table; they have disgusted many who have always been upon the side of temperance reform, and cast a chill over the growth of temperance sentiment which will be felt.

It is not a work to be proud of.

Ironton.

Will Garland has control of the blacksmith shop and business lately operated by Mr. Fruzzel.

John Anderson, who has been running the engine of the Bob Stephenson this season, laid up the tug and quit the town on Saturday.

Miss Pearl Lennox gave a birthday day party on Thursday evening last. A large number of her friends were present, who bestowed appropriate gifts on their young hostess, and passed a pleasant evening.

Mr. John W. Esher and Miss Mary Butler were united in matrimony on Friday at Charlevoix. They returned home in the evening in time for the "tin-pan concert." Next!

Rev. J. T. Iddings will conduct a series of special meetings in the M. E. church beginning on Tuesday night, and continuing during the week.

Miss Nellie Noyes, who has been very ill for the past week, is so far recovered as to be able to assume her usual duties in the postoffice.

Mr. L. Allen's little daughter Gracie has been very sick with croup, but is recovering.

The M. E. people had a bee on Thursday, fixing up the church ready for winter, clearing off the lot, etc.

Mr. Thomas and Miss Annie Copeland came from Wapella, N. W. T. to this place to join their parents, who moved here from the same place last May.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Vaughn congratulate themselves over the advent of a 10 pound boy.

Our market reporter informs us that there is a downward tendency in lamp wicks on Sunday night.

Wanted Immediately.

An intelligent young man or woman to sell our goods on commission in Charlevoix county. Light work, large profits. Address with stamps,
THE W. C. LEWIS CO.
Elk Rapids, Mich.

Wood wanted at this office on subscription.

Fresh oysters direct from Baltimore at Jefferies' market.

Go to Scott's shop for a first-class job of horseshoeing.

A house and 6 lots for sale or rent. Inquire of L. E. Allen, Charlevoix.

A second hand Crown Jewel coal stove for sale at Stockman & Iddings at a bargain. Good as new.

Mrs. Litney & Carr, the popular milliners, have just received and are still receiving one of the finest and fullest lines of fall and winter goods ever brought to Charlevoix. The ladies are invited to call in and inspect their stock.

YOUR CHANCES ARE GOOD
FOR SECURING A BARGAIN,
In Everything in My Line.

I have just completed my stock of Winter Goods and a better line of

MACKINAWS,

You cannot find in any stock. The 3 point Mackinaws are the best that are made and I am the only one who keeps them.

Good Goods are the Cheapest, if you do have to pay a little more for them.

ALL-WOOL RED UNDERWEAR for $1.50 a suit. A large stock of FUR CAPS cheaper than ever sold before. I have cut my prices down on everything this fall and am bound to sell if low prices are any object.

GEO. W. MILLER.

THIS SHIRT
THE FINEST
In THE WORLD

For 89 Cts.
Worth $1.25.
Of F. W. CRAINE & CO.

AT FIFTY CENTS!
ON THE DOLLAR.

A Sale with Greater Bargains Than Before. | Another Gigantic Sale of Muslin Underwear. | SURE TO CAUSE ANOTHER RUSH.

LOT 1--15 CENTS.
Ladies' Aprons with tucks and long strings; Misses' Fruit of the Loom Drawers; Infants' Night Gowns; Ladies Perfect Fitting Corset Covers; Black Waists to wear under Corset covers, Misses' Children's and Young Ladies' Skirts; Boys' and Girls' Twilled Waists. Usual retail price, 25 and 30 cents.

LOT 2--25 CENTS.
Ladies' Fruit of the Loom Drawers; Misses' and Children's Fruit of the Loom Drawers trimmed with fine embroidery; Ladies' Ruffled Skirts and Lace trimmed Night Gowns; Infants' fine Lonsdale Cambric Slips; Children's and Misses' Night Gowns, lined yoke and back, all sizes; Ladies' Chemises, all trimmed, and some with one hundred tucks; Handsome Corset covers, in latest shapes; Extra Large Tucked Aprons. Usual retail price, 40 to 50 cents.

LOT 3--50 CENTS.
Ladies' Mother Hubbard Night Gowns; Handsomely Trimmed Night Gowns; Chemises with Hamburg yokes and linen lace; Corset covers, elaborately trimmed; Ladies' Skirts, with deep Hamburg and Cambric Ruffles, Combination Garments; Chemises and Skirts, some with hundred tucks, and Hamburg yokes; Misses' Fruit of the Loom Night Gowns; Ladies' Hamburg Edge and Inserting Trimmed Drawers. Usual retail price, 75 cents and $1.00.

Come for them quick,---- F. W. CRAINE & CO.

Unusually Great
BARGAINS
IN DRY GOODS,
DURING NOVEMBER.

WE OFFER A FULL ASSORTMENT OF ALL SEASONABLE GOODS AND PRICES ARE WONDERFULLY LOW.

IN DRESS GOODS WE ARE SELLING ALL WOOL HOMESPUN AT 45c.

WIDE, WOOL SERGES, ELEGANT FINISH, AT 20c. FULL LINE OF 6-4 ALL WOOL TRICOTS AND CREPE CLOTHS.

SILK AND WOOL ASTRAKAN CLOAKINGS IN DECIDEDLY GOOD VALUES.

LADIES WOOL BOUCLE JACKETS $3.75

Watch for Special Sale of Cotton Flannels.

BLANKETS! BLANKETS!
Extra Values in all Grades on
SATURDAY, NOV. 13,
we will sell No. 1 Manistee or Saginaw Fine Salt at $1.05 a bbl.

New Hampshire Horse Blankets 2 straps, 75 c.

KERSEY PANTS, MACKINAWS AND WOOL SOCKS, FOR LUMBERMEN.

Look at our Lamp Goods, for the long evenings. Patent extension Lamps from $3.50 up. Duplex Lamp Burners only 50c.

IMMENSE LINE OF GROCERIES. The best Goods for the least money
County Orders bought.

J. L. HURD & CO.

CHEER UP! CHEER UP!
CHEER UP,
A HAPPY TIME COMING!

Rosenthal & Son
Have just returned from the market and have purchased the largest stock of goods ever before brought to Charlevoix.

IN DRY GOODS we have a large line in Dress Goods of the latest styles and at prices to suit everybody. Also a full stock of Notions, Ribbons, Buttons of the latest styles and a big stock of Domestics.

IN CLOAKS we have the finest line of short Wraps, Newmarkets, street Jackets, in excellent styles for children and misses. Made in Plush, Astrakan, Friza, Beaver and Diagonals.

IN CARPETS: A mammoth line of Brussels Ingrains, stair and hall Carpetings and Rugs of every description. Window Curtains in lace, jute and oil with fixtures.

IN CLOTHING: Mens,' Youths,' Boys,' and Childrens' Clothing and Overcoats at almost any price. A large line of Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, etc.

IN TRUNKS, we take the cake and can sell them from 50 cents to $15.00.

A grand chance to strike BARGAINS. Our goods are the best and our stock complete.

Yours, always ready to wait on Customers,
ROSENTHAL & SON.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL. XVIII. NO.--29 CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1886. WHOLE NO. 886

School Books!
SCHOOL BOOKS! SCHOOL BOOKS!
---HEADQUARTERS---
For Everything needed in the School Room, at
HINES & CO.'S DRUG AND STATIONERY STORE.

You will find it to your interest to look over our stock before purchasing elsewhere.

Respectfully,
F. G. HINES & CO.

THE PIONEER HOUSE OF CHARLEVOIX CO.
New Winter Goods
BEING RECEIVED WEEKLY.

We call especial attention to our complete stock of
BOOTS and SHOES.

TEAS of all kinds. We will guarantee you the best Tea for the money, in the county.

ALL GRADES of FRESH ROASTED AND GREEN COFFEES.

A Fine line of Everything in
FURNITURE.

BIG DRIVES IN
Flannels, Yarns, and Blankets.

Please bear in mind that our stock embraces
EVERYTHING
usually found in a General Store.

Remember: Our Goods are the Best. Our Prices the Lowest. Our Record the Oldest.

Resp'y Yours,
Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

We can Supply you with EVERYTHING in our Line.
THE FINEST STOCK OF
FURNITURE
ever offered in Charlevoix,
IS NOW AWAITING YOUR INSPECTION AT
Henry C. Cooper's.

A Choice Line of
FRESH GROCERIES,
OF EVERY VARIETY,
Including Confectionery, Fruits, Canned Goods, and Tobaccos and Cigars in stock
For your inspection in OPERA BLOCK by
R. J. COOPER.

THE ELECTIONS.

THE RETURNS ALL IN.
EVERYBODY HAPPY.

Now you may need one or more of the following articles.

If you do, REMEMBER,
YOU CANNOT DO ANY BETTER THAN TO PURCHASE IMMEDIATELY OF US, THE VERY BEST GOODS FOR THE VERY
LEAST MONEY!

Stoves.	Wolf Robes.	Hanging Lamps.
Stove Boards.	Sleds.	Cutlery.
Stove Dampers.	Sleigh Bells.	Oil Cans.
Stove Leg Rests.	Sleigh Shoe Steel.	Axes.
Horse Shoes.	Oil Cloth Binding.	Saws.
Ventilators.	Horse Nails.	Wedges.
Stove Pipe.	Rugs.	Iron and Steel.
Roof Caps.	Wagons.	Lanterns.
Feed Cutters	and other	articles needed.

For The Coming Winter.

Come and Inspect Our Stock.

Respectfully,
STOCKMAN & IDDINGS.

The Best Groceries
At The Lowest Prices
ARE FOUND AT THE GROCERY AND PROVISION HOUSE OF
A. E. MASON.
I do a strictly Cash-over-counter business and will guarantee lowest prices.

J. MILO EATON'S
REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE,
AND LOAN OFFICE.
The oldest in the county. Established in 1875.
Money to loan in sums to suit and at lowest rates on improved farms.
ABSTRACTS OF TITLE furnished on short notice. Office over Postoffice.

Pine Lake Iron Co.
IRONTON, MICH.

A MAMMOTH NEW STOCK OF
GENERAL MERCHANDISE,
Just Receivd for Winter Trade,
which we will sell at
LOWEST PRICES.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
SMITH & PARMELEE,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
Address all business correspondence to the firm.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One year $1.50 | Six months $.75
Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—Thanksgiving one week from tomorrow.

—"Just Before the War" at Opera hall, this evening.

Attend Hon. D. C. Leach's lecture at Opera Hall to-night.

—Will Cooper has accepted a position in J. C. Glenn's store at East Jordan.

—Preaching next Sabbath at Black's school house at 2:30 p. m. and at Johnson's at 7 p. m.

—Mrs. R. A. Campbell and son Bertie, left yesterday for Traverse City to be absent a few days.

—Charlie Lang returned from a hunting trip in the vicinity of Harbor Springs, on Thursday, bringing a fine buck.

—Mrs. H. W. Beach and son Rex, of Banks, were the guests of Rev. W. H. McCartney, Friday. They were en route for Florida.

—H. C. Dolph and his cousin, Miss Eva Adams, returned to Chicago on Friday. Miss Adams will remain there for the winter.

—It is a question who is the happiest, Sheriff Berdan as "grandpa," or Capt. Robert O'Neill as "papa." Bob has a ten pound daughter.

Chas. Banbury, the veteran drayman, lost his fine dray horse last week. Mr. Banbury informs us that he will go to Canada soon for the winter and return early in the spring with a team of the best dray horses yet put on the street.

—Hon. D. C. Leach of Traverse City, gives his popular lecture, "Just Before the War" at the Opera house this evening for the benefit of Baxter Post. Every one should go, not only because it is a fine lecture but also to give the G. A. R. boys a lift.

—J. E. Darrah, of Melrose, was in town Saturday, and purchased two fine teams, one of Wint Lamphear, of this place, and one of Wm. Stevens of Marion. They will be put into the woods on the timber contract spoken of in these columns some time ago.

—Rev. C. F. VanAuken and wife arrived Saturday, and Mr. VanAuken occupied the Congregational pulpit Sunday evening. Mrs. Van Auken has fully recovered from her recent illness, and will remain here for the winter at her home on Clinton street. Mr. Van Auken returned to his circuit of labor Monday evening.

—Progress: The election of Mr. A. K. Dougherty cannot fail to be a benefit to his district and to the party which elected him. As far as his republicanism goes he is "true blue" to the teachings of his party. Furthermore he is a workingman, one who for years has labored six day out of every week. The Hon. A. K. will go to Lansing with the best wishes of Elk Rapids and Antrim.

The Pine Lake Iron Co., since the enlargement of their store building at Ironton, have one of the most commodious and best arranged mercantile establishments in Northern Michigan, and their stock embraces everything. The purchase by the Company of the Capt. Carrol property at Horton's Bay, spoken of last week, has fallen through, and the Company will erect a store building there this fall or early in the spring.

—A Western paper tells its readers how "to mind their P's" in the following paragraph: "Persons who patronize papers should pay promptly, for the pecuniary prospects of the press have a peculiar power in pushing forward public prosperity. If the printer is paid promptly, and his pocket-book kept plethoric by prompt paying patrons, he puts his pen to his paper in peace; his paragraphs are more pointed; he paints his pictures of passing events in more pleasing colors and the perusal of his paper is a pleasure to the people. Paste this piece of proverbial philosophy in some place where all persons can perceive it.

—We are afraid that consistency is a jewel that will never sparkle in the crown of some of our prohibition friends. They threaten to boycott republican papers for indulging in adverse criticism to their acts, while at the same time they are the most rabid in their utterances against republicans. As an instance we quote the following extract from a discourse last week by our dear prohibition brother, the Rev. E. Tanner, pastor of the Plainwell M. E. church: "Any Christian who refuses to vote the prohibition ticket ought to be yoked with the devil and made to toil for a thousand years on the hot pavements of hell." If our memory serves us right, the recent public utterance in Charlevoix of well known third party leaders to the effect that any man who made it possible by his ballot for a saloonist to get a license, should go to states prison along with the saloon keeper and the man who drinks, was heartily applauded by our prohibition friends. Will someone please rise and tell us when the SENTINEL has stated anything but the cold facts in regard to the third party movement?

—Barton's majority for Senator is over 800.

—W. J. Bradley is back in Charlevoix again.

—Capt Roberts, of the tug Higgie, had a son married in Chicago on last Monday.

—Miss Emma Todd makes a short visit to her relatives at Cheboygan this week.

—W. L. French returned to his home in Kenosha, Wis., Thursday on the Lawrence.

—A jury in the Smith murder case was secured last evening, and the trial began this morning.

—Miss Fannie Steele, niece of Mrs. R. A. Campbell, visited relatives at Northport last week.

—Cross & Son in the agate works building, are doing a lively business in the farmers produce line.

—J. Milo Eaton visited East Saginaw and Port Huron last week, returning home Thursday morning.

—Leslie Giddings was so unfortunate as to lose his pocketbook containing all his summer wages, last week.

—The steamer North Star will make regular trips to Boyne City this week, leaving here at nine o'clock every morning.

—Circuit Court is in session at Boyne City, the case of Thomas Smith for murder, being the first case on the docket.

—Progress: Hon. A. K. Dougherty is given the credit of being one of the sharpest and shrewdest politicians in Northern Michigan.

—J. L. Hurd & Co. have an attractive advertisement in this issue embodying information that will be of interest to our readers.

—O. W. Smith has recently stocked his agate shop with a fine line of nuts and confectionery. He will continue agate grinding, however.

—The drug stores of F. G. Hines and Perry Weed are receiving large stocks of Holiday goods. Look out for their Christmas announcements soon.

—Kenney Bros., the feather renovators, have made themselves quite popular among the ladies of Charlevoix for their admirable work in the feather cleaning line. Their work is all that they claim for it and it pays to patronize them.

—The Pine Lake Iron Co. of Ironton, have an advertisement in this issue. Their mercantile establishment is one of the most extensive in the Pine Lake region, and their stock embraces almost every known article of merchandise.

—The large two-story boat house of Joseph Beauvais, adjoining the Charlevoix Summer Resort, is completed. Mr. Beauvais will use this building for the manufacture of yachts and sail and row boats, building an additional boat house and landing, over the spring, early next season.

—Mr. Leach was in congress for four years preceding the war and the details he gives of the events which immediately led to the rebellion is taken from personal observation. No lecture could give the history of a more interesting or important part of our national record.

—Just hear what the Elk Rapids Progress says: The East Bay "returning board" will probably have a lawsuit on its hands for the unscrupulous manner in conducting the the election. John Pulcipher and his gang will get their bil. That roost ought to be broken up.

—The Scientific American, published by Munn & Co. New York, presents weekly to its readers the best and most reliable record of various improvements in machinery, while the scientific progress of the country can in no way be gleaned so well as by the regular perusal of its pages.

—Boyne City is all worked up over the discovery that the Cheboygan Manufacturing Company's mill at that place has been leased for three years by the Pine Lake Lumber Co., for three years, and will keep it shut for that time, in the interest of their lumber business. The Citizen waxes wroth, and suggests that the supervisor put the taxes on to cover the exigencies of the case.

—That enterprising and wide-awake clothier, Geo. W. Miller, is replenishing his stock in every line. Very few towns in Northern Michigan can boast of an establishment as metropolitan in its appointments and as complete in its stock as that of Mr. Miller. George is himself a successful buyer and a model salesman, and the popularity of his establishment never diminishes. An especially fine line of hats just received.

—Our citizens who are needing supplies for winter should look over the advertisements and ascertain who of our merchants are handling the largest line of goods. Our home market is well supplied with every kind of goods, of the best qualities, and there is no need of seeking other markets. Our merchants and business men support the town by paying taxes and contribute to the success of all enterprises, and our citizens owe them their patronage. We have made it a rule to buy everything we need in our own town if it can be obtained and believe a portion of the money, at least, returns in the prosperity of the town, where all adhere to that rule. A safe and profitable rule is to patronize your town merchants, for all merchandise sold by them.

—Hon D. C. Leach, of Traverse City, made the SENTINEL a pleasant call yesterday.

—The new court house at Boyne City is a neat and substantial building. The court room is large, light, and well arranged and furnished for the purpose. The county offices are convenient and commodious. The jail occupies the east end and contains a corridor and three cells.

—The Journal's deductions from the result of the recent local election are not logical. There were forces bearing upon county politics this fall that our contemporary pretends to ignore. In eastern Townships, Jerrue received 226 votes—all from partizans of the Boyne City cause, and gained through misrepresentation and "boodle." If the Journal will prove that there were any friends of the East Jordan cause among the 226 we will recognize the "rebuke." The complexion of Meech and Upright on the county seat question was of the same shade—both avowed partizans of East Jordan. Now just where does the "rebuke" come in there? In 1884 Thatcher went before the people with the prestige of a regular nomination. In 1886 he ran independent and was compelled to combat that strong sentiment in American politics, loyalty to King Caucus. Another significant fact is that last spring Charlevoix Township gave East Jordan 50 majority over Boyne City. In the recent election Thatcher received 107 plurality in Charlevoix. In Norwood, one of the most pronounced East Jordan Townships, Mr. Thatcher received 26 plurality. Wherein was Mr. Thatcher rebuked? We still ask, wherefore? Neither Mr. Meech nor Thatcher were the SENTINEL's candidates, but when the Journal writes "rebuke" upon the face of the returns, without analysis of the elements in the canvass, it only exemplifies a stupidity eminently conspicuous. Equally illogical is the editor's analysis of the question of the prohibition work. His display of figures proves nothing but the fact that the scope of his vision is circumscribed in his search for causes, beside exhibiting remarkable inaccuracy. A denial of the fact that prohibitionists elected Jerrue is a conspicuous weakness, in the light of the official returns. Dickie received 152 votes, and Sheldon 189—an excess for Sheldon of 37 votes, and Jerrue's plurality was but twenty. Why, bless your dear little soul, we can prove that nine Jerrue slips were voted upon prohibition tickets in two Townships alone, two more only being necessary to complete the number a change of which to Berdan would have elected him; and in the remaining thirteen townships they could no doubt be found. Prohibitionists elected Mr. Jerrue!

Religious.

M. E. Church.

Sunday services morning and evening at the usual hours. Young people's meeting, led by Mrs. R. A. Campbell. Topic: "Faith Secures the Blessing." Take a seat well in front. Act as if you knew it was your meeting.

One of the most pleasant events of the kind in the annals of the M. E. church occurred last evening at the parsonage. A reception was tendered the Rev. W. H. McCartney and wife by the M. E. ladies, and for three hours the parlors and dining room were crowded with the friends of the new pastor and family.

Historical Society.

The meeting of the Historical society at the residence of D. C. Loveday, East Jordan, last Friday evening, was a very enjoyable affair. The cabin of the steamer Gazelle was crowded with members of the Society, who attended. A number of friends in East Jordan were awaiting their arrival at 8 o'clock.

The exercises consisted of an instrumental solo by Mrs. Ella Smith; a reading from Macauley, by Hon. Nicholls, on the sentiment of the English people toward the Americans during the Revolution; a quartette by Mrs. Hines, Mrs. Clark, Messrs. Carlstein and Craine; a paper on the character of Evangeline, by Miss Gage, and an instrumental duet by Miss Maude and Master Asa Loveday. A bountiful lunch was served by the hostess, and, before adjourning, Mr. Robert Miller, though "too full for utterance," moved a vote of thanks to the host and hostess. Several speakers cited historical incidents connected with the Pine Lake region, and the motion was carried unanimously. The meeting finally adjourned by singing "Auld Lang Syne." All present will remember this occasion with unmixed pleasure.

The Society meets this week at the residence of W. A. Brown, with the following programme:

1. Music—a song.
2. The Paper—by Prof. Enos. press of India."
3. Singing—Quartette.
4. Who is the greatest living poet? (Question of opinion to be decided by the Society, ballot.
5. A reading by Miss Washburn.

The smoke of battle having cleared away, it is plain to be seen that the recent democratic defeats were due to two principal causes: (1) the democratic tendency toward free trade; (2) the unpopularity of the present administration.

The stock yards strike at Chicago has been declared off, and the men have returned to work on the ten hour plan, in obedience to the order of Mr. Powderly.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established, 1869.

CHARLEVOIX, NOV. 17, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE, Associate Editor.

Gen. Byron M. Cutcheon is developing a strength which promises to make him the Senatorial Garfield of Michigan.

The Pittsburg Commercial Gazette declares that Pensylvania is good for 100,000 for Blaine in 1888. No doubt Pennsylvania is equally good for whatever may be the republican candidate.

Congress appropriated this year $70,000 for improvement of country roads in the District of Columbia. Of that amount $56,000 has been expended on the roads leading to President Cleveland and Secretary Whitney's country seats. It pays to live on the same road with an Administration run on the "Jeffersonian simplicity" plan.

Reed City Clarion: "The Lansing Journal recognizes the fact that the fine Italian hand of Col. F. B. Stockbridge will be read on the Senatorial fight blackboard next winter. The name of that sterling old Roman, who signs his name as Byron M. Cutcheon, will also be on that blackboard somewhere."

Lansing State Republican: The Reed City Clarion intimates that the name of Byron M. Cutcheon will be chalked somewhere on the Senatorial blackboard next winter. All right. It's a big enough board to hold the names of all who want to enter; and such a good one as Gen. Cutcheon will add to the interest.

Grand Rapids Eagle: It cost the Michigan Democratic managers a good deal of money to keep the Greenbackers in line at the tail of their procession this year. But the Greenbackers, in addition to the perquisites, had a good deal of the same sort of fun that the Vermonter had, who, before the days of railroads, went down to Boston with a drove of hogs, and lost $1,000 on the venture. He said he had realized something from the trip after all—he "had the company of the hogs down."

Clinton and Shiawassee Union: "Now that R. G. Horr has lost the election in the Eighth district, the UNION hopes to see the Legislature of Michigan elevate him to a seat in the U. S. Senate. He possesses the ability, would do himself and the State honor, and the party in Michigan would rally on Horr for the fight of 1888, as it was accustomed to do in years past on heroic old Zack Chandler, when he marched at the head of the Republican hosts in this intelligent commonwealth. Let the guns all along the Republican line boom now for Horr for a seat in the Senate."

Postmaster General Vilas is also among the offensive partisans. He took an active interest in the elections in Wisconsin, going all the way from Washington to Madison to make partisan speeches, much as three others of his associates in Cleveland's Cabinet went to New York to fix things just before the election. So there are four of them. If the President's civil service pretenses and his so-called civil service order have a speck of sincerity about them he should turn the rascals out. The White House is the nestling place of hypocrisy under this Administration.

The Michigan Schoolmasters' Club, embracing educators from all over the State, organized for the purpose of discussing methods in the higher branches and secondary education, held its second meeting recently at Ann Arbor, where all meetings are to be held. Albion College, Olivet College, the State Normal School, Detroit, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Battle Creek, Adrian, Monroe, and other places, were represented, papers were read and discussed, and the officers were re-elected as follows: President, L. C. Hull, Detroit; Vice President, Leroy Halsey, Battle Creek; Secretary and Treasurer, B. I. D'Ooge, of Ypsilanti.

The spread of the rebellion in Afghanistan, and the surprise and massacre of one of the Ameer's entire regiments by the rebels, is a shock to England. It has brought out a letter from John Bright in which he says that England has always opposed Russia, and it is natural that Russia should retaliate when she has a chance; and he hopes that no ministry will dare to plunge England into a war in pursuit of this ancient enemy. This serves to show the drift of things. On the one hand it brings out in plain relief the steady advance of Russia towards the gates of British India, while on the other it shows a strongly growing feeling that the old time worry and fear about the Russian advance in Asia is not worth going to war over.

The Fusionists are recovering somewhat from their dazed condition.

Northern Michigan News.

Some of Cheboygan's business men are about lighting their stores with electricity.

Capt. Wagley and John Wagley are engaged at fishing near Middle Village again this fall.

Mrs. Walton, of Chandler, Township, Charlevoix county, was adjudged insane last week and was taken to Traverse City.

Boyne Citizen: Mr. Hammond shot a deer Monday. While hunting he came upon a herd of six near the G. R. & I. Railroad.

The Mancelona Oval Wood Dish Company are now making their own knives, and doing all their own blacksmithing at the factory.

Governor Alger has appointed Mr. Frank Sheperd Judge of Probate for Sheboygan county in place of Representative elect Perkins, resigned.

The vast tract of pine land lying east of Kalkaska and sold last week by Hannah, Lay & Co. contains one hundred million feet of standing pine.

John Archbold, Charles Mackey and George Harris of Elk Rapids, killed a deer last week while out hunting. Each man has the credit of killing it.

Mr. A. Kimble, of Rockford, Mich., has decided to remove his foundry and machine shops to Mancelona. The industry will be known as the Mancelona Iron Works.

The rails on the Sault Ste. Marie road are laid to within a short distance of Rhinelander, and the first train expected to arrive at that place the seventh of November.

It is reported that the purchasers of the Hannah, Lay & Co. lumber interests will put 12,000,000 feet of logs into the Boardman river this winter to be manufactured at Traverse City next season.

A new iron mine has been discovered seven miles south of Negaunee on the Pittsburg & Lake Superior iron company's lands. The ore is hematite and specular and the vein is 75 feet wide. The Murdock company who had a 25 year lease of the property, have been offered $125,000 for their find.

Boyne Falls Gazette: At the moment of going to press, we learn that the saw-mill advertised in our columns as being for sale, has been purchased by Mr. N. H. Gould, of Oakland Center, Kent Co. A house is being prepared for his reception and in a very short time the works will be in full operation.

In the case of the People vs. Abby Higgins, upon the charge of murder, a nolle prosequi was entered in the Antrim county court last week. An information was filed charging her with being accessory after the fact. To this information Mrs. Higgins plead guilty, whereupon she was sentenced to hard labor at Jackson for seven years—the full limit of the statute.

The following is an interesting Cheboygan item: "Recently Henry Smith, a tramp, broke into Eugene Bellant's residence at Cheboygan. Two young ladies who were the only occupants of the house, were awakened by the noise. They hastily dressed, slipped out and notified the police, and Smith was captured without difficulty. The fellow says it was he who set fire to Sault Ste. Marie a short time ago, and he promises to do the same thing for Chebogan."

Petoskey Record: On Saturday evening a large number of young people connected with the Presbyterian church gathered at the home of Mrs. E. C. Barnum on Emmet street, and organized a young people's society for religious, moral, mental and social improvement. A committee was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws to report next Saturday evening. The following were elected officers: President, Mrs. W. D. Snyder; vice-President, Mr. George Rice; Secretary, Miss Kate Smith; Treasurer, Mr. Henry B. Allen.

East Jordan Enterprise: Our young friend Will E. Palmiter, who has been assistant postmaster here several years, has resigned his position, and is fitting himself for a collegiate course. * * * The marriage of Wm. H. Lanway, of South Arm, to Miss Ida Chamberlain, of Banks, was consummated at the Baptist parsonage, in Charlevoix, Rev. W. G. Clark officiating, Sunday, Nov. 7. They arrived here Monday, and immediately took up their abode in the new house just built and furnished by the groom for his young bride.

Harbor Springs Republican: The new Catholic buildings are now nearly completed and they are substantial edifices. The Monastery, or Priests residence is done off into 6 rooms on the first floor and 11 rooms in the 2d story, while the school building contains 7 rooms—hardwood floors in both buildings. Two sisters from Notre Dame, Milwaukee, are expected to arrive here in a few days, and the school building will be dedicated in the course of two or three weeks. This institution is under the charge of the Franciscan Fathers. Very Rev. Father Alitzaicks, Superior.

EDUCATIONAL.

All communications on educational topics should be addressed to Prof. H. M. Enos, Superintendent of the Charlevoix Schools.

Teacher's Association.

The second regular meeting of the County Association was held according to appointment, at East Jordan on Friday evening and Saturday forenoon of last week. Though the number in attendance was not as large as could be wished, it was still very encouraging, and the interest previously manifested was fully sustained.

Mr. A. B. Nicholas, of East Jordan, gave an outline of Language Work for younger pupils. His plan embodied the idea that all work in that branch should be so directed as to make a practical use of what knowledge of Grammar the pupil might acquire, and that teachers should be slow to begin the study of technical Grammar. The hurry to advance into higher work is a serious fault, and leads to much of the dislike entertained toward that study.

Mr. J. M. Harris treated the subject "Teaching Children to Think." The change from the former practice, relying upon the memory for all educational results, is a hopeful sign. Children have thoughts; these should be directed from the concrete to the abstract, as fast as the ability of the child will warrant. Training to think should be a prime object of effort in teaching all branches of study.

At the morning session, Miss Maud Loveday, of East Jordan, read a very interesting paper on "Culture of More Value than Knowledge." She contrasted very forcibly the relative value of a mere knowledge of facts as compared with that culture of all the better faculties of the mind and heart, which will give power for happiness and usefulness. Power is ability to do. Knowledge is not always power in this sense.

The Association unanimously voted a request for the publication of Miss Loveday's paper in the Moderator.

Mr. H. M. Enos, of Charlevoix, spoke upon the teacher's relation to his profession. He held that teaching should be regarded as a profession the same as the Law, Medicine or Engineering. It is by the teachers themselves rather than by legislation that it is to be raised to the dignity of being recognized as such. Teachers, by greater devotion to it, and by better and more faithful work, may draw, sharply, the lines between true teaching and mere school-keeping. As a profession, teachers should take pride in it; draw from its literature such help as they may find, and contribute to it such of their own thought, observation or experience, as may be of use to others.

A paper on "Prizes and Rewards," by Mr. G. W. Faust of East Jordan, was read by Mr. Severens, the author not being able to be present. He believed in the practice of rewards for good scholarship, if judiciously pursued. The discussion which followed showed the majority of the members present to be opposed to the practice. All the papers were discussed by different members, and the interest manifested gives promise of good results from the meetings of the Association. The queries were distributed in the evening to different members, and a good portion of the morning session was devoted to answering and discussing them. Next week we will give the more important queries, and some of the opinions expressed concerning them.

Unfortunately, a paper on the method of teaching the effects of alcohol and tobacco, prepared by Miss Ada Lewis, of Charlevoix, was omitted, Miss Lewis not being able to be present. The Association adjourned to meet at the call of the Executive Committee.

Queries from our own box:

(6) Who was the first white child born in the United States?

(7) Why do dogs generally turn round several times before lying down?

(8) How many men signed the Declaration of Independence?

Answers to 3, 4 and 5 next week.

Extract.—Education in Politics.—"A Greek proverb says: 'A mob has no brains.' The meaning doubtless being either that the only brain concerned is that of the leader, or that the units composing the mob have only one brain in common. In either case disintegration, the breaking up of the mob, will come the moment each of these units can determine its own motive, instead of being controlled by a motive of another's imposition. In our politics there is a large mobile element, the purchaseable factor, that has as little self-determining power as the ballast of a sailing vessel. Could each of these 'electors' be given the power and the will to do his own thinking, the problem of political education would be solved. This education proposes to do."—W. H. Paine.

Some solutions to problems and answers to queries which have been received are deferred until next week for lack of room in this issue.

A Chinese Superstition.

According to heathen belief the devils of Chinese mythology begin their periodic visits to this world to-day. They remain here for seven days. They bring with them the relatives, in spirit form, of the living, and expect good treatment from the latter. The Chinese residents of Pittsburg have made all arrangements to give their spiritual guests a warm greeting. At their homes or in public places they will offer up burnt sacrifices, consisting of chickens, ducks, pork, fruits, sugar, nuts, eggs, and so forth. The Chinese devils are usually accredited with being very smart, and good judges of what constitutes a good sacrifice, and if they discover that mortals are not offering up the first and best fruits of the land, they are apt to act as tormenting as only devils can.

The devils come upon the earth from the first to the seventh days of every seventh Chinese month. They are supposed to wear the same kind of clothing as is worn by living Chinamen, and they depend upon their periodic visits to earth to get supplied with the proper outfit. Consequently this week, besides the sacrifice of the articles above mentioned, there will be a general offering up of a certain kind of money, which is supposed to pass as legal tender, in the form of paper richly decorated with gold-leaf and Chinese inscriptions and is about five inches long and wide. The clothing burned is also richly decorated with many colors. These sacrifices are usually burned at night on the seven days of the devils' visit.

The Chinese have other serious beliefs about the spiritual world. They think that as soon as a person dies he goes at once to the next world. There the immortals have laws, politics, marriages, etc., as well as mortals do on this earth. When man and wife die they expect to be united again hereafter, but when unmarried persons die their spirits wander about on earth until their parents have found a suitable companion for them in the upper world. If this is not done the dead person's evil spirit enters into the heart of the mortal whom he loves and torments it to death. The spiritual marriage among the Chinese is usually conducted by women. If a boy is dead his mother looks around to find a girl of about the same age who can be his spiritual mate. Only the fortune-teller has the right to appoint the day for the marriage. A priest performs the ceremony. Many prayers are repeated from morning until night, until the hour has come. Then the priest calls the couple, who are represented on paper, by the names which they were known by before death, says many pleasant words, and pronounces them man and wife.—Pittsburg Commercial-Gazette.

Horses and Their Drivers.

Very many years ago I made up my mind that when there was a quarrel between a man and a horse, in nine cases out of ten the man was in the wrong. Continued observation has only served to confirm this belief.

The radical error into which the drivers fall is the belief that the horse knows perfectly what is wanted of him, and will not do it. Then the driver proceeds to show that he is the master, and in the vast majority of cases the horse is punished without the slightest idea why he is so treated.

For a horse to understand instantly what his driver desires, there must exist a pleasant feeling between them. The horse must feel a confidence in his driver. With one driver a horse will show himself fearless of locomotives, and with another he will dread them. One man will drive a horse fifteen miles with no more fatigue to the animal than another will produce in driving him ten.

Nothing tends more to cruelty to animals than cowardice. The man who has a lurking fear of his beast is the one who treats him the most harshly. The man who is afraid of no horse is just the man who treats all kindly. He is perfectly aware that there is always danger with horses, but he also knows that this does not depend upon the horse, but mostly comes from some extraneous source—the bad driving of others whom he meets on the road, or accident of some sort. He has a friendly feeling toward his beast as being a willing and useful servant and companion, ready to do his whole duty, and more than his duty. So there springs a pleasant feeling on both sides, the horse is encouraged and cheerful, and gets through his work easily and well. Such a driver gets vastly more from his horses than does the cruel one. They come in fresh, they feed and sleep well, and begin the next day's work under favorable conditions. Age tells but slowly on them; at 15 and 16 years such horses still show speed and endurance, and are still gay and free-goers, with years of usefulness before them, whereas the cruel man's horse is used up long before this.

There should be kindness simply from kind feeling, but it does not the less certainly bring its material reward.—Humane Record.

The Size of the Spider's Thread.

I have often compared the size of the thread spun by full grown spiders with a hair of my beard. For this purpose I placed the thickest part of the hair before the microscope, and from the most accurate judgment I could form, more than a hundred of such threads placed side by side could not equal the diameter of one such hair. If, then, we suppose such a hair to be of a round form, it follows that ten thousand of the threads spun by the full grown spider, when taken together, will not be equal in substance to the size of a single hair.

To this if we add that four hundred young spiders, at the time when they begin to spin their webs, are not larger than a full grown one, and that each of these minute spiders possesses the same organs as the larger ones, it follows that the exceedingly small threads spun by these little creatures must be still four hundred times slenderer, and consequently that four millions of these minute spiders' threads cannot equal in substance the size of a single hair. And if we further consider how many filaments or parts each of these threads consists, to compose the size we have been computing, we are compelled to cry out, O what incredible minuteness is here, and how little do we know of the works of Nature!—Leeuwenhoek, in 1685.

Fond husband—"It's a shame your household duties prevent your riding more. I'll get a housekeeper." Wife (who considers herself a financier)—"But, my dear, can you afford it?" Fond husband—"O, yes. She would pay for herself twice over."—Life.

She had never seen a majolica vase. Rural visitor—"What is this, anyhow?" Esthetic hostess (in a patronizing manner)—"It is a majolica ware." Rural visitor (in amazement)—"From the wars, is it? Well, I never should have thought it. Seems no stronger than it looks."

An Unnatural Mother.

The curious case of the emu is described in a letter from Mr. Alfred Bennett, who had an opportunity of watching the habits of this bird, which was, during several seasons, successfully bred by his father in Surrey. The hen bird, says Mr. Bennett, begins to lay about the end of October or beginning of November, and, as each brood consists of twenty eggs or more, laid at intervals of two days, the process takes about six weeks. Before it is completed the cock bird begins to set. The eggs laid subsequently are deposited by the hen by the side of her mate, who puts out his foot and draws them under him. As soon as the eggs begin to hatch it is necessary to isolate the hen, as she fights furiously with her mate, and would, to all appearances, kill the chicks if she were allowed to get at them. The whole of the tending of the young is performed by the male bird.—Nature.

Last Saturday a colored girl of this city swallowed a quarter of a dollar. She was scared and went to a doctor for relief. He told her it would do no harm. She departed with a broad grin on her ebony cheeks, and said: "I'se a quarter in."—Port Jervis Gazette.

MISSING LINKS.

In a museum in an Arizona town are preserved the heads of seventeen Apaches.

A dozen defaulters have stolen $3,000,000 from Philadelphia during the past five years.

Heavy tea-drinkers, says the Lancet, first become "wildly excitable," and "then their sense of hearing goes."

Mr. Adam and Mrs. Eve are residents of Augusta, Ga., and Mr. Abel and Mrs. Cain live in Jefferson county, same state.

According to a recent report of the internal revenue bureau, 250,000,000 cigarettes were manufactured in this country last year.

The Burmese have a popular drink, says an English temperance missionary, which will dissolve an English rifle ball in thirty minutes.

California is 770 miles long. Its greatest width is 330 miles, and it contains 183,981 square miles, or 123,947,849 acres of land.

Jenny Lind's daughter is coming to "dear America." She is spoken of as having a marvelous voice, much resembling that of her mother.

Of the 1,426 persons treated by M. Pasteur for fang wounds but four have died. No better trumpet of his successes than this bare fact would seem to be needed.

The latest device in umbrellas is unique. It is a patent window, to be placed in the cloth so that the traveler can see ahead and avoid disastrous collisions.

Sir Henry Ponsonby officially declares that Queen Victoria never uttered the remark often attributed to her that "the Bible is the secret of England's greatness."

James Sullivan, of Boston, is the latest claimant of juvenile honors in the War of the Rebellion. He enlisted as a musician in the Twelfth Massachusetts Infantry when he was 12 years old.

New York's new aqueduct will cost about $50,000,000, and yet nearly every contract of importance involved in its construction is owned by one man, or is controlled by him, or pays tribute to him.

George Lippard died in 1854, and a monument to his memory has just been completed in Philadelphia. In 1780 Congress ordered a statue erected to the memory of Baron De Kalb, and the order has just been executed. There are no flies on the monument-builders of this rapid country.

A writer in a California paper says he once knew an obscure weekly paper, since deceased, that was subsidized by a certain wealthy man to publish the most scandalous articles about John Mackay, and every paper that contained one of those gems was mailed to his wife, who was then in Paris.

Clara Belle writes that it is the fashionable thing at Cape May for ladies to drink. Mothers treat their daughters to liquor and lovers ask their young ladies into cafes to drink. You see rooms full of women drinking at some of the best hotels, and the rooms are ones that are especially set apart for the purpose.

Samuel J. Tilden erected his own monument by his splendid benefactions. It is fortunate that he did so, as otherwise his grave would probably have been left unmarked by the city for which he has done so much—at least until sufficient contributions could have been levied upon the people of the outlying and much-derided provinces.

Col. Battersby, in his new book on "Bridle Bits," says that the bit should not be the chief means of conveying to the horse the knowledge of the master's will. That task should, in the main, be done by the voice, or, in the ridden animal, by the movement of the rider's body. The bit is an instrument of torture to be reserved for critical moments.

Chief Graves, of the National Bureau of Engraving and Printing, being asked what design would be placed on the government oleomargarine stamps, said he had thought "a stuffed goat—a bogus 'butter,' as it were—would be about the right thing." This will be received by the victims of the law as the gravest joke yet developed by this administration.—New York World.

Senator Jones, of Florida, who answered to roll-call in Detroit during the entire session of Congress, drew his salary with notable regularity, collecting it the fourth day of every month through a Detroit bank. He still draws it, although he declares, it is said, that he will never return either to the Senate or to the State from which he was sent to the Senate. He refuses to resign and has opened a law office in Detroit.

The sweet pea is now fashionable. It has not the gaudy, leonine beauty of the sunflower, and it lacks the tawny, titanic toggery of the tiger lily, while as a dollar-jerker to the jacqueminot rose the sweet pea is nowhere, but for neat, unadulterated reminiscence of the back yard and your first girl, with her hair down her back in two braids, the sweet pea sweeps the deck with a whole royal sequence of the boyish past.—Philadelphia Press.

Strictly literary ventures do not seem to flourish in the atmosphere of Chicago. That go-ahead town has no time for æsthetic relaxation. Between the ups and downs of the pork and grain market, the tumults of propagandists who use the boycott and propagandists who throw bombs, and the vicissitudes of the base ball business, the Chicagoans manage to get on without any literature to speak of except the literature of their vivacious newspapers.—Philadelphia Record.

For Sale! [illegible]

Probate Notice. [illegible]

Mortgage Sale. [illegible]

Mortgage Sale. [illegible]

Mortgage Sale. [illegible]

J. M. CLARK, Attorney [illegible]

CHARLEVOIX Savings Bank.

Organized under the General Banking Law of the State of Michigan.

Henry Bennett, Prest. John Nicholls, Vice Pres. Cashier.

Henry Bennett, John Nicholls, A. R. Upright, C. D. Wood, A. Butters, A. Fox.

CAPITAL, ... $25,000
SURPLUS, ... 2,000

[illegible]

NEW SHOP!

All kinds of Blacksmithing,

Shop in the Foundry Building.

Horse shoeing a specialty.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

M. SCOTT.

RIFENBURG MILLING CO.

Charlevoix, Mich.

Manufacturers and Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

3 EXTRA GRADES OF FLOUR

Feed, Corn Meal, Graham

We will do exchange work for farmers on short notice.

It Pays to Buy the BEST BOATS!

The large number of boats I have built for two years are advertisements of what I have done and can do in boat building. Call and get references.

I will guarantee the best modelled, easiest rowing and best sailing boats in Northern Michigan for the LEAST MONEY!

All kinds of Oars, and Paddles made.

LEAVE ORDERS with me for a boat for next season's use. I am bound to please you.

Special facilities for St. Nine boat livery.

J. BEAUVAIS.

D. Sherwood & Co

We are now receiving our Fall and Winter Stock of

BOOTS AND SHOES,

which is the most complete in all respects ever brought here and embraces

Lumbermen's Rubbers, Wool Boots, Shoe Pacs, And Everything Usually kept in a country shoe store.

We also have some big bargains in Women s and Misses Shoes for common wear.

Womens grain shoes for $1.25. Misses grain shoes for $1.00. This Shoe cannot be undersold by any of the dealers.

Also quite an assortment in fine Shoes to please all, having taken advantage of the market and purchased them cheap. We shall give our customers the advantage of the low figures.

A. D. Bradbeer,

PHOTOGRAPHER.

OFFICE OVER UPRIGHT & EMREY'S STORE.

I will make Cabinet Photographs, A SPECIALTY!

At Lowest Prices Consistent with GOOD WORK.

McCABE'S MARKET

Is supplied with All Kinds Of MEATS At Lowest Prices.

CASH PAID FOR FAT CATTLE, Hides, Sheep and Hogs.

Corner of State & Mason sts.

JOHN McCABE.

1-3 OFF SALE!

At Miss Spaulding's MILLINERY ROOMS,

I will sell my entire stock of goods, except Yarns and Crewels at greatly reduced prices for cash only.

Any lady purchasing goods to the amount of $3.00 will receive a present of her choice of any untrimmed felt hat in the store.

Come early and secure a Bargain.

MISS L. SPAULDING.

Offices To Rent. A number of desirable offices to rent in the [illegible] block. Inquire of [illegible].

Bucklen's Arnica Salve. The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price [illegible] cents per box. For sale by [illegible].

Take The Sentinel.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

J MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

COLLINS GRIER, Attorneys at Law. Office in Butters' Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

JOSEPH M. CLARK, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

[illegible] Attorneys and Solicitors, Petoskey, Mich.

DART & CALL, Attorneys, Petoskey, Mich.

R. L. CORBETT, Attorney at law, Boyne City, Mich. (Prosecuting Attorney of Charlevoix County.)

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS

L. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

WM. M. PRESTON, M. D. Physician and Surgeon, [illegible] Charlevoix, Mich.

J. A. [illegible] M. D., Office at residence, Charlevoix, Mich.

SOCIETIES

G. A. R.—Rexter Post No. 119, meets second Monday through month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC—Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, F. & A. M. Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over Postoffice.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 235, meets second and Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows hall.

K. O. T. M.—Resort Tent No. 138, meets second Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows' Hall.

[illegible]

EMMET CHAPTER No. 104, R. A. M. meets at Petoskey on the first Monday of each month.

[illegible] No. 136, K. T., meets at their Asylum in Petoskey on the first Thursday of each month.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY meets every Tuesday evening at the homes of the members, during the fall and winter months.

CHARLEVOIX IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION meets at Charlevoix Village Hall on the second Monday of each month, at 7:30 p. m. President—Byron Sex. First Vice President—W. A. Smith. Second Vice President—Robert Miller. Recording Secretary—Charles J. Strang. Financial Secretary—R. [illegible]. Treasurer—Albert F. Mason. [illegible]

HOTELS AND RESTAURANTS.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE, RICHARD COOPER, Prop'r. Charlevoix, Mich. Every convenience for the traveling public, and headquarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids stages.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE, R. A. Campbell, Prop'r. Charlevoix, Mich. The most central location. Good Sample Room. Telephone connections. Only five feet to Steamboat Landing.

NEWMAN HOUSE. W. C. Newman, Prop'r. Charlevoix, Mich. Fitted up with a view to the Comfort of the Traveling public. Good Stabling furnished. Central Location.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE, L. N. Pearl, Prop. East Jordan, Mich. Come and see us. Telephone connection.

BANK.

Bank of Charlevoix. Drafts on New York, Chicago, Detroit and Grand Rapids. Bank Remittances or Postoffice Order to any person in Europe. Loans and Discounts on Real Estate. Railroad and Steamship Tickets to and from any place in Europe. BROWN & CO.

PILE DRIVER.

A. ALLEN'S Steam Pile Driver. Contracts taken and [illegible] Charlevoix, Mich.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

B. BUFFIELD, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Domestic Cases, etc. Charlevoix, Mich.

BARBER.

JAY PRICK, Barber, east side of Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. K. and J. C. DIXON, Surveyors and Engineers, Charlevoix, Mich. (Deputy County Surveyors Charlevoix county.)

DENTIST

N. J. PERRY, Dentist. Office in Wood's Drug Store, Charlevoix, Mich.

MILLINERY AND FANCY GOODS!

Mrs. ELLA SMITH & Miss ANNIE COOPER

Have opened a store in the Ingleside Building, and invite their friends to call and inspect their fine stock of FANCY GOODS!

Of all varieties usually kept in a first-class millinery store.

Washburn & Ackert, FOUNDRYMEN, MACHINISTS, And Manufacturers of The Charlevoix Plow.

J. A. HEATH, FURNITURE AND JOBBING SHOP. Antrim Street, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

All classes of furniture made to order, furniture repaired, and shop work of all kinds promptly attended to. Give me a call.

Old newspapers sold at this office.

A DAKOTA LAND-SHARK.

He Cheerfully Relates How He Has Prospered Owing to the Misfortunes of Others.

On an east-bound train the other day, writes a Watertown, Dakota, correspondent of the New York Sun, was a well-fed and comfortable-looking man, who announced that he had been attending to business very strictly for three or four years, and that he was then on his way to the seashore for the purpose of having a little recreation. His wife was a plump, fresh-looking young woman several years his junior, who, besides being fashionably dressed, had an air of business about her which is met with in the fair sex more frequently in this part of the country than elsewhere.

"Yes," the tourist said, after settling himself back in his seat in the smokers' section. "I've been attending to business mighty close. In fact, I've had to. I'm a banker. When I came out in this country I had just about $4,000 clean cash. Down where I came from everybody said $4,000 wasn't enough to put in your eye. It might do to buy a home with or get a team, but as far as business was concerned it was only an aggravation. I had heard something about Dakota, and I made up my mind that I would show some of the smart men whether $4,000 capital was good for anything or not. I went west along with the immigrants, set up a little office, put out a sign 'Money to Loan,' and sat down to await custom.

"I put my money out in small sums principally. A settler would come in and ask for $50 or $100. I would ask him what he had. Well, he might have an equity in his land, or he would have some household furniture, farm machinery, or horses and wagons. I would let him have the money, and take a mortgage on all that he had, deducting my interest, at 10, 12, or 14 per cent, in advance. Plenty of them would want a little money for a month or two months, and I'd always seek it to these fellows. I've had $10 for the use of $50 for thirty days many a time. A good many of the settlers were Scandinavians, and I could not talk to them in their own language, nor could they speak to me in mine, but I got up a printed form which they could understand, and in that way we managed to do business very satisfactorily.

"It requires a very clear head and good judgment to do a banking business out here. Particularly is this true in a new settlement in the winter time. I've changed my location three times since I've been in Dakota. After a township has been settled for awhile it is not much good to men in my line. When I have moved I have always gone into a new country. The people get along first-rate for a few months, but the first winter fetches them. They have to have money, and a man who stands by ready to help them is a sort of public benefactor. I have had at one time and another mortgages on the stuff belonging to several hundred farmers, sometimes taking mortgages for sums as small as $10 or $20. In fact, they are the ones that pay, as the men who give them are usually on their last legs, and about all that you have to do is to wait awhile and then gather in their stuff.

"I have come into possession of some of the best farming land in Dakota in this way. A man might get hard up and come to me for $100 for six months. When the time was up he would be worse off than he was before, and by stretching the mortgage a little I would give him another hundred, the whole thing to be paid in three months. Then he might come around and make a poor mouth, and ask for an extension, and all that, but you see that wasn't what I was out there for. My capital wasn't very large, and I had to keep it moving, and then, too, there is no sentiment in business. I'd have to take the farm. In some such cases I have sold it back to the man at 12 or 15 per cent interest, on condition that he would pay me monthly, but he usually gets tired of that.

"Only the other day I was thinking about how much I had made out here, and how do you suppose I stand? Well, sir, I have doubled my money, and I own ten or twelve of as good farms as there are in Dakota. They need improving, of course, but the land is all there, you bet. Have any trouble with the settlers? Oh, yes; some, once in a while. They are a poor lot, and sometimes they come around and beg pretty hard, but you've got to shut down. You can't run a free dispensary and a bank at the same time. I'm out here to help those who help themselves, do you see? When they get where they can't do that, why then it helps me. Every once in a while men in my business run across down-east folks who get homesick out here. Then you've got a snap. Take a down-easter who is homesick and poor and discouraged, and he'll give you his farm for money enough to get back east. I have only struck two such cases, but I know bankers who have had several. There is nothing like being around when a little money is needed. I tell you I have seen the time out here when my $4,000 looked like a million to the majority of the people.

"Yes, I have had to take a good deal of junk in my day, some of it stuff that I couldn't give away, but I took it just the same. It wouldn't be business to let go of anything that you once got hold of. Probably the funniest bargain that I ever made, though, was the one that brought me that young lady in there, my wife. She was out here 'farming,' as she calls it, though she didn't know a harrow from a feed-cutter. She was a brave girl, though. She had a little money and paid for her farm, but she had to go in debt for her house and machinery. That's where I got in my work. When it came time for her to make a payment she was short, and so she came to me for money. I gave it to her and took a mortgage on all her property, real and personal. That is the kind of deals I like to make. If you can get one of those girls for a customer you are liable to have a farm after a while dirt cheap.

"Well, when the note fell due she couldn't pay it, and I gave her an extension at 12 per cent. I usually get 15 in such emergencies, but I took pity on her. Then that came due, and she had no money, and so I foreclosed on her. That made her mad. She wanted to make a compromise, and after a while I patched up a bargain with her, but as I repented of it I told her the place and all the things would have to be sold. A friend of mine bid them in for about the sum of my claim, and the girl got notice to leave, which she didn't do. Not much. She just staid there, and one day when I rode out to see it she had gone she opened on me with a rifle, calling me an old shark and thief. When I tried to get some help from the people round about they intimated that they would see me hanged first, and, to [illegible] the girl had [illegible]. She was in possession, and there wasn't law enough in that county then to get her out. [illegible] after awhile I came to the conclusion that I would have to reason with her. It was getting to be [illegible] for me to climb out of [illegible] couldn't bear the [illegible] of [illegible] farm. Then I [illegible] a man [illegible] with her for an [illegible] view, [illegible] while I called on her, making [illegible] agreeable as possible. [illegible] It was that I asked her to [illegible] and she consented. I'm [illegible] satisfied with the deal, for [illegible] the truth I would never have [illegible] farm if I hadn't taken [illegible] with it."

ESTELLE'S SACRIFICE.

[illegible]

MINING FRAUDS.

[illegible]

Good Results in Every Case.

D. A. Bradford, wholesale paper dealer of Chattanooga, Tenn., writes that he was seriously afflicted with a severe cold that settled on his lungs, had tried many remedies without benefit. Being induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, did so and was entirely cured by use of a few bottles. Since which time he has used it in his family for all Coughs and Colds with best results. This is the experience of thousands whose lives have been saved by this Wonderful Discovery. Trial Bottles free at Dr. G. W. Crouter's and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

An End to Bone Scraping.

Edward Shepherd, of Harrisburg, Ill., says: "Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. Have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctors told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well." Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle, and Bucklen's Arnica Salve at 25c per box by Dr. G. W. Crouter and Crouter & Harris, Ironton.

TIME CARDS OF STEAMERS.

[illegible]

Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad.

[illegible]

CHARLEVOIX Manufacturing Co.

Charlevoix, Mich.,

Manufacturers of

Sash and Doors, Blinds, Mouldings etc.

NEWELL Posts, Banisters & Stair Rails kept in stock.

Window & Door Frames made to order.

All Kinds of Building Material Kept constantly on hand.

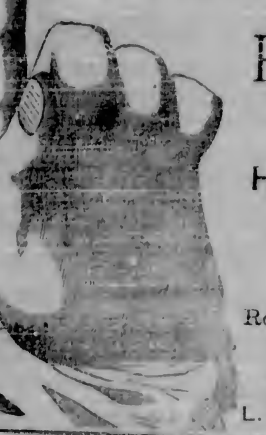
PLANS & SPECIFICATIONS. Furnished on application.

Cottages made a specialty also contracting and building.

Correspondence solicited.

MUNN & CO. PATENTS [illegible]

The Kalamazoo "DAILY TELEGRAPH." Contains the Associated Press Dispatches. Sent by Mail at 60c a month.



NEW ATKINS SAWS AND Perfection Axes

Complete stock of HARDWARE, TINWARE, & NOTIONS

Round Oak & Square Base STOVES.

Job & Tin Work.

L. D. Bartholomew & Co.

THE BEST Drugs, Confectionery, Stationery, BOOKS & PAPERS, FISHING TACKLE, Etc, Soda Water, Mineral Water, Cigars, Are found at PERRY WEED'S. The only News stand in town.

BURNS & SCROGGIE'S LIVERY STABLE CHARLEVOIX.

The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Drivers furnished if desired. Rates low.

Burns & Scroggie, Charlevoix.

SILVER WARE.

I have just received a very fine stock of Silver Ware of the latest varieties and can sell them at lowest figures.

My Stock of Watches, Clocks, Chains, Pins, Gold & Silver headed Canes etc. is complete.

If you want to buy [illegible] just call and see what I can give you for a small sum.

All classes of Repairing done quickly.

C. H. BELLINGER.

J. T. Kirkpatrick, ARCHITECT AND CONTRACTOR, ON Charlevoix Summer Resorts.

I have the plans of [illegible] Cottages of different designs that can be seen by parties wanting to build cottages.

I employ only first-class workmen, both Carpenters and Painters.

Work intrusted to my care will have prompt attention.

J. T. KIRKPATRICK.

GELLICK & INGALLS Dealers in Choice Wines, Fine Liquors EXCELLENT CIGARS.

We call Special Attention to our Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

We also keep continually on draught Milwaukee Export and lager Beer.

Bridge St., 1st door south of Sentinel.

Fox & Miller Offer a Mammoth Stock OF BOOTS, SHOES and other FOOT WEAR, --AT-- LOWER PRICES Than can be found elsewhere in the County.

We have just secured a FIRST-CLASS SHOEMAKER, And will make Repairing a specialty.

We have the Goods and we are bound to sell them.

NOTHING SHODDY.

Fox & Miller.

MONEY TO LOAN, At current rates of interest, on Approved Real Estate Security. School Bonds bought and sold. MILEY & CHAPIN, Boyne City.

BATH & BARBER ROOMS.

Hot and Cold Baths and Sea Water Baths at the Barber Shop, 1st door north of Bridge St. House. [illegible]

Take The Sentinel.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established, 1869.
CHARLEVOIX, NOV. 17, 1886.

A second hand Crown Jewel coal stove for sale at Stockman & Iddings at a bargain. Good as new.

Mrs. Litney & Carr, the popular milliners, have just received and are still receiving one of the finest and fullest lines of fall and winter goods ever brought to Charlevoix. The ladies are invited to call in and inspect their stock.

...it has been the flattest possible failure. It has injured the temperance cause, hindered there being a practical temperance party, wasted money and effort, and accomplished nothing more than tickling the vanity of a few demagogues and encouraging the fallacies of cranks.

Mortgage Sale.

A mortgage dated the 12th of September, 1879, executed by Oliver S. Horton and Luella J. Horton to David Carpenter, recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix county, Michigan, September 29th, 1879 in liber 4 of mortgages on page 80 upon which the whole amount of principal and interest viz: $145.30 is past due and for the recovery of which no suit or proceedings have been commenced, will be foreclosed under the power of sale therein contained by a statutory sale of the premises therein described as the north-east fractional quarter of the north-east quarter of section six, in town 33 north of Range 6, west, in Charlevoix county, Michigan, to the highest bidder at the front door of the town hall in the village of Boyne City, Mich., (that being the place of holding the Circuit court for Charlevoix county, Michigan, at 12 o'clock noon November 26th, 1886.

Dated August 31st 1886.

DAVID CARPENTER, Mortgagee.
DART & CALL, Att'ys for Mortgagee.

The above sale is postponed to 12 o'clock noon, November 19th, 1886, at the same place.

DAVID CARPENTER, Mortgagee.
DART & CALL, Attorneys for Mortgagee.

Bank of Charlevoix,

W. P. BROWN, Cashier. W. A. BROWN, Asst. Cashier.

CAPITAL, $25,000

Perfect Security

Is assured to the depositors in this Bank, both by its Capital and conservative management.

Its Officers

Never Speculate. Their business creed is: That to speculate with one's own money, is folly; that to do so with the money of others, is criminal.

Security in Banking

Is the question of first importance to both Bankers and Depositors; and, believing that it furnishes unusual guarantees, therefore,

This Bank Invites

People generally to intrust their money to its keeping. Just liberality will mark its dealings.

This Bank Will

Borrow Investment money when desired, paying as large interest thereon as shall be compatible with safe use of the money.

Parties Seeking

Productive employment for money, and desiring to escape the expense and trouble of the management of private investments, will find attractive security in this Bank's

Investment Notes,

Now earning Five per cent. yearly interest. These notes afford investors much more perfect security than Savings Bank deposits.

We Solicit Your Patronage.

A. J. McLEOD,

having returned to the Charlevoix Meat Market, announces that he will sell at

Wholesale or Retail

All kinds of

FRESH MEATS,

SALT PORK,

SMOKED & SALTED

HAMS,

Dried and Smoked

BACON, DRIED BEEF, Bologna, Head Cheese, Sausage.

Highest Prices Paid FOR HIDES and PELTS.

Will kill hogs or cattle for other Markets or persons wishing that class of work at low rates.

A. J. McLEOD.

YOUR CHANCES ARE GOOD

FOR SECURING A BARGAIN,

In Everything in My Line.

I have just completed my stock of Winter Goods and a better line of

MACKINAWS,

You cannot find in any stock. The 3 point Mackinaws are the best that are made and I am the only one who keeps them.

Good Goods are the Cheapest, if you do have to pay a little more for them.

ALL-WOOL RED UNDERWEAR for $1.50 a suit. A large stock of FUR CAPS cheaper than ever sold before. I have cut my prices down on everything this fall and am bound to sell if low prices are any object.

GEO. W. MILLER.

THIS SHIRT

THE FINEST

In THE WORLD

For 89 Cts.

Worth $1.25.

Of F. W. CRAINE & CO.

AT FIFTY CENTS!

ON THE DOLLAR.

A Sale with Greater Bargains Than Before.

Another Gigantic Sale of Muslin Underwear.

SURE TO CAUSE ANOTHER RUSH.

LOT 1--15 CENTS.

Ladies' Aprons with tucks and long strings; Misses' Fruit of the Loom Drawers; Infants' Night Gowns; Ladies Perfect Fitting Corset Covers; Black Waists to wear under Corset covers; Misses' Children's and Young Ladies' Skirts; Boys' and Girls' Twilled Waists. Usual retail price, 25 and 50 cents.

LOT 2--25 CENTS.

Ladies' Fruit of the Loom Drawers; Misses' and Children's Fruit of the Loom Drawers trimmed with fine embroidery; Ladies' Ruffled Skirts and Lace trimmed Night Gowns; Infants' fine Lonsdale Cambric Slips; Children's and Misses' Night Gowns, lined yoke and back, all sizes; Ladies' Chemises, all trimmed, and some with one hundred tucks; Handsome Corset covers, in latest shapes; Extra Large Tucked Aprons. Usual retail price, 40 to 50 cents.

LOT 3---50 CENTS.

Ladies' Mother Hubbard Night Gowns; Handsomely Trimmed Night Gowns; Chemises with Hamburg yokes and linen lace; Corset covers, elaborately trimmed; Ladies' Skirts, with deep Hamburg and Cambric Ruffles, Combination Garments; Chemises and Skirts, some with hundred tucks, and Hamburg yokes; Misses' Fruit of the Loom Night Gowns, Ladies' Hamburg Edge and Inserting Trimmed Drawers. Usual retail price, 75 cents and $1.00.

Come for them quick,---- F. W. CRAINE & CO.

Unusually Great BARGAINS

In Dry Goods.

DURING NOVEMBER.

WE OFFER A FULL ASSORTMENT OF ALL SEASONABLE GOODS AND PRICES ARE WONDERFULLY LOW.

IN DRESS GOODS WE ARE SELLING ALL WOOL HOMESPUN AT 45c.

WIDE, WALE SERGES, ELEGANT FINISH, AT 20c. FULL LINE OF 6-4 ALL WOOL TRICOTS AND CREPE CLOTHS.

SILK AND WOOL ASTRAKAN CLOAKINGS IN DECIDEDLY GOOD VALUES.

LADIES WOOL BOUCLE JACKETS $3.75

Watch for Special Sale of Cotton Flannels.

BLANKETS! BLANKETS!

Extra Values in all Grades on

SATURDAY, NOV. 20.

we will sell Wool Moss Trimming, in all staple colors at 30 cents a yard.

New Hampshire Horse Blankets 2 straps, 75 c.

KERSEY PANTS, MACKINAWS AND WOOL SOCKS, FOR LUMBERMEN.

Look at our Lamp Goods, for the long evenings. Patent extension Lamps from $3.50 up. Duplex Lamp Burners only 50c.

IMMENSE LINE OF GROCERIES. The best Goods for the least money

County Orders bought.

J. L. HURD & CO.

CHEER UP! CHEER UP! CHEER UP.

A HAPPY TIME COMING!

Rosenthal & Son

Have just returned from the market and have purchased the largest stock of goods ever before brought to Charlevoix.

IN DRY GOODS we have a large line in Dress Goods of the latest styles and at prices to suit everybody. Also a full stock of Notions, Ribbons, Buttons of the latest styles and a big stock of Domestics.

IN CLOAKS we have the finest line of short Wraps, Newmarkets, street Jackets, in excellent styles for children and misses. Made in Plush, Astrakan, Friza, Beaver and Diagonals.

IN CARPETS: A mammoth line of Brussels Ingrains, stair and hall Carpetings and Rugs of every description. Window Curtains in lace, jute and oil with fixtures.

IN CLOTHING: Mens,' Youths,' Boys,' and Childrens' Clothing and Overcoats at almost any price. A large line of Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, etc.

IN TRUNKS, we take the cake and can sell them from 50 cents to $15.00.

A grand chance to strike BARGAINS. Our goods are the best and our stock complete.

Yours, always ready to wait on Customers,

ROSENTHAL & SON.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL. XVIII. NO. 30 CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1886. WHOLE NO. 887

School Books!

SCHOOL BOOKS! SCHOOL BOOKS!

---HEADQUARTERS---

For Everything needed in the School Room, at

HINES & CO.'S DRUG AND STATIONERY STORE.

You will find it to your interest to look over our stock before purchasing elsewhere.

Respectfully,

F. G. HINES & CO.

THE PIONEER HOUSE OF CHARLEVOIX CO.

New Winter Goods

BEING RECEIVED WEEKLY.

We call especial attention to our complete stock of

BOOTS and SHOES.

TEAS of all kinds. We will guarantee you the best Tea for the money, in the county.

ALL GRADES of FRESH ROASTED AND GREEN COFFEES.

A Fine line of Everything in

FURNITURE.

BIG DRIVES IN

Flannels, Yarns, and Blankets.

Please bear in mind that our stock embraces

EVERYTHING

usually found in a General Store.

Remember: Our Goods are the Best. Our Prices the Lowest. Our Record the Oldest.

Resp'y Yours,

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

We can Supply you with EVERYTHING in our Line.

THE FINEST STOCK OF

FURNITURE

ever offered in Charlevoix,

IS NOW AWAITING YOUR INSPECTION AT

Henry C. Cooper's.

A Choice Line of

FRESH GROCERIES,

OF EVERY VARIETY,

Including Confectionery, Fruits, Canned Goods, and Tobaccos and Cigars in stock

For your inspection in OPERA BLOCK by

R. J. COOPER.

Another List.

Make your selection and come and buy the BEST for the least.

AXES: "The Fletcher." Everyone Knows Them.

SAWS: The "S. & I." Tested And Tried.

The Crescent Ground

GENUINE SIMONDS SAWS.

Dexter Champion and Diamond Tooth Saws.

A New Style Steel Wedge.

Saw Wedges. Ax Stones.

Oregon Mauls & Sledges.

Finest Line of Stoves in the World.

Cutting Boxes.	Wire Nails.	Corn Poppers.
Hay Knives.	Brads.	Tin Ware.
Bread Knives.	Tea & Coffee Pots.	Whips.
Pocket Knives.	Oil Cans.	Robes.
Spoons.	Cant Hooks.	Ammunition.
Forks.	Cant Handles.	Ax Handles.
Tools.	Horse Shoes.	Lanterns.
Ax Handles.	Horse Nails.	Camp Articles.
Belting.	Broad Axes.	Oils,

Come and Inspect Our Stock.

Respectfully,

STOCKMAN & IDDINGS.

The Best Groceries

At The Lowest Prices

ARE FOUND AT THE GROCERY AND PROVISION HOUSE OF

A. E. MASON.

I do a strictly Cash-over-counter business and will guarantee lowest prices.

J. MILO EATON'S

REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE,

AND LOAN OFFICE.

The oldest in the county. Established in 1875.

Money to loan in sums to suit and at lowest rates on improved farms.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE furnished on short notice. Office over Postoffice.

Pine Lake Iron Co.

IRONTON, MICH.

A MAMMOTH NEW STOCK OF

GENERAL MERCHANDISE,

Just Receivd for Winter Trade,

which we will sell at

LOWEST PRICES.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY

SMITH & PARMELEE,

Charlevoix, - Michigan.

Address all business correspondence to the firm

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One year - $1.50 | Six months - $.75

Invariably in Advance

Local News.

—Bring your orders for tax receipts to the SENTINEL office.

—Mrs. M. J. Ayers returned to her home in New York state, Friday.

—A. J. McLeod has moved his family in his cosy suit of rooms on Bridge street.

—Mrs. Washburn and son Al. are domiciled at Major Green's for the winter.

—Mrs. D. C. Nettleton, who has been seriously ill with fever, is slowly recovering.

—The third party prohibitionists in Ohio polled a lighter vote this year than two years ago.

—J. L. Hurd & Co. offer a discount sale of cotton flannels next Saturday. Read their new announcement.

—Trains are already running over the new branch of the C. R. & I. between Grand Rapids and Muskegon.

—Stockman & Iddings present a new list of articles to be found in their complete stock. Look over their advertisement.

—W. H. Downer went to Chicago Monday and will also spend a week with his family at Geneva Lake, Wis., before returning.

—J. J. Goss and son Joseph, were called home from Frankfort owing to the illness of Mrs. Goss. They will remain for the winter.

—Garnish your Thanksgiving table with a few of those mammoth Catawba grapes, to be found at O. W. Smith's. 30 barrels splendid winter apples by bushel or barrel.

—Sault St. Marie papers contain little else than railroad news. If we can believe all we hear, there will be trains running there from every point of the compass within a year.

—TOWNSHIP TREASURERS should remember that the SENTINEL prints tax receipts at lower prices than they can be procured from Detroit or Kalamazoo. The best of work, paper and binding guaranteed.

—The Champlain went to Bay Springs this week with a large stock of general merchandise for C. W. Waldron. Mr. W. has just opened a general store at that place in the storeroom located in the basement of his large house there.

—The SENTINEL wants to wager a new hat with some prohibitionist, that a prohibitory amendment bill will be introduced at the beginning of the legislature and that there will not be over two nays in the republican vote of 132 in both branches.

—"Tip" Miller of St. James, has been in town several days. He is over to be examined for the Life Saving Station at Point Betsey, to which he has been transferred. He was examined by Dr. L. W. Gardner.—Harbor Springs Republican.

—Petoskey Record: The Ladies Library Association at their meeting on Saturday decided upon giving a short lecture course this winter, the lectures to be delivered by home people. It is probable however, that Mr. Iddings of Charlevoix, will be one of the speakers. The full programme will be announced as soon as arrangements are made with the speakers.

—The "38,000 to 40,000 votes" claimed by the Center for Dickie has dwindled down to less than 25,000 as shown by the official returns. The gain in democratic counties where there was friction between democrats and greenbackers account for the gain of 3,000 over the vote of 1884. Not even the most pig-headed prohibitionist will claim that this "spite vote" can be counted on in future.—Record.

—Petoskey Record: On Friday evening last, a stranger from East Jordan who does not wish his name to appear, was coming up Petoskey street and between Bay and Lake streets was suddenly confronted by a man, who made the old fashioned demand "your money or your life." The East Jordan man said he had no money, whereupon foot-pad seeing the gleam of a watch chain made a grab for it saying "gimme that watch then d— you." The East Jordan man however having some spunk and considerable muscle, struck out with his right and knocked the robber off the side walk. The latter gathered himself quickly up and came on again, but East Jordan landed a sockdolager on his throat which laid him out as stiff as a poker. East Jordan thought he had killed him, and made the mistake of going over the town to find night watch Tripp and report the affray, instead of staying right by the fellow until he could call some one to his assistance. When Tripp was found they went to the place, and the foot pad of course was gone. He had recovered sufficiently to crawl away. From the recent burglaries here and in Harbor Springs, and by this attempt to hold up a man on the open street, it is evident that there are some hard characters hanging round. It would be well for citizens to be prepared to meet such attacks, both at home and abroad, with a little cold lead.

—The inmates of the Bridge Street House were suddenly aroused from their slumbers Thursday night by the cry of fire. It proved to be a chimney burning out.

Rosenthal & Son announce a grand special sale of Dry Goods, Clothing, Cloaks, etc., next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Look at their new advertisement.

—MARRIED, at the residence of J. H. Purvis, Ironton, Mr. Simpson H. Brown of Evangeline, and Miss May J. Purvis, of Ironton, by Rev. J. T. Iddings, Nov. 17, 1886.

—Why don't the Journal's prohibition correspondents come out of the woods and sign their names to their articles. It certainly would not look as cowardly.

The people of Marion are unanimous in their gratitude to the ladies of Boyne City for their kindness to Mrs. Anderson during the recent murder trial. Mrs. Anderson herself is especially grateful.

—The "Prohibition Voter" in last week's Journal exhibits more colossal ignorance, (not to name it by any stronger term,) than we thought any prohibitionist even, capable of. He, she or it, states that "there are two to one more states enjoying enforced prohibitory laws under Democratic rule than under Republican rule." Dr. Reynolds says local option is good as far as it goes, but it does not go far enough; so, of course no mention can be made of the Southern States, which have adopted local option. If the four States now enjoying prohibition are not Kansas, Maine, Iowa and Vermont, will our dear brother please enlighten us? Did it ever occur to him that these States were the most solidly Republican of any in the Union? and that they would never have had any more chance of having a prohibitory law had it not come through the Republican party, than our demented friend has of ever being consistent, or of the third party's carrying Michigan? Our friend forgets that it was a Republican Legislature, the first ever elected, that submitted a prohibitory amendment to the people, and that after a thorough trial it was found that public sentiment was not advanced sufficiently to enforce it. A demand came from all classes for its repeal, and it was so repealed by 10,000 majority, by a direct vote of the people. The third party has come to stay, has it? Jesso! Its vote in Ohio this year was less than two years ago, and in Michigan, where the greatest efforts had been made to increase its vote to the 40,000 claimed by its champions, its total vote was only 25,000, an increase of only 3,000, or an average gain of between two and three votes in a Township, throughout the State. In prohibition Kansas, St. John only had 4,000 votes two years ago, and this year the third party only polled 3,000 votes in Maine. Temperance people are not fools, and will not continue to tolerate the third party movement, now that they have seen its damaging effects upon temperance legislation, especially in Michigan.

—It appears that the SENTINEL enjoys the distinction of being cordially hated by the W. C. T. U. of Charlevoix, because it is independent enough to speak its convictions. The last belaboring it receives comes from one of its members through the columns of the Journal. We assure our lady friend that it is of very little moment to the SENTINEL just where she locates its brains. They are joint capital in the conduct of this paper, and are harmonious upon the prohibition question, as upon all others. Mr. Parmelee's editorial utterance growing out of the Reynolds reception was true. Moreover, either member of the editorial staff of the SENTINEL has brains enough to know when he, in common with his political co-laborers, are publicly insulted by Dr. Reynolds, or any other $10 per night apostle of prohibition. The SENTINEL has not desired to evoke the wrath of the W. C. T. U. The Charlevoix organization embraces many estimable ladies, who are working for the cause of humanity with a Christian zeal and devotion which should elicit the encouragement and support of every virtue-loving citizen. As its name implies, its actuating motive is Christian effort, directed toward the lessening of the great evil of intemperance. While Dr. Reynolds and the Union kept within the channel of Evangelical Christian-Temperance work, the moral as well as the Christian world wished them God speed; but when, by the influence of zealots and demagogues, Christian ladies are dragged into the muddy arena of political turmoil, they must expect to fall under the same criticism that do the "horrid men." The SENTINEL has always, during the nearly seventeen years of its existence, been upon the side of temperance and morality, and has, also, been cordial in its endorsement of the good work of the W. C. T. U. But the SENTINEL is Republican and will proclaim its sentiments with the same freedom that prohibitionists claim for themselves when they abuse Republicans as did Dr. Reynolds at the Opera Hall and the Bridge Street House parlors. This is a public question, and the ladies should not get angry because we choose to regard it in the same light as do thousands of good temperance people who are not of their particular faith. We wish the W. C. T. U. well, but we deprecate its latter day departure from the system of work for which it was organized. By so doing they have lost much of the moral and material support of a very large element in Christian society.

GUILTY!

Thomas Smith Convicted of Murder and Sentenced to State Prison for Life.

"That is a h— ll of a verdict," was the language of Thomas Smith last Monday evening, when the jury, after a very brief consultation, rendered a verdict of "guilty." He was returned to jail, and yesterday morning Judge Ramsdell sentenced him to State prison for life.

The trial began last Tuesday. Prosecuting Attorney Corbett was ably assisted by Will A. Norton, and Smith was ably defended by A. D. Cruickshank and E. S. Pratt, of Traverse City.

The crime of which Smith has been convicted is still fresh in the minds of our readers. On the 18th day of last August he shot and killed Niles P. Anderson in his wheat field.

The verdict of the jury is approved generally.

Death of Effie Crouter.

At one o'clock this morning the spirit of "little Effie Crouter" took its flight. The home of Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Crouter has been for many months a home of deep sorrow, as the struggle to rescue their loved one from the Angel of Death grew more and more hopeless. Effie was, as we remember her in health, a bright, winsome and affectionate child. There is much sympathy in Charlevoix for the bereaved parents. Effie was the only child of Dr. and Mrs. Crouter, and was about ten years and nine months of age. The funeral will occur from the residence at one o'clock tomorrow.

Religious.

M. E. Church.

Thanksgiving services at the M. E. church on Thursday evening at 7 p. m. Come one, come all. The following is the programme:

1. Doxology.
2. Lord's Prayer.
3. Anthem.
4. Reading Scriptures.
5. Hymn 1098.
6. Prayer.
7. Anthem.
8. Proclamation.
9. Collection.
10. Sermon by Rev. M. Clark.
11. Prayer.
12. Hymn, "America."
13. Benediction.

Quarterly meeting service on Saturday at 2 p. m. All members of the Official Board are requested to be present. Love Feast at 9:30 on Sabbath morning. Preaching at the usual hour, after which the Lord's Supper will be administered. Everybody come.

Marine.

The gale which visited the lake region on Wednesday and Thursday of last week, was one of the most severe for many years, and the loss of life and property was enormous. Upwards of thirty vessels were lost, and fully one hundred people perished.

The wreck nearest to this port was the schooner Morning Star, which went ashore at Torch Lake. She was loaded with lumber for Cameron Bros. The vessel is thought to be a total wreck.

The barges Menekaunee and Marinette went ashore Thursday night four miles south of Frankfort, and were totally wrecked. Of the two crews, comprising fifteen men, but one was saved. The steam barge Manistique, consort of the wrecked barges, was reported to have reached the Manitous in safety, but a later dispatch from Manistee, asserts that soon after losing her consorts she became disabled and drifted helplessly up the lake until she reached Burnhams's pier, 20 miles north of Manistee, when she struck and sunk, with all hands.

LATER—A dispatch from Frankfort states that the Manistique is safe.

A steam barge, name unknown, foundered and sunk near Frankfort in the same gale, and all hand were lost.

The schooner Cuyahoga, of which Capt. H. G. Edwards, of this place is mate, is ashore in North Bay.

The schooner Melvina, which left this port last week, was compelled to jettison her deck-load of pig-iron before reaching Chicago.

The schooner Narragansett lost both her anchors off Escanaba, and was taken in safely by a tug.

The Charlevoix fleet is all safe.

The schooner Sea Gem is stripped and laid up. The schooner Florence M. Smith is here, and will go into winter quarters.

The tug Minnie Warren is still at Northport fishing for O'Neill Bros. Capt. Robert O'Neill joins them this week for the rest of the season.

The propeller City of Grand Rapids is laid up, and the Faxton will make but one more trip.

We have it from a reliable source that a fine fast steamer will come here in the spring to run on the Charlevoix and Petoskey route, leaving here every morning, and returning in the evening. The plan is a good one, and will pay.

The propeller Lawrence cleared for Chicago yesterday. She will make another trip, weather permitting.

An Explanation.

Again we are compelled to impose upon our readers with half sheets. We promise that it shall not occur again. We are sorry, but the ghost laid plainly, etc.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established, 1869.
CHARLEVOIX, NOV. 17, 1886.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor
ED F. PARMELEE, Associate Editor

Political.

Luce's plurality will exceed 10,000, according to the Grand Rapids Democrat.

Atlanta Constitution (Dem.): The policy of the free traders seems to be to drive workingmen out of the Democratic party.

Speaking of Virginia politics, the Petersburg Index and Appeal says that "a large majority is a great curse to a state and party, and leads inevitably to oppression, injustice and corruption." This is a pretty frank confession that the solid south has long been guilty of "oppression, injustice and corruption."

Some anti free trade Democrats are naming Samuel J. Randall for President. The Galveston News thinks this would be equivalent to going bodily over to the Republican party. That settles it. Mr. Randall will not be nominated. He is about eight years in advance of his party.

The story that Blaine, Conkling, Arthur and Jones of the New York Times, are negotiating for a coalition to carry New York in 1888 is calculated to make the weather turn suddenly cold for Governor Hill, and freeze the sweetness out of the President's Thanksgiving proclamation; though perhaps there isn't anything substantial in it after all. But if Blaine and Conkling should come together, they are a team to make things hum all ...

Owing to the delay of the Chicago boats, we are compelled to print half sheets this week.

YOUR CHANCES ARE GOOD
FOR SECURING A BARGAIN,
In Everything in My Line.

I have just completed my stock of Winter Goods and a better line of

MACKINAWS,

You cannot find in any stock. The 3 point Mackinaws are the best that are made and I am the only one who keeps them.

Good Goods are the Cheapest, if you do have to pay a little more for them.

ALL-WOOL RED UNDERWEAR for $1.50 a suit. A large stock of FUR CAPS cheaper than ever sold before. I have cut my prices down on everything this fall and am bound to sell if low prices are any object.

GEO. W. MILLER.

THIS SHIRT
THE FINEST
In THE WORLD

For 89 Cts.
Worth $1.25.
Of F. W. CRAINE & CO.

AT FIFTY CENTS!
ON THE DOLLAR.

A Sale with Greater Bargains Than Before. | Another Gigantic Sale of Muslin Underwear. | SURE TO CAUSE ANOTHER RUSH.

LOT 1--15 CENTS.

Ladies' Aprons with tucks and long strings; Misses' Fruit of the Loom Drawers; Infants' Night Gowns; Ladies Perfect Fitting Corset Covers; Black Waists to wear under Corset covers; Misses' Children's and Young Ladies' Skirts; Boys' and Girls' Twilled Waists. Usual retail price, 25 and 30 cents.

LOT 2---25 CENTS.

Ladies' Fruit of the Loom Drawers; Misses' and Children's Fruit of the Loom Drawers trimmed with fine embroidery; Ladies' Ruffled Skirts and Lace trimmed Night Gowns; Infants' fine Lonsdale Cambric Slips; Children's and Misses' Night Gowns, lined yoke and tuck, all sizes; Ladies' Chemises, all trimmed, and some with one hundred tucks; Handsome Corset covers, in latest shapes; Extra Large Tucked Aprons. Usual retail price, 40 to 50 cents.

LOT 3---50 CENTS.

Ladies' Mother Hubbard Night Gowns; Handsomely Trimmed Night Gowns; Chemises with Hamburg yokes and linen lace; Corset covers, elaborately trimmed; Ladies' Skirts, with deep Hamburg and Cambric Ruffles, Combination Garments; Chemises and Skirts, some with hundred tucks, and Hamburg yokes; Misses' Fruit of the Loom Night Gowns; Ladies' Hamburg Edge and Inserting Trimmed Drawers. Usual retail price, 75 cents and $1.00.

Come for them quick,---- F. W. CRAINE & CO.

November 20th, 1886.
Dated August 31st 1886.
DAVID CARPENTER, Mortgagee.
HART & CALL, Att'ys for Mortgagee.
The above sale is postponed to 12 o'clock noon, November 19th, 1886, at the same place.
DAVID CARPENTER, Mortgagee.
HART & CALL, Attorneys for Mortgagee.

Bank of
Charlevoix,
W. P. BROWN, Cashier. W. A. BROWN, Asst. Cashier.

CAPITAL, $25,000

Perfect Security
Is assured to the depositors in this Bank, both by its Capital and conservative management.

Its Officers
Never Speculate. Their business creed is: That to Speculate with ones own money, is folly; that to do so with the money of others, is criminal.

Security in Banking
Is the question of first importance to both Bankers and Depositors; and, believing that it furnishes unusual guarantees, therefore,

This Bank Invites
People generally to intrust their money to its keeping. Just liberality will mark its dealings.

This Bank Will
Borrow Investment money when desired, paying as large interest thereon as ... with safe use of the money.

Parties Seeking
Productive employment for money, and desiring to escape the expense and trouble of the management of private investments, will find attractive security in this Bank's

Investment Notes,
Now earning Five per cent. yearly interest. These notes afford investors much more perfect security than Savings Bank deposits.

We Solicit Your Patronage.

A. J. McLEOD,
having returned to the Charlevoix Meat Market, announces that he will sell at
Wholesale or Retail
All kinds of
FRESH MEATS,
SALT PORK,
SMOKED & SALTED
HAMS,
Dried and Smoked
BACON, DRIED BEEF,
Bologna, Head Cheese,
Sausage.
Highest Prices Paid
FOR HIDES and PELTS.
Will kill hogs or cattle for other Markets or persons wishing that class of work at low rates.
A. J. McLEOD.

Unusually Great
BARGAINS
IN DRY GOODS,
DURING NOVEMBER.

WE OFFER A FULL ASSORTMENT OF ALL SEASONABLE GOODS AND PRICES ARE WONDERFULLY LOW.

IN DRESS GOODS WE ARE SELLING ALL WOOL HOMESPUN AT 45c.

WIDE, WALE SERGES, ELEGANT FINISH, AT 20c. FULL LINE OF 6-4 ALL WOOL TRICOTS AND CREPE CLOTHS.

SILK AND WOOL ASTRAKAN CLOAKINGS IN DECIDEDLY GOOD VALUES.

LADIES WOOL BOUCLE JACKETS $3.75

Watch for Special Sale of Cotton Flannels.

BLANKETS! BLANKETS!
Extra Values in all Grades on
SATURDAY, NOV. 20.

we will sell Wool Moss Trimming, in all staple colors at 30 cents a yard.

New Hampshire Horse Blankets 2 straps, 75 c.

KERSEY PANTS, MACKINAWS AND WOOL SOCKS, FOR LUMBERMEN.

Look at our Lamp Goods, for the long evenings. Patent extension Lamps from $3.50 up. Duplex Lamp Burners only 50c.

IMMENSE LINE OF GROCERIES. The best Goods for the least money

County Orders bought.

J. L. HURD & CO.

CHEER UP! CHEER UP!
CHEER UP,
A HAPPY TIME COMING!

Rosenthal & Son

Have just returned from the market and have purchased the largest stock of goods ever before brought to Charlevoix.

IN DRY GOODS we have a large line in Dress Goods of the latest styles and at prices to suit everybody. Also a full stock of Notions, Ribbons, Buttons of the latest styles and a big stock of Domestics.

IN CLOAKS we have the finest line of short Wraps, Newmarkets, street Jackets, in excellent styles for children and misses. Made in Plush, Astrakan, Friza, Beaver and Diagonals.

IN CARPETS: A mammoth line of Brussels Ingrains, stair and hall Carpetings and Rugs of every description. Window Curtains in lace, jute and oil with fixtures.

IN CLOTHING: Mens,' Youths,' Boys,' and Childrens' Clothing and Overcoats at almost any price. A large line of Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, etc.

IN TRUNKS, we take the cake and can sell them from 50 cents to $15.00.

A grand chance to strike BARGAINS. Our goods are the best and our stock complete.

Yours, always ready to wait on Customers,

ROSENTHAL & SON.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL. XVIII. NO.--30 CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1886. WHOLE NO. 887

School Books!
SCHOOL BOOKS! SCHOOL BOOKS!
---HEADQUARTERS---
For Everything needed in the School Room, at
HINES & CO.'S DRUG AND STATIONERY STORE.

You will find it to your interest to look over our stock before purchasing elsewhere.

Respectfully,
F. G. HINES & CO.

THE PIONEER HOUSE OF CHARLEVOIX CO.

New Winter Goods
BEING RECEIVED WEEKLY.

We call especial attention to our complete stock of
BOOTS and SHOES.

TEAS of all kinds. We will guarantee you the best Tea for the money, in the county.

ALL GRADES of FRESH ROASTED AND GREEN COFFEES.

A Fine line of Everything in
FURNITURE.

BIG DRIVES IN
Flannels, Yarns, and Blankets.

Please bear in mind that our stock embraces
EVERYTHING
usually found in a General Store.

Remember: Our Goods are the Best. Our Prices the Lowest. Our Record the Oldest.

Resp'y Yours,
Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

We can Supply you with EVERYTHING in our Line.
THE FINEST STOCK OF
FURNITURE
ever offered in Charlevoix,
IS NOW AWAITING YOUR INSPECTION AT
Henry C. Cooper's.

A Choice Line of
FRESH GROCERIES,
OF EVERY VARIETY,
Including Confectionery, Fruits, Canned Goods, and Tobaccos and Cigars in stock
For your inspection in OPERA BLOCK by
R. J. COOPER.

Another List.

Make your selection and come and buy the BEST for the least.

AXES: "The Fletcher." Everyone Knows Them.
SAWS: The "S. & I." Tested And Tried.
The Crescent Ground
GENUINE SIMONDS SAWS.
Dexter Champion and Diamond Tooth Saws.
A New Style Steel Wedge.
Saw Wedges. Ax Stones.
Oregon Mauls & Sledges.

Finest Line of Stoves in the World.

Cutting Boxes.	Wire Nails.	Corn Poppers.
Hay Knives.	Brads.	Tin Ware.
Bread Knives.	Tea & Coffee	Pots. Whips.
Pocket Knives.	Oil Cans.	Robes.
Spoons.	Cant Hooks.	Ammunition.
Forks.	Cant Handles.	Ax Handles.
Tools.	Horse Shoes.	Lanterns.
Ax Handles.	Horse Nails.	Camp Articles.
Belting.	Broad Axes.	Oils.

Come and Inspect Our Stock.
Respectfully,
STOCKMAN & IDDINGS.

The Best Groceries
At The Lowest Prices
ARE FOUND AT THE GROCERY AND PROVISION HOUSE OF
A. E. MASON.
I do a strictly Cash-over-counter business and will guarantee lowest prices.

J. MILO EATON'S
REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE,
AND LOAN OFFICE.
The oldest in the county. Established in 1875.
Money to loan in sums to suit and at lowest rates on improved farms.
ABSTRACTS OF TITLE furnished on short notice. Office over Postoffice.

Pine Lake Iron Co.
IRONTON, MICH.

A MAMMOTH NEW STOCK OF
GENERAL MERCHANDISE,
Just Receivd for Winter Trade,
which we will sell at
LOWEST PRICES.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
SMITH & PARMELEE,
Charlevoix, Michigan.

Local News.

—The inmates of the Bridge Street House were suddenly aroused from their slumbers Thursday night by the cry of fire. It proved to be a chimney burning out.

—Rosenthal & Son announce a grand special sale of Dry Goods, Clothing, Cloaks, etc., next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Look at their new advertisement.

GUILTY!

Thomas Smith Convicted of Murder and Sentenced to State Prison for Life.

"That is a h—ll of a verdict," was the language of Thomas Smith last Monday evening, when the jury, after a very brief consultation, rendered a verdict of "guilty." He was returned to jail, and yesterday ...

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established, 1869.

CHARLEVOIX, NOV. 24, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE, Associate Editor.

New York Sun: Decidedly our friends the prohibitionists are of less political importance than they have supposed, but that need not prevent them from hammering away at the same old nail.

Prince Nicholas of Mingrelia, has been designated by Russia to fill the Bulgarian throne. The other powers have approved the choice, and have invited Russia to propose a satisfactory solution of the conflict with the Bulgarian regency.

A dispatch from Detroit says: "Complete returns from all counties in the state, Alger, Leelanaw and Ontonagon being the last to report, show the following report in the late election for governor: Luce, 181,708; Yaple, 172,275; Dickie, 24,985. Luce's plurality, 8,433.

The Administration, notwithstanding the confident boasts of its friends, is so much weaker to-day than President Cleveland was when elected, that about one-seventh of the electoral votes cast for him would be credited to a Republican candidate if a new election had turned upon the votes cast this month.

It is estimated that the Chicago strike has inflicted a loss of $50,000 a day upon the strikers, and that at least 5,000 of them are debarred from regaining their places which were taken by new men while they were out. It will puzzle outsiders to discover how such striking can be made to pay since, since even those who go back to work get no increase.

"Gil" R. Osman is the only republican on the state ticket who carries the seventh district, and he only by 79 plurality over Wachtel. "Gil" runs ahead of his ticket most everywhere in the state, which fact is not only a tribute to his personal popularity and worth but a complete answer of the people to the scurrilous and mean attach on him by Wachtel through his tool, A. E. Schaefer, a pretended Knight of Labor.—Telegraph.

The Scientific American has discovered in the Patent Office a patent issued in 1868 to House, the inventor of the printing telegraph, which provides for the transmission of sound over a wire by an "undulatory current." This has never been cited in the suits against the Bell Telephone Company, but it is asserted that it was known to the Patent Office officials who issued Bell's patent. If established, it will put telephoning within the reach of the general public's purse.

Detroit Tribune: The third party prohibition movement has received much encouragement from the Democratic party until quite recently. Having discovered since election that a good percentage of the prohibition gains this year comes from the Democrats, it is quite apparent that the democratic hand which has so fondly patted the prohibition party on the back until now, is getting ready to reach a little higher and go to clawing for prohibition hair.

T. V. Powderly, correcting a statement made in the World that he was a free trader, says: "I am a protectionist from the top of my head to the bottom of my foot. This country is not ready for free trade, and until it is I will be a protectionist. Further on in the report I am quoted as follows: 'It behooves you to do your duty on the morrow, so that the longing eyes that are looking to New York shall see that this man is supported until he shall take his place in the White House at Washington.' That language is not mine. I did not mention Mr. George's name, or even refer to him in connection with the presidency. It was my advice to continue the work they had begun until the example set would enable the industrial masses to name the man who would occupy the presidential chair at Washington.

As the New York Tribune views it the saddest current commentary upon European civilization is the fact that in discussing the Bulgarian question all interests are considered save those of the Bulgarians themselves. Russia thinks of her "manifest destiny," and the autocracy of the Czar; Austria thinks of maintaining her share of authority in the Balkans, and of opening a road to Salonika; Germany thinks of playing one enemy against another and so perhaps keeping peace in Europe, but certainly making her own position secure; England thinks of "British interests"; and now and then there are remarks about the Berlin Treaty, the balance of power, and the peace of Europe. But no one thinks or speaks for the sovereign rights and welfare of the Bulgarian people, though in justice they form the issue of all issues in the case.

And Begole, too, got left this time.

Northern Michigan News.

Sam Washburn of Echo township will go to East Jordan.

The Higgins children are to be sent to a Catholic school in Saginaw.

Over 20,000 bushels of potatoes have been shipped from [illegible] this fall.

Elk Rapids has a curiosity in the shape of lady who has gone on the bond of a saloon keeper.

Two prisoners broke jail at Cadillac last week, but were captured and re-jailed within a short time.

Mr. Rose, formerly proprietor of the Petoskey Democrat, contemplates moving his family to Kalamazoo.

Arthur A. Coon, an old settler of South Arm township, this county, has removed to the state of New York.

Work is still progressing on the Frankfort salt well, a depth of four hundred feet having been already reached.

Work is being done on the Frankfort and Southeastern railroad. Three miles have already been graded and made ready for the ties.

Petoskey boasts of having more literary and musical associations, than any town of its size in the state and all in a flourishing condition.

A large tract of pine, about 25,000,000 feet, known as the Patton pine on Betsey lake, has been bought by Buckley and Douglas, of Manistee.

Rev. Mr. Hodges preached his farewell sermon last Sunday at Elmira and will soon go to Ironton, from which place he has accepted a call to preach.

The Elk Rapids Progress says that muskrats are building extremely large houses this winter around Clam and Grass lakes, which indicates a severe winter.

The Traverse City asylum building commission have completed their work, and the whole institution has been turned over to the board of trustees.

The Petoskey Democrat is informed that Mr. Connable's men took up 10,000 pounds of fish at one haul last week. Fish seem to be quite plentiful this fall.

Mr. J. Passage of Petoskey, had a serious attack of lock jaw last Friday evening, and for a time it was feared that it would result fatally, but skillful assistance brought him out all right.

The question of bridging Bear lake between Resort and Eveline townships is being agitated. This will shorten the route between Boyne City and Petoskey and be of much advantage to residents of those parts.

Mancelona is bound to "get there." Her latest venture in the manufacturing line is a machine shop capable of turning out engines, boilers and machinery of all kinds. Manufacturers can afford to locate at Mancelona where they have land donated to them and receive a bonus besides.

There is a rumor afloat to the effect that Mc. Cushman, Rice and Rose contemplate erecting upon their lots just east of the railroad on Mitchell street, a block with stores underneath and the upper part finished off for an opera house. The latter arrangement is very much needed in Petoskey. At the present time we have no place in which to hold a first class entertainment.—Democrat.

It is reported that the Smith Lumber Company is building a railroad from Kalkaska to Whitewater Township, Grand Traverse county. The company will cut 120,000,000 feet of pine into car and bridge timber at their mills in Kalkaska and give steady employment to not less than 100 men. They have the largest and most valuable tract of choice timber in Northern Michigan. It will take six years to cut it, with increased facilities for manufacturing.

Grand Rapids Democrat: Mrs. Higgins, of Antrim county, a woman sentenced to seven years imprisonment in the Detroit house of correction for complicity in the murder of her husband, was one of the lodgers at the jail last night. She will be taken to Detroit early this morning. A nephew of her dead husband committed the crime, for which he received a life sentence. The woman is charged with concealing the crime after she had knowledge of it. The woman talked freely of the dreadful affair to a Democrat reporter. She said that her husband and nephew had quarreled over a piece of land, and in the heat of passion the nephew had committed the murder. She knew he had repented of it, she said, and he had pleaded with her not to tell, promising to go away out west and to send her money to help support herself and five little children. She did not intend to do wrong, she said, and believed that God would help her to bear her long imprisonment. She wept bitterly when she spoke of her little baby boy, less than two years old, whom she said she had refused to take with her so that in after life no one could reproach him with having been in prison. The woman was neatly dressed, without a trace of being hardened in crime.

WIT AND HUMOR.

Pride of ancestry is frequently a little more partial to grandfathers than it is to fathers.—Boston Post.

A fashion journal says: "Bows on chairs have had their day." Perhaps so; but beaux on chairs are still having their nights.

A barber in Auburn has opened a lawyer's office in his shop. Different way of shaving a customer—that's all.—St. Albans Messenger.

Teacher—"Can any boy tell me at what time the sun rises now?" Small boy (shrill and prompt)—"Just the minute father calls, down at our house."—Texas Siftings.

Smoker—"Look here, Isaac, this cigar that I just bought of you won't draw." Isaac—"Von't draw? Vell, do you subbose I'se givin' avay suction bumps mit dem fife-cent Vigtorias?"—The Judge.

It is related of a popular clergyman that he startled a dull praying meeting recently by announcing that he "didn't propose to act as umpire for a sleeping match."—Buffalo Christian Advocate.

"That's a handsome watch you are wearing." "Yes. I flatter myself it is rather neat." "Rather costly, eh?" "Costly? I should say it was. I have had to pay 2 per cent. a month on it most all the time since I've had it."—New York Graphic.

The season has come when a man who finds a twelve-room house and a half-acre of ground too small for him at home will live with his family in a three-room shanty, surrounded by 1,000 feet of glaring sand, for three months and call it happiness.—Somerville Journal.

A Frenchman went into a Wall-street restaurant and seated himself before a mound of butter, a bottle of catsup, and a soiled tablecloth. "What'll you have?" demanded the waiter. "Parlez-vous ——" "Barley soup!" shouted the Irish waiter. "D'ye want tay or coffy?"—Puck.

"Adonis" Dixey and his company are having such hard luck in London that it is feared they may be compelled to walk home. It may afford them some satisfaction to know that, according to the theory of a scientific sharp, the ocean will dry up inside of 10,000,000 years.—Norristown Herald.

Said a member of a recently-drawn Georgia grand jury: "We can hardly be expected to indict men for carrying concealed weapons when the major part of the jury themselves are ballasted to their seats during their deliberations by the weight of the pistols in their hip pockets."—Augusta (Ga.) News.

"Charley," said young Mrs. Tocker to her husband, "I don't mind your drinking once in a while, as long as you eat plenty of cloves, but I do hope you'll always drink nice, pure, sweet whisky. I saw a sign on the street the other day which said, 'Whisky sours,' and I know the stuff must be unhealthy after it sours."—Merchant Traveler.

Gilholy—"It is astonishing what progress has been made by science during the last few years. It is wonderful in how many instances, thanks to science, the genuine article can be imitated." Gus de Smith—"Yes; a New York firm advertises for artificial flower boys. How will an artificial boy do for a triumph of modern science."—Texas Siftings.

Mrs. Bagley—"William, why is it that Boston people are so literary, so refined, so noble, and so celebrated?" Bagley (angrily)—"They ain't. Because your father's aunt was born in Boston you are a regular Hub worshiper. Tell me, now, if Boston is so great, why don't they get up a big exposition?" Mrs. B. (tranquilly)—"Perhaps, my dear, there is nothing to expose."—Philadelphia Call.

A negro who borrowed enough money of a Raleigh (N. C.) merchant to get a marriage license explained his action by saying that he had a pretty good cotton crop and had heard that the farm hands talked of demanding more wages. He had, therefore, looked about, and having found a widow with three able-bodied children would marry her next Sunday and put the children at work on the farm Monday.—Buffalo Express.

A Chicago woman entered the office of a loan agency the other day and said: "I want to raise $1,500 or $3,000 worth on furniture. What is your lowest rate of interest?" "On such loans we generally ask 10 per cent." "Very well. Send your examiner up to the house. It is a speculation with me." "Going into business, ma'am?" "Yes, sir. I'm going to take my three daughters to the seashore and either marry 'em off or drown 'em!"—Wall Street News.

A certain editor of a weekly newspaper made it a practice of "stopping the press to announce," if he had nothing more important to announce than a dog fight. One week everything was as dull as a Patent Office report, but the ruling passion cropped out as follows: "We stop the press to announce that nothing has occurred since we went to press of sufficient interest to induce us to stop the press to announce it."—Texas Siftings.

One of the guards who was on duty last night was approached by a short and stout man in uniform, who walked with his hand placed upon the base of his stomach. "Who goes there?" called the guard, presenting his musket. "I am der pand," said the stout man in a mournful tone. "Well, have you got the countersign?" asked the guard. "No," said the stout man sadly, "but I haf got de golic. Please let me pass till I go by der hospital tent." He went.—New York Tribune.

A correspondent of the Woman's Journal has a queer idea of "summer rest." She suggests going to the mountains, the sea, and the quiet farms, with a store of woman-suffrage literature tracts and leaflets and distributing them "among those who, while they rest, can have precious opportunities to spread the good gospel of equal rights for woman." A more atrocious scheme for breaking up the vacations of numerous innocent people could hardly be devised.—Springfield Union.

A few days ago Attorney W. A. Anderson asked in the police court to have a subpœna issued for several witnesses, including County-Clerk Hamilton, and after the latter name had "duces tecum" added. This morning, while court was in session, a policeman with a careworn, defeated look entered, handed the subpœna to the attorney, and said: "I have served all but Tecum. I could not find him. Nobody knows him. What shall I do about it?"—

Mrs. James Brown Potter has been presented to the Prince of Wales, and she recited "Ostler Joe" to him. When she finished Mr. Wales remarked: "What a lovely poem! and how it excites one's sympathies!" "With whom do you sympathize?" asked Mrs. Potter, naively; "with Joe or his faithless wife?" "With neither," answered Mr. Wales. "My sympathies are all with the other fellow."—The Rambler.

WOMEN DON'T OWN BABIES.

A Startling Bit of Information for the Mothers of the Land.

Millions of mothers all over the United States gather their little ones around them, never dreaming that by the law they have no right to those children. They do not know that the sole legal right to the children rests with the father in all except three of the States. Most men do not know it. A majority of fathers, if they did know, would never assert their right as against the mother. But now and then a father who is as bad as the law knows his legal rights and assumes them.

Not long ago, within a short ride of Boston by rail, lived a young man and his wife and their 7-months-old baby. Apparently they were at peace and prosperous. One day the husband told his wife at noon that a certain family had sent her an earnest invitation to spend the afternoon. The wife said she "had too many things to do that day to go to visit." But the husband said: "You ought to go when they send for you. I will take care of the baby." Thus urged the wife made ready and went. At 6 o'clock she came home. The house was locked, husband and baby gone. There was no letter to explain this sudden and unexpected absence. The neighbors knew nothing. Overwhelmed with grief and heartache for her nursing baby, the poor mother consulted a lawyer. By his advice she forced an entrance to the house. How empty and desolate it seemed! It was evident that the husband had exercised his legal right and taken the child where he pleased. All the neighbors sympathized with the wife. Men said that "if the wretch ever returned he would deserve to be tarred and feathered." Execration was loud, deep, and abundant, but one quiet woman who knew the law said: "He is only as bad as the law which allows him the sole right to the child." But every man said there was no such law. It was only after reference to the statutes they could admit that here in Massachusetts a married father has a legal right to rob his wife of her children, and that men who were so cruel, mean, and dastardly were only as bad as the law. There was but one opinion of the law and of the man. But that could not restore the tender, helpless babe to its mother. If others could sleep or rest, there was neither sleep nor rest for her. The parents of this husband lived in Canada. It was most likely he had taken the child to them. She had been to their home and knew how to find it. Making such arrangements as were possible she started for Canada. The same night the husband returned. Not finding his wife, he surmised that she had gone for the child. He had carried it to his parents. He telegraphed them to take the child away and hide it. This they did. When the young mother appeared at the door of the parents of her husband, with this measureless grief in her heart, his mother met her at the door. One would suppose that the heart of the old mother would have melted in sympathy for this grief-stricken young one. But not so. She sympathized with her son. It cannot now be told how it was managed, but she found the little one in a hot attic, evidently not having been even washed since it left home, and she took it to her own father's house, where she is to-day in dread of what may happen to her and to it.

The brother of this cruel father took his child a few years ago away from its mother. Her relatives paid him $700 to bring it back. It is supposed that this man hoped to make money by a similar torture of his wife.

There was a great deal of indignation, both among men and women, in the case quoted above. But what does it avail? It is evident there is need of women to help make laws to protect women and children. The reproach of good citizens, men and women, should be so poured out upon men who wrong mothers and little children that they will flee as other thieves and robbers flee before honest people.—Lucy Stone, in Boston Globe.

Done by Lightning.

The profile likeness of Miss Lillian Paul on a lacquered metal Japanese tray is attracting much notice in this town. The picture was apparently burned into the tray without human agency. A violent storm of wind, rain, and lightning was raging, and the tray, which resembles old gold in color, and is brightly polished, rested on a side standard in the dining-room so that light from three angles of a bay-window fell upon it. The tray and standard were about six inches from the window frame.

Miss Lillian Paul entered the dining-room while the flashes of lightning were so vivid and continuous that they appeared like a blazing fire. She noticed that the polished tray was attracting the lightning in a dangerous way. A constant blaze of light played upon it. As she stepped forward to remove the tray she was startled by a sudden and brilliant electric flash which made her turn away quickly. In a few minutes she recovered and flung a rug over the tray.

On the following morning she was amazed when she removed the rug to see a profile likeness of herself apparently burned into the lacquer of the tray. She could only account for it on the supposition that the picture must have been photographed on the tray at the instant she drew back when the blinding flash of lightning illuminated the room. The picture is a side view, and sharply defines in profile the head and shoulders of the young lady. She is of fair complexion and has dark hair and eyes. No other person was ever photographed by a lightning flash on a tray, but there are instances where persons have been struck by lightning and the surrounding objects photographed upon them.

Mr. Paul has an elegant residence here. He has had the tray examined by Leo Daft and other scientists. An electrician in Newark said that the silhouet had been burned into the metal by electricity, but Mr. Daft attributes the result to secondary effects of electricity. There were no signs of local disturbance visible, and the lady did not experience any shock, as she certainly would have done had a heavy charge been received by the metal tray, which lay upon a mahogany table, without any metallic surroundings. The theory, therefore, is that the effect produced on the metal was due to oxidation, by the action of intensely bright electric light. Mr. Daft is of the opinion that the lacquer on the tray contains some ingredient, probably bichromate of potassium, sensitive to the light, and the quick action of Miss Paul in throwing the mat over the bright surface of the tray aided in fixing her image there. The tray will be exhibited in public.—Plainfield (N. J.) Letter.

In a match against another juvenile, a Meadville boy ate six bananas in two minutes.

Cold Hammering of Iron.

It either is or ought to be known to all practical men concerned in the working of wrought iron that if a piece of the very best and toughest iron is hammered in the process of forging until it ceases to be red hot, the effect of such cold hammering, as I may term it, is to cause the iron to become so brittle that it will in many cases break across in the process; or if it does not at that time, this process of cold hammering has so removed and destroyed its tenacity as to render it capable of being broken with the slightest blow. What renders the knowledge of the effects of such a process the more important is that in most cases we shall find that, in order to give the pieces of forged work the requisite finish and fine surface as they come from the hands of our workmen in that department, this very cold hammering and swaging, as it is termed, is required, the more so as it is by such a process that iron forgings are so finished from the hammer as to require the least possible labor after; and as every good workman in that department is anxious to turn his work out of hand with the very best surface on it, which this cold hammering enables him to do, it is not a very easy matter, and not at all desirable, to require them to discontinue the practice, which many have endeavored to do from want of a full knowledge of the subject.

There is nothing inherently wrong in this practice of cold hammering—far otherwise; the evil rests with the applying such a cold hammered piece of forge work to its purpose without having been passed through the curative process, which is simply this, namely, to heat the piece of forged work in question to a dull red heat, and lay it down to cool at its leisure. By subjecting wrought iron to the most violent hammering or compression at a low temperature, and then submitting the iron work so treated to the simple process of heating red hot and slow cooling, we enhance its tenacity or shock-sustaining qualities at least twenty times.—J. Nasmyth, in the Architect.

As to Refrigerators.

During the summer people in the country depend largely upon poultry, veal and lamb for their meat supply. There is one thing which is not generally understood by butchers and housekeepers. It is, that while the fibres of the flesh of an animal are set as they are as soon as the animal cools after being killed, the meat is much harder than at any other time. For this reason it should not be cooked while in this state. The meat should hang at least twelve hours after the fibres become set. Chickens, however, can be dressed and cooked while yet warm, and the meat will be found tender, juicy and of fine flavor. Let the same chickens stand until the fibres get hard and rigid, and then cook them, and the meat will not be nearly so tender and juicy. This is true of all animals; the meat should be cooked either while it still contains the natural heat, or not until after the muscles have relaxed; the time of relaxation being from twelve to twenty-four hours after the animal is killed. This time answers very well for poultry, veal and lamb. Mutton and beef, to be in perfection, should be hung for about three weeks in a place where the temperature is low. This, of course, is not possible in warm weather or in a warm country except where there are large refrigerators. But all first-class butchers have such refrigerators.—Maria Parloa, in Good Housekeeping.

Bank of

Charlevoix,

W. P. BROWN, Cashier. W. A. BROWN, Asst. Cashier.

CAPITAL, $25,000

Perfect Security

Is assured to the depositors in this Bank, both by its Capital and conservative management.

Its Officers

Never Speculate. Their business creed is: That to Speculate with ones own money, is folly; that to do so with the money of others, is criminal.

Security in Banking

Is the question of first importance to both Bankers and Depositors; and believing that it furnishes unusual guarantees, therefore,

This Bank Invites

People generally to intrust their money to its keeping. Just liberality will mark its dealings.

This Bank Will

Borrow Investment money when [illegible], paying as large interest thereon as shall be [illegible] safe use of the money.

Parties Seeking

Productive employment for money, and desiring to escape the expense and trouble of the management of private investments, will find attractive security [illegible]

Investment Notes,

Now earning Five per cent yearly interest. These notes afford investors much more perfect security than Savings Bank deposits.

We Solicit Your Patronage.

A. J. McLEOD,

having returned to the Charlevoix Meat Market, announces that he will sell at

Wholesale or Retail

All kinds of

FRESH MEATS,

SALT PORK,

SMOKED & SALTED

HAMS,

Dried and Smoked

BACON, DRIED BEEF, Bologna, Head Cheese, Sausage.

Highest Prices Paid FOR HIDES and PELTS.

Will kill hogs or cattle for other Markets or persons wishing that class of work at low rates.

A. J. McLEOD.

For Sale!

Fred. BICE'S [illegible] House and two [illegible] street [illegible] the Park in the village of Charlevoix, are now for sale. Inquire of G. M. BICE, Alpena, Mich., or [illegible] GRIES, Charlevoix, Mich.

May 4, 1886.

Probate Notice.

[illegible]

Dated October 4th, A. D. 1886.

JAMES V. KEAT, Judge of Probate.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of a mortgage dated the 12th of September, 1879, executed by Oliver S. Horton and [illegible] J. Horton to David Carpenter, recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix county, Michigan, September 29th, 1879 in Liber 3 of mortgages on page 86 [illegible]
November 29th, 1886.

Dated August 31st 1886.

DAVID CARPENTER, Mortgagee.

DART & CALL, Att'ys for Mortgagee.

Mortgage Sale.

Default has been made in the condition of a mortgage dated the 18th day of [illegible] 1884 executed by Nicholas Morgan [illegible] Company [illegible] the 3rd day of February, A. D. 1887.

Dated this 1st day of November, A. D. 1886.

THE JOHN WILKINSON COMPANY, Assignee.

FRED T. MAYNE, Atty for Mortgagee.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made and executed by Adelbert B. [illegible] and Amelia B. [illegible] his wife of Charlevoix, Michigan, to Martha J. Ayers of Plattsburg, New York, [illegible] on Thursday the Twenty-fourth day of February, A. D. 1887, [illegible]

Dated November 15th, A. D. 1886.

MARTHA J. AYERS, Mortgagee.

EDWARD H. GRIES, Attorney for said Mortgagee, Charlevoix, Mich.

Mortgage Sale.

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the money due and secured by a certain mortgage dated the 1st day of August A. D. 1881, executed by George B. Thompson and Ada B. Thompson, his wife of Boyne City, Charlevoix county and state of Michigan, to Allen Chamberlin of Charlevoix, Michigan [illegible] on the 30th day of November, A. D. 1886, [illegible]

Dated this 1st day of September A. D. 1886.

MARTHA J. AYERS, Assignee.

J. M. CLARK, Attorney for Assignee.

CHARLEVOIX

Savings Bank.

Organized under the General Banking Law of the State of Michigan.

Henry Bennett, Pres., John Nicholls, Vice Pres.; F. A. Smith, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:

Henry Bennett, John Nicholls, A. R. Upright, O. D. Wood, A. Bullars, A. Fox, F. A. Smith.

CAPITAL,	$25,000
SURPLUS,	2,000

The liabilities of Stockholders in all State banks as provided in Act 3174 Sec. 6 of the Revised Statutes of the State of Michigan, is double the amount of stock taken, making a guaranteed fund of $50,000 to depositors. Superior facilities for the transaction of every legitimate branch of Banking business extended to our customers on terms as favorable as are consistent with safety.

Drafts drawn direct on the leading commercial cities of the world in large or small amounts. Money to loan on approved paper. Exchange bought and sold. Certificates of deposit issued bearing interest. We respectfully solicit your patronage.

CORRESPONDENTS.

NATIONAL PARK BANK	NEW YORK.
COMMERCIAL NAT. BANK	CHICAGO.
NAT. CITY BANK	GRAND RAPIDS.
DETROIT NAT. BANK	DETROIT.

NEW SHOP!

All kinds of

Blacksmithing,

At the

Shop in the Foundry Building.

Horseshoeing a specialty.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

M. SCOTT.

RIFENBURG MILLING CO.

Charlevoix, Mich.

Manufacturers of and Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

3 EXTRA GRADES OF

FLOUR

Feed, Corn Meal, Graham

We will do exchange work for farmers on short notice.

It Pays to Buy the

BEST BOATS!

The large number of boats I have built for residents, [illegible] Call and get references.

I will guarantee the best modelled, easiest rowing and best sailing boats in Northern Michigan for the

LEAST MONEY!

All kinds of Oars, and Paddles made.

LEAVE ORDERS

with me for a boat for next summer's use. I am bound to please you.

Special facilities for storing boat over [illegible]

J. BEAUVAIS.

D. Sherwood & Co

We are now receiving our Fall and Winter Stock of

BOOTS

AND

SHOES,

which is the most complete in all respects ever brought here and embraces

Lumbermen's Rubbers, Wool Boots, Shoe Pacs, And Everything

Usually kept in a country shoe store.

We also have some big bargains in Women's and Misses Shoes for common wear.

Womens grain shoes for $1.25 Misses grain shoes for $1.00. This Shoe cannot be undersold by any of the dealers.

Also quite an assortment in fine Shoes to please all, having taken advantage of the market and purchased them cheap. We shall give our customers the advantage of the low figures.

A. D. Bradbeer,

PHOTOGRAPHER,

OFFICE OVER

UPRIGHT & EMREY'S STORE.

I will make Cabinet Photographs, A SPECIALTY!

At Lowest Prices

Consistent with

GOOD WORK.

McCABE'S

MARKET

Is supplied with

All Kinds Of

MEATS

At Lowest Prices.

CASH PAID FOR FAT CATTLE, Hides, Sheep and Hogs.

Corner of State & Mason sts.,

JOHN McCABE.

1-3 OFF SALE!

At Miss Spaulding's MILLINERY ROOMS.

I will sell my entire stock of goods, except Yarns and Crewels at greatly reduced prices for cash only.

Any lady purchasing goods to the amount of $4.00 will receive a present of her choice of any untrimmed felt hat in the store.

Come early and secure a Bargain.

MISS L. SPAULDING.

Offices To Rent.

A number of desirable offices to rent in the Sen Block. Inquire of R. Sen.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Dr. Crouter.

Take The Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, [illegible] Mich.

J. MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

CRUICKSHANK & GRIER, Attorneys at Law. Office in Bullars Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

JOSEPH M. CLARK, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

PAILTHORPA, GEORGE, Attorneys and Solicitor, Petoskey, Mich.

DART & CALL, Attorneys, Petoskey, Mich.

R. L. CORBETT, Attorney at law, Boyne City, Mich. (Prosecuting Attorney of Charlevoix County.)

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

J. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

WM. M. PRESTON, M. D. Physician and [illegible], [illegible] Charlevoix, Mich.

J. A. CARLSTEIN, M. D., Office at [illegible], Charlevoix, Mich.

SOCIETIES.

G. A. R.—Foster Post No. 110, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC—Charlevoix Lodge No. [illegible] F. & A. M. Tuesday evening before full moon. Hall over Post office.

I. O. O. F.—Pine Lake Lodge No. 203, meets on [illegible] Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

K. O. T. M.—Resort Tent No. [illegible] meets [illegible] Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows Hall.

L. O. L.—True Blues No. [illegible] meet Saturday [illegible] before full moon in Odd Fellows hall.

EMMET CHAPTER No. 101 R. A. M. meets at Petoskey on the first Monday of each month.

EVANGELINE COMMANDERY No. [illegible] K. T. meets at their Asylum in Petoskey on the first Thursday of each month.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY [illegible] evening at [illegible] hall and winter months.

CHARLEVOIX IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION [illegible]
President—[illegible]
First Vice President—A. A. Smith.
Second Vice President—[illegible]
Recording Secretary—[illegible] J. Strong.
Financial Secretary—D. [illegible]
Treasurer—[illegible] Mason.
Executive Committee—J. Milo Eaton, A. D. [illegible] and F. F. Parmelee.
Corresponding Committee—H. [illegible], W. A. Brown and [illegible]
Reception Committee—F. W. Mayne, [illegible]
All those wishing information regarding Charlevoix [illegible]

HOTELS AND RESTAURANTS.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,

RICHARD COOPER, Prop'r.

Charlevoix, - - - Mich.

Every convenience for the traveling public, and headquarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids stage.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,

R. A. Campbell, Prop'r.

Charlevoix, - - - Mich.

[illegible]

NEWMAN HOUSE.

W. C. Newman, Prop'r.

Charlevoix, - - - Mich.

[illegible]

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,

L. N. Pearl, Prop.

East Jordan, - - - Mich.

[illegible]

BANK.

Bank of Charlevoix.

Drafts on New York, Chicago, Detroit and Grand Rapids. Bank Remittances or Post-office Orders to any person in Europe. Loans and Discounts on first mortgage on Real Estate. Railroad and Steamship Tickets to and from any place in Europe.

BROWN & CO.

PILE DRIVER.

ALLEN'S Steam Pile Driver. Contracts taken all kinds work and delivered any point between Traverse City and Mackinaw. [illegible], Charlevoix, Mich.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

B. [illegible], Homeopathic Medicines, Books, [illegible], Charlevoix, Mich.

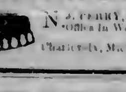
BARBER.

JAY PRICE, Barber, [illegible] of Bridge St. [illegible], Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. R. and J. F. DIXON, Surveyors and Engineers, Charlevoix, Mich. (Deputy County Surveyors Charlevoix county.)

DENTIST.



N. J. PERRY, Dentist, Office in [illegible], Charlevoix, Mich.

MILLINERY

AND

FANCY GOODS!

Mrs. ELLA SMITH & Miss ANNIE COOPER

Have opened a store in the Ingleside Building, and invite their friends to call and inspect their fine stock of

FANCY GOODS!

Of all varieties usually kept in a first-class millinery store.

Washburn & Ackert,

FOUNDREYMEN,

MACHINISTS,

And Manufacturers of The

Charlevoix Plow.

J. A. HEATH,

FURNITURE

AND

JOBBING SHOP.

Antrim Street,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

All classes of furniture made to order, furniture repaired, and shop work of all kind promptly attended to, and satisfaction guaranteed.

Give me a call.

Old newspapers sold at this office.

DR. BRECKINRIDGE.

Some of the Funny Sayings of the Eminent Divine.

So many excellent stories have been current about the Rev. R. J. Breckinridge, and the doctor said so many good things which were widely repeated, that [illegible] them, we can never know whether we are reproducing something previously in print or not.

It is related that when he was president of the college at Jefferson, Pa., his attention was constantly called to the non-attendance of a majority of the students at church. He persistently inquired into the cause of this, and was as regularly informed that it was due to the illness of the absentees. On one occasion, however, he was so fortunate as to have nearly all the students before him, and proceeded to improve it.

"Young gentlemen," he said, "I understand quite well that, in common with the rest of mankind, you are not inclined to listen cheerfully to religious exhortation when an attempt is made to give it practical application, yet there is one manifestation of an overruling Providence of which I feel that I should especially remind you, as one in which you are especially concerned. There is not one of you, perhaps, who has not been prevented from attending church nearly every Sabbath of this year by sickness of some sort. Now, how grateful you should be for that kind, although inscrutable dispensation of Divine mercy which provides that while everybody is sick no one shall die."

When he was a professor of the Theological Seminary at Danville, Ky., he had a neighbor, a certain Mr. Tomkins, whom he held in high esteem. Mr. Tomkins was a Methodist, and he never met Dr. Breckinridge that a humorous polemical passage of arms did not follow. Once the doctor felt sure that he had him on the hip.

"Tomkins' that last load of hay you sold me was short of weight. Now, while I can't, of course, expect as much of a Methodist as a Presbyterian, still I looked for better treatment than that from you."

"Well, doctor," replied Mr. Tomkins, "that sort of thing must happen occasionally. You know that we Methodists believe in such a thing as falling from grace."

"O, it isn't your doctrine," responded Dr. Breckinridge, "that I complain of. It isn't what you claim: but it's the way you have of living up to your privileges."

The Presbyterians of Kentucky just before and during the war were divided in allegiance, according to their political sympathies, between Dr. Breckinridge and Dr. Stuart Robinson. These two eminent divines, both so justly celebrated for intellectual superiority and learning, were no less distinguished by ardent and unyielding convictions and aggressive, positive tempers, which inclined them to show no quarter in controversy, and to regard with very little favor either an opponent's opinions or character. Dr. Breckinridge was an uncompromising union man and fierce contemner of everything connected with secession and the south.

Once during the war he was indulging before an auditory of mixed polities in a bitter diatribe against Morgan's command. A lady hearer of fervent southern sympathies, having listened for some time in silence, but with much impatience, at length exclaimed:

"I am astonished to hear you speak in that way, Dr. Breckinridge, of Morgan's command, when you have two sons who are officers in it."

"Well, really, madam," said the doctor, blandly, "I hadn't forgotten that fact. But I can't say that I have heard that they bring up the average of that crowd to any considerable extent."

"Then what have you to say about Tom Bullitt?" queried his foe enemy, triumphantly. "You have always declared him to be the very best young man, you know. He has been your favorite and model, yet he has been with Morgan all the time."

"That," said the doctor, after a moment of apparently profound reflection, "was long a matter of sore distress to me, as well as of great wonder and perplexity. I could not understand how the Lord could permit it. But finally the thought came to me like a revelation, that if Tom Bullitt hadn't run off and joined Morgan, his mother would have made him study theology with Stuart Robinson, and I humbly recognized that the ways of Providence are best."—Southern Bivouac.

Capital Punishment.

Among nations which take a comparatively lenient view of homicide, it matters little for practical purposes whether the crime is largely punishable by death or not; for we may be pretty certain that the capital penalty will seldom or never be enforced. It may occasionally happen to such a nation to be seized with a paroxysm of indignation at some exceptionally atrocious murder, and, as in the case of Switzerland, to hurriedly resume the powers of punishing the crime with death, but on the subsidence of popular emotion the new weapon is allowed to rest unused. Here in England our legislators have fortunately no such hot-and-cold fits of public sentiment to reckon with. The instinct of all the more manly and sensible part of the people is one of stern detestation of murder and of healthy repugnance for the mawkish sentimentalism which finds excuses for the murderer. The little clique of the pseudo-humanitarians who at one time pretended to represent the "better mind" of the country on the subject have become less and less formidable every year, and have at last sunk into almost complete obscurity and insignificance. Nothing now threatens the maintenance of the death penalty for homicide unless it be the still surviving imperfection and anomalies of our criminal jurisprudence and general discontent with our faulty method of execution and its too often bungling practitioners. Nothing, of course, would be more childishly absurd than to change our laws and abolish a deterrent punishment on the strength of these objections, even if they were irremovable, and that is very far from being the case. It is, no doubt, easier to begin with the cord than the code; but there should be no great difficulty with either. It ought surely to be within the resources of so old a civilization as our own to devise some judicial method of discriminating between the more and less heinous of our murderers, and to discover some decently-skilled executioner who can rid the world of the worst of them with reasonable humanity and despatch.—Saturday Review.

A notary was instructing one of his employes in the duties of the office. "But remember, sir," he said, "that the use of an eraser upon a notary's deed is forbidden by law." "Very well, monsieur, but supposing it was a contract of marriage? In that case shouldn't one use a penknife?"—French Fun.

Fresh Cigars.

"I want you to try this cigar," said a gentleman yesterday, as he handed out a fine-looking specimen of the weed. It was a good one, and the smoker said so.

"That was made on Friday," said the gentleman. "I got it in Reading. There is a cigar manufacturer there who does nothing but make fresh Havana cigars, at $7 a hundred, to be smoked at once. The idea is all the rage there, and he has as much as he can do. On Saturdays, especially, he has more than he can do. Persons order cigars made on Saturday to smoke on Sunday. Queer idea, isn't it? I ordered a box just to try them, and I find they're ever so much better fresh."

"I don't know of any such a thing in Pittsburg," said one of the most prominent cigar-dealers and manufacturers last evening, "but I don't see anything wrong in it. We have to keep all our fine imported cigars fresh. We couldn't sell them if we didn't."

"But how do you keep them fresh?"

"Well, you see this case here. The lowest priced cigar in it is three for a quarter. All these boxes sit on tin boxes, which contain water."

"These boxes are made in New York," he continued, "especially for this purpose. They have a sheet of heavy felt inside of them, which we keep moistened with water. It does not do to make them too wet, for then the water would get into the cigars and they would turn moldy. They must be watched all the time to see that they are kept just moist enough. Cigars that are not in the case we keep in an air-tight, zinc-lined box. A Havana cigar must never be allowed to dry out; it spoils the flavor. That, at least, is my judgment, and that of all the best judges of a good cigar. A cigar that has any Havana in it must be smoked when it is moist. It is not that it burns up too rapidly when dry, but it loses the delicate flavor. A cigar that has no Havana in it is better the older and drier it becomes, and it must be kept away from moisture. You see in this case there are no water-boxes. There are some good cigars here, but they have no Havana in them.

"A man who buys 100 fresh cigars with Havana in them must be a rapid smoker, or have a good many friends, if they will keep fresh for him until they are all gone, unless he takes care to keep them moist. That Reading man has probably got a new scheme, and has succeeded in making it the fashion. There's a great deal in getting it to be 'the thing' in any such plan. The best judges and lovers of good cigars that I know of prefer to buy what they want each day, as they can be more certain of having them just to suit their taste."—Pittsburg Post.

Synonyms.

One gets a vivid sense of the different atmosphere about words substantially synonymous in trying to make substitutions in a proof-sheet. For example, the lynx-eyed proof-reader has some day conveyed to you by means of the delicately unobtrusive intimation of a blue-pencil line, the fact that you have repeated a word three times in the space of a short paragraph. You have to find a substitute. It is easy to think of half a dozen terms that stand for very nearly the same idea, but it is in the incongruous implications of them all that the difficulty lies. You consult your book of Synonyms, and find there nearly all you have already thought of, but never any others. There is, however, one further resource. You have had from boyhood the Thesaurus of English Words. Hundreds of times, during all these years, you have referred to its wonderful wealth of kindred terms. You seem dimly to remember that on one occasion in the remote past you did find in it a missing word you wanted. It shall have one more chance to distinguish itself. Perhaps the sentence to be amended reads thus: "As he tore open the telegram a smile of bitter mockery flickered across his haggard features, and he staggered behind the slender column." Suppose, now, it is the word "mockery" for which you seek a substitute. The Thesaurus suggests, a smile of bitter bathos, bitter buffoonery, bitter slip-of-the-tongue, bitter scurrility. Or suppose it is "staggered" that is to be eliminated. You find as alluring alternatives, he fluctuated, he curveted, he librated, he dangled. If each one of those would seem to impart a certain flavor that is hardly required for your present purpose, you may write, he pranced, he flopped, he churned, he effervesced, behind the slender column. Or should the word to be removed be "haggard," you have your choice between his squalid features, his macerated features, his bespeared features, his rickety features. Or, finally, if you are in search of something to fill the place of "column," your incomparable hand-book allows you to choose freely between the slender tallness, the slender may-pole, the slender hummock, promontory, top-gallant-mast, procerity, monticle, or garret. The object of this work, says the title-page, is "to facilitate the expression of ideas and assist in literary composition."—September Atlantic.

Gilbert Exposed.

A Japanese gentleman in Hamburg went to see the "The Mikado" there, under the impression that it pretended to be a native production imported from Japan. Full of his discovery that it is no such thing, he has written a long "exposure" of it to a Hamburg newspaper. The names Nanki-Poo, Ko-Ko, Pooh-Bah are not Japanese. "They have more resemblance with the Chinese." The embroidery of the dresses is what in Japan they embroider bed-clothes with. The girls open their mouths too widely; but one is so exquisitely beautiful that "if she were only to procure a somewhat more exact belt, she would look quite like a real Japanese." For the son of the Mikado, Nanki-Poo "kisses the young girls too much." Very suspicious is the embracing, as "what fashion is not known with us in Japan." Most damning proof of all, "The Mikado" is fanciful; and in Japan all plays are prohibited that do not stick to facts. Mr. Gilbert has been found out. His play is original.—St. James's Gazette.

City Parson—Going to have the hay-fever this year? Country Parson—No; my congregation can't afford it.

It was in a newspaper office. The only sound was the scratching of a hard pencil on some stiff paper as the able reporter wrestled with a column obituary. Finally he raised his head and asked. "Can I say, in speaking of the column rules being turned, that the paper was draped in mourning?" "O, yes," replied the obliging city editor. "You can. But you'll make an ass of yourself if you do. You can't drape anything with a column rule." Then silence came again, and even the scratching of the hard pencil could no longer be heard.—Washington Hatchet.

THE NEWSPAPER BOSTON.

Said to be Not at All Like the Real One.

It is well known, says the Boston Advertiser, that Western and Southern newspapers [illegible] lines about Boston, [illegible] may be further said that [illegible] given day, one hundred [illegible] were examined the allusions to this favorite [illegible] would make a tolerable large collection.

There is a sort of alphabetical procession of these [illegible]. To-day it is the Arctic [illegible]. To-morrow the supposed bean [illegible]. A third day culture figures. Dowdiness, envy, foibles, greed, hallucinations, and so on through the [illegible] list runs this system of detraction. Men who never saw a slice of Boston brown bread and never heard a Greek quotation on Beacon street dare thus to speak with levity of a city which is no joke, as the tax list shows.

The newspaper Boston is no more like the real Boston, where Squire once wrote poetry, than a paper doll is like the living child who begs to be allowed to read "Moonlight Dick, or the Smuggler's Rescue." To support this proposition, it would be safe to offer (after the manner of newspaper circulation affidavits) a series of prizes, open to the West and South, as follows:

1. A bound volume of Tupper to any person who hears in Washington street, on a day fixed, a single allusion to Emerson, except in remarks by suburbans, so called.

2. A report of the common council meetings for one year to the observer who counts three Boston women out of a hundred who wear eye-glasses.

3. A photograph of Charlestown state prison to the discoverer of above one out of every ten thousand Bostonians, who ever attended the Concord school of philosophy.

4. A bottle of water from the frog pond for the identification of over fifty in one hundred citizens who know by sight Holmes or Howells or Aldrich, or any one of the chief literary men of Boston.

This plan might be indefinitely extended. Within its scope would come the great company of Boston people who eschew the traditional diet of New England; the multitude who do not know a theosophist from a policeman; the long line of old people who make more fun of Boston than any outsider, the number who never entered Faneuil Hall or stood on Bunker Hill or walked into the old statehouse, and those who could as soon calculate an eclipse as tell who are buried in the graveyard, Boston will always preserve and protect.

Let it be said, once for all, that anyone with or without a license, who has a new philosophy to preach, or who wishes to convince us of the vastness of the West, or the "bouah, sir," of the South, or who wishes to do any one of a thousand cranky things, will be welcomed to Boston.

But let not this invitation be held to include a belief that brown bread is here consumed by the acre; that a lexicon is given with one fishball; that the bill of fare for a 25-cent dinner is adorned with quotations from the classics; that the city is full of signs, "This way to the Concord school of philosophy;" that the heads are all level, the tongues all eloquent, the pens all fountains of wit and wisdom.

Like her own precious east wind, the real Boston is reasonably steady, never dry, somewhat cooling, with a large bump of language. But that is not the newspaper Boston.

He rang the door-bell several times, and was going down the steps when a boy came along and said it was an empty house. "Ah! but I thought the family might be sojourning at the seashore." "O, you did? Well, I belong to the family, and at present we are sojourning on the fourth floor back in the next street. We have not been to the seashore since dad thought oil was going to jump several points." "Didn't it jump?" "She did, but it was backwards."—Wall Street News.

Investigation shows that the limit of temperature at which men can work depends upon the length of the exposure, the amount of exertion they put forth, their condition and the nature of the atmosphere, particularly as to its degree of moisture. It is stated that men have been employed on railways at 104 degrees, in mines under very favorable conditions at 120 deg., and are said to work occasionally in the stoke-holes of tropical steamers at 156 deg. Professor Dubois is reported to have estimated that a temperature of 122 deg. can be endured when the air is as dry as possible, but that even 104 deg. is likely to be fatal in an atmosphere saturated with moisture. It is also considered certain that men cannot become accustomed to stand for any considerable time a higher temperature than from 145 deg. to 165 deg. even when they keep perfectly still and are in quite pure air.

A letter in the Pittsburg Dispatch says: "Col. Ingersoll is the kindest-hearted man I ever saw. Riding all day with him between Omaha and Chicago I saw a little incident that will illustrate this. On the train was a pale, sickly-looking woman, with a fretful baby. The woman was in shabby mourning and was almost worn out with the crying and worrying of her little one. The passengers were very much annoyed and kept looking around and frowning at the woman, who was evidently doing her best to quiet the child. Finally Mr. Ingersoll, who had been reading, noticed it. Getting up, he stepped across to the woman and took the babe, telling her to take a little rest and he would take care of the child. The little one stopped crying at once, playing with his watch and chain awhile and finally he tied its little head down on his arm and went to sleep. The tired mother also dropped to sleep, and the Colonel cared for the baby for upwards of a hundred miles before the mother awaked and relieved him."

The Dublin Freeman says: "The Princess Beatrice is beginning to derive some little benefit from her marriage. Up till now she has never been permitted to pay a visit on her own account, to any house—not even to her own relatives. It seems, however, she is to be allowed in the course of a fortnight to go to Sandringham with her husband and spend a few days with the Prince of Wales. But, as we all know, the festive Prince is very catholic in his sympathies, and society at his house, though delightful, is a little 'mixed.' Prince Henry of Battenberg, being a person of dubious birth, is naturally a fearful stickler for etiquet and stands on his royal dignity, now that he has by marriage attained some in England, in the most amusing manner. He has accordingly demanded that before his wife is allowed to visit her brother a list of all the persons who are to be in the house during their visit shall be submitted to him. You see some artist, some actor, or literary man, odious middle-class person might be there and come between the wind and the morganatic nobility of the youthful Battenberg."

Never Give Up.

If you are suffering with low and depressed spirits, loss of appetite, general debility, disordered blood, weak constitution, headache, or any disease of a bilious nature, by all means procure a bottle of Electric Bitters. You will be surprised to see the rapid improvement that will follow, you will be inspired with new life, strength and activity will return; pain and misery will cease, and henceforth you will rejoice in the praise of Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Dr. G. W. Crouter.

Miraculous Escape.

W. W. Reed, druggist, of Winchester, Ind., writes: "One of my customers, Mrs. Louisa Pike, Bartonia, Randolph Co., Ind., was a long sufferer with Consumption, and was given up to die by four physicians. She heard of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and began buying it of me. In six months' time she walked to this city, a distance of six miles, and is now so much improved she has quit using it. She feels she owes her life to it." Free Trial Bottles at Dr. G. W. Crouter's.

TIME CARDS OF STEAMERS.

Charlevoix and East Jordan.

[illegible]

East Jordan and Charlevoix.

[illegible]

Harbor Springs, Charlevoix & E. Jordan.

[illegible]

Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad.

[illegible]

C. L. LOCKWOOD, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

CHARLEVOIX

Manufacturing Co.

Charlevoix, Mich.,

Manufacturers of

Sash and Doors,

Blinds, Mouldings etc.

NEWELL

Posts, Banisters & Stair Rails

kept in stock.

Window & Door Frames made to order.

All Kinds of

Building Material

Kept constantly on hand.

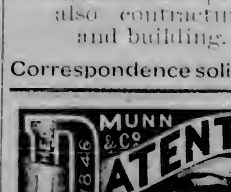
PLANS &

SPECIFICATIONS,

Furnished on application.

Cottages made a specialty also contracting and building.

Correspondence solicited.



After Forty years' experience in the preparation of more than One Hundred Thousand applications for patents in the United States and Foreign countries, the publishers of the Scientific American continue to act as solicitors for patents, caveats, trade-marks, copyrights, etc., for the United States, and to obtain patents in Canada, England, France, Germany, and all other countries. Their experience is unequaled and their facilities are unsurpassed.

Drawings and specifications prepared and filed in the Patent Office on short notice. Terms very reasonable. No charge for examination of models or drawings. Advice by mail free.

Patents obtained through Munn & Co. are noticed in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, which has the largest circulation and is the most influential newspaper of its kind published in the world. The advantages of such a notice every patentee understands.

This large and splendidly illustrated newspaper is published WEEKLY at $3.00 a year, and is admitted to be the best paper devoted to science, mechanics, inventions, engineering works, and other departments of industrial progress, published in any country. It contains the names of all patentees and title of every invention patented each week. Try it four months for one dollar. Sold by all newsdealers.

If you have an invention to patent write to Munn & Co., publishers of Scientific American, 361 Broadway, New York.

Handbook about patents mailed free.

The Kalamazoo

"DAILY TELEGRAPH."

Contains the Associated Press Dispatches

Sent by Mail at 50c a month.

NEW

ATKINS SAWS

AND

Perfection Axes

Complete stock of

HARDWARE, TINWARE, & NOTIONS

Round Oak & Square Base STOVES

Job & Tin Work.

L. D. Bartholomew & Co.

THE BEST

Drugs, Confectionery, Stationery,

BOOKS & PAPERS,

FISHING TACKLE, Etc,

Soda Water, Mineral Water, Cigars,

Are found at PERRY WEED'S.

The only News stand in town.

BURNS & SCROGGIE'S

LIVERY STABLE

CHARLEVOIX.

The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Drays furnished [illegible] Rates low.

Burns & Scroggie, Charlevoix.

SILVER WARE.

I have just received a very fine stock of Silver Ware of the latest patterns and can sell them at lowest figures.

My Stock of

Watches, Clocks, Chains, Pins, Gold & Silver headed Canes etc. is complete.

[illegible]

All classes of Repairing done quickly.

C. H. BELLINGER.

J. T. Kirkpatrick,

ARCHITECT

AND CONTRACTOR,

ON

Charlevoix Summer Resorts.

I have the Plans of [illegible] Cottages [illegible] that can be seen by parties wanting to build cottages.

I employ only first-class workmen both

Carpenters and Painters.

[illegible]

J. T. KIRKPATRICK.

GELLICK & INGALLS

Dealers in

Choice Wines,

Fine Liquors

EXCELLENT CIGARS.

We call Special Attention to our

Old Kentucky Sour Mash

WHISKIES.

We also keep continually on draught

Milwaukee

Export and lager Beer.

Bridge St., 1st door south of [illegible].

Take The Sentinel.

Fox & Miller

Offer a

Mammoth Stock

OF

BOOTS, SHOES

and other

FOOT WEAR,

--AT--

LOWER PRICES

Than can be found elsewhere in the County.

We have just secured a

FIRST-CLASS

SHOEMAKER,

And will make Repairing a specialty.

We have the Goods and we are bound to sell them.

NOTHING SHODDY.

Fox & Miller.

MONEY TO LOAN,

At current rates of interest, on

Approved Real Estate Security.

School Bonds bought and sold.

MILEY & CHAPIN,

Boyne City.

BATH & BARBER

ROOMS.

Hot and Cold Baths and Sea Water Baths at the Barber Shop, 1st door north of Bridge St. House.

If you want a quiet place to get a shave, hair dress or bath call and see me.

JAY L. PRICE.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established, 1869.
CHARLEVOIX, NOV. 24, 1886.
WILLARD A. SMITH Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE Associate Editor.

RAILROAD NEWS.

Bright Prospects of an Early Extension of the C. W. M. Railway to Traverse City and Charlevoix

For several years it has been known that the ultimate purpose of those controlling the C. & W. M. railway, was its extension to Traverse City and along the shore of Grand Traverse Bay to Charlevoix. The officers of the company have freely stated upon many occasions that the time was not far distant when their line would be extended here.

This week we are able to give our readers information from reliable sources which has in it much encouragement, and we submit it.

Big Rapids Pioneer, 16th "From a source considered quite reliable, we learn that the C. & W. M. road is to be be extend from Baldwin to Charlevoix the coming year, and that the arrangement will probably postpone the extension of the road from this point several years or more."

From the fact that Bro. Gay, of the Pioneer, is in a situation to get reliable information upon railroad matters, we took much encouragement from the disclosure. But before the effects of this stimulant had disappeared from our system, the following from the Chicago Inter Ocean confirmed its accuracy:

"It is semi-officially announced, as the result of the visit of J. B. Mulliken, Manager and Vice President of the Chicago and West Michigan railroad, manager of the Detroit, Lansing and Northern, and the president and manager of the St. Louis and Saginaw Valley road, that Boston capitalists who are interested in the three roads will commence building a new road from Grand Ledge to Grand Rapids, providing a direct route to Lansing, and an air line to Detroit by way of the Detroit, Lansing and Northern. Also that the northern branch of the Chicago and West Michigan will be extended from Baldwin to Traverse City. Then the three roads will be consolidated under a single management, making the system 900 miles and traversing the state east and west, also north and south."

The Grand Rapids Democrat of the 17th, contained the following, which embraces more tangible information than either of the other papers furnish:

"J. B. Mulliken, the general manager of the D., L. & N. and C. & W. M. railroads, was in the city yesterday, and was confined to his room at the Morton by an attack of neuralgia in the head. He was not accessible to reporters but was able during the day to transact considerable business. Some of the officers of the G. R. & I. called upon him and talked over matters at Muskegon. Mr. Mulliken has just returned from Boston, where the directors and heavy stockholders of his road reside, and a reporter was informed by a person who is cognizant of the facts that he made arrangements while down there for large extensions of the C. & W. M. next season. Surveyors and inspectors have been fitted out and are now on the road running from Baldwin north to Traverse City. They will aso make surveys to Charlevoix and a spur to Frankfort. This gentleman said: 'The road will certainly be extended next season as far as Traverse City and may go on to Charlevoix, although that is not so certain. Mr. Mulliken made the arrangements when in Boston recently, and the men are now fitted out to run the lines.'"

We are also in possession of personal information which comes through Mr. H. Noble of Elk Rapids, which verifies all of the above. Mr. Noble returned from Grand Rapids Thursday, and reports having had an interview with Mr. Mulliken and other prominent railroad men, and is firm in the opinion that the road will be built.

Railroad building which has been so long practically inactive, under the effect of financial stringency and its resulting commercial disturbances, has been for the past year showing symptoms of revival. Public confidence has been gradually returning, and the various railroad systems have in their annual exhibits shown an encouraging gain in traffic. With these never-failing indications of returning activity has appeared a vigorous onward movement in the industrial and manufacturing interests of the country notwithstanding the labor disturbances which have been so prevalent.

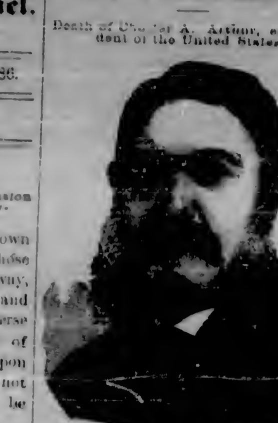
As a natural result of these infallible signs of the times, railroad extension has revived and we are doubtless entering upon an era of unprecedented growth of railroad systems. The recent consolidation of railroad corporations hinging upon the transfer of the D. M. & M (from St. Ignace north) was brought about by the colossal railroad schemes which will soon make Sault Ste. Marie one of the most important railroad centers of the peninsulas of Michigan.

With all these projects approaching a hasty culmination, the C. & W. M. people doubtless regard this the opportune moment in which to extend their trunk line northward toward the great trans-continental lines which will soon converge near the Straits of Mackinaw.

Looking at the matter in all of its aspects, we think our chances are bright for a railroad at no distant day.

GONE TO HIS REST.

Death of Chester A. Arthur, ex-President of the United States.



Chester A. Arthur, ex-President of the United States, died at his home in New York at five o'clock on the morning of the 18th.

He had long been suffering from a complication of diseases, but his chief malady was Bright's disease of the kidneys. His death has been expected for some months.

The sad event which called General Arthur to the Presidency is still fresh in the minds of all. When he assumed the administration of the government, the American people entertained much of needless, because causeless solicitude and apprehension expressed by leading politicians of both parties, as to the course which President Arthur would pursue.

Some professed to fear that he would make a violent departure from the policy of General Garfield, and so precipitate new turmoils and convulsions, to the great danger of her institutions. Mr. Arthur's friends thought they knew him better, and his administrative course quickly and fully justified their confidence in his discretion and wisdom. His name will stand in history as that of a statesmanlike, capable and successful head of the Nation, with the best of American Presidents.

His administration was characterized by a patriotic and high-minded devotion to duty, and displayed to the world a statesmanship manly and dignified. Not only did his own party acknowledge his lofty and patriotic character, but all shades of political opinion felt that his administration gave stability and security to National affairs.

When too late, the Republican leaders came to acknowledge that had he been the choice of the party in 1884 his election would have been certain.

One of the Nation's best and noblest sons has gone to his rest.

Ironton.

Things most earnestly anticipated are often the slowest in occurring. Do you "catch on?"

There was a man here from Mancelona last week looking for a chance to open a meat market.

Katie Schoffen spent a few days visiting at home last week.

Our genial John Frenz, of Kenosha, is around among us again, giving pointers on the winter and politics.

Miss Mary Friel is engaged as organist of the Congregational church.

Stephen McQueer and family have removed back on their farm in Traverse county. They had resided here five years, and were well and favorably known.

Will Garland, who bought the Frizzel Blacksmith shop, has removed it from the corner to Bert Burdick's lot, where it is rebuilt, with improvements. Mr. Burdick will operate the wood-work department, and will blow the bellows himself. This new business deserves a liberal share of patronage.

Ed. Soules, long a resident of Ironton, who started for St. Andrew's Bay, Fla., in October, writes back that on the 1st he was married in Cleveland, to Miss Itha Arbuckle, of New Lisbon, Ohio. He and his bride went direct to St. Andrews Bay, became disgusted, and returned as far as Pensacola. Ed. bought some lots at St. Andrews Bay over a year ago, but says the swamp is so dense he could not get to them.

How is this for the first half of November? Three wedding in our town in rapid succession. We have the pleasure of reporting the marriage of Simpson B. Brown and Miss Mary Purvis, on Wednesday last, by Rev. J. T. Iddings, at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. J. H. Purvis. Our hearty congratulations are extended. The happy couple moved to Mr. Brown's farm, near Stripp's, on last Thursday.

Everything was so still that the usual tin-pan concert was skipped on Wednesday night, and on Thursday the boys had so many cigars that they did not feel like it after. The query "who next?" is still out.

Mr. Waldron is improving his house on the inside for the winter.

Mr. George Southerly, of Newberry, is visiting his father in law, I. G. Waldron, this week.

A letter from Mr. Frizzell's family says that they arrived at St. Andrew's Bay, Fla., on the 7th, safe and hearty.

The furnace shut down on Friday. Repairs will be made at once, we understand, and operations resumed as soon as possible. Already a large stock of ore is in the stock-house, and two more cargoes are expected. Extensive improvements are to be made before the opening of navigation.

Special meetings in the M. E. church are being continued this week. Quarterly meeting services on Saturday and Sunday. The Presiding Elder will be present. Congregational services at the usual hours.

Mr. Lon Sheldon moved into No. 14, on Front street, on Monday. He will drive team for the Company this winter.

Miss Nellie Noyes visited friends in Charlevoix over Sunday.

EDUCATIONAL.

All communications on educational topics should be addressed to Prof. H. M. Enos, Superintendent of the Charlevoix Schools.

ASSOCIATION QUERY BOX.

At what age should Grammar be taught? Answered by Mr. Nicholas: After thorough grounding in the practice of language by Language Lessons, at twelve or thirteen years or later.

What should be the work of the child during the first month of school? Answered by Mrs. Pope: To use his eyes, ears, hands and mouth as much as possible under the direction of the teacher, to learn how to use his physical faculties to the best advantage preparatory to the exercise of the mental powers.

What plan can be adopted to prevent tattling in school? Answered by Mr. Harris: Discourage it; teach the children a better spirit, and do not patronize tattling for purposes of discipline.

How should an exercise in reading be conducted? Answered by Miss Mattie O'Neill: An abstract of the principles of the word method was given, involving repeated association of word signs with ideas, script was recommended rather than print for early blackboard work.

Should Third Reader pupils be allowed to write their spelling lessons, or spell orally? Answered by Miss Pappineau: Much writing should be done and some oral spelling; all written work should be criticised by teacher.

How is it practicable for teachers to consult parents on all matters pertaining to the welfare of the child? Answered by Mr. Harris, and discussed: In large communities it may be difficult, but the teacher can usually discover where difficulties are likely to arise and visit those parents first. Never take decided measures in difficult cases until the parent has been consulted. In country schools all the families can be visited early. Do not call upon the parent merely to talk school. Engage their interest in other ways and establish confidence by a friendly spirit generally.

Should people who visit school rooms, knock before entering? Answered by Miss Glenn, and discussed freely. The prevailing opinion seemed to be that parents and immediate patrons of the school having a personal interest in it, should not knock and that the interruption caused by so doing was unnecessary. In schools where two or more teachers are employed they should not be expected to knock. Some contended strongly that knocking for admittance is a courtesy due to the teacher always, and that it should be practiced for its educating effect.

How shall we manage a pupil who is too sullen to talk? Answered by Mr. Enos: Such a peculiarity arises often, more from real diffidence than anything else. Make the pupil see by your conduct that you seek his interest and are working in a kindly spirit. Get him interested in, or amused by something, and without appearing to work for that end, get the "shell" broken. Do not be in a hurry. Like many other cases where discipline is necessary, tact, and the true spirit of the friend and teacher will overcome the difficulty.

How shall we prevent tardiness? Answered by Mr. Enos: Endeavor to awaken a sentiment in favor of punctuality in the school. A few at least can always be aroused to a determined effort. Use personal effort with the pupils and parents. Have an Honor Roll. Never have a Dishonor Roll. Push the matter patiently and persistently. If the district Board make rules enforce them firmly. Do not make them yourself. Never give up effort.

Is a teacher who has no regard for religion, fitted to teach school? Answered by Miss Gage and discussed: The prevailing sentiment appeared to be that the subject of Sectarianism should be rigidly excluded from the question, and that an irreligious person could not fail to exert a baneful influence in a school; therefore as a question of public good, such a person as described in the question is not fitted to discharge the duties of a teacher.

Most of the questions were freely discussed and nearly all participated in the deliberations.

We have solutions for the problem of Bacchus and Silenus and also for that of the division of the quadrangular piece of land, but not having the algebraic symbols in type must defer the publication until we have room to explain the solutions more at length.

Answers to Queries: (3) Jefferson and J. Q. Adams were elected by the House of Representatives, Tyler, Fillmore, Johnson and Arthur were elected to the vice-Presidency and Hayes received only a minority of the popular vote.

(4) Boiling water does not become hotter by increasing the fire underneath.

(5) Iron is a better conductor of heat than the wood and the ground under the walk not being yet frozen its heat is conducted by the spikes and thaws the snow from their heads.

The teachers of the Charlevoix schools hold their next monthly meeting on Monday evening, Nov. 29th. The principal subjects of discussion will be "The Memory as a Factor in Education," "The Home Side of the School." Select readings and music will furnish a part of the programme.

Who wouldn't buy a cloak for $4.50 at F. W. Craine & Co.

F. W. Craine & Co. are selling cloaks at bed-rock prices.

Now is the time to buy a cloak and for guaranteed quality and low prices go to F. W. Craine & Co.'s.

50 different styles of short wraps, all of the most desirable for winter wear, no two alike at F. W. Craine & Co's.

When you buy a cloak or wrap consider its quality well. F. W. Craine & Co. sell the best for the least money.

The Rink.

The Skating rink will be open to morrow afternoon and evening. It will be heated. L. E. S. & M. L., props.

Wood-Choppers Wanted

250 wood choppers wanted heavy timber and steady employment all winter. Cash.

PINE LAKE IRON CO.

Engine for Sale

For sale cheap, a hundred horse power engine in good repair.

D. H. MERRITT & CO.
Kalamazoo, Mich.

Wood wanted at this office on subscription.

Short wraps from $4 to $35 at F. W. Craine & Co's.

Muslin underwear still booming at F. W. Craine & Co. Fifty cents on the dollar.

Fresh oysters direct from Baltimore at Jefferies' market.

Go to Scott's shop for a first class job of horseshoeing.

A house and 6 lots for sale or rent, Inquire of L. E. Allen, Charlevoix.

Mrs Lilney & Carr, the popular milliners, have just received and are still receiving one of the finest and fullest lines of fall and winter goods ever brought to Charlevoix. The ladies are invited to call in and inspect their stock.

THIS SHIRT
THE FINEST
In THE WORLD

For 89 Cts.
Worth $1.25.
Of F. W. CRAINE & CO.

YOUR CHANCES ARE GOOD
FOR SECURING A BARGAIN,
In Everything in My Line.

I have just completed my stock of Winter Goods and a better line of

MACKINAWS,

You cannot find in any stock. The 3 point Mackinaws are the best that are made and I am the only one who keeps them.

Good Goods are the Cheapest, if you do have to pay a little more for them.

ALL-WOOL RED UNDERWEAR for $1.50 a suit. A large stock of FUR CAPS cheaper than ever sold before. I have cut my prices down on everything this fall and am bound to sell if low prices are any object.

GEO. W. MILLER.

AT FIFTY CENTS!
ON THE DOLLAR.

A Sale with Greater Bargains Than Before.

Another Gigantic Sale of Muslin Underwear.

SURE TO CAUSE ANOTHER RUSH.

LOT 1--15 CENTS.
Ladies' Aprons with tucks and long strings; Misses' Fruit of the Loom Drawers; Infants' Night Gowns, Ladies Perfect Fitting Corset Covers; Black Waists to wear under Corset covers; Misses' Children's and Young Ladies' Skirts; Boys' and Girls' Twilled Waists. Usual retail price, 25 and 30 cents.

LOT 2--25 CENTS.
Ladies' Fruit of the Loom Drawers; Misses' and Children's Fruit of the Loom Drawers trimmed with fine embroidery; Ladies Ruffled Skirts and Lace trimmed Night Gowns; Infants' fine Lonsdale Cambric Slips; Children's and Misses' Night Gowns, lined yoke and back, all sizes; Ladies' Chemises, all trimmed, and some with one hundred tucks; Handsome Corset covers, in latest shapes; Extra Large Tucked Aprons. Usual retail price, 40 to 50 cents.

LOT 3--50 CENTS.
Ladies' Mother Hubbard Night Gowns; Handsomely Trimmed Night Gowns; Chemises with Hamburg yokes and linen lace; Corset covers, elaborately trimmed; Ladies' Skirts, with deep Hamburg and Cambric Ruffles, Combination Garments; Chemises and Skirts, some with hundred tucks, and Hamburg yokes, Misses' Fruit of the loom Night Gowns; Ladies' Hamburg Edge and Inserting Trimmed Drawers. Usual retail price, 75 cents and $1.00.

Come for them quick,---- F. W. CRAINE & CO.

Unusually Great
BARGAINS
IN DRY GOODS,
DURING NOVEMBER.

WE OFFER A FULL ASSORTMENT OF ALL SEASONABLE GOODS AND PRICES ARE WONDERFULLY LOW.

IN DRESS GOODS WE ARE SELLING ALL WOOL HOMESPUN AT 45c.

WIDE, WALE SERGES, ELEGANT FINISH, AT 20c. FULL LINE OF 6-4 ALL WOOL TRICOTS AND CREPE CLOTHS.

SILK AND WOOL ASTRAKAN CLOAKINGS IN DECIDEDLY GOOD VALUES.

LADIES WOOL BOUCLE JACKETS $3.75

SATURDAY, NOV. 27.
We offer
Cotton Flannels,
At ONE QUARTER OFF.
BLANKETS! BLANKETS!

KERSEY PANTS, MACKINAWS AND WOOL SOCKS, FOR LUMBERMEN.

Look at our Lamp Goods, for the long evenings. Patent extension Lamps from $3.50 up. Duplex Lamp Burners only 50c.

IMMENSE LINE OF GROCERIES. The best Goods for the least money

County Orders bought.

J. L. HURD & CO.

CRASH! SMASH! CRASH!
Everything Must Go!
Rosenthal & Son
Have decided to give their many Customers a big opportunity to secure Bargains by giving a Grand
Special Sale,
FOR THREE DAYS ONLY,
GENTS FURNISHING GOODS,
DRY GOODS,
CLOAKS,
CLOTHING, Etc.
--ON--
THURSDAY, FRIDAY & SATURDAY
NOV. 25, 26 and 27.

The following is a list of a few of the special prices as space will not allow more.

Heavy Unbleached Cotton, worth 7 c	@	05¼
Fruit of the Loom and Lonsdale, bleached, worth 10 c	@	08
Good Dress Prints, worth 7 c	@	04½
Good Dress Ginghams worth 12½ c	@	07
Fine Brocade Dress Goods worth 10 c	@	06
Double width, wool felling Dress Goods worth 20 c	@	13
Fine Double width Cashmere worth 30 c	@	20
Ladies fine all wool red underwear worth $1	@	85
A Fine Ladies Cloak worth $7	@	4 25
Extra Good Cloak worth $12	@	8 00
Mens Good Working suits worth $7	@	4 00
Mens all-wool suits worth $10	@	7 00
Mens all-wool red underwear worth $1.50	@	50
A Good Overcoat worth $8	@	5 00

Everything in the store sold at a great reduction. Come early and secure bargains.

ROSENTHAL & SON.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL. XVIII. NO. 31 — CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1886. — WHOLE NO. 888

School Books!
SCHOOL BOOKS! SCHOOL BOOKS!
---HEADQUARTERS---
For Everything needed in the School Room, at
HINES & CO.'S DRUG AND STATIONERY STORE.

You will find it to your interest to look over our stock before purchasing elsewhere.

Respectfully,
F. G. HINES & CO.

THE PIONEER HOUSE OF CHARLEVOIX CO.
New Winter Goods
BEING RECEIVED WEEKLY.

We call especial attention to our complete stock of
BOOTS and SHOES.

TEAS of all kinds. We will guarantee you the best Tea for the money, in the county.

ALL GRADES of FRESH ROASTED AND GREEN COFFEES.

A Fine line of Everything in
FURNITURE.

BIG DRIVES IN
Flannels, Yarns, and Blankets.

Please bear in mind that our stock embraces
EVERYTHING
usually found in a General Store.

Remember: Our Goods are the Best. Our Prices the Lowest. Our Record the Oldest.

Resp'y Yours,
Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

We can Supply you with EVERYTHING in our Line.
THE FINEST STOCK OF
FURNITURE
ever offered in Charlevoix,
IS NOW AWAITING YOUR INSPECTION AT
Henry C. Cooper's.

A Choice Line of
FRESH GROCERIES,
OF EVERY VARIETY,
Including Confectionery, Fruits, Canned Goods, and Tobaccos and Cigars in stock
For your inspection in OPERA BLOCK by
R. J. COOPER.

CASH.
THE FLORAL ACORN,
THE MOST SUPERB WOOD STOVE MADE.

ON EXHIBITION AND FOR SALE BY
STOCKMAN & IDDINGS,
Leading Hardware Merchants,
CHARLEVOIX, - MICH.

Call and Examine It.

The finest stock of Hardware in Northern Michigan.

ALL FOR SALE AT REDUCED PRICES.

Respectfully,
STOCKMAN & IDDINGS.

The Best Groceries
At The Lowest Prices
ARE FOUND AT THE GROCERY AND PROVISION HOUSE OF
A. E. MASON.
I do a strictly Cash-over-counter business and will guarantee lowest prices.

J. MILO EATON'S
REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE,
AND LOAN OFFICE.
The oldest in the county. Established in 1875.
Money to loan in sums to suit and at lowest rates on improved farms.
ABSTRACTS OF TITLE furnished on short notice. Office over Postoffice.

Pine Lake Iron Co.
IRONTON, MICH.

A MAMMOTH NEW STOCK OF
GENERAL MERCHANDISE,
Just Receivd for Winter Trade,
which we will sell at
LOWEST PRICES.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
SMITH & PARMELEE,
Charlevoix, - Michigan.
Address all business correspondence to the firm
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One year $1.50 | Six months 75
Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—W. H. Denver will be home saturday.

—Dr. L. Lewis has put a furnace in his house.

—W. S. Johnson, of Sutton's Bay, is hereabouts.

—The Rifenburg Milling Co. have put in a fine new safe.

—Bring your orders for tax receipts to the SENTINEL office.

—R. W. Kane left yesterday for Baltimore, Md., on business growing out of the recent death of an aunt.

—The bell for the Congregational church has arrived, and will soon be keeping the Methodist bell company.

—Mrs. J. Penfold was a passenger on the steamer Frant Sunday as far as Frankfort, where she will remain for the winter.

—F. W. Wilcox has a camp of 15 men on sections 6 and 7 of Norwood Township, and is getting out ties, etc. Jas. Tripp is foreman.

—L. D. Bartholomew & Co. call attention to their line of goods suitable for holiday gifts. Notice the change in their advertisement.

—Mr. F. M. Sears of East Saginaw, arrived Monday and will remain three weeks superintending the construction of the new saw mill of Cooper Bros.

—The funeral of Ellie Crouter occurred Thanksgiving morning at the family residence, Rev. W. H. McCartney officiating. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful.

—Work on the new resort club house has ceased for the winter. The building is painted, the upper story and one half of the first story, plastered, the windows are in and the structure is in good shape for the winter.

—Smith & Cooper, milliners, announce that they will conduct a special sale at their store, at the Ingleside building until Christmas, in order to close out stock preparatory to restocking. Great bargains are offered.

—"Meditations of Samwell Wilkins," the new book of J. Bert Smiley of the south side resort, is out. Bert's friends are unanimous in the praise of this, his first work. It should find a good sale among resorters as a holiday gift book.

—J. H. Thurston, of Central Lake, has been appointed special guardian of the young son of the late Wm. Covert. The $2,000 Maccabees insurance the payment of which has been awaiting this arrangement, will now be forthcoming.

—Messrs. Egbert Carpenter, C. Y. Cook and Sib Ackert leave to-morrow for a winter's sojourn in Florida. Messrs. M. J. Stockman, L. D. Bartholomew and A. E. Mason expect to follow them the first of January; also Mrs. Carpenter and Mrs. Stockman.

—The Smithson lumbering camp in Norwood Township is booming. Seventy men are employed in the two camps. A good road has been made to the beach, and eight teams are engaged in hauling the material. The portable saw mill recently bought by Cooper Brothers has been shipped and will soon be in operation on the premises. About 150,000 feet of good pine will be a part of its product, but cedar and hemlock ties will constitute its principal out-put.

Boyne Citizen. Before two o'clock Wednesday afternoon the court room at Boyne City was nearly filled to hear the sentence pronounced upon Thomas Smith, adjudged guilty of the murder of Niles P. Anderson. At 5 minutes before 2 o'clock the prisoner was brought into the court room dressed in the same heavy grey suit he had worn at the time of the murder. His face showed the same stolidity of expression it had exhibited previously. At precisely two o'clock Prosecuting Attorney Corbett moved that sentence be pronounced. Judge Ramsdell ordered the prisoner to stand up. Tossing a coarse black hat upon the floor, he deliberately lifted himself to his feet immediately before the Judge, placing his left hand upon the judge's desk. When asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced upon him he said, after a moment's pause, "I don't know as anybody is to blame for suspecting me of this. I never saw the ground on which Anderson was killed, at least I haven't yet. The rubber shoes I wore have since been found to make tracks of a different size from those found." The prisoner asked that his sentence should be such as to enable him to get exercise, to which the judge answered that in case of murder in the first degree the law fixed the penalty. The prisoner also expressed a desire to retain his watch. After sentence was pronounced the prisoner thanked the judge for his fairness of manner in conducting the trial. He was then remanded to jail. His transportation was delayed a few days to enable him to communicate with his friends.

Amos Fox left for Coldwater on Monday.

A foot of snow furnishes material for good sleighing.

—Charles Mossington is back to Charlevoix from St. Ignace.

We are pleased to note that Mrs. D. C. Nettleton, who has been seriously ill for some time, is recovering.

The acre on the north shore of Round lake, known as the Geer grove, was sold yesterday to E. F. Parmelee.

Dr. L. Lewis has bought of S. Parker the 20 acre lot known as the Wm. M. Miller lot, near the cemetery. Consideration $600.

B. Sutfield and family, to-morrow, move to their old home in Illinois. They have many friends here who will regret their departure.

The Charlevoix M'f'g Co. shut down for the winter this week. All those having work to be done in their line are requested to attend to it at once.

—Mr. Albert Miller, of this place, and Miss Emma Keherweeker, of Traverse City, were married on the 20th, at Traverse City. They arrived here Tuesday, and will occupy a part of the Lewis tenement house on the north terrace.

"Advertise by the year," said an old experienced business man. "It is cheaper, and yields a better return in proportion to the money invested. An advertisement should always be before the public in some shape. If it disappears it is soon forgotten, and those that remain have a superiority and advantage over the competitor. There is only one excuse for the discontinuance of an advertisement—that of retiring from business.

—The decrease in wood shipments from this port the past season, and the corresponding increase in the lumber product, as shewn by our tabular statement in this issue, is a showing which demonstrates increasing profit in connection with the Pine Lake timber traffic. It means a departure from the grinding system which has compelled our up-lake farmers to barter their hard labor and valuable timber for a mere winter's subsistence; it means increased profit to both labor and material. The substitution of the traditional man-killing cord-wood pile for the fat saw-log is the most encouraging sign of the times, but in addition to this is the increasing demand for our wealth of cedar and hemlock. The railroad tie and fence post are coming to represent well paid labor and the utilization of large native wealth.

We are in receipt of a letter from our old friend Frank P. Myers, of Boyne Falls, from which the following is an extract: "My wife having convinced me that unless I contributed at least $5 toward the support of the Gospel, the salvation of my soul would be indefinitely postponed, about 30 days ago I began to accumulate. By saving all of the two cent stamps sent to me in dunning letters; the results of a lucky week in playing penny-ante, whereby I came out 38 cents ahead; 8 cents that I succeeded in shaking out of my little boy's bank, added to just one passing of the hat in a free temperance meeting, had aggregated the pile to exactly $3 the night I received your letter. Luckily for you I had just finished reading a series of Bob. Ingersoll's lectures, with a few sketches from Beecher, causing me to reason, 'What shall it profit a man if he goes through the world defrauding his friends, with no other object in view but to reach Heaven, and afterwards find out that there was no other place to go anyway,' concluded to let the future take care of itself, and send you your honest dues; and if, surrounded by fire and smoke, I first learn first that Ingersoll and Beecher were both wrong, I will at least have the satisfaction of knowing that while on earth I read and paid for the best county paper in Northern Michigan."

Most every farmer in Northern Michigan knows C. P. Avery, the "seed pea man." Mr. Avery submitted to an interview lately and the SENTINEL scribe learned the following facts concerning what has come to be popular "dicker" with many of our farmers: The year just past, Mr. Avery put out 2,000 bushels of garden seed peas, of 17 varieties. He had a fair crop about the Norwood region, but south of there it was very light owing to the drouth. He has the past season hand-picked and shipped 7,000 bushels. He will the coming season plant largely dwarf peas, 16 to 20 inches apart in rows, and is requiring all ground to be thoroughly cultivated. He pays from 2½ to 3 cents per pound, and requires the product in Traverse City, cleaned and bright, and of good quality. The seed furnished is paid for by returning from the crop eleven bushels for every ten sown; he purchases the balance of the crop at price above stated. He will still furnish seed for 200 acres of Champion and "40 Fold," at $1.20, to be sown broadcast, and 200 acres of cultivated, at $1.50 to $1.80 per bushel, to be drilled in. These contracts will only be let to men who have good soil, have plenty of barn room, and are good farmers, as he has no use for damaged peas. Mr. Avery uses only thorough-bred seed, and will take no chances of mixing with other peas. He expects to plant from 1,000 to 1,200 acres in 1887. He began the growing of seed peas ten years ago, on one acre, and has established a reputation for honest dealing, not only among farmers, but with the most reliable and largest seedsmen of the country. His address is Traverse City, Michigan.

ANNUAL SUMMARY

Of the Lake Exports of Charlevoix Co. For the Past Three Years.

The following table presents an accurate resume of the lake traffic of the Pine Lake Region for the last three seasons:

ARTICLES	1884	1885	1886.
Hardwood Lumber ft	15,797,300	11,128,000	15,312,000
Pine Lumber, ft	112,000	121,000
Hemlock Lumber, ft	.....	230,000	....
Cedar Shingles	.....		735,000
Wood, cord	....	2,720,000	2,450,000
Hemlock bark, cords	18,217	18,783	18,320
Cedar Posts	7,160	10,847	9,851
Elm timber, cu ft	65,000	34,000	85,000
Potatoes, bu	.....	64,000	....
Ties	.....	36,850	8,957
Broom Handles	120,000	54,000	196,213
Pickets & Chair stock	60,000	15,000	....
Empty Cases	.....		24,000
Butter Ds	.....	600	75
Staves	.....	200	....
Slabs, cords	.....	....	10,200
Scrap Iron, tons	.....	100	500
Hoops	.....	2	2
Pig Iron, tons		....	4,267,000
Heading	14,230	7,364	3,851
Turnips, bu	.....	28,000	1,010
	.....	28,000	....

In addition to the above is the large export of fresh fish of which no accurate record has been kept.

The total shipments this season show a most gratifying increase over the past two years.

In hardwood lumber, the export is 4,000,000 feet over last year. The shipments of cedar posts have been the largest for three years, while the amount of cedar ties shipped is the largest in the history of the Pine Lake region, being over three times that of last year.

The shipment of wood is greater than two years ago, but less than last year by 407 cords.

The value of the exports for the past year is at least 25 per cent. greater than that of 1885.

During the past season 408 vessels have cleared, as against 348 in 1885, and 297 in 1884.

Of the 408 cargoes shipped in 1886, 93 were hardwood lumber, 4 of hemlock lumber, 128 of wood, 68 of bark, 9 carrying potatoes, 8 pig-iron, 53 ties, 10 hoops, 13 posts, and the balance miscellaneous cargoes.

—We like winter, but confound such weather.

—Shakspeare night at the Historical Friday night.

—Burns & Scroggie are running a daily stage to Ironton.

—To correspondents: We want news, and news only!

—Capt. H. S. Stevens is coming home on the propeller Lawrence.

—Mrs. Captain Clifford and family will spend the winter in Washington.

Rosenthal & Son advertise a continuance of their four days special sale.

—Mrs. C. Y. Cook leaves next week for Belleville, Wayne, Co., where she will spend the winter.

—The "Floral Acorn" is the name of a new wood stove at Stockman & Iddings'. Read about it in their new ad.

—R. A. Campbell, of the Bridge Street House, has a lot of superfine celery for sale. Call and get some before it is gone.

—J. E. Darrah, of Melrose, lost a valuable horse this week, at his lumbering camp; so says our Boyne Falls contemporary.

Geo. Anderson has rented his farm on the State road to R. Shapton, Jr. In the spring Mr. Anderson will go west for a season or two.

—A part of the material for the new Baptist church, to be erected next summer at the corner of State and Antrim streets, will be placed on the ground this winter.

—A letter from James E. Wood, who left here about a month ago with a horse and buggy for Detroit, states that he has arrived there, and finds that, instead of taking the road for Wright & Sons, as expected, he will be kept in Detroit with the house for the winter, at least. His family will join him there about Jan. 1st.

Historical Society.

The Historical at Dr. Carlstein's on Friday evening last was one of the most enjoyable of the season.

The meeting this week will occur at the residence of Prof. H. M. Enos. The following will be the programme:

1. Roll call, with Shaksperean quotations.
2. Piano selection—Maggie Green.
3. Shakspeare: Playwright and Actor. Mrs. E. M. Clark.
4. Selection—Phila Wood.
5. Selection—Maggie Enos.
6. Tenor Solo—W. A. Smith.
7. Macbeth—Hon. John Nichols.
8. Piano Duett—Mrs. O. D. Wood and Mrs. F. A. Smith.
9. Shylock—Prof. H. M. Enos.
10. Othello—Dr. J. A. Carlstein.
11. Piano selection—Mrs. Fred A. Smith.

The first person to occupy the new (Charlevoix) jail at Boyne City was one of the Smiths.—Record.

The first and last persons to occupy the Charlevoix jail were Smiths. The first occupant was the senior editor of this paper. He hadn't done anything, but was inspecting the institution, and "old Berdan" closed the doors on him until he promised to "set 'em up" for the crowd, which included the Board of Supervisors and most of the county officers, besides a few of the common herd. The last person to occupy it was the same Smith who dedicated the Boyne City dungeon. The last occupant of the old jail before its abandonment, was the celebrated Gilbert Smith. Bro. Bonteccu, the Smiths always get to the front with both feet. If you don't believe it, ask Flavel J.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

SMITH & P?RWALEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX, : MICHIGAN.

PENNIES have been recently introduced into Denver, but the open-handed miners still pretend to despise them.

TWENTY widows own twenty adjoining farms in Greene County, Ill. A single man does not dare to approach the locality unarmed.

A CAREFUL recalculation of the distance between the earth and sun has again been made and found to be exactly 92,959,000 miles.

PAPER shoes are now manufactured in Paris and are quite fashionable. Just imagine a dainty slipper made up of spring poetry and old love letters.

NICKELS are so scarce in Sioux Falls, D. T., that by a mutual agreement iron washers are made to do duty for that much abused article of circulation.

AN enterprising Eastern firm is making a small fortune by sending a receipt to prevent hydrophobia. It is very simple: "Keep out of the dog's way."

THERE are very few callings now into which ambitious woman has not pushed her way. In a wild part of New York she has even entered upon the role of highway robber.

LETTERS from Americans residing in Russia say that four-fifths of the telegraphic news published in the United States in regard to Russian affairs is the sheerest nonsense.

THE brakemen have been holding a National convention at A'tonio, Tex. Delegates were present from N'york, Schorgo, 'Troit, 'Timore, 'Slewis, Sufrisco and other cities.

A WOODEN idol, four feet high, is being erected at Middlebury, Conn., by a wealthy farmer named Elisha Gedney, who is a Second Adventist. He insists that the image is Daniel.

A NEW YORK scientist says that the earth's polar ice is penetrating the interior of the globe like a wedge, and that as soon as it reaches the furnace there will be an explosion that will split the world into pieces too small for truck patches.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL GARLAND has given an opinion to the Secretary of the Treasury that National banks must deposit interest-bearing bonds to secure their circulation, and that the called three per cent. bonds can not be used as a basis of circulation.

MRS. GENERAL GRANT has returned to her residence on Sixty-sixth street, New York. With her, as usual, are Colonel and Mrs. Fred Grant and their children. Mrs. Grant goes out very seldom save for a drive in her closed carriage, nor does she receive any save her most intimate friends.

MR. GLADSTONE having been asked to contribute to a book defining the Liberal programme replies that his friends forget his years; that he had held on to politics in the hope of settling the Irish question, but the general operations of the party he is obliged and intends to leave to the hands of others.

MR. J. O. KING, of Jacksonville, Ill., has perfected an arrangement by which the lights in any part of the city can be extinguished from the gasworks by the reduction of pressure. If he should invent a contrivance to reduce the pressure of the gas companies upon the people's pocket-books consumers might not think he was J. O. King.

ON six different occasions Miss Sarah Plume, of Rockford, Ill., was all ready to marry Henry Wonders, of the same place, but backed square down when the preacher arrived. She tried it for the seventh time the other day and succeeded, much to every body's surprise. Henry said he had calculated on giving her twelve opportunities and then getting mad.

THE New York Mail and Express says that more than $10,000,000 is invested in the United States in asylums for the insane. To care for the 100,000 unfortunates confined in these institutions requires an annual expenditure of $2,000,000. This does not include the feeble-minded that are kept in jails, alms houses and on poor-farms, nor those cared for by friends at their homes. Notwithstanding this showing, the demand for more asylums is wide-spread, and the increase of insanity is alarming.

BENJAMIN TITUS, of Trenton, N. J., has a mania for collecting curiosities. Among his latest acquisitions is a specimen of what is known as the mad-stone. On wetting the finger and applying it to the stone the latter will adhere to the skin and can only be pulled off with considerable exertion. If there be a cut on the finger Mr. Titus says this application will cause pains to shoot up the arm as far as the shoulder. According to popular belief mad-stones are supposed to cure rattlesnake and dog-bitten mortals.

ARIZONA contains 72,000,000 acres of land. Of this 18,000,000 are utilized for grazing. In these districts are 1,000,000 head of cattle and the same number of sheep. The great demand is for more water, and then that section will flourish. But until then millions of acres will continue a desert waste. The finest single tract of land in Arizona is the San Carlos Indian reservation, containing 2,528,000 acres well watered and finely timbered. There are upon this reservation 3,500 Indians. Each Indian has at least 700 acres.

EPITOME OF THE WEEK.

Interesting News Compilation.

FROM WASHINGTON.

THE President on the 3d gave public notice that until Congress meets he can see no visitors except upon actual public business of importance, not connected with office seeking.

IN the first ten months of 1886, there were 5,109 miles of railroad track laid on 216 roads in thirty-nine States.

IT was estimated on the 4th that the next House of Representatives would stand: Democrats, 168; Republicans, 151; Labor, 2.

IN the United States there were 213 business failures during the seven days ended on the 5th, against 216 the previous seven days. The total failures in the United States this year to date number 8,525, against 9,290 in 1885, a decline of 765. In 1884 the like total was 9,088, in 1883 it was 8,231 and in 1882 it was 5,968.

IN his annual report for the fiscal year ended June 30, James P. Kimball, Director of the Mint, says the coinage of gold during the year amounted to $34,077,380, against $24,861,123 in the preceding year. The silver coinage was $30,032,247, against $28,848,959 in the preceding year.

THE President has appointed George W. Baxter Governor of Wyoming, vice Francis E. Ward, suspended.

THE exchanges at twenty-six leading clearing-houses in the United States during the week ended on the 6th aggregated $1,079,055,979, against $894,732,877 the previous week. As compared with the corresponding week of 1885, the decrease amounts to 1.5 per cent.

THE EAST.

THE New Jersey Supreme Court on the 3d pronounced the excise laws unconstitutional. In Newark alone fifteen hundred licenses were thus rendered void.

THE House of Representatives of Vermont on the 3d, by a vote of 135 to 82, passed a bill giving to women the right of suffrage.

AT Boston Joseph Landers, a six-year-old boy, was nearly torn to pieces by four dogs on the 3d.

A PASSENGER train on the Erie road ran into a party of laborers on the 3d at Hawkins, N. Y., killing four of them.

A FIRE on the 4th destroyed the Lancaster (N. H.) court-house, together with all the records and papers.

IN the recent election in New York the Democrats elected Rufus W. Peckham Judge of the Court of Appeals by about 8,000 majority. A. S. Hewitt was elected mayor of New York, the vote standing: Hewitt, 90,965, a plurality of 22,023 over George (Labor), who in turn lead Roosevelt (Rep.) by 7,715.

IT is said that the Central Labor Union of New York proposes to form a new party, destined to take an active part in the canvass of 1888.

ON the 4th thirty-seven Apache Indian children, part of the band captured by General Miles arrived at the training-school at Carlisle, Pa. They will remain at school until they have completed the full course.

THE warden at the Sing Sing (N. Y.) prison reported on the 4th a profit of $5,000 on the operations for October.

THE golden wedding of John and Francis Crane, who married sisters named Nash, was celebrated a few days ago at East Braintree, Mass. Seven brothers or sisters on each side were present.

AT Boston on the 5th the celebration of the 250th anniversary of the founding of Harvard University was inaugurated.

THE death of Seth Wilmarth, one of the greatest of mechanical inventors, occurred at his home in Malden, Mass., on the 5th, of heart-disease. He was born in Brattleboro, Vt., in 1810.

ON the 5th the will of Henrietta Lenox, of New York, was offered for probate. It devotes $350,000 to public charities. The estate was valued at $10,000,000.

OFF the New Haven (Conn.) harbor the United States tug Manhattan foundered on the 7th, and sank immediately, carrying with her all persons on board, twenty-five in number.

LAWRENCE M. DONOVAN, who sprang off the Brooklyn bridge recently went to Niagara on the 7th and leaped from the new suspension bridge. He descended 190 feet in four seconds, and escaped without serious injury. When taken from the water he remarked that he would not repeat the jump for $1,000,000.

THE supporters of Henry George held a meeting in New York on the 6th and organized a new party, to be known as the "Progressive Democracy." The platform adopted declares a new era in politics; advocates equal justice between man and man; holds that every thing produced by labor belongs to the producer; proposes to abolish all taxation upon buildings and improvements, and to raise the necessary revenues by taxing the land, and declares war on all monopolies.

ON the 6th Arthur Orton, who served a long term in an English prison for representing himself as the heir to the Tichborne estate, was arrested in Brooklyn, N. Y., for personating an American soldier and endeavoring to draw his pension.

A PROPOSITION to hold a constitutional convention in New York next year was carried at the recent election.

WEST AND SOUTH.

IN Illinois at the recent election the majority for an amendment to the constitution prohibiting contract convict labor was nearly 100,000. Elijah M. Haines, the Speaker of the last Illinois House of Representatives, failed of re-election.

IN Holland township, Shelby County, Ill., a forest fire was raging on the 4th, a tract three miles long and five miles wide having been burned over. Barns, fences and fields of corn had been destroyed.

IN the business portion of Dalhousie, N. C., twenty-two wooden buildings were destroyed by fire on the 4th, the loss being $80,000.

IN Jackson County, Ia., a forest fire was raging on the 4th. Two houses, two horses, a large quantity of cord-wood flax and about twelve miles of timber had been consumed.

JOHN HART (colored), accused of murdering young Waldrop, a cripple, in Lee County, Ala., was burned to death by a mob near Montgomery on the 4th.

WILLIAM R. MORRISON was defeated for Congressman in the Eighteenth Illinois district at the recent election, and the election of Speaker Carlisle, of Kentucky, was in doubt.

THE physician of the penitentiary at Jackson, Mich., Dr. W. H. Palmer, was dismissed on the 4th on charges of assisting convicts to secure pardons by sending to the Governor false statements as to their health.

THE official returns on the 5th from every county in the State showed that Robertson (Rep.) had 4,647 plurality for Lieutenant-Governor of Indiana. Speaker Carlisle was elected in the Sixth Kentucky district by about 700 majority. In the Seventh Congressional district of Ohio the Democrats re-elected James E. Campbell over John Little by three majority.

ON the 5th the relatives of a woman and child who were roasted to death in the recent Rio (Wis.) disaster were paid $6,000 by the St. Paul Railway Company.

IT was reported on the 5th that prairie fires had burned over 192,000 acres of heavy timber in the Turtle mountain country, Dakota. The fires raged two weeks and destroyed more than $100,000 worth of property.

AT the Stock Yards in Chicago on the 5th about one-third of Armour & Co.'s beef butchers joined the strikers, and the packers placed on duty a considerable number of special police.

IN Central Ohio the warm weather on the 5th matured a good crop of strawberries, differing in shade and flavor from the spring product.

A SHOCK of earthquake was experienced through Virginia, Georgia and the Carolinas about noon on the 5th. People at Augusta and Savannah ran into the streets.

HUNDREDS of gold, silver, tin, lead and mica claims in the Black Hills are said to be lying idle and non-productive for the lack of capital to work them.

THE vote for liquor license at the recent election in Arkansas was 75,100, against 65,000.

IN Durham County, N. C., three negroes were killed on the 6th by an explosion of dynamite.

AT the recent election in Iowa the Republicans carried the State by a majority of 15,674, a gain of more than 3,000 over the previous year, while the total vote was nearly the same as in 1885.

CHARLES W. BANKS, one of the cashiers at San Francisco, of the Wells Fargo Express Company, disappeared on the 6th leaving $30,000 unaccounted for on his books.

ON the 6th the Knights of Labor at Chicago ordered all their members to quit work at the Stock Yards. The edict was obeyed by about ten thousand men. On the representation of Sheriff Hanchett that his deputies were unable to preserve order, Governor Oglesby ordered the First and Second regiments of militia to be ready for active service.

MILWAUKEE advices of the 6th say that violent gales which had been sweeping the lakes for several days had, it was feared, caused more damage to shipping interests and resulted in more fatalities than those of the rest of the navigation season put together.

THE Labor vote at the recent election in Illinois was about 35,000 and the Prohibition vote 19,500. The Republicans elected their State ticket by a plurality of 35,000.

ON the 6th the first Confederate monument ever erected at Gettysburg, Pa., was put in position. It marks the position of the Second Maryland infantry.

FROM seventy-eight out of the eighty counties in Minnesota official returns on the 6th gave McGill (Rep.) for Governor a majority of 2,597 over Ames (Dem.).

SHORTLY after eleven o'clock on the night of the 7th two shocks of earthquake were felt at Charleston, S. C., and throughout the State.

IN various sections of the country, East and West, snow fell on the 9th.

IN Baltimore three failures occurred on the 6th: John Middleton & Co., cotton merchants, for $100,000; Hanson, Ross & Co., furniture dealers, for $100,000; and Kennigood Bros., dry goods dealers, for $175,000.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

IN Edinburgh on the 3d a storm overthrew the gable of a new building, by which three workmen were killed and five injured. Heavy storms were reported throughout Scotland.

DISPATCHES of the 3d from Vienna state that a transport train was wrecked between Nicolaeff and Odessa and forty soldiers were killed.

ON the 3d M. Pasteur informed the Academy of Sciences in Paris that he treated during the past year 2,480 persons who had been bitten by animals, and only ten died.

BY the explosion of the boiler of the steamer Cartago Nova, at Newcastle, Eng., on the 4th, six persons were killed and thirty injured.

AT Southampton, Ont., fifty buildings were burned on the 4th, rendering thirty families homeless.

A CONFLAGRATION at Battleford in the Canadian Northwest Territories, destroyed a number of structures on the 4th. Loss, $100,000.

AT Bielefeld, Germany, Marcus Jordan on the 4th celebrated the one hundred and seventh anniversary of his birth, in good health and mentally clear.

A STORM CLOUD burst over the lake district of England on the 5th, the heaviest ever known in that locality, causing great damage to property.

ROSENDEZ, who killed his alleged mistress and her daughter on a railroad train, was shot to death on the 5th at New Laredo, Mex., by a judicial order without trial.

DURING October the exports from Spain increased nearly $5,000,000 as compared with the same month of 1885.

THE Montreal (Can.) hackmen on the 6th decided to do no more work on the Sabbath.

LATER.

THE Union Hotel and several business structures at Calgary, N. W. T., were burned on the 8th. The loss was $100,000, with insurance of but $2,133.

SAMUEL K. HAY, the chief pension clerk at Pittsburgh who embezzled $10,000, was on the 8th sentenced to five years imprisonment.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND, accompanied by members of his Cabinet participated on the 8th in celebrating the 250th anniversary of the founding of Harvard College at Cambridge, Mass.

THE American Fat Stock, Dairy and Horse Show opened at the Exposition Building in Chicago on the 8th.

THE revenue cutter Manhattan, recently reported lost off New Haven, Conn., arrived at Greenpoint, L. I., on the 8th.

O. J. HALE a prominent member of the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce, was found dead in bed on the 8th.

ACCORDING to the Comptroller of the Currency the volume of National-bank notes outstanding on the 8th amounted to $217,000,000.

WHILE intoxicated on the 8th Henry Jones, of Fremont, Va., seized an axe and chopped off the head of his stepdaughter. He was in jail.

IN a collision on the 8th on the Canadian Pacific road, near Donald, B. C., four men were killed and others were injured.

CLAIMS were made on the 8th that, owing to the alleged violation of constitutional provisions, the votes cast at the recent election in Illinois for or against the abolition of convict labor are null and void.

THE official count in the Second Congressional district of Illinois, completed on the 8th, gives Frank Lawler (Dem.) a plurality of six votes.

IT was stated on the 8th that the grand jury at St. Louis had found an indictment against Fotheringham, the express messenger, who was recently robbed of $50,000.

FIVE mounted police at Winnipeg deserted on the 8th and decamped to the States. They carried away thousands of dollars, being the pay of the men stationed at Regina.

THE handsome young daughter of a New York broker, named John Comstock eloped on the 8th from Orange, N. J., with the colored coachman of the family.

RENO, Nev., was slightly shaken by an earthquake on the 8th.

THE number of men out on strike at the Stock Yards in Chicago was on the 8th estimated at 15,000. There were repeated cases of assault upon strangers intending to commence work, for which the offenders were heavily fined. The First and Second regiments of militia were quartered in packing houses. The packers met and gave notice that hereafter no member of a union would be employed until he had renounced his allegiance.

THE ELECTIONS.

Latest Returns from Tuesday's Struggle at the Polls.

A Concise Statement of the Result So Far as Ascertained—The Next House—Morrison Defeated in Illinois—Carlisle's Election in Doubt.

SUMMARY OF THE RESULT.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Mr. Edward McPherson, secretary of the Republican Congressional Committee, makes the following computation from returns received up to nine o'clock last evening of the political complexion of the House of Representatives of the Fiftieth Congress:

"The returns as far as received indicate the election of 154 Republicans, 159 Democrats, 5 Labor and independent, 8 doubtful, 1 vacancy—325. The doubtful are one in Illinois (Landes), one in Kentucky (Carlisle), one in Ohio (Campbell), and three in Missouri (Hardy, Glover and Mansur). The Labor and Independents are one in Florida (Pendleton); one in Indiana (Marsh); one in Iowa (Anderson); one in Virginia (Hopkins); one in Wisconsin (Smith). If the Democrats get four of the doubtful they will have a majority of the House."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—It looks at present writing as if the election of Tuesday might not have changed in the least the complexion of the next United States Senate. Eighteen members of the Senate will leave that body on the expiration of their terms next March—eleven Republicans and seven Democrats. The Republicans are Dawes, of Massachusetts; Hawley, of Connecticut; Miller, of New York; Mitchell, of Pennsylvania; Sewell, of New Jersey; Conger, of Michigan; Harrison, of Indiana; Sawyer, of Wisconsin; McMillan, of Minnesota; Van Wyck, of Nebraska, and Williams of California. The Democrats are: Gray, of Delaware; Jones, of Florida; Fair of Nevada; Whitthorne, of Tennessee; Maxey, of Texas; Camden, of West Virginia, and Cockrell, of Missouri. It is not obvious that any of these eighteen men have been thrown out of their seats by the election of Tuesday. Two are in doubt, and they are Republicans—Sewell, of New Jersey, and McMillan, of Minnesota. Some others, indeed, may not be returned, but if superseded it will be by men of their own party faith.

IN THE NORTHWEST.

ILLINOIS—The Republican candidates for State Treasurer and Superintendent of Public Instruction are elected by a majority estimated at 32,000. The greatest surprise is the defeat of William Morrison for Congress in the Eighteenth district by John Baker. As near as can be ascertained the vote in the Congressional districts is as follows: Republicans—First district, R. W. Dunham; Third, W. E. Mason; Fourth, George E. Adams; Fifth, A. J. Hopkins; Sixth, R. R. Hitt; Seventh, T. J. Henderson; Eighth, Ralph Plumb; Ninth, L. E. Payson; Tenth, P. S. Post; Eleventh, W. H. Gest; Fourteenth, J. H. Rowell; Fifteenth, J. G. Cannon; Eighteenth, John Baker, Twentieth, J. R. Thomas; total Republicans, 14. Democrats—Second district, Frank Lawler; Twelfth, G. A. Anderson; Thirteenth, W. M. Springer; Sixteenth, L. Z. Landes; Seventeenth, Edward Lane; Nineteenth, R. W. Townshend; total Democrats, 6.

The State Senate will be controlled by the Republicans, they having a majority of 13 in that body. In the House the latest returns show a majority of 2 in favor of the Republicans. E. M. Haines, Speaker of the last House, failed of re-election. The amendment to prohibit convict contract labor has a majority in the State approximating 100,000.

INDIANA—There is no longer any doubt of the Republicans having elected their State ticket, with the exception, possibly, that Bruce Carr, the candidate for Auditor, has been defeated by a small majority. The Republican majority, it is thought, will be about 3,000. The Legislature is in doubt, both parties claiming a majority on joint ballot.

The Republicans are claiming the election of seven Congressmen in this State, which is a gain of three. The most reliable returns show the election of the following: First district, A. P. Hovey, Rep.; Second, J. H. O'Neall, Dem.; Third, J. G. Howard, Dem.; Fourth, W. S. Holman, Dem.; Fifth, Cortland C. Matson, Dem.; Sixth, Thomas M. Brown, Rep.; Seventh, William D. Bynum, Dem.-Greenback; Eighth, James T. Johnson, Rep.; Ninth, Joseph B. Cheadle, Rep.; Tenth, William D. Owen, Rep.; Eleventh, George D. Steele, Rep.; Twelfth, James B. White, Rep.; Thirteenth, B. F. Shively, Dem-Labor-Greenback.

WISCONSIN—Governor Rusk's plurality in the State is about 30,000. The Milwaukee Sentinel figures a Republican majority on joint ballot in the Legislature of 36 over all opposition. The total vote of the People's party in the State is placed at 25,000.

The Congressional delegation will probably stand 7 Republicans, 1 Democrat and 1 People's party, though the First is in doubt. Returns are so meager that it is not possible to tell whether James Doolittle, Dem., has defeated Caswell, Rep. From the latest returns the delegation will be as follows: First district, L. B. Caswell, Rep.; Second, Richard Guenther, Rep.; Third, R. M. La Follette, Rep.; Fourth, Henry Smith, Labor; Fifth, Thomas R. Hudd, Dem.; Sixth, Charles B. Clark, Rep.; Seventh, O. B. Thomas, Rep.; Eighth, W. T. Price, Rep.; Ninth, Isaac Stephenson, Rep.

MICHIGAN—The indications are that Luce, Rep., for Governor has 7,000 plurality in Michigan, the Legislature of which State will be heavily Republican. The Congressional delegation stands 6 Republicans and 5 Democrats or Fusionists, a Republican gain of 2 seats. The list is as follows: First district, Chipman, Fusion; Second, Allen, Rep.; Third, O'Donnell, Rep.; Fourth, Burrows, Rep.; Fifth, Ford, Fusion; Sixth, Brewer, Rep.; Seventh, Whiting, Fusion; Eighth, Tarsney, Fusion; Ninth, Cutcheon, Rep.; Tenth, Fisher, Fusion; Eleventh, Moffatt, Rep.

IOWA—The net Republican majority in this State is over 15,000. The Congressmen-elect are: First district, John H. Gear, Rep.; Second, W. I. Hayes, Dem.; Third, D. B. Henderson, Rep.; Fourth, W. E. Fuller, Rep.; Fifth, Daniel Kerr, Rep.; Sixth, J. B. Weaver, Dem.; Seventh, E. H. Conger, Rep.; Eighth, A. R. Anderson, Dem.; Ninth, Joseph Lyman, Rep.; Tenth, A. J. Holmes, Rep.; Eleventh, Isaac Struble, Rep.

MINNESOTA—Returns come in very slowly. Republicans claim McGill's election by 5,000 majority, while the Democrats insist that the official vote will show Ames to have been victorious. The Republicans have a majority of twenty-nine on joint ballot. The Congressional delegation will stand: First district, Thomas Wilson, Dem.; Second, John Lind, Rep.; Third, J. L. McDonald, Dem.; Fourth, Edmund Rice, Dem.; Fifth, Knute Nelson, Rep.

OHIO—A close estimate places the Republican majority for Secretary of State at 15,000.

As near as can be ascertained the Congressional delegation will stand as follows: First district, Benjamin Butterworth, Rep.; Second, C. E. Brown, Rep.; Third, E. S. Williams, Rep.; Fourth, S. S. Yoder, Dem.; Fifth, G. E. Seney, Dem.; Sixth, M. M. Boothman, Rep.; Seventh, J. E. Campbell, Dem.; Eighth, R. P. Kennedy, Rep.; Ninth, —— Pugsley, Rep.; Tenth, Jacob Romeis, Rep.; Eleventh, A. C. Thompson, Rep.; Twelfth, W. C. Cooper, Rep.; Thirteenth, J. H. Outhwaite, Dem.; Fourteenth, C. P. Wickham, Rep.; Fifteenth, C. H. Grosvenor, Rep.; Sixteenth, Beriah Wilkins, Dem.; Seventeenth, J. D. Taylor, Rep.; Eighteenth, W. McKinley, Jr., Rep.; Nineteenth, E. T. Taylor, Rep.; Twentieth, G. W. Crouse, Rep.; Twenty-first, M. A. Foran, Dem.

OTHER STATES.

ALABAMA—Sends a solid Democratic delegation to Congress.

DELAWARE—Biggs, Dem., for Governor has about 5,000 majority. The Democrats have control of the Legislature.

FLORIDA—A solid Democratic Congressional delegation is returned to Congress.

GEORGIA—All the Democratic Congressional candidates were elected.

LOUISIANA—The delegation to the new Congress will be solidly Democratic.

NEBRASKA—Incomplete returns give Thayer, Rep., for Governor, a majority of about 20,000. The Democrats elect one member of Congress—their first. A majority of the new members of the Legislature are instructed to vote for Van Wyck for United States Senator.

NEW HAMPSHIRE—The vote for Governor was so close that no choice was made by the people, and the Legislature will be compelled to vote for that officer. As the Republicans have a majority on joint ballot it is probable that Sawyer, the late Republican candidate, will be chosen. Each party elects a member of Congress.

PENNSYLVANIA—The vote for Governor in the entire State, lacking four counties, is: Beaver, Rep., 81,489; Black, Dem., 32,240. The Republicans have a majority in both houses of the Legislature. The new Congressional delegation will consist of 19 Republicans and 9 Democrats.

RHODE ISLAND—In the First Congressional district, Spooner, Rep., is re-elected; there is no choice in the Second district.

SOUTH CAROLINA—Every thing Democratic, there being no opposition.

NEVADA—The Republicans made a clean sweep of the State except Supreme Judge.

MARYLAND—The Congressional delegation will stand: Democrats, 5; Republicans, 1.

VIRGINIA—The Democrats lose five Congressmen in the Old Dominion. The delegation will stand: Republicans, 6; Democrats, 3; Labor, 1.

MISSISSIPPI—Elects a solid delegation of seven members to Congress.

TEXAS—The entire Democratic Congressional ticket, eleven members in all, is elected.

THE TERRITORIES—Dakota returns Gifford, Rep., to Congress, and elects a Republican Legislature. Arizona elects Smith, Dem., delegate to Congress. Democrats in Washington Territory claim the re-election of Voorhees as delegate to Congress. In Montana Toole, Dem., for Congressional delegate is re-elected. Idaho elects the Republican candidate, Dubois, delegate to Congress, and Joseph, Democratic candidate for Congressional delegate, is elected in New Mexico.

A DESPERATE REDSKIN.

Attempt of Mangus, the Apache Chief, to Escape From His Captors—A Sanguinary Struggle.

PUEBLO, Col., Nov. 5.—Mangus Colorow, the Apache Chief, in charge of a detachment of colored troops on the way to Florida, attempted to escape near Pueblo yesterday morning. When the train was three miles east of Pueblo and running forty miles an hour, Mangus asked permission to go into the saloon, which was granted. As soon as he entered he locked the door, smashed the glass and leaped through the window. The train ran nearly a mile before it could be stopped. When it backed up Mangus was found lying on the side of the track unconscious and badly cut and bruised, with three ribs broken. He was taken aboard the car and came to his senses, and then made a desperate fight. One hand had slipped out of the manacles, leaving them hanging to the other hand. He slugged one of the soldiers with them in the face, knocking him down. Then he got on the floor and thence under a seat, struggling with half a dozen soldiers and howling. The rest of the Apaches set up a roar, but each was guarded by a negro with a cocked carbine. For awhile bedlam prevailed. Finally Mangus was stretched across two seats, with the bell-cord wound around him all the way up his legs and body.

A Dynamite Gun Cruiser to Be Built.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—It is now positively known that William Cramp & Sons have made arrangements to construct a dynamite gun cruiser for the Government, which will be capable of running twenty knots an hour and of firing a 200-pound dynamite shell every two minutes. The vessel is to cost not more than $350,000. The dynamite projectile to be used is thrown from a long steel tube by means of the sudden release of compressed air at 1,000 pounds pressure per square inch. The valve at the breech of gun being opened and compressed air being admitted, there is no shock, but an immense velocity is attained before the shell leaves the muzzle, and at a range of two miles the accuracy of the gun is said to be remarkable. The cartridge consists of a thin copper can of the diameter of the bore of the gun, containing 200 pounds of dynamite, and attached to it a long wooden shaft, which steadies the flight of the shell as the stick does that of a rocket.

Trouble with Bartholdi's Statue.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The present system of lighting the Statue of Liberty on Bedloe's Island is so unsatisfactory that the authorities will probably have it changed. It was originally intended to have ten 8,000-candle power lamps suspended above the statue so that the blaze of light around the torch could be seen for thirty miles out at sea. Lieutenant Mills altered the plans and placed the lights inside the torch, where they now shine out through glass lenses like a dim glowworm, and have no more effect than an ordinary shore light. There is also trouble about the management of the statue, arising from a conflict of authority. Many of the contracts for lighting the statue have expired, and there is no real certainty that the statue will be illuminated from night to night.

An Illinois Girl Elected to Office.

FREEPORT, Ill., Nov. 5.—News has been received here that at Tuesday's election Miss Alice J. Sanborn, daughter of Luther B. Sanborn, of this city, was chosen superintendent of schools in Brule County, D. T. Miss Sanborn was the regular nominee of the Democrats and Farmers' Alliance. She was granted a leave of absence from the Freeport schools as teacher a few weeks ago, and soon after reaching Dakota was nominated for the office to which she has now been elected. She was not a stranger there, however, as in March, 1882, she took up a claim on the Creek Indian reservation, in that county, and lived there for some time. In 1883 she was graduated from the Wisconsin University.

The American Sunday-school Union.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Nov. 5.—The American Sunday-school Union began its regular annual session yesterday morning. Governor Morrill was elected President and the following Vice-Presidents: W. S. Moore, of Chicago; Henry Phelps, of Lewiston, Ill.; D. C. Bell, of Minneapolis; J. B. Hartwell, of Hastings, Neb.; Secretary, W. L. Degroff. Dr. Chidlaw, of Cincinnati, responded to the address of welcome by Dr. Phelps. F. G. Ensign addressed the meeting on "Our work in the past and plans in the future." Rev. E. P. Goodwin, of Chicago, delivered an address last evening on "Home Evangelization."

Mr. Beecher on the Irish Question.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Henry Ward Beecher said yesterday that he thought the land question lay at the bottom of every thing in England. He thought there would be a redistribution of the land and a change in the landlords, and prophesied that the men who worked the land would eventually become the owners of it. He thought there would also be a great social revolution, which would leave the country more democratic than it is to-day, and declared that disestablishment was sure to take place. He said there was no likelihood of a separation between England and Ireland, but that Ireland might gain home rule in a modified form.

Shot Dead in a Political Row.

SALINA, Kan., Nov. 5.—Adam Head, a native of Ohio and a relative of Governor Foraker, was shot dead in a political quarrel by Wat Chilson Wednesday night. Both were prominent farmers and politicians.

LATE RETURNS.

Something More Definite of the Result of the Fall Elections—A Democratic Majority of Sixteen in the Next House—California and Minnesota in Doubt—Carlisle Re-Elected.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The following table is made up from the returns at hand, and is thought to be about correct. From this showing the next House will be composed of 169 Democrats, 153 Republicans and two Labor men, with one district in Rhode Island still to elect, and the chances there decidedly in favor of a Republican:

STATES.	50th Congress. Rep.	Dem.	Labor.	Gains. Rep.	Dem.
Alabama		8
Arkansas		5
California	4	2			3
Colorado	1
Connecticut	1	3			1
Delaware		1
Florida		2
Georgia		10
Illinois	14	6
Indiana	7	6		4
Iowa	8	3		1
Kansas	7
Kentucky	3	8		2
Louisiana		6
Maine	4
Maryland	1	5
Massachusetts	8	4			2
Michigan	6	5		2
Minnesota	2	3			3
Mississippi		7
Missouri	2	12
Nebraska	2	1			1
Nevada	1
New Hampshire	1	1			1
New Jersey	5	2
New York	19	15		1
North Carolina	2	7		2
Ohio	15	6		5
Oregon	1
Pennsylvania	20	8
Rhode Island	1
South Carolina		7
Tennessee	2	8			1
Texas		11
Vermont	2
Virginia	6	3	1	4
West Virginia	1	3		1
Wisconsin	7	1	1
Totals	153	169	2	27	12
Majority		16

ILLINOIS.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 6.—The official count of the vote for Congressman in the Thirteenth district shows a majority of 974 for Hon. William M. Springer.

Following are the pluralities for Congressmen in the districts named, according to the official count: Sixth district, Hitt, Rep., 4,436; Ninth, Payson, Rep., 3,170; Eleventh, Gest, Rep., 340; Thirteenth, Springer, Dem., 974; Fourteenth, Rowell, Rep., 2,217; Seventeenth, Lane, Dem., 3,069; Eighteenth, Baker, Rep., 1,174.

WISCONSIN.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 6.—The Sentinel has complete returns from all the Legislative districts, which show that the Republicans will have control of each House and have a majority of thirty-six on joint ballot over all opposition. The pluralities in the Congressional districts are: First district, Caswell, Rep., 198; Second, Guenther, Rep., 4,200; Third, La Follette, Rep., 3,500; Fourth, Smith, Labor, 3,500; Fifth, Hudd, Dem., 5,000; Sixth, Clark, Rep., 3,300; Seventh, Thomas, Rep., 4,500; Eighth, Price, Rep., eight counties out of fifteen give 6,522 plurality, with an estimated plurality in the district of 10,000; Ninth, Stephenson, Rep., 3,000.

INDIANA.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 6.—Official returns from the ninety-two counties of the State confirm the claims of the Republicans respecting the election of their State ticket. The pluralities of the several candidates will vary from 3,500, to 5,000.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 6.—The Democrats have the Legislature by 2 majority on joint ballot, according to the latest advices. The figures are: Senate—Democrats, 31; Republicans, 19. House—Democrats, 45; Republicans, 55.

KENTUCKY.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 6.—The official count in the Sixth Kentucky district gives Speaker Carlisle a majority of 768.

MINNESOTA.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 6.—At midnight, with official returns from sixty-five of the eighty counties and nearly complete returns from the rest, the Pioneer Press figures McGill's majority at 2,874. The Globe still claims the election of Ames, though not giving exact figures.

CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 6.—Complete returns of the city and almost complete returns of the State give Bartlett, Dem., for Governor, 802 plurality over Swift, Rep. Bartlett's plurality in the city is 283. There is no doubt that the Legislature is Democratic on joint ballot by 13 majority. This insures the election of George Hearst as United States Senator. The latest Congressional returns indicate the election of four Republicans and two Democrats.

ELECTION ECHOES.

COLORADO—The Republicans now concede the election of Adams, Dem., for Governor, by 2,000 plurality. Indications favor the election of Myron W. Reed, Dem., member of Congress, by a small majority.

NORTH CAROLINA—It is said that the Independents will hold the balance of power in the Legislature. The Congressional delegation stands: Democrats, 7; Republicans, 2.

CONNECTICUT—The Legislature, which will elect State officers and a United States Senator, stands: Senate, Republicans, 14; Democrats, 10. House, Republicans, 138; Democrats, 109; Labor, 2. The Republican majority on joint ballot is thirty-one.

NEW YORK—Hewitt, for mayor, has a plurality over George in the city of 22,023. Peckham's majority in the State for Supreme Judge is 8,000. The new Legislature will stand: Republicans, 77; Democrats, 51.

NEW JERSEY—The Democratic State Committee claims that Green, Dem., has between 2,000 and 10,000 majority over Howey, Rep., for Governor. The Republicans elected 5 Congressmen, and the Democrats 2.

MASSACHUSETTS—The Massachusetts Legislature stands: Senate, 25 Republicans, 15 Democrats; House, 160 Republicans, 79 Democrats and 1 Independent.

KANSAS—Martin, Rep., is re-elected Governor by a plurality of about 30,000.

TENNESSEE—If the present rate of increase continues Bob Taylor's majority will be 34,000.

DELAWARE—Delaware's official returns, complete, foot up: For Governor—Biggs, Democrat, 13,912; Hoffecker, Prohibition, 7,822. For Congress Pennington, Democrat, 13,837; Cooper, Prohibition, 8,266. The Legislature is solidly Democratic.

Purposely Misunderstood.

"Rather damp this morning," remarked the proprietor of the boarding house the other morning, and Fogg, who was wiping his face, replied:

"Not only damp, but fearfully wet."

"I did not refer to the towel, sir, and I can wait on you no longer for your board bill to be settled," said the proprietor, and it threw a damper on Fogg's humor that it did not recover from in ten minutes.—Detroit Free Press.

—Seedy Individual—"I would like to get measured for a suit." Fashionable Tailor (suspiciously)—"At about what price, sir?" Seedy Individual—"It makes no difference." Fashionable Tailor (as before)—"We generally require a deposit for unknown parties." Seedy Individual (calmly)—"I do not wish you to make the suit. It has been so long since I enjoyed this experience that I simply wish to get measured."—Philadelphia Call.

—Wiggins is not the only prophet in Canada. The Dominion is full of prophets—people without honor in their own country, to wit, the United States.—Boston Transcript.

IDLE PIG-STICKERS.

A General Strike Inaugurated at the Stock-Yards in Chicago—Every Knight of Labor Called Out—The Eight-Hour System the Principle Involved—State Troops Under Arms.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—The strike at the Stock Yards has become general. Mr. T. P. Barry, a member of the Executive Board of the Knights of Labor, arrived at the yards Saturday morning and immediately entered into consultation with Master Workman Butler and the members of the Executive Board of District 57. The result of the consultation was an order bearing the seal of District Assembly 57 calling out all the men engaged in the various branches of work in the yards. Copies of the order were placed in the hands of managers and the contents quickly made known in every packing house. In most cases the men quit work immediately upon receiving the notice to strike. A few hung back, but were soon induced to leave also. Between 8,000 and 10,000 men are out. The strikers' committee presented its formal demands to the packers last Saturday. It provided for the eight-hour system at a scale of wages slightly less than the one in force for ten hours. The packers refused to entertain the proposition, and the strike was ordered. All is quiet at the yards. The strikers sent committees around yesterday instructed to induce the men still at work to quit. They were successful in many instances, especially with the firemen and engineers. The packers to a man seem determined not to yield to the strikers, and declare they will give up the business first. There is a force of about 300 deputy sheriffs at the yards.

A dispatch from Springfield says that Governor Oglesby was waited upon yesterday by Sheriff Hanchett and Senator William J. Campbell and a consultation held with reference to the Packingtown strike. Sheriff Hanchett expressed himself as being unable to preserve the peace and requested assistance from the State. Governor Oglesby at once telegraphed General Fitz Simons to order the First and Second regiments of Illinois National guards to be in readiness for marching by seven a. m. Monday, from which time they will be subject to the further order of Sheriff Hanchett. An acknowledgment from General Fitz Simons was received at Springfield stating that the troops would be ready at the time mentioned. A supply of ammunition and camp equipment was sent on the midnight train to this city.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—General Master Workman Powderly, stopping at the Bingham House, denied yesterday that the strike of 14,000 packers in Chicago had been authorized by him or the General Executive Board of the Knights of Labor.

OFF SUSPENSION BRIDGE.

Lawrence M. Donovan Makes a Jump of 190 Feet at Niagara, Reaching Shore in Safety.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 8.—Lawrence M. Donovan, who jumped from Brooklyn bridge, made a successful leap from the new suspension bridge just below the falls, yesterday morning. Donovan has been in Buffalo for the past few weeks, and visited the falls for the first time last Sunday. After spending a portion of the day looking at the bridge and river he returned to Buffalo. Friday afternoon Prof. Haley, his trainer, came down and made arrangements for a boat, returning at midnight with Donovan. So quiet had the matter been kept that yesterday morning when the two drove on to the bridge the gate-tender did not know their object. Reaching the center of the bridge, Donovan alighted and climbed upon the iron work. He was clad in the same suit he wore when he jumped from the Brooklyn bridge. At three minutes before seven a pistol was fired as a signal to jump. The distance to the water was 190 feet, and the descent was made in four seconds. Donovan's body leaned slightly back and to the right when he struck the water. He went down about twenty feet and arose some thirty feet away. He struck out for the boat in waiting a few feet away, and was picked up and taken to the Canadian shore. A carriage brought him to a hotel on the American side, where a physician examined him. Donovan had a slight attack of spitting blood when first taken out of the water, but the doctor found no further injury than the slight displacement of the first rib on the left side. After a half-hour's sleep he was able to dress himself, and with his trainer returned to Buffalo at eight o'clock. Donovan said when first taken out of the water that he would not repeat the jump for $1,000,000, but before he left town said he would jump for $1,000. It is said he received $500 for this jump.

THE NATIONAL BANKS.

The Probable Contraction in Circulation Due to the Surrender of Three Per Cent. Bonds.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Since August 12, when the first call was made, the national banks have withdrawn from deposit and presented for redemption nearly $40,000,000 three per cents. Against this there have been only about $8,000,000 of other bonds deposited, so that the total bonds on deposit to secure national bank circulation have been reduced by about $31,000,000, which contracts the circulation by about $28,000,000. If these proportions are preserved throughout there may be a further contraction of about $58,000,000 by the time all these bonds are withdrawn.

It is said at the treasury that the contraction in the volume of national bank circulation will not be felt in the channels of trade, because the national bank notes withdrawn from circulation will be replaced by disbursements from the treasury, and in addition the banks that surrender bonds and reduce their circulation receive money for ten per cent. of the bonds redeemed and five per cent. of the circulation surrendered, making 14½ per cent. upon the face of the bonds. On August 12 the total amount of three per cent. bonds held by the banks as a basis for circulation was a little more than $103,000,000, so that when these bonds are all paid their payment will put in circulation $14,500,000 more than the amount of currency then outstanding on these bonds.

Railroad Lands Sold.

GALVESTON, Tex., Nov. 8.—On Saturday 378,820 acres of railroad lands belonging to the Texas Central road were sold at public auction. The purchaser was an agent of the Southern Pacific Company, the price paid being $10,000.

Better Than a Doctor.

"I feel depressed to-night," remarked a large, down-town trunk manufacturer to his wife. "I think I have a touch of malaria."

"I fancy it will soon pass away," replied the lady, without much concern. "Why don't you go around to the Grand Central station and watch them handle trunks for an hour. That will brighten you up."—N. Y. Sun.

—There is a craze just now for the invention of palindromes—phrases that read alike forward and backward. A great deal that is written reads just as well backward as forward but that isn't a palindrome.—Boston Transcript.

—The Victoria (B. C.) Times understands that a syndicate of wealthy Canadian, English and Scotch capitalists has been organized in Montreal for the purpose of purchasing and erecting at Vancouver a large number of first-class business buildings.

—A sign in the rooms of a Western hotel reads as follows: "Indian clubs and dumb-bells will not be permitted in any of the rooms. Guests in need of exercise can go down to the kitchen and pound a steak."

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established, 1860.

CHARLEVOIX, DEC. 1, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE Associate Editor.

Canada's revenues were 6,000,000 behind her expenditures last year, but she has made up a large part of this year by her piratical seizures of American vessels.

Washington Republican: The hope of the Mugwump party for increase through immigration has been rudely chilled by the Treasury decision that imposes a heavy duty on mummies.

Louisville Courier-Journal: There is to be a meeting of anarchists in London to denounce the verdict that convicted the Chicago anarchists. Who did murder the seven Chicago policemen, anyhow?

Jersey City Argus: Vermont, which is a prohibition State, is now considering the adoption of a law forbidding one man to treat another. This seems to be a confession that prohibition does not prohibit.

Louisville Commercial: When prohibitionists give more attention to enforcing the laws regulating saloons and less to influencing the Presidential election, they will get more credit for sincerity in their good professions.

Speaker Carlisle declares that no matter who may desert or who may falter, the free-trade fight will go on. Perhaps, however, it may be suspended long enough to hear Mr. Thoebe's testimony as to how he was fraudulently deprived of his seat.

The Boston Globe says: "The Democratic party will ask the country to sanction it two years hence with entire confidence that it will give an affirmative answer." The late elections, however, were not sufficiently affirmative to justify such placid self-confidence.

The Democratic Washington Post has a faculty for extracting moonbeams out of decayed cucumbers. It cheerfully exclaims: "Our defeats this year show how we shall compass victory next time." But it carefully avoids any mention of the ...

Northern Michigan News.

M. Sorel, of Indian River, says the metal he has found and sent to Ann Arbor is gold cure.

Capt. Neil Gallagher brought over to Harbor Springs 300 packages of fish from the Beavers last week.

J. S. Brubaker has rented the Emmet House at Harbor Springs and will take possession the first of December.

Partridges are said to be so numerous in Presque Isle county this year that they perch on the houses and barns in the villages.

Bellaire hunters have been quite successful in capturing deer this season. Geo. Robinson and James Cummins killed four last week.

Father Gallagher arrived at Harbor Springs from his extended visit to Philadelphia on Thursday last, en route for his home at St. James.

Owing to a piece of carelessness in printing the fusion tickets in Antrim county only 131 votes were canvassed for the important office of clerk and register of deeds.

John Hawkey is moving the old machine shop building formerly used by Mr. Shay, to the east side of Bay Springs, and intends to convert it into a turning shop.

Surveys are now being made of the rapids at Sault Ste. Marie for the railroad bridge. Sanguine citizens of the "Soo" expect to hear the toot of the locomotive in the spring.

The excellent arrangement of the court room at Boyne City, which has been so generally complimented, was under the supervision of county clerk Thatcher, and reflects great credit upon him.

The iron ore shipments from St. Ignace for the season have been 71,020 tons; from Escanaba, 1,482,394 tons; from Marquette, 833,044 tons; from Ashland, 703,917; a total of 3,391,359 tons.

Last week a corpse was shipped from St. Ignace to Canada C. O. D., for physicians bill and charges. What if there, we won't make any ghastly suggestions or ask any questions.—Cheboygan News.

The big railroad dock at Mackinaw City last Friday morning presented a business like appearance. Fifteen or twenty steamers—large "liners" most of them—were huddled under the lee ...

EDUCATIONAL.

CULTURE OF MORE VALUE THAN KNOWLEDGE.

Skobeleff's Flag.

Snakes in his Boots.

Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad.

For Sale!

Probate Notice.

Mortgage Sale.

Bank of Charlevoix,
W. P. BROWN, Cashier. W. A. BROWN, Asst. Cashier.
CAPITAL, $25,000
Perfect Security
Its Officers
Security in Banking
This Bank Invites
This Bank Will
Parties Seeking
Investment Notes,
We Solicit Your Patronage.

A. J. McLEOD,
Having returned to the Charlevoix Meat Market, announces that he will sell at Wholesale or Retail
FRESH MEATS,
SALT PORK,
SMOKED & SALTED
HAMS,
Dried and Smoked
BACON, DRIED BEEF,
Bologna, Head Cheese,
Sausage.
Highest Prices Paid FOR HIDES and PELTS.
Will kill hogs or cattle for other Markets or persons wishing that class of work at low rates.
A. J. McLEOD.

CHARLEVOIX
Manufacturing Co.
Charlevoix, Mich.,
Manufacturers of
Sash and Doors,
Blinds, Mouldings etc.
NEWELL
Posts, Banisters & Stair Rails
kept in stock.
Window & Door Frames made to order.
All Kinds of
Building Material
Kept constantly on hand.
PLANS & SPECIFICATIONS,
Furnished on application.
Cottages made a specialty also contracting and building.
Correspondence solicited.

CHARLEVOIX
Savings Bank.

NEW SHOP!
All kinds of
Blacksmithing,
At the Shop in the Foundry Building.
Horseshoeing a specialty.
ALL WORK GUARANTEED.
M. SCOTT.

RIFENBURG
MILLING CO.
Charlevoix, Mich.
3 EXTRA GRADES OF
FLOUR
Feed, Corn Meal, Graham

It Pays to Buy the
BEST BOATS!
LEAST MONEY!
All kinds of Oars, and Paddles made.
LEAVE ORDERS
J. BEAUVAIS.

D. Sherwood & Co
BOOTS
AND SHOES,
Lumbermen's Rubbers,
Wool Boots,
Shoe Pacs,
And Everything
We also have some big bargains in Women's and Misses Shoes for common wear.

A. D. Bradbeer,
PHOTOGRAPHER.
I will make Cabinet Photographs,
A SPECIALTY!
At Lowest Prices
Consistent with
GOOD WORK.

McCABE'S
MARKET
Is supplied with
All Kinds Of
MEATS
At Lowest Prices.
JOHN McCABE.

1-3 OFF SALE!
At Miss Spaulding's
MILLINERY ROOMS,
Come early and secure a Bargain.
MISS L. SPAULDING.

Take The Sentinel.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

CRUICKSHANK & GRIDD, Attorneys at Law. Office in Button Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

JOSEPH M. CLARK, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

LOWTHORPE & GEORGE, Attorneys and Solicitors, Petoskey, Mich.

DART & CALL, Attorneys, Petoskey, Mich.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

SOCIETIES.

CHARLEVOIX IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION meets at Charlevoix Village Hall on the second Monday of each month.

HOTELS AND RESTAURANTS.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE.
RICHARD COOPER, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - - - Mich.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE.

NEWMAN HOUSE.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE.

BANK.

PILE DRIVER.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

BARBER.

SURVEYORS.

DENTIST.

MILLINERY
AND
FANCY GOODS!
Mrs. ELLA SMITH &
Miss ANNIE COOPER

Washburn & Ackert,
FOUNDRYMEN,
MACHINISTS,
Charlevoix Plow.

J. A. HEATH,
FURNITURE
AND JOBBING SHOP,
Antrim Street,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

THE DIAMOND DOLLAR.

"Worst thing in the world for weak eyes, young woman."

The young woman looked up from the magazine in her lap and smiled at her gray bearded mentor on the opposite side of the street car. She smiled with her whole face—dimpled chin, red cheeks, full lips, even the eyes behind the convex glasses of her pince nez twinkled.

"Thank you," she said, shutting the book softly, "I know it. I was merely glancing at the pictures."

Then she turned her amused glance toward the front part of the car, and met the eyes of the driver staring straight at her. His face lighted up when her glance met his, and with his rough glove he patted the left side of his coat, as though it shielded something which concerned her.

The car was one of those little wheeled boxes locally known as the "Pound Gap Bob-tails," which ply between Cincinnati, Ohio, and its Kentucky suburb, Newport. The driver, sole autocrat, dividing his time among the mules, his passengers and the small boys who everywhere mark bob-tail cars for their own, was muffled to the mouth in an old oilskin coat, belted at the waist with a leather strap. His cap was pulled down to shield his face from the rain, into the teeth of which he was forced to drive, and when he entered the car to collect the fares his heavy cowhide boots completed a grotesque picture, which would have attracted attention even in Castle Garden. Evidently he cared less for style than for comfort.

"What is the fare to Newport?"

"Ten cents, please."

I started at the musical voice, and looked at the man closely.

"Wh-a-t?" I said, "not Ferguson of the Gazette?"

"Same party, dear boy, same party." He laughed in the honest, whole-souled way that I knew so well, rang the bell of his punch twice, smiled at the pretty girl, who seemed to enjoy my surprise, and then clattered out to his place at the brake, where I presently joined him.

"This is rough, Ferguson, deuced rough—$12 a week and seventeen hours a day! Can't you do better than this?"

"Classical occupation, dear boy. One of the children of Greek mythology, you will remember, aspired to drive a car—his father's car, but while his route was a trifle dryer than mine——"

"It was not necessary for him to make a guy of himself in cowhide boots. That girl inside is laughing at you."

"I know it. She always does when she rides with me."

He looked through the glass door of the car, and again patted the side of his coat when he met the young woman's eye. The gesture seemed to please her.

"Another case of the maiden and the coachman," remarked Ferguson, as he slowed up to take on a passenger. Evidently he had lost none of his high spirits since he had drifted out of ...

The Dangers of Dust.

A Peculiar Tree.

Chewing Gum by the Ton.

Never Give Up.

Miraculous Escape.

HOLIDAY PRESENTS!

In Hardware,
Cutlery,
and Notions.
WE SELL THE ATKINS SAWS
AND Perfection Axes.
Job & Tin Work.
L. D. Bartholomew & Co.

THE BEST
Drugs,
Confectionery,
Stationery,
BOOKS & PAPERS,
FISHING TACKLE, Etc.
Soda Water,
Mineral Water,
Cigars,
Are found at PERRY WEED'S
The only News stand in town.

BURNS & SCROGGIE'S
LIVERY STABLE
CHARLEVOIX.
The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.
Burns & Scroggie, Charlevoix.

SILVER WARE.
Watches, Clocks, Chains, Pins, Gold & Silver headed Canes etc. is complete.
C. H. BELLINGER.

J. T. Kirkpatrick,
ARCHITECT
AND CONTRACTOR.
Charlevoix Summer Resorts.
Carpenters and Painters.
J. T. KIRKPATRICK.

GELLICK & INGALLS
Choice Wines,
Fine Liquors
EXCELLENT CIGARS.
Old Kentucky Sour Mash
WHISKIES.
Milwaukee
Export and Lager Beer.

BOOKS, THREE CENTS EACH.

Take The Sentinel.

Fox & Miller
Offer a
Mammoth Stock
OF
BOOTS, SHOES
and other
FOOT WEAR,
—AT—
LOWER PRICES
Than can be found elsewhere in the County.
We have just secured a
FIRST-CLASS
SHOEMAKER,
and will make Repairing a specialty.
We have the Goods and we are bound to sell them.
NOTHING SHODDY.
Fox & Miller.

MONEY TO LOAN,
At current rates of interest, on
MILEY & CHAPIN,
Boyne City.

BATH & BARBER
ROOMS.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

The Detroit grain and produce quotations are: Wheat—No. 1 White, 76½@61¼c; No. 2 Red, 77@77½c. Flour—Michigan White Wheat, choice, [illegible]; roller process, $4.00@4.25; patents, $4.75@5.50. Corn—No. 2, [illegible]. Oats—No. 2, [illegible]. Butter [illegible]. Cheese [illegible].

[illegible]

There has already been ice-skating at [illegible] County.

There are 1[illegible] Presbyterian Sunday-schools in Michigan, with a membership of [illegible], an increase of 2,[illegible] during the year.

Governor Alger has pardoned John Fay, sentenced to Jackson from Mecosta County December [illegible], 188[illegible], for five years for burglary. The Pardon Board physician said that Fay would die of consumption inside a month. The sentence of Mrs. [illegible], the Missaukee murderess, was commuted to [illegible] in the Detroit house of correction for life.

Frank Wood, of Tompkins, Jackson County, recently husked 112 bushels of corn and bound and set up his stalks in [illegible] hours.

In 1880 Michigan had 1[illegible],[illegible] farms. Now there are [illegible].

The new savings bank organized at Lansing has begun operations. Hiram [illegible], of Jackson, is president, and M. D. Todd, of Lansing, cashier. Capital, $45,000 paid in.

The fifth annual session of the Women's Home Mission Society commenced at Detroit [illegible]. The president of the society is Mrs. Lucy Webb Hayes, wife of ex-President Hayes, of Fremont, O. [illegible]

A couple of negroes were recently arrested in Detroit for stealing two tons of [illegible] of the [illegible] department. The paper was utterly worthless to the thieves, [illegible]

Farmer Justus H. F. Severens, of Kalamazoo, has sold to Chicago parties eight thousand bushels of onions, only a part of his this year's crop from his swamp farm.

[illegible], aged sixty-six years, died at Coldwater a few days ago. He was forty years a [illegible] there. He was the founder of the Coldwater Sentinel, [illegible] of the State Agricultural Society and one of the incorporators of the Branch County Agricultural Society.

[illegible]

A CAMPAIGN TRICK.

The Secretary of the Republican Campaign Committee Exposes the Late Bourbon Cry of Government "Balances" and Republican "Defalcations."

Mr. McPherson, Secretary of the Republican Campaign Committee, has prepared the following letter which exposes a Democratic campaign trick:

MY DEAR SIR: I did not expect so soon to recur to the Register's list of alleged "balances due the United States, now known as executive document No. [illegible]. These are the "balances" which were transmuted through the creative genius of the Democratic National Campaign Committee into "defalcations" and were joyously welcomed by the Democrats of Long Island as conclusive proof of Republican ineptitude to administration. My letter of [illegible] of September 27 showed that the so-called "balances" were not "defalcations" [illegible]

[illegible]

My letter of September 27 assumed that the Register and the Acting Secretary of the Treasury, when they sent the list to the House of Representatives [illegible] the "balances" shown were upon statements of accounts which were worthy of credence. [illegible]

[illegible]

the release of rebel prisoners and the capture of Northern cities and United States gunboats. It is announced by Judge Hines and his associate, Major John B. Castleton, that the conspiracy was of great magnitude, and that the people at Washington, apprehensive though they were, did not appreciate the danger which threatened them and their cause. It is well that the evidence of the great crime has been preserved. The Northern men who engaged in the conspiracy ought never to be forgiven.—N. Y. Mail and Express.

AN INSOLENT COMMISSIONER.

The Rebel Chairman of the Civil-Service Commission Insults a Retired Union General Who Stood Up for a Hero of Fort Sumter.

The publication in full of the correspondence in the Shellmer case shows that the President can advance the cause of reform and contribute something to official decency by at once removing the ill-mannered churl who is acting as chairman of the Civil Service Commission. Edgerton's insolence as displayed in his official letter to General Doubleday is fairly amazing and proves him unfit for the post of a public servant. Mr. Cleveland can hardly afford to sustain an upstart official, not yet twelve months in the service, who [illegible] his position and grossly insulted a retired Major-General of the United States army merely because the latter filed a complaint touching what he considered a violation of the Civil-Service regulations. Such arrogance and impudence should not be tolerated in a Civil-Service Commissioner, who, by virtue of his position, might reasonably be expected to set an example for the imitation of subordinates.

General Doubleday's letter of complaint was evidently written in haste immediately after learning of the removal of Captain Shellmer, and it disclosed a feeling of just liable and even praiseworthy indignation that a gallant old soldier, holding a Sumter medal, should be ousted from office for the basest partisan reasons. The letter, however, was entirely respectful, such as any citizen should feel free to write to a public officer at any time, and closed by asking: "May I inquire if the commission can take any action in this matter? If not, I shall appeal directly to the President." Instead of explaining simply that the matter was outside the jurisdiction of the com- [illegible]

A WICKED CONSPIRACY.

[illegible]

RUSSIAN EXILES.

Fugitives from Justice Hunted Down Like the Wild Beasts of the Forest.

A graphic picture of the condition of those unfortunates who are fitly described as "lost souls" is drawn in a work on Siberia by the Russian writer Jadrinzeff. But few of the exiles attain to the possession of a "[illegible]" by which is meant a miserable [illegible]. Most of them are in reality the b[illegible] men of the Siberian peasants, by w[illegible] they are bound; that is to say, [illegible] remain in their debt as long as [illegible] live, and are satisfied when they get money for drinking on hol[illegible] from their masters. But as the m[illegible]ity of the exiles are rogues and v[illegible]bonds by profession, who are afra[illegible] work, the number of fugitives is [illegible] stantly increasing, who steal, rob [illegible] plunder whenever a chance offers, [illegible] thus intensify the natural antipath[illegible] the settlers against the class of th[illegible] ported. The peasants have every r[illegible] to be incensed against them, for, [illegible] sides suffering from the malpractice [illegible] the convict class, they have to bea[illegible] cost of the erection and preservati[illegible] prisons for the exiles, organize [illegible] for the capture of the runaways, [illegible] vide guards for them and find the [illegible] which can not be raised from a[illegible] the deported class. But the grea[illegible] gaps in the ranks of the exiles [illegible] caused by the almost systematic [illegible] of the latter from forced labor and [illegible] the convict settlements. No less [illegible] fifteen per cent. of the deported es[illegible] during transport. Many of them [illegible] shot down like wild beasts by the p[illegible] ants and natives, and an observe[illegible] Siberian life made a very true re[illegible] when he said that Siberia w[illegible] scarcely have been able to overpo[illegible] the runaway exiles if the peasants [illegible] not annihilated them.

The most extreme measures to ch[illegible] the system of escape are the hunt[illegible] the natives, organized by the Rus[illegible] government. The native receives [illegible] roubles if he delivers the prison[illegible] "dead or alive," to the authorit[illegible] The people are provided with g[illegible] arms and ammunition, so as to [illegible] hunting the escaped prisoner a per[illegible] success. One of those few who [illegible] aged to escape was seized in his na[illegible] village, and when brought before [illegible] court he said: "For two years I h[illegible] wandered about, have swam thro[illegible] rivers and seas, have crossed Siber[illegible] forests, passed through steppes [illegible]

[illegible]

AMERICAN HOGS.

[illegible]

STRUCK AN IDEA.

[illegible]

FARM AND FIRESIDE.

[illegible]

THE COMBINED

STEAM FURNITURE

—AND—

Agate Works,

CHARLEVOIX, - - - MICH

The undersigned announces that he is prepared to take orders for

REPAIRING OR BUILDING

Furniture of all Kinds

ON SHORT NOTICE.

MY LAPIDARY

Is in first-class shape for working or polishing all choice stones.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

CORNELIUS BUDD.

All Goods not called for within ninety days will be sold for charges. Charlevoix, Nov. 21, 1885.

Northern Michigan

Boiler Works.

Builder and Manufacturer of

Boilers, Heaters,

LARD TANKS, ETC.

OF ALL KINDS

SHEET IRON WORK

A SPECIALTY.

MARINE WORK

Given Special Attention

HENRY BARTH, Proprietor,

Charlevoix, Mich.

MILWAUKEE, LAKE SHORE & WESTERN RAILWAY.

The Only Line Running

TWO DAILY TRAINS

—BETWEEN—

Wausau and Milwaukee and Chicago

The Only Line Running Sleeping Cars between Wausau and Milwaukee and Chicago.

THE AIR LINE TO OSHKOSH.

TIME TABLE.

Full information regarding rates of fare, time of trains, etc., can be obtained on application to [illegible]

H. G. FLEITH, Agent, Wausau.

H. F. WHITCOMB, General Manager.

CHAS. V. McKINLAY, Gen. Pass. Agent.

FRANK E. WOOD'S

BATH AND BARBER ROOMS

Hot and Cold Baths at any hour of the day or evening. Oddfellows building.

FARMING LAND!

500,000 ACRES

Of Splendid

Michigan Lands

FOR SALE BY THE

G. R. & I. R. R. COMPANY.

60,000 Acres in Charlevoix County.

These lands are timbered with beech and maple, elm and other wood, and are accessible to cost markets by

WATER AND RAIL,

And are in a part of the State unequaled for health [illegible], and contiguous to the great fruit raising section of the east shore of Lake Michigan.

The Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad runs through the center of the grant.

The part of Michigan in which these lands are found is

Not a Wilderness, by any Means.

It contains a population of two hundred and fifty thousand, [illegible] with settlers from almost every State in the Union.

Over 200,000 acres of the lands of this grant have already been sold.

Send for English or German pamphlet. Address

W. H. HUGHART, Commissioner,

Grand Rapids, Mich.

TITLE PERFECT.

HUMPHREYS'

Manual of all Diseases, By F. HUMPHREYS, M. D. RICHLY BOUND IN CLOTH and GOLD Mailed Free.

HOMEOPATHIC

SPECIFICS.

Sold by Druggists, or sent postpaid on receipt of price.—HUMPHREYS' MEDICINE CO., 109 Fulton St. N.Y.

WM. J. STEVENSON,

VETERINARY HORSE-SHOER.

Interfering and crippled horses shod satisfactorily or no charge.

Repairing done promptly.

The Old Doctor

NERVOUS DEBILITY, MALE or FEMALE, WEAKNESS AND DECAY.

A Life Experience. Remarkable and quick cures. Trial Packages. Send stamp for sealed particulars. Address Dr. WARD & CO. Louisiana, Mo.

IOWA ROUTE

BURLINGTON CEDAR RAPIDS AND NORTHERN RY.

THE SHORT & POPULAR LINE

for all points in IOWA, MINNESOTA, DAKOTA, and the New Northwest. The only line making close connections with all important lines leading

NORTH, SOUTH, EAST or WEST.

SOLID TRAINS

WITH

PULLMAN SLEEPERS

ARE RUN BETWEEN

Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Paul

VIA THE

FAMOUS ALBERT LEA ROUTE,

AND BETWEEN

St. Louis, Minneapolis & St. Paul

VIA THE OLD ESTABLISHED AND POPULAR

St. Louis, Minneapolis & St. Paul Short Line

Dining Cars on all Albert Lea Route Trains.

Land Seekers' Round Trip Tickets

on sale at all prominent points to its Iowa, Minnesota and Dakota Land Points.

C. J. IVES, Pres't & Gen'l Sup't. J. E. HANNEGAN, Gen'l Tkt. & Pass. Ag't.

NOW IS THE TIME

TO USE

JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA

FOR

LIVER COMPLAINT, DYSPEPSIA,

AND FOR

PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

It has been in use for 20 years and has proved to be the best preparation in the Market for Sick Headache, Pain in the Side or Back, Liver Complaint, Pimples on the Face, Dyspepsia, Piles, and all Diseases that arise from a disordered Liver or impure blood. Thousands of our best people take it and give it to their children. Physicians prescribe it daily. Those who use it once recommend it to others.

It is made from Yellow Dock, Honduras Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Stillingia, Dandelion, Sassafras, Wintergreen, and other well known valuable Roots and Herbs. It is strictly vegetable and cannot hurt the most delicate constitution. It is one of the best medicines in use for regulating the Bowels.

It is sold by all responsible druggists at one dollar for a quart bottle, or six for five dollars. Sample bottles 50 cts. [illegible] receipt of price.

W. JOHNSTON & CO., Detroit, Mich.

When you have [illegible] try Johnston's.

SEXUAL Weakness & Lost Manhood quickly and positively cured. Send for book mailed FREE to all afflicted. Address Hewlis Medical Co., Buffalo N.Y. U.S.A.

JOB PRINTING

SUCH AS

Cards, Bill-Heads, Circulars, Posters,

ETC., ETC.,

EXECUTED TO ORDER

AT THIS OFFICE

In the Neatest and Promptest Manner

"THE FIELD OF BLOOD."

A Powerful Sermon by Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D. D.

[illegible]

A NEW VIEW OF CONSUMPTION.

[illegible]

[We gladly give place to the article, for if we can in any way stay the ravages of Consumption, which carries away so many millions yearly, it is our bounden duty so to do.]—PUB.

Little Curly-Head's Complaint.

[Babyhood.]

A small boy in a bright family wanted something of his mother the other day when she was very busy writing. She was absorbed in her work, and did not look up at his repeated "Mamma! mamma!" beside her elbow. "Well," said he at last, flinging away from her side in a pet, "it's no use to try to make my mamma hear when she is writing; she is just ignominious of every thing."

A Sample of Wifely Unselfishness.

[N. Y. Sun.]

An illustration of true wifely unselfishness comes from Newaygo County, Wis., where a woman, after making a nice little sum of money by picking blackberries, instead of buying a new dress, bought her husband a fiddle.

Protection of Express Cars.

[St. Paul Globe.]

It is said that the only way an express car on the Pacific roads can be robbed is by collusion with the messenger. The cars are lined with boiler iron and provided with a shotgun and two revolvers and the doors so secured that they can not be opened from without in an hour's time.

The Smallest Cottage in Washington.

[Baltimore Sun.]

The smallest residence in Washington is that just built by a newly married couple. Their cottage has a frontage of six feet eight inches and a depth of about twenty feet, and contains four rooms.

THE MARKETS.

[illegible]

THE GOOD OLD WAY.

[illegible]

Catarrh is Caused

By scrofulous taint in the blood. Therefore, to cure catarrh, purify the blood. [illegible]

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Purifies the Blood

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

"The best Magazine Published." Middleport (N. Y.) Mail.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE.

EVERY LADY SHOULD TAKE IT.

THE BEST STEEL ENGRAVINGS, BEST COLORED FASHIONS, BEST ORIGINAL STORIES, BEST AND LATEST DRESS PATTERNS, BEST WORK-TABLE PATTERNS, BEST COOK-BOOK, MUSIC, Etc.

MAMMOTH COLORED FASHIONS!

UNPARALLELED OFFERS TO CLUBS.

2 Copies for $3.50

3 " " 4.50

4 Copies for $6.40

6 " " 9.00

For Larger Clubs Still Greater Inducements.

Address, postpaid, CHAS. J. PETERSON, 306 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

ANTHEMS OF PRAISE.

DOW'S RESPONSES AND SENTENCES,

SEND FOR A CATALOGUE OF [illegible]

LYON & HEALY, CHICAGO.

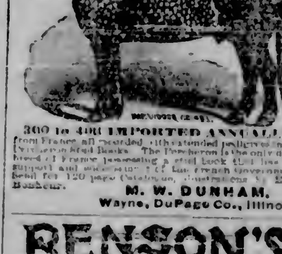
OAKLAWN

The Great Nursery of

PERCHERON HORSES.

200 Imported Brood Mares Of Choicest Families.

LARGE NUMBERS, All Ages, both Sexes, IN STOCK.



300 to 400 IMPORTED ANNUALLY

M. W. DUNHAM, Wayne, DuPage Co., Illinois.

WONDERFUL SUCCESS.

ECONOMY IS WEALTH.

PATTERNS FREE!

All that you wish to use during the year, by subscribing for

Demorest's Monthly.

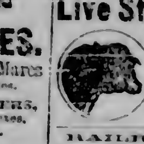
W. JENNINGS DEMOREST, Publisher, 17 E. 14th St., New York.

MASON & HAMLIN UNRIVALED ORGANS

UPRIGHT PIANOS,

MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN AND PIANO CO. Boston, New York, Chicago.

Remarks by Bill Nye,



JONES HE PAYS the FREIGHT

5 Ton Wagon Scales,

$60.

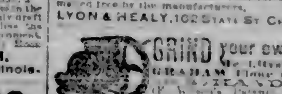
BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

Live Stock Cuts

RAILROAD GAZETTE.

A Journal of Transportation, Engineering and Railroad News.

Published at 73 Broadway, New York.



LYON & HEALY, 162 STATE ST. CHICAGO, ILL.

GRIND your own Bone,

MAGIC LANTERNS! AND STEREOPTICONS

VIEWS [illegible] FREE

C. T. MILLIGAN

PENSION

MILO B. STEVENS & CO.

GUNS Our $15 Shot Gun now $10.

AGENTS WANTED

DETECTIVES WANTED

SECRET SERVICE

ARKANSAS!

HOME STUDY.

OPIUM HABIT

TRUSSES

$5 TO $8 A DAY.

HAIR

FARMS

FREE

TELEGRAPHY

FREE

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS PLEASE state that you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

ST. JACOBS OIL

FOR NEURALGIA.

MARVELS OF RELIEF.

Suffered Fearfully and Cured.

Suffered 10 Years and Cured.

CHAS. LAW, Jr.

Neuralgia—2 Years—Cured.

THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., Baltimore, Md.

RED STAR COUGH CURE

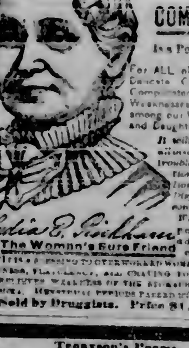
FREE FROM OPIATES AND POISON.

SAFE. SURE. PROMPT. 25 Cts.

AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.

THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., Baltimore, Md.

YOURS for HEALTH



LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND,

Is a Positive Cure

For ALL of those Painful Complaints and Weaknesses so common among our Wives, Mothers, and Daughters.

Lydia E. Pinkham

The Woman's Sure Friend

Sold by Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

Tennyson's Poems.

Queen Victoria has the great English poet to sing her praises. For this he has been Knighted. [illegible]

COCKLE'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS,

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY

CATARRH

A LIMITED OFFER. GREAT CHANCE!

65 Cents

BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER

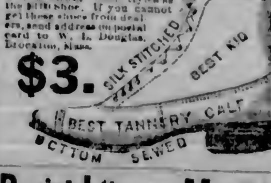
HIGHEST AWARDS OF MEDALS IN AMERICA AND EUROPE.

SEABURY & JOHNSON, Proprietors, New York.

ASK FOR THE

W. L. DOUGLAS

$3.



Davis' Literary Monthly,

Attractive, Entertaining and Instructive.

A. M. DAVIS & CO., CHICAGO.

No Hope to Cut Off Horses' Manes.

WE WANT YOU!

STANDARD SILVERWARE CO., BOSTON, MASS.

$600 to $2,000 A YEAR

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established, 1869.

CHARLEVOIX, DEC. 1, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE Associate Editor.

Ironton.

Mrs. L. Jackson, with her son Charlie, and daughter Nettie, have gone to Grand Rapids to visit relatives.

The company have a large force of workmen engaged on their new store at Horton's Bay. Also a force busy repairing the furnace.

Married, at the residence of Reuben Henry, brother-in-law of the bride, on Thanksgiving day, by Rev. C. F. Van Auken, Mr. Ira McKee, and Miss Jennie Goont, all of Eveline. Congratulations. Next!

Another of those popular socials given by the young ladies of the H. H. Society, at the house of Mr. and Mrs. Noyes, on Friday evening next. Among other delicacies mush and milk will be served. Proceeds to apply on payment for an organ for the M. E. Sunday School.

Rev. Mr. Hodges, of Lenawee Co., has accepted this charge of the Congregational society, and will move his family here soon. The Congregational appointments remain for the present as before. Preaching at 3 p. m.; Sunday school at 1:30 p. m.; prayer meeting Wednesday evening.

Services in the M. E. church from Tuesday until Thursday evenings, inclusive. Sunday school at 10 a. m.

Almond Bird has been very sick for a few days. Dr. Lewis is attending him.

The schooners Stampede and Geo. W. Davis unloaded ore last week and this, and are taking on iron for the home trip. The steam barge Hattie Perne has been unloading coal and supplies.

Report of school for month ending Nov. 26:

Whole number enrolled, 87. Grammar Department, 33; Primary, 54. Average number belonging, 79; grammar, 33; primary, 46. Average attendance, 66; grammar, 28; primary, 38. The C grade of grammar department transferred to primary to accommodate older pupils.

Marine.

A telegram from Manistee at nine o'clock this morning, states that a large steamer is ashore there, and a fierce northwest gale blowing. It is quite certain to be one of three steamers—the City of Ludington, the Marshall, or the Joyce. The life saving crew have gone to the rescue.

Later.—The wreck proves to be the steam barge Maggie Marshall, and her tow, the schooner Arendel. They are a total wreck three miles south of Manistee. They are owned by Louis Sands, of Manistee. The crews of both vessels were saved.

The schooner Narragansett recovered her anchors at Escanaba.

Before another issue of this paper navigation will be practically closed at this port.

The tug Martin took the schooner Barbarian as far as the Straits last week, bound for Tonawanda, lumber laden.

The schooner Metropolis is ashore and scuttled near Old Mission. A tug and steam pump are on the ground.

On the 26th there were 67 vessels in Lake Superior yet to come down. The river was expected to be open a week yet.

The tug Hall will go to Frankfort, upon the close of navigation here, and indulge in the recreation of winter fishing.

The tug Campbell is being hauled out at Washburn's ship-yard. She will receive an overhauling before the opening of navigation.

The steamer Friant left here at 8:30 Sunday morning for Grand Haven to go into winter quarters. She reached Frankfort at three the same day, and proceeded on her way.

The schooner Morning Star, which was reported a total wreck at Torch Lake last week, was taken off by the tug Williams, and taken to Milwaukee with a steam pump on board.

The schooner Stampede, which left here Oct. 23d for Detroit with a cargo of lumber, arrived back Friday. She stopped at St. Ignace and took a cargo of ore for the Pine Lake Iron Co.

—J. L. Hurd has returned from Detroit.

—W. S. Johnson, Grand Duke of Sutton's Bay, has shipped 98 cargoes, for the sale of which he has paid the sum of $3,000 to the commission men.

Wood-Choppers Wanted.

250 wood-choppers wanted—heavy timber and steady employment all winter. Cash.
PINE LAKE IRON CO.

Fresh oysters direct from Baltimore at Jefferies' market.

Go to Scott's shop for a first-class job of horseshoeing.

Big trade. L. D. Bartholomew & Co. employed two tinners last week.

A house and 6 lots for sale or rent. Inquire of L. E. Allen, Charlevoix.

Mrs. Litney & Carr, the popular milliners, have just received and are still receiving one of the finest and fullest lines of fall and winter goods ever brought to Charlevoix. The ladies are invited to call in and inspect their stock.

Notice.

Sealed proposals for furnishing necessary medicines and doctoring the poor of Charlevoix county, will be received by the County Superintendents of the Poor up to Tuesday, the 7th day of December, 1886, at 10 o'clock a. m. at which time said sealed proposals will be opened and the contract awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. The right to reject any or all bids is reserved. Bids should be sent to
W. C. NEWMAN,
Supt of the Poor.

THIS SHIRT
THE FINEST
In THE WORLD

For 89 Cts.
Worth $1.25.
Of F. W. CRAINE & CO.

YOUR CHANCES ARE GOOD
FOR SECURING A BARGAIN,
In Everything in My Line.

I have just completed my stock of Winter Goods and a better line of
MACKINAWS,
You cannot find in any stock. The 3 point Mackinaws are the best that are made and I am the only one who keeps them.

Good Goods are the Cheapest, if you do have to pay a little more for them.

ALL-WOOL RED UNDERWEAR for $1.50 a suit. A large stock of FUR CAPS cheaper than ever sold before. I have cut my prices down on everything this fall and am bound to sell if low prices are any object.

GEO. W. MILLER.

AT FIFTY CENTS!
ON THE DOLLAR.

A Sale with Greater Bargains Than Before. | Another Gigantic Sale of Muslin Underwear. | SURE TO CAUSE ANOTHER RUSH.

LOT 1--15 CENTS.
Ladies' Aprons with tucks and long strings; Misses' Fruit of the Loom Drawers; Infants' Night Gowns; Ladies Perfect Fitting Corset Covers; Black Waists to wear under Corset covers; Misses' Children's and Young Ladies' Skirts; Boys' and Girls' Twilled Waists. Usual retail price, 25 and 30 cents.

LOT 2--25 CENTS.
Ladies' Fruit of the Loom Drawers; Misses' and Children's Fruit of the Loom Drawers trimmed with fine embroidery; Ladies' Ruffled Skirts and Lace trimmed Night Gowns; Infants' fine Lonsdale Cambric Slips; Children's and Misses' Night Gowns, lined yoke and back, all sizes; Ladies' Chemises, all trimmed, and some with one hundred tucks; Handsome Corset covers, in latest shapes; Extra Large Tucked Aprons. Usual retail price, 40 to 50 cents.

LOT 3--50 CENTS.
Ladies' Mother Hubbard Night Gowns; Handsomely Trimmed Night Gowns; Chemises with Hamburg yokes and linen lace; Corset covers, elaborately trimmed; Ladies' Skirts, with deep Hamburg and Cambric Ruffles; Combination Garments; Chemises and Skirts, some with hundred tucks, and Hamburg yokes; Misses' Fruit of the Loom Night Gowns, Ladies' Hamburg Edge and Inserting Trimmed Drawers. Usual retail price, 75 cents and $1.00.

Come for them quick,----F. W. CRAINE & CO.

Unusually Great
BARGAINS
IN DRY GOODS,
DURING DECEMBER.

WE OFFER A FULL ASSORTMENT OF ALL SEASONABLE GOODS AND PRICES ARE WONDERFULLY LOW.

IN DRESS GOODS WE ARE SELLING ALL WOOL HOMESPUN AT 45c.

WIDE, WALE SERGES, ELEGANT FINISH, AT 20c. FULL LINE OF 6-4 ALL WOOL TRICOTS AND CREPE CLOTHS.

SILK AND WOOL ASTRAKAN CLOAKINGS IN DECIDEDLY GOOD VALUES.

LADIES WOOL BOUCLE JACKETS $3.75

We offer
Cotton Flannels,
At ONE QUARTER OFF.
BLANKETS! BLANKETS!
KERSEY PANTS, MACKINAWS AND WOOL SOCKS, FOR LUMBERMEN.

Look at our Lamp Goods, for the long evenings. Patent extension Lamps from $3.50 up. Duplex Lamp Burners only 50c.

IMMENSE LINE OF GROCERIES. The best Goods for the least money
County Orders bought.
J. L. HURD & CO.

CRASH! SMASH! CRASH!
Everything Must Go!
Rosenthal & Son
Have decided to give their many Customers a big opportunity to secure Bargains by giving a Grand
Special Sale,
FOR FOUR DAYS ONLY,
GENTS FURNISHING GOODS,
DRY GOODS,
CLOAKS,
CLOTHING, Etc.
THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY & MONDAY.
DEC 2, 3, 4 and 6.

The following is a list of a few of the special prices as space will not allow more.

Heavy Unbleached Cotton, worth 7 c.	@	05½
Fruit of the Loom and Lonsdale, bleached, worth 10 c.	@	08
Good Dress Prints, worth 7 c.	@	04½
Good Dress Ginghams worth 12½ c.	@	07
Fine Brocade Dress Goods worth 10 c.	@	06
Double width, wool filling Dress Goods worth 20 c.	@	13
Fine Double width Cashmere worth 30 c.	@	20
Ladies fine all wool red underwear worth $1.	@	85
A Fine Ladies Cloak worth $7.	@	4 25
Extra Good Cloak worth $12.	@	8 00
Mens Good Working suits worth $7.	@	4 00
Mens all-wool suits worth $10.	@	7 00
Mens all-wool red underwear worth $1.00.	@	50
A Good Overcoat worth $8.	@	5 00

Everything in the store sold at a great reduction. Come early and secure bargains.
ROSENTHAL & SON.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL. XVIII. NO.—32 CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1886. WHOLE NO. 889

F. G. HINES & CO.
F. G. HINES & CO.
F. G. HINES & CO.
F. G. HINES & CO.
F. G. HINES & CO.

HOLIDAY ANNOUNCEMENT!

1886

We invite every Man, Woman and Child of Charlevoix and vicinity, to inspect our immense stock
OF HOLIDAY GOODS.

Call and examine our complete assortment of Photograph and Autograph Albums, China Cups and Saucers, Fine Art Books, Dressing Cases, Vases Shaving Sets, Childrens' Books, Toilet Sets, Bisque Ware, Books of all kinds, Dolls by the million, Mirrors, Cabinet Frames, Christmas and New Year Cards, Scrap Albums, Music Folios and Rolls, Immense line of Toys, etc., etc.

FREE! A $20 MUSIC BOX. With every 50 cents worth of Holiday Goods purchased we will give a ticket, or chance, in the above box. Call and hear it play.

1887

HOLIDAY GOODS.
HOLIDAY GOODS.
HOLIDAY GOODS.
HOLIDAY GOODS.
HOLIDAY GOODS.

F. G. HINES & CO., CHARLEVOIX.

THE PIONEER HOUSE OF CHARLEVOIX CO.
New Winter Goods
BEING RECEIVED WEEKLY.

We call especial attention to our complete stock of
BOOTS and SHOES.

TEAS of all kinds. We will guarantee you the best Tea for the money, in the county.

ALL GRADES of FRESH ROASTED AND GREEN COFFEES.

A Fine line of Everything in
FURNITURE.

BIG DRIVES IN
Flannels, Yarns, and Blankets.

Please bear in mind that our stock embraces
EVERYTHING
usually found in a General Store.

Remember: Our Goods are the Best. Our Prices the Lowest. Our Record the Oldest.

Resp'y Yours,
Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

CASH.
THE FLORAL ACORN,
THE MOST SUPERB WOOD STOVE MADE.

ON EXHIBITION AND FOR SALE BY
STOCKMAN & IDDINGS,
Leading Hardware Merchants,
CHARLEVOIX, - MICH.

Call and Examine It.

The finest stock of Hardware in Northern Michigan.

ALL FOR SALE AT REDUCED PRICES.

Respectfully,
STOCKMAN & IDDINGS.

We can Supply you with EVERYTHING in our Line.
THE FINEST STOCK OF
FURNITURE
ever offered in Charlevoix,
IS NOW AWAITING YOUR INSPECTION AT
Henry C. Cooper's.

A Choice Line of
FRESH GROCERIES,
OF EVERY VARIETY,
Including Confectionery, Fruits, Canned Goods, and Tobaccos and Cigars in stock
For your inspection in OPERA BLOCK by
R. J. COOPER.

Pine Lake Iron Co.
IRONTON, MICH.

A MAMMOTH NEW STOCK OF
GENERAL MERCHANDISE,
Just Receivd for Winter Trade,
which we will sell at
LOWEST PRICES.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
SMITH & PARMELEE,
Charlevoix, Michigan.

Local News.

—W. L. French is back from his Wisconsin visit.

—Our presses are busy every day with a rush of job work.

—Capt. Harrison Miller has gone to Harbor Springs for a week or two.

—The public reading room is as popular as ever.

—A. J. McLeod is acting as President of Charlevoix.

—Harry Nicholls left Monday on a business trip to Wisconsin.

"THAT THINGS ARE NO WORSE."

From the time of our old Revolution,
When we threw off the yoke of the King,
Has descended this phrase to remember,
To remember, to say, and to sing;
'Tis a phrase that is full of a lesson,
It can comfort and warm like a fire,
It can cheer us when days are the darkest!
"That things are no worse, O, my Sire!"

'Twas King George's Prime Minister said it,
To the King, who had questioned, in heat,
[illegible]

There has nothing come down in the story
Of the [illegible] by the King;
But I think on his throne he sat silent,
And confessed it a sensible thing.
For there's never a burden so heavy
That it might not be heavier still;
There is never so bitter a sorrow
That the cup could not fuller fill.

And whatever of care or of sadness
Our life and our duties may bring,
There is always the cause for Thanksgiving
Which the Minister told to the King.
'Tis a lesson to sing and remember,
It can comfort and warm like a fire,
Can cheer us when days are the darkest—
"That things are no worse, O, my Sire!"

—Helen Jackson (H. H.), in Wide Awake.

[Original.]

A ROMANTIC EPISODE.

One Flirtation, One Thanksgiving, One Wedding.

BY [illegible]

SKY PARLOR, CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—To the [illegible], City. Dear Sir: It pains me exceedingly to be obliged to incur your displeasure in regard to the next chapters of "Coming Events." But really the days have grown so short, with work ever on the increase—indeed, sometimes, I think I shall drop either the office or my literary aspirations altogether. The former, notwithstanding your kind assurances, I am not prepared to do; the latter, I can not; so there the days go by—frittered at both ends, wasted in the middle. And then—and then—dear Mr. Editor, [illegible] great, big photograph-case standing way out on the pavement, with its shelter, and shade, and excuse, right on its beautiful face! Oh, why will people do that which they know they will be sorry for! And why will inanimate things conspire, in times of weakness, to lead the doubter towards regret! This apple of Sodom came in my way at my weakest, bidding me halt—just a moment—look at the pictures, and—peek! I halted—just a moment—looked at the pictures, and—peeked! O my! there was my ideal, turned square around, looking after me, stock still, umbrella over his shoulder, the whitest of white handkerchiefs in his hand! Of course he expected me to do some such graceless thing, and here I, poor silly goose, walked right into the trap.

I PEEKED.

The storm of anger, mortification and self-blame, ended, as storms usually do, in copious rain; and you may depend that never again will I get caught in such a shameful manner. Oh, shame upon me! Never! What would the dear prim little aunt, way back in the prim little church yard, of the primest town in all of prim old Connecticut, say, could she know that I, to whom her last words were of caution and advice on account of my "looks," should here, in the nobbiest city of the whole world [illegible]

[illegible]

FACE TO FACE.

[illegible]

A STUDY IN HICKORY.

[illegible]

HUNTING FOR AN HEIR.

[illegible]

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

PRIMARY SCHOOL FUND.

Below will be found the sum appropriated to the various counties in the State of the interest of the school fund:

[illegible]

Michigan News.

[illegible]

THE COMBINED
STEAM FURNITURE
—AND—
Agate Works,
CHARLEVOIX, - - - MICH.

The undersigned announces that he is prepared to take orders for
REPAIRING OR BUILDING
Furniture of all Kinds
ON SHORT NOTICE.

MY LAPIDARY
Is in first-class shape for working or polishing all choice stones.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

CORNELIUS BUDD.
All Goods not called for within ninety days will be sold for charges.
Charlevoix, Nov. 23, 1885.

Northern Michigan
Boiler Works.
Builder and Manufacturer of
Boilers, Heaters,
LARD TANKS, ETC.
OF ALL KINDS
SHEET IRON WORK
A SPECIALTY.
MARINE WORK
Given Special Attention
HENRY BARTH, Proprietor,
Charlevoix, Mich.

MILWAUKEE, LAKE SHORE & WESTERN RAILWAY.
The Only Line Running
TWO DAILY TRAINS
—BETWEEN—
Wausau and Milwaukee and Chicago
The Only Line Running Sleeping Cars between Wausau and Milwaukee and Chicago.
THE AIR LINE TO OSHKOSH.
TIME TABLE.
[illegible]
Full information regarding rates of fare, time of trains, etc., can be obtained on application to Station Agent, Wausau.
H. H. FLEITH, Agent, Wausau.
[illegible], General Manager.
CHAS. V. McKINLAY, Gen. Pass. Agent.

FRANK E. WOOD'S
BATH AND BARBER ROOMS.
Hot and Cold Baths at any hour of the day or evening. Oddfellow's building.

FARMING LAND!
500,000 ACRES
Of Splendid
Michigan Lands
FOR SALE BY THE
G. R. & I. R. R. COMPANY.
60,000 Acres in Charlevoix County.
These lands are timbered with beech and maple, elm and other wood, and are accessible to best markets by
WATER AND RAIL,
And are in a part of the State unequaled for health, well watered, and contiguous to the great fruit raising section of the east shore of Lake Michigan.
The Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad runs through the center of the grant.
The part of Michigan in which these lands are found is
Not a Wilderness, by any Means.
It contains a population of two hundred and fifty thousand souls, and is rapidly filling up with settlers from almost every State in the Union.
Over 200,000 acres of the lands of this grant have already been sold.
Send for English or German pamphlet.
Address
W. B. HUGHART, Commissioner,
Grand Rapids, Mich.
TITLE PERFECT.

HUMPHREYS'
Manual of all Diseases,
By F. HUMPHREYS, M. D.
RICHLY BOUND IN
CLOTH and GOLD
Mailed Free.
[illegible]
HOMEOPATHIC
[illegible]
SPECIFICS.
Sold by Druggists, or sent postpaid on receipt of price.—HUMPHREYS' MEDICINE CO., 109 Fulton St., N.Y.

WM. J. STEVENSON,
VETERINARY HORSE-SHOER.
Interfering and crippled horses shod satisfactorily or no charge.
Repairing done promptly.

The Old Doctor
NERVOUS DEBILITY, MALE or FEMALE, WEAKNESS AND DECAY.
A Life Experience. Remarkable and quick cures. Trial Packages. Send stamp for sealed particulars. Address
Dr. WARD & CO. Louisiana, Mo.

THE IOWA ROUTE
BURLINGTON CEDAR RAPIDS AND NORTHERN RY.
THE SHORT & POPULAR LINE
for all points in IOWA, MINNESOTA, DAKOTA, and the New Northwest. The only line making close connections with all important lines leading
NORTH, SOUTH, EAST or WEST.
[illegible]
SOLID TRAINS
WITH
PULLMAN SLEEPERS
ARE RUN BETWEEN
Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Paul
VIA THE
FAMOUS ALBERT LEA ROUTE,
AND BETWEEN
St. Louis, Minneapolis & St. Paul
VIA THE OLD ESTABLISHED AND POPULAR
St. Louis, Minneapolis & St. Paul Short Line
Dining Cars on all Albert Lea Route Trains.
[illegible]
Land Seekers' Round Trip Tickets
on sale at all prominent points to its Iowa, Minnesota and Dakota Land Points.
[illegible]
C. J. IVES, Pres't & Gen'l Sup't. J. E. HANNEGAN, Gen'l Tkt. & Pass. Agt.
CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA.

NOW IS THE TIME
TO USE
JOHNSTON'S
SARSAPARILLA
FOR LIVER COMPLAINT,
DYSPEPSIA,
AND FOR
PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
It has been in use for 20 years and has proved to be the best preparation in the market for Sick Headache, Pain in the Side or Back, Liver Complaint, Pimples on the Face, Dyspepsia, Piles, and all Diseases that arise from a disordered Liver or impure blood. Thousands of our best people take it and give it to their children. Physicians prescribe it daily. Those who use it once recommend it to others.
It is made from Yellow Dock, Honduras Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Stillingia, Dandelion, Sassafras, Wintergreen, and other well-known valuable Roots and Herbs. It is strictly vegetable and cannot hurt the most delicate constitution. It is one of the best medicines in use for regulating the Bowels.
It is sold by all responsible druggists at one dollar for a quart bottle, or six for five dollars. Sample bottles 50 cts. free on receipt of price.
W. JOHNSTON & CO.,
Detroit, Mich.
When you have tried all the Sarsaparillas, and have been disappointed, try Johnston's.

SEXUAL Weakness & Lost Manhood quickly and positively cured. Send for book mailed FREE to all afflicted. Address, Hewlin Medical Co., Buffalo, N.Y., U.S.A.

JOB PRINTING
SUCH AS
Cards, Bill-Heads, Circulars, Posters,
ETC., ETC.,
EXECUTED TO ORDER
AT THIS OFFICE.
In the Neatest and Promptest Manner

PETROLEUM V. NASBY.

He Receives His Commission as Postmaster at the Corners and Proceeds to Put the Civil Service Rules in Force.

[Toledo Blade.]

[illegible]
Nov. 1, 1886.

I am absolootly happy and content. My cup uv bliss is full and runnin over, and ther ain't nothin now lackin in this world to give me absoloot peece uv mind. My commishn cum in due time, Bascom, Deekin Pogram and Kernel M'Pelter went onto my bond, and I am seccurly installed in the place I hev bin waitin weerily for 24 years and over.

I am now postmaster at the Corners, and my confidence in Cleveland ez a patriot and a Dimocrat is restored. While I wuz waitin, and waitin, and hopin, I may hev doubted him, but now, now that hope hez crystallized into reality, now that my faith is not the substance uv things not seen, but things that is tangible, I hev no more doubts. Grover Cleveland is to me a model President, and one of the saviors uv his kentry.

I cood not be better fixed ef I hed my destiny to make to order. The room in wich the post-offis is sitooated is ez convenyent ez it cood be. Rite across the street is Bascom's and it only takes me a minit to cross to it, when we meet to save the kentry. Out uv wun winder I kin command a unobstructid vew uv the two other 'sloons we hev in the Corners, and to the rite, out uv another winder M'Pelter's distillery looms up, the pleasant smoke, givin ashoorence uv a unlimited supply uv likker, assendin gracefully to the heavens furever. Before me on a table is my bottle, half-full, and I sit serenely and contemplate it, with a cigar in my lips (I don't hev to smoke pipes any more,) takin a sip therefrom ever and anon ez nacher calls.

The people uv the Corners bein' addicted to remittin money regelerly to the [illegible]

[illegible]

THE FEELING GROWING.

The Anger Against President Cleveland on Account of His Richmond Slight Spreading All Over the South—An Act of Cowardly Weakness.

The Cleveland-Davis snub continues to agitate the South, and as time goes on the dissatisfaction of the Bourbons grows stronger. Dispatches from Richmond show that the affront has created a feeling of strong resentment. The anger is spreading all over the South. It is said that telegrams are pouring in upon Miss Davis and Governor Lee from Mississippi and other Southern States, expressing hearty detestation at the course of the President and his wife and containing significant warnings of what will happen in 1888. In the absence of any apology or explanation from the White House they accept their conduct as a deliberate snub, and Governor Lee, who has large capacity for receiving insults, like the majority of the F. F. V.'s, not only looks upon it as a slight to his guest but to himself also. There is blood all over the Southern moon. One dispatch to the Washington Republic says:

The excitement caused there by the whole affair is intense. It is the subject of conversation among all classes. Knots of men discuss it on the street corners. It is the topic of the dinner table, and at the clubs the members forget billiards and talk of nothing but the Miss Davis incident. Even the most conservative can find no excuse for the snub. Everybody says that if President Cleveland or his wife did not want to be received by Jeff Davis' daughter they should have refused the invitation at first, since they knew, if they read the papers, that Miss Davis was a guest of the Governor, and would, of course, be of the receiving party. They conclude, then, that it must have been a deliberate snub, so arranged as to intensify its painfulness and call the public's attention to it.

Evidently the President anticipated that while there might be a little feeling at first it would only be a matter of a day and soon blow over, but he certainly reckoned not only without his host but the host's guest as well and the genuine idolatry of the Southern people for this young lady, who, like her father, represents the late [illegible]

[illegible]

FARM AND FIRESIDE.

[illegible]

FOR HORSE-OWNERS.

[illegible]

A CONCOURSE OF ATOMS.

[illegible]

THE COCAINE HABIT.

[illegible]

Bartholdi's Statue of "Liberty Enlightening the World" will be a reminder of personal liberty for ages to come. On just as sure a foundation has Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" been placed, and it will stand through the cycles of time as a monument to the physical emancipation of thousands who by its use have been relieved from consumption, consumptive night-sweats, bronchitis, coughs, spitting of blood, weak lungs, and other throat and lung affections.

The buzz saw has an off hand way with new acquaintances.—Commercial Bulletin.

• • • • Nervous debility, premature decline of power in either sex, speedily and permanently cured. Large book, 10 cents in stamps. World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

The ocean is like a good housewife—very tidy.—Boston Post.

Common Sense
[illegible]
Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.
100 Doses One Dollar

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND
WILL HELP
ANY WOMAN
Suffering from Kidney Disease or from troubles peculiar to her sex.
[illegible]
Price $1. Sold by all Druggists.

COCKLE'S
ANTI-BILIOUS
PILLS.
THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY
For Liver, Bile, Indigestion, etc. Free from Mercury; contains only Pure Vegetable Ingredients. Agents—MESSRS. FULLER & FULLER CO., Chicago, Ill.

ELY'S
CREAM BALM
Gives Relief at once and Cures
COLD in HEAD
CATARRH
HAY FEVER.
Not a Liquid, Snuff or Powder. Free from Injurious Drugs and Offensive odors.
CATARRH
HAY-FEVER
[illegible]

ANTHEMS OF PRAISE.
[illegible]
DOW'S RESPONSES AND SENTENCES.
[illegible]

A QUESTION ABOUT
Brown's Iron
Bitters
ANSWERED.
[illegible]

SWAYNE'S
OINTMENT
THE GREAT CURE FOR ITCHING PILES
AND SKIN HUMOR
SYMPTOMS
Moisture, Intense Itching, stinging, most at night—worse by scratching—very distressing. If allowed to continue tumors form which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops itching & bleeding, heals ulceration, and in many cases removes the tumors. By mail 50 cents.
PREPARED ONLY BY DR. SWAYNE & SON PHILADELPHIA
THE OLDEST MEDICINES IN U.S. SOLD BY DRUGGISTS

A LIMITED OFFER. GREAT CHANCE!
65 Cents Pays for a Year's subscription to the Weekly American Rural Home, Rochester, N. Y., without premium [illegible]
RURAL HOME CO., (Limited).
Without Premium, 65c a year! Rochester, N.Y.

WONDERFUL SUCCESS.
ECONOMY IS WEALTH.
PATTERNS FREE!
[illegible]
Demorest's Monthly.
Containing Stories, Poems and other Literary attractions, combining Artistic, Scientific and Household matters. [illegible]
W. JENNINGS DEMOREST, Publisher,
17 E. 14th St., New York.
Sold by all Newsdealers and Postmasters.

MASON & HAMLIN
NOW SELL THEIR
UNRIVALED ORGANS
On the EASY HIRE system, payments at the rate of $3.25 per month, up. 100 styles, $22 to $900. Send for Catalogue with full particulars, mailed free.
UPRIGHT PIANOS,
Constructed on the new method of stringing, on similar terms. Send for descriptive Catalogue, mailed free.
MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN AND PIANO CO.
Boston, New York, Chicago.

BENSON'S
CAPCINE
POROUS PLASTER
HIGHEST AWARDS OF MEDALS
IN AMERICA AND EUROPE.
[illegible]

Davis' Literary Monthly,
[illegible]
Attractive, Entertaining and Instructive.
[illegible]
A. M. DAVIS & CO., CHICAGO.

DO YOU WANT TO MAKE MONEY?
[illegible] BILL NYE'S NEW BOOK.
[illegible]

RUPTURE
[illegible]

TO MAKE LITTLE FOLKS HAPPY
[illegible]
D. LOTHROP & CO., 32 Franklin St., Boston.

30,000 CARPENTERS
[illegible] SAW FILERS
[illegible]

FREE! A SPECIMEN COPY OF THE
TOLEDO BLADE!
Nasby's Paper. THE BEST WEEKLY IN THE WORLD. [illegible]
THE BLADE, TOLEDO, OHIO.

GRIND your own Bone, Meal, Oyster Shells, GRAHAM Flour and Corn in the HAND MILL. [illegible]
WILSON BROS., Easton, Pa.

[illegible]
GUNS
[illegible]
MAGIC LANTERNS
[illegible]
HARTSHORN'S Shade Rollers
[illegible]
AGENTS WANTED
[illegible]
RUPTURE
[illegible]

WE WANT YOU! [illegible]
STANDARD SILVERWARE CO., BOSTON, MASS.

$600 to $3,000 A YEAR is being earned by [illegible]

WOODWORKERS Send for circular. [illegible]

OPIUM HABIT [illegible]

ARKANSAS! Mild Climate! Good Lands! [illegible]

$5 TO $8 A DAY. Samples worth $1.50 FREE. [illegible]

HOME STUDY. Secure a Business Education by mail from [illegible]

FREE LIST OF HOMEOPATHIC MEDICINES. [illegible]

A. N. K.—A 1100

The Youth's Companion.
PRIZE STORIES.
$1,500 First Prize Story "Blind Brother" will begin Jan. 1st.
$5000 Prize Serial and Short Stories.
The other Prize Stories, eight in all, will be published during 1887.
Free to Jan. 1, 1887. To any one who subscribes now, and sends us $1.75, we will send the Companion free from the time the subscription is received to January 1st, 1887, and a full year from that date. This offer includes the Double Thanksgiving and Christmas Numbers. [illegible]
Specimen Copies and Full Announcement Free.
Please mention this paper.
Address PERRY MASON & CO., Publishers, 45 Temple Place, Boston, Mass.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established, 1869.

CHARLEVOIX, DEC. 8, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE Associate Editor.

The thermometer fell to twenty-two degrees below zero at Winnipeg last Sunday night, and to fourteen degrees below in Northern Minnesota.

By the destruction of the three grain elevators, together with their contents, and a number of adjoining building at Duluth last Saturday night, about a million dollars worth of property was consumed.

In railroad building the United States far outstrips all other nations. Up to the close of 1884 there were throughout the whole world about 291,600 miles of railway, of which nearly one-half was in the United States.

The cables at the northwest corner of the old suspension bridge at Niagara Falls have been successfully transferred from the old stone tower to the new iron one. Other transfers will follow at intervals. The old towers are to be taken down.

The rifling of the mails by a newly appointed railway postal clerk between Minneapolis and Chicago, who had only been in office a month, is another instance of a bad appointment. Even an "offensive partisan" Republican would have been better than a democratic thief.

If Liberty's torch is now fulfilling all the requirements nominated in the bond, it would be a most humane act to set her over in the front yard of the President's mansion for a while. If her mission is to enlighten the world let her begin in the darkest spot and test her gumption there.

The Municipal Council of Paris has adopted a petition to the American Government and that of Illinois for the pardon of the condemned Chicago Anarchists. In doing so it commits the curious blunder of characterizing the murder of eight policemen and the mangling of forty more as a mere political offense!

The Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette says "it may be that Providence raised up Cleveland to break up the Solid South," and that "the Republican party is not so unpopular at the South as it was prior to Cleveland's failure." The great reformer may not fulfill the purpose of breaking up Southern Solidity; but when Virginia goes more than 21,000 Republican, it looks as if one corner was cracked a little.

The death of Henry M. Hoxie, Jay Gould's manager of the Southwestern railroad system, famous in connection with the strikes there takes from Jay Gould one of his most trusted and faithful lieutenants and a strong prop of his power. Mr. Hoxie was a strong man every way, and well fitted to deal with large public affairs. He was strong in politics and strong in business—a man of rare executive ability and force.

The Cincinnati Gazette speaks of Grover Cleveland as "that poor man," and says he "is grinding away at his message, and has a dim idea that he is doing something the country will take an interest in. The fact is there is no possibility that he can produce a message that will be of value to a single human being. His alleged principles are played out, and his recommendations do not influence one vote in either branch of Congress on any business question."

J. M. Potter, editor of the Lansing Sentinel, one of the best know Greenback politicians in the state, sums up the many reasons for the fusion defeat in Michigan this year as follows: (1) Fusion was not popular with a large number in both parties; (2) the bourbons were not sincere in their professed love for the platform and said they only adopted it to kill off the greenbackers; (3) too much free trade; (4) bad management in the first, sixth and eighth districts; (5) too much over-reaching for legislative offices by the democrats; (6) too much "boss" and too many bosses.

The report of the General Superintendent of the Life Saving Service shows that at the close of the last fiscal year the establishment embraced 211 stations—165 being on the Atlantic, thirty-eight on the lakes; seven on the Pacific, and one at the falls of the Ohio, Louisville, Ky. The number of disasters to documented vessels within the field of station operations was 322, having on board 2,726 persons, of whom 2,699 were saved and 27 lost. The number of shipwrecked persons who received succor at the stations was 807, to whom 2,000 days' relief was afforded. The estimated value of the vessels involved in the disaster was $4,428,390, and that of their cargoes $2,073,805, making the total value of property imperiled $6,502,155. Of this amount $5,073,078 was saved, and $1,429,057 lost. The number of vessels totally lost was 88.

Northern Michigan News.

Sam Chapman, of Mancelona, hunted five days and killed five deer.

The Traverse City asylum for the insane is now practically full, although it has been open but one year

Antrim county papers are already squabbling over the route of the West Michigan railroad extension.

Only $8,000 more is needed to complete the branch of the Michigan Central, Mackinaw division, to Gladwin.

C. A. Newton has commenced building a new livery barn in place of the one recently burned at Elk Rapids.

John Scott, of Northport, dug 1,000 bushels of potatoes from two and one half acres of ground this fall, and it was old land at that

Five sisters of the Order of Saint Francis arrived at Harbor Springs last week from the convent at Milwaukee, and have entered the establishment of the order there as teachers in the convent school.

A life-boat of the life-saving station at Point Au Sauble capsized on the east shore of Lake Michigan, Nov. 29, while returning from a schooner in trouble, and the captain and two of his crew were drowned.

The lumbering firm of Everett & Daley of Petoskey, will cut 600,000 feet of pine in Springvale township, to run down Bear Creek, and will also get out 30,000 cedar ties and posts, to come down to same stream.

The G. R. & I. railroad has changed its time. The mail train arrives at Petoskey now at 8:30 p. m., and the night express at 1.40 a. m. The morning train south leaves at 3:19 a. m., and the night express south at 11:12 p. m.

Mrs. Charlotte J. Goodale, an old-time resident of Traverse City, died at her residence in that village recently. Mrs. Goodale has lived there for the past 33 years, with the exception of a few years, when, with her husband, Dr. Goodale, they lived in Detroit.

A. W. Marks, superintendent of the State fish hatchery, at Petoskey, is preparing a case of specimens for the Agricultural College. He has a black eel, caught in Little Traverse Bay, that measures 3 feet seven inches in length, and only 4 years old. He also has a specimen of the spawn or eggs of white fish, trout, etc., in the various stages of incubation.

Mr and Mrs. Langworthy, of Whitewater Towship, Grand Traverse county, celebrated their golden wedding recently. A large number of relatives and friends were present, and the aged couple received many valuable presents. Mr. Langworthy and family came to this region over thirty one years ago, and may well be counted among the pioneers of Grand Traverse.

We'll bet our late plug hat against the town hall that Elk Rapids will not have a railroad in five years! Why? Because Elk Rapids is such a complete old fossil that it won't put up anything. Some towns half the size of this, with one or two energetic and progressive men in it, would have had half a dozen railroad meetings ere this, and seen what it could do.—Progress.

Petoskey Record: Mr. M. F. Quaintance, who has been agent of the G. R. & I. railroad at Petoskey ever since the building of the road, has been appointed agent at Muskegon, and has assumed charge of the office. He will also look after the business of the C. & W. M. road, and together the business will be greater in volume than at any point on the line except Grand Rapids. For the present Dell Phelps will be acting agent at Petoskey.

A little over six years ago Mr. S. K. Northam took the contract for logging what is known as the Corning tract of pine on Green Lake and Betsey river, and commenced six years ago last September. He has the job all completed except about nine and a half million feet, which he expects to put in this winter, and to do which he is now running three camps. When this nine and a half million feet is in, the whole amount which he will have put in on this contract will have been 136,000,000 feet. All of these logs have been cut into lumber at Frankfort, and the great bulk of the lumber has been shipped to the Tonawanda, N. Y., market. Eagle.

We find an item in the Bay City Tribune stating that the Manistee people are talking of a railroad to connect their city with Cheboygan. It is said that John Canfield, Canfield & Wheeler, R. G. Peters Stronach Lumber Co., Ed. Buckley, and several others, are interested all the way up to Cheboygan, which place will eventually be connected with Manistee by railroad. After the first six miles are built it would be in the Ruddock & Nuttall timber, and from there until it would reach Cheboygan. The greater part of the timber within reach would be brought over to Manistee. It would run through 1,000,000,000 feet of pine, and double that amount of other kinds of timber would go there.

Cadillac has added a deer park to its other attractions.

S. M. Dewey, of Bellaire, expects to make 30,000 ties this winter, if he has good luck.

The next session of the Grand Traverse Medical Society will be held at Mancelona, March 10, 1887

A narrow gauge road between Cadillac and Sherman is one of the schemes being at present worked up

A. E. Hayes, of Advance, has marketed 8,000 heads of cabbage this fall. That means a "right smart" of sour-kraut.

There was good skating on the head of South Arm last week Tuesday, and the young folks at East Jordan took advantage of it.

Hazen Ingalls, one of the first white settlers of Emmet county, died last week. Six of his sons acted as pall bearers at the funeral.

Charles Gaskill, the man who threw vitriol on Mrs. Bentley, at Reed City, a few months ago, has been sentenced to two and a half years at Jackson.

The hoop factory at South Arm has shut down for an indefinite time on account of the index wheel breaking. The company are obliged to send to Bay City after a new one.

Surveyors are out surveying between Baldwin and Traverse City, and will go to Traverse City anyway, and if the weather is fine they will go through to Charlevoix.—Progress.

The Elk Rapids Progress says that muskrats are building extremely large houses this winter around Clam and Grass Lakes, which indicates a severe winter. The report that Ben. Davis was to crawl into one of them is said to be unfounded.

The G. R. & I. R. R. Co. have stretched a No. 12 solid copper wire along their line for telephone purposes, connecting the President's office at Grand Rapids, with the offices of the Company at Muskegon. It is the first copper wire thus used in this part of the State, and tests already made show that its properties as a conductor of electricity and sound are simply perfect.

Mr. John Hall, Superintendent of the Michigan Chautauqua department, came up recently to look over the grounds at Bay View. He reports that under the impulse to the movement in the state by the assembly held at Bay View last summer, 75 new circles, with over 1,500 new members, have been organized. The management are planning great things for the assembly at Bay View next summer. There will be a far more extended programme than last year, covering two full weeks of time. All the various departments organized last year will be continued, and others added, among which will be the Normal department for teachers, and a missionary congress of all denominations. It also proposes to erect, in time for the opening of the assembly, a large ampitheatre which will comfortably seat 3,000 people, to be called Chautauqua Hall.

Over two hundred years ago, says the Harbor Springs Independent, Father Marquette, the great and good Jesuit, established a Catholic mission at the Indian village where Harbor Springs now stands. Ever since that time the mission has been maintained under the charge of some one of the Catholic orders, although much of the time it has been seldom visited on account of the scarcity of missionary priests. Several years ago the mission was placed in the hands of the Franciscans, and they have already shown their appreciation of their grand opportunities for doing good. About two years ago Bishop Richter visited the Franciscan institution, at St. Louis, Mo., and asked the Superior to send some trusted man to establish at Harbor Springs a school for the poor, and especially for the Indians. In compliance with the request, the Superior selected Father Servatius on account of his devotion and his previous experience with the Indians in Wisconsin. The good father accepted the charge, and since his arrival has been quietly but vigorously pushing the work, ably assisted by the brothers of the order, prominent among whom is Father Pius, who has charge of the Catholic school in Petoskey. The institution at Harbor Springs has been completed, and was formally opened last week. Two large buildings have been erected, one of them two stories in height, and including the old building formerly occupied by the priest, and which is to be torn down, there are now four buildings besides the historical old church. The dormitory has accommodations for about fifty pupils, and the school rooms are well provided with everything necessary, including a piano for the instruction and entertainment of the scholars. Three sisters and one brother will be employed as teachers, and the school opens this week with about fifty boarding scholars, from different parts of Northern Michigan, and some forty or fifty day scholars. There will be ten months school every year, and there is no doubt but that the institution will be a most commendable public charity, as well as a credit to the region.

EDUCATIONAL.

All communications on educational topics should be addressed to Prof. H. M. Enos, Superintendent of the Charlevoix Schools.

Report of Charlevoix Schools for the School Month ending Dec. 3d, 1886.

NO. ENROLLED

1st Dep't	46
2nd Dep't	42
3d Dep't	40
4th Dep't	53
5th Dep't, Grammar Section	37
5th Dep't High School	29

NO. BELONGING.

1st Dep't	32
2nd Dep't	35
3d Dep't	32
4th Dep't	49
5th Grammar Section	34
5th High School	23
Total	195

AVERAGE ATTENDANCE.

1st Dep't	30½
2d Dep't	37
3d Dep't	32
4th Dep't	46¾
5th Dep't, Grammar Section	32
5th Dep't, High School	23¼
Total	201¼

CASES TARDY.

1st Dep't	09
2nd Dep't	22
3d Dep't	05
4th, Grammar Section	01
5th, High School	10
Total	63

DAYS ATTENDANCE.

1st Dept	583½
2nd Dept	705
3d Dep't	616
4th Dep't	933½
5th Grammar Section	449
5th High School	609½
Total	3,896½

DAYS LOST BY ABSENCE.

1st Dept	70½
2nd Dept	73
3d Dept	27½
4th Dept	49½
5th Grammar Section	11½
5th High School	16½
Total	248½

PER CENT. OF ATTENDANCE AND PUNCTUALITY COMPARED WITH NUMBER BELONGING.

1st Dept	93.6
2nd Dept	93.6
3d Dept	97.4
4th Dept	95.7
5th Grammar Section	98.6
5th High School	97.9
Average	96.1

Owing to an oversight of the editor of this column, Miss Maude A. Loveday's name was omitted as the author of the paper published last week on "Culture of more value than Knowledge." The merit of the paper demands full credit.

The Teachers' meeting at the High school room on Monday evening, Nov. 29th, was attended by a number of patrons in addition to the full corps of teachers.

The subject of memory training was discussed at some length. The fact that mere memorizing of lessons has been accepted by a good many teachers as equivalent to real study and the repetition of the words of the book, as an expression of the pupils knowledge, is the cause of a wide spread dislike of all memory exercise in our schools.

Memory, however, is an important faculty and of great value. As an aid to the use of language, alone, in speaking and writing, its cultivation should not be overlooked.

In all branches of school work it should be abundantly exercised as an adjutant of original thinking and expression, and not a substitute for it. By judicious teaching the best memorizers are universally the best scholars.

Rev. A. T. Waterman spoke for a few minutes on "The Home View of the School." We hope to give an abstract of his remarks next week.

The next regular meeting will be held on the second Monday evening in January. Subjects: "General Exercises of the School," and "What may be done to bring parents and teachers into closer relations?"

The teachers and pupils of the public schools will hold an entertainment during the last week of the present term, probably on Wednesday evening, Dec. 15th, at Opera Hall. The programme promises to be one of the best ever offered here, and the great popularity of the school entertainments during the last year insures a large and appreciative audience. A selection of "Mrs. Jarley's Wax Works" will be exhibited, in which pupils will personate some of her most amusing characters.

Mr. Gladstone never smokes. He has lived to a remarkable old age for a man who has never used tobacco.

There is another crisis in the French government, and still another ministry has handed in its resignation. It is a very uneventful week in France when the president does not receive the resignation of one or more cabinets.

There is a decided sentiment south in favor of Randall for the democratic presidential nomination in 1888. But it will not be very catching among northern democracy. The democrats of every northern state except Pennsylvania are anti-Randall. But why speculate? Will not Mr. Cleveland be renominated? Of course he will. The democratic party very seldom misses an opportunity to make a blunder.

Never Give Up.

If you are suffering with low and depressed spirits, loss of appetite, general debility, disordered blood, weak constitution, headache, or any disease of a billious nature, by all means procure a bottle of Electric Bitters. You will be surprised to see the rapid improvement that will follow, you will be inspired with new life; strength and activity will return; pain and misery will cease, and henceforth you will rejoice in the praise of Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Dr. G. W. Crouter.

Miraculous Escape.

W. W. Reed, druggist, of Winchester, Ind., writes: "One of my customers, Mrs. Louisa Pike, Bartonia, Randolph Co., Ind., was a long sufferer with Consumption, and was given up to die by her physicians. She heard of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and began buying it of me. In six months' time she walked to this city, a distance of six miles, and is now so much improved she has quit using it. She feels she owes her life to it." Free Trial Bottles at Dr. G. W. Crouter's

For Sale!

Prof. BICE'S nicely located House and two beautiful lots on Clinton street near the Park in the village of Charlevoix, are now for sale. Enquire of [illegible] Mucna, Mich., or E. H. GREEN, Charlevoix, Mich. May 4, 1886.

Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad.

In effect September 27, 1886.

(Trains run on Central Standard Time.)

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.		No 6	No 8	No 4
Mackinaw City	Lv	7 15 a m	9 30 p m
Petoskey		8 31	10 51
Boyne Falls		9 16	11 40
Mancelona		10 18	12 30
Walton Junc		11 50	1 50	5 15 p m
Cadillac	Ar	12 40	2 50	6 10
	Lv	12 45	6 05	6 30
Le Roy		1 24	6 46	7 07
Reed City	Ar	1 55	7 20	7 30
	Lv	2 15	7 45	8 00
Big Rapids		2 46	8 11	8 31
Stanwood		3 06	8 30	8 55
Howard City		3 33	9 00	9 26
D G H & M Cross		4 40	10 15	10 35
Grand Rapids	Ar	4 55	10 30	10 50
	Lv	7 15	5 15	11 45
Plainwell		8 36	6 42	1 12
Kalamazoo	Ar	9 05	7 10	1 40
	Lv	9 10	7 30	2 00
Sturgis		10 27	8 53	3 28
Ft Wayne	Ar	12 40	11 20	6 00
	Lv	1 00	11 45
Richmond		4 30	3 35
Cincinnati	Ar	7 30	7 25

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.		No 3	No 5	No 7
Cincinnati, leave		7 35 a m	7 20 p m
Richmond		10 20	10 10
Fort Wayne	Ar	1 50	1 15
	Lv	2 10	2 00
Sturgis		4 21	5 25
Kalamazoo	Ar	5 45	6 55
	Lv	5 50	7 20
Plainwell		6 16	7 48
Grand Rapids	Ar	7 40	9 20
	Lv	11 30	4 55
D. G. H. & M. cross		11 45	5 10
Howard City		12 52	6 18
Stanwood		1 20	6 45
Big Rapids		1 41	7 09
Reed City	Ar	2 15	7 40
	Lv	2 35	8 00
Le Roy		3 08	8 33
Cadillac	Ar	3 45	9 10
	Lv	3 55	9 30
Walton Junc		4 45	10 25
Mancelona		6 10	11 22
Boyne Falls		7 17	11 52
Petoskey		7 50	1 30
Mackinaw City		9 30	2 55

C. L. LOCKWOOD, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

Bank of Charlevoix,

W. P. BROWN, Cashier. W. A. BROWN, Asst. Cashier.

CAPITAL, $25,000

Perfect Security

Is assured to the depositors in this Bank, both by its Capital and conservative management.

Its Officers

Never Speculate. Their business creed is: That to Speculate with ones own money, is folly; that to do so with the money of others, is criminal.

Security in Banking

Is the question of first importance to both Bankers and Depositors, and, believing that it furnishes unusual guarantees, therefore,

This Bank Invites

People generally to intrust their money to its keeping. Just liberality will mark its dealings.

This Bank Will

Borrow Investment money when desired, paying as large interest thereon as shall be compatible with safe use of the money.

Parties Seeking

Productive employment for money, and desiring to escape the expense and trouble of the management of private investments, will find attractive security in this Bank's

Investment Notes.

Now earning five per cent. yearly interest. These notes afford Investors much more perfect security than Savings Bank deposits.

We Solicit Your Patronage

For Finest

JOB WORK,

Patronize The Sentinel.

NEW SHOP!

All kinds of

Blacksmithing,

At the

Shop in the Foundry Building.

Horseshoeing a specialty.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

M. SCOTT.

Mortgage Sale.

Default has been made in the condition of a mortgage dated the 10th day of October, 188[illegible], executed by Nicholas Morgan, (widower) to the John Wilkinson Company (a corporation organized and doing business under the laws of the State of Illinois) of Chicago, recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix County, Michigan, October 30th 1885, in [illegible] ... on the 3rd day of February, A. D. 1887.

Dated this 1st day of November, A. D. 1886.

THE JOHN WILKINSON COMPANY, Mortgagee.
FRED W. MAYNE, Atty for Mortgagee.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made and executed by Adelbert R. Upright and Amelia E. Upright, his wife, of Charlevoix Michigan, to Martha J. Ayers of Plattsburg, New York, dated the twenty-sixth day of June in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, on the twenty-seventh day of June in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four in Liber "8" of mortgages on page 440 at ten o'clock and thirty minutes in the forenoon and the same is now owned by the said Martha J. Ayers, and the whole of the principal and interest is past due and unpaid and there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the the sum of Eleven hundred and Ninety-two Dollars and twenty-five cents ($1,192.25) principal and interest, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof. Now therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the premises herein described. Notice is therefore hereby given that on Thursday the Twenty-fourth day of February, A. D. 1887, at one o'clock in the afternoon I shall sell at Public Auction, to the highest bidder at the front door of the Court House, now situated in the village of Boyne City, township of Evangeline, county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, (that being the place and building in which the Circuit court for Charlevoix county is holden), the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage with the interest at ten per cent and all legal costs including such attorney fee provided for in said mortgage as is allowed by the statute in such case made and provided, which premises are described in the said mortgage as follows, to wit: All those certain pieces or parcels of land situated in the village of Charlevoix in the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, A strip of land five (5) feet wide off of the north side of lot eight (8) of block five (5), and a strip of land twenty five [25] feet wide off of the south side of lot seven [7] of block five [5] of the village of Charlevoix, together with the hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging or in any wise appertaining.

Dated November 17th, A. D. 1886.

MARTHA J. AYERS, Mortgagee.
EDWARD H. GREEN, Attorney for said Mortgagee, Charlevoix, Mich.

CHARLEVOIX

Savings Bank,

Organized under the General Banking Law of the State of Michigan.

Henry Bennett, Pres.; John Nicholls, Vice Pres., F. A. Smith, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:

Henry Bennett, O. D. Wood,
John Nicholls, A. Buttars,
A. R. Upright, A. Fox,
F. A. Smith.

CAPITAL, ... $25,000
SURPLUS, ... 2,000

The liabilities of Stockholders in all State banks as provided in Act 2371, Sec. 49 of the Revised Statutes of the State of Michigan, is double the amount of stock taken, making a guaranteed fund of $50,000 to depositors. Superior facilities for the transaction of every legitimate branch of Banking business extended to our customers on terms as favorable as are consistent with safety.

Drafts drawn direct on the leading commercial cities of the world in large or small amounts. Money to loan on approved paper. Exchange bought and sold. Certificates of deposit issued bearing interest. We respectfully solicit your patronage.

CORRESPONDENTS:

NATIONAL PARK BANK - - - NEW YORK.
COMMERCIAL NAT. BANK - - - CHICAGO.
NAT. CITY BANK - - - GRAND RAPIDS.
DETROIT NAT. BANK - - - DETROIT.

A. J. McLEOD,

having returned to the Charlevoix Meat Market, announces that he will sell at

Wholesale or Retail

All kinds of

FRESH MEATS,

SALT PORK,

SMOKED & SALTED

HAMS,

Dried and Smoked BACON, DRIED BEEF, Bologna, Head Cheese, Sausage.

Highest Prices Paid FOR HIDES and PELTS.

Will kill hogs or cattle for other Markets or persons wishing that class of work at low rates.

A. J. McLEOD.

CHARLEVOIX

Manufacturing Co.

Charlevoix, Mich.,

Manufacturers of

Sash and Doors,

Blinds, Mouldings etc.

NEWELL

Posts, Banisters & Stair Rails

kept in stock.

Window & Door Frames made to order.

All Kinds of

Building Material

Kept constantly on hand.

PLANS & SPECIFICATIONS,

Furnished on application.

Cottages made a specialty also contracting and building.

Correspondence solicited.

RIFENBURG MILLING CO.

Charlevoix, Mich.

Manufacturers of and Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

3 EXTRA GRADES OF

FLOUR

Feed, Corn Meal, Graham

We will do exchange work for farmers on short notice.

It Pays to Buy the

BEST BOATS!

The large number of boats I have built for resorters, are advertisements of what I have done and can do in boat building. Call and get references.

I will guarantee the best modelled, easiest rowing and best sailing boats in Northern Michigan for the

LEAST MONEY!

All kinds of Oars, and Paddles made.

LEAVE ORDERS

with me for a boat for next summer's use. I am bound to please you,

Special facilities for stocking boat liveries.

J. BEAUVAIS.

D. Sherwood & Co

We are now receiving our Fall and Winter Stock of

BOOTS AND SHOES,

which is the most complete in all respects ever brought here and embraces

Lumbermen's Rubbers, Wool Boots, Shoe Pacs, And Everything

Usually kept in a country shoe store.

We also have some big bargains in Women's and Misses Shoes for common wear.

Womens grain shoes for $1.25. Misses grain shoes for $1.00. This Shoe cannot be undersold by any of the dealers.

Also quite an assortment in fine Shoes to please all, having taken advantage of the market and purchased them cheap. We shall give our customers the advantage of the low figures.

A. D. Bradbeer,

PHOTOGRAPHER.

OFFICE OVER

UPRIGHT & EMREY'S STORE.

I will make Cabinet Photographs,

A SPECIALTY!

At Lowest Prices

Consistent with

GOOD WORK.

McCABE'S

MARKET

Is supplied with

All Kinds Of

MEATS

At Lowest Prices.

CASH PAID FOR FAT CATTLE, Hides, Sheep and Hogs.

Corner of State & Mason sts.,

JOHN McCABE.

1-3 OFF SALE!

At Miss Spaulding's MILLINERY ROOMS,

I will sell my entire stock of goods, except Yarns and Crewels at greatly reduced prices for cash only.

Any lady purchasing goods to the amount of $[illegible] will receive a present of her choice of any untrimmed felt hat in the store.

Come early and secure a Bargain,

MISS L. SPAULDING.

Offices To Rent.

A number of desirable offices to rent in the S[illegible] block. Inquire of [illegible]

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price [illegible] cents per box. For sale by Dr. Crouter.

Take The Sentinel.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, [illegible] Mich.

J. MILO EATON, Attorney at Law, [illegible]

CRUICKSHANK & GREEN, Attorneys at Law, [illegible]

JOSEPH M. CLARK, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

PAILTHORP & GEORGE, Attorneys and Solicitors, Petoskey Mich.

DART & CALL, Attorneys, Petoskey, Mich.

R. L. CORBETT, Attorney at law, Boyne City, Mich. (Prosecuting Attorney of Charlevoix County.)

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

L. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in Lewis block, Charlevoix, Mich.

WM. M. PRESTON, M. D. Physician and Surgeon, [illegible] Charlevoix, Mich.

J. A. CARLSTEIN, M. D., Office at residence, [illegible] Charlevoix, Mich.

SOCIETIES.

G. A. R.—Baxter Post No. 119, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, F. & A. M. Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over Post-office.

I. O. O. F.—[illegible] Lake Lodge No. 2[illegible], meets [illegible] and Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows hall.

K. O. T. M.—[illegible] Tent No. 1[illegible], meets second Thursday every month, at Odd Fellows Hall.

L. O. L.—True Blues No. 157, meet Saturday on or before full moon at Odd Fellows' hall.

EMMET CHAPTER No. [illegible], R. A. M., meets at Petoskey on the first Monday of each month.

IVANHOE COMMANDERY No. 136, K. T., meets at their Asylum in Petoskey on the first Thursday of each month.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY meets every Tuesday evening at the homes of the members, during the fall and winter months.

CHARLEVOIX IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION meets at Charlevoix Village Hall on the second Monday of each month, at 7:30 p. m.

President—Byron Sm[illegible].
First Vice President—W. A. Smith.
Second Vice President—Robert Miller.
Recording Secretary—Chas. J. Strang.
Financial Secretary—[illegible].
Treasurer—Albert E. Mason.
Executive Committee—J. Milo Eaton, A. D. Cruickshank and E. F. Parmelee.
Corresponding Committee—H. Lee Iddings, W. A. Brown and C. V. Clark.
Reception Committee—F. W. Mayne, L. D. Bartholomew, M. J. S[illegible], H. Cooper, Geo. W. Crouter, R. W. Miller, S. M. See, W. C. Newman, E. M. Clark, H. Berdan.

All those wishing information regarding Charlevoix, the largest and most thriving town in the whole Pine Lake Region, will do well to address the corresponding committee. [illegible] for all classes of manufacturing.

HOTELS AND RESTAURANTS.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,
RICHARD COOPER, Prop'r,
Charlevoix, - - - Mich.
Every convenience for the traveling public, and headquarters for Petoskey and Elk Rapids stages.

BRIDGE STREET HOUSE,
R. A. Campbell, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - - - Mich.
The most central location. Good Sample Room. Telephone connections. Only [illegible] feet to Steamboat Landing.

NEWMAN HOUSE.
W. C. Newman, Prop'r.
Charlevoix, - - - Mich.
Fitted up with a view to the comfort of the Traveling public. Good Stabling furnished. Central location.

JORDAN RIVER HOUSE,
L. N. Pearl, Prop.
East Jordan, - - - Mich
[illegible] Telephone connections.

BANK.

Bank of Charlevoix.

Drafts on New York, Chicago, Detroit and Grand Rapids. Bank Remittances or Transfers to [illegible] any person in Europe. Loans and Discounts on first mortgage on Real Estate. Railroad and Steamship Tickets to and from any place in Europe.

BROWN & CO.

PILE DRIVER.

ALLEN'S Steam Pile Driver. Contracts taken and Dock work solicited at any point between Traverse City and Mackinaw. [illegible], Charlevoix, Mich.

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

B. SUFFIELD, Homeopathic Medicines, Books, [illegible] Charlevoix, Mich.

BARBER.

JAY PRICE, Barber, east side of Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. R. and J. S. DIXON, Surveyors and Engineers. [illegible], Mich. [Deputy County Surveyors Charlevoix county.]

DENTIST.

N. J. PERRY, Dentist. Office in Weed's Drug Store, Charlevoix, Mich.

MILLINERY

AND

FANCY GOODS!

Mrs. ELLA SMITH & Miss ANNIE COOPER

Have opened a store in the Ingleside Building, and invite their friends to call and inspect their fine stock of

FANCY GOODS!

Of all varieties usually kept in a first-class millinery store

Washburn & Ackert,
FOUNDREYMEN,
MACHINISTS,
And Manufacturers of The
Charlevoix Plow.

J. A. HEATH,

FURNITURE AND JOBBING SHOP.

Antrim Street,
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

All classes of furniture made to order, furniture repaired, and shop work of all kind promptly attended to, and satisfaction guaranteed.

Give me call.

Old newspapers sold at this office.

LET US HAVE PEACE.

The relation of women to social and political life has been much discussed of late. Probably no topic calls out more general public interest. We may expect good to come from the discussion in various ways. But all discussion has its dangers. Argument and debate are useful as an occasional tonic, but most unwholesome for steady diet. The many points on which all good men and women agree are more cheerful matter for daily thought and speech than the few on which they differ. It is necessary for all of us, men and women alike, now and then, to [illegible] our convictions. But it is not creditable to any of us, man or women either, to keep [illegible] loading and firing for the fun of it. There are signs that the "pistol habit" is finding its way into our conversation. I feel confident that my acquaintances are not especially subject to it. But I am quite accustomed, when I cite Rev. —— or Dr. —— as authority on any topic relating to the outlook for women, to have a scornful "O, he's a man!" flung at me for sufficient answer, as if the light of reason were forever withdrawn from one-half the human race. I have classmates to whom I cannot quote "Lycidas" without exposing myself to the brilliant repartee, "Yes, but how did Milton treat his wives?" I call to mind prosperous young school teachers—charming girls, too, most of them—to whom the economy and self denial of their married friends are interesting chiefly as they may be made to point a smart moral or [illegible] a lively tale.

I am a member of a Woman's Club, large, well managed, and in most respects delightful. The "Woman's Rights Question" has been wisely excluded from the very outset, as not likely to promote harmony. Nevertheless the fly of combativeness is in our pot of ointment. Many of us have husbands and brothers; fathers we have all had. But I should not like to tell you, though I do not think our case is an exceptional one, how often we make reference to the notorious failings of man, to his liability to bring muddy boots in over the best carpet, his tendency to ask "what has become of the dollar I let you have last week?" the accessibility of his heart through his stomach, above all, his incapacity for disinterested affection. The world would be a dreary place indeed, if these things were all true that we say in our flippant speech. If we really believe them, we should have little heart to speak of them. Few of us will admit that these jests of ours represent convictions. But they must stand for something. Is it a fault-finding habit, or only a poor taste in jokes?

"If there be any virtue, if there be any praise, think on these things," talk on these things. The advice is not antiquated yet. One might almost say that the need for it grows greater every year. There are more people talking now than ever before, they have more to talk about. It is more important that their talk should be happy and helpful. Social conversation is largely directed by women. Shall they give it, prevailingly, a cynical, carping, pugnacious tone, and that in matters relating to the family and to home life?

There is virtue and there is praise to be thought on, and with men as well as with women. We have had the Carlyle letters, to be sure, though even as to them who can know that he has rightly distributed his censure? But have we lost in them our recollection of the Kingsley letters, and of "Water babies," that lovely memorial of a father's tenderness for his little son? We had a whole treatise on brotherly kindness when Macaulay's letters came out, with that rhyming gossip to his sisters from the Parliament lobbies, and those later poems to the nephews and nieces. You may only admire the author of "Horatius" but it is a feeling very like affection that you have for the busy man who found time to write nursery verses like this:

> "The beetle got a good big stick,
> Bigger than one o's thumb
> O, what a fright those boys were in
> To see the beadle come!"

But we have no need to go to literature for examples. Are there not many of our number to whom father's room and mother's have been equally places of childish refuge?

We could mark off our domestic calendar with the kindly deeds of men, if we would but take account of such. Saturday, we meet a father who is walking a mile at the end of a hard day's work, to fetch home the bonnet his girl has set her heart on wearing to church to-morrow Sunday, we hear of a busy man who brings the office bottle of red ink out from town, and illuminates the covers of the thirty recipe books his daughter is making for her table at the fair. Monday, we see clothes flapping on our neighbors' lines that were wrung out and hung out by husbands who must be at the factory before seven. Tuesday, a letter from Rome brings news of the burdened evangelist who preaches in a foreign language seven nights a week and then goes home to help watch with his sick babies—since the measles come even to poetic Italy. Wednesday, a tired mother for whom hard times and dull work have made this an anxious winter, tells us how her husband "said there wasn't another young woman in town that could make a little money go so far." Thursday, the fastidious friend who could never be prevailed on to protect her feet with anything more clumsy than rubbers, shows us the stylish overshoes her brother has persuaded her to wear. Friday, rummaging in our own garret, we pull out an old olive felt, the first hat the little girl was ever trusted to buy alone. How well we remember the child's complacency as she brought it home, her delight when it was admitted to be a perfect match, her pitiful chagrin when it proved too small, (she had not been able to carry all the points in her young mind), her despair when the sympathizing mother could suggest nothing better than exchanging it, and then the rapture of gratitude when the father, reaching out his hand for it, stretched it over his knee to just the right size.

And this is the sex that is selfish and inconsiderate in all little ways, and careless of expressing even the measure of affection which it feels! Let us have done with this unseemly bickering. The ideal man does not speak lightly of womankind; his mother was a woman. Is there no corresponding obligation upon the ideal woman?—Lily Sherman Rice, in Good Housekeeping.

Pretty Miss McCabe was sitting on a rock by Lake George recently perusing a book, when she looked up and was horrified to find a rattlesnake nestled in her lap. She leaped into the water, from which she was rescued by her brother, who subsequently killed the reptile.

One of the first plants to change from green to scarlet is the poison ivy. Beware of it. Remember, the poison vine has three leaves in a cluster; the leaves of the harmless woodbine are in clusters of five. Another gaily-hued plant of the early autumn is the poison sumac or poison oak.

THEY DIE POOR.

[illegible] Follows All Bank Burglars [illegible] Thieves of Low Degree—Big Fortunes Wasted.

"Hello! [illegible] I to tell you what?" and the [illegible] five, roused from a nap, and [illegible] his eyes. "About thieves who stole fortunes and died poor, eh? [illegible] Bank, as I [illegible] say I wonder [illegible] kind do, then [illegible] the money? No? Take more stock in the other gang? Guess! Well, sit down and let me think." And the old detective pushed [illegible] the reporter and talked [illegible] that sounded a good deal like a growl.

"Seems to me," he resumed, a little ungraciously, "you ought to be satisfied with what you've had in that line lately. It isn't but a week or two ago you were writing the obituary of the king pin of that gang, who died somewhere up in Massachusetts. 'Flin' White was the boss thief for check as well as for luck, as one might know, for he was a newspaper man from the start, and it was when he was druv out of the business that he caught on to the Boston suckers and showed his metal. Flin was the boss swindler and no mistake. He was the only man I ever knew who robbed a man twice of all he had; ruined him the first time and cleaned him out the next, all under the guise of friendship. When he stole he lumped it—there never was a mean hair in Flin's head—and went for a stake of $100,000, or $40,000 or $50,000 if funds were low. I'm blamed if I don't believe he stole a couple of millions in his time, and yet he died poor. Where did it all go to? You ask me too much. One thing I can tell you, very little went back to its rightful owners. Some of it was lost in the flood that swallowed up his fowl farm on that island, where he had a fortune invested; doubtless much of it was "blown in" at faro. That's the way nine-tenths of all stolen money goes, and that's how gamblers live. To my mind that is the principal objection to gambling. You bet your money against a thief's, put up by his backers, and the chances are not even.

"The real thief isn't the man that steals, but the one who puts up for the tools and takes the profit, but none of the risk. He is the fellow who gets rich at the business. The others die poorer than rats, in jail, or in their boots, according to their luck or to the whim of their master, whose slaves they are, even the best of them. George Howard was one of them. He was a reg'lar mechanical genius, and used to buy bank-locks and such and study their mechanism and the way to overcome it for months and months in his room before he would tackle the job. When he was shot down and killed in a row with the rest of the gang up in Winchester county he didn't leave a cent, so far as anybody ever heard, though he had stolen thousands. I don't suppose a smarter thief ever lived than Jesse Allen, one of the Allen family New Yorkers know so well. He stole more money than would have made any man comfortably rich before he was found dead at a railroad depot, with a kit of burglar's tools beside him, stricken down by apoplexy or heart disease just as he was going at a job. He had just got out of the Ohio penitentiary after serving out a seven years sentence. No money was ever found after him, and for good reasons—he didn't have any. There was a bank burglar shot dead over in Jersey when he was blowing up a safe. John Hughes was his name, and he had gambled away more'n one fortune in New York, but for all that enough money to bury him decently couldn't be got together.

Big John Garoty, the second-story thief, who fell through a stair-hole in a house on the hill over in Brooklyn and was killed, with his arms full of rich silver wedding presents, was as poor as Job's turkey. He was clever at the trade, and had ruined a score of men. When he escaped from Sing Sing once he did it so neatly that his keeper never could find out how till fate sent him back to show them and have a laugh at their expense. There's a lot of other thieves that died in their boots, but these will do. Just let me count in Jim Casey, who comes to my mind in that connection. Jim was a bank burglar, and a good one. Ellen, his wife, was a trump, too. In the July riot in 1871, when she was pickpocket on Eighth avenue, she was shot in the leg, and at the hospital they found twelve pocket-books and purses in her clothes. Jim and her worked the racket together for all they were worth till Jim was shot dead by Tom McCormick, his pal, in a Twenty-seventh street saloon in an argument about sharing the boodle from a Philadelphia bank they had cracked. That busted the firm, and no assets were found to administrate on. Jim had blowed it in at faro. The old woman is stealing in England now—if she isn't in jail.

"Tommy Stacks, who stole $12,000 in government bonds—good as gold—from an editor in this town, was pardoned out of the Charleston penitentiary a couple of years ago, blind, paralyzed, and without a penny or friend. I suppose he is dead now. Dutch Heinrich, who worked with the best of them and helped to steal millions, got silly from drinking and bumming, and died in a madhouse in Germany. There was a chap they used to call the 'king prop man' from the handy way he had of getting away with gentlemen's 'props,' which is to say pins. His real name was William Roger, and his alias Boils. They had to scrape together a few pennies on the sly to bury him. Kerwin Carr, who was one of three that got away with $200,000 in hard cash from the house of a Mr. Moore on Madison avenue, is buried in the potter's field. He died a lunatic on Blackwell's island. Troy Dennis, who was one of his two pals in the job, was killed while robbing a house in Thirty-fourth street, and the other, Bill Vosburgh, had fallen to the rank of a fourth-class sneak thief when I ran across him three years ago working a Coney Island boat. Jacob Levy was one of the few who managed both ends of the business himself. He was a thief and a fence at the same time and was reported to be wealthy. He had a farm out at Jerusalem, Long Island, and, I supposed, money in the bank. Still, when he died in a hospital in this city, a charity patient, it turned out that he had nothing. Dick Moore—we used to call him Ten-to-One Dick, on account of the chances he liked to take at faro—gambled away more than $1,000,000 of stolen money and died of slow consumption in the utmost destitution. So did Ike Weber, the counterfeiter, whose Pennsylvania confederates spent more money in a day in bucking the tiger than most men make in a year. Take the case of Charley Becker, who beat the government experts at engraving. Becker came to grief in Italy for forging American letters of credit and 'shoving' them on the continent, and afterward in Brooklyn, where he was forging French bank notes. As a 'straight' mechanic he could have earned a competence.

Cure for Rattlesnake Bite.

Eighty years ago Joseph Geer, the first settler at Long Eddy, N. Y., learned the cure for rattlesnake bite from John Johnson, a [illegible] Indian, who had [illegible] the Pennsylvania [illegible] the last of [illegible] a valuable [illegible] and supplying the settlers [illegible] from a mine somewhere in the vicinity, to which he would go and get a load and return the same day. Johnson like most Indians, was an inveterate lover of whisky, and for a pint of it would let a rattlesnake bite him and then cure himself with his remedy, which, however, he would not reveal. Geer always kept liquor in his house, and on an occasion when Johnson was recovering from one of his frequent spells of drinking to excess, and was suffering terribly for the want of liquor, Geer promising never to reveal the secret while Johnson was alive, succeeded in getting the remedy for a pint of whisky. A few years thereafter Johnson went off with a strolling band of Indians and never returned. Geer kept the remedy a secret, however, till from old age he was unable longer to answer the calls of the settlers when any of them or their stock had been bitten, and then told it freely to all. It is as follows: Apply to the wound a poultice one-half each of common salt and indigo, mixed with cold water, and renew every two hours. Eat freely of the leaves, or drink often of a tea made from them, of a variety of the blue violet (V. Sagittata), commonly known as the "arrow-leaved" violet. If the bite be upon the leg or an arm, bind the leaves in a circle around it, above and just beyond the swelling. Moisten with cold water as often as they get dry from the fever created by the poison, and renew two or three times a day. During the time this remedy has been in use in Mr. Geer's neighborhood it has effected at least twenty cures upon human beings, a great many more upon beasts, and has never failed with either. Ralph Geer and Moses Thomas, Long Eddy, N. Y., are the names and addresses of individuals now living who have been bitten by rattlesnakes and cured by this remedy without the aid of whisky or anything else

Boy Babies a Sign of War.

The good old ladies are now beginning to tell us that war is an inevitable fact of the near future. How do they know? Simply because all, or nearly all, of the babies born this year are boys. That is an unfailing presage of war, as every sensible thinking man ought to know. It is, of course, a very good thing that we are advised of this fact in ample time to trim our sails. Everything will go up—that is everything eatable and salable, and we must begin to store away and garner up at once. The shoddy-clothing manufacturers and ingenious persons who make coffee out of peas and hard-tack out of pine blocks can now go to work at getting ready supplies for the army. Perhaps there may be a general exodus to Canada when this male surplus in the baby line becomes known, but we have lost so many prominent citizens to the unfortunate dominion that we are grief-hardened. I hope that the boy-baby sign doesn't mean a civil war; we have had enough of that. But when the girl babies outnumber the boys it will be plainly understood that another sort of war is surely foretold—the domestic war. This life is one unending strife.—Cleveland Sun.

The honey ant is now sought a delicacy by California [illegible]

A Thomaston, Me., sheep-owner, whose flock has suffered from dogs, sends in a bill of damages which includes $50 for chasing dogs and $25 for "worriment." The whole bill was over $400.

Yellow Roses.

> 'Tis the [illegible] old story of youth and maid,
> Thro' memory's chasms [illegible] low,
> Of such yellow roses a [illegible] he sent,
> In the [illegible] long ago.
>
> [illegible]
>
> It [illegible] by night [illegible] and eight,
> With [illegible] hope [illegible],
> [illegible] the heart [illegible] but [illegible] at last,
> But alas! [illegible]!
>
> Without one word, [illegible],
> With smothered sigh and [illegible] eye,
> With a cheek that burns and a heart that breaks,
> He passes by—[illegible] by.
>
> With a breast that throbs and a brain on fire,
> With a bated breath and a sudden start,
> Her lover's "Good night" to the host she hears,
> Like a knell at her heart—like a knell at her heart.
>
> Years many have flown; o'er oceans unknown
> Tho' roaming he ever remembers that day;
> "Lang Syne" is sweet, none more they meet,
> Their locks are gray—their locks are gray.
>
> "'Tis a fancy interred in the tomb of our years, > Youth has ever," he muses, "for age a charm."
> So he tells her at last, for the tempest is past,
> And his heart is calm—his heart is calm.
>
> "Golden roses, as rich as the oriole's wing,
> That day on my heart is engraven," cries she;
> "But the note 'mong the roses, so carefully hid,
> Was ne'er seen by me—ne'er seen by me."
>
> Then she lifts with care, from a "casket rare,"
> Oft [illegible] by smiles, oft bedewed by tears,
> The yellow roses, so treasured by love,
> Thro' those weary years—thro' those weary years.
>
> Silken cord of the sky's lightest hue she unties,
> Like a gem in the earth at the cluster's core
> Rests the dainty, triangular, sweet-scented note,
> Never found before—never found before.
>
> Ah! there's many a wreck on time's rough sea,
> That the world knows not—shall never know;
> And there's many a heart guards its faded rose
> Of the long ago—of the long ago.
>
> —J. Hooker Hamersley.

A Revengeful Bird.

I must begin by stating that I never cared for parrots—in fact, as a child, I distinctly feared and disliked them. One of my earliest recollections is that of a parrot kept by one of my aunts whom I often visited. It seemed peaceable enough, and had much freedom, when it would meander gently about the room, neither taking notice of nor molesting anyone. Emboldened by this conduct, I thought I might venture to tease poor Polly, so, creeping under the table, I very gently pulled its tail. Deeply moved and incensed by this insult, Polly flew straight at me and bit my finger. I acknowledged the justice of the punishment; still, in fright and pain, I screamed aloud, when my nurse and aunt flew to the rescue and restored the outraged parrot to her cage. The next day, on being let loose, it flew straight at me and tried to peck my eyes out and bit my cheeks; it never forgot nor forgave the injury, but tried to bite me whenever it was loose, flying at me and pecking wherever it could, till at last it became a sort of nightmare and terror to me, and I repented in tears of the wrong I had committed against it. Full of years and hatred, it at last yielded up the ghost, to my peace of my mind and its mistress' regret.—Cornhill Magazine.

Rocky Mountain sheep use their huge horns to assist them in descending from one eminence to another. If, in skipping from crag to crag and from ridge to ridge, it should become necessary to make a jump downward, no matter what the height, they roll themselves up into a kind of ball, vault out into the air and, turning a succession of somersaults, keep the ball rolling, so to peak, until they strike on their powerful horns below.

J. MILO EATON'S REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE.

AND LOAN OFFICE.

The oldest in the county. Established in 1875.

Money to loan in sums to suit and at lowest rates on improved farms.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE furnished on short notice. Office over Postoffice.

The Best Groceries At The Lowest Prices

ARE FOUND AT THE GROCERY AND PROVISION HOUSE OF

A. E. MASON.

I do a strictly Cash-over-counter business and will guarantee lowest prices.

BOOKS, THREE CENTS EACH.

Special Offer!

[illegible]

HOLIDAY PRESENTS!

In Hardware, Cutlery, and Notions.

WE SELL THE

ATKINS SAWS

AND

Perfection Axes.

Job & Tin Work.

L. D. Bartholomew & Co.

THE BEST

Drugs, Confectionery, Stationery,

BOOKS & PAPERS,

FISHING TACKLE, Etc.

Soda Water, Mineral Water, Cigars,

Are found at PERRY WEED'S

The only News stand in town.

BURNS & SCROGGIE'S

LIVERY STABLE

CHARLEVOIX.

The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Drivers furnished if desired. Rates low.

Burns & Scroggie, Charlevoix.

SILVER WARE.

I have just received a very fine stock of Silver Ware of the latest varieties and can sell them at lowest figures.

My Stock of

Watches, Clocks, Chains, Pins, Gold & Silver headed Canes etc. is complete.

If you want to select nice Xmas Presents, just call and see what I can give you for a small sum.

All classes of Repairing done quickly

C. H. BELLINGER.

J. T. Kirkpatrick,

ARCHITECT AND CONTRACTOR,

ON

Chalevoix Summer Resorts.

I have the Plans of [illegible] Cottages of different designs that can be seen by parties wanting to build cottages.

I employ only first-class workmen, both

Carpenters and Painters.

Work intrusted to my care will have prompt attention.

J. T. KIRKPATRICK.

GELLICK & INGALLS

Dealers in

Choice Wines,

Fine Liquors

EXCELLENT CIGARS.

We call Special Attention to our

Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

We also keep continually on draught

Milwaukee Export and lager Beer.

Bridge St., 1st door south of Sentinel.

Take The Sentinel.

Fox & Miller

Offer a

Mammoth Stock

OF

BOOTS, SHOES

and other

FOOT WEAR,

--AT--

LOWER PRICES

Than can be found elsewhere in the County.

We have just secured a

FIRST-CLASS SHOEMAKER,

And will make Repairing a specialty.

We have the Goods and we are bound to sell them.

NOTHING SHODDY.

Fox & Miller.

MONEY TO LOAN,

At current rates of interest, on

Approved Real Estate Security.

School Bonds bought and sold.

MILEY & CHAPIN,

Boyne City.

BATH & BARBER ROOMS.

Hot and Cold Baths and Sea Water Baths at the Barber Shop, 1st door north of Bridge St. House.

If you want a quiet place to get a shave, hair dress [illegible]

JAY L. PRICE.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

SMITH & PIRWELEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX, : MICHIGAN.

An unusually large banana crop is reported from all parts of Mexico.

The total population of Kansas, according to a census just taken, is 1,409,748.

Abram S. Hewitt, the newly-elected mayor of New York, is sixty-four years old and sixty-four inches high.

Mrs. Lily Langtry's chestnut mare, Miss Pauline, won the first prize for saddle horses in the National Horse Show recently held in New York.

Ex-President Arthur was too ill to go to the polls at the recent election in New York. It was the first time that he had failed since he was old enough to vote.

The assessable value of taxable real estate in Washington has increased from $85,151,430 to $93,388,186. The total assessed value of all the real property in the District of Columbia is $122,105,191.

In the superior criminal court at Lowell, Mass., a few days ago Mary J. Davis, the fourteen year-old colored girl who attempted to poison a family last summer, was sentenced to seven years' imprisonment.

An old miner in Nevada is of the opinion that if a man sinks a mining shaft deep enough he will certainly come to something, even if it is only bankruptcy and experience. This ought to encourage young men to go ahead.

The Knights of Labor at the late convention raised the salary of Mr. Powderly to $5,000 a year, and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers have followed the example and raised the salary of Chief Engineer Arthur to the same figure.

A paragraph before us calls Bartholdi's act in taking his mother's face as a model for the face of the statue of "Liberty Enlightening the World" honoring his mother. One would say, on the contrary, that he was making light of the old lady.

General Sheridan is strongly in favor of garrisoning Fort Myer, the military post near Washington. His idea is to have all arms of the service represented at the National Capital, especially on occasions requiring a military escort to the President.

Astronomers tell us, in their own simple, intelligent way, that the gradual lengthening of the days is due to the "obliquity of the ecliptic of the terrestrial horizon." This ought to set at rest the foolish idea that the days are longer because the sun rises earlier and sets later.

Peanuts ought to be cheap. The crop now on the market, and which must supply the small boy until next September, is 3,179,700 bushels. Last year there were eaten 2,805,000 bushels, which leaves a margin of 374,700 bushels for waste and possible increase of peanut-eating population.

Frank Walworth, the young man who murdered his father in New York in 1873, because the latter insulted his mother, died at Saratoga a few days ago. Walworth claimed that his father had insulted and threatened the life of his mother, and for that he killed him. He was sent to the penitentiary for life, but was pardoned in 1877.

EPITOME OF THE WEEK.

Interesting News Compilation.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Secretary of the Treasury on the 10th offered to distribute about $20,000,000 in the way of anticipated interest on the bonded debt. The effect would be to distribute that sum almost immediately among about two thousand banks and individuals in every section of the country.

The Department of Agriculture estimated on the 10th the corn crop this season at 1,478,000,000 bushels, the potato crop at 18,000,000 bushels, the hay product at 45,000,000 tons, the buckwheat crop at 11,000,000 bushels and the tobacco crop at 485,000,000 pounds.

The Pension Bureau on the 11th allowed $12,441 to John T. Moncrief, a member of the Eleventh Illinois volunteers, now insane, and $11,917 to Josiah Brinard, formerly of the Eighty-eighth Pennsylvania regiment. These were the largest first payments ever made.

Over 130 fourth-class post-offices had up to the 11th been abolished this month in various parts of the country.

Advices of the 11th say that the next House of Representatives will stand: Democrats, 168; Republicans, 153; Labor, 2.

On the 11th the Director of the Mint estimated that not less than $7,000,000 in pennies were in active circulation in the United States.

The War Department expended for the last fiscal year $17,676,468 and the Interior Department $6,325,524 on account of Indian maintenance.

In the United States there were 198 business failures during the seven days ended on the 12th, and thirty-three in Canada.

United States Attorney Walker on the 12th reported adversely on the petition for the pardon of ex-Banker Fish, now in the Auburn (N. Y.) prison.

The exchanges at twenty-six leading clearing-houses in the United States during the week ended on the 13th aggregated $1,125,578,188, against $1,079,165,970 the previous week. As compared with the corresponding week of 1885, the decrease amounts to 4.4 per cent.

General Sheridan shows in his annual report that the army of the United States consists of 2,102 officers and 24,946 men.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue in his annual report says that the receipts from all sources for the year ended June 30 were $116,902,869, as compared with $112,421,121 in 1885.

THE EAST.

The car-inspector upon the arrival of a coal train on the 11th at Dubois, Pa., found three dynamite bombs and caps attached to the springs of the rear coach, which contained thirty-four persons. How the train ran the twenty miles from its starting place without an explosion excited great wonder.

At Latrobe, Pa., a residence having been connected with a natural gas main, was blown to pieces at the first lighting on the 11th, causing a loss of $10,000.

In session at Pittsburgh on the 11th, the anti-secret convention of United Presbyterians adopted the name of the United Presbyterian Association of North America.

A fire on the 12th totally destroyed St. Peter's Roman Catholic Cathedral at Allegheny City, Pa. Loss, $100,000; fully insured.

Charles B. Lyman, a tramp, entered Engel's cooper shop at Reading, Pa., a few days ago and set fire to the building with his pipe. The place was consumed and Lyman and a horse perished.

In Central New York a heavy snow-storm occurred on the 13th, the snow being over a foot deep on a level, and the drifts were from three to six feet deep, interfering with railroad travel. Snow was also reported in portions of New England.

In a mill at Sheffield, Pa., a boiler explosion the other day killed Milton Mapes and his son and fatally injured three other persons.

In Connecticut the official canvass of the votes cast at the recent election show no choice for Governor by the people, and the Legislature, which is Republican, will elect Lounsbury, the Republican candidate.

An address has been issued by the newly-organized Labor party ("Progressive Democracy") to the workers throughout the country urging them to form political clubs to push the new party's work in every portion of the United States.

There was found a few days ago in a loft at Kingston, N. Y., the original letter written by Benedict Arnold to the American people to vindicate himself for his attempted betrayal of the country.

M. Bartholdi and wife sailed on the 13th from New York for Havre, on account of the sudden illness of his mother.

WEST AND SOUTH.

George Condon's barn, near Anoka, Ind., was burned on the 10th, five valuable horses perishing in the flames.

On the 12th Colonel J. H. Knight, of Ashland, Wis., assaulted Horace Rublee, editor of the Milwaukee Sentinel, striking him in the face. Bystanders then interfered. The trouble was of a political nature.

The failure is announced of the Western Farmer Publishing Company at Madison, Wis.

The National Farmers' Alliance at its recent session in Chicago re-elected A. J. Streeter, of Illinois, president.

Albert G. Boynton, was on the 12th hanged at Los Angeles, Cal., for the killing of his wife and J. B. Kipp, and William S. Wilson was executed at Anna, Ill., for the murder of his wife.

At the Chicago Stock Yards the strike continued on the 12th, with both men and packers apparently more determined than ever to stick it out to the bitter end.

At Roswell, Benton County, Ind., pleuro-pneumonia made its appearance among cattle on the 12th.

In Michigan the acreage of wheat sown this fall is not as great as last year, but the condition of the plant on the 12th was 102, against 98 a year ago.

A fire in Chicago on the 12th destroyed the interior of Moody's Chicago Avenue Church, causing a loss of $25,000.

The official returns on the 13th from the recent election in Cook County, Ill., show a majority of 80,950 for the convict labor amendment, which insured its adoption by the State. Probate Judge Knickerbocker received 36,145 votes out of 90,789.

Robert G. Ingersoll said on the 13th that he would have nothing to do with the case of the Chicago Anarchists.

On the 14th two noted race horses died: Lizzie Dwyer, at Lexington, Ky., and Silver Cloud, at San Francisco.

Many saloon-keepers in Cincinnati were arrested on the 14th for violating the Sunday closing act.

On the 14th Miss Daisy Irick, aged fifteen years, who was bitten by a pet dog in Englewood, Ill., several weeks ago, died from hydrophobia.

At the Chicago Stock Yards the strike came to an end on the 15th by order of Mr. Powderly, and the strikers would endeavor to secure their old situations again on the terms of their employers. All the packers firmly declared that such of the imported men as found work during the strike and choose to continue would be protected at all hazards.

All the trades unions in the United States will hold a convention in Columbus, O., December 8.

The La Crosse (Wis.) Law and Order League on the 14th caused the arrests of seventy violators of the Sunday law. Among those arrested were saloon-keepers, theater actors, barbers, confectioners, livery men and railroad men.

Benjamin S. Wheeler's residence in Cleveland, O., was entered by robbers a few nights ago, who kicked the old man into insensibility and choked his aged wife to death.

A recent fire at Louisville, Ky., destroyed business property valued at $250,000. One fireman was killed and several others injured.

On the 13th Andrew J. Mulligan, a murderer, was taken from the Harrison (Ark.) jail by mounted men, dragged with a rope around his neck behind a galloping horse for four miles, and then strung up to a tree and riddled with bullets.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

In France and Italy railway traffic was greatly impeded on the 11th by floods. A rise in the River Po destroyed the bridge at Albenga while a train was crossing, and five persons were drowned.

In Cuba the total production of sugar during the season of 1886-87 will amount to over 800,000 tons, and exceed the largest crop heretofore raised on the island.

An American woman who refused to divulge her name entered on a thirty days' fast in Paris on the 11th.

The other day enormous waves from the Mediterranean did great damage at Nice and Genoa, in Italy. Houses were swept away and several lives were lost.

On the 12th the King of Denmark, in a telegram to the Bulgarian Regency, expressing thanks for the honor done his son, Prince Waldemar, declined to permit him to accept the throne under any conditions.

Rebels in Afghanistan were badly defeated in a recent battle, and the victorious General sent to Cabul ten cart-loads of heads of those killed in the battle as a token of the victory his forces had won.

In Madrid much alarm existed on the 12th in consequence of reports of a threatened outbreak against the Government. Extensive military preparations were being made.

The other night the Harding Casino in Berlin caught fire while a ball was in progress, and four persons were killed and a large number injured.

Advices of the 12th from Mandalay state that the British intended to replace King Theebaw on the throne of Burmah and evacuate the country.

In a recent gale off Niigata the Chinese steamer Yakataman was wrecked, and ninety-six persons were lost.

[illegible]

A THING OF THE PAST.

[illegible]

FEW ARE CHOSEN.

[illegible]

INTERNAL-REVENUE BUREAU.

[illegible]

A STUDY IN HICKORY.

[illegible]

KILLED THE CAT.

[illegible]

THE ARMY.

[illegible]

CONVENTION OF WORKING-MEN.

[illegible]

A TERRIBLE DEED.

[illegible]

LATER.

[illegible]

THE MARKETS.

[illegible]

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

SMITH & PIRWELEE, Editors and Proprietors.

CHARLEVOIX, : MICHIGAN.

THE MARRIED MAN.

A married man XLs in bliss,
And NV has do wo;
At NE has a wife to kiss,
Likewise a ton I.U.

When to the IT he doth a go
On bus SS each day,
He prom SS to surely buy
Of things a big RA.

But 'tis of little UT knows
His mem BE to use;
He comes home MT as he goes,
And doth himself XQ's.

In KC has a cherish small
In IT can not store,
For nightly to LA its bawl;
He walks the fl floor.

Whene'er his wife doth AK lot
From working to XS
And try to PK quarrel hot
He IT should express.

If he is YZ will refrain
From NE sharp retort,
And in the SD soothes her pain
And EZ holds the fort.

On da nties nice to ET cloys,
Like KQ you know and I do,
Sweet bread that a boom AD enjoys
In life lives quite high.

In his old AG and his wife
Live on their land LS,
A E is happy all his life
As UB serves 3 B.

—H. C. Dodge, in Goodall's Sun.

HE NEEDED A SHOCK.

How Mr. Hunt Was Cured of Fears of Inactivity.

"Poor fellow! Poor fellow!" said Mr. Elnathan Jenkins to his nephew Sylvester, as Webster Hunt went slowly by in "the Nilesses wagon." "How long's he been that way?"

"Lemme see," said Sylvester Jenkins, rubbing his chin thoughtfully. "When was it, mother? About ros'b'ry time, wa'n't it? Of course 'twas! Don't you remember, mother! Webster 'n' Sam Jillson bet on which could eat the most green peas; an' it must 'a' been green pea time 'n' that's ros'b'ry-time—thirty year ago. Both the boys was sick; but after awhile Sam he got well. Webster didn't though. Leastways, his legs didn't. ...

[illegible]

... a lot more, 'n' still she didn't stir. Then he took down her best bunnit, 'n' says he: 'Get up quick, Almiry, or I'll stomp your bunnit, I will;' 'n'—you won't believe it, but it's true as Gospel—up got Almiry Fitton, 'n' snatched her bunnit away from him 'n' run up stairs 'n' hid it, 'n' after that she got up and dressed herself every day. She's as well now as you be Sammy. I see her only a day or two before I left home."

They all laughed.

"I'm afeard," said Mrs. Jenkins, "that that sort of thing wouldn't work with Webster. Why, his limbs is as limp as rags. Just think, it's thirty years since he walked a step. There he goes again. Oh! I see. It's such a nice day they're takin' him down to see his corn-field. I'm glad of it. He hain't been down for a week and the corn's shot up. The corn on the three-cornered patch is the highest in town."

"Beats all what store Webster sets by that three-cornered patch!" mused her husband.

Mrs. Jenkins went to a side window and watched the Nilesses wagon as it turned off into a meadow. Uncle Elnathan followed her and looked over her shoulder.

"I s'pose you know about the three-cornered patch, Uncle Elnathan?" she said, inquiringly.

"I do' know's I do," returned the old gentleman, doubtfully. "You see I've pretty much lost track o' Centerville. Le's see, wa'n't there a high, triang'lar patch across the river on Esau Newton's farm?"

Mrs. Jenkins and her husband exchanged glances of mingled dismay and astonishment.

"Good land!" Sylvester Jenkins found breath to say at last, "you don't mean to say that things was that way when you left town! There's been a pretty law suit about that patch o' land since them days."

"How's that?" asked Uncle Elnathan, dropping into a chair and eyeing his nephew with a look of interested curiosity.

That individual took off his hat, which he had been wearing until this moment in the expectation of going immediately out to hoe in the corn-field, and settled down after the manner of a man who has a story to tell.

"Lemme see," he began. "It must 'a' been a good many years after you left town there was a flood. It was an awful freshet. The whole o' Esau's medder, 'n' the whole o' Webster's medder lay under water for a week. There wa'n't never seen nothin' like it 'round here, before or sence; but, I can remember this, boy 's I was, that three-cornered patch stood up as pretty as you please, right in the midst o' the water. It's consid'able high land, I tell ye, 'n' there's full three acres of it. It was covered with stooks o' corn; the flood was in October, 'n' all around was this pretty green grass border. Wal, when the water finally went down, behold, the river wa'n't runnin' through Webster's medder any more. There it was—three rods wide of it, 'n' full o' the deepest kind o' holes—flowin' through Esau's medder, as peaceful as a baby. It was nigh impossible to tell where it had run before. The whole medder was tore up 'n' covered with sand 'n' ...

[illegible]

—speaking low and impressively—"I've seen Webster Hunt walk, yes, I have," as a chorus of unbelieving "ohs" and "ahs" rose on all sides. "When they—told—Webster that that there three-cornered patch o' land was back on Esau's medder again he turned as black as yer hat, they said, 'n' says he: 'I don't believe it!' says he, 'n' says he: 'I shan't believe it till I've seen it with my own eyes,' says he. He really swore—Webster did, they say—'n' says he: 'I'll see it with my own eyes' says he, 'n' he jumps up before 'em all—didn't think as he was walkin'—'n' says he: 'Come on, 'n' we'll see if Esau Newton's goin' to have that three-cornered patch!' That was just as I got there, 'n' he come out o' the door—I see him with my own eyes—'n' walked across the door yard, headin' for the medder. 'N' he walked—clear—to—the—river, toddlin'—like, but he walked—Webster did, he was that mad, 'n' then he kinder sank down on a rock there. He see it was so, 'n' no mistake, a great, wide stream was a-runnin', as if it had come to stay, betwixt him 'n' that three-cornered patch. Then they come up with a team 'n' he rode home without sayin' a word. I never see a man look so in my life. His face was all like it had been bruised in streaks 'n' his eyes looked like rats' eyes in the dark. But they come for him in a common wagon. They didn't think 'twas worth while to be hitchin' up the Nilesses wagon for him this time."

In the laugh created by this mild joke the overstrained nerves of the family relieved themselves.

"Then, when they got to the house," continued Mr. Jenkins, "Webster got out all himself 'n' walked up to the door, not so strong 'n' quick 's he walked off, but a good deal like folks, after all."

"I declare if taint something like that woman you was tellin' about, Uncle," exclaimed Mrs. Jenkins.

"Almiry Fitton, sure enough!" said Uncle Elnathan. "It beats all how that sort of folks need something to spunk 'em up. Spunk 'em up 'n' they seem to sorter rise above their lame legs."

"In more senses than one!" put in the eldest Jenkins boy, who was rather bright, and they all laughed at the unconscious pun.

The next day Webster Hunt walked again; but all his walking could not get back his land from Esau Newton, to whom, no doubt, it had always belonged by right. Fume and fret as he might, nothing short of another convulsion of nature could restore "the three-cornered patch" to Webster Hunt again. Uncle Elnathan's trunk was packed, and he was all ready for an early morning's start, when the Jenkins family sat in the porch, in the cool of the evening, enjoying a last family visit together. Just then a gentleman and lady drove by in a stylish carriage, the lady's plumes flying out white and bride-like in the twilight.

"Who's that?" asked the eldest Jenkins boy, who was just old enough to be curious in regard to all social happenings.

As nobody had been able to see in the dimness, he caught up his hat and ...

[illegible]

FASHION LETTER.

[illegible]

VISITING COSTUME.

AN IDEAL COW.

[illegible]

THE THREE CROSSES.

Sermon by Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, D.D.

[illegible]

PROFESSIONAL DIVERS.

[illegible]

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established, 1869.

CHARLEVOIX, DEC. 8, 1886.

WILLARD A. SMITH Editor.
ED F. PARMELEE Associate Editor.

Historical Society.

The Historical Society meeting last Friday evening at the residence of Prof. Enos, was an interesting and profitable one, and was well attended.

The meeting this week will be held in the parlors of Mrs. E. M. Clark. The following will be the programme:

1. The Eastern Question, and relation of Russia thereto. Rev. W. H. McCartney.
2. Music.
3. Select Reading—Fred. Green.
4. Music.
5. Select Reading—Miss Cochran.
6. Music—Vocal Quartette.

Masonic.

At a regular meeting of Charlevoix Lodge, No. 282, F. & A. M. held last evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing Masonic year: W. M., W. A. Smith; S. W., M. J. Stockman; J. W., A. J. McLeod; Treas., R. Cooper; Sec'y., H. Lee Iddings; S. D., ——; J. D., J. L. Price; Chaplain, Rev. W. H. McCartney; Tiler, Ben. Campbell.

The officers will be installed on the evening of the Festival of St. John the Evangelist, Dec. 27, and will be public to invited guests. A banquet will be served.

On next Tuesday evening there will be a special communication of the Lodge for work upon the third degree. The attendance of every member is desired.

By order of
O. S. WASHBURN, W. M.

Norwood Notes.

The sleighing is excellent for this time of the year, and logs are coming to the mill at a lively rate.

Mr. Nash started his mill in Banks last week. He will get out the usual amount of lumber there this winter.

Jessie Meech arrived from Detroit on Tuesday and will remain until the holidays.

The Lawrence called on Monday and left a large quantity of goods for Wm. Flanagan and Guyles & Nash.

Henry Genett and Cora Biglow were married on Monday evening of this week.

Laura Pearl, who has been sick for a long time with fever, is slowly recovering.

William Flanagan had 500 bushels of potatoes on the dock at this place through all the cold weather, and they are frozen solid and will prove a total loss.

The Sunday School is making preparation to celebrate Christmas in the usual manner by having a Christmas tree and the ladies on charity bent will meet you on every corner. Be prepared for them.

Ironton.

Mr. Thomes Fuller and Miss Eva Hause were married at the residence of the bride's parents, on Sunday, Dec. 5, by Elder Hodges. Congratulations. Next!

The Company have provided each of their teams with an elegant new string of bells.

Operations in the wood yard commenced again last week. Teams are hauling into the yard, and several small piles are commenced, but to grow to the same gigantic proportions as their predecessors, and, like them, in the summer, to dwindle away into gas and smoke.

Messrs. Clinton and Wesley Lane have gone to Chicago for the winter.

The sleighing is splendid for this early in the season.

The social on Friday evening was a success, notwithstanding the weather. The young ladies netted about $9.

The ferryman is having a picnic now in keeping a channel across the arm. It was frozen across first at this point on the last night in November.

Duaine Parish is home from Escanaba, where the schooner Narragansett, on which he was cook, has laid up. She became frozen in, and thus was unable to get away. We notice Duaine's hair has assumed its recumbent position. He experienced some very heavy weather on the lake, and for some time his hair refused to lie down.

Will Robinson, who has worked for John Peterson, has left town for the present. He leaves many friends, who will be glad to see him back.

The Congregationalists will have a Christmas tree in their church on Xmas.

Boyne Falls.

The Boyne Falls Gazette of the 29th contains the following Springvale items: Newt. Webb got two fine deer one day last week. * * * Mill's shingle-mill will soon be ready to make shingle. * * Joy is booming. They have now a general store and postoffice, Mr. J. K. Felck being the postmaster and proprietor, a blacksmith shop, saw-mill, shingle mill, two boarding-houses, seven dwelling houses, and room for some more. * * * An extraordinary accident occurred here on Thursday, Nov. 18th. Afram Bixby having purchased the building that was occupied by one of the mill owners, and wishing to move it onto his own place and use it for a barn, he raised and put runners under it, and intended to draw it with six teams of horses. When he got it within a few rods of its destination Mr. Bixby was seeing it everything was working all right, and standing where the line was hitched, upon hearing a cracking, turned around in time to see the house pulled in two.

Notice.

Having sold my stock of Homeopathic Medicines to F. G. Hines & Co., who will also keep our proprietory medicines for sale, we would recommend all who wish that kind of medicines to patronize that firm.

B. SUFFIELD.

Marine.

The tug Martin and steamer Gordon have gone into winter quarters.

Gill & Son of Northport, are having a steam barge built at Grand Haven.

The Soo river is practically closed by ice for navigation, and the canal will be closed this week.

The steamer North Star has made enough money the past season to warrant a rebuild this winter.

The tugs Clara J. Elliot, Minne Warren and Ethel J. are all doing good fishing from Northport.

The propeller Van Raalte arrived Monday, and is now at Campbell's ship yard where she will remain until the opening of navigation, undergoing a rebuild.

The propeller Lawrence arrived here from Chicago Monday evening, and proceeded on her way to Cheboygan. She is expected back to-day on her way to Chicago.

The steamer Lora, which ran between Benton Harbor and Chicago this year, cleared $60,000 for her owners. They will build an exclusive passenger boat to cost $80,000.

At the Washburn ship-yard, the tugs Campbell and Bob Stephenson, and steamers Gazelle and Clara Belle will winter, and all of them will receive more or less repairs.

The schooner Narragansett, ore laden from Escanaba, for this port, made an attempt to come across on Wednesday last, but was driven back, and laid up for the winter.

The schooner Geo. W. Davis, which left here week before last with pig iron, was driven ashore at Bayfield, on the Canada side of Lake Huron. The cargo of iron was owned by the Pine Lake Iron Co., and was fully insured.

The rounding up of navigation for this port occurred Friday and Saturday. The steam barge Ferne left Friday afternoon; the schooner Stampede Saturday morning, and the tug Hall for Frankfort to lay up, the same day.

The estimates of the Chief Engineers for the River and Harbor bill give the following amounts: Illinois River, $350,000; Ohio River, $400,000; Detroit River, 130,000; Sault St. Marie, $400,000; St. Mary's River, $40,000; St. Clair Ship Canal, $67,500; St. Croix River, $19,000; Wabash River, $110,000; Calumet River, $50,000; Mississippi River reservoirs, $29,500; Des Moines rapids, $75,000; Mississippi, above the Des Moines River, $500,000; Des Moines dry-dock, $16,250; Mississippi, below Des Moines river and above the mouth of the Illinois river, $264,000; from the Illinois river to the Ohio river, $600,000; below Cairo, $6,000,000; Chicago harbor, $240,000; Michigan City harbor, $153,000; Waukegan harbor, $35,000; Black Lake (Mich.) harbor, $30,000; Pine Lake (Charlevoix) $30,000; Cheboygan, $25,000; Frankfort, $25,000; Grand Haven, $60,000; Grand Marais, $100,000; Ludington, $120,000; Manistee, $30,000; Ontonagon, $24,000; Muskegon, $30,000; Portage Lake harbor of refuse, $60,000; Sand Beach harbor of refuge, $135,000; Ahnapee, $20,000; Green Bay, $15,000; Kenosha, $10,000; Kewaunee, $30,000; Manitowoc, $16,000; Milwaukee, $160,000; Oconto, $20,000; Racine, $10,000; Superior Bay, $10,000; Sheboygan, $30,000; Duluth Harbor, $60,000.

Antrim Country News.

Banks justly prides herself on being the banner township of the county in point of agricultural wealth and enterprise.

Wm. Flanigan had 500 bushels of potatoes freeze on Norwood dock recently, while awaiting shipment.

Mr. Flanagin will stock his Kewadin mill this winter. Wm. Coulter will have charge of the camps.

R. W. Bagel and family, of Elk Rapids, left last week for Florida, going via New York, where they will remain some time visiting friends.

A Grange lodge of twenty-three members was recently organized at Bellaire.

H. F. Blakely is building an addition to his store at Eastport.

Gilman Wilson has succeeded W. W. Smith & Son as proprietor of the Inter-Lake hotel at Bellaire.

A camp of Sons of Veterans is being organized in connection with the G. A. R. post at Eastport.

Herman Guyer died of consumption at Elk Rapids last week, and was brought home to Eastport for interment. He was a young man of sterling worth, and will be missed by his friends. He leaves a young wife and child to mourn his loss.

The Atwood and Ingalls schools have adopted the Harpers series of books.

E. R. Marshall holds forth in the Antrim school this winter, W. E. Campbell at Atwood, Wilber Smith in the Empey school, and M. E. Byers in the Ingalls school.

Wm. Stigar has written home from Florida that he will be back in Antrim county in time to eat roast turkey with his family this coming Christmas. It seems hard to find a better country, taking all things into consideration than Northern Michigan.

The official canvass shows that 380,855 votes were cast for governor. Luce had 181,474; Yaple, 174,042; Dickie, 25,179; scattering, 190. Luce's plurality, 7,432.

Wood wanted at this office on subscription.

Fresh oysters direct from Baltimore at Jefferies' market.

Go to Scott's shop for a first-class job of horse shoeing.

A house and 6 lots for sale or rent. Inquire of L. E. Allen, Charlevoix.

Mrs. Litney & Carr, the popular milliners, have just received and are still receiving one of the finest and fullest lines of fall and winter goods ever brought to Charlevoix. The ladies are invited to call in and inspect their stock.

Honor to Whom Honor is Due.

There are perhaps many people in Charlevoix county who do not realize the fact that the recent Smith-Anderson murder case was one of the most notable in the criminal annals of the State of Michigan.

Although public sentiment in the region of the occurrence rendered a true verdict before the victim was laid away, there was not in the case one link of conclusive evidence against the accused Thomas Smith. The cause of justice had only a combination of circumstances, unwoven and confused, and the accused had as counsel two attorneys of eminent ability and large experience in criminal defense.

The task of weaving and materializing the chain of circumstances upon which the case of the people mainly rested, was one which called for masterly work. There are many cases on the criminal dockets of the courts of Michigan in the memory of the present generation, resting upon evidence of a far less circumstantial character, which have enlisted the most renowned legal and detective talent. To the task of convicting the guilty man Prosecuting Attorney R. L. Corbett bent his energies with a skill and tenacity that would have done credit to a Pinkerton. In the cause of the people no case was ever taken into court with better preparation, and when there, handled with greater skill than that of The People of the State of Michigan vs. Thomas Smith. He employed no detectives, and incurred the People in no needless expense. He quietly and unostentatiously generated a power of evidence and argument which fastened the guilt where it belonged. Roscoe L. Corbett has inscribed his name in the list of the brightest of young lawyers.

One evidence of his wisdom was in securing the assistance of Will A. Norton in the prosecution of the case. Norton found an opportunity in this trial to display the talent with which his friends have accredited him. We have heard many words of warm praise of Will A. Norton since the conclusion of the trial, and all who were present agree that his work in the case was powerful and effective. His closing argument is spoken of as a forensic effort that would do honor to any pleader before any court in the country.

It was a pathetic incident in the progress of the case when Norton raised the bullet-torn and blood-stained shirt from the table and said:

"Gentlemen of the Jury: This garment, so often wet with the sweat of the victim's toil, and now stained with his life-blood, was never bedecked with diamonds save those which fell upon it from the eyes of that little daughter, as she raised her papa's prostrate head and kissed his pale lips. It was the garment of an honest working man."

No words ever stirred the hearts of jury and audience more than did these, and none ever uttered in a court of law were more spontaneous and sincere. Will A. Norton raised himself high in the estimation even of his critics in the Smith trial, and Charlevoix county has reason to be proud of his talent, however much they may deplore the event which brought it into prominence.

But from the standpoint of public economy, in its secondary relation to the righteous cause of justice, the people have reason to be gratified with the work of the public prosecutor, R. L. Corbett, and all will concede his wisdom in the selection of counsel.

News and Gossip.

A bottle of catsup exploded on D. S. Ward's table at Allegan, on the 3d, breaking all the dishes on the table, a piece of the bottle striking Mr. Ward on the forehead and cutting a severe gash, and another piece crashing through the window.

The last session of Congress was nine months long. This winter's session will be only three months, with the holiday recess to come out of that. If it shall do only a third as much work as the last it will require the aid of a strong microscope to see the result of its labors.

In the billiard match recently at St. Louis between George F. Slosson, of Chicago, and Jacob Schaefer, of St. Louis, Slosson won by a score of 500 points to 469. The game was cushion carroms. The next match between the two will take place in Chicago on the night of the 17th. They both scored one run of 26 which was the largest run in the game.

Gen. John B. Clark, Clerk of the House of Representatives, has completed, and caused to be printed an unofficial list of members of the House for the Fiftieth Congress. He classifies them as 168 Democrats 152 Republicans, and four Independents, with one vacancy (Rhode Island), to be filled probably by a Republican. One hundred and ninety-five of the members are old members, being ten more than the number of old members in the present Congress. Of the old members one hundred are Democrats and ninety-five Republicans. If the Independents divide as they are expected to do, equally between the two sides, it will give the Democrats a majority of fourteen in the full House.

A City of Mexico dispatch says: A tremendous sensation occurred here today, and is the subject of gossip in all the clubs, cafes, and places of public resort. For the last two days there has been great excitement over the sale of tickets at the National theater for the Patti season of five nights in January. The crowds around the theater fairly blocked the streets. The police were required to preserve order, and it seemed as if the city had gone mad over the advent of the songstress. The prices of boxes were $50 a night, and of seats $6. These were three times the ordinary prices. The ostensible agent of Abbey, who was conducting the sale of tickets, was a man giving his name as Mayer, and claiming to be a brother of M. B. Mayer, Abbey's friend and business associate. He had with him letters which he showed to Minister Manning and other people. The theater had already been engaged. Over $25,000 was taken in for seats, and Mayer is missing with $20,000.

Wood-Choppers Wanted.

250 wood-choppers wanted—heavy timber and steady employment all winter. Cash.

PINE LAKE IRON CO.

Ladies' cloths, all wool, 75 cents per yard, at F. W. Craine & Co.'s.

Cloaks! Cloaks! Cloaks! Go and get one at F. W. Craine & Co.'s.

Don't miss the bargains offered at F. W. Craine & Co.'s in silk handkerchiefs, gents' mufflers and scarfs.

Look at the Japanese ware at F. W. Craine & Co.'s, and see what wonderful work you can get for 25 cents.

Don't be a clam! Buy your friends Christmas presents and show your friendship. Call and see the exhibit at Hines & Co.'s.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a mortgage made by Benjamin Walser, Benjamin Moawwe (being one and the same person, and known and called by either name) and Marie Moawwe, his wife, of Charlevoix county, to David Carpenter, of Blissfield, Michigan, bearing date July 16, 1880, recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix county, July 22, 1880 in liber 3 of mortgages on pages 616 and 617, to secure to said David Carpenter the payment of two hundred and fifty dollars in five years from the date thereof with ten per cent interest payable annually, on which there is now due unpaid the sum of $[illegible], whereby the power of sale therein contained has become operative, and no proceedings at law or in equity having been instituted to recover the debt or any part thereof secured thereby. Now therefore, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 4th day of March, 1887, at one o'clock p. m. of said day at the front door of the Court House, in the village of Boyne City, in said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, said mortgage will be foreclosed under the power of sale therein contained and the statute in such case made and provided, by a sale at public auction to the highest bidder of the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as shall be sufficient to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage, said premises being described therein as follows, viz: the East half of the North-east quarter of section twenty-eight [28] township thirty-four [34] North of Range seven [7] west, Charlevoix county, state of Michigan.

Dated December 7th, 1886.

DAVID CARPENTER, Mortgagee.
DART & CALL, Att'ys for Mortgagee.

THIS SHIRT
THE FINEST
In THE WORLD

For 89 Cts.
Worth $1.25.
Of F. W. CRAINE & CO.

YOUR CHANCES ARE GOOD
FOR SECURING A BARGAIN,
In Everything in My Line.

I have just completed my stock of Winter Goods and a better line of

MACKINAWS,

You cannot find in any stock. The 3 point Mackinaws are the best that are made and I am the only one who keeps them.

Good Goods are the Cheapest, if you do have to pay a little more for them.

ALL-WOOL RED UNDERWEAR for $1.50 a suit. A large stock of FUR CAPS cheaper than ever sold before. I have cut my prices down on everything this fall and am bound to sell if low prices are any object.

GEO. W. MILLER.

And Now For The HOLIDAYS.

We have been preparing for them not for "30 Days" or any other fossilized racket, but genuine Stupendous Bargains which we have succeeded in getting for this event.

Buy Something Useful

Save money and be happy, be it a Cloak, Hood, Dress, Bolt of Cotton or any of the many useful and beautiful articles to be found at our store.

We have an immense stock of Silk Handkerchiefs, Gents' Mufflers, and Scarfs. Also Ladies Linen and Silk Handkerchiefs.

COME and see the beautiful Japanese Wares that we are showing for Holiday Gifts.

LADIES' WRAPS. We have 25 styles no two alike, to select from also Newmarkets. Misses and Childrens Cloaks from $2 up. Come and see for we still live.

F. W. CRAINE & CO.

Unusually Great BARGAINS
In Dry Goods,
DURING DECEMBER.

WE OFFER A FULL ASSORTMENT OF ALL SEASONABLE GOODS AND PRICES ARE WONDERFULLY LOW.

IN DRESS GOODS WE ARE SELLING ALL WOOL HOMESPUN AT 45c.

WIDE, WALE SERGES, ELEGANT FINISH, AT 20c. FULL LINE OF 6-4 ALL WOOL TRICOTS AND CREPE CLOTHS.

SILK AND WOOL ASTRAKAN CLOAKINGS IN DECIDEDLY GOOD VALUES.

LADIES WOOL BOUCLE JACKETS $3.75

We offer

Cotton Flannels,
At ONE QUARTER OFF.

BLANKETS! BLANKETS!

KERSEY PANTS, MACKINAWS AND WOOL SOCKS, FOR LUMBERMEN.

Look at our Lamp Goods, for the long evenings. Patent extension Lamps from $4.50 up. Duplex Lamp Burners only 50c.

IMMENSE LINE OF GROCERIES. The best Goods for the least money

County Orders bought.

J. L. HURD & CO.

Special Sale!

We will invoice our stock about Jan. 1st, and before that date we wish to sell our Surplus Stock in

GENTS FURNISHING GOODS,
DRY GOODS,
CLOAKS,
DRESS GOODS,
CARPETS,
CLOTHING, Etc.

To do this we must give special inducements to customers. We have advertised special sales in some lines, but now advertise a Grand Special Sale!

From now until Jan. 1st, embracing all articles in the store, from Silks down to Prints.

A SACRIFICE SALE OF CLOAKS
From now until Jan. 1st.

We are bound to sell at some price and propose to undersell all competitors.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS!

By calling and examining our stores you will find that most suitable presents can be purchased of us.

Hoping to receive a share of your patronage, we are Yours to sell goods,

Rosenthal & Son
on the corner.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL. XVIII NO.—33 CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1886. WHOLE NO. 890

F. G. HINES & CO.
F. G. HINES & CO.
F. G. HINES & CO.
F. G. HINES & CO.
F. G. HINES & CO.

HOLIDAY ANNOUNCEMENT!

F. G. HINES & CO.
F. G. HINES & CO.
F. G. HINES & CO.
F. G. HINES & CO.
F. G. HINES & CO.

1886

We invite every Man, Woman and Child of Charlevoix and vicinity, to inspect our immense stock

—OF HOLIDAY GOODS.—

Call and examine our complete assortment of Photograph and Autograph Albums, China Cups and Saucers, Fine Art Books, Dressing Cases, Vases Shaving Sets, Childrens' Books, Toilet Sets, Bisque Ware, Books of all kinds, Dolls by the million, Mirrors, Cabinet Frames, Christmas and New Year Cards, Scrap Albums, Music Folios and Rolls, Immense line of Toys, etc., etc.

FREE! A $20 MUSIC BOX. With every 50 cents worth of Holiday Goods purchased we will give a ticket, or chance, in the above box. Call and hear it play.

1887

HOLIDAY GOODS.
HOLIDAY GOODS.
HOLIDAY GOODS.
HOLIDAY GOODS.
HOLIDAY GOODS.

F. G. HINES & CO., CHARLEVOIX.

HOLIDAY GOODS.
HOLIDAA GOODS.
HOLIDAY GOODS.
HOLIDAY GOODS.
HOLIDAY GOODS.

THE PIONEER HOUSE OF CHARLEVOIX CO.

New Winter Goods
BEING RECEIVED WEEKLY.

We call especial attention to our complete stock of

BOOTS and SHOES.

TEAS of all kinds. We will guarantee you the best Tea for the money, in the county.

ALL GRADES of FRESH ROASTED AND GREEN COFFEES.

A Fine line of Everything in

FURNITURE.

BIG DRIVES IN

Flannels, Yarns, and Blankets.

Please bear in mind that our stock embraces

EVERYTHING

usually found in a General Store.

Remember: Our Goods are the Best. Our Prices the Lowest. Our Record the Oldest.

Resp'y Yours.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

We can supply you with EVERYTHING in our line.

THE FINEST STOCK OF
FURNITURE
ever offered in Charlevoix.
IS NOW AWAITING YOUR INSPECTION AT
Henry C. Cooper's.

A Choice Line of
FRESH GROCERIES,
OF EVERY VARIETY,
Including Confectionery, Fruits, Canned Goods, and Tobaccos and Cigars in stock
For your inspection in OPERA BLOCK by
R. J. COOPER.

CASH.

THE FLORAL ACORN,

THE MOST SUPERB WOOD STOVE MADE.

ON EXHIBITION AND FOR SALE BY

STOCKMAN & IDDINGS,

Leading Hardware Merchants,

CHARLEVOIX, - MICH.

Call and Examine It.

The finest stock of Hardware in Northern Michigan.

ALL FOR SALE AT REDUCED PRICES.

Respectfully,
STOCKMAN & IDDINGS.

Pine Lake Iron Co.
IRONTON, MICH.

A MAMMOTH NEW STOCK OF

GENERAL MERCHANDISE,

Just Receivd for Winter Trade,

which we will sell at

LOWEST PRICES.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY

SMITH & PARMELEE,
Charlevoix, - Michigan.

Address all business correspondence to the firm

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One year - $1 50 | Six months - $ .75
Invariably in Advance

Local News.

—Capt. A. G. Aldrich is home for the winter.

—O'Neill Bros. returned from the Northport fishing grounds, Friday.

—H. V. Rifenburg made a brief business visit to Muskegan this week.

—Henry Aldrich has resumed his desk at the Grand Rapids Commercial College.

—The signal service at this station will be discontinued to-day until about March 15th.

—Mrs. R. A. Campbell left Thursday for a two week's visit among friends at Grand Rapids and Jackson.

—Enterprise: One mighty good job has been done on the road between Wm. St. Clair's and Ellsworth.

—Perry Weed in his new holiday announcement, calls your attention to his choice line of christmas gifts. Call and examine his assortment.

—As usual, the mercury at Charlevoix this season has not dropped within ten degrees as low as the Kalamazoo and Chicago thermometers have registered.

—Carp Lake, Lelanaw county, has an "oil well" which is 140 feet deep, and which throws a six inch stream of water, strongly impregnated with sulphur, to a height of 20 feet.

—Nothing like going south to escape the cold weather! A letter from C. Y. Cook states that when the Charlevoix Florida pilgrims passed through Georgia there was two feet of snow on the ground.

—Citizen: P. A. Badour of the Cadillac Express, passed through here last Tuesday on his way home. He states that he intends soon to start a paper and also a job office at Crystal Falls, Iron County.

—Charlevoix has never seen as choice and large a line of Christmas goods as that now on exhibition at F. G. Hines & Co.'s. In books especially, the stock is unusually well selected and complete. Call early and make selections.

Gov. Luce will remove to Lansing about Dec. 22d, and reside there during his term of office.

The income of the John J. Bagley estate at Detroit this year is $191,632, of which over $40,000 comes as dividends from its stock in the firm of John J. Bagley & Co. The total receipts of the estate have nearly doubled during the past five years.

Wood wanted at this office on subscription.

Will sell at a sacrifice, one yoke of Oxen 7 years old, weight 3,500. Call soon at Harsha's Loan Agency.

Christmas candy! Hines & Co. have just received their Christmas stock of candy and it is very choice. Price, the lowest.

U C U can buy more and better Foreign or Domestic fruit or confectionery for your Christmas Gifts to the children of O. W. Smith than any other place in Charlevoix. The finest assortment of Fruits, Nuts, Sugar toys and Confectionery ever shown in this market. A few of those delicious Catawba grapes left. They are as nice as when picked. Prunells, a fine foreign fruit; a good thing for the sick. More goods for the least money than any other place in town. Tarten's Baltimore oysters, in bulk and cans, for 30, 35 and 40 cents per can. No better oysters put up.

O. W. SMITH.
Opposite Bridge St. House.

—R. M. Cherrie is back home from Chicago.

—Leroy Hamlin has returned from Manistique.

—Attend the school exhibition tonight at Opera Hall.

—John Burns returned home from Colorado on Monday.

—Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Graves are happy over a bouncing new boy.

—Will See, of this place, is engaged for the winter in the company's store at Ironton.

—A $25,000 lighthouse has been ordered for Squaw Island, of the Beaver group.

—A new Antrim county seedling apple named the "Allcott" has been announced.

The schooner G. W. Davis was released from the beach last week. Her injuries are light.

—The school exhibition to-night is expected to be an an excellent entertainment. Attend it.

—Notice advertisement elsewhere of forty acres in Hillsdale county to trade for a farm in Charlevoix county.

—George W. Miller, in a mammoth advertisement this week, offers unparalleled bargains in clothing and gents' furnishing goods.

—The Historical meets Friday evening of this week at the residence of W. A. Smith. W. P. Brown will read the paper of the evening. Subject, "Ireland."

—A Chicago youth of seven summers will take his mother in tow and come to Charlevoix in the spring for the express purpose of attending the Charlevoix Kindergarten. Chicago knows a good thing when she sees it.

—The Business men are organizing a Business Men's Association and will meet at Odd Fellow's Hall to-morrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. Every business man in Charlevoix should be present. This will be a local branch of the State Business Men's Association.

Religious.

M. E. Church.

We will be glad to see all S. S. teachers at Tuesday evening meetings at the parsonage. Come every time and let us study together the Word.

Thursday evening, general prayer meeting at 7 p. m., standard time. At 8 o'clock a rebearsal to last one hour. Bring the Hymnal with you.

Saturday evening a prayer meeting will be held at the parsonage at 7 p. m. The bell will ring 15 minutes before time.

Sabbath services as usual. Everybody welcome.

Preaching next Sabbath at 2:30 p. m. at Black's school house, and in the evening at the Johnson school house.

Congregational Church.

The Cheboygan conference of the Congregational churches holds its ninth annual meeting this week with the church in Kalkaska. Rev. A. T. Waterman and Rev. J. J. Kanagy will represent the Charlevoix church.

On next Sunday morning the theme will be in anticipation of Forefather's or Pilgrim's Day, Dec. 21.

In the evening, some weak things made strong.

The able editorial from the Kalamazoo Telegraph, in another column, favoring Col. F. B. Stockbridge for U. S. Senator, is worthy of careful perusal. The Telegraph is just right about the matter.

Fresh oysters direct from Baltimore at Jefferies' market.

Go to Scott's shop for a first class job of horseshoeing.

A house and 6 lots for sale or rent. Inquire of L. E. Allen, Charlevoix.

Mrs. Litney & Carr, the popular milliners, have just received and are still receiving one of the finest and fullest lines of fall and winter goods ever brought to Charlevoix. The ladies are invited to call in and inspect their stock.

A Model Residence.

The greatest architectural success in the history of Charlevoix improvements has just been consummated in the completion of the fine new residence of Amos Fox, on Main street.

From the street its delicate yet substantial outlines, its high windows and broad verandas; its spire and commodious bay windows, combine to present an exterior which is inviting, and we enter it by beautiful double doors through which a combination of ground and stained glass admit a toned light. The hall-way is large and finely finished. To the left we enter the first of two double parlors—15 feet square finished in hardwood, well lighted and with high ceilings.

From the back parlor or sitting room we enter a dining room which is perfection itself, with china closets and furnishings also in hardwood. The kitchen occupies the rear and east of the house, and is wainscoted in pine and cherry. A kitchen bedroom adjoins, and a gem of a pantry, constructed under the personal supervision of Mrs. Fox, is a model of convenience.

We return to the hall and climb a circular stair-way, of cherry and walnut finishings. The upper landing is in a hallway from which we pass into a suit of double parlors, the exact counterpart of those below. The wood-work is pine, finished in natural wood, as is also that of the four other bed-rooms on that floor. A snug bath-room, and the usual wardrobes supplement the larger apartments. The parlor-bed-room opens out upon the broad front veranda.

A cellar 22x32 constitutes the basement, in which is a furnace which heats the entire building.

The exterior painting is not completed, but will be done in early spring. Iron cresting with ornate finals, will be added to the roof and the grounds will be lawned and neatly fenced.

In its construction and finish no pains have been spared to make it a lovely home and the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Fox will congratulate them upon the occupancy of so fine a residence.

J. T. Kirkpatrick was the architect; Wheat and Carr, the builders, and the Charlevoix Manufacturing Co. provided the wood work for both exterior and interior. Glass did the stone work and plastering, and Swallow the painting and finishing.

It is an ornament to Charlevoix, and a credit to its designers and builders. It will be occupied next week.

Ironton.

No weddings this week.

The B. H. Society met with Mrs. Parish on Wednesday evening. An interesting programme had been prepared and was well rendered.

Wood was pouring into the yard rapidly last week.

Skating on the arm was A No. 1 all last week until Saturday.

The last day of the Fall term of school will be the day before Christmas. The regular bi-weekly "general exercises" will be of a Christmas character and managed by the A Grade of Grammar Department. They will be held in the Grammar room; all grades being present and participating. The parents and patrons are earnestly invited to attend these exercises. The schools will open for second term on 1st Monday in January. Each member of Grammar Dep't of the schools, will receive a printed card board certificate, with name of school at the head, and their standing in the different branches, at the close of the present term.

Robert Bedwin passed away from earth on Tuesday night and was buried in the cemetery at Advance on Thursday. Mr. Bedwin was in his 69th year and one of the early settlers of this township, and had hewed himself a nice home out of the forest of the point of the peninsula. He, for two years, conducted a general store at Bedwin's dock. For the past year he had been in very poor health, being a great sufferer from dyspepsia. The immediate cause of his death was a fit of apoplexy.

Charlie and Frank Noyes, who have been working on steamboats all the season, are home now.

A SERMON TO PARENTS.

Rev. T. De Witt Talmage on the Rearing of Children.

Parental Anxiety—Inefficiency and Imperfection—Unwise Discipline and Instruction—Youthful Sins and Temptations—Doing vs. Teaching.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Nov. 21.—The subject of Dr. Talmage's sermon at the Tabernacle this morning was: "What is to Become of Our Children?" The text chosen was from Genesis 44:30, as follows: "Seeing that his life is bound up in the lad's life." Mr. Talmage said:

These words were spoken by Judah as descriptive of the tenderness and affection which Jacob felt toward Benjamin, the youngest son of that patriarchal family; but they are words just as appropriate to many a parent in this house—since "his life is bound up in the lad's life." I have known parents that seemed to have but little interest in their children. A father says: "My son must look out for himself. If he comes up well, all right; if he turns out badly I can not help it. I am not responsible for his behavior; he must take the same risk in life that I took." As well might the shepherd throw a lamb into a den of lions and then say: "Little lamb, look out for yourself!"

It is generally the case that even the beast looks after its young. It is generally the case that the old bird will pick your eyes out rather than let you come nigh its brood. The lion will rend you in twain if you approach too nearly the whelps. The fowl in the barnyard, clumsy footed and heavy winged, flies fiercely at you if you come too near the little group; and God intended every father and mother to be the protection and help of the child. Jesus comes into every dwelling and says to the father or mother: "You have been looking after this child's body and mind; the time has come when you ought to be looking after its immortal soul." I stand before hundreds of people with whom the question, morning, noon and night, is: "What is to become of the child? What will be its history? Will it choose paths of virtue or ...

... have been acting on your suggestion, that's all."

And so one parent errs on one side, and another parent errs on the other, and how to strike a happy medium between severity and too great lenienoy, and train our sons and daughters for usefulness on earth and bliss in Heaven, is a question which agitates every Christian household in my congregation. Where so many good men and women have failed, is it strange we should sometimes doubt the propriety of our theory and the accuracy of our kind of government?

Again, parental anxiety often arises from an early exhibition of sinfulness in the child. The morning-glories bloom for a little while under the sun, and then they shut up as the heat comes on; but there are flowers along the Amazon that blaze their beauty for weeks at a time; but the short-lived morning-glory fulfills its mission as well as the Victoria Regia. There are some people who take forty, fifty or sixty years to develop. Then there are little children who fling their beauty on the vision and vanish. They are morning-glories that can not stand the glare of the hot noon sun of trial.

I have noticed that, for the most part, the children that live sometimes get cross, and pick up bad words in the street, and quarrel with brother and sister, and prove unmistakably that they are wicked—as the Bible says, going astray from the womb, speaking lies. See the little ones in the Sabbath class, so sunshiny and beautiful, you would think they were always so, but mother, seated a little way off, looks over at these children and thinks of the awful time she has had to get them ready.

After the boy or girl comes a little further on in life the mark of sin upon him or her is still more evident. The son comes in from a pugilistic encounter in the streets, bearing the marks of a defeat. The daughter practices positive deception, and the parent says: "What shall I do! I can't always be correcting and scolding, and yet these things must be stopped." It is especially sad if the parent sees his own faults copied by the child. It is very hard work to pull up a nettle that we ourselves planted. We remember that the greatest frauds that ever shook the banking-houses of the country started from a boy's ...

... one young man goes in and the other retreats. Oh, you say, the last had better resolution. No, that was not it. The first young man had no early good influence; the last had been piously trained, and when he stood at the door of sin discussing the matter he looked around as if to see some one, and he felt an invisible hand on his shoulder, saying: "Don't go in! Don't go in!" Whose hand was it? A mother's hand, fifteen years ago gone to dust. A gentleman was telling me of the fact that some years ago there were two young men who stopped at the door of the Park Theater, in New York. The question was whether they should go in. That night there was to be a very immoral play enacted in the theater. One man went in; the other stayed out. The young man who went in went on from sin to sin and through a crowd of iniquities, and died in the hospital of delirium tremens. The other young man, who retreated, chose Christ, went into the Gospel, and is now one of the most eminent ministers of Christ in this country. And the man who retreated gave as his reason for turning back from the Park Theater that night that there was a voice within him saying: "Don't go in; don't go in." And for that reason, my friends, I believe so much in Bible classes. But there is something better than the Bible class, and that is the Sunday-School class. I like it because it takes children at an earlier point; and the infant class I like still better, because it takes children before they begin to walk or to talk straight, and puts them on the road to Heaven. You can not begin too early.

But I want you to remember, O father! O mother! that it is what you do that is going to affect your children. You tell your children to become Christians while you are not, and they will not. Do you think Noah's family would have gone into the ark if he had not gone in? They would say: "No, there is something about that boat that is not right; father has not gone in." You can not push children into the Kingdom of God—you have got to pull them in. Do you know all the instruction you give to your children in a religious direction goes for nothing unless you illustrate it in your own life? It is what you are, not so much what you teach.

Have a family altar. Let it be a cheer-...

OFFICIAL FIGURES.

The Vote for Gubernatorial Candidates at the Recent Election.

Below will be found the official figures of the vote cast ... for Governor ... (Republican) ... (Prohibition) ...

Counties: Alcona, Alger, Allegan, Alpena, Antrim, Arenac, Baraga, Barry, Bay, Benzie, Berrien, Branch, Calhoun, Cass, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Chippewa, Clare, Clinton, Crawford, Delta, Eaton, Emmet, Genesee, Gladwin, Grand Traverse, Gratiot, Hillsdale, Houghton, Huron, Ingham, Ionia, Iosco, Iron, Isabella, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Kalkaska, Kent, Keweenaw, Lake, Lapeer, Leelanaw, Lenawee, Livingston, Mackinac, Macomb, Manistee, Manitou, Marquette, Mason, Mecosta, Menominee, Midland, Missaukee, Monroe, Montcalm ...

HOW IT HAPPENED.

The Republican Triumph Is an Unqualified Rebuke to the Cowardly and Incompetent Administration.

Democratic reasons for the black eye ... are as thick as ... every newspaper of that ... loaded with them. ...

THE NATIONAL GUARD.

PRESS PARAGRAPHS.

THE COMBINED

STEAM FURNITURE

—AND—

Agate Works,

CHARLEVOIX, - - - MICH.

The undersigned announces that he is prepared to take orders for

REPAIRING OR BUILDING

Furniture of all Kinds

ON SHORT NOTICE.

MY LAPIDARY

Is in first-class shape for working or polishing all choice stones.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

CORNELIUS BUDD.

All Goods not called for within ninety days will be sold for charges.
Charlevoix, Nov. 23, 1885.

Northern Michigan

Boiler Works.

Builder and Manufacturer of

Boilers, Heaters,

LARD TANKS, ETC.

OF ALL KINDS

SHEET IRON WORK

A SPECIALTY.

MARINE WORK

Given Special Attention

HENRY BARTH, Proprietor,

Charlevoix, Mich.

MILWAUKEE, LAKE SHORE & WESTERN RAILWAY.

The Only Line Running

TWO DAILY TRAINS

—BETWEEN—

Wausau and Milwaukee and Chicago

The Only Line Running Sleeping Cars between Wausau and Milwaukee and Chicago.

THE AIR LINE TO OSHKOSH.

TIME TABLE.

GOING SOUTH: Wausau, Clintonville, Oconto, New London, Appleton, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Milwaukee, Chicago.

GOING NORTH: Wausau, Rhinelander, Bessemer, Hurley, Ashland, Superior City, Duluth.

Full information regarding rates of fare, time of trains, etc., can be obtained on application to Station Agent, Wausau.
H. G. FLEITH, Agent, Wausau.
H. F. WHITCOMB, General Manager.
CHAS. V. McKINLAY, Gen. Pass. Agent.

FRANK E. WOOD'S

BATH AND BARBER ROOMS.

Hot and Cold Baths at any hour of the day or evening.

FARMING LAND!

500,000 ACRES

Of Splendid

Michigan Lands

FOR SALE BY THE

G. R. & I. R. R. COMPANY.

50,000 Acres in Charlevoix County.

These lands are timbered with beech and maple, elm and other wood, and are accessible to best markets by

WATER AND RAIL.

The Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad runs through the center of the grant.

Not a Wilderness, by any Means.

Over 200,000 acres of the lands of this grant have already been sold.

Send for English or German pamphlet. Address

W. H. HUGHART, Commissioner,

Grand Rapids, Mich.

HUMPHREYS'

Manual of all Diseases,

CLOTH and GOLD

Mailed Free.

HOMEOPATHIC

SPECIFICS.

Sold by Druggists, or sent postpaid on receipt of price.—HUMPHREYS' MEDICINE CO., 109 Fulton St., N. Y.

WM. J. STEVENSON,

VETERINARY HORSE-SHOER.

Interfering and crippled horses shod satisfactorily or no charge.

Repairing done promptly.

The Old Doctor

A Life Experience. Remarkable and quick cures. Trial Packages. Send stamp for sealed particulars. Address Dr. WARD & CO. Louisiana, Mo.

THE IOWA ROUTE

BURLINGTON CEDAR RAPIDS AND NORTHERN RY.

THE SHORT & POPULAR LINE

for all points in IOWA, MINNESOTA, DAKOTA, and the New Northwest. The only line making close connections with all important lines leading

NORTH, SOUTH, EAST or WEST.

SOLID TRAINS

WITH

PULLMAN SLEEPERS

ARE RUN BETWEEN

Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Paul

VIA THE

FAMOUS ALBERT LEA ROUTE,

AND BETWEEN

St. Louis, Minneapolis & St. Paul

St. Louis, Minneapolis & St. Paul Short Line

Dining Cars on all Albert Lea Route Trains.

Land Seekers' Round Trip Tickets

C. J. IVES, Pres't & Gen'l Sup't.
J. E. HANNEGAN, Gen'l Tkt. & Pass. Ag't.
CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA.

NOW IS THE TIME

TO USE

JOHNSTON'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR

LIVER COMPLAINT,

DYSPEPSIA,

AND FOR

PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

It has been in use for 20 years and has proved to be the best preparation in the Market for Sick Headache, Pain in the Side or Back, Liver Complaint, Pimples on the Face, Dyspepsia, Piles, and all Diseases that arise from a disordered Liver or impure blood. Thousands of our best people take it and give it to their children. Physicians prescribe it daily. Those who use it once recommend it to others.

It is made from Yellow Dock, Honduras Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Stillingia, Dandelion, Sassafras, Wintergreen, and other well-known valuable Roots and Herbs. It is strictly vegetable and cannot hurt the most delicate constitution. It is one of the best medicines in use for regulating the Bowels.

